Ishaph being bishop of that reue, Ipe a bishop Diapplier (not unbenhanding what he sayd)
prophecie: o y it was better to put Chull vnto death,
the that y people
shuld prophete. The manerage, that Chulle was an hereticke, a detrauer of the people, and detroyer of the lawe, and that it was better thynge to put Chulle vnto death, then to suffer hym for to lye, and to betraue the people. as: where in berpe debte Chulle was the true Messias, and the only true Saviour of the world, sente of his heavenly father to suffer the mooste crucill, moost thamefull, a moost necessary death for our redemption: accordinge to the manerage of the prophete iustice benchande.

¶ When after the same maner the bishop of Rome, (that bishop Salomane I saye) not unbenhanding what he sayde, gaue vnto your graces moost noble prynces moura, this tytle: defendour of the faith, onlye because they suffered the bishop to lye: and when Salomane the reuer of faith, and to perswade the lawes and ministers of the same where in berpe debte the bishop bishoppe (though he knewe not what he sayd) prophete, that by the righteous administration and constant diligence of your graces, the faith shoulde be defended, that Salomane was y mother of fayth, and the fruite thereof, shoulde beare the fruite thereof out of this world, but specialllye in your reigne.

¶ If your highnesse noyse of your princely benignite will pardon me to compare these two bishoppes: I meane bishoppes Cappus, and the bishoppe of Rome) and they prophete together: I doubt not but we shall fynde them agree like bishop though the one be a hereticke, and the other a counterfeyt Christian. I praye, Cappus prophecie: y it was better to put Chulle vnto death, then that the people shoulde prophete: & he by the space of some tyme, not knowynge what he prophete, gaue your graces mooste noble father this tytle Defendour of the faith. & he trusteth of both these prophetes us of the holy goodes (as was Salomane bishoppe) I thoughte they that speake thus, knewe not what they sayde. & he trusteth of Cappus prophecie us, that it was necessary for mannes salu-ation, that Chulle by his death shoulde ouercome death, and remaine as. And the trathe of our Salomane prophecie us that your graces in berpe debte shoulde defende the faith: For when the true faith of Chull, no hereticke, no schisme, no hereticke, no schismatization, but the true christen of Salomane help was, whiche to set forth; prayeth he the goodwille of God, and increase your graces purpose: your highnesse with your mooste honorable council, apperth all his studie and en-deuour.

¶ & he that bishop bishoppes now agree in the unbenchande of these prophetes for Cappus taketh Chulle for an hereticke tytle: & he Salomane taketh the wyse of Chull for hereticke. Cappus wudgeth it to be a good be to put Chulle vnto death, that he shoulde be because the people, and Salomane taketh benchande of the faith, the prosperite, happye reuer: and benchande of the wyse of faith: I shal I praye thereof shoulde bette than benchande, in otions, and blyssatione should see they grevyng, lest it shoulde be knowne that a cliche & surtetter be us in þe cause of Christ and howe betwixt a respectour to God and man in betwixtynge all Christen hynge & pynce of theyr due obedience: leade the your grace subiects shoulde haue eyes in the waye of God, at þe last to spee oute his contrye in mercynesse and iustynesse: and lest men shoulde be hoise layd a byre false & pynce haue betwixt all Christen home, specially your noble realme of Englonde.

¶ Thus your grace seyth howe by the scryp-ture the Jewes by thoppe, and our Belaim a-geyne together, not onely in myght and oute soare appearance: but as the one ptes-cures the & D I D Ictus in his stone personne, so beith the other ptescure bys waye, and respecteth his hoise ordinance to the auctorite of his anointed hynge.
 For so muche noyse as the waye of God is the ony truth, that by wryth stonpe all they, and belyeth all iustynge and becote, therefore us our Belaim of wome to lorde þe scripture shoulde be knowen in the marke tonge, lest of hynge and pynce (specially aboue all other) were excepted them, they shoulde claime a chelenge agayne, theyr due auctorite, whiche he falsly hath usurped so manye yeres, & so to spe him chooser: and lest the people be wryngt by þe waye of God, shoulde fall from the false fownde obedience of bym, and his byfayle Jewes, unto the true obedience commaunded by Goddes othre mouth: thus namely to obey theyr pynce, to obey father and mother. &c. and not to step ouer fathers and mothers beyl, to enter into his payned religion, as a hynge doeth, for he knoweth well enough that þe clere forme of Goddes word, conserue to the hert of the daye, is still by wryth all the foule myde of his belieyng & by wryth. ¶ Therefore we are come to the mayntenance of Beicholthe king dome, that the waye shoulde still in ignorance & blindness, and that the scripture shoulde neuer come to light. For the Jewes lawe, both in the olde testament and in the newe testamēt shall aboude as the waye the office, auctorite and pynce of our God into hynge, us in wryth aboue all other pynce, let the fall the Jewes Hoise Carthynne, of wryth as theyr will, the waye of God beareth them: pynce and counmayntaith them betwixt payne of dampnacion) to be obedient unto the disposall of our grace in the olde & newe testament the Jewes, þe Jewes, & Jewes Jewes. ¶ And in the newe testament o Christe and his Jewes both were obedient them letters, & u. 1. 8.

 and & taughte obedience of all men into theyr pynce, and temporall rulers, whiche here beith to in the waye respecteth the person of God, & are called o Gods in the scripture, because of the excellencye of theyr office. ¶ And though there were no no auctorite but the lawe, so wryth the pynce of the temporall Jewes: yet by this the scripture declareth pynce, & as there is nothynge aboue God, so is there no man aboue þe hynge in his realme, but þe ony hynge of God is the chief head of all the congregation, & church of the same.

¶ And to lorde that this is true, there hath ben of all antiquite (and yet bene this daye) in our reuolucōe been in your realme of Englonde, that in her pynce graces subiects reade your letters, as begins so thike of commaunde of your by thescite, they moue theyr beith for a hynge and token of reuerence unto your grace, as to theyr most soueraygne lorde, & head, under God, whiche hynge no man beith to be in any byshop. ¶ Wherby, if our beith an-bynge were not by wryth) the myghte supdencye ptescure, & uel theyr nature teacheth be the same þe scripture commaundeth be:
 and that lyke as it is againe Goddes waye that a hynge shoulde not be the chiefe of his people, sum for (3 say) it is agaynste the waye he shoulde knowe any other head aboue hym under God.

¶ And that no pynce may by wryth us respice
 (no) can be lawe fulfille) from the obedience of his pynce, the scripture us full, both of strepe commaundementes, and ptescure unto Goddes, & called bym his lorde, though he were but ome brother. ¶ And & Jewes were under the obedience of Belaim o Godden the pynce: he beith he þe word beith hynge Doud, he beith he pynce: in furte reuerence (he made not the hynge say to kyse his feet, as the byshop of Rome maketh Emperours to do) hynge to stand bynge, he spech not to o reuerhynge, and that right tharby, taken be fill from the waye of God in. wryth & man-stand bynge. ¶ And he was not hynge to re-pynce hynge of his pynce, no more than beith the prophete dobe in fear to lorde unto hynge Achab: o ¶ This thou and the fathers house, that trouble Jewes, be cause he lawe forkehen the commaundementes of the lorde, and wryth after Belaim. ¶ And John Baptist durst for unto hynge Be-robe: ¶ It is not lawe full for to take the

Chyles Couerdale into the Chyften Acader.

Confidering howe excellent knowledge learning an interpreter of scripture ought to haue in þe tongue he conuertinge of to myne mindes some indifferency therein and howe fowle I am to performe the office of a translator. I feare the more loth to make thus this booke. For so forth I had hope when I considered howe greate paine it was that Ie should beate it so longe, and called to my remembrance the shortness of them, to whiche were not any of myne knowledge, but withoute also surely all they heerein haue performed that they beare, if they hadde not hadde impediments: conuersione (I saye) that by reason of theys shortness it coulde not so soone haue bene thought to be done, as oure moule prosperous hapen shoulde sayne haue hadde it: these and other reasonable causes considered, I was the more bolde to take it in hande. And to helpe me herein, I haue had fowre translations, not onely in Latin, but also in other languages: to some, because of theys singular gyfte and speciall diligence in the Hebrew I haue bene glad to folowe as colowyer as I was requyred. But to kepe the trauyly before God, it is as no: that my laboure not be idle, in haue theys booke put in my hande: neuertheless it growed me that other nations shoulde be more pleased wth þe scriptures for such the scriptures in theyr mother tongue, the more ouer, therefore when I found vntowardly requyred, (though I coulde not do so well as I would,) I thought it yet best myne to do my best. The more the greatesh shoulde come forth in English.

To haue an some men theys noyse that wherby translations made busyn in the world and in the people of God that is not so: for it was neuer better wth the congregation of God, then when euerye church almost had the Hebrew of a fowre tongue translation. I suppose the greatesh booke not Chyften a speciall translation: whiche not whilgerman one peculiar, and hebraic & iugodowm Hebrew the fowre tongue interpreters, is there not the translation of Aquila, of Theobation, of Symeonides, and of Iustyne others: I suppose among this Latin moue, thes Hebrew: that euerye one should haue a speciall and fowre tongue translation, for in so maner as euerye hel-shap had the knowledge of the tongue, he gaue his diligence to haue the Hebrew of his owne translation. The hebraic, as Theocorus, & Symeonides, & Iustian, and so. The iugodowm, & Iugodowm, & Iustian, and so. The hebraic by the greatesh pieces of the scripture, made not the text all alike.

Herefore oughte it not to be taken as such, þe fowre men as haue vnderstandyng none in oure tyme, excepte them letters to the tongues, as gaue theys diligence to translate oure of one language into another.

Yes, the oughte rather to graue God theys thoughtes, to whiche theys: his fowre tyme fowre by mannyng to excelle the fowre there. Wherby God it hadde neuer bene left of after the tyme of Symeonides, then shoulde we neuer haue come into such a bishwarde and ignorance, into such errors and delusions. As was some as the Hebrew is some called as, and no more put to exercise, then be some euery one, of his owne hande, to saye what fowre came into his hande, and that fowre to be good in his owne eyes, and to crye the benefite of mannyng translations. And thus same is the cause that we haue hadde to euery tyme, whiche fowre made mention of the scriptures of the Hebrew, and though they fowre theys alleged it yet some it bene to fawre out of faison and to fowre from the past, that a man may yet perceiue howe that they returne into the originall.

Wherby I ben that this diligente mannyng of translations both to much good and comfort in other languages, whiche shoulde it be ruled in ouer: To ouerlye as all nations in the busynesse of speeches maye knowe one God in the brenne of fowre, and be one thow: run to many bishwarde translations in the one another, and that in the house of oure ground of oure moule bidden fowre, though they be fowre to fowre, in the house we thow we haue greue section to graue them into God, that be yett opened vnto his church the gift of interpretation, and of mynyng, and that there are noyse at this tyme in mannyng, to whiche wth such diligence, and fowre wthelle interpret the scriptures to the how moue of God, and comfort of his people, in the as (I be as when mannyng as thow fowre together) euerye one both his best to be made the matter: And though they can not all mannyng the text, yet the best one eye then another, and bishwarde it better

A prologue to the Kerbr.

It was the rule of all they, to give and myke, and the very occasion, whye I shall write, and then I was verye busy in to captivate. I gave in Iohannes, and I chad, and in Iohannes thou wilt the nature of a beuotus kyng. He putte the name the house of ysaiah, sayth that he speake the same but the lawe of god, commandeth his lawe to god with them, and to see that they be the people. In these kynges (I saye) thou wilt the condition of a true defender of the faith, for he spareth neither coller labour, to main-tayne the lawe of God, to save the weith, and prosperite of his people, and to restore the lawe. And whiche suche a man, thou shalt agayne, howe God defendeth him and his people, thought he have neuer to winne a crowne.

That went it with them in the old tyme, and even after the same maner goeth it now with us: God by pappe the first, a ground was of his fatherly mercie, that we be not in bondage, like to the people of Iohannes and Ierusalem, yet a verye Iosephus the same was a Pharisee, a Ierusalem, as an Hebrew.

In the two last booke of Ezechiel, and in the first thou wilt the beuotment of the people, whiche thought they were but few yet it was but all a speciall comforte, for so much as God is of forgetfull of his people, but by strength them out of Cap-tivitye, as he hadde tolde them before.

In the booke of Job we learne constance and patience, in that God not onelye punnisheth the wicked, but punisheth and correcteth the iust and righteous (whiche there is no man innocent in his sight) by manye troubles in this life, to bringe them by that they are not his lawe, but had heard somme, and that he toucheth them.

In the Psalms we learne, howe to resist onelye vnto God in all our troubles, so that he helpe us, and call onelye vnto him, so that we are not by patience, and by hope for onelye in prosperite to be thankfull vnto him.

The Thirteenth and the Thirteenth of Solomon teacheth us to be wise, to knowe God, our owne nature, and the world, and howe to be wise in all thynges we, but onelye to trust vnto God.

As for the doctrine of the Prophets, what we call, but an earnest reburment to all his lawe, and thence vnto God a speciall glorye of the mercie and prosperite of God, vnto all them that keepe his to him, and a thanksgivinge of his lawe, to the vngodlye: whiche that he and the the prophete also manifestlye. The of the punishment of the Iewes, and callinge of the Iewes.

The newe Testament of Gospel, is a manifeste and true testimonye of Christ, howe God performeth his lawe and promise made in the old Testament, howe the Iewes be forsaken and excluded in the newe, and the olde fulfilled and finished in the newe.

Howe where as the most famous interpreter of all great fonteyne submergent of the text, to write, as it is done by the of the immutabilitye in the booke god, the of the newe maner should be observed therein, for they referre they beinge in the newe to the olde in the congregation of Iohannes the first, that there cometh more knowledge and vnderstandinge of the scripture by thei sonne translation, then by all the gylde of our spiritual booke.
For that one interpreteth some thyng of the scripture in one place, the same translateth another in another place (as he himselfe) and so in these places booke of the same meaninge in another place. So that observed therefore (good Reader) thought one call a Syncope, that another call a Interpretation, that another call a and in the same: as testimonies, that another call a penance as amendment.
For thou be not deceaved by manye traditions thou shalt see no more diversitye betweene these termed then betweene foure pens and a grete. In the same maner I did in my translation, callinge it in some place penance, that in another place I call testimonies. And that not onelye because the of the scripture have bene to be done, but that the abundance of the text maye see, howe that we should not that some penance (rather vnderstande of the) more then the interpretation of Latin, about penance, when they reade the scripture. Whiche was I, as we saye: but God is, that the people be not deceived in the of the scripture, keele they be the penance to be ought, since a deeper penance, amendment, or correction vnto God, and to be in his lawe creature in Christ, and to have accordinge to his lawe. For as it that they sit in the olde bishopricke of of the lawe, and be the: that they have able to see the lawe, vnto God, for they of the lawe, from the which: creature of the lawe and penance godlye fruit all daye.

The Table and Kalen- der expresseinge the ordze of the Psalmes and Lec- tions, to be sayde at the Morninge and Eveninge

prayer throughout the yere, excepte cerreyne wycke feastes, as the Muses folowynge wycke playnly declare.

The Order howe the Psalter is appoynt- ed to be reade.

The Psalter shalbe reade throughout the yere, excepte cerreyne wycke feastes. And because that some Monsethes be longer then some other be, it is thought good to make them euen by this maner.

To cerreyne Monseth, shalbe appoynted (as concerninge this purpose) iiii. xxx.
dayes.

And because January and Marche the both one have aboute the same number, and Fe-bruarye hath the same becomen them both, both anny. xxiiij. dayes: Februarye shall becomen of cypher of the Monsethes (of January and Marche) one daye. And so the Psalter which shalbe reade in Fe-bruarye, shall begynne the last daye of January, and ende the firste daye of Marche.

And where as Apryle, July, Auguste, October, and November, have xxi. dayes a pece: it is ordered that the same Psalmes, shalbe reade the last daye of the fyve Monsethes, which waye reade the daye before. So that the Psalter maye begynne where the first daye of the nexte Monseth enlygneth.

How to knowe what Psalmes shalbe reade cerreyne dayes, take in the Kalender, the numbre that is appoynted for y<sup>e</sup> Psalmes, and then fynde the same numbre in this table, and upon that numbre shall you see, what Psalmes shalbe sayde at Morninge and Eveninge prayer.

And where the C. xix. psalme is denoted with xxv. psalmes, and in directions to be read at one tyme: it is to be understood, that at one tyme shall not be sayde above foure or fyve of the sayde psalmes, as you shall perceive to be noted in this Table folowynge.

And here is also to be noted, that in this table, and in all other partes of this service, where any Psalmes are appoynted, y<sup>e</sup> number is expressed after the greke & hebrewe letters, wherbye from the. iij. Psalmes, cometh the. C. lxxij. Psalmes (folowynge the division of y<sup>e</sup> hebrewe; both baruc in number from the common Kethub translation.

In the beginning

God created heave and earth / and the earth was voyde / a ennygh a barke-nes was upon the depe / a the spere of God moued upon the water.

And God sayde: let there be lighte / a there was lighte. And God sawe the lighte that it was good. Then God deuided the lighte frō the darkenes / a called the lighte Daye. And the darkenes lighte. Then of the eueninge and moyninge was made the fyrr daye.

And God sayde: let there be a firmament betwene the waters / and let it deuide the waters asunder. Then God made the firmament / a parted the waters vnder the firmament / from the waters aboue the firmament. And so it came to passe / and God called the firmament Heoue. Then of the euenyng and moynyng was made the secōde daye.

uit. c

And God said / let the waters vnder heauen gather theym selfes vnto one place / that the drye lande maye appeare. And so it came to passe. And God called the drye lande Earth: and the gatheringe together of waters called he / the See: and God sawe that it was good.

And God sayde: let the earth bringe forth the greene grasse and herbes / that beareth fruite / a frutfull tree / that may beare fruite / eury one after hys kynde / hauing theyr own sēde in the selfes vpon the earth. And so it came to passe. And the earth brought forth the greene grasse a herbes / that beareth sēde / eury one after hys kynde / a tree bearyng fruite / and hauyng theyr own sēde in the selfes / eury one after hys kynde. And God sawe that it was good. Then of the euenyng and moynyng was made the thyrde daye.

And God sayd: let there be lightes in the firmament of heauen / to deuide the daye frō the nyght / that they may be vnto tokens / seasons / dayes and yeares. And let them be lightes in the firmament of heauen / to shine vpon the earth. And so it came to passe. And God made two great lightes / one greater light to rule the day / and a lesse light to rule the nyght / and he made the starres also. And God

And God sayd: let y waters bring forth creatures that moue/ a haue life/ and fooles for to shyn about the earth/ vnder the firmament of heauen. And God created great whales/and all manner of creatures that haue a liue/which the waters brought forth euery one afte r his kynde. And al manner of serbered fooles/euery one after his kynde. And God sawe that it was good/ and blessed them/ saying: Growe/and multiplye / and fylle the water of y seas/ a let the fooles multiplye vpon the earth. Then of the euening/ a morning was made the fifth daye.

And God sayd: let the earth bringe forth liuing soules/ euery one after his kynde: cattell/womies / and what so hath lyfe vpon earth/euery one after his kynde. And so it came to pass. And God made the bestes of the earth euery one after his kynde / a cattell after they kynde/ a al manner of womies of the earth/ afte r their kynde. And God sawe that it was good.

And God sayde: let vs make man in oure

Exod.
xxv.

These are the generations of heauen a earth/whan they were created/ in y tyne whan the Lord God made heaue a earth/ before there was any rygghte vpon earth/ a/ or euer there grew any greene herbe vpon the sode. for: the Lord God had yet sent no raign vpon y earth/neither was there any man to tyll the earth.
But there arose a mist fro the earth/ a watered all the sode. And the Lord God did shape man/ out of the mould of the earth/ a breath ed into his face/ the breath of life. And so was man made a lyuing soule.

2. Cor.
v. 2. a.

The Lord God also platted a garde of plea sure in Eden/ toward the East / a let man there in/ whom he had made. And the Lord God caused to spring out of y earth/ all manner trees/pleasur to loke vpon/ a good to eate: a the tree of life in the midst of the garden/ a the tree of knowlege/ of good a euill.

2. Cor.
v. 2. a.

And out of Eden there was a ryuer to wa ter the garden / and there was called it self into four head waters. The first is called Pison/which runneth about all the landes of Chalyca.
And there is founde golde / a the golde of y counee is precious / a there is founde: Bedell: a the precious stone Onyx. The second water is called Gihon/ which runneth about the whole lande of the Monde. The. iij. water is called Euphrates/ which runneth toward y side of the Assyrians. The. iij. water is Eu phrates.

1. Cor.
x. 1. a.

And y Lord God toke man/ a set him in y pleasur garden of Eden/ to be there/ a to kepe it. And y Lord God commanded man/ saying: Thou shalt eate of all manner trees in the gar den: But of the tree of knowlege/ of good and euill/ shalt thou not eate. for: loke in what day somer thou eatest thereof/ y shalt dye y death.

And the Lord God sayd: It is not good that man should be alone. I will make him an helpe/ a to beare him company. And thus God the Lord had made of y earth/ all manner crea tures.

2. Cor.
v. 2. a.

flowe the floure / a all maner sooles vnder the heaut / he thought / & vnto man / to se what he woude call: yet for a man called a maner of iungge sooles / so are they named. And man gaue names vnto all maner cattell / and vnto v sooles vnder v beent / vnto all maner beastes of the felde. But vnto man there was soude no help / ita beare hym company.

Then the Lorde God caused an hard strepe to fall vpon man / a he slept. And he toke out one of his rybbes / and (in shade thereof) he filled the place vp with flesh. And v Lorde God made a woman / of v ribbe that he toke out of man / a brought her vnto hym. Then saye he man / This is once bone of my bones / a flesh of my flesh / she shall be called woman / because she was take of me. So for this cause shal a man leaue father a mother / a cleaue vnto his wyfe / and they two shal be one flesh. And they were both naked / the man a his wyfe / a were not ashamed.

The III. Chapter.

¶ The first serpent was joryller then all the beastes of the felde (whiche the Lorde God had made) a sayd vnto the woma: Feel hath God said in thee: Ye shall not eate of all maner trees in the garden: Then sayd v woma vnto the serpent: We eate of the fruite of the trees in the garden: But as for v frute of the tree that is in the middes of the garden / God hath sayd: That noyce of it / and touch it not / lest ye dye.

Then sayd the serpent vnto the woma: Tullys: shal no: thee v death. for God doth knowe that in what daye thou eate of it / youre eyes shall open: and a shall be as God / a knowe both good a euill. And the woma sawe that the tree was good to eate of / a lusty vnto the eyes / a a pleasaunt tree / a to make wisdome of the frute of it / a gate / and gaue vnto her husbande also thereof / a he ate. Then were the eyes of both open: and a they perceaued that they were naked / a sowed figge: leaues together / and made them apurte.

¶ And they heard the voyce of v Lorde God / whiche walked in the garden / in the coole of the day. And Adā byd him self with his wyfe / fro the presence of v Lorde God / in the tree of the garden. And the Lorde God called Adā / sayd vnto hym: Where art thou: And he sayd: I herbe the voyce in the garden / and was afrayd / because I am naked / a I hid myself I hyde my self. And he sayd: Wherof / a that thou art naked: Best thou not eate of v tree wherof / I comaunded the / that thou shouldest not eate.

Then sayd Adā: The woman / whiche thou gauest me (to beare me company) gaue me of v tree / a I ate. And the Lorde God sayd vnto the woman: wherfore hast thou done this: v
 The woman said: the serpent deceaued me / so that I ate. Then sayd the Lorde God vnto the serpent: Because thou hast done this / cursed be thou aboue all cattell / and aboue all beastes of the felde. Vpon thy belly shalt thou go / a earth shalt thou eate all the dayes of thy lyfe. And I will put enyng betwene the a the woman / a and betwene thy side and her side / a The same shall treade vnto thy heade / and thou shalt treade hym on the heele.

¶ And vnto the woman he sayd: I will en-crease thy sorrow / whā thou art with chyld / payne shalt v beare thy chyldren / a If thy husb shall pertain vnto thy husband / a he shall rule t-de. Thou shalt bearken vnto the voyce of thy wyfe / a thou shalt beare vnto the tree / wherof / I comaunded the / sayng / thou shal not eate of it. Cursed be the earth for thy sake. Whē somtyme shalt thou eate thereof all the dayes of thy lyfe. Thownes a thistle shal it beare vnto the a / a thou shalt eate the herbes of the felde. In v sweate of thy face shalt thou eate thy bread / yll thou be: turned agayn vnto earth / whence thou art taken: for earth thou art / and vnto earth shalt thou be turned agayn.

¶ And Adam called his wyfe Hona / because she is the mother of all liuing. And the Lorde God made Adam a his wyfe garments of synnes / a those he put on the. And the Lorde God sayd: Adam is become as v treee one of vs / a knoweth good a euill. But now shall he stretch his hand / a take also of the tree of life / a eat / a lyue for euer. Then the Lorde God put hym out of the garden of Eden / to till the earth / whence he was taken. And he call Adā vnto. And before the garden of Eden he set the ribbes / and a naked hym / sword / to kepe v vnto the tree of life.

 thushal began Lamech.

And Lamech toke him. 4 wyfes: one was called Silla/ a the other Silla. And Ada bare Sabel/ of whome came they 4 dwelt in reiois/a had cattel. And his brothers name was Ju ball: Of hym came they 4 occupied harts a pypro. And Silla she also bare Etubalcain/ a a wofler in all conyng poyntes of metall a yre.
 And Etubalcain his syster was called Tama.

And Lamech sayd vnto hys wyfe Silla: Ada
Silla: Heare my voyce/ ye wyfes of Lamech/a hearken vnto my wordes: for I haue slayne a man/ a wounded my self/ a haue kyled a young man/ a gotten my selfe strep. Cain shall be auenged seven tymes/ but Lamech seven and seuen tymes.

And Adalay yet with his wyfe agayne/ a she bare a sonne/ a called hym Seth. For God sayde she/ hath appoynted me another sde for Abel/ whym: Eain slew. And Seth began a sonne also/ a called hym Enos. At the same tyme began me to call vnto 4 name of 4 Lord.

The. V. Chapter.

det. iij. c.

SOE when man began to multiplye upon the earth / a had begynen the sonnes and daughter: to the children of God saw f daughter: of men: that they were fayre / a toke unto them wyfes / such as they liked. Then sayde the Lorde. My spere: shall not alwaye sturue the manf: for he is but flesch also. T I will yet geue him respone an. C. a. xxx. yeares. There were straitnes also in the world at that time. For wha the children of God had lyeu with the daughters of men: a gotten from they: the same children became might: in the world: and men of renowne.

But wha the Lorde saw: that the wickednes of man was increased vpon the earth: and that all the thoughe a ymagination of theyr herte was but onely euill continually: / in reprobacion hym: he had made man vpon the earth: a he sowed: in his herte: I wil destroye manf: / whiche I haue made: fro the earth: both man: beest: / a foule: vnder the heauen: T for it is: paterne me: that I haue made: them: New: the selfe: I haue founde: grace in the sight of the Lorde.

This is the generation of Ute: a he was a righteous a perfect man / aled a godly lyfe in his time: a begar the sonnes: Sem / Ham / and Japhet. Norwithstanding: the earth was corrupt in the sight of God: and full of iniquities: Then looked God vpon the earth: a altho was corrupt: yet all flep had corrupt his way vpon the earth.

Then sayde God vnto Ute: The ende of all flep is come before me / for the earth is full of iniquities: before them. And lo: I will destroye them with the earth. Make the an Arcke of Dymec: a make chambers in it / and puerce it with a rebour: with pitch: a make it after this fashon: The lengthe shall be the hundred cubites: the bryth fifty cubites / a the heygthe thryty cubites. A windowe: shall thou make aboute a cubite: greate: / but the vent shall thou scer in the middellst: in fyve feet: And y Arcke shall thou make with the lest: one aboute another. For lo: I wil bring a floude of water vpon the earth: to destroye all flep: wher in the bryth of lyfe is: vnder the heauen: T all that is vpon earth: shall perishe.

But with the wil I make a covenent / a thou shalt go into the Arcke with thy sonnes: with thy wyfe: a with thy sonnes wyfe. And of all creatures: whasformer fleshe it be / thou shalt bring in to the Arcke / euen a payre: the male a f female: that they may lyue with they: Offspoke: after they: fynde / of beastes: airt they: fynde: a of all maner of wommes of the earth: after they: fynde. Of euery one of these shall there a payre go in vnto the: that they may lyue. And thou shalt take vnto the: all maner of meate: that may be eaten: a shall laye it vpon shaltes: the that it may be meate for the: a them. And Ute dyed according to all that God commaunded hym.

The VII. Chapter.

A 1 Noah the Lord said vnto Noe: 2 Go into the Arke/ thou a thy whole house: for the haue I sine righteous before me/ a rithis t. inc. 3 Of all cleane beastes take vnto the feue and seuen: of the male a his female. And of the vn-cleane beastes a payre/ the male a his female. Likewise of the fowles vnder the heauen/ feate and feate of the male and his female/ that there may be seue left a lliue vpon the whole earth.

4 For yet/ after seue dayes wil I sende rayne vpon the earth/ forty dayes and forty nightes/ and I wil destroye all manner of thinges that I haue made/ frorie of the face of the earth.

B And Noe said all that the Lord commaunded him. 5 6 And thirtie yeare olde was he/ when the waters floude came vpon the earth. 7 And he weare into the Arke with his soune/ his wyfe/ a his sounes wyfes/ for the waters of the floude. Of cleane beastes/ a of vn-cleane/ of all feathered fowles/ a of all that creepe vpon earth/ were in vnto him to the Arke by couples/ a male a female/ as the Lord commaunded him. And wha the seue dayes were past/ the waters floude came vpon the earth.

In the seue hundred year of Noes age/ vpon the fourth daye of the seconde month/ the same daye were the fontaynes of the greete vepes broken vp/ a the wyndowes of heauen were opened/ a there came a tempe vpon the earth/ forty dayes and forty nightes.

Vpon the thirtieth daye went Noe into the Arke with Sem/ Cham/ Japhet his sounes/ a with his wyfe/ a the thie wyfes of his sounes/ a all manner of beastes after their kynde/ a all manner of catel after their kinde/ a lli manner of creeping thinges/ that crepe vpon the earth/ after their kynde/ a of all manner of fowles/ wharsoeuer coulde flye/ a wharsoeuer had feathers/ after their kynde. These went in vnto Noe into the Arke by couples/ of all fleshy/ in whom was the bierd of life. And these were a male a female of all manner of fleshy/ a went in/ ceoing as God commaunded him. And the Lord shut the doer vpon hym.

C Then came the water floude fortye dayes vpon the earth/ a the water increased/ a hane vpon the Arke/ a life it vpon ouer the earth. Thus the water puenyeld/ a increased six vpon the earth/ so that the Arke went vpon the waters. 10 For the waters puenyeld a increased so soe vpon earth/ that all the hye mountaynes vnder the whole heauen were covered. 11 Sittene cubites hye puenyeld the waters ouer the mountaynes/ which were covered.

Then all fleshe that crept vpon the earth perished/ both fowles/ cattell/ beastes/ a lly moued vpon earth/ and all men. Wharsoeuer had the bierd of life vpon the vire land/ vire.

12 Thus was destroyed all that was vpon earth/ both men a beastes/ both moines a fowles vnder the heauen: al thece were destroyed/ a they that were with him in the Arke. And the waters puenyeld vpon the earth an hundred and fiftye dayes.

D 13 Then God rememberd Noe a all the Beastes/ a al the catel that were with him in the Arke/ a caused a wynde to come vpon the earth: a the waters ceased/ a the fontaynes of the vepes/ a the wyndowes of heauen were stoped/ a the rayne of heauen was hidde: and the waters ranne still awaye from the earth/ and decreased after an hundred a fifty dayes.

Vpon the sixteenth day of the seventh month/ called the Arke vpon the mountaynes of Ararat. And the waters were awaye/ a decreased vntil the th. month: for the first day of the th. month the toppes of the mountaynes appeared.

After th. dayes/ Noe opened the wyndowes of the Arke/ which he had made/ a sent forth a Rauen/ which flew out/ a came againe vntil the waters were dried vp vpon the earth.

Then sent he forth a Dove first him to see/ whether the waters were falle vpon the earth. 2 But when the Dove coulde fynde no resting place for her feet/ she came agayne vnto hym into the Arke/ for the waters were yet vpon the face of all the earth. And he put out his hand/ and roke her fo her into the Arke.

Then abode he yet seue dayes in/ a sent out the Dove agayne out of the Arke/ a the returned vnto him about the euening. And behold/ she had in her beak a leafe of an olive tree/ a bare it in her beak. Then occurred Noe/ a the waters were abated vpon the earth. 3 When the th. daye was past/ yet seven other Doves/ and sent forth

The .X. Chapter.

2 This is the generation of the chyldren of Noe: Sem/ Ham/ Japhet/ a that begat chyldren after the floude.

4 Par. 1.

The chyldren of Japhet are these: Gomer/Magog/ Madai/ Javan/ Tubal/ Mischah and Thyo: So the chyldren of Gomer are these: Af kenas/ Riphath a Togarma. The chyldren of Ja uan are these: Elfa/ Thersis/ Chitum a Odor nim/ of nyse are beuiled the Iles of the Ger then in their coaste/ every one after his speach hynred/ and people.

The chyldren of Ham are these: Chus/ Mis raim/ Phut a Canaan. The chyldren of Chus are these: Seba/ Seuil/ Sabiba/ Regima and Sabtecca.

Gen. 11. b.

The chyldren of Regima are these: Sheba a Odan. Thus also begat Nemrod/ which be gan to be mighty in the earth/ a was a myghty hunter in the sight of the Lord. Thereof cometh the pomye: Thus is a myghty hū ter before the Lord/ lyke as Nemrod. And h ougenall of bys hynred was T Babel/ Erech/Aead a Chelme/ in the lande of Bynear. Out of that lande came Assur/ a buyldeh Ninue/and the knyght of the cytye a Calah/ a Keffin/betwene Ninue a Calah. T Thus is a great cy tye. Misraim begat Ludim/ a Canaan/ Leat him/ Naphtaim/ Darfium a Casubim/ fro whence came the Philistynes a Caproum.

Jonas. 1. a.

Canaan also begat Sidon bys eldest sonne/ a Geth/ Jebusi/ Moab/ Gurgosi/ Hui/ Arki/Sini/ Aradu/ Semari/ a Hamat: fro whence the hynredes of the Canaanites are disperfed abode. And the coastes of Canaanites were from Sidon/ to the towne Gerar/ vnto Gasa/all thowen cometh vnto Sodoma/ Gomora/Dena/ Seboim/ a vnto Eufa. These are the chyldren of Ham in their hynredes/ telgose/ kno des/ a people. And Chus/ whiche is the father of all the chyldren of Egipt/ a the elder brother of Japhet/ begat chyldren. so. And they are the chyldren of Ham: Assur/ Arphaxad/ Lud/and Aram. The chyldren of Arax are these: Ny Nul/ Geth and Hi. a.

and Aram. The chyldren of Arax are these: Ny
Nul/ Geth and Hi. a.

And Arphaxad begat Sala/ a Sala be Eber. Eber begat two sonnes: the name of the one was Degeh. cause that in his name the word was deuiled/ also his brother name was Takeran. And Takeran begat Almodad/Salaph/ Laxan/ maphet/ Jarch/ Sidonim/Dhal/ Dikel/ Dhal/ Jbanacl/ Sebat/ Qphur/Seuila a Jobab: These are the chyldren of Takeran. And their dwelling was fro Mes/all thowen come vnto Egipt/ a mooringe of E East. These are the chyldren of Sem in their ge neracions/ tynge/ landes and people.

This is now the generation of the chyld of Noe in their hynredes and people. Of these were the people vnto earth spred abode after the floude.

The .XI. Chapter.

1 The ouerall the world had one tynge a language. Now as they wnt fro toward Comen East/ they fonde a plaine in t lade of Syne: de: Jeth at/ a there they dwelt/ a sayd one to another: East Come on/ let vs make bricke a burne. And they toke bricke/ set stones a styme for mouer/ a sayd: Come/ let vs buylde a cytye a towre/whofe t tpe maye reache vnto heuyl/ that we maye make vs a name / a for we be feared as bode in all landes. Then came the Lord vnto the cytye a towre / that the chyld of men had buylde. And the Lord sayde: Beholde/ the people is one/ a haue one maner of language amonge: the all/ a thus haue they begon to vnto a will not leaue of fro all that they haue purposed to do: Come on/ let vs bou a confounde their tynge/ euen thow / that ene vnderstande not what another sayeth. T Thus Sem the Lord feared them fro thence in all lan des/ so that they left of to buylde the towre.
Therefore is it called Babel/ because the Lord confounded there the language of all t weild/and from thence feared them abode into all landes.

T These are the generations of Sem/ Sem was an hundred years olde/ a begat Arphaxad two years after the floude/ and liued therafire fixte hundred years/ and begat sonnes and daughters.

Arphaxad was fixe and thyrty years olde a begat Salah/ a liued therafire four hundred and were confiderate with Abiam.

1 Now when Abiam herde that his deas

 Abiam gaue him rythes of al.

Then sayd the kyng of Sodome vnto A 1. 341. b. biam: Seue me the foules /a take the goodes vnto thy selfe. But Abiam sayd vnto the kyng of Sodome: I lift vp my hande vnto / 1. 342. a. the moost bye God /possessor of heauen and earth/that I will not take of al that is thine/so much as a thebe/a a shoe laderh lest thou shouldst saye: I haue made Abiam ryche.
 1. 343. b. Seue onely/ther whiche the yonge men here that went with me /let them take theyr parte.

¶ The XV. Chapter.

1 It happened after thise thynges/that /
 1. 344. a. the Lozde came vnto Abiam in a vision/and sayde: Seue not Abiam /I am thy 1. 345. b. shyld/and thy exceeding great reward. But Abiam sayde: Lozde /
 1. 346. a. Lozde /what wilt thou geue me: I go
 1. 347. b. thid wylf /and the seruaut of my house / (this Elcasar of Samarcos) hath a sonne. And Abiam sayde innocuere:
 1. 348. a. Behold/ vnto me beste thou geuen no sebe:
 and lo/ste /I one of my h'w'hold shalke myne 1. 349. b. here. And behold/ of the wyde of the Lozde so fe vnto hym/and sayde: He shall not be
 1. 350. a. thine wyse /but one that shall come out of

 Then Sara venied it: a sayd: I laughed not:
 for she was afreped. But he sayd: It is not so: thou hiddest laughes. Then stode the men vp from thence: a turned them toward Sodome.
 And Abraham went with them: to bring the on they waye.

Then sayd the Lorde: How can I hede

The XIX. Chapter.

At the evening came the two Angels vnto Sodome. And Lot sat vnder a gate of the ctye. And when he saw the rose vp for to mete the/ a bowed hym self vnto the ground/ vpo his face/ a sayde: Se lordes/ turne in. I pray you into your seruantes house/ a saye all night le your feet be washed/ so maye ye rest to morrow by nyghtes/ a go your waye. He answered/ they said: Nay/ but we wil orde in the streete all night. Then he copped he the rose/ ardy turned in vnto hym/ a came into his house. And he made them a seale/ a baled frete cakes/ a they did eate.

But he for they went to rest/ the men of the ctye of Sodome came / a passed the house round about/ yong a old/ all the people from all quarters/ and called Lot/ a sayd vnto hym:

Where are thy men? came vnto the to night? Bring them out here vnto vs/ that we maye see them.

And Lot went out at the doore vnto them/ a shut the doore after hym / a sayde: O brethren/ do not so wickedly. By hole/ I haue two daughters/ which yet haue founden no man: the will I bring out vnto you/ so with them so will I like for you. Only do nothing vnto these me of God/ for these are they come vnder the shadow of my rose. But they said: Come thou hether. Then said they: Camest not thou only here in as a stranger/ a I will thou note be a iudge. We/ we wil deale with thee/ then with them.

And they pressed sore vpon the man Lot. And when they rose to go/ haue Rose vnto the doore/ the men put out their handes/ a pulled Lot vnto them into the house/ a shut the doore. And the men at the doore of house were smitten with blindness/ both small and great/ so that they could not see the doore.

And the men sayd vnto Lot: Shall thou yet here any sonne in law/ or in the or vnghter? What shal thou do with this place? for we will destroy this place/ because the crye of the is too great before the Lord/ which hath sent vs to destroy the. Then went Lot for to flye/ a by sonnes in law/ which should haue married his daughters/ a sayd: O stande vpo/ a get you out of this place/ for the Lord will destroy this ctye. I fearer helles/ a the rose it du/ a for.

Now when the morning arose/ the Angels caused Lot to speake hym/ a sayde: Stand vnto/ a take thy wife a thy two daughters/ with ch are at hande/ that thou also perish not in the sinne of this ctye. But while he prolonged / a bynd the men caught him a his wyfe/ a his two daughters by the hande/ because the Lord was mercifull vnto hym/ a brought hi forth/ and set him without the ctye.

And when they had brought him out/ the sayde: Cause thy soule/ a loke not behynd/ a make ther stande thou in all this countie/ save the self vpon the mountaine/ that thou perish not. The XXII. Chapter.

After these actes God tempted Abihā/ and sayde vnto him: Abrahā. And he answered: I am here. And he sayde: Take thy sonne/ thy onely sonne of thyn/ auen Isaac/ and bring thou him/ and gaue thy way in to the lande of Mona/ and offer him there for a burnt offeringe / vpon a mountayn: & I hal then see thee. Then Abraham stode vp by hymes in the morning/ and fedled his asse/ and toke with hym two yonge men/ and his sonne Isaac/ a yd drye wood for the burnt offeringe / gat hym vp / and went on vnto the place/ wherof the Lord had sayd vnto him.

Vpon the thyrde day Abraham lift vp his eyes/ and sawe the place a faine of / and sayd vnto his yonge men: Tary ye here with the asse: I will go for me a thyle/ we will go yonder: I knowe we haue no chuypped / we wil come to you agayne. And Abraham toke the woodes to the dyctofringe/ and layed it vpon Isaac his sonne. So for him selfe he toke the fyre and a knyfe in his hande / and they went on both together.

B Then sayd Isaac vnto his father Abraham: My father. Abraham answered: here I am my sonne. And he sayde: here is fyre and wood/ but wher is the shepe for thy burnt offeringe? Abraham answered: My sonne / God shal prouyde hym a shepe so: burnt offeringe. And they went both together.

And when they came to the place/ which God shewd him / Abraham knyded there an aultare / and layed the wood vpon it / and banded his sonne Isaac / layed hym vpon the aultare/ aboute vpon the wood/ and stretched out his hande/ to take the knyfe/ to haue slayn his sonne.

Then the aungell of the Lord called C from heauen vnto hym and sayd: Abrahā. Abraham answered: here am I. He sayd: Lay not thy hande vpon the chyld/ and do nothinge vnto him: for now I knowe that thou fearest God / a haff not spared thyn onely sonne for my sake. Then Abraham lift vp his eyes/ and sawe behinde him a ramme/ holden fast by the hoornes in the bushes/ a he went and toke the ramme/ and offered hym for a burnt offeringe/ in steade of his sonne. And Abraham called the place: The Lord shall prouyde. Therefore it is a commune sayinge yet this day: Vpon the mountayn shal the Lord petyde.

And the aungell of the Lord cryed vnto Abraham from heauen the seconde tyme / a sayd: I haue sworne by myne owne selfe / sayd the Lord / so: so much as thou hast done this/ a haff not spared thyn onely sonne: I will prosper and multiplye thy seede as the starres of heauen: and as the sande vpon the se shore. And thy seede shal possesse the gate of his enemyes: and in thy seede shall all the reynons of the earth be blessed / because thou hast herdend vnto my voyce.

So Abihā turned agayne vnto his yonge men/ a they gat them vp/ and went together vnto Berfiba/ and dwelt there.

After these actes it fortuneth/ that it was ledde Abihā: Berfiba/ Milca hath borne children also vnto thy brother Nabo: namely / 7. His the best/ and 7. His his brother/ a Remmel/ of whome came the Sianes: a Cefid and Baso/ and Pildar/ and Zedaph and Berhuel. Berhuel begat Kebecca. These cygher dyd Milca beare vnto Nabo / Abrahāns dyther. And his edelbyne called Keuhma / bare also: Namely / Theba / Sahan Thaba/ and Maacha.

fed with the Heathens/a sayd I am a stranger and an indweller amonge you / geue me a possession to burye in with you / that I maye burye: A my coase by me.

Some reas Then the Heathens answered Abraham/de: my coar and sayd vnto him : O heare yo loude / thou se that lyeth art a prince of God amonge vs : bury thy before me. head in the best of our sepulchres / there shal be the name of vs / that thou shouldest not burye thy head in his sepulchre. Then Abraham shode vp / and thanked the people of the land: namely the Heathens.

B And he talked with them / and sayd: If it be your will that I bury my coase by me / heare me then / and speake for me to Ephron the sonne of Hoar / that he maye geue me the dubbie tane / which he hath in the ende of his felde: for a reasonable money let him geue it me / for a possession to burye in amonge you. For Ephron dwelt amonge the Heathens.

Then answered Ephron the Heathen vnto Abraham that the Heathens myght heare before all that wente out / and in at the gates of his cytie / and sayd: No my loude / but heare me : To see the felde / and the caue also that is therein / I geue it the: and in the sight of my people I geue it the / to burye thy head in.

i. De. xxxij Then Abraham thanked the people of the land / and talked with Ephron / that the people of the land might heare / and sayd: Heare me then. Because of me the money that I geue the for the felde / and so will I burye my head there.

C Ephron answered Abraham / and sayde vnto him : Heare me my loude: The felde is worth foure hundredth scles of Isylur: but what is that betwixt me and the? Burye thy head. Abraham hearkned vnto Ephron a wayd him selfe money / which he had sayde / that the Heathens myght heare: namely foure hundredth Isylur scles of curraunt money / amonge marchauntes.

Thus Ephron felde / where in the Dubble caue is / which lyeth ouer before Mamre / enue the felde / and the caue was made sure for Abrahamis owne good / with all the reuo-of the felde also rounde aboute / in the sight of the Heathens / and of all that go out in at the gates of his cytie. Then Abraham buryed Sara his wyfe in the dubbie caue of the felde / that lyeth ouer before Mamre / that is Abion in the side of Canaan. So the felde a-fauere therein was made sure of / by Abraham vnto Ephron / for a possession to burye in.

The XXXIII. Chapter.

A Abraham was olde and well stricken in Age / and the Lord had blessed him in all thinges. And he sayd vnto his eldest ser-uaunt of his house / which had the rule of all his goodes: Lase thyne hande vnder my thet / that I maye make the swere by the Lotde the God of heauen a earth / that thou take no wyse vnto my soune amonge the dought reue of the Canaanites / Among whom I dwell / but that thou go into my countrey to myne owne kynred / and buyngt my sonne I see a wyse.

The seruaunt sayde: What / and if the woman wil not folowe me into this countrey / shal I then ary thy sonne agayne into your der lande / were thou comest out of? Abraham sayde vnto him : Beware of that / that thou buyngt not my sonne thither agayne. The Lotde / the God of heauen / which toke me from my fathers house / a from the lande of my kynred / and that talked with me / a sware also vnto me / and sayde: Vnto thy selfe will I geue this lande: Euen be that kinde his augel before the / that thou mayest buyngt my sonne a wyse from thence. But if the woman wil not folowe the / thou art discharge of this coth / onely buyngt not my sonne thirther agayne. Then the seruaunt layd his han-de vnder his master Abrahamis thet / a swa-re the same vnto him.

B So the seruaunt toke ten Camels of the camels of his master / and departed / and had with him of all maner of goodes of his master / and gar him vp / and departed vnto the Sopotamis / to the cytie of Elahor: Then let he the camels the doun without before the cytie / beside a wellle of water in the cytyngt / about the tyme that the women vske to go forth / a to drawe water / And he sayde:

O Lotde / thou God of my master Abraham / mercie me to daye / and shewe mercy vnto my master Abraham: For I stande here beside the wellle of water / and the mens dought.

Doughters of this ctye will come forth to vayne water: Now if there come a damsel/to whom I saye: come vnto me by pitcher/a let me drinke/ and if she saye: drinke/ I will geue thy camels drinke also: That the same be she / whom thou hast persuaded for thy seruant: I saie: and I maye knowe by the same that thou haste shewed mercy vpon my master.

And ouer he had left of speakinge the holde / Rebecca the daughter of Bethuel ¶ 4. d. which was the sonne of Milca / that was the wyfe of Laban: Abraham his brother came forth and bare a pitcher vpon her shoulder / a she was a very fayre damsel of face / and yet a virgin / and vnknowne of any man: She came vnto to the wells / and filled her pitcher: and came vp agayne. Then ranne he seruant to meet her / and sayde: Let me drinke a little water out of thy pitcher. And she sayde: drinke sy.

¶ And hastily let he downe the pitcher in her hande / and gaue him drinke. And when she had giuen him drinke / she sayde: I wil drinke for thy camels also / till they haue done / ynough. And she made haste / a poured out her pitcher into the trough / a ranne agayne to the well to drinke / and drewe for al his camels.
 The man maruailed at her / a helde his tunge / til he knewe whether the Lord had pro-phecied his iourney or not.

¶ Now when the camels had al dronke / he take a golden carynge of halfe a shele weight / and two bracelets for her hande / weighing ten sheles of golde a sayde: Whose daughter art thou: tel me: Is there rowme for vs in thy fathers house to lodge in:
 ¶ She sayde vnto him: I am the daughter of ¶ 11. d. Bethuel / the sonne of Milca / to whom she bare vnto Laban: And sayde mo: ouer vnto him: We haue plentie of litter a strawe / a rowme ynough to lodge in.

¶ Then the man bowed hym selfe / and thanked the Lord / and sayd: Praise be the Lord: the God of my master Abraham: which hath not withdrawen his mercy and his truth from my master / for the Lord hath brought me in the waye to my masters brothers house. And the damsel ranne and tolde all this in her mothers house. And Rebecca had a brother called Laban.

¶ And Laban ranne to the man / without by the well syde: and that came by the reason that he sawe the carynge / and the brace-lettes vpon his sisters handes / and herde the wordes of Rebecca his sister / that she sayde:
 Thus spake the man vnto me.

¶ And when he came to the man / beholde / he stood by the camels at the well syde. And he sayde: Come in / I thou blessed of the Lord ¶ 12. d. wherefore standest thou without: I haue drinke of the wells / and made rowme for the camels. So he brought the man into the house: and he unbandled the camels / a gaue them litter a strawe / and water to wash his feet / a the mens that were with him / a set meat before him.

¶ And helde he sayde: I will not eate ¶ 13. d. till I haue first tolde myne erende. The man answered: Tell on. He sayde: I am Abraham his seruant / and the Lord hath pro-phecied my matter ryghtly / so that he is become greater: and he hath giuen him shepe and oxen / siluer and golde / seruantes and madens / camels and asses: Yea / a Sara my masters wyfe hath I done my master a sonne in her olde age / vnto him hath he giuen all that he hath.

¶ And my master hath taken an oorb of me and sayde: Thou shalt not take a wyfe for my sonne among the daughters of the Cananites / in whose lande I dwell: but go thy waye to my fathers house / a to myne owne kinred: a there take a wyfe for my sonne. But I sayd vnto my master: What / and the woman wil not folowe me: Then sayd he vnto me: The Lord / before whome I walke / shall sende his anngel with the a prosper thy iourney / that thou mayest take a wyfe for: my sonne of myne owne kinred / and of my fathers house.
 And so when thou comest to my kinred / if they geue her not vnto thee / thou shalt be charged of myne oorb.

¶ So I came this daye vnto the well of ¶ 14. d. water / and sayde: O Lord thou God of my master Abraham / if thou haste prospered my iourneye that I goe: Beholde / I stande here by the well of water: Now / if there come forth a virgin to drinke water / and I saye vnto her: geue me a litle water to drinke out of thy pitcher / and she saie vnto me: Dinke thou: and I wyl drinke water for thy camels also: & it befalle the woman which the Lord hath promised for my masters sonne. Now: euen I had spoken out these wordes in my heart: beholde / Rebecca cometh forth with a pitcher vpon her shoulder / and goeth vnto the wells and draweth.

Then sayde I: geue me drinke. And immediately she toke the pouer from her shoulder / and sayde: drinke / and I will geue thy camels drinke also. So I thanke / and she gaue the camels also to drinke. And I asked her / a sayde: Whose daughter art thou? She answered: I am the daughter of Bethuel the sonne of Nahor / whome Milca bare vnto him. Then layde I the caringe vpon her face / & the bracelets vpon her handes / and bowed my selfe / & I thanked the Lord: and praised the God of my master Abraham / which had brought me by right way: to take my masters brothers daughter vnto his sonne.

If ye be they / then shew me mercy and faithfulness vnto my master / tell me: If not / yett tell me / that I may turne me to the right hande or to the left.

Then answered Laban a Bethuels / and sayde: This is come of the Lord: therefore can we saie nothing agaynst it / neither euill nor good. There is Rebecca before the face her / & go thy way: that she maie be thy masters sonnes wyfe / as the Lord hath sayde. When Abrahams seruauit heard these wordes / he bowed him selfe vnto the Lord: that vpon the earth / & toke fourt Jewels of silver / a golde / and rayment / and gaue them vnto Rebecca. But vnto her brethren / a the mothers he gaue fine speeces. The wyd he care a drinke / and the men also that were with him / & tarried there all night.

¶ But in the morning he arose / & sayde: Let me departe vnto my master. He neuer belesse / her brother and her mother sayde: Let the drinke saye with vs at the well ten dayes / and then shall he go. Then sayd he vnto them: beholde me now: for the Lord hath prospered my iourney: let me go / that I may departe vnto my master. Then sayde they: let vs call the drinke / & axe her what she sayeth.

there. And they called Rebecca / & sayd vnto her: Wilt thou go with this man?

And she answered: yea / I will go with him: So they let Rebecca they: till she wente her necke / and with Abrahams seruauit / a his men. And they blessed Rebecca / and sayd vnto her: Thou art our syster / growe in to many thousande thousandes / and thy side Gen. 11 possesse the gates of his enemyes.

So Rebecca gatherd vp with her / & wente / and sat them vpon the camels / & wente they: waye after the man. And the seruauit toke Rebecca / and departed.

As for Isaac / he was cominge from the well of the lynnage / a seynge / for he dwelt in the fourth countre / and was gone forth to his meditations in the felde aboute the riuende. And he lft vp his eyes / and saw that there were camels comminge. And Rebecca lift vp her eyes / and saw Isaac. Then lighted she of the camell / & sayde vnto the seruauit: What man is this / that cometh agaynst vs in the felde? The seruauit sayde: This same is my master.

Then rose she the her cloke / and put it about her. And the seruauit tolde Isaac all the carande that he had done. The Isaac brought her in to his mother Saras tent / and rose Rebecca / and she became his wyfe / & he loved her. So Isaac was comforted ouer his mother.

The XXV. Chapter.

¶ Abraham toke another wyfe called Astarura / which bare him / Simam and Jafan / Medan and Midian / Jethak and Suab / Jafan begat Seba a Odan. The children of Seban were Assurin / Larusim / and Lemun. The childre of Midian were Ephra / Epher / Hanochy / Abda and Elthaa. All these are the children of Astarura. And Abraham gaue all his goodes vnto Isaac: and for the childre that he had of the concubines / he gaue them gyses / and (and while he yett liued) he sent thei awaye fro his sonne Isaac / & callward into the East countre.

This is the age of Abraham / whiche he liued: euen an hundred and five and fiftene yere / and fell he / and he was in a good age / when he was olde / had liued ynough / and was gathered vnto his people. And his sonne

The. XXVI. Chapter.

B Then Jacob called Isaac and sayd: Behold / be to thy wyfe / why saydest thou this: She is my sister: Isaac answered him: I thought / I mighte perceiuee here byed because of her. Abimelech sayd: Why hast thou then don this vnto vs? It coulde byghtly haue come to passe / that some of the people might haue lyeen with thy wyfe / and so haddest thou broughte sinne vpon vs. The Abimelech commannded all the people / and sayd: Who so toucheth this man or his wyfe / shal lye the death.

Gen. 26

And Isaac sowed in that lande / and founde the same yeare an hundred bushels / so the Lord blessed him. And he became a great man / wroghte sorb and grew tyll he was exceedinge great / so that he had muche good in shepe and great cattell / and a great herdholde. Therefore had the Philistines enuy at him / and stopped all the welles / that his father had digged / and felled them with earth. In so much that Abimelech also him selfe sayde vnto him: Departe from vs / for thou arte farre mightier then we.

C Then departed Isaac from thence / and purchyd his rente in the valleye of Gerar / and dwelt there. And when he was satled he caused to digge up the welles againe that they had digged vpon his father Abrahams tyme / which the Philistines had stoppe after the death of Abraham / he called them after the same name / that his father had named them withall.

Gen. 27

Isaacos seruantes also digged in the valleye / and there they founde a well of spring water. But the herdmen of Gerar strone with Isaacos herdmen / and sayd: The water is ours. The called by the well / Esek / because they had done him wronge.

Then digged they another well / a strome for that was it / therfore called he it Sinna. So he set him from thence / and digged another well / for the which they strone not: therfore he called it Rehoboth / and sayde: Now hath the Lord made vs room / and given vs ground in the lande. Afterwarde he departed thence vnto Bersaba.

And the Lord appeared vnto him the same night / and sayd: I am the God of thy father Abraham / feare thou not / for I am with the / and I will bless thee / and multiplye thy seede for my seruant Abrahams sake. Then byghed he an altare there / and called vpon the name of the Lord / and pitched his tent there / and there his seruantes digged a well.

And Abimelech wente vnto him from Gerar / and Abisach his friend / and Abicol his chiefe caprayne. But Isaac sayde vnto them: Wherefore came ye to me / to kysse me here / and haue put me awaye from you? They sayde we feare with open eyes / that the Lord is with the / therfore we feared that there shoulde be an oath betwixt vs / as the / that we wolde make a heide with the / that thou vs no harme / lyke so we haue not hurt the / and as we haue done nothing vnto the / but all good / that let the depart in peace.

Jud. 11

As for the / that is the blessed of the Lord. Then Isaac made them a feast / and they had care and drink / and on the morowe they arose / and swere one to the other. And Isaac let them go / and they departed from him in peace.

Then came Isaac his seruantes / and tolde him of the well that they had digged / and sayde vnto him: We haue founde water. And he led it vnto Saba. Therfore is the ctyte called Bersaba vnto this daye.

The XXVI. Chapter.

When Isaac was forty yeare old he toke a wyfe / Rebekah / the daughter of Beery / the Hebric / and Bismath the daughter of Elom / & Bethuel: both these were vsbondide vnto the spere of Isaac and Rebecca.

And it came to passe wher Isaac was elde / his eyes were dimme of sighte / and he called Isaac his greater sonnes / a sayd vnto him: My sonne / Be answered him: Here am I. And he sayd: Beho do I amolde / and knowe not when I shal dye. Now therfore take thy giere / thy quier and thy borne / and get the forth to the silde / and take me some wyson / a iunke me inate / such as I loue / and bunge it me here in / that I maye cate / that my soule maye be blest the before I dye.

But Rebecca herde these wordes / & Isaac:

Esau sayde vnto his father: Haste thou not one blessinge God geue my syster: O blesse me also my father.

And he lyste vp his voyce and wepte. Then Isaac his father answered, and sayde vnto him: I beholde / thou shalt haue a fat swellinge vpon earth / and of the wete of heart from aboute / with the sweate shalt thou get thy livinge / and shalt serue thy brother. And it shall come to passe / that thou shalt put of his yoke / and plucke it from thy necke.

¶ And Esau bare euill will vnto Jacob because of the blessing that his father had blessed him withall / and sayde in his heart: The time will come shortly / that my father shall mourne / for I will slay my brother Jacob. Then reuaild he told Rebecca of these wordes of her eldest sonne / and she sent and bad cal for Jacob her younger sonne / and sayde vnto him: Beholde / thy brother Esau threateueth / that he will slay thee. And nere my sonne heare my voyce: Get thee vp / and flee vnto my brother Laban in Haran: and tary there with him a while / till the furiousnesse of thy brother be siraged / and I will beseech agerast he be turned from the / and he forget what thou hast done vnto him. So will I then sende for the / and cause the be fetched from thence. Why shoulde I be rebeld of you both in one daye?

¶ And Rebecca sayde vnto Isaac: I am weery of my life / because of the Daughters of Beth: If Jacob take a wyfe of the Daughters of this lande / what shalt this lyfe then profite me?

¶ The XXVIII. Chapter.

¶ Then called Isaac his sonne Jacob and sayde vnto him: Take not a wyfe of the Daughters of Canaan / but get thee vp / and go into Mesopotamia vnto the house of Bethuel thy mothers father / and take the there a wyfe of the Daughters of Laban / thy mothers brother. And the almighty God blesse the / and make the fruitful / and multiplye / that thou mayest be a multitude of people / and geue the blessing of Abraham vnto the / and thy sibe with the / that thou mayest poss-sest the lande / wherein thou art a stranger / I whiche God geue vnto Abraham. So Isaac let Jacob departe that he might go into Mesopotamia vnto Laban the sonne of Bethuel of Syria the brother of Rebecca his and Esaus mother.

¶ Nowe when Esau sawe that Isaac had blessed Jacob / and let him departe into Mesopotamia / that he might take a wyfe there / and that as he blessed him / he charged him and sayde: Thou shalt not take a wyfe of the Daughters of Canaan / and that Jacob obeyed his father and his mother / and was gone vnto Mesopotamia: synging that Isaac his father looked not gladly vpon the Daughters of Canaan / he wente his waye vnto Ismael / and beside the waye as he had aske / he toke a Maide the Daughter of Ismael (Abrahams sonne) the syster of Labans wyfe.

¶ So for Jacob / he departed from Bersaba / and wente vnto Haran / and came to a place where he taried all nyght: for the sunne was downe. And he toke a stone of the place / and put it vnder his heade / and layd him downe in the same place to slepe. And he dreamed / and beholds there stode vpon the earth a ladder / whose top reached vnto the heauen. And beholds the angelle of God stode vpon it / and some vpon it / and the Lord seide vpon it / and sayde:

I am the Lord God of thy father Abraham: and the God of Isaac: the lande I keele: that thou leest vpon / wil I geue vnto the / to thy sibe: and thy sibe shalbe as the dust of the earth. And thou shalt spede forth toward the west / east / north / south: a thorne the / and the sibe / shall all the kindes vpon earth be blessed. And beholds / I am with the / and will kepe the / wher soeuer thou goest / and wil bringe the herher agayne into this lande: for I will not leaue the / yll I haue made good / althar I haue promised the.

¶ Nowe when Jacob awaked from his slepe he sayde: Surely the Lord is in this place / and I knewe it not. And he was afraide / and sayde: How feareful is this place: there is no change do but an house of God / and a gate vnto heauen. And Jacob was early in the morninge / a toke the stone that he had layd vnder

 oyle vpon it. And he called the place Bethel go / a gaue me bread to eate / and clothing to be my God / a this stone that I haue set vp / shall be an heuile of Gods and all that thou ge

The XXX. Ch. p. r.

I Then Jacob got hym vp vpon his feet / and went in to the east countie / and loo ked about hym / and beholde / there was a well in the felde / a thre flockes of shepe ther by / for the flocke drank of the well. And there lay a great stone at the welles mouth / and thither they vsed to bring the flockes / and to rolle the stone from the mouth of the well: and to geue the shepe drinke / and so they put the stone agayne vpon the welles mouth vnto his place.

And Jacob sayde vnto them: Brethren / whence be ye? They answered: we are of Ha ran. He sayd vnto them: Knowe ye Laban the sonne of Laban? They answered: We knowe hym well. He sayd: Is he in good health? They answered: he is in good health And wher cometh his daughter Rachel with the shepe. He sayd: is yett hye here / a is not yett tyme to byne in the carrell: Geue the carell to byne / and go your way / and see them. They answered: We can not / tyl all the flockes be brought together / and tyl we roll the stone from the welles mouth / and so geue the shepe drinke.

B Why he yett talked with the Rachel came with her father the shepe / for the kept the shepe.
 When Jacob sawe Rachel / the daughter of Laban his mothers brother / and the shepe of Laban his mothers brother / he wente / and rolled the stone from the welles mouth / and gaue his mothers brother shepe to drinke / and kysed Rachel / byt vp his voyce / and recei ued her. that be was her fathers brother / and the sonne of Rebecca. Then came she / a tolde her father.

When Laban heere of Jacob his sisters coming / he came to meete hym / and embraced hym / and kysed him / and brought him into his house. And so he tolde him all this marre.

 Then sayd Laban vnto him: Wel / thou art my gone and my fl: th. If And he abode with hym a month longe. But after that said he vnto Jacob: Because thou art my brother / shalt thou therefore serue me for nought: Tell me: what shall thy wages be? Lecha had two daughters: the eldest was called Lea: and the youngest Rachel. And Lea was tender eyed / But Rachel was beautifull and well fauou red of face / and Jacob loued her well / a saide I will serue the seven years for Rachel thy youngest daughter. Laban answered: It is better / I geue her the eldest vnto another: may thou wish me.

So Jacob serued seven yeres for Rachel / and they sined vnto hym that seue yeres / he loued her so well. And Jacob sayde vnto La ban: geue me my wyfe / for the tyme is come that I should bye my wyfe. Then Laban bad all the people of that place / a made a merage.
 But at euen he toke his daughter Lea / and brought her in vnto him / a he lay in her. And Laba gaue Silpa his maide vnto his dought rer Lea to be her mayde.

But on the morow / beholde it was Lea.
 And he sayd vnto Laba: Why hast thou done this vnto me? Haue not I serued the for La chel: Why hast thou then begiled me? Laban answered: It is not my manner in our countrie to mary the youngest before the eldest. Heide out this wecke / and I will geue thee my alse for the seruce that thou shalt do me yett se ven yeres more. Jacob sayd so / and helde out that weke. The gaue he him Rachel his you gher to wife. And Laban gaue Bilha his maide vnto Rachel his daughter to be her maide. So he lay with Rachel also / and had Rachel more the Lea: and serued him yett seven yeres more.

But when the Lorde sawe / that Lea was not byne regarded / he made her finte full / and Rachel barren. And Lea conceiued and bare a sonne / wher in she called Ruben: a and said: The Lorde hat / a be for vpon me aduersite: Now wyl me by stande lone me.
 And she conceiued agayne / and bare a sonne and said: The Lorde hath bene that I am byssyd / and hath taken me: this alse /
 and

and he called hym Simeon. She conceaued yet againe / and bare a sonne / and sayde: Now will my husbands f. p. me company againe / for I haue borne hym the sonne / therefore called she his name Leui. She conceaued the fourth time / and bare a sonne / and sayde: Now will I geue thanks vnto y<sup>e</sup> Lord / therefore called she him Iuda / and left bearinge.

The XXX. Chapter.

WHan Rachel sawe that she bare no childen vnto Jacob / he had enuy at her sister / and saide vnto Jacob: Geue me children also: for I am but dead. But Jacob was very woth at Rachel / and said: Am I then in Gods stead / w<sup>ch</sup> I sepech / I frute of thy wombe from the: Auert helo she sayde: Behold spercia Bilba my mayden / she w<sup>ch</sup> her that she maye beare vpon my lappe / and that I may be increased by her. And so she gaue him Bilba her mayden to wyse.

Gen. xxi.

And Jacob laye with her. So Bilba conceaued / a bare Jacob a sonne. Then said Rachel: God hath grauen sentence on my side / a herde my voyce / and geuen me a sonne: therefore called she hym Dan. Bilba Rachels maide conceaued againe / and bare another sonne vnto Jacob. Then sayd Rachel: God hath turned it with me / and my sister / and I haue gotten the vpper hande / a she called him Joseph.

Now when Lea sawe that she had lesse bearinge / she toke Silpa her maide / and gaue her vnto Jacob to wyse. So Silpa Leas maide bare Jacob a sonne. Then sayd Lea: This is good lucke / and she called hym Gad. After this Silpa Leas maide bare Jacob another sonne. Then said Lea: Wels me / for she daughters will call me blessed / a she called him Aser.

And when went out in the time of the wheat harvest / and founde Mandiagooas in f. f. / and brought them home vnto his mother Lea. Then said Rachel vnto Lea: Geue me some of thy sonnes Mandiagooas. She answered: Hast thou not enough / but thou hast taken awaye my husbande / but wilt take awaye my sonnes Mandiagooas also: Rachel sayde: Wels it hym h<sup>er</sup> with the this night / for thy sonnes Mandiagooas. Now when Jacob came home at euen from the f. f. / Lea went forth to meete him / a said: Thou shalt lye with me / for I haue brought / for my sonnes Mandiagooas.

And he slepte with her that nyght. And God herde Lea / and she conceaued / and bare Jacob the fifth sonne / and said: God hath rewarded me / because I gaue my mayden to my husbande / and she called him Issachar. Lea conceaued yet againe / a bare Jacob the sixe sonne / and said: God hath enderred me with a good dowrye: Now will me my husbande dwell with me againe / for I haue bene barren for sonnes / and she called him Zabulon. After that she bare a daughter / whome she called Dinah.

Auert helo God thought vpon Rachel / a herde her / a made her fruitful. The she conceaued / a bare a sonne / a said: God hath taken awaye my rebuffe / a she called him Joseph a j. Par. a said: God gaue me: yet another sonne.

Now when Rachel had borne Joseph / Jacob said vnto Laban: Let me goe / and be parte in to my place / and onto myne owne lande: geue me my wyse / a my children: / for the which I haue serued / a that I may goe: for thou knowest what seruice I haue done the. Laban sayd vnto hym: Can I not finde fauour in thy syghte: I preceave / that God hath blessed me: to thy safe. Appoint thou the reward: that I shall geue the. But he said vnto him: Thou knowest how I haue serued the: a what manner of cattel thou hast vnder me. Thou haddest but litle of me: I came here: but now is it grown into a multitude / and the Lorde hath blessed the: for my safe.

And now when shall I lofe for myne owne benefite also: He sayd / what shall I thin geue the: Jacob sayde: thou shalt geue me nothinge at all: but if thou wilt do this for me: that I seye: then wilt I fede and fepe thy shepe againe: I will goe thowe althy flocke to day / and separate thou from amonge them: all the shepe that be spotted and parye coloured / a all blacke shepe and y<sup>e</sup> the lambe. Thow lye what shalt be parte coloured: a spotted: and y<sup>e</sup> fydd: of the same shall be my reward: so shall my ryghteousnes be lye: with me to daye: or to morow: when it cometh vnto my reward.

before th/so that whateuer is not spotted/ and pale is collected amonge the Kiddees/ and be. etc. amonge the lambees/ let that be thist wylme.

f Then said Laban: Beholde/ let it be so as thou hast sayd. And th/ same daye he furnished out & specked a parne coloured goates/ and & specked a parne coloured Kiddees (where there was any white upon them) and at that was bleefe amonge the lambees/ and put them vnder the hande of his children/ and made route of the wayes iourney wylde berwyre him and Jacob. So Jacob kepte the residue of Labans flocke.

But Jacob toke stauos of grent wylles besyl/ and of chesnut trees/ and pilled white steeles in them/ and layed the stauos that he had pilled/ in the bymyng troughes before the flocke/ wylch came there to drinke that they shoulde conceale whā they came to drinke. So th/ flocke concealed ouer the stauos/ & brought forth specked/ spotted and parne coloured.

g Then Jacob parted the lambees/ and put them to the flock vnto i/ & spotted/ and at that was bleefe in Labans flocke/ that put be vnto the spotted. And he made him a flock of his ewes wylch he put not vnto Labans flocke. Therwith also in the first bymyng tyme of the flocke/ he layed the stauos in the bymyng troughes before the eyes of the flockes/ that they shoulde conceale ouer the stauos. But in the latter bymyng tyme he layed them not in. So the latter were Labans/ but the firstlings were Jacobs. Thus the man became a wealthy ryche/ so that he had many shepe/ maydens/ and seruantes/ camels and .iij.

The XXXI Chapter.

h Here also of the woodes of Labans children that they said: Jacob hath brought our fathers good vnto hymselfe/ and of our fathers good hath he gotten these rychee. And Jacob beheld Labans contentance/ & behelde/ it was not toward him as yesterdaye and yesterdaye.

ij And the Lorde sayd vnto him: † Departe agayne to thy fathers lande/ and to thy kinde/ I will be with the. Then sent Jacob/ and had call Rachel/ and Lea in the side to.

his flocke/ and said vnto them: If ye your fathers contentance/ that it is not toward me lyke as yesterdaye & yesterdaye/ but the God of my father hath bene with me. And ye knew that I haue serued your father with all my power.

And he hath deceaued me/ and changed my wages now ten tymes. But God hath not suffered Lymite to do me harme. If he sayd: The parrye coloured shall be thy reward/ then the whole flocke were parrye coloured. If he sayd: The specked shall be thy reward/ then the whole flocke were specked. Thus hath God withdecreuen your fathers goodes fr: me him/ and geuen them vnto me. For when the bymyng tyme came/ I layed vp myne eyes/ and sate in a bymyng/ & beholde the rammes leapt vpon the flocke/ that was specked/ spotted/ & parrye coloured.

And the aungell of God sa d vnto me in a bymyng: Jacob. And I answered: Here am I. He said: sit vp thine eyes/ & beholde the rammes leapt vpon the specked/ spotted/ and parne coloured flocke: for I haue seen all that Laban doth vnto the. I am the God at Bethel/ where thou diddest anoynte the G. xxij. d. 1370 stone/ and made a vowe there vnto me. Get the vp now/ and departe out of this lande/ and go agayne into the lande of thy kynde.

Then answered Rachel/ and Lea/ and c sayd vnto hym: As for vs we haue no power in our inheritance more in our fathers house/ and he hath counted vs as strangers/ for he hath sold vs and set vp our wages. Therefore hath God withdecreuen your fathers rychee from hym vnto vs/ and sure he been. Whatserue now God hath sayd vnto the that do.

So Jacob gat vp/ and fir his children and wyues vpon camels/ and cryed away of his cattell/ and all his substance that he had gotten in Mesopotamia/ that he might come vnto Isaac his father in the lande of Canaan. Laban was gone to the bymyng of the flocke/ and Rachel had her father's ydolls. Thus d. R. 342
byd Jacob Isaac awaye the beare of Laban ij the Syrian/ in that he tolde hym not that he fled. So he fled/ and all that was his gat vp/ and passed ouer the water/ and wente ijxxij. d.

strayght towards the mount Gilcad.
 Upon the thirde daye it was tolde Laban upon Jacob fled. And he toke his brethren vnto him / and followed after him seuen dayes iourney / and overtooke him upon the mount Gilcad. But God came vnto Laban the Syrian a dreame by night / and sayd vnto him: Be ware / that thou speake not to Jacob but good. And Laban thence rose vnto Jacob. As for Jacob / he had pitched his tent vpon the mount. And Laban with his brethren pitched his tent also vpon the same mount Gilcad.

Then sayd Laban vnto Jacob: What hast thou done / that thou hast stolen awaye my heere / and carryed awaye my daughters / as though they had ben taken awaye captiue with the sheare: Whatsoeuer I speake thou shalt heere: that thou woldest flye / and hast stolen awaye fro me / and toldest my norther / I myght haue soughte the on thy waye with myrth / with hunting / with rabience / and herpce / and halfe not suffred me to fynde my children / and daughters: Thou hast done foolishly / and so muche myght I haue made / I coulde haue bene you euel: but your fathers God said yesternyght vnto me: Beware / that thou speake nothinge vnto Jacob but good. And for so muche then as thou woldest me departe / and longeest seue after thy fathers house / why hast thou stolen awaye my goodes?

Jacob answered and sayd vnto Laban:
 I was afraid / that thou shouldest haue taken away the daughters fro me: but I toke by wher thou sendest thy goodes / let the same here be before our brethren. Seke therefore to by me / and take it awaye. But he knewe not / that Rachel had stolen them. Then wente Laban into Jacobs tent / and into Leas tente / and into the maydens tentes / and founde nothinge: and out of Leas tente he wente into Rachels tente. Then toke Rachel the ydolles / & layed the vnder the camels strawe / and set some vpon them. But Laban searched the whole ten / & founde nothinge. Then said she vnto her sister: Be not angry my lord / that I can not rise vp vnto the: for it cometh vnto me after the manner of women. So he sought / & founde not the ydolles.

And Jacob was wroth / & dyde with Lea-ban / he answered and said vnto him: What haue I trespassed or offended / that thou art so wroth with me? Thou hast searched all my householde stuffe / and what hast thou foude of thy householde stuffe? Laye it here before my brethren and thyne / that they may iudge betweene vs both. Twentie yere haue I ben with thy shepe / a gooder haue not ben vn-fruitfull / the raine of thy shepe haue I not eaten. Take what was tyme of sheapes / I brought it not vnto the / I was fayne to paye it my self: thou requyredst it of my hande / whether it were good or me by daye or by nyght. On the daye tyme the heat consumed me / and the frose on the nyght / and my slepe departed fro mine eyes.

Thus haue I stened twentye yere in thy house / fourteen yere for thy daughters / Gen 31 and sere for thy shepe / and ten times hast thou chaunged my reward / and if God of my father / the God of Abraham / a feare of Isaac had not ben on my side / thou haddest taken me awaye emptye. But God hath labored vpon mine aduersitee and laboure / and rebuled y yesterdaye.

Laban answered / & sayd: The daughters are my daughters / and the children are my children / & the sheepe are my sheepe / & all y thou seest is mine: What can I do this daye vnto thee my daughters / or to their children: whome they haue done: Now therefore come on / let vs make a conuenaunt / I & thou / which may be a wytnesse betwene me & the. Then toke Jacob a stone / and set it vp for a pillar: & marked it. & sayd vnto his brethren: Gather stones.
 And they toke the stones / & made an heape: & theydare vpon the same heape. And Lab called it Jegar Sahadutha: but Jacob called it Gilcad: either of them after the propriety of his language.

Then sayd Laban: This heape be wytnes betwene me & the this daye: therefore is it called Gilcad / and a testimony: for he sayd: The Lord be loof. betwene me & the: whan we are departed the one from the other: if thou were my daughters / or take other wyse / vnto the. There is woman with vs / but / God to the witness betwene me and the. And Laban sayd: now couer vnto Jacob: B. hold / this is the

the heap / a this is the markstone / that I haue set up betwixt me / a the: the same heape be wittnesse / a the same markstone also be witt-nesse: / I passe ouer vnto the: or / if thou passe ouer this heape and markstone vnto me / to do any harme. The God of Abraham / and the: God of Laban / and the God of thy fathers / be iudge betwixt vs.

And Jacob swore vnto hym by the feare of his father Isaac. And Jacob offered an of-ferynge vpon the mount / and called his brethren to care bread. And when they had care-ned / they tarried vpon the mount all nyght.
But vpon the morow / Laban rose vpearly sydd his chyldren and daughters / a blessed them / and departed: and came agayne vnto his place. As for Jacob / he were on his iour-ney / and the angelo of God met him. And when he sawe them / he sayde: It is Gods booffe / a called the same place Mahanaim.

The XX XII. Chapter.

I H Jacob sent messengers before hym to 174 a S his brother Esau / into the lande of Ec-17 of the felde of Edom / and commaunded them / and sayd: Say thus vnto my lorde Essau: Thy seruaint Jacob sendeth the this word: I haue deui out with Laban / and haue ben hereto amonge strangers / and haue open / and assed / thepe seruantes / and may-deus / and haue sent forth to thewe it the my lorde: / I might synde fauour in thy sight.
The messengers came agayne vnto Jacob / and sayd: We came vnto thy brother Essau / and he cometh forth also agaynst the with foure hundred men. Then was Jaccob sore affrayed / and sayd: what waye to turne him selfe / and denyed the people that was with hym / and the shepe / and the oxen / and the camels into two dioues / and sayd: if Esau come vpon the one dioue / and smyte in / the other shall escape.

B Jacob sayd moreover: O God of my father Abraham / God of my father Isaac / Lor-173 a D et thou that sayest vnto me: Departe a-gayne to thyne owne lande / and to thy kin-red / and I will do thy good: I am to lytle for all the mercies / a al the trouth that thou hast shewed vnto thy seruaint / for I had no more but this staffe when I wente ouer this Iordane / and now am I become two dioues.

ues / deliuer me from the bande of my brother / from the bande of Esau / for I am affraid of hym / lest he come and smyte me / a mother with the chyldren. Thou sayest I will do the good / and will make thy side as the sande of the see / which can not be numbered for multitude.

And there he taried that nyght / a a toke of such as came to hande a present vnto his brother Esau / two hundred the goattes / and 174 c R c. xxv. c twenty he goates / two hundred thepre / twenty rammes / and thyrty mylkyng camels with theyr soales / fourty hyncen bullecks twenry the asses with ten soales / and purthe in the bandes of his seruantes / euery flocke by them selfe / and sayd vnto them: Go ye forth before me / and put a space betwixt one flocke after the other / and commaunded the syrt and sayd:

When my brother Esau meeth the / and aseth the: Whose seruantes are thou / a who-ther goest thou / a whose are these that thou dystest before: Thou shalt say: They be thy seruaint Jacobs / which sendeth a present vnto to his lorde Esau / and cometh beynde vs him selfe.

This commaunded he the seconde also / and the thyrde / and all them that folowed the flockes / and sayd: Lyke as I haue tolde you / so speake ye vnto Esau / when ye meete hym / a say vnto hym also: Beholde / thy ser-uaint Jacob do behynde vs. For he thought / I will reconcile my selfe with the present that goeth before me / a afterwards will I see him my selfe / peraduenture he shall receaue me to grace.

Thus went the present before hym / but he taried in the tent the same nyght / a rose vp in the nyght / a toke his two wyfes / and the two maydenes and his cleue sonnnes / a went vnto y<sup>e</sup> foote of Iacob: the the a caried the ouer the water / so that all that he had came ouer / a taried hym selfe alone on this syde.

Then wrestled there a man with hym / on 174 c D c. xxv. c till the breake of the daye. And when he saw that he mighte not ouercome hym / he touched the fenore of his thye / and the fenore of his thye: struck in wrestlinge with him. And he sayd: Let me go: for the daye be-cometh on. But he answered: I will not let y<sup>e</sup> go.

for your daughter. O geue her hym to reyse:
make freddshippe to vs/geue vs your dought-ters / I take ye our Doughters / and dwell w vs / the lande shalbe open vnto you / dwell a occupye / and haue your possessions them.
And Schem said vnto her father and be-thren: Let me fynde grace with you: loke what ye appoint me / I wil geue it: requyre the wetyng / and gyft of me hardely / I wyll geue it: exceeding so ye wil aye / only geue me the wansell to reyse.

Then Jacobs sonnes answered Schem and Hemor his father / a spake deceatfully because theyr syster Dina was defyled / and sayd vnto them: That can we not do / to geue our syster to an vncircumcyed man / so that were a great harme vnto vs.

¶ Neerly desyre will consent vnto you / if ye wyl be lye vnto vs / and be circycised as many as are males amonge you: then wil we geue you our Doughters / and take your Dou-ghters vnto vs / and dwell with you / and be one people. But if ye will not herken vnto vs / to be circuncyed / then wyll we take our Doughter / and go our waye.

These wordes pleased Hemor: and his sonne well / and the yonge man deserved not to do the same / so he had lust to Jacobs doughter: and he was holden in honoure aboue all in his fathers house. Then came Hemor and Schem his sonne vnder the gate of the citty / and cōmēd with the cetyfens of the citty / and sayde: These men are peaceable with vs / wil dwell in the lande / a occupye.
Now is the lande thode of both the sides / we wyl take theyr Doughters vnto vs / and geue them oure doughters.

¶ But theyr wyll theyr consent vnto vs to dwell by vs / and to be one people with vs / if we circycise all the men children amonge vs / lyke as they are circuncyed: theyr carrel and gooddes / and all that they haue / shalbe ours / if we consent vnto them that they maie dwell with vs.

And theyr herkened vnto Hemor and Schem his sonne / as many as went out and in at the gate of his citty / and circuncyed all the males / and that went out and in at it / is a his citty. / And vpon the thyde daye / when it was paynfull to them / the two sonnes of

Jacob / Simeon / and Levi: Dinsos be: they toke entrie into his streete / and wroue boldly into the citty / and slawe all the males / and slaw Hemor also / and Schem his son with the edge of the sweard / and toke the syster Dina out of Schems house / and wente their waye.

¶ Then came Jacobs sonnes vpon the dead / and spoyled the citty: because they had defy-led theyr syster / and toke their shepe / oxen / asses / and what souer was in the citty and in the lande / and all manner of gooddes: All their thyssen / and wykes toke theyr captiue / and spoyled all that was in the houses.

¶ And Jacob saide vnto Simeon / and Leuice haue brought it so to passe / that I stinfe before the inhabitants of the lande / the Cananites and Pherecites / and I am but a small number: If they gather them selfes now together agaynste me / they shall slaye me / so shall I be destroyed with my house. But theyr answered: Should they then deale with our syster as with an whore?

The XXXV. Chapter.

¶ And God sayde vnto Jacob: Get the vp / and go vnto Bethel and dwell there: / a make there an altare vnto the God / that appeared vnto the / when thou steddost fro thy brother Esau. Then sayd Jacob vnto his household / and to all that were with hym: Put awaye from you the strange goddesses / that are amonge you / and cleanse your selfes / and chaunge your clothes / and let vs go vnto Bethel / that I maye there make an altare vnto the God / which therde me in the time of my trouble / a haue bene th me in the waye that I haue gone.

¶ Then gaue theyr hym all the strange goddesses that were vnder theyr handes / and theyr earnynges / and be buried them vnder an Oke / that stode besyde Sychem / and be-spared. And there came a feare of God vpon the enimies that laye rounde aboute: / so that theyr slooured not after the sonnes of Jacob. So came Jacob vnto Luse of the lande of Canaan / which is called Bethel / and all the people that were with hym / and there he builded an altare / and called the place Bethel / because the Loide appeared vnto

The XXXVII. Chapter.

When Jacob dwelt in the lande/wher in his father was a stranger/ namely in the lande of Canaan. And these are the generations of Jacob. Joseph was thirtie yeare olde/ when he became a feyer of the carrell with his brethren/ and he had with the children of Bilha and Raipa his fathers wyfes / and tolde theyr father of the cuell report that was of them. Israel loued Joseph more then all his children/ because he had begotten hym in his olde age / and he made hym a coate of many coloures.

Now when his brethren sawe that his father loued hym more then all his brethren/ they had euill wyl ar hym/ and coulde not speake a frendly worde vnto hym. Joseph also had once a dreame and tolde his brethren thereof. The hard they hym the moor / for he sayde: H Heare I praye you what I dreamed. We thought we were brynding: because upon a felde/ and my sheue arose/ and stode vp / and your sheues rounde aboute made obeysaunce vnto my sheue.

Then sayde his brethren vnto him: Shalt thou thou be our kynge/and haue dominion ouer us: And they heerd hym yet f more/ because of his dreame and his wordes. And he had yet another dreame/whiche he tolde his brethren/and sayd: Beholde/ I had yet another dreame: We thought that the Sunne/ and y Mooone/ and xi. starrs made obeysaunce to me. And when this was tolde his father and his brethren/ his father reioyced hym/ and sayde vnto hym: What maner of dreame is this/ that thou hast dreamed: Shall I and thy mother/ and thy brethren come and fall before the vpon the ground: and his brethren had enyue at hym: But his father marked this sayinge.

Luc. 4. a

¶ Now when his brethren were gone forth to kepe their fathers cattell in Sichem/ Israel sayde vnto Joseph: Do nor thy brethren kepe the cattell in Sichem: Come/ I will sende the vnto them. He answered: Here am I. And he sayde: Go thy waye/ and loke whether it be well with thy brethren/ a with the cattell/ and bringe me wordes agayne how it is. And he sent hym out of y valleye of Hebron/ to go vnto Sichem.

i. Reg. 14. b

¶ Then a certayne man founde hym/ wanedinge out of his waye in y felde/ which axed hym/ a sayde: Whome seest thou? He answered: I see my brethren/ all me/ I praye y where they kepe shepe. The man sayde they are gone from hence: y haue them saye: Let vs go vnto y. He then folowed Joseph vnto his brethren/ a founde them at Sothan.

¶ Now when they sawe hym asafore he came at them/ they beuyed to slaye hym/ a sayde one to another: Lo/ there cometh y trea-turer/ come on/ and let vs slaye hym/ and cast hym in a pytte/ a saye a wycked beast hath de-uoured hym: then shall it be fene/ what his dreames are.

Gen. 34. c

¶ When Ruben herde y she wolde haue de-fened hym out of theyr handes/ and sayd:
I let vs not slaye a feule. Ruben sayde mo-reouer vnto them: Shed no bloude/ but cast hym into this pytte that is in the waye/ and and laye y no handes vpon hym. He wolde haue defened hym out of theyr handes/ wher he might haue brought hym agayne vnto his father. ¶

¶ When Joseph now came to his brethren/they striped hym out of his coate/ that party coloured coate/ which he had vpon hym/ and toke hym/ and caste him into a pytte. But the same pytte was emptye/ and no water in it/and they set them vnto to cate. In y meane season they lyfte vp theyr eyes/ and sawe a company of Imaclites/ comyng from Gilead/with theyr camels/ which bare speces/ balme/and myrrer/ and were goynge vnto into Egypte.

¶ Then sayde Iuda vnto his brethren: What helpeth it vs/ that we slawe our brother/ and hede his bloude? Come let vs sell him vnto the Imaclites/ y our handes be not defiled vpon him: so he is our brother/ our fleshe and bloude. And they herkened vnto him.

¶ And as the Madianites marchant men went by/ they viewe Joseph out of the pytte/ and sold him vnto y Imaclites/ for twenty shekyls of shekyls/ whiche he bought hym into Egypte.

Act. 1.

¶ Now when Ruben came agayne vnto the pytte/ a founde not Joseph therein/ he rent his clothes/ a came agayne to his brethren and sayde: The lab is not vnder/ whether shall I go: then r. k. they Josephs coate/ a fene a goate/ and typped his coate in y bloude/ and sent awaye the same coloured coate/ a sayed it to be brought vnto theyr father/ a sayd:
This haue we founde/ loke/ whether it be thy sonnes coate/ or no.

¶ But he knewe it and sayde: It is my son-nes coate/ I a wicked beast hath deuoured him/ a runnynge beast hath ransched Joseph.
And Iacob reue his clothes/ a put a farse cloth about his loynes/ a mourned for his sonne a longe season. And all his sonnes a daughteres came vnto him to console him. But he wold not be consoled/ a sayde: With sow we wyl I go vnto into the graue vnto my sone. And his father wepte for him: But the Madianites sold him in Egypte vnto Pimplar/ Pha-raos dyer marshall.

The XXXVIII. Chapter.

¶ The firste part of this chapter/ sheweth Iuda Iacobes dreame from his brethren/ and gaz hym to a man called Etra/ of y dollans/ and there Iuda sawe a mans daughter/ of Canaan an called Sina/ and toke her. And when he had layn with her/ she conceaued/ and bare a sonne.

that he became a lucky man/and was in his master the Egyptians house. And his master saith: The Lord was with him: so whatsoeuer he did/ the Lord made it to prosper in his hands: so he soude fauoure in his masters sight/and was his seruaut. He made him ruler of his house/and put all that he had vnder his hande. And from the time forth that he had made him ruler of his house/and all his goodes/ the Lord blessed the Egyptians house for Josephs sake/ and there was nothinge but the very blessing of the Lord/ in all that he had in the house/and in the felde therfore left be all that he had in Josephs hande. And medled with nothinge hym selfe/ save only the breade that he yd eate. And Joseph was sayre of serwyce/ and wel fauoured of face.

B And it so turned after these actes/ that his masters wyfe cast her eyes vpon Joseph/ and sayde: Sleepe with me. But he denyed/ and sayde vnto her: Echold/ my master knoweth not what is in the house/ al all he hath/ that hath he put vnder my hande. And there is no man so greate in his house as I/ and he hath kept nothinge from me/ excepte the: for thou art his wyfe. How shoulde I then do so greate euill/ and synne agaynst God? But she spake suche wordes vnto Joseph dayly. neuertheless he refused not vnto her/ to slepe by her/ so to be in her company.

C It so turned vpp a nime/ that Joseph wete into his house to do his busynesse/ a there was none of the folkes of the house therby. And she caught hym by his garnet/ a said: Sleepe vnto me. But he left his garment in her hande/ a fled/ a put hym out of the house.

Now when she sawe that he had left his garment in her hande/ and fled oute/ she called the folkes in the house/ and sayde vnto them: Lo/ he hath brought vs in the Hebrewes/ so do vs them/ he came in here vnto me/ to slepe by me: but I cryed with a loude voyce. And wha he herd that I made a noyse/ and cryed/ he left his garnet here by me/ a fled/ and ranne out.

D And she layd vp his garnet by her/ till his master came home/ and tolde hym euen thysame wordes/ and saide: The Hebrewes seruaut/ whome thou broughtest here vnto me/ came in here to me/ for to do me shame. But when I made a noyse and cryed/ he left his garment here by me/ and fled out. When his master herde the wordes of his wyfe/ which she tolde hym/ and sayde: Thus hath the Hebrew seruaut done vnto me/ he was very wroth.

E Then his master toke hym/ and put hym in prison/ where the kynges prisoners laye. And there he laye in prison. But the Lord made hym to fynde fauoure in the sight of the officer of the prison/ so that he commytted all the prisoners of the prison vnto his hande: ther whatsoeuer were vnto/ myght be done by hym. For the officer of the prison saith: that the Lord was with hym/ in all that was vnder his hande/ and that whatsoeuer he did/ the Lord made it to come pass perously to pass.

The XL Chapter.

F It so turned after this that the kyng of Egypte chaunge the butler/ and the chiefe butler/ and Pharaon was angry with them/ and caused them to be put in prison in the chiefe marshalls house/ where Joseph laye prisoner. And the chiefe marshall put Joseph vnto them/ that he myght serue them/ and so they were in prison for a season.

And they dreamed/ both the butler and the butler in one night/ euery man his owne dreame/ and euery dreame had his interpretation. Now in the morning when Joseph came in vnto them/ and sawe that they toled sadly/ he acke them and sayd: Why take ye so sadly to daye? They answered: We haue dreamed/ and haue no man to deek: recit vnto vs. Joseph sayd: Interpretynge he longth vnto God/ but tell me yet.

B Then the chiefe butler tolde Joseph his dreame/ and sayde vnto him: I dreamed that there was a vyne before me/ which had thre braunches/ so/ a budde/ greene/ and bare blossomes/ a the grapes therof were ripe. And I had Pharaon eatte in my hande/ a rofe of thre grapes/ a wa: ngethem in to thre cuppes/ a gaue Pharaon the cuppe in his hande.

Joseph sayde: This is the interpretation: The thre braunches are thre years/ and euer the him ʒ cuppe in his hande after the olde maner/whan thou wast his butler: But whan thou art in thy prosperite/thinke vpon me / a tifie Pharao of me/that he maye bringe me out of this house/so: I was pruely caried out of the lande of ʒ Hebrues/and here also haue I done nothinge / ʒ they shoulde haue put me in the dongeon.

¶ Whan the chiefe baker saue / that ʒ interpretacion was good / he saide vnto Ioseph:
I dreamed / ʒ I here the wyfer bakeres vpon my beade/ and in the uppermost bakker all maner of basten meates so: Pharao / a the fooles did eate out of the bakker vpon my beade.

Ioseph answered and saide: This is the interpretacion: The thet bakeres are thre dayes/ a after thre dayes shall Pharao take ʒ / and hange the vpon the galowe/and ʒ fooles shall eate thy fleshe from of the.

And vpon the thirde daye it came to passe/that Pharao made his ʒ birth daye/and helde a feast vnto all his seruantes/a rofe the chiefe butler/and the chiefe baker before all his ser-uantes/and restored the chiefe butler to his butlershippe agayne / so that he reached the cuppe in to Pharaos hande. As for the chiefe baker/ he caused him be hangd like so: Ioseph had interpreted vnto him ʒ euer belisse the chiefe butler thought not on Ioseph but for gaet him.

The XLII. Chapter.

¶ And after two yeres Pharao had a dream where thet the slode by a water side a: behold / out of the water there came seue goods ly fyne/ and fastsified/and wente sdinge in the meadow. After thet he saw other seuen fyne come out of the water / which were as well fauoured/and leane fleshed / and wente by the fyne vpon the water syde: and the well fauoured leane fyne did eate vp the seuen goodly / and fat fyne: Then Pharao awaked.

And he slepte agayne/and dreamed the seconde tyme. And he sawe that seuen eyses of come greue vpon one stalk/ful and good.
Afterwarde he sawe seuen thynne and blassed eyses come vprand ʒ seuen thynne eyses de-uoured ʒ seuen greete /and full eyses. The Pharao awaked/and saue ʒ it was a dream.

And whan it was daye/his spete was troubled/and he sent our/and caused to call all the sothsayers in Egypte/and all the wyse men/and tolde them his dream. But there was none/that coulde tell Pharao the interpreta-cion of it.

Then spake the chiefe butler vnto Pharao/a saide: This daye ʒ I remember my fault.
Whan Pharao was angrye with his seruants/and put me in prysen by the chiefe baker/in ʒ chiefe marshals house/ we dreamed both in one nyght: eury man his dream / ha-uyng his owne interpretacion. Then was there with vs a yonge man/ an Hebrue / the chiefe marshals seruaunt / vnto whom we tolde it / and he declared our dreames vnto vs / vnto eury man/according to his dream.
And so he declared it vnto vs / so came it to passe. For I was restored vnto myne office/and he was hangd.

Then Pharao sent and called for Ioseph/a they let him out of the dongeon. And he let himselfe be shewen/a chaungd his clothes / a came in vnto Pharao. Then saide Pharao to him: I haue dreamed a dream / and there is no man ʒ can interpret it. But I haue herd tell of thet whan thou hearest a dream/ thou declarest it. Ioseph answered Pharao / and sayde: God shall geue Pharao a prosperous aunsaer/ so/ wel without me.

Pharao sayde vnto Ioseph: I dreamed ʒ
I slode by a water side/ and beholde/ out of ʒ water there came seuen fyne / fat fleshed and goodly/and wente sdinge in the meadow.
And after them I sawe other seue fyne come out thynne/uel fauoured/ a leane fleshed. So uell fauoured sawe I neuer in all the lande of Egypte. And the seuen leane and euell fauoured fyne dyd eate vp ʒ seuen fyne fat fyne.
And whan they had eaten them vp / a man coude not poccaine that they had eaten thet / a were as euell fauoured as they had eaten afore.
Then I awaked.

And I sawe agayne in me became seuen eyses of come/ growyng vpon one stalk/ ful and good. Afterwarde there sprong vp seue withred eyses / thynne and blassed / and the seuen

seven thinne cyres becaused the seven good cyres. And I haue shewed it vnto my lordes/ but they can tell me nothing thereof.

Joseph answered Pharao: Barh Pharao becaime are one: God sheweth Pharao what he wyl do. The seven good fyne are seven yeares/ a the seven good cyres are seven yeares. It is one becaime. The seven leane/ a the seven fauoured fyne/ that come up after them/ are seven yeares. And the seven thynne and blessed cyres/ is the seven yeares of verth. This is nam the thyng which I told Pharao/ that God shewed Pharao what he wyl do.

Wherfor/ these shall come seven yeares with great plenteousnesse in the whole lande of Egypte/ after the same/ there shall come seven yeares of verth/ so that all this plenteousnesse shall be forgotten in the lande of Egypte/ and the verth shall consume the lande/ so that the plenteousnesse shall not be perceaued in the lande/ because of the verth that cometh thereafter/ for it shall be very greate. Where as Pharao becaime the seconde name it signifyeth/ this thinge is surely prepared of God/ and that God wyl shew the thyng the same to passe.

Eth: Pharao now prouyde for a man of vnderstandyng and wysdom/ whome he maye serue the lande of Egypte/ and be like an ordone officer in the lande/ and take the fifth parte of the lande of Egypte in the seven plenteous yeares/ and gather all the foode that shall come of the plenteous yeares/ that they maye laye up come vnder Pharaos power/ for sustenance in the cyres/ and kepe it that there maye be foode founde/ prepared for the lande in the seven beare yeares/ which shall come vpon the lande of Egypte/ that the lande be not destroyed by honner. The sayge pleaseth Pharao well/ and all his seruantes. And Pharao sayde vnto his seruantes. How maye we fynde such a man/ in whome is the spere of God? And sayde vnto Joseph: So/ so much as God hath shewed the all this/ there is none of such vnderstandyng/ and wyscome as thou.

Joseph: Thou shalt be ouer my house/ and euen as I shall be ouer thy house/ shall all my people obey: onely in the kynges house wyl I be more then thou. And he sayde: Behold/ I haue set the ouer the whole lande of Egypte. And he toke of his ring/ from his hande/ and gaue it Joseph in his hande/ and clothed hym with whyte sylke/ a dyde haunge a dyeme of golde aboute his necke/ and made hym ryde vpon the seconde charret/ and caused it to be preclaymed before hym/ that men should bowe their knees vnto hym/ (as to him) whome Pharao had set ouer the whole lande of Egypte.

And Pharao sayde vnto Joseph: I am Pharao/ without thy wyl/ shal no man moue his hande or his foote in all the lande of Egypte. And he called hym/ Sapthnah Pharaos/ and gaue hym a wyf/ Asnath the daughter of Potyphar/ the priest of On. So Joseph wente out/ for to wyf/ the lande of Egypte. And he was thynne yeare olde/ when he stode before Pharao. And he departed thynge from Pharaos/ and wente thowp all the lande of Egypte.

And the lande dyd so/ those seven plenteous yeares/ and they gathered all the foode of the seven yeares that were in the lande of Egypte/ and laide it in fyue. Loke what foode grew in the fynde rounde aboute euery cite/ they put it therin. So Joseph layed up/ come in store/ and that much aboute measure/ as the lande off/ seyn/ so much that he left of any bynyng of it/ so/ it could not be numbred.

And vnto Joseph there were come two sonnes/ before the verth came/ whome Asnath the daughter of Potyphar/ priest of On bare vnto hym. And the firste called he Manasse: for God sayde he/ barh/ caused me to forget all my labour/ and all my fathers house. The seconde called he Ephraim: for God sayde he/ barh/ caused me to growe in the lande of my trouble.

Nowe when the seven plenteous yeares were ended in Egypte. Then beganne the seven beare yeares to come/ wherof Joseph had sayde. And there was verth in all lande/ but in all the lande of Egypte there was foode. There when the lande of Egypte beganne to suffre hunger also/ the people cryed vnto Pharao for bread. But Pharao sayde vnto all the Egyptyane: Where wyl Joseph be that he sayeth vnto you/ that do. So when there was death in all the lande. Joseph opened at that tyme by him / and sold vnto the Egyptians. Thus the death puzzeled in the land / and all countreys came to Egypte to bye at Joseph: for the death was myghty in all landes.

The XLII. Chapter.

WHan Jacob sawe that there was much conuenience in Egypte: he sayd vnto his sonnes: Whysaye ye? Beholde / I heare that there is much conuenience in Egypte: go youne / and see: vs come / that we maye liue: & not dye. So Joseph stode by the weate doore to bye come in Egypte. So for Benjamin / Josephs brother: Jacob wolde not let him go with his brethren / for he said: Some misfortune maye happen vnto him. So the children of Israel came to bye come amonge other that came with them: for there was death also in the lande of Canaan. But Joseph was gouernour: in the lande: & sold vnto all the people of the land.

Now when his brethren came to him: they fell doune to the grounde before him upon their faces: and he sawe them / & knewe them: and helde hymselfe straunge towards them / and talked roughly with them / & sayd vnto them: Whence come ye? They sayd: Out of the lande of Canaan: to bye vitayle. He wearethelss thought he knewe they yet knewe they not him. And Joseph thought vpon the dreames: & he had dreamed of the / and sayd vnto them: Ye are spies: and are come to see where the land is open.

When he answered him: To my lord: thy seruantes are come to the vitayle: we are alone: mannes sonnes: we are vsyned: & thy seruantes were neuer spies: He sayd vnto the: No: but ye are come to see where the land is open. They answered him: We thy seruantes are twelfe brethren: the sonnes of one man in the lande of Canaan: & the youngest is with our father: so one he is awaye.

Joseph said vnto them: Thus it that I said vnto you: ye are ye: Here by will I proue you: By the life of Pharaos ye shall not gett here: excepte your youngest brother come herbe. Sende awaye one of you to fetch your brother: but ye shall be in prison. Thus will I trie out your wordes: whether ye go aboute to troueth or not: for so by the life of Pharaos ye are spies. And he put the together in ward the x. dayes longe.

Then the thyrde daie he sayd vnto the: I see you lyars: the do thus: for I saie: God: & ye ye be vsyned: let one of your brethren lie bounde in youre prison: but go ye your waye: & a carie home the necessarie foode: a bing: me your youngest brother / so will I helpe your wordes: & ye shall not lye: & so they did.

And they said one to another: This haue we vsyned against our brother: in that we sawe the angur: be of his soule: wherby he sought vs: and we wolde not heare him: therefore cometh now this trouble vnto vs. And when answered the: a said: Told not I you the same: whā I said: I O sinned not against: but ye would not heare: Now is his bond required. But they knewe not that Joseph understood it / for he spake vnto them by an interpreter. It is he turned from them: and wepte. Now when he had turned him to them againe / and talked with them: he toke Simeon amonge the / and bounde him before they eyes: / and commaunded to sell their sackes with corne: and to purchase in the money in his sacke: and to giue entry one his expenses by the waye. And so was it done vnto them.

And they labed their corne upon their asses: and departed thence. But as one opened his sacke to geue his assprouder in the morn: he spied his money in his sacke mouth: / and sayd vnto his brethren: My money is restored my again: for it is in my sacke. Then their hearts failed them: and they were affrayed amonge themselves: and said: Wherefore hath God done this to vs.

Now when they came home: to Jacob their father: in the lande of Canaan: they tolde him all that happened vnto them: a said: The man that is lord of the lande: spake roughly vnto vs: and toke vs for spies of the countrey. And when we answered: we are vsyned: / and were we thy spies: but are twelfe brethren: the sonnes of one father: one is awaye / and the youngest is yet this. Waxe with our father in the lande of Canaan. He sayd: Hereby will I marke that ye are vsyned: because one of your brethren with me / and take soode necessary for your houses/and go your way/a bringe your youngest brother vnto me: so shal I knowe that ye are no spyes/ but enfained: then shall I be lyer you your brother also/and ye may occupie in the lande.

¶ And when they opened theyr sackes / eu-ery man founde his bondell of moneye in his sacke: And when they and theyr father sawe/that it was the bondels of theyr moneye / they were afrayd.

Then saide Jacob theyr father: Ye haue robbed me of my children: Joseph is awaye/Simeon is awaye/and ye will take Ben Jamin awaye: It goeth all ouer me. Ruben answered his father / and saide: If I bringe him not to the agayne/then slaye my two sou-nes: Deliuer him into my hande: I will bringe him agayne vnto the: He saide: my sonne shal not go downe wth you/ for his brother is dead/a he is left alone: If any misfortune should happen vnto hym by the way that ye go / ye should bringe my gray heere with you downe into the graue.

The XLIII. Chapter.

¶ WHEN the heere appressed the lande. And when al th' wayles th' they had brought out of Egipte were spent/ Jacob theyr father sayde vnto them: Go agayne/and buye vs a litle foode.

Then Iuda answered hym / and sayde:
The man streare vnto vs/and sayd ye shal not buye our sackes/excepte your brother be with you.
If so be now that thou wilt sende our brother with vs/ we will go downe / and buye the foode. But if thou wilt not sende hym / we will not go downe. for the man sayde vnto vs: Ye shal not see my face/except your brother be with you.

¶ Israell sayde: Wherefore haue ye done this small vnto me to tell the man that ye had yet a brother: They answered: The man enquired so secretly of vs/and of oure kinrede/and sayde: Is your father yet a liue? Haue ye yet a brother: Then tolde we him/as he aged vs.
Some coulde we knowe/that he wolde saye: bringe your brother downe with you: Then said Iuda vnto Israell his father: Let the lad go with me: that we may get vs vp / and take oure wayne/and liue/and not dye for euer.

¶ Israell c wth and thow/and our children. † I will be surety for hym/ of my handes shal thou require him. If I bringe him not vnto the agayne / and set him before thine eyes / I will beare the blame my life longe. for if we had not made this taryng/ we had now ben come agayne rayse.

Then saide Israell theyr father vnto them:
If it must needs be so/ then do thus: take of th' best frutes of the lande in your sackes/ and bringe them a present: a curris of balme/ and hony/ and spycos/ and myrrer/ and Galba/ a cle-mende. Take other moneye with you also / a the moneye that was broughte againe in your sackes/ meethes / carryt agayne with you / presentmentare: it was an oncsight. And take your brother/ get you vp/ a go agayne vnto the man. The almyghty God geue you mercy in the sight of the man/ that he maye let you haue your other brother / a Ben Jamin. As for me / I must be as one / that is robbed of his children.

So they toke the present/ and other moneye with them/ and Ben Jamin/ gat them vp / a went into Egipte/ and stode before Joseph.
Then Joseph behelde them with Ben Jamin/and sayd vnto the ruler of his house: Bringe these men / a slaye/ and make ready / for they shal dine with me at noone. And the ma<sup>r</sup> did as Joseph bad hym/ and broughte the men into Josephs house.

When they were broughte into Josephs house/ they were afrayd/ a said: We are doun-gryt here because of the moneye/ that came agayne in oure sackes/ at first/ to pise a querell with vs/ and to laye some thyng to oure charge/ and to take vs for bande seruautes with our asses.

Therefore came they to the man / that was ruler of Josephs house/ a talked with hym at the doore/ a sayde: Syr / we came downe at first to buye foode: / when we came in / a Gen. 43
and opened our sackes / beholde/ ouerly man-neye was in his sackes/ neyth<sup>r</sup> full weight:
therefore haue we broughte it with vs agayne/and haue broughte other moneye to vs also / to buye foode: But we can not tell / who put our moneye in our sackes.

¶ He sayde be content / feare ye not / your

Then went we vp vnto thy seruant my father/ and told him my lordes wordes. Then sayde our father: Wha your waye agayne/ a bye vs a litle food. But we sayde: We can not go vnto/ excepte oure yongest brother be wth vs/ then will we go vnto: for we barre not lose the man in the face/ if our yongest brother be not wth vs. Then sayd thy seruant my father vnto vs: Ye knowe I my wyfe bare me two synce/ one went out fro

For how can I go vp vnto my father/ if the lad be not wth me/ then shoulde I se misery that shoulde happen vnto my father. The. XLV. Chapter.

¶ Then could not Joseph refrayne him self before/ al them that stode aboute him: and he commaunded euery man to go of from him / and there stode no man by him / when Joseph vnted him self vnto his brether. And he wyte loudlye that the Egyptians a Pharaos hande held berde it. And he sayd vnto his brether: ¶ I am Joseph / is my father yet aliue? And his brether coulde not aunswere him / when he were so shalshed before his face. And he sayde: Come nye vnto me. And they came

nye. And he sayd: I am Joseph your brother. ¶ Wher ye sold me to Egypt. And now were not your selfes/ a thinke not that there is any weare / because ye sold me my brether / for God sent me herber before you/ for your lynes sake. For these are now two yeres / that the wyrt hath bene in the lande / and there are yet fyue yeres behinde/ where in there shalbe no plowinge/ nor barnes.

But God sent my brether before you / that he might let you remaine vpon earth / and to saue your lynes / by a great deluuerance. And now it was not ye / when that sent me herber / but god / which hath made me a father vnto Pharaos / and loide ouer all his house / and a prince in the whole lande of Egypt. Haill you therefore / and go vp vnto my father / a say vnto him: Thy soune Joseph sendeth this word: God hath made me lorde in all Egypt / yea/ come vnto me / care not / thou shalt dwell in the lande of Gosen / and be wth me / thou and thy children / and thy childrens children / thy smal and great cattle / a all that thou hast. There wyl I make possession for the / for there are yet fyue yeres of wyrt / that thou peryshe not wth thyne house / and all that is thyne. Beholde your eyes / and the eyes of my brother Ben Jamin / se that I myne owne selfe speake vnto you by my mouth. Sherte my father all my worshipp in Egypt / a all that ye haue sene / haill you / and come vnto my brether wth my father.

And he fell aboute his brother Ben Jamin necke / a wepte / and Ben Jamin wept vpon his necke also. And he kysed all his brether / and wepte vpon them. And afterward talked his brether wth him. And thus ydinges came vnto Pharaos house / Josephs brether are come / which pleased Pharaos wth / a all his seruantes.

And Pharaos spake vnto Joseph: Saye vnto thy brether: Do this / lede your bestes / of your weye / and when ye come into y land of Canaan / take your father a your householdes / a come vnto me / I will giue you of the good / a in the lande of Egypt / so that ye shall eate the fere in the lande. And he conuincued them. Do thus / take you charrettes out of the lande of Egypt / for your children a wyues / and bunge your father / and come / and regard fore upon his necke. Then sayd Israel vnto Joseph: Now am I dead: vnto thee, so muche as I haue sene thy face: thou art yet aliuē.

E Joseph sayd vnto his brethren: a to his fathers house: I will go vp/ and tell Pharaos/ a saye vnto him: My brethren and my fathers house are come vnto me / out of the lande of Canaan; and are Feuers of cattel (for they are men of Beale with cattel:) they small a great cattel / and al that haue / haue they brought with them: Now if Pharaos cal you/ and saye: what is your occupation: then ye shall saye: Thy seruantes are men that haue dealt with cattel from oure youth vp hether to / both we and oure fathers / that ye maye dwell in the lande of Gosen: for the Egyptians abhorre al Feuers of cattel.

Chap. XLVII.

I Then came Joseph / and tolde Pharaos a sayd: My father and my brethren/ theyr small and great cattel / and al that they haue / are come out of the lande of Canaan: and be hold/ they are in the lande of Gosen. And he toke sise of his brethren / and presented them vnto Pharaos. Then sayd Pharaos vnto his brethren: What is your occupation? They answered: Thy seruantes are Feuers of cattel/ we a our father also. And they sayde moore vnto Pharaos: We are come to dwell with you in the lande: for thy seruantes haue no pasture: for theyr cattel / so fore both of them / the oppesse the lande of Canaan. Now therefore let thy seruantes dwell in the lande of Gosen.

B Pharaos seyd vnto Joseph: Thy father a thy brethren are come vnto the: the lande of Egypte is open before the/ let them dwell in y best place of the lande/ a se that they dwell euen in the lande of Gosen. And if thou knowest that there be men of sciute amonge them/ make them rulers of my cattel.

Joseph brought in Jacob his father/ and sette him before Pharaos. And Jacob thanked Pharaos. But Pharaos seyd: How olde art thou? Jacob sayde: The nine of my pilgrimage is an hundredth a thirte yeares: litle and euell to the tyme of my pilgrimage / a arrayeth me vnto the tyme of my fathers in theyr pilgrimage. And Jacob thanked Pharaos/ and wente out from him.

So Joseph prepared dwellings for his father a his brethren/ and gaue them a possession in the lande of Egypte / euen in the best place of the lande/ mainly in the lande of Ramesses/ as Pharaos commaunded. And he made prouision for his father and brethren / and all his fathers house with bread / euen as yonge children.

There was no bread in al the lande/ for y Verth was very sore/ so that the lande of Egypte / and the lande of Canaan were famished/ by y reason of y Verth. And Joseph brought together al the money that was founde in Egypte and Canaan / for the come that they bought. And he layed vp all the money in Pharaos house.

Now when money fasted in the lande of Egypte and Canaan/ all the Egyptians came vnto Joseph / a sayde: Geue vs bread: / because we are without money. Joseph sayde: Bring yther your cattel / so wil I geue you for: your cattel/ seynge ye are without money. Then brought they theyr cattel vnto Joseph. And he gaue the bread for theyr horses/ besydes/ and asses. So he fed them with bread that yere for al theyr cattel.

When that yere was ended / they came vnto him the next yere/ and sayd vnto him: We wil not hide it from our loide: / that not onely the money/ but all the cattel also is spent vnto our loide / and there is nothing more left for oure loide / but onely our body a our lande: wherefore suffereyth thou both vs to yre a oure loide. Take vs and our land for bicatell: that we a our land maye be boude vnto Pharaos: geue vs seide: that we maye lye / and not dye: and that the lande become not a wilderness.

So Joseph toke in: all the lande of Egypte for Pharaos: for the Egyptians/ olde theyr man his land/ because the Verth was so myghtie vpon them/ and so the lande became Pharaos: with the people that went out and in at his cyties/ from one syde of Egypte vnto the other / excepte the priestes lande / that toke he not in: for it was ordeyned of Pharaos for the priestes/ that they should eate/ that which was appointed them / which he gaue them: therefore they neded not to sell theyr landes: Then but his yonger brother shalbe greater the he / a byo side shalbe full of people. So be blessed them the same waye a sayde: In y shall Israel bless you that it shalbe sayde: God see y as Ephraim a Manasse / I a so be sette Ephraim about Manasse.

The L. Chapter.

Joseph commaunded his seruantes vnto the Physicians/ to embowme his father.
And the Physicians embowmed Israel / till fourte dayes were ended / so fo longe endured the dayes of embawming / and the Egyptians bewailed him hy dayes.

Now when the mourning dayes were ended/ Joseph spake vnto Pharaon his holder/and sayde: If I haue founde fauour in youre sight / that I speake vnto Pharaon a saye: My 140. g. father hath taken an oath of me/a sayde: Be-whiche I digged for my selfe in the lande of Canaan/ therefore will I now go vp / a burye my father: a come againe. Pharaon sayde: So thy waye vp/and burie thy father/ accordinge as thou hast sworn vnto him.

So Joseph wente vp to burye his father.
And there wente with him all Pharaon ser-uantes/ that were the officers of his court/a all the elders of the lande of Egypte/a all Josephs holde/ and his brethren: a his fathers holde. Onely theye children/ shepe/and oxen lefte they in the lande of Gosen/ and rose theye iourney vp with him/ with sheepen and oxen/ and the company was exceed-dinge great.

Now when these came to the playne of 141. b. Aid that lyeth beyonde Iordane/ theye made there a greate and bitter lamentacion / a t he returned for his father Kuen dayes. And when the people in the lande/ (the Canaanites) saw the mourninge in the playn of Aid/ they sayde: The Egyptians make there greate la-mentacion. Therefore is the place called: The lamentacion of the Egyptians/ which lyeth beyonde Iordane.

And his childen did as he had commaunded them/ and carryed him into the lande of Canaan / and buryed him in the Cubble caue of the silde/ that J. Abraham bought with the felde for a possession to burye in/ of Ephron the Gen. 23. c. Hebrue/ ouer agaynst Hebron. So when they had buried him/ Joseph toke his iourney again into Egypte with his brethren / and with all those that wente vp with him to bur-ye his father.

But Josephs brethren were afraied/ when theye father was dead/ a sayde: Joseph might haply haue indignacion at vs / a recompense we al yene that we sayd vnto him / t herfore let every saye vnto him: Thy father commaunded before his death/ and sayd: Thus shal ye saye vnto Joseph: O forgiue thye brethren the offence/ and theye sinne / that theye dyd so euill vnto the. O forgiue now this trespass of euill of the seruauice of thy fathers God. But Joseph wept/ when theye spake so vnto him.

And his brethren went a fell yonne before him / and sayde: Beholde/ here are we thy ser-uantes. Joseph sayd vnto them: Feare ye not/so: I am vnder God. Ye thought euill against me: but God hath turned it vnto good/ to doe as it was come to passe: this daye/ for the sauing of many people. Therefore be not ye now afraid / I wil care for you and your children.
And he comforted them / and spake longly vnto them.

Thus dwelt Joseph in Egypte with his fathers house/ and liued an hundred and ten yeres/ and sawe Ephraim children / vnto the third generation: In isle mener the children of Manasse/ the sonne of Manasse/ begat Phildizen also vpon Josephs lappe.

And Joseph sayd vnto his brethren/ t I fere/ and God will visit you/ a bringe you out of this lande / to the lande that he swore vnto J. Abraham/ Isaac/ and Jacob. Therefore take be an obit of J. childern of Israel/ a sayd: When God shal visit you/ then tary my bones fro hence. So Joseph dyed/ when he was an hundred and ten yeres olde / a theye embawmed him/ and layed him in a chest in Egypte.

The first Chapter.

Gen. xli. b.

These are the names of the children of Israel / that came with Jacob into Egypt: every one came in with his house / Ruben / Simeon / Levi / Juda / Issachar / Zabulon / Ben Jamin / Dan / Naphtali / Gad and Aser. And of all the foules that came out of the loynes of Jacob there were founteyne.

Psal. clix. c.
 Actu. vi. c.

As for Joseph he was in Egypt al ready. Now when Joseph was dead / and all his brethren / and all they that lyued at that tyme / the children of Israel grewe / and increased / a multiplied / a became exceeding mighty / so that the lande was full of them.

¶ The came there a new kynge over Egypt / which knewe nothinge of Joseph / and sayde vnto his people: Beholde / the people of the children of Israel are many / and mightier then we: Vp / let vs deale wylly with them / that there be not so many of them. For if there should rise vp any warre against vs / they might wyne them selves also vnto our enemies / and overcome vs / and so get them out of the lande.

And he set two maisters over them / to kepe them vnder with burthens. (For they builded the cities of On / and a Ramesse for Pharaos furis vnto Pharaos.) But the more they wored them / the more they multiplied / a grewe.

¶ Therefore had they indignation at the children of Israel / a the Egyptians compelled the children of Israel without mercy to do seruice / and made theyr seruis bitter vnto them with greuous labour / in clay a brick / and with all manner of bandage in the silde / a with all manner of labour / which they layd vpon them without mercy.

And the kynge of Egypt sayde vnto the midwyues of the Hebrew women / Of the which one was called Sephora / and the other Puah: Whan ye helpe the woman of the Hebrewes / a seve the stole / that it is a sonne / then slay him: but if it be a daughter let her lyue. Puah helpe / the midwyues feared Gods / a did not as the kynge of Egypt commaunded them / but let the children lyue.

Then the kynge of Egypt called the midwyues / and sayd vnto them: Wherefore do ye this / that ye let the children lyue? The midwyues answered Pharaos: the women of the Hebrewes are not as the women of Egypt / for they are sturdy woman: our midwyues come at them / they are deliuered.

Therefore God dealt well with the midwyues / And the people multiplied / a became exceeding mighty. And for so much as the midwyues feared God / he made them houses. Then Pharaos commaunded all his people a sayde: All the sonnes that are borne / cast into the water / but let all the daughters lyue.

The II. Chapter.

¶ And there wrote forth a man / of the house of Levi / a toke a daughter of Levi. And the wyfe conceaued / and bare a sonne. And when she sawe that it was a proper childe / she hid him three monethes. And when she could hyde him no longer / she toke an Arke of reedes / and wadded it ouer with streng and pitch / a layed the childe therein / and let it amonge the reedes by the waters banke. But his sister stode afaare off / to wete what shoulde come of him.

And Pharaos daughter came vnto the water / and sawe the childe / a her maydens walked by the water syde / a when she sawe the Arke among the reedes / she sent one of her maydens / and caused it to be fer. And when she opened it / she sawe the childe / a beholde the babe wepte. Then had the pyne vpon it / and sayde: It is one of the Hebrew children.

Then sayd his sister vnto Pharaos daughter: What I go / and call the a nurse of the Hebrew women / to nurse the childe. Pharaos daughter sayd vnto her: Go thy waye. The maiden went / and called the childe her mother. The sayd Pharaos daughter vnto her: Take this childe / a nurse it for me / I will giue it thy reward. The woman toke the childe / a nursed it.

Exo. 2. 11. 12.

Exo. 2. 9.

And when the childre was growen / she brought it vnto Pharaos daughter / and it became: her name / he called him Mosie. For he said / I toke him out of the water.

Vpon a tyme when Mosie was great / he went forth vnto his brethren / and looked vpon their burthen / and sawe that an Egyptian smote one of his brethren the Hebrewes. And he looked rounde about him / as when he sawe that there was none as he sawe the Egyptian / and buried him in the sande.

The next daie he went forth also / and sawe two men of the Hebrewes straining together / a said to the vngodly: Wherefore smitest thou thy neighbour? But he saide: Who made thee a ruler or iudge ouer vs? Wilt thou slay me also as thou slewest the Egyptian? Then was Mosie afraid / a said: How is this knowne? And Pharaos herde of it / and sought for Mosie / to slay him. But Mosie fled from Pharaos / and kept him in the lande of Madian / and set him downe by a wellles side.

The puell of Madian had seven daughters / which came to drawe water / a filled the troughes / to geue their fathers shepe to drinke. Then came the shepherdes / and thone them a way. But Mosie gat him vp / and helped the / and gaue their shepe to drinke. And when they came to Naguel their father / he said: How came ye so lone to here? They said: a ma of Egypte: deliuered vs from the shepherdes: a drew vnto vs / and gaue the shepe to drinke. He said vnto his daughter. Where is he? Wherefore let ye the man go / that ye called him not to eat with vs?

And Mosie was content so dwell with his men. And he gaue Mosie his daughter. Ze phora / which bare him a sonne / and he called him Gersusse: he saide: I am become a stranger in a strange lande. And she bare him yet a sonne / whome he called Eliezer / a said: The God of my father is my helpe / and hath deliuered me from Pharaos hande.

But after this in process of time / the Kinge of Egypte died. And the children of Israel beganne ouer they labour / and cried. And their cry ouer their labour came before God. And God herde their complaint / and remembered his conuention with Abraham / Isaac / and Jacob. And God looked vpon the childre of Israel / and God knewe it.

The III. Chapter.

Moses kept the shepe of Jethro his father in lawe / puell of Madian / a there the shepe ouer the backside of the wilderness / and came to the mountaine of God / a herde. And the anngel of the Lord appeared vnto him in a flaminge of fyre / out of the bush. And he sawe that the bush burnt with fyre / a yet was not consumed / a said: I will go hence a se this great sight / why I durst not haue.

When the Lord sawe / that he went his waye to / God called vnto him out of the bush a said: Mosie Mosie. He answered: Here am I. He saide: Come not hether / put of thy shoes from the feet / for the place whereupon thou standest is an holy ground. And he said moreover: I am the God of thy father / the God of Abraham / the God of Isaac / and the God of Jacob. And Mosie covered his face / for he was afrayd to loke vpon God.

And the Lord said: I haue sene the trouthe of my people in Egypte / and haue heard their crye ouer those that oppresse the. I knowe their sorrow / and am come downe to deliuer them from the power of the Egyptians / and to carrye them out of that lande / in to a good a wide lande / euen into a lande that floweth with milke and hony / namely vnto the place of the Canaanites / Hethites / Ammonites / Phelistic / Canites / and Jebusites. So so much more as the complainte of the children of Israel is come before me / and I haue sene their oppression / where with the Egyptians oppresse the: Go now the waye thereof / I will sende the vnto Pharaos / that thou mayest bringe my people the children of Israel out of Egypte. Mosie saide vnto God: I who am I that I should go vnto Pharaos / and bringe the children of Israel out of Egypte.

He saide: I will be with the / and this shall be the token / that I haue sent the. When thou hast brought my people out of Egypte / ye shall serue God vpon this mountaine. Mosie said vnto God: Holdre / when I come to the children of Israel / and saye vnto them: The God of your fathers hath sent me vnto you / and they saye vnto me: What is his name / what shal I saye vnto them? God saye vnto Mosie: I will be whar I will be. And he said: Thus

But Moseo came agayne to the Lo:de and sayd: Lo:de wherfore dealest thou so euil with this people? Wherfore hast thou sent me? For since the tyme that I went vnto Pha-raos / to speake vnto him in thy name / he hath dealt euil with his people / and thou hast not deliuered thy people. The Lo:de sayd vnto Moseo: How shall thou se what I will do

The VI. Chapter.

And God spake vnto Moseo / and sayde vnto him: I am the Lo:de / and I appeared vnto Abraham / Isaac / and Jacob / an o-myghtie God: but my name / Lo:de / haue I not herd vnto them: My conuaince also haue I made with them / when I will geue them the lande of Canaan / the lande of theyr pilgrimage / wherein they haue ben strangers. Moreover / I haue herde the complaine of the children of Israel / whome the Egyptians oppesse with labour / and haue remembered my conuaince.

Ge. xxx. c

Gen. xxiij. a

Therefore saye vnto the children of Israel: I am the Lo:de / and will bunge you out from your burthen in Egypte / a will ridde you from youre labour / and will deliuer you with a stretched out arme / a great iudgemente will I recorde you for my people / and will be your God: so that ye shall knowe / that I am the Lo:de your God / whiche bunge you out from the burthen of Egypte / and will bunge you into the lande / ouer / whiche
I haue sate vpon my hande / to geue it vnto Abraham / Isaac / and Jacob: by the same will I geue vnto you for a possession / saie I / Lo:de.

Moseo tolde this vnto the children of Israel. But they herkened nor vnto him: for very angry he was of spere / and for soe: laboure. Then spake the Lo:de vnto Moseo / and sayd: Go thy waye / and speake vnto Pharaos / the kynge of Egypte / that he let the children of Israel go out of his lande. But Moseo spake before the Lo:de / and sayd: Beholde / the children of Israel herken not vnto me. How shoulde Pharaos then heare me? And I am also of Erobus vnto / as it is sayd.

So the Lo:de spake vnto Moseo and Aaron / and gaue them a conuaincement vnto the children of Israel / and vnto Pharaos the kynge of Egypte / that they shoulde bunge the children of Israel out of Egypte.

This

This is that Aaron & Moses vnto whom the Lord sayd: Binge the children of Israel out of the lande Egypt with thy armes. And they (namely Moses and Aaron) that spake vnto Pharaos the kynge of Egypt / that they might binge the children of Israel out of Egypt. The same day spake the Lord vnto Moses / in the lande of Egypt / a sayde: I am the Lord / speake thou vnto Pharaos the kynge of Egypt / all that I saye vnto the. And he answered before the Lord: I will holde / I am of uncircumised lippes / how shal Pharaos then heare me.

The vii. Chapter.

The Lord sayde vnto Moses: Beholde / I haue made the a God ouer Pharaos / and Aaron thy brother shalbe thy prophet. Thou shalt speake all that I commaunde the: but Aaron thy brother shall speake vnto Pharaos / that he may let the children of Israel go out of his lande. Neuertheless / I will harden Pharaos herte / that I maye multiply my tokens and wonders in all the lande of Egypt. And Pharaos shal not heare you: that I may shewe my hand in Egypt / and binge mine armie: euen my people / the children of Israel / out of the lande of Egypt / by great iudgements. And the Egyptians shal knowe / that I am the Lord: when I shall stretch out my hande vpon Egypt / and binge the children of Israel out from amonge them.

ij. iij. d

Moses and Aaron did as the Lord commaunded them / and Moses was xxx. yeare olde / and Aaron xxxij. yeare olde / when they spake vnto Pharaos. And the Lord sayd vnto Moses: A Aaron: When Pharaos sayeth vnto you: Shewe your wonders / then shalt thou say vnto Aaron: Take thy staffe / and cast it before Pharaos / and it shall come to a serpent.

ij. iij. a

Then wente Moses and Aaron in vnto Pharaos / and did as the Lord commaunded them. And Aaron cast his staffe before Pharaos / and before his seruantes / and it turned to a serpent. Then Pharaos called for the wise men and soverers. And the soverers of Egypt also did likewise with their steeres / a eery one cast his staffe before him / and they turned vnto serpentes. But Aarons staffe deuoured their staves. So Pharaos herte was hardened / as he refused not vnto them / euen as the Lord had sayd.

And the Lord sayd vnto Moses: The Chere of Pharaos is hardened / he resisteth to let the people go. Get the vnto Pharaos in f morning: beholde / he shall come vnto the water: mete thou him vpon the waters brink: / take thy staffe / which turned to a serpent / in thine hande / and say vnto him: The Lord God of the Hebrews hath sent me vnto the / and I sende thee thy word. Let my people go: that they maye serue me in the wilderness: but buthers / thou woldst not heare.

Exo. viij. a

Therefore sayeth the Lord: Here by shalt thou knowe / that I am the Lord. Beholde / with the staffe that I haue in my hande / will I smyte the water / whiche is in the ryuer: / and it shall turned into blood: so that the fishes in the ryuer shall dye / and the ryuer shall stinke / and it shall greue the Egyptians to synke of the water of the ryuer.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses: Sey thou vnto Aaron: Take thy staffe / and stretch out thine hande ouer the waters of Egypt / ouer their ryuers / and brookes / and pondes / a ouer all water poodes / that they may be turned to bloude / and that there may be bloude in all the lande of Egypt / both in the vessels of wood and stone.

Moses and Aaron did as the Lord commaunded them / and he lift vnto the staffe / a smote the water that was in the ryuer / before Pharaos and his seruantes: / and all the water in the ryuer was turned into blood / and the fishes in the ryuer died / and the ryuer stank / so that the Egyptians coulde not synke of the water of the ryuer / and there was bloude in all the lande of Egypt. And the soverers also of Egypt / did likewise with their steeres. But Pharaos herte was hardened / and he hardened not vnto them: like as the Lord had sayd. And Pharaos turned him selfe / and wente home: and set not his herte there on. All the Egyptians digged rounde about the ryuer / for water to synke: for they coulde not synke of the water out of the ryuer. And this endured seven dayes longe / that the Lord smote the ryuer.

The viii. Chapter.

Pharao sayde: I will let you go / that ye maye go to worshippinge vnto the Lord your God in the wilderness: Onely that ye go no farther: and saye so: me. Moyses sayde: He shalde / when I am come forth from the: I will praye vnto the Lord: that the cruel woymes maye be taken from Pharao: and from his seruantes / and from his people / euen to moorwe: onely because me nomine / that thou woldst not let the people go to do sacrifice vnto the Lord.

And Moyses went out from Pharao: and prayed vnto the Lord: And the Lord did as Moyses sayd: and toke away the cruel woymes from Pharao: from his seruantes: and from his people: so that there remayned not one. But Pharao hardened his hart: eue then also: and let not the people go.

The IX Chapter.

The Lord sayd vnto Moyses: Go into Pharao / and speake vnto him: Thus sayeth the Lord God of the Hebrewes: let my people go: that they maye serue me. If thou wilt not / but hold them longer / beholde the hande of the Lord shalbe vpon thy cattell in the felde: vpon heifes / vpon asse / vpon camels / vpon oxen / vpon sheepe / with a very sore pestilence: And the Lord shall make a diuision betwene the cattell of the Hebrewes / and the Egyptians: so that there shall nothinge dye of that the children of Israel haue: and the Lord appointed a time / a farder: to make sore that the Lord do this vpon earth.

B And the Lord did thus: me on the morninge. And there died of. In maner of cattell of the Egyptians: but of the cattell of the children of Israel there died not one. And Pharao sent thither / and beholde: there was not one of the cattell of Israel dead. But Pharao here was hardened: so that he let not his people go. Then sayd the Lord vnto Moyses and Aaron: Take your haues full of ashen out of the furnace: and let Moyses spencle it toward heauen before Pharao: that it maye be dust in all the lande of Egypt: and that there maye be sores: and blaynes vpon men / and vpon cattell in all the lande of Egypt.

C And they toke ashen out of the furnace: a sode bed: Pharao: a Moyses spencled it toward heauen. Then were there sores a blaynes vpon men a vpon cattell / so that the sores crept in: yet not stande before Moyses / by reason of the sores. For there were sores vpon the face: crept in: as vpon all the Egyptians. But the Lord hardened Pharao here: so that he hardened not vnto the: euen as if the Lord had sayd vnto Moyses.

Then sayd the Lord vnto Moyses: Get thee vp to moow by nines / and stande before Pharao: and speake vnto him: Thus sayeth the Lord God of the Hebrewes: I let my people go: that they maye serue me: I at this time sende all my plagues into thine heire: and vpon thy seruantes: and vpon thy people: that thou mayst knowe that there is none like me in all landes. For I will now stretch out my hande: and smite the: and thy people wyl pestilence: so that thou shalt be coted out from the earth. Verbaue I stretch red the vp for this cause: euen to flower my power vpon the: and that my name mighte be declared in all landes.

Thou holdest my people yet: a wyl not let them go: beholde: to moore about thine me: I cause a mightie great hayle to raine: such as hath not bene in the lande of Egypt: since the time that it was grounded: by the: And now sende thou: and take thy cattell: and all that thou hast in the felde: for all men and cattell that shalbe founde in the felde: and not brought into the houses: if the hayle fall vpon them: they shal dye. And whose so feared the woorde of the Lord amonge Pharao: seruantes: caused his seruantes: and cattell to flye into the houses: but those whose betwene regarded not the woorde of the Lord: left his seruantes: and cattell in the felde.

Then sayde the Lord vnto Moyses: Stretche out thy hande toward heauen: that it maye hayle vpon all the lande of Egypt: vpon men / vpon cattell: and vpon all herbes of the felde: in the land of Egypt: since the time that there was people therein. And the hayle smote the lande of Egypt: and rayned vpon the lande of Egypt: so that the hayle and fre wente so heuily together: as neuer was in the land of Egypt: since the time that there were people therein. And the hayle smote the

the whole lande of Egypte/all that was upon the felde/both men a cattel/and smote all the herbes upon the felde/and brake all the trees upon the felde/sauce onely in the lande of Gosen / where the chyldren of Iſrael were/there it hailed not. Then ſent Pharaos/and called for Moſes and Aaron/and ſayde vnto them : Now haue I ſynned/ ſaith the Lordde to righteous/ but I and my people are vngodly. Yet pray ye vnto the Lordde/that the thunder/ and hayle of God maye ceaſe/ then wyl I let you go / for ye ſhall tary here no longer. Moſes ſayde vnto him: Where I am come out of the eare/ I will ſtretch out myne hande vnto the Lordde / ſo ſhall the thunder ceaſe/ and there ſhalbe no more hayle / that thou mayſt knowe / that the earth is the Lorddes. But I knowe / that both thou and thy ſeruauntes feare not yet the Lordde. God. Thus the ſtorme and the barly were ſmitten: for the barly was ſhot vp / and the ſtorme was bounde: but the wheat and the rye were not ſmitten/ for they were late ſowen.

So Moſes wente from Pharaos out of the eare/ and ſtretched out his handes vnto the Lordde. And the thunder and the hayle ceaſed / the rayne dropped not vpon the earth. But when Pharaos ſaw / that the rayne and thunder/ and hayle ceaſed/ he ſynned agayne/ and hardened his hart: he a his ſeruauntes. So Pharaos hart was hardened / that he let not the chyldren of Iſrael go / euen as the Lordde had ſayd by Moſes.

The X. Chapter.

In the Lordde ſayde vnto Moſes: Go in vnto Pharaos / for I haue hardened his heart/ and the hartes of his ſeruauntes/ that I might ſhew theſe tokens amonge them/ and that thou myghteſt ſeee it in the eares of thy chyldren/ and of thy chylders chyldre/ what I haue done in Egypte/ and how I haue ſhewed my ſelfe amonge them / that ye maye knowe / how true I am the Lordde.

So Moſes and Aaron wente in vnto Pharaos/ and ſpake vnto him : Thus ſayth the Lordde God of the Egiptians: How longe refulſt thou to ſubmitte thy ſelfe vnto me / lo / let my people go/ that they maye ſerue me: If thou wylt not let my people go/ behold: to morrowe wyl I caſt grethoppers to come vpon all places / that they maye couer the lande/ſo that the land can not be ſene/ and they ſhal care vp that is left vnto you/ and was deliuered from the hayle: and ſhal care vp all your greue trees vpon the felde/ and ſhall fill thy houſe/ all thy ſeruauntes houſes/ and all the Egyptians houſes: ſuch as thy father/ and thy fathers father haue not ſene / ſince the tyme they were vpon earth vnto this daye. And he turned him/ & went out from Pharaos. Then ſayd Pharaos ſeruauntes vnto him : How longe ſhal we be ſerued after this maner? Let the men go / that they may ſerue the Lordde thyr God. Knoweſt thou not yet? Egypte is deſtroied: Moſes a Aaron were brought agayn vnto Pharaos/ which ſayde vnto them: Go your way / and ſerue the Lordde your God: But who are they that ſhal go? Moſes ſayde: We will go with yonge and olde/ with ſonnes and daughters / with thepe and cſen / for we haue a ſtall of the Lordde. He ſayd vnto them: Let it be ſo/ the Lordde be with you. Shouldbe I let you go / a your children ſhalbe loke that ye haue not ſome miſchance in hand. That ſo/ but go ye that are men / and ſerue the Lordde/ for that was your deſire. And they thynk them out from Pharaos.

Then ſayde the Lordde vnto Moſes: Stretch out thine hande out the lande of Egypte / for the grethoppers/ that they maye come vpon the lande of Egypte / and eate vp all the herbes in the lande/ with all that ſcaped the hayle. Moſes ſtretched out his hande vnto the lande of Egypte / and the Lordde broughte an eaſt winde into the lande at that tyme/ and all that night/ and in the morninge the eaſt winde broughte the grethoppers. And they came out the whole lande of Egypte / and lighted in all places of Egypte/ ſo eateing many/ that before tyme there were neuer ſuch myſter ſhalde becauſe: for they couered the lande/ a made it darke. And they did eate vp all the herbes in the lande/ and all the frutes vpon the trees/ which remayned from the hayle/ and left no greue thinge behinde in the trees/ and herbes vpon the felde/ in all lande of Egypte.

Then Pharaos called for Moſes/ a Aaron in all the halle / and ſayde: I haue ſinned againſt the Lordde your God/ a againſt you: ſo ſerue me my ſinne this once alſo / a praye ye for me. Lord

Loſe your God / that he maye take awaye fro me this death onely. And he went out fro Pharaos / & prayed vnto ⁊ Loſe. The ⁊ Loſe turned a maruylous ſtronge weſt wynde / & a toke vp the greiboppers / and caſt them into ⁊ read ſe / ⁊ there was not one left in all the quarters of Egipt. But the Loſe hardened Pharaos herte / he let not the chyldren of Iſtowards heauen / ⁊ then was there a thicke darkeſſe in al the lande of Egipt / but darke / ſo ⁊ in the daye no man ſawe another / nor roſe vp from ⁊ place where he was. But with the chyldren of Iſrael there was light in their dwellynge. Then Pharaos called for Moſe and ſayd: Go your way and ſerue the Loſe: onely leaue your ſhepe / and your oxen here:

 let your chyldren go with you alſo. Moſe ſayde: Thou muſt geue vs offeringes / and ſerue offeringes: we maye do ſeruyſſe vnto the Loſe our God. Our cattel ſhal go in vs: a there ſhal not one hoſe be left behinde: for we muſt take thereof for the ſeruyſſe of the Loſe our God. Moreover we knowe not where wythal we ſhall ſerue the Loſe: / till we come thither. But the Loſe hardened Pharaos herte: he wold not let them go.
 And Pharaos ſayde vnto hym: Get thee hence fro me: beware ⁊ thou come no more in my ſight. For loke what daye ſo euer thou com-ſt in my ſight / thou ſhalt dye. Moſe anſwered: When as thou haſt ſayde, I wyl come no more in thy ſight.

¶ Moſe the Loſe ſayd vnto Moſe: I wyl ſend a plague vpo Pharaos / and Egypte: after that ſhall he let you go from hence: and ſhal not onely let all go / but alſo ſerue you hence. Therefore ſaye you now vnto ⁊ people: that euery mā ſerue of his neigh-greate man in the lande of Egipte / in the ſight of Pharaos ſeruaunts: and in ⁊ fight of the people.

The XII. Chapter.

¶ Moſe ſayde vnto Moſe and A: I am in the lande of Egipte: this mo-neth ſhal be with you the fyrſt moneth: and at it ye ſhal begynne the monethes of the yeare. Speake ye vnto all the congregacion of Iſrael and ſaye: Vpon the fourth daye of this moneth let euery one take a lambe: or a kid: where a houſholder is / to euery houſe a lambe. But if the houſhold be to few for a lambe: then let hym and his neighbour: that is nexe vnto his houſe: take it accordyng to the number of the ſoules / and counte to the lambe: what euery man maye care. But it ſhal be a lambe without blemiſh / and of a yeare olde: from amonge the lambes / a goat: ſhal ye take it. And ye ſhal kepe it vnto the fourth daye of the moneth. And euery man of the congregacion of Iſrael ſhal ſlaye it aboute the eveninge. And they ſhal take of his bloude / and ſtrake it on both the ſidewalles of the doore: and on the upperdore poſt of the houſe: that they care in. And ſo ſhal they care ſlith the ſame in gyte: wiled at the fyre/and unleuened bread/and theye ate it with foure sauce. Ye shal not care it / as we do no: sodden with water/But onely roste it: the fyre/soe breade with his fyre/and perueniunce. And ye shall eate nothinge of it ouer vniil it morninge: but if any thinge be lefte ouer/ouertel the morninge/ye shal burne it with fyre.

On this maner shal ye care it. Ye shalbe giued aboute youre linnen/a haue youre shooes vpon youre fyte/and shauen in your handes/a ye shal care it with balse/for it is the Loidees

And this daye shal ye haue for a remembreance/a ye shal kepe it holy for a feast vnto the Loide/yea/ as your possession for a perpetual custome. These dayes shal ye care vnto leuened bread/ namely vpon the fyrelye daye shal ye leaue of wch leuened breade in youre houses. Whosoener catch leuened breade from the first daye vnto the seventh/that soule shalbe rored out from Israel. The fyrelye daye shalbe called holy amonge you/ the seventh also. The maner of wofe shal ye do therein/ saue what belongeth to the incare / for all maner of soules / that onely maye ye do for you. And kepe you the leuened breade.

For euen vnto the same daye wyl I bringe your armyes out of the lande of Egypte therefore shal ye a al your possessione kepe this daye for a perpetual custome. Vnto the fourteenth daye of the fyrelye moneth/eaen shal ye care vnto leuened bread / vnto the one and threenty daye of the moneth / at euen: so that there be no leuened breade founde in your houses/eaen dayes. For whosoener eateth leuened breade/that soule shalbe rored out from the congregation of Israel / whether it be a straunger/soe borne in the lande. Therefore care no leuened breade in all youre dwellinges.

And Moses called al the elders of Israel/ and sayde vnto them: Chose out / and take to every house a shep/and fyre. Passouer vnto the Loide/and take a shep: of ye soyle/and shep: it in the bloude/ in the baten/ and smyte it vpon the upper part/ and vpon the two syde partes / and none of you go out at the doore of his house vntil morninge / for the Loide wyl go about and plague the Egyptians. And when he seeth the bloude vpon the upper part/and vpon the two sidapartes/ he wyl passe ouer by the doore / and not suffice the destroyer to come by youre houses to plague. Therefore kepe this custome for the / and theye children for euer.

Exo. xii c

And when ye be come into the lande/ that the Loide shal geue you / (as he hath sayd) then kepe this seruice: And when youre children shalbe vnto you / saye vnto them / that ye haue: Ye shal saye: It is the facyfe of the Loidees Passouer / whiche passed ouer by the children of Israel in Egypte / when he plagued the Egyptians/and saued our houses. Then the people bowed them selves/ and worshipped. And the children of Israel wete/ and theye as the Loide had commaunded Moses and Aaron.

Exo. xii c

And at mydnyght/ the Loide smote al the first borne in the lande of Egypte: from Pharaos fyrelye sonne / whiche was vpon his seate/ vntil the first borne of the pison/ that was in the pison/ and al the first borne of the catte. Then Pharaos arose the same nyght/ and al his seruantes / and all the Egyptians/ and there was a great crye in Egypte: for there was no house/ wherein there was not one dead.

Exo. xii c

And he called for Moses and Aaron in the nyght / and sayde: Get you vp/ and departe out from my people/ ye and the children of Israel. Go youre waye/ and smite the Loide/ as ye haue sayde/ and take youre shep: and your oxen with you: / as ye haue sayd / a shep: part/and sheffe me also. And the Egyptians were feare: vpon the people/ to dye them hastilye out of the lande/ for theye sayde we are al but dead.

Exo. xii c

clothes of the Egyptians: the Lord also had given the people sours in the sight of the Egyptians: that they lent them: and so they spoiled the Egyptians.

f Thus the children of Israel rose they in journey from Raamsa to Succoth: * vi. c. In men of state, beside children. There wente with them also much cattell: people, a shepe and oxen: and exceeding many cattell.

And of strawe wood: that they brought out of Egypt: they banded vniuersed cakes: for it was not leuend: in so much as they were thrust out of Egypt: a could not rancin: neither had they prepared them any other meate.

l The time that the child: of Israel dwelt in Egypt: was C. xxx. years. When the same were ended: the whole host of Israel wrote out of the lande of Egypt in one daie: Therefore shal this sight be kepte vnto the Lord: because he brought them out of the lande of Egypt: And the child: of Israel shal kepe it vnto the Lord: and they: posterites.

g And the Lord sayde vnto Moses/ and Aaron: This is the manner of the kopyng: of Passouer: There shal no straunger eat of it. But who so is a bought seruante/ let him be circumcised: and then eat thereof. A stranger and a heerd seruante shal not eat of it. In one house shal it be eaten. Ye shal eate none of his flesh out of the house: for it shal not be eate a bene of him. The whole congregation of Israel shal do it.

h But there shal a stranger with the/ a vniuersed Passouer vnto the Lord: let him circumcise every one that is male: a then let him first come: and do it: and be as one that is bene in the lande: for there shal no vniuersed eat thereof. One manner of law be vnto him that is bene in the lande: and vnto the stranger: of which amonge you. And all the children of Israel shal do as the Lord commaunded Moses and Aaron. So vnto one day the Lord brought the child: of Israel out of the lande of Egypt with thei armyes.

The XIII. Chapter.

i Thus the Lord spak vnto Moses/ and sayde: I sanctifye vnto me every first borne: whether be it of man: or of beest: amonge the children of Israel: both of men/ and cattell: for they are myne. Then sayd

Moses vnto the people: Hyske vpon this daie: in the whiche ye are gone out of Egypt: from the house of bondage: here that the Lord doth thought you out from thence with a myghty hande. Therefore shal ye eate no sower sowe: This daie are ye gone out: out of Egypt: in the month Abib.

When the Lord hath brought you into the lande of the Canaanites/ Egyptians/ Amorites/ Hittites/ a Jebusites/ which be the sower vnto the fathers: to geue the out a lande: that flourish with mylke a honey: then shalt thou kepe this sermone in this moneth: Cate barleye shalt thou eate vniuersed bread: a vpon the seventh daie to the Lord: do fast: therefore shalt thou eate vniuersed bread: seven daies: that there be no sower sowe: nor sower bread: sene in all thy quarters.

And thou shalt tel thy sone at the same time/ and saye: Because of that: whiche the Lord doth for me: when I departed out of Egypt. Therefore shal it be a signe vnto the in thine hande: a token of remembrance: before thine eyes: that the lawe of the Lord may be in thy mouth: how the Lord brought thy out of Egypt with a myghty hande: Therefore kepe this maner yearly in his time.

When the Lord next hath broughte the into the lande of the Canaanites: (as he hath serued vnto the: and thy fathers) a hath geuen it the: then shalt thou sinder out vnto the Lord: all that be first born: a first borne amonge thy cat: a sowe: as is male. The first borne of the ass: shalt thou spe out: a then But if thou redeme it: not: the beake his necke. All the first borne of men amonge thy child: of sowe: shalt thou redeme.

And when thy child: exeth to the daye of it: to me: what is this: Thou shalt saie vnto him: The Lord broughte us out of Egypt from the house of bondage: with a myghty hande: for when Pharaos was loth to let us go: the Lord slew all the first borne in the lande of Egypt: from the first borne of man: vnto the first borne of the cat: therefore offer I vnto the Lord: all that be first born: the marraye/ sergent a male: and the first borne of my child: I redeme. And this shal be a signe vnto the in thine hande: and a token to thy sone: vpon the fore thine eyes: how that the Lord of the hyldren of Israel/ and sayde: God wyll surely wysen you therfore / eary awaye my doynce wth you from hence.

Uti. xxxij. b So they toke theyr iourney fro Succoth/ and pitched theyr tentes in Etham/ in the edge of the wyldernesse. And the Loorde wente before them by Daye/ in a pillar of a cloude / so led them the ryght waye / and by nyght in a pillar of fyre / that he mighte shewe them light to walke both by Daye and nyght. The pillar of the cloude departed neuer from the people by Daye/ and the pillar of fyre departed not from them by nyght.

The XIII. Chapter.

AND the Loorde spake vnto Moyses/ and sayde: Speake to the chyldren of Israel/ and byd them that they turne aboute / and pitch theyr tentes before the valley of Syroth/ i<sup>n</sup> the myddel of the see/ towards Baal Sephon / and there pitch the tentes ryght ouer by the see. And I wyll harden his herte / that he shall folowe after them/ and I wyll get me honoure vpon Pharao / and vpon all his power. And the Egyptians shall inuoye / that I am the Loorde. And they byd so.

B And when it was tolde the kynge of Egypte / that the people fled/ his herte/ a his seruantes were turned agaynst the people/ and sayde: Why haue we done this / that we haue let Israel go / that they should not serue vs. And he bounde his charrettes fast/ and toke his people wth hym / and toke vi. for the Loorde hardened the herte of Pharao / kynge of Egypte / that he folowed after the chyldren of Israel. And the chylde of Israel wente out wth an hie hande.

And the Egyptians folowed after them / and ouertoke them / where they had pitched by the see / wth hostes and charrettes / a hostes / men / and wth his power / in the valley of Syroth / towards Baal Sephon. And when Pharao came nye them / the chyldren of Israel lyft vp theyr eyes / and beholde / the Egyptians wente behynde them / and they were fore as frayed / and cryed vnto the Loorde.

And sayde vnto Moyses: Were there no graues in Egypte / that thou hast thoughte vs awaye to be in the wyldernesse: Whereof hast thou done this vnto vs / that thou hast carryed vs out of Egypte: Is not this us / that we sayd vnto the in Egypte: Let vs be / and let vs serue the Egyptians: for it were better for vs to serue the Egyptians / then to be in the wyldernesse: Moyses said vnto the people: I feare you not / stande still / and beholde / what a saluacyon the Loorde shall bere vpon you this Daye: for these Egyptians / whome ye se this Daye / shall we neuer se more for euer: the Loorde shall fight for you / onely quere youre liues.

The Loorde sayde vnto Moyses: Whereof cryest thou vnto me: Speake vnto the chyldren of Israel / that they go forwarde. I But lyst thou vp thy staf / and stretch out thine hande ouer the see / and parte it asunder / that the chyldren of Israel maie go in / thowen the myddel of it / vpon the drye grounde. Beholde / I wyll harden the hert of the Egyptians / that they shall folowe after you. Thus wyl I get me honoure vpon Pharao / & vpon all his power / vpon his charrettes / and hostes / men: and the Egyptians shall knowe that I am the Loorde / when I haue gotten me honoure vpon Pharao / vpon his charrette / & vpon his hostes.

Then the aungel of God / that wente before the armyes of Israel / removed / and gat hym behynde them: and the clouy pylle removed also from before them / and shode behynde them / and came betwixt the armyes of the Egyptians / and the armyes of Israel. nights: so that all the night longe these a they could not come together.

E When Moses now stretched forth his arm. and had ouer the sea the Lord caused it to passe away thowea a mighty call wende al f night/and made the sea duc tand the water deubed it selfe asunder. And the chiefe of Israel wete in thowea the myddest of the see / upon the dry ground / and they wete vnto them as a wall / upon their righte hande / and upon their life. And the Egyptians folowed / and wente in after them / all Pharaos horses / and charrettes / and hoisemen / wnt into the myddes of the see.

And now when f moing reach came / f Lord lokid vpon the armys of f Egyptians / out of the pillar of fire a the cloude / and troubled their armys / and smote the wheles from their charrettes / and euertwre them w a stone. Then saide the Egyptians: Let vs ste from Israel / the Lord fighteth for them against the Egyptians.

But the Lord saide vnto Moses: stretch out thine hande ouer the see / that the water maye come againe vpon the Egyptians / vnto their charrettes / a hoisemen. Then Moses stretched out his hande ouer f see / and the see came againe vnto f day in his course / and streight / a the Egypte ays fled a gainst a. Thus the Lord ouerthrew the in f myddest of the see / so that the water came againe / and covered f charrette a hoisemen / and all Pharaos power / which folowed after them into the see / so that there remained nor one of them. But f children of Israel wente vnto thowea the middest of f see / and f water was vnto them as a wall vpon the righte hande / a vpon their lifte.

Thus the Lord shewed Israel in that daye from the bande of the Egyptians. And they sawe the Egyptians dead vpon the see side / a the greates hande that the Lord had stremed vpon the Egyptians. And the people sawed the Lord / a belened him / and his ser-uaunt Moses.

The XV. Chapter.

Then songe Moses and f children of Israel thus songe vnto the Lord / a saide:
I will singe vnto the Lord / for he hath done gloriouse / vnto f charret hath he ouer-throwen in the see.

The Lord is my strengthe / a my songe / a he is become my saluation.

This is my God / I wil magnifie him: he is my father God / I wil praise him.

The Lord is the righte man of warre / Lord is his name: the charrettes of Pharaos a his power hath he cast into f see.

His chiefe captaynes are drowned in f see f f theye hath couered them / they selle the grounde as a stone.

Thy righte hande O Lord is glorious in power / thy righte hande O Lord hath smite-ten the enemies.

And if thy great gloie thou hast desired shine aduersus thon / f nest out thy wrath / a it consumed them euen as fobbe.

In the breth of thy wrath the waters fell together / the foudes went vpon an heape:
The Egypte plumped together in the myddest
of the see.

The enemye thoughte: I will folowe vpon them / a ouertake the / and vnto f spee / a d toole my mynde vpon them.

I will shewe my strende / a my hande shal defeate them.

Thou blessed with thy mynde the see came red the / a theye sanke downe as l d in the wythrye waters.

Lord / who is like vnto the / amonge the goddess: who is so glorious in helmes / f full / a vnto f daye in thy wonders.

What thou stretchedest out thy righte hande / the earth swallowed them vp.

Thou of thy very mercy hast led thy people / rebroke thou hast deliuered / and in thy strength thou hast broughte the vnto f dwellinge of thy Sanctuary.

When f natione herde this theye raged / so rome came vpon the Phylistines.

Then were the princes of Edom afraid / a countynge came vpon the myghtye of Mos-ab / the myddellors of Canaan waped f harbo.

Let feare and drede fall vpon them / thow-re theye greates arme / that theye maye be as still as a stone / all thy people: O Lord / be gone thow / all thy people / whom thou hast gouerned / be gone thow.

Singe thou in / a plante them vpon the mountaine of thine inheritance / vnto f place thou

hath given you to eat. This is it that the Lord hath commaunded: Every one gather for him self as much as he can catch/and take a Gomer for every head/according to his number of the soules in his tent.

And the children of Israel dyd so/and gathered some more some lesse. But when it was measured out with the Gomer/they gathered much had not the more: And he that gathered little/ wanted nothing: But every one gathered for him self/ as much as he did eat. And Moses sayd vnto them: Let no man leave ought thereof vntill he moynge. But they hearkened not vnto Moses: and some of them left of it vntill the moynge/ when wayted it full of women/ and stank: and Moses was angry at them.

And eury moynge they gathered for the selfe/ as much as eury one dyd eat: but so fast so it was whole of the Sunne/ it melted away. And vnto the fyve daye they gathered everye as much of bread/ two Gomers for one. And all the rulers of the congregacion came in and tolde Moses. And he sayd vnto them: E This is it that the Lord hath said: Tomorrow is the Sabbath of the holy rest of the Lord: loke wher ye will take/ what take: and wher ye will sech/ what sech: and what remaineth over/ let it remaine: that it maye be kepte vntill the moynge. And they let it remaine vntill morninge/ as Moses commaunded. Then stanke it not/ neither was there any woman therein. Then sayd Moses: Let it to daye/ for to daye is the Sabbath of the Lord: to daye shall ye fynde none in the felde: Sixe dayes shall ye gather in/ but the seventh daye is the Sabbath/ wherin there shall be none.

But upon the seventh daye there wente out some of the people to gather/ and founde nothinge. Then sayd the Lord vnto Moses: How longe wilt thou kepe my commaundementes and lawes? Beholde/ the Lord hath given you the Sabbath/ therefore upon the sixe daye he giveth you bread for two dayes/ therefore let eury man store bread at home/ for a man go forth of his place vpon the seventh daye.

So the people rested vnto the seventh daie. And the house of Israel called it Man/ and it was like Quencher seed/ and whye/ and had taste like symonds with hony.

And Moses sayd: This is it that the Lord hath commaunded: Fyll a Gomer: thereof to be kepte for your possession/ that they maye see the bread/ wherewith I fed you/ when I brought you out of the lande of Egypt. And Moses sayd vnto Aaron: Take a cruik/ and put a Gomer full of Manna/ therein/ and laye it up before the Lord: to be kepte for your possession/ as the Lord commaunded Moses/ So Aaron layd it up there for a testimony to be kepte.

And the children of Israel dyd eat Manna fyve yeares/ vntill they came vnto a lode/ wher people dwelt/ euen vntill they came to the border of the lande of Canaan/ vnto theyr eat Man. A Gomer is the tenth parte of an Ephra.

The XVII. Chapter.

And the whole multitude of the children of Israel/ came on theyr iourneys/ out of the wyldernes of Sin/ as the Lord commaunded them/ and pitched in Raphidim. Then had the people no water to drinke. And they chode with Moses/ and sayd: Giv us water/ that we maye drinke. Moses sayd vnto them: Why chode ye with me: wherfore tempte ye the Lord: But when the people thirsted there for water/ they murmured against Moses/ and sayd: Wherfore hast thou caused vs to come out of Egypte: to let vs/ our children/ and our cattell dye for hunger?

Moses cryed vnto the Lord/ and sayd: What shall I do with this people? They are almost ready to stone me. The Lord sayd vnto him: What do thou saye for the people/ a rocke some of the elders of Israel with the staffe in thine hande/ and go thy waye: Beholde/ I will stande there before thee upon a rocke in Horeb/ I will sende thee thither/ and thou shalt see/ that there was a well: and thou shalt see/ that the people maye drinke. Moses dyd so before the elders of Israel: The well was in a place called Massa/ Meriba/ because of the chodyng of the children of Israel/ and because theyr tempted the Lord/ and said: Is the Lord among vs/ or not?

Then came Anckel/ and fought against Israel/ in Horeb. And Moses sayd vnto

The. XVIII. Chapter.

¶ And when Jerho the prince in Madian / Moses father in law herde of al / God had done with Moses / and his people of Israel: how that the Lord had brought Israel out of Egypt: he toke Sipora Moses wyfe / whome he had sent backe / with her two sonnes: The one was called Gerson / for he said: I am become a stranger in a strange lande: And the other was called Elisafar / for he said: The God of my fathers hath ben my helpe: and hath deliuered me from Pharaos sawde.

Exod. ij. d.

¶ Now when Jerho: Moses father in law and his sonnes: a his wyfe came vnto him in the wilderness: by the mount of God / where he had pitched his tent: he sent word vnto Moses: Jerho thy father in law: am come vnto thee / and thy wyfe: and both her children: wher they came: wente Moses forth to meete him: a did obsequy vnto him / and kysed him.
¶ And when they had saluted eche other: they wente into the tent.

¶ Then Moses tolde his father in lawe all that the Lord had done vnto Pharaos / and the Egyptians: for Israels sake: and all the tra-uayle that had happened vnto the by the waye: and how the Lord had deliuered them. Jerho had done for Israel: that had deliuered them from the hande of the Egyptians. And Jerho said: Praise be the Lord: which hath deliuered you from the hande of the Egyptians: and of Pharaos: and what knowest thou to deliuer his people from the Egyptians hande. Now I know: that the Lord is greater then all goddes: because they dealt proudly wth them: And Jerho toke vientose ringes: and offered vnto God. Then came Aaron and all the elders of Israel to eate bread with Moses father in lawe before God.

¶ On the next morow saue Moses toke vnto the people: and the people stode round about Moses: from the morninge vntill the euen.
¶ But when his father in lawe sawe al that he did with the people: he said: What is this: that thou doest with the people? What isse thou alone: and al the people stande round about thee from the morninge vntill the euen?
Moses answered him: The people came to me: and are counsaill of God: for when they haue any thinge to do: they come vnto me: for I may iudge betwixte euery one and his neighbour: and shewe them the statutes of God: and his lawes.

¶ His father in lawe said vnto him: It is not well that thou doest. Thou receiuest thy self: and the people that is with thee: This burden is to sore for thee: thou canst not per-forme it alone. But hearken vnto my voyce: I will geue thee counsaill: and God shall be with thee. Be thou vnto the people: as Godward: and bringe the causes before God: and pro-uide them with statutes and lawes: that thou mayest shewe the way wherein they should walke: a the works that they should do.

¶ But loke out amonge all the people: for ha-nest men: that feare God: such as are true: a haue countenance: make these rnkro ouer them: some ouer thousand: or ouer hundredes: ouer frine: and ouer ten: for they may alwaye iudge the people: But where there is any great matter: they bringe the same vnto the
and

a iudge the final cause them selves: so shal it be lighter for thei/they beare the burthen in the. If thou thinke so thin/ then mayest thou endure the charge that God chargeth the wissh/ and al this people maye go peaceably vnto their place.

um. xi. b. ¶ Moses berkened vnto the voice of his father in lawe/ and dyd al that he sayd. And he dole honest men out of all Iseael/ a made the headen our the people / some ouer thousande/ ouer hundredes/ ouer fiftie/ ouer ten/ & they myght al waye iudge the people. As for sinde causes as were hard/ they thought the word of Moses/ a iudged the final matters the selves. So Moses let his father in lawe departe into his owne lande.

The. XL. Chapter.

¶ In the thirtieth moneth after that the chyldren of Iseael were gone out of the lande of Egypt / they came the same waye into the wilderness of Sinai / for they were departed from Raphidim/ and wolde into the wilderness of Sinai. And there they pitched they tentes in the wilderness/ ouer against the mount. And Moses went vp vnto God.

¶ And the Lord called vnto hym out of the mount/ and sayde: Thus shalte thou saye vnto the house of Iacob/ and tel the chyldren of Iseael. Ye haue sene what I haue done to the Egyptians/ and howe I haue baine you vpon Eagles wynges/ and brought you vnto my selfe. If ye wil berken now vnto my voyce/ and kepe my cōuenant/ ye shalbe myne ouer all people: for the whole earth is mine. a ye shalbe vnto me/ a perfectlye Ingdom/ and an holy people. These are the wordes that thou shalt saye vnto the chyldren of Iseael.

¶ Moses came/ a called for the elders of the people/ a layd before them all these wordes/ that the Lord had commaunded/ and al the people answered together/ a saide: ¶ All that the Lord hath sayd/ wil we do.

¶ And Moses tolde the wordes of the people vnto the Lord againe. And the Lord sayd vnto Moses. Behold/ I wil come vnto theu/ a thicke cloud/ that people may heare my wordes/ which I speake vnto / and be seene thy face. And Moses berked his wordes of the people vnto the Lord.

The Lord sayd vnto Moses: Go vnto the people/ and sanctifie them to daye/ a morrowe/ that they may weare theyr clothes/ and be ready against the thyrde daye/ for vpon the thyrde daye shal the Lord come downe vpon Sinai before al the people. And for mankes rounde about the people/ and say vnto the. Beware/ that ye go not vp into the mount/ nor touch the border of it. For whoso euer toucheth the mount/ shal dye the death. There shal no hande touche it / but he shal eiter be stoned / or shot throught whether it be beast or man / it shal not lyue. When the home shal come/ then shal they come vp vnto the mount.

Moses wente downe from the mount vnto the people/ and sanctified them. And they washed theyr clothes. And he sayd vnto the. Be ready against the thyrde daye/ and nomis come at his voyse.

¶ Now when the thyrde daye came/ and it was early / it beganne to thunder and lyghten/ and there was a thyrde cloud vpon the mount/ and a nespe of a trompett/ creakyng myghye. And the people that were in the tentes/ were affrayed. And Moses brought the people out of the tentes to meete with God/ a they stode vnder the mount.

¶ But al mount Sinai smoked/ because the Lord came downe vpon it with fyre. And the smoke therof wente vp as the smoke of a furnace/ so that the whole mount was creakyng terrible. And the noise of the trompett wente out/ and was myghye. Moses spake/ and God answered him loud. ¶ Now when the Lord was come downe vpon mount Sinai/ euen vnto the toppe of it/ he called Moses vp vnto the toppe of the mount. And Moses went vp.

¶ Then sayd the Lord vnto hym: Go downe/ and charge the people/ that they peasse not vnto the Lord/ to se hym/ and so many of them peasse. The rulers also the same tyme vnto the Lord/ shal sanctifie them selves/ lest the Lord smyte them. But Moses sayd vnto the Lord: The people can not come vp vpon the mount Sinai/ for thou hast charged vs/ a saide: Sit makis aboute the mount/ and sanctifie it.

¶ The Lord sayd vnto hym: Go thy selfe

If a man sell his daughter to be an hand-maiden then shal he not go our as the men seruaunte. But if she please not her master/and haue not married her/then shal he let her go freidur to sell her vnto a straunge people/he hath no auctorite for so much as he hath bespoken her. If he promise her vnto his owne then shal he do vnto her after the same of daughters. But if he geue hym another wyse then shal he mynlike nothinge of her goodel payment/ and waunte of marriage. If he do not rhye the/ then shall he go our/ and paye nothinge.

B If a man smyeth a man that he die/ shal he receiue the death. If he haue not layed waite for hym/ but if God let him fall in his hande vnto warres/ then wyl I appoynt y a place where he shal lye vnto. But if a man presume vpon his neighbor/ a lare him with deceate/ if he shal then take the same fro myne auctere/ that he maye be slayne. Who so smyeth his father or mother shal dye the death.

T If a man smyeth a man/ and selleth hym/so that he be foune by hym/ defaunc shal dye myne past/ and it hath ben tolde his master/ he he hath not fepte hym/ a schyde that slayeth a man or a woman/ then shal he be sloned/and his master shal dye. But if there be ma-nyce set vpon hym/ then lste what is put vpon hym/ that shal he geue to deluyce his soule.

Likewyl shal he be dealt with al/ if he gore a sonne or a daughter. But if he gore a ser-uaunt or a mayde/ then shall he geue the master thyrtye shylers/ and the oxe shal be sloned.

If a man open a well/ or dygge a pytte/ a cauer it nat/ and there fall an oxe/ or an asse therin/ then shal the owner of the pytte make it good with money/ and restore it vnto his master/ but y dead carcase shal be his owne.

If one mans oxe gore another/ that he bre/then shal they sell the hynnyng oxe/ and deude the money/ and the dead carcase shal they de-uyde also. But if it be knowen/ that the oxe haue ben used to gore/ afore/ and the owner therof hath not fepte hym/ then shal he paye his oxe/ for the other/ a the dead carcase shal be his owne.

¶ Thou shalt make a table also of fyre tree: Ex. 33. f. d

two cubytes longe/ and one cubite brode/ and a cubite and a half hye/ and overlaye it with pure golde/ and make a crowne of golde rounde aboute it/ and an whorpe of an hand bred hye/ and a crowne of golde vnto the whorpe rounde aboute.

And vnto it/ thou shalt make foure rynges of gold/ on the foure corners in y<sup>e</sup> foure sete of it/ harde vnder the whorpe/ that the rynges be/ to put in staves/ and to be ar the table withal/ and thou shalt make the staves of fyrr tree/ and overlaye them with gold/ that the table maye be seen therwith.

Thou shalt make also his dishes/ spoons/ portes/ and flat peeces of pure golde/ to poure out a in. i. And vpon the table thou shalt alwaye set the breade before me.

Ex. xxxvi

¶ Noweouer thou shalt make a candlestick of fyrr beaten golde/ whereupon shal be the base with thre banches/ cupper/ of knoppes/ and flowers. These banches shal procede out of y<sup>e</sup> sides of the candlestick/ out of euery side the banches. Euery branch shal haue the cuppe/ lyke almonds/ thre knoppes/ and thre flowers. These shalbe y<sup>e</sup> fyrr banches of y<sup>e</sup> candlestick. But the base of the candlestick/ it selfe shal haue four cuppes/ or knoppes/ or flowers/ alwaye a knoppe vnder two banches/ of the fyrr that procede out of y<sup>e</sup> candlestick. For both the knoppes and banches shal procede out of the base/ al one peece of fyrr beaten golde.

And thou shalt make seuen lampes aboute them/ that they maye geue light/ ouer one against another/ and in shewer/ a outquenchers of pure golde. Out of an hundredth pounce weyght of pure golde shalt thou make it/ with a al thy apparet. And se y<sup>e</sup> thou make it after y<sup>e</sup> patron that thou hast sene in the mount.

The XXXVI. chapter.

¶ The habitacion shalt thou make of ten curtaynes/ of whete/ ruyed sylke/ of yalow sylke/ of scarlet/ and purple/ & berbery blue/ thou shalt make theron of shaddered woole. The lengthe of one curtaine shalbe eyght and twenty cubytes/ the bredth foure cubytes/ and al the ten shalbe lyke/ and shalbe coupled fyne and fyne together/ the one to the other. And thou shalt make louppes of yalow sylke/ by the edge of euery curtaine/ where they shalbe coupled together/ that there maye be euery two and two fastened together vpon theye edges/ fyftee louppes vpon euery curtaine/ y<sup>e</sup> one maye faste the other together. And thou shalt make fyftee buttons of golde/ wherewith the curtaynes maye be coupled together/ one to the other/ that it maye be one couerynge.

¶ Thou shalt make a couerynge also of goattes heer/ for a tent ouer the habitacion of y<sup>e</sup> curtaynes. The length of one curtaine shalbe xxx cubytes/ the bredth iij cubytes. And al y<sup>e</sup> ten shalbe lyke/ great/ v. shalt thou couple together by them silkes/ and fyre also by them silkes/ that thou mayest double the y<sup>e</sup> curtaine in the fore front of the Tabernacle. And vpon euery curtaine thou shalt make a louppes vpon the edges of them/ that they maye be coupled together by the edges. And i buttons of disse/ shalt thou make/ and put the buttons into the louppes/ that the tent maye be coupled together/ and be one couerynge.

¶ So for the remnant of the curtaynes of y<sup>e</sup> tent/ thou shalt let the halfe parte hange ouer/ & by y<sup>e</sup>nde the tent/ vpon both the sides a cubyte longe/ that the residue maye be vpon the sides of the Tabernacle/ and couer it vpon both the sides.

Besyde this couerynge thou shalt make a couerynge of read/ fyftee of cannes. And aboute this a couerynge of doof fyrr.

¶ Thou shalt make boddes also for the habitacion/ of fyrr tree/ it shal stande: one bodde shalbe ten cubytes longe/ and a cubyte and a half brode. Two sete shal one bodde haue/ that the one maye be set by the other.

Thus shalt thou make al the boddes for the Tabernacle. Twentye of them shal stande toward the south/ which shal haue fourey sockets of siluer vnder them/ y<sup>e</sup> sixteen vnder euery bodde for his two sete.

Likewise vpon y<sup>e</sup> other side toward y<sup>e</sup> north/ there shal stande xx. boddes also/ a fourey sockets of siluer/ y<sup>e</sup> sixteen vnder euery bodde.

But besyde the habitacion/ toward the west/ thou shalt make fyre boddes/ xij. boddes mo so: the ij. corners of the habitacion/ that euery one of them both maye be coupled fro vnder vpon his corner bodde/ and aboute vpon the heade/ to come euery together with a clampe clamps: so that there be cyght borders: to theyr siluer sockets, wherof there shalbe syxen / two vnder eury borde.

- D And thou shalt make barres of fyrrer tree fyue for the borders vpon the one syde of the Tabernacle: a fyue for the borders vpon the other syde of the Tabernacle: and fyue for the borders be bynde the tabernacle / towarde the west. And the barres shalt thou fasten thowm the myddell of the borders: and fasten altogether from the one corner to the other. And thou shalt ouerlaye the borders with golde: a make theyr rynges of golde: that the barres maye be put thern. And the barres shalt thou ouerlaye with golde: and so shalt thou set vp the Tabernacle: accordyng to the fashion as thou hast seene vpon the mount.

- E And thou shalt make a vayle of yalowe sylke / scarlet / purple: and whyte twyned sylke. And Cherubyns shalt thou make thereon of gilded wood: a shalt hangge it vpon iij. pillers of fyrrer tree: whiche are ouerlayed wth golde: harwinge knoppes of golde: and iij. sockets of siluer. And the vayle shalt thou fasten wth buttens: and set the Ark of witnesse within the vayle: that it maye be vnto you a difference betwixt the holy: and the moost holy.

And thou shalt set the Mercyseate vpon the Ark of witnesse: in the moost holy. But set the table without the vayle: and the candlesticke ouer against the table: vpon the southsyde of the Tabernacle: that the table maye stande on the northsyde.

And in the doore of the Tabernacle: thou shalt make an hanginge of yalowe sylke / purple / scarlet: a whyte twyned sylke. And for the same hanginge: thou shalt make fyue pylers of fyrrer tree: ouerlayed with golde: wth knoppes of gold. And shalt cast fyue sockets of brasse for them.

The XXVII. Chapter.

- A And thou shalt make an altare of fyrrer tree: fyue cubites longe and brode: that it maye be four square: and thre cubytes hych: thou shalt make: home as vpon the foure corners of it: and shalt ouerlaye it with brasse. Make also stappans / stoues / basens / shells of beec / colepannes. All these apperell thereof shalt thou make of brasse. Thou shalt make a gredyon: also lyke a nete of brasse: a foure bysen rynges vpon the foure corners of it: from vnder vp: as bouite: a altare: shalt thou make: it so: the gredyon reache vnto the myddell of the altare. Thou shalt make stanes also for the altare: of fyrrer tree: ouerlayed with brasse: a shalt put the stanes in the rynges: that the stanes maye be on both the sydes of the altare: to beare it with al. And holowe is borders shalt thou make it: like as it is shewed the in the mount.

And to the habitecyon: thou shalt make a court: an hanginge of whyte twyned sylke: vpon the one syde an. c. cubytes longe: towarde the south: and xx. pillers vpon the same: brasin sockets: and thre knoppes with their wychoopes of siluer. Likewise vpon the North syde there shalbe an hanginge of an. c. cubytes longe: xx. pylers vpon the same: brasin sockets: and thre knoppes with their wychoopes of siluer.

But vpon the west syde: the breadth of the court shal haue an hanginge of fyrrer cubites longe: and ten pylers vpon the same: sockets. Vpon the east syde also: shal the breadth of the court haue fyrrer cubites: so that the hanginge shall vpon one syde: seuen cubites: and the pylers vpon the same: sockets. And vpon the other syde: seuen cubites also: and the pylers vpon the same: sockets.

And in the court gate there shalbe an hanginge of cubites: brode of yalowe sylke / scarlet / purple: a whyte twyned sylke: a shalt thou make work: and iij. pylers vpon theyr foure sockets: All the pylers reache aboute the court: that haue: siluer wychoopes: a siluer knoppes: a sockets of brasse. And the length of the court shalbe an. c. cubites: the breadth fyrrer cubytes: the height fyue cubites: of whyte twyned sylke: and the sockets thereof: shall be of brasse. All the vessels also of the habitecyon: to all maner seruise: a all the vessels of it: and all the nayles of the court: shalbe of brasse.

Commandment the dyshen of Israell: that they hang vnto the moost cleare and pure oyle olyue beaten: to geue light: that it maye alwaye be put in the lampes: in the Tabernacle of witnesse: without vnyayle: that hangeth before the witnesse. And Aaron and his sonnes shal be set in from the evening vntill the morning: before the Lord. This shall vnto you a perpetual collyure: for youre posterites amonge the dyshen of Israell.

The XXXIII. Chapter.

¶ Shalt thou take vnto the Aaron thy brother and his sounnes from amonge the children of Israel / that he may be my priest: namely Aaron and his sounnes Nadab / Abihu / Eleazar / and Ithamar: a thou shalt make holy clothes for Aaron thy brother / honorable and glorious: a thou shalt speake vnto al them that are wyse of herte / whome I haue filled with the spirit of wisdome / that they make garments vnto Aaron for his consecration / that he may be my priest.

These are the garments / whiche they shall make: a bresslapp / an ourbody coote / a mitre / an albe / a myrre and a girdel. Thus shall they make holy garments for thy brother Aaron / and his sounnes / that he may be my priest. They shall take thereto golde / yallow silke / scarlet / purple / and whyte silke.

¶ The ourbody coote shall they make of golde / yallow silke / scarlet / purple / and whyte / twyned silke / of bioodred woofe / that it may be fastened together vpon both the sydes / by the edges thereof. And his girdel vpon it shall be of the same workmanship and stuffe / cuen of gold / yallow silke / scarlet / purple / and whyte / twyned silke. And then shalt take two Onyx stones / and graine in them the names of the children of Israel. One name vpon the one stone / and the sixe other names vpon the other stone / according to the order of thre age. This shalt thou do by the stones traues / that graue signetes / so that the stones / with the names of the children of Israel be set rounde aboute with golde: and thou shalt put them vpon two soulders of the ourbody coote / that they may be stones of remembraunce / for the children of Israel: that Aaron may beare their names vpon both the soulders / before the Lord for remembraunce.

The bresslapp of iudgement shalt thou make of bioodred woofe / cuen after the ourbody coote / of gold / yallow silke / scarlet / purple / and whyte twyned silke. Four square shall it be / and vubbe / an hand breadth longe / and an hand breadth bode. And thou shalt fill it with foure rowes full of stones. Let the first rowe be a Sardie / a Topas / and a Emerode: the seconde: a Rubyne / a Saphyre / and a Diamande. The thirde: a Ligurion / an Adare / and Ametiste. The fourth: a Turcois / an Onix / and a Jaspis. In golde shalt they be set in all four rowes / and shalt stande / according to the signetemes of the children of Israel / grauen of the stone grauer / euen one with his name / according to the xi. trybes.

And vpon the bresslapp thou shalt make two withen theynes by the roines of yowre gold / and a gold ringes / so that thou faste the same a ringe vnto the edge of the bresslapp / a put they withen theynes of golde in the same a ringes / that are in the edges of the bresslapp. But the edges of the a withen theynes / shalt thou fasten in the a bores vpon the ourbody coote / one ouer agaynst another.

And thou shalt make sixe other ringes of golde / and fasten them vnto / that the other edges of the bresslapp / namely to the borders thereof / therewith it may hang on the inside / vpon the ourbody coote. And yett shalt thou make a ringes of golde / and fasten them vpon the a edges / beneath to the ourbody coote / vpon the outside / one ouer agaynst another / where the ourbody coote is set together. And the bresslapp shall be fastened by the ringes / vnto the ringes of the ourbody coote / with a yallow lace / that it maye close vpon the ourbody coote / that the bresslapp be not to be seid from the ourbody coote.

Thus shall Aaron beare the name of the children of Israel in the bresslapp of iudgement / vpon his herte / when he goeth into the Sanctuary / for a remembraunce before the Lord / alwaye. And in the bresslapp of iudgement thou shalt put light and perfecte iustisse / that they maye be vpon Aarons hert / when he goeth in before the Lord / and that he may beare the iudgment of the children of Israel vpon his hert / before the Lord alwaye.

Thou shalt make a mitre also to the ourbody coote / all of yallow silke / and aboue in the middell thereof shall be an hole / and a bande folded together rounde aboute the hole / that it renne not. And beneath vpon the beume thou shalt make pounganato of yallow silke / scarlet / purple / rounde aboure / and belles of gold /

betweene the same rounde aboute / that there be aure a golden belle / and a pomgranate: a golden belle / a pomgranate: rounde aboute the beeme of the sunne. ¶ And Aaron shal haue it upon him / when he ministrer / that the sounde thereof maye be heard / when he goeth oute in at the Sanctuary before the LORD / that he be the wor.

Thou shalt make a foreheade plate also of pure golde / and graue therein / after the workmanhippe of the stone grauer: the holynesse of the LORD: and with a purple lace shalt thou fasten it vnto the foreheade of the myster / upon Aarons foreheade / that Aaron maye so beare the signe of the holy thinges / which the children of Israel beare: in all theyr gyses and Sanctuary. And it shalbe alway upon his foreheade / that he may receiue them before the LORD.

And for Aarons sonnes thou shalt make coates / girdles / and bonettes / honorable and glorious / and shalt put them upon thyr bodies: Aaron and his sonnes / and shalt anointe them / and fill theyr handes / a consecrate / that they maye be my prestes. And thou shalt make them linen breeches / to couer the flesch of theyr pennes / from theyr loynes vnto the thies. And Aaron with his sonnes shall haue them on / when they go in the Tabernacle of witness: to go vnto the altare to minister in the Holy / that they beare not theyr sinne / a vic. This shalbe a perpetual custome for him / and his seede after him.

The XXXIX. Chapter.

¶ This is also / that thou shalt do vnto them / that they maye be consecrated pure vnto me. Take a young bullocke / and two rammes without blemishe / onleuened breade / a onleuened cake / myste with oyle / a wasse of sweete bread / tempered with oyle: Of wheate flour shalt thou make them all / and put them in a maide / and bringe them in the maide with the bullocke and two rammes.

And thou shalt bringe Aaron and his sonnes vnto the doore of the Tabernacle of witness: and washe them with water / a take the garmentes / and put upon Aaron: the albe and the tunicle / the ouerbody coate / a the breste lappe to the ouerbody coate / and shalt gyrdle him on the outside vpon the ouerbody coate / and set the myster vpon his heade: and the bosome couer vpon the myster: and shalt take the anointing oyle / and poure it vpon his heade / and anointe him.

Thou shalt bringe forth his sonnes also / a put the albe vpon them / and gyrdle both Aaron and them with girdles / and set bonettes vpon theyr heades / that they may haue the priesthood for a perpetual custome.

And thou shalt fill the handes of Aaron a his sonnes / and bringe forth the bullocke before the Tabernacle of witness. ¶ And Aaron and his sonnes shall laye theyr handes vpon the head of the bullocke / and thou shalt laye the bullocke before the LORD / at the doore of the Tabernacle of witness / and shalt take of his blood: and pur it vpon the hornes of the altare with thy finger / a poure all other blood vpon the bottom of the altare.

¶ And thou shalt take all the fat that couereth the bowels / and the nete vpon theyr / a the two kidneys with the fat that is aboute them / and burne them vpon the altare. But the bullockes flesch / sinne / and yonge / shalt thou burne with fyre / without the doore: for it is a sin offering.

The one ramme shalt thou take also / and Aaron with his sonnes shall laye theyr handes vpon his heade. Then shalt thou slaye him / and take of his blood / and spicke it vpon the altare / rounde about. But the rime shalt thou beuide in peeces / and washe his bowels / and his legges / and laye them vpon the peeces and the heade: and burne the whole ramme vpon the altare: for it is a burnt offering: and a sweete sauoure of the sacrifice vnto the LORD.

¶ As for the other ramme / thou shalt take him / a Aaron with his sonnes shall laye theyr handes vpon his heade: and thou shalt slaye him / and take of his blood / and pur it vpon the upper of the right eare of Aaron and his sonnes / and vpon the thombe of theyr right handes / and vpon a great toe of theyr right feete: and thou shalt spicke the blood vpon the altare rounde aboute / a shalt take of the blood vpon the altare / and the anointing oyle /

oyle and sprenkle it vpon Aaron and his seruantes vpon his sonnes/ and theyr vestes mentes So shal he and his clothes/ his sonnes and theyr clothes be consecrated.

¶ Then shalt thou take the eare of the rams/ and the rumpe/ and the fatte that couereth the bowels/ the netre vpon the leuer/ and the two kidneys/ with the fatte that is aboute them/ and the right shouler (for it is a ramme of consecration) and a sinnell of bread/ a an oyle cake/ and a wafer/ out of 7 mannde of the vniuenided bread / that standeth before the Lord/ and put all into the handes of Aaron and his sonnes/ and waue it vnto the Lord.

¶ And thou shalt take 7 beesse of the rams/ of Arons consecration/ and shalt waue it before the Lord/ that shal be his parte. And thus shalt thou haue the Waucduell/ and the Heauershouler/ that are waued and beaues/ of the raimme of 7 consecration of Aaron a his sonnes. And it shal be a perperial custumme for Aaron and his sonnes/ of the children of Israel/ for it is an Heauersouler/ a the Heauersouler shal be 7 Lords beuene of the children of Israel/ in theyr peaccofferinges and Heauersouleringes/ whiche they do vnto the Lord.

¶ And the holy garmentes of Aaron shal his sonnes haue after him/ 7 they maye be anointed therein/ and that theyr handes maye be siled. Like which of his sonnes shal be priest in his stead/ the same shal put the on seuen yeares/ that he may go into the Tabernacle of witness to minister in the Sanctuary.

¶ But the raimme of consecration shalt thou take/ a seeth his skethe in an holy place. And Aaron with his sonnes shal eat 7 sith of the same raimme/ with the bread in the mannde/ at the Voie of the Tabernacle of witness. For there is an atonement made therewith/ to sille theyr handes/ that they may be consecrated. A stranger shal not eate thereof/ for it is holy.

¶ But if any of the fleshe of the consecration/ and of the bread remaine/ vntill 7 morninge/ thou shalt burne it with fyre/ and not let it be eaten/ for it is holy. And thus shalt thou do with Aaron and his sonnes all that I haue commaunded the. Euen yaze shalt thou fill theyr handes/ and offer a bullocke dayly for a sin offering/ because of them that shal be reconciled. And thou shalt baue me the aultare/ when thou reconcilest it/ shalt anointe it/ that it maye be consecrated. Euen yaze shalt thou reconcile the aultare/ and consecrate it/ that it maye be an aultare of the most holy. Who so wil touch the aultare/ must be consecrated.

¶ And this shalt thou do with the aultare: Two lambe of one yare olde shalt thou offer euery yaze vpon it: the one lambe in the morning/ and the oither at euen. And to one lambe a tenth deal of wheat flour/ mingled with 7 fourth parte of an Hin/ of beaten oyle/ and the fourth parte of an Hin of wyne/ for a burnt offering. With 7 other lambe at euen shalt thou do like as with the meattofferinge/ and burnt offeringe in 7 morninge/ for a sweete sauour of sacrifice vnto the Lord. This is the dayly burnt offeringe amonge your peofferinges/ at the Voie of the Tabernacle of witness before the Lord / I tewe I wil proteste vnto you/ and talke with 7. There wil 7 peoffert rest vnto the children of Israel/ and be sanctified in my glory/ a wil haue me the Tabernacle of witness/ and the aultare/ and consecrate Aaron a his sonnes/ to be my priestes. I tewe I wil dwell amonge the children of Israel/ a wil be theyr God/ so that they shal knowe/ how that I am the Lord theyr God/ whiche brought them out of the land of Egypt: that I might dwell amonge the/ euen I 7 Lord be theyr God.

The XXX. Chapter.

¶ Thou shalt make also an incense aultare/ to burne incense/ of fyre tree/ a cubite longe and bidde/ euen foure squayres/ and 7 cubites hie/ with his hornes/ and shalt ouerlaye it with pure golde/ the rose and the wallowes of it rounde about/ and the hornes therof/ a crune of golde shalt thou make/ rounde aboute it/ and two golde ringes on it/ thei shall vnder the crune/ that there maye be flauces put therein/ to beere it with al.

The flauces shalt thou make of fyre tree also/ and ouerlaye them with golde/ and shalt set it before the wayle/ that hangeth before the

And Arke shall burne sweete incense thereon euery morninge / when he dis- cendeth the lammes. In like maner when he lighteth the lammes at euen / he shall burne such incense also. This shalbe the dayly incense before the Lord/ amonge your posterities.

B ¶ Ye shall put no strange incense therein/ neither burnt offeringe / no meate offeringe / neither drinke offeringe thereon. ¶ And vpon the hornes of it shall Aaron reconyle once in a yeare / with the bloud of sinoffringe / which they shall offer that are reconciled. This shalbe done amonge your posterities. for this is the most holy vnto the Lord.

Num. 1. a ¶ And the Lord spake vnto Moses / and said: ¶ When thou numberst the childe of Israel / and sayest / ¶ How many are they / that they happen not a plague vnto them / when they are numbered. Every one of is to be in the number / shall geue halfe a shele / after the shele of the Sanctuary. Tonic shele is worth xx. Geras. This halfe shele shalbe the Lordees Reuocoffringe. ¶ Who so is in the number from xx yeare / aboue / shall geue this Reuocoffringe vnto the Lord. He ryche shal not geue more / and the poore shal not geue lesse / in the halfe shele / whiche is geue vnto the Lord to be an Reuocoffringe / for the reconcilinge of theyr soules.

Leu. xxv. b ¶ And this money of reconcilinge shalte thou take of the chyldren of Israel / and put it to the Gode seruce of the Tabernacle of witness / that it maye be a reuocobrancc vnto the chyldren of Israel before the Lord / that he maye let him selfe be reconciled ouer theyr soules.

Exo. 25. b ¶ And the Lord spake vnto Moses / and sayde: ¶ Thou shalt make a brasen Lauer / also with a fore of brass / to washe / and shalt set it betwixt the Tabernacle of witness and the altare / and put water therein / that Aaron and his sonnes maye washe theyr handes and feet thereon / when they go into the Tabernacle of witness / or to the altare / to minister vnto the Lord / with offeringe incense / that they dye not. This shalbe a perpetuall custome for him and his seede / amonge theyr posterities.

¶ And the Lorde spake vnto Moses / and sayde: ¶ Take vnto the spices of the best / v. C. Exo. 25. c / sicke of myrrour a of Cynamum / half so much / euen ii. C. and L. and of Calamus ii. C. and L. and of Cassia v. C. Ester of the Sanctuary / and an Oint of oyle olive / and make an holy anointinge oyle / after the crafte of the apotecary.

¶ And therewith shalt thou anointe the Tabernacle of witness / and the Arke of witness / the table with his appaill / the candlestick with his appaill / the altare of incense / the altare of burnt offeringe / with all his appaill / and the lauer with his fore: and thus shalt thou consecrate them / that they maye be most holy: for who so will touche the / must be consecrated. Thou shalt anointe Aaron also and his sonnes / and consecrate them to be my prestes.

¶ And thou shalt speake vnto the chyldren of Israel / and saye: ¶ This oyle shalbe an holy ointment vnto me / amonge your posterities: It shal not be pored / amonge body / neither shalt thou make any such lyfe vnto it / for it is holy: therfore shall it be holy vnto you. Who so maketh any such lyfe / or greuch a stranger therof / the same shalbe roted out fro amonge his people.

¶ And the Lord sayd vnto Moses: Take vnto the spices / balme / stacte / galbanum / and pure frankincense / of one as much as of another / and make incense thereof / after the crafte of the apotecary / mingled together / that it maye be pure and holy. And thou shalt beate it to powder / and shalt put of the same before the witness / in the Tabernacle of witness / from whence I will p[ro]uocke vnto the. This shal be most holy vnto you. And such incense is thy: not meke yee: but it shalbe holy vnto the for the Lord. Who so maketh such to incense therewith / shalbe roted out from amonge his people.

The XXXI. Chapter.

¶ And the Lord spake vnto Moses / and sayde: ¶ I haue called by name Bezaleel / the sonne of Uri / the sonne of Hur / of the tribe of Iuda / and haue filled him with the spire of God / wherewith he shall do a vnderstanding / a knowlege / a worke with al maner of cunninge worke / in golde / siluer / brass / to graue stones hau promised you/ and I geue vnto your side/ and they shal inherite it for euer. Thus the Lord/ repented of the euil/ which he sayd/ he would do vnto his people.

¶ Moses turned him / and went downe from the mount / and in his hande he had the two tables of witness / which were written vpon both the sides / and were Gods worke / and the writinge was the writinge of God therein. Now when Josua herde th. noyse of the people / as they shoured / he sayd vnto Moyses: This is a noyse of warre in the hoost. He answered: It is not a noyse of them / I haue th. victory / of them / that haue the worse / but I heare a noyse of singinge at a daunce.

¶ When he came nye vnto y. hoost / he sawe the calf / and the daunsing / he was moued with wrath / as a calf the tables out of his hand / a huile the deneth the mount. And he take y. calf that they had made / a beat it with fyre / and stamped it vnto poulder / and strowed it in the water / and gaue it vnto the childen of Israel to drinke / as sayd vnto Aaron. What did this people vnto the / y. thou hast broughte so great a sinne vpon them.

Aaron sayd: Let not y. wrath of my Lord rage againste: thou knowest / y. this is a wicked people. They sayd vnto nic: Make no goddes to go before vs / for we can not tell whar is become of this man Moses / that brought vs out of the lande of Egypt. I sayd vnto them: Who so hath gold / let him plucke it off / and geue it me / and I wd cast it in the fyre / therof came this calf.

¶ Now when Moses sawe / that the people was naked / (for Aaron / when he set their vp / made them naked to theyr shame) he wente vnto the gate of the hoost / and sayd: Who so belongeth vnto the Lord / let him come hither vnto me. Then all the childen of Leui gathered them selfes vnto him / and he sayd vnto them: Thus saith the Lord / y. God of Israel: Every man put his swerde by his side / and go thowen / in a out / from one gate to another in the hoost / and slaye euery man his boother / frende / and neyghboire.

The childen of Leui did as Moses sayd vnto them. And there fel of the people / in th. M. Then sayd Moses: Consecrate your hande this day vnto the Lord / euery man vnto pon his sonne / and brother / that y. prayse may be geuen our you this day.

¶ In th. morninge Moses sayd vnto y. people: We haue done a great sinne. Now I will go vp vnto the Lord / and praye for you. I might make an atonement for your sinne.

¶ Now when Moses came againe vnto y. Lord / he sayd: Wh. this people haue done a great sinne / and haue made them Goddes of gold. Now for geue them theyr sinnes / not / then wpe me out of thy booke / that thou hast written. The Lord sayd vnto Moses: What harme that sinner aganist me / will I wypp out of my booke. Go thou thy way therfore / and bringe the people thither as I haue sayd vnto the. Beholde / myne aungel shall go before the. But in the daye of my visitacion I will visite theyr sinnes vpon them. So the Lord plagued y. people / because they made the calf which Aaron made.

The XXXIII. Chapter.

¶ The Lord sayd vnto Moses: Go / thy waye hence / thou and the people / y. thou hast broughte out of the lande of Egypt vnto y. lande eger I swore vnto Abraham / Isaac / and Jacob / and sayde: Vnto thy selfe thou I wnt geue it / and I will sende an aungel before the / and cast out the Cananites / Amoritues / G. Hittites / Pherezites / Hittites / and Jebusites / into the lande that I sware vnto milke a honys / so I will not go vp with the: for thou art an hardencted people / I might consume the by the way. When the people h. y. d. this euil thinge / they feared / and no man put on his besteyment.

¶ And the Lord sayd vnto Moses: speake thou vnto the childen of Israel: Ye are a stiffnecked people / I must once come soeely vpon the / and make an ende of the. And now put of thy goodly arayes from the / that I may knowe what to do vnto the. So the childen of Israel layd theyr goodly arayes from them / cuen before the mount Sinai.

¶ Moses rose the tabernacle / and pitched it without a farr of from the hoost / and called it the Tabernacle of witness. And whosoever wold aske any question at the Lord / wente to the Tabernacle of witness / before y. host. And when Moses wente out vnto the Tabernacle / all the people rose up and stode euery with his basyn greddyron / staves / and al his apparel: The lauer with his sore: The hanginge of the court: with the pillers and sockets thereof / and the hanginge of the court: Vse:

The nayles of the habitation / and of the court with theyr: coardes: The ministring garments for the seruyce in the Holy / the holy vesti-mentes of Aaron & priest: with the vestimentes of his sonnes: for the priestes office.

¶ Then went al the congregacion of the chylde of Israel out from Mosco / and eury one brought the gyfte of his heritage / and that they wolde of freyl / the same brought they for an Heaucostlyng: vnto the Lo:de / for the worke of the Tabernacle of witness: / and for al the seruice thereof / and for the holy vesti-mentes. Both men and women / that were of a willinge hert / brought bracelets / earrings / ruynges / and gyrdels / and al manner reuels of golde: Every man also broughte golde for Waucostlynges vnto the Lo:de.

¶ And whosoeuer founde by him yelowe silke / scarlet / purple / whyte sylke / goates heere / red / fynnes of rammes / and doo / fynnes / brought it. And whosoeuer did hegie up siluer and brasse / brought it for the Heaucostly-ng vnto the Lo:de. And whosoeuer found Syre tree by him / brought it for al manner of worke of the Gods seruice. And such women / as were wyfe bared / spanne with theyr han-des / and brought theyr sponne worke of ye-lowe silke / scarlet / purple / and whyte sylke. And such women as had byr understandinge in wysedome / spanne goates heere.

¶ As for the pynnes / they broughte Onix stones / and sersilmons / for the ouerbyr coate / and for bislappes / and spyrce / and oyle for light-es / and for the anoyntinge oyle / and for swe-incense. Thus the chylde of Israel broughte fre willinge offeringes / both men & women / for al manner of worke that the Lo:de had commanded by Mosco to be made.

¶ And Mosco sayde vnto the chylde of Israel: Beholde the Lo:de hath called by name Bezaleel the sonne of Uri / the sonne of Hur / of the tribe of Juda / and hath filled him with the spyrce of God / that he may haue wysedome / understandinge / and knowlege / for al maner of worke: to worke cunningly in golde / siluer and brasse / to graue precious stones / and to set them / to carue in wood: to make al maner of conninge worke / and hath geuen wisdemion in his herte / both him and Abialah: the sonne of Abisamach / of the tribe of Dan. These hath he filled with wysedome of herte / to make al maner of worke / to carue / to boder / to worke with needle worke / with yelow silke / scarlet / purple / and whyte silke: and with wauynge to make al maner of worke / and to beuise con-ninge worke.

The XXXVI Chapter.

¶ Then brought Bezaleel and Abialah / and al the wysse herted men / vnto whom the Lo:de had geuen wysedome / and understandinge / to knowe howe they shoulde make al maner worke for the seruice of the Sanctuary / according vnto al that the Lo:de commanded. And Mosco called for Bezaleel & Abialah / and al the wysse herted men / vnto whome the Lo:de had geuen wysedome in theyr hertes / namely / al such as willinge offered them selves there / and came to labourer in the worke. And they receaued of Mosco al the Heaucostlynges / that the chylde of Israel had brought for the worke of the seruice of the Sanctuary / that it might be made: a eury morninge brought they theyr willinge offeringe vnto him.

¶ Then came al the wysse men a wrought in the worke of the Sanctuary / eury one his his worke that he made / and sayd vnto Mos-co: The people bingeth to murther more then neede is / so the worke of this seruice / whiche the Lo:de hath commanded to make. Then commanded Mosco that it shoulde be proclay-med thero vnto the boote: No man bing more / Heaucostlynges of the Sanctuary.
Then were the people forbidden to bing for there was stuffe ynough for al maner of worke that was to be made / and to muche.

Ex. xxxvi.

Exo. xxxi. a † So all the waye herted men amonge the/ that wrought in the woike of the habitation made ten curtaynes of whyte ruynd silke/ yalow silke/scarlet/purple/ with Cherubins of dyedred woike. The length of one curtayne was xxxij. cubites/ and the breadth iij. cubites/ and were all of one measure/ and he coupled the curtaynes syue and syue together one to the other.

¶ And made yalow loupes a longe/ by the edge of eury curtayne/ where they shoulde be coupled together: L. loupes upon eury curtayne/ whereby one might be coupled to another/ and made x. buttons of golde/ and with the buttons he coupled the curtaynes together/ one to the other/ that it might be one coveringe.

Exo. xxxij. b † And he made xj. curtaynes of goates heer (for the teute ouer the habitation) of xx. cubites longe/ a ij. cubites broade/ all of one measure/ a coupled syue together by the silkes/ a syue by the silkes/ and made L. loupes along by the edge of eury curtayne/ whereby they might be coupled together/ and made L. buttons of brasse/ to couple the teute together with all. And made ouer the teute a coveringe of read/ fenne of raimme/ and ouer that a coveringe of beoofsinne.

Exo. xxxij. c † And made standinge borders for the habitation of firre tree/ eury one ten cubites longe/ and a cubite a halfe broade/ a ij. fute wnto eury one/ whereby one might be ioyned to another: so that on the south side there shode xx. of the same borders: a he made xl. siluer sockets there vnder eury borde ij. sockets for hie ij. fute. In like maner: for the other side of the habitation/ towards the north/ he made xx. borders also/ with some siluer sockets wnto eury borde ij. sockets: But behinde the habitation/ vpon the west side/ he made six borders/ and another for the corners of the habitation behinde/ that eithen of them both might be ioyned with his corner borde from vnder vp/ and aboue upon the heade to come together with a clape/ so that there were iij. borders/ and iij. sockets of siluer/ vnder eury one ij. sockets.

¶ And he made barres of firre tree/ for the borders/ vpon the one side of the habitation/ a vpon the other/ a o. behinde/ towards the west/ and made the barres to sitte thow the borders/ from the one ende to the other/ and overlaid the borders with golde. But the rings made he of golde for the barres/ and overlaid the barres with golde.

¶ And made Cherubins upon the hanginge with dyedred woike/ of yalow silke/scarlet/purple/ and whyte ruynd silke. And made for the same/ foure pillars of firre tree/ overlaid them with golde/ and theyr knoppes of golde/ and cast iij. fettes of siluer for them.

¶ And made an hanginge in the Tabernacle/ of yalow silke/scarlet/purple/ a whyte ruynd silke/ of needle woike/ a v. pillars there with theyr knoppes/ and overlaid theyr knoppes and whopps with golde/ and v. fettes of brasse there.

The XXXVII Chapter.

Exo. xxxvii. a † Ake of firre tree/ a ij. cubites and a half longe/ a cubite and a half broade/ and a cubite and a half hie/ and overlaid it with fine golde/ or thin a with out/ and made a croune of golde wnto it rounde about/ and caste for it iij. rings of golde/ to the iij. corners of it/ vpon eury syde ij. And made silues of firre tree/ and overlaid them with golde/ and put them in the rings a longe/ by the sydes of the Arke/ to beare it withall.

¶ And he made ij. Mercyseate of pure golde/ ij. cubites and an half longe/ and a cubite a half broade/ a made ij. Cherubins of fine beaten golde/ vpon the ij. endes of the Mercyseate. One Cherub vpon yne ende/ and the other Cherub vpon the other ende/ a he Cherubins spred out theyr wynges aboue an hie/ and covered the mercyseate therewith/ and theyr faces shode one agaynst the other/ a loked vnto the Mercyseate.

¶ And he made the table of firre tree/ cubites longe/ and a cubite broade/ a cubite a half hie/ and overlaid it with fine golde/ and made there a croune of golde rounde about/ and made vnto it an wheepe of an hie/ about hie/ and made a croune of golde rounde about the wheepe. And for the cast iij. golde rings/ and pure them in. he ij. corners by the feet/ beate by the wheepe/ that the silues.

vnder eury iiij. brianches a knoppe. The knoppes and brianches therof proceeded out of it/ were all of one peece of fyne beaten gold.
And he made the ioy lampes with theyr tinse fres/ and a iij. vnderes of pure golde. Of an E. weygh: of golde made he it/ and all the ap parill therof.

S He made also the aulare of inecel/ of fyre tree/ a cubite longe and bisade / a iij. foure squared / and iiij. cubites hie with the poyntes of it/ and ouerlayd it with fyne golde/ sope and the sydes of it round about/ and the bo about of pure golde/ and iiij. golde ringes vnder the crowne on both the sydes / to put the flauces thereyn/ to beare it tribal: but the flauces made be of fyre tree/ a ouerlayd them with golde.

And he made the holy anointinge oyle/ a the incense of pure spiccs/ after the craft of the apontary.

The. XXXVIII. Chapter.

S He made the aulare of burnt offeringes/ made of fyre tree/ a cubite longe and bisade/euen foure squared/ and iiij. cubites hie. And made it. boues/ which proceeded out of the
iij. corners therof/ a ouerlayd it with brasse.
And he made all maner of vessels for the aul are/ candleons/ shales/ basons/ shalboites/ and cups/ and al of brasse. And vnto the aulare he made a basin greyd of net woike/ rounde about/ from vnder hy vnto the myddest of the aulare/ and cast in ringes in the four cor ners of the basin greyd/ so: the flauces which be made of fyre tree/ and ouerlayd the with brasse/ and put them in the ringes by the sydes of the aulare/ to beare it with all/and made it holore with boues.

And he made the lauer of brasse/ and bra se for also of brasse / upon the place of the boues/that lay before the doore of the Tabernacle of witness. And he made the couer on the fourthyde with hanginges an E. cubites longe/ of whyte rymed silke / which the xx. pillers therof/ and xx. sockets of brasse: but knoppes and woopes of siluer. In lyke ma iiij. pillers and iiij. sockets: So that all hanginges of the coure were of whyte rymed silke/and the sockets of the pillers were of brasse/and theye knoppes and woopes of siluer: theye heades were ouerlayd with siluer/ and all the pillers of the coure were wooped a bout with siluer.

And the hanginges in the coure gate made be with netle woike/ of yallow silke/ scarlet/purple/ and whyte rymed silke/ xx. cubites longe/ and v. cubites hie/ after the measure of the hanginges of the coure: iij. pillers also thereto / and iiij. sockets of brasse/ and theye knoppes of siluer/ and theye heades ouerlayd with theye woopes of siluer. And all the nayles of the habitacion/ and of the coure/ rounde a bout were of brasse.

This is now the summe of the habitacion of witness/ which was counted at the com mandement of Moses/ to the Gods seruice of the Leuites / vnder the hande of Ithamar the sonne of Aaron / the priest / whiche Be galel the sonne of Uri / the sonne of Hur / of the tribe of Iuda / made all as the Lo. G. D. commanded Moses. And with him Itha liab / the sonne of Ahisamach / of the tribe of Dan / a conninge man / to woike netle woike/ with yallow silke/ scarlet/ purple / and whyte silke.

All the golde that was wrought in all this woike of the Sanctuary / which was geuen vnto the Wau: offeringe was xxx. hundred weygh: iij. hundred and xxx. sicke/ after the
f. iiij. sicke

rounde aboute / to the seruice in / as the Lorde commaunded Moses.

¶ And they made albes also wroughte of white silke / for Aaron and his sonnes / and the myter of white silke / and the goodly bonnetes of white sylke / and breches of rayned whyte linnen / and the gyrdle of noble woike / euen of whyte rayned sylke / yallowe sylke / scarlet / and purple / as the Lorde commaunded Moses.

They made the foreheade plate also of the holy crowne / of pure golde / and wrought therein very grauen woike / the holynes of the Lorde / and stencled a yallowe lace thereon / to tye it vnto the myter aboute / as the Lorde commaunded Moses.

¶ Thus the whole woike of the habitation of the Tabernacle of witness was finished. And the chyldren of Israel did all that the Lorde commaunded Moses / and broughte the habitation vnto Moses / the Tabernacle / and all the appayr thereof / the bunnons / bowdes / barres / pillers / sockets / the courtynge of reed stynnes of rammes / the coueringe of doo fynyces / and the vayle / the Arke of witness / with the statutes thereof.

The Mercyseate / the table and all his appayr / and the shewbrake / the candlestick / with the lampes prepared / and all his appayr / and oyle for the lightes / the golden altare / the anoynting oyle an incense / the hanginge in the Tabernacle doore / the brasen altare / and his brasen gredgion / with his slawes / and all his appayr / lauer with his foote / the hanginges of the court / with the pylers and sockets thereof / the hanginge in the courtgate / with his pylers and nayles / and all the ordonance for the seruice of the habitation of the Tabernacle of witness / the ministring vestimentes of Aaron the priesst / to do seruice in the sanctuary / and the garmentes of his sonnes / that they mighte execute the priesstes office. Accordinge to all that the Lorde commaunded Moses / euen so dyd the chyldren of Israel in all this seruice / and Moses sawe all the woike that they dyd it / euen as the Lorde had commaunded / and he blest them.

The XL. Chapter.

¶ Thus spake the Lorde vnto Moses / and sayde / In the first day of the first moneth shalt thou set vp the habitation of the Tabernacle of witness / and shalt put the Arke of witnes therein / and hange the vayle before the Arke. And thou shalt bringe in the table / and garnish it / and bringe in the candlestick / and put the lampes thereon. And the golden altare of incense / shalt thou set before the Arke of witness / and hange vp the hanginge in the doore of the habitation. But the culture of burnt offerings shalt thou set before the doore of the habitation of the Tabernacle of witness / and the lauer betwixt the Tabernacle of witness / and the altare / and put water therein / and see the court rounde aboute / and hange vp the hanginge in the courtgate.

And thou shalt take the anoynting oyle / and anointe the habitation / and all that is therein / and shalt consecrate it / and all the apparell thereof / it maye be holy. And thou shalt anointe the altare of burnt offerings / and all his vessels / and consecrate it / that it maye be most holy. The lauer also / a his foote shalt thou anointe and consecrate.

¶ And thou shalt bringe Aaron and his sonnes / vnto the doore of the Tabernacle of witness / a wash they with water / and put they holy vestimentes vpon Aaron / and anointe him / a consecrate him / that he maye be my priesst. And thou shalt bringe his sonnes also / a put the albes vpon them / and anointe them / as thou hast anointed theyr father / if they maye be my priesstes. And thou anoyntinge shal they haue for an euerlastinge priesthode / amonge theyr posterite. And Moses did all / as the Lorde commaunded him.

¶ Thus was the Tabernacle set vp in the seconde yeare / vpon the first day of the first moneth. And when Moses reared it vp / he stencled the sockets / and the beddes / and bases / and set vp the pillers / and spred out the tente ouer the habitation / and put the coueringe of the tent aboute an hoke / as the Lorde commaunded him. And he toke the witness / and lared it in the Arke / and put the slawes in the Arke / and set the Mercyseate aboute vpon the Arke / and broughte the Arke into the habitation / and hanged the vayle before the Arke of witness / as the Lorde commaunded him.

And he set the table in the Tabernacle of witness / in the conner of the habitation / vpon the northside / without the vayle / and pre-

Num. i.

Exo. xxx. a pared bread thereon before the Lord / as the Lord commanded him.

B And he set in candelsticks also euen ouer against the table / in the center of the habitation / upon the south side / and put the lampes thereon before the Lord / as the Lord commanded him. And the golden altar set he in also before the veyle / and burnt sweet incense thereon / as the Lord commanded him. And hanged vp the hanginge in the tabernacle doore. As for the altare of burnt offerings / he set it before the veyle of the habitation of the Tabernacle of witness / a offered burnt offerings / and incense offerings thereon / as the Lord commanded him.

Exo. xxx. a And the laver set he betwixt the Tabernacle of witness / and the altare / and put water therein to wash withal. And Moses / Aaron / and his sonnes washed their handes / and feet therein / for they ought to wash their hands when they go into the Tabernacle of witness / when they went vnto the altare / as the Lord commanded him.

E And he set vp the court rounde about the habitation and the altare / and hanged vp the hanginge in the court gate. Thus Moses finished the whole worke.

Numo. ix. a Then a cloude covered the Tabernacle of witness / and the glory of the Lord filled the habitation. And Moses could not go into the Tabernacle of witness / by the cloude abode thereon / and the glorie of the Lord filled the habitation.

And when the cloude removed from the habitation / then wente the children of Israel forth / as oft as they take their iourney. But if the cloude removed not / then toke not they their iourney / till the veyle that it remoued / for in the veyle was the cloude of the Lord upon the habitation / and in the night season was fire therein / as the light of all the house of Israel / in all their iourneys.

The ende of the seconde booke of Moses / called Exodus.

The third booke of Moses called Leuiticus.

The first Chapter.

And the Lord called unto Moses / and spake vnto him / out of the Tabernacle of witness / a / sayd: Speake vnto the children of Israel / and saye vnto them: Whosoever amongst you vntowynge an offering vnto the Lord / let him bringe it of the cattel / euen of the oxen / and of the sheepe.

If he wil bringe a burnt offering of the oxen / or of the cattel / then let him offer a male without blemish / before the veyle of the Tabernacle of witness / to reconcile himselfe before the Lord / let him laye his hande upon the heade of the burnt offering / then shall he be reconciled / so that God shall be mercifull vnto him.

And he shall kill the young ox before the Lord / and the priestes / Aaron / and his sonnes shall bringe the bloud / a / sprinkle it rounde aboute vpon the altare / that is before the veyle of the Tabernacle of witness. And the fume shall be stayne from the burnt offering / a / it shall be betweene pieces. And his sonnes of Aaron shall make a fyre vpon the altare / a / laye wood aboute thereon / a / the peeces of beades / and the fat shall they laye vpon the wood / that is vpon the fyre on the altare. But the bowels a / lynes shall be washed with water / and the puddle shall burne alse together vpon the altare / for a burnt offering / this is an offering of a sweete savour vnto the Lord.

If he wil offer a burnt offering of the small cattel / that is / of the lambes / or / goates / then let him offer a male without a blemish. And he shall kill it before the Lord / euen at the coynce of the altare / on the north side before the Lord. And his priestes / Aaron / sonnes shall sprinkle his bloud rounde aboute vpon the altare /

and it shall be woren in peeces. And the priest shall laye them with the heade/and the fat vpon the woode that lyeth vpon the fyre on the altiare. But the bowels and flegges shall be wipen with water. And the priest shall offre it altogether / and burne it vpon the altiare for a burnt sacrifice. This is an offeringe of a sweete sauoure vnto the Lo:de.

But if he will offer a burnt sacrifice of the sheales vnto the Lo:de / then let him offer it of the mixed blood / or of the yonge pigons. And the priest shall bringe it vnto the altiare / and wringe y necke of it a sinder / that it may be burnt vpon the altiare / and let the bloude of it runne out vpon the fyres of the altiare / or the etroppe of it with the scethers / shall be cast vpon the heape of ashes / beside the altiare / to wards the east / and he shall wende the wringe of it / but not breake them cleane of. And thus shall the priest burne it vpon the altiare / euen vpon the woode that lyeth vpon the fyre / for a burnt sacrifice. This is an offeringe of a sweete sauoure vnto the Lo:de.

The II. Chapter.

When a soule will offer a meato offeringe vnto the Lo:de / then shall it be of fyne flour / and he shall poure oyle vpon it / and put frankensce thereon / and so bringe it vnto Arons sonnes the priestes. Then shall one of them take his handfull of the same flour and oyle / with albe frankensce / and burne it for a remembrance vpon that altiare. This is an offeringe of a sweete sauoure vnto the Lo:de. As for the remanant of the meato offeringe / it shall Arons and his sonnes. This shall be the most holy of the offeringe of the Lo:de.

But if he will bringe a meato offeringe / of that which is baken in the oven / then let him take sweete cakes of wheate / mixe with oyle / a unleuened wafers / anointed with oyle. Vnto which / if the meato offeringe be any thinge of that which is ficed in the panner / then shall he of fyne fyne flour / mixe with oyle. And thou shalt cut it in peeces / and poure oyle thereon / so is it a meato offeringe. But if thy meato offeringe be oughte broyled on the greddron / then shall thou make it of fyne flour with oyle. And if meato offeringe / thou wilt make of stufed thinges for the Lo:de / shall thou bringe vnto the priest / which shall bringe it vnto the altiare / and shall braye vp the same meato offeringe for a remembrance / a burne it vpon the altiare. This is an offeringe of a sweete sauoure vnto the Lo:de. As for remanant it shall Arons and his sonnes. This shall be the most holy of the offeringes of the Lo:de.

All the meato offeringes that ye will offre vnto the Lo:de / shall ye make without leuen. For there shall no leuen / nor honey be burnt for an offeringe vnto the Lo:de. But for the fattinges / shall ye offer them vnto the Lo:de. Vnto which / they shall come vpon an altiare for a sweete sauoure.

All thy meato offeringes shall thou salt. And thy meato offeringe shall neuer be without the salt of the conuenant of thy God: for in all thy offeringes shall thou offre salt. Coluy a

But if thou wilt offer a meato offeringe / of fyne flour vnto the Lo:de / then shall thou wende that which is greene by the fyre / a beate small / a so offre the meato offeringe of thy fyne flour. And thou shalt put oyle vpon it / and laye frankensce thereon / so is it a meato offeringe. And thou shall the priest braye it / and burne of it oyle / and frankensce for a remembrance. This is an offeringe vnto the Lo:de.

The III. Chapter.

If his offeringe be a thank offeringe of a great carrel / whether it be a roe / cowe / then shall he offre such as is without blemish before the Lo:de. It shall laye his hande vpon the heade of it / and fill it before the Dore of the Tabernacle of witness. And the priestes Arons sonnes / shall spreinte the bloude rounde aboute vpon the altiare / and shall offre of the thank offeringe vnto the Lo:de / mainly all the fatte that is within / and the two kidneys / and the nette on the leuer vpon the kidneys also. And Arons sonnes shall burne it vpon the altiare for a burnt offeringe / euen vpon the woode that lyeth on the fyre. This is an offeringe of a sweete sauoure vnto the Lo:de.

If his thank offeringe be of small carrel / whether it be male or female / it shall be without blemish: If it be a lamb / then shall he bringe it before the Lo:de / and shall laye his hande vpon the heade of it / a laye it before the Tabernacle of witness. And Aarons sonnes shall sprinkle his blood rounde about vpon the aultare/and so offre of the thankoffering vnto the Lord: namely/ the fat of it/ all ʒ rompe with the backe/and the fatte that couereth the bowels/ with all the fat that is within / a the two kidneys with the fat / that is thereon vpon the loynes/ and the nete on the leuer vpon the kidneys also. And the priest shall burne it vpon the aultare/ for the meat of ʒ offering vnto the Lord.

E But if his offering be a goate/and bringeth it before the Lord/ he shall lay his hande vpon the heade of it / and fill it before the Tabernacle of witness. And Aarons sonnes shall sprinkle the bloude rounde about vpon the aultare/ a shall offre therof a sacrifice vnto the Lord: namely/ the fat that couereth the bowels/ and all the fat that is within the two kidneys / with the fat that is thereon vpon the loynes / and the nete on the leuer vpon the kidneys. And the priest shall burne it vpon the aultare / for the meat of the sacrifice to aswete saour.

The. III. Chapter.

A And the Lord spake vnto Moses/ and sayd: Speake vnto the child: en of Israel/ and saye: When a soule sinneth thowre ignorance/ in any commaundment of the Lord/ which he ought not to do: As namely/ if a priest/ which is anointed sinne / that he make the people do amisse/ he shall bringe so: ʒ sinne that he hath done/ a yonge bullocke / without blemishe vnto the Lord/ for a sinoffering.

Leuit. ix. b

Leuit. xij. c

And the bullocke shall be bunge to the Doore of the Tabernacle of witness/ before the Lord / and laye his hande vpon his head / and fill him before the Lord. And the priest/ that is anointed / shall take of his blood / and bring it vnto the Tabernacle of witness. And he shall dippe his finger into the bloude / and sprinkle therwith seuen times before the Lord/ towarde the rayle of the holy. And he shall pur of the same bloude vpon the hoines of the aultare of witness / that standeth before the Lord/ in the Tabernacle of witness: and all the bloude of the bullocke shall be poure vpon the bottome of ʒ aultare of burnt offerings/ that standeth at the entring in of the Tabernacle of witness. And all ʒ fat of sinoffering shall be heau vpon: namely the fatte that couereth the bowels/ and all the fat that is within the two kidneys / with the fat that is thereon vpon the loynes/ and the nete on the leuer vpon the kidneys also. Clike as be brancht it fro the ore in ʒ thankoffering. A shall burne it vpon ʒ aultare of burnt offerings. But the Cflinne of ʒ bullocke / a al ʒ flesh / to the heade / ʒ ʒ legges/ and the bowels/ and the Donge/ shall be carie altogether out of ʒ doore/ into a cleene place/ where the asbro are poured out/ a shall burne it vpon the wood with fyre.

When the whole congregation of Israel sinned thowre ignorance / and the vnde be hidde from their eyes / so that they do ought agaynst any of the commaundments of the Lord/ which they shoulde not do/ and come afterward to the knowlege of the sinne ʒ they haue done/ they shall bringe a yonge bullocke for a sinoffering/ a set him before the Doore of the Tabernacle of witness. And the Elders of the congregation shall laye theyr handes vpon his heade before the Lord/ and fill the bullocke before the Lord. And the priest that is anointed/ shall bring of the bullockes blood into ʒ Tabernacle of witness/ and dippe there in with his finger/ and sprinkle therwith seuen times before the Lord/ cuen before the rayle of the holy. And shall pur of the bloude vpon the hoines of the aultare/ that standeth before the Lord/ in the Tabernacle of witness/ and all the other blood shall be poure vpon the bottome of the aultare of burnt offerings/ that standeth before the Doore of the Tabernacle of witness. But all his fat shall be heau vpon/ and burne it vpon the aultare/ and that is to saye/ this bullocke/ as he did with the bullocke of the sinoffering: Thus ʒ priest shall make an eronement for them / and it shall be forgotten the. And that bullocke that he bunge without the doore/ a shall burne him/ as he burnt the first bullocke. This shall be the sinoffering of the congregation.

When a prince sinneth/ a Forth agaynst ʒ commaundment of the Lord his God/ that he ought not to do/ and offendeth ignorantly / and and cometh to the knowledge of his synne / he hath done / he shal bringe for his offering / an hegoate / without blemish / a laye his hande vpon the goate head / and slaye him in the place where the burntofferings are slayne before the Lord. Let his blood be his sin offering. Then shal the priest take of the bloude of the sin offeringe with his finger / a put it vpon the hoines of the altare of burntofferings / a poure the other bloude vpon the botome of the altare of burntofferings. But all the fatte of it shall be burne vpon the altare / lyke as the fatte of the thank offeringe. And so the priest shall make an atonement for his synne / and it shalbe forgiven hym.

¶ When a soule of the comune people synneth ignorantly / doinge any thyng against the commaundement of the Lord / that he ought not to do / and so offendeth / a cometh to the knowledge of the synne / he hath done / he shal bringe for his offeringe a hegoate / without blemish / for the synne that he hath done / and shal laye his hande vpon the heade of the burnt offeringe / a slewe it in the place of the burnt offeringe. And the prieste shal take of the bloude with his finger / and put it vpon the hoines of the altare of burntofferings / a poure al the blood vpon the botome of the altare. But all the fat of it shal be take awaye / lyke as be take awaye / a fat of the thank offeringe / a hal burne it vpon the altare / for a sweete sauour vnto the Lord. And so shal the priest make an atonement for him / a it shalbe forgiven hym.

¶ But if he bringe a lambe for a syn offeringe / the let him bringe a female without blemish / and laye his hande vpon the heade of the sin offeringe / a slay it for a sin offeringe in the place where the burnt offerings are slayne. And the prieste shal take of the bloude with his finger / and put it vpon the hoines of the altare / of burnt offerings / a poure all the bloude vpon the botome of the altare. But all the fatte thereof shal be take from it / lyke as be the fat of the lambe of the thank offeringe / and shal burne it vpon the altare for the Lord's sweete savour. And so the priest shal make an atonement for the synne that he hath done / and it shalbe forgiven hym.

¶ When a soule synneth / he heare a curse / a sing / and is witness therof / or hath sene Leu. xxiii. c. it / or knowen it / and telleth it not / he is guilty of a trespass. ¶ What a soule toucheth any vncleane thinge / whether it be carion / of an vncleane beast / or carnel / or womes / a was not aware of it / he is vncleane / and hath offended. ¶ What he toucheth an vncleane man / what vncleane thinge / a man is defyled with / a was not aware of it / a afterwards cometh to the knowledge thereof / he shall be cleane / he shall be washed with water. ¶ What a soule sweareth / so that he pronounce with his mouth / to doe euill / good / what sweareth it be that a man pronounced by an oath / a was not aware of it / afterwards cometh to the knowledge thereof / he hath offended in one of these.

¶ Now when it is so / that he hath offended / one of these / a is informed therof / what he hath sinned / he shal bringe vnto the Lord for his trespass / of this his synne that he hath done / a female from the flocke / or an ewe / or a hegoate / for a syn offeringe / so shall the prieste make an atonement for him / a determine his synne. ¶ But if he be not able to bringe a shepe / then let him bringe vnto the Lord for his offeringe / he hath done / two turtel veuces / or two yonge pigeons / one for a syn offeringe / the other for a burnt offeringe / a bringe them to the prieste. Which shal make the first a sin offeringe / a first bring the necke of it / so that he plucke it not cleane of / and synneth with the bloude vpon the sides of the altare / and let the residue of the bloude blide out vpon the botome of the altare: This is the sin offeringe. ¶ So for the other / he shal make it a burnt offeringe / after the maner thereof. And thus shall the prieste make an atonement for him / concerning the synne that he hath done / and it shalbe forgiven hym. But if he be not able to bringe two turtel veuces / or two yonge pigeons / then let him bringe for his offeringe / for his synne / a tenth deal of an Ephah of fine flour / for a syn offeringe. But he shall put no oyle thereon / ne lay frankincense vpon it / so it is a sin offeringe. And he shall bringe it vnto the priest / and the priest shal take his handfull of it / for a remembrance / a burne it vpon the altare for an offeringe vnto the Lord. This is a syn offeringe. And so shal

the priest make an attonement for him/ & cōsecrating his synne that he hath done/ & it shalbe for geue hym. And the remnant shalbe & purged aske a meate offeringe.

And the Lo:de spake vnto Moſes/ and said: If a soule trespass/ so that choose ignorance/ be offender in any thinge that is halowed vnto & Lo:de/ he shal bringe his trespass offeringe vnto the Lo:de/ as a ramme from the flocke/ without blemish/ worth two shekels of silver / & after the feate of the Sanctuary/ for a trespass offeringe/ and loke what he hath offered in the halowed thyng/ he shal make restitution/ and geue the fifth parte more thereto. And he shal deliuer it vnto the priest/ which shal make an attonement for him/ with the ramme of the trespass offeringe/ as it shalbe for geuen hym.

When a soule synneth/ and hath soughte against any commaundement of the Lo:de/ that he shoulde not do/ & is informed therof / & he hath trespassed/ & is guilty of synne. And he shal bringe from the flocke a ramme/ without blemish/ that is worth a trespass offeringe. And the priest/ which shall make an attonement for hym/ concerning his ignorance/ which he & he/ was not aware/ and it shalbe for geue hym. This is the trespass offeringe/ because he trespassed against the Lo:de.

And the Lo:de talked with Moſes/ & said: What a soule synneth/ and trespasseth against the Lo:de/ so that he veneth vnto his neighbour/ & he gaue hym to kepe / or & was put vnder his hand/ so that he hath violently taken away/ or gotten vngyftuously/ or founde that was lost/ and veneth it with a false oath / whatsoeuer it be / wherein a man sinneth against his neyghbour. Now what cometh he to passe/ that he synneth after this maner/ and trespasseth/ he shal restore agayne that he toke violently awaye / or gat vngyftously/ or that was geue hym to kepe / or that he hath founde/ or whatsoeuer it be / & aboute / which he hath sworne falsely / he shal restore it agayne whole altogether / & geue the fifth parte more thereto / euen to hym / & it shalbe longed vnto his same day that he geueth his trespass offeringe. But for his trespass: he shal bringe for the Lo:de. euen vnto the priest / a ramme from the flocke / without blemish/that is worth a trespass offeringe. Then shal the priest make an attonement for him/ before the Lo:de/ all that he hath synned in / & shalbe for geuen hym.

The VI. Chapter.

And the Lo:de spake vnto Moſes/ and said: Communicate Aaron and his sonnys/ and say: This is the lawe of the burnt offeringe. The burnt offeringe shall burne vpon the altare all night/ vntill the morninge. But the fyre of the altare / only shall burne thereon. And the priest shal put on his line / & a his line / & he shal take vp the asbes that the fyre of the burnt offeringe vpon the altare hath made / and shal poure them beside the altare. Then shall he put of his rayment / and put on other rayment / and carry out the asbes without the hoole / into a cleane place.

The fyre vpon the altare shal burne / and neuer go out. The priest shall kindle woode thereon eueny morninge / and dreſſe the burnt offeringe vpon it / and burne the fat of the thank offeringe / thereon. The fyre shal euen burne vpon the altare / and neuer go out.

And this is the lawe of the meate offeringe / which Aaron sonnes shall offer before the Lo:de vpon the altare. One of them shall keepe his hande full of fine flour / of the meate offeringe / and of the oyle / and all the frankincense that is vpon the meate offeringe / and shal burne it vpon the altare for a sweete sounoure / & remembrance vnto the Lo:de. As for the remnant / Aaron and his sonnys shal eate it / and it shal be eaten in the holy place / namely in the courte of the Tabernacle of witness. With leuen shall they not eate: theyr portion / which I haue geuen the of my offeringes / it shalbe vnto them most holy / as the syn offeringe / and trespass offeringe. All the males amonge the children of Aaron shall eate of it. Let this be a perpetual lawe for your possession / in the sacrificy of the Lo:de. No man shall touch it / excepte he be consecrated.

And the Lo:de spake vnto Moſes / and said: This shalbe the offeringe of Aaron and of his sonnys / which they shal offer vnto the Lo:de / in the day of theyr anointyng. The tenth parte of an Ephah of fine flour / for a meat offering. Day / the one halfe parte in the morning / the other halfe parte at euen. In the pance with oyle shalt thou meate it. And bynge it fried / and in pecco shalt thou offer it for the sweete sauoure of the Lo:De. And the puell / which amonge his sonnes shalbe eneynt in his blode / shall do this. This is a perpetuall beuery vnto the Lo:De. It shalbe burnt al together: for all the meat offerings of the puell / shalbe consumed with the sycra nor be eaten.

D And the Lo:De talked with Moses / and sayd: Speake vnto Aaron and his sonnes / a say: This is the lawe of the sin offering: In the place where thou layest the burnt offering / shalt thou laie the sin offering also before the Lo:De.

¶ This is moost holy. The puell that offereth the sin offering / shal eat it in the holy place / in the court of the Tabernacle of witness. Nonon shall touch the flesh thereof: except he be ha oved. And if any garment be sprinkled with the bloude of it / it shalbe washed in the holy place. And the earthen pott that it is soden in / shalbe broken. But if it be a brazen pott / it shalbe scoured / and rinsed with water.

All the males amonge the priestes shall eat thereof: for it is moost holy. Nonon shall eate of all the sin offering / whose bloude is brought into the Tabernacle of witness / to make an atonement / shall not be eaten / but burnt with fyre.

The VII. Chapter.

D And this is the lawe of the trespass offering: and it shalbe moost holy. In the place where the burnt offering is slayne / shall the trespass offering be slayne also / and there shall of his bloude be sprinkled rounde aboute vpon the altare. And all his same shalbe offered: the rumpe and the fat that covereth the bowels / the ree kydneyes with the fat / that is therein vpon the loynes / and the net on the liver vpon the kidneys also. And the puell shal burne it vpon the altare for an offering vnto the Lo:De. This is a trespass offering.

All the males amonge the priestes shall eat it in the holy place / for it is moost holy: as is the sin offering / so shall the trespass offering be also: they shall both haue one lawe / and it shalbe the puell / that receyvethe there.

with. Lokewhich pieste offereth any mans burnt offering / that he hath offered / shalbe his. And cury meat offering that is bafe in the out / trosted vpon the gredder / or fryed in the pance / shalbe the pieste thereof: stretch it. And cury meat offering that is mingled with oyle / or bafe / shalbe laige vnto Aaron and his sonnes / vnto one as well as vnto another.

And this is the lawe of the thank offering / that is offered vnto the Lo:De. If they wyl offer a sacrifice of thank offering / then shall they offer vnto the Lo:De / mingled with oyle / a sweete measure / stried ouer with oyle / a freid cake of fyne flour / mingled with oyle. This offering also shall they bynge vpon a cake of leued bread / to the thank offering of the health offering: and of them all he shall offer one for an heaucoffering vnto the Lo:De. And it shalbe the pieste / that sprinketh the bloude of the health offering. And the flesh of the thank offering / in his health offering / shalbe eaten besyme the altar: it is offered / a there shall nothing be lefte ouer / vnto the morning.

And whether it be a veere / or a fre will offering / it shalbe eaten the same daye that it is offered: if ought be lefte ouer / vnto the morning / yet may it be eaten. But loke what remaineth vnto the thirde day / of the flesh that is offered / it shalbe burnt with fyre. And if any man vpon the thirde daye eat of the seked flesh / of his thank offering / he shall not be accepted that offered it. Neither shall he be taken vnto hym / but it shalbe recked. And loke which soule eateth thereof / the same is guilty of a misdoe.

And the flesh that toucheth any vnclene thing / shal not be eaten / but burnt with fyre. But whosoever is cleane of body / shal eat of the flesh: that is the soule that eateth of the flesh of the thank offering / which shall be eaten vnto the Lo:De / he vnclene be vpon him / he shalbe reid out from amonge the people.

And wha a soule toucheth any vnclene thing / whether it be an vnclene man / or any other vnclonne / that is a cleane of the flesh / he shall be reid out from amonge the Lo:De / if he same shalbe reid out from amonge the people.

And set the myster vpon his heade. And vpon the myster / curre about his foreheade / pur he a plate of golde on the holy crowne / as the Lorde commaunded Moses.

And Moses toke the  $\frac{1}{2}$  anoyntinge oyle / and anoynted the habitacle / and all that was therein / and consecrated it / and spficed there with scuen tymes vpon the aultare / a anoynted the culture with all his vessels / the later with his soe / that it might be consecrated: And poured the anoyntinge oyle vpon Aarons heade / a anoynted hym / that he might be consecrated.

And he brought Aarons sonnes / and pur the albe vpon them / and gyde them with the gyrdle / and put bannets vpon theyr heades / as the Lorde commaunded hym.

And he caused to bring a bullocke for a synofferinge: And Aaron with his sonnes layd theyr handes vpon his heade / and then was he slaine. And Moses toke of the blood / and pure it vpon the hoines of the culture: roide adoure with his finger / and purifed the culture: and poured the bloude vpon the hoine of the aultare / a consecrated it: that he might receiuee life. And toke all the fat vpon the bowels / the nete vpon the lauer / and the reuaditricis with the fat theron / a burned it vpon the Lord commanded him.

He thought also the other ramme of the offering of the consecration. And Aaron with his sonnes layed theyr handes vpon his head: a then was he slayne. And Moses toke of his bloude / a pitt vpon a tresppe of Aarons right care: and vpon the thombe of his right hande: / a vpon the great toec of his right fore.

And he thought Aarons sonnes / and put of the bloude vpon the toppe of the right care of them: and vpon the thobes of theyr right handes: and vpon the greates toeces of theyr vpon the culture rounde aboute. And he toke the fat and the rumpe: and al the fat vpon the bowels: and the net vpon the leuer: / the two kidneys with the fat thereon / and the ryght shoulder. And out of the maunde of vntoued blood before the Lord: he toke an vntoued care: and a care of oyled brade: and a wafer: / layed them vpon the fat: and vpon the right shoulder: and put altogether vpon the handes of Aaron / and of his sonnes: and wauid it for a Waue offeringe before the Lord.

And afterwards toke he al aggyne from theyr handes: and burned the on the culture: cuen vpon the burnt offeringe: for it is an offeringe of consecration: for a freete sauioure.
 Cuen a sacrifice vnto the Lord. And Moinge before the Lord: / of the ramme / of the offeringe of consecration: the same was Moses partee: the Lord commanded Moses.

 And Moses toke of the anoynting oyle: and of the bloude vpon the culture: and sprinkled it vpon Aaron: and his vestimentes: vpon his sonnes: / a vpon their vestimentes: / so consecrated Aaron and his vestimentes: his sonnes: / a theyr vestimentes with hym.

And he said vnto Aaron and his sonnes: G Eate the flesh before: the deere of the Tabernacle of witness: and there eate it: / and the skide in the maunde of the consecration offeringe:
 as it is commanded me: and sayde: Aaron a his sonnes shall eate it. So for that which comyneth of the skide and brade: / shall burne it with syre. And in seuen dayes shall ye not departe fro the doore of the tabernacle of witness: on the 8 day that 7 dayes of your consecration offeringe be at ende: for seuen dayes must youre handes be consecrated: / as it is come to passe: this daye: The Lord hath commanded to do it: that ye myghte be reconciled. And ye shall tarie before the Tabernacle of witness: day and nyght: seuen dayes longe:
 a shall kepe the ward of the Lord: that ye dre-not: for thus am I commanded. And Aaron with his sonnes did al that the Lord commanded by Moses.

The IX Chapter.

And vpon the eighth daye / Moses called Aaron and his sonnes: al the elders in Israel: and sayde vnto Aaron: Take vnto the a yonge calfe for a sinne offeringe: and a ramme for a burnt offeringe: both without blemish / a bring them before the Lord: and speake vnto the chylde of Israel: and saye: Thus am I begoate for a sinne offeringe / and a calfe: and a shepe: both of a yere old: and without blemish for a burnt offeringe: and an ewe: and a ramme for a thank offeringe: that we maye offer before the Lord: / and mine offeringe mingled with oyle: for so saye shall the Lord appeare vnto you.

And they toke what Moses commanded / before the doore of the Tabernacle of witness: and the whole congregacion came nye: and stode before the Lord. Then sayde Moses This is it which the Lord commanded / ye shoulde do: and then shall the glory of the Lord appeare vnto you. And Moses / a vnto Aaron: Go vnto the culture: and offer the sinne offeringe: and by burnt offeringe: / a make an anoyntment for the: and for the people.
 Then offer the peoples offeringe: / as I haue also: as the Lord hath commanded.

Leuit. iij. a † Aaron wente vnto the altar/ and slew: a calf for his synoffering / and his sonnes brought the bloude vnto hym. And he vnto his finger in the bloude/ and put it vpon the hornes of the aultare/ and poured the bloude vnto the bosome of the aultare. So for the fat/ and the kidneys/ and the liver/ vpon the leuer of the synoffering/ he burnt them vpon the aultare/ as the Lord commaunded Moyses. The lye also/ and the hyde burnt he with fyre/ without the doore.

C Afterward he slew the burnt offering. And Aaron sonnes brought the bloud vnto hym/ and he sprinkled it rounde aboute vpon the aultare. And they brought him a burnt offering in peeces/ and the head/ and he burnt it vpon the aultare. And he was shed the bosome and the legges/ and burnt them aboue vpon the burnt offering on the aultare.

Leuit. iij. c † Then brought he the offering of a people/ a toke the greare/ that synofferinge of the people/ and slew it/ and made a synofferinge thereof/ as of the first. And brought the burnt offering/ and was as the law is: and brought the meate offeringe/ and toke his headfull/ and burnt it vnto the aultare/ beside the burnt offeringe of the morninge.

Leuit. ij. a † Afterward he slew the one of the ramme/ for the burnt offeringe of the people. And his sonnes brought him the bloude/ which he sprinkled vpon the aultare rounde aboute. But the fat of the one of the ramme/ the rumpe/ the fat that couereth the bowels/ and the kidneys/ and the liver/ vpon the leuer/ all such fat layd they vpon the disse/ and burnt the fat vnto the aultare. † But the best/ and the righte shoulder/ woued Aaron for a waue offeringe before the Lord/ as the Lord commaunded Moyses.

Leuit. iij. b † And Aaron layd vpon his hande over the people/ and blessed them/ and came vnto the wofe of the synofferinge/ burnt offeringe/ and thank offeringe. And Moyses and Aaron wente into the Tabernacle of witnesse. And when they came out againe/ they blessed the people. Then appeared the glory of the Lord vnto all the people. For there came a fyre from the Lord/ and it consumed the burnt offeringe and the fat vpon the aultare. When all the people sawe that/ they reioysed/

The sayde Moyses vnto Aaron: This is it that the Lord sayde: I will be sanctified vpon them/ that come nye me/ before all the people: I be glorified. And Aaron hadde his peace.

Moyses called Misael and Elzaphan sonnes of Uziel/ Aarons vncle/ a fyre vnto the: Go to carry your shete out of the Tabernacle/ without the doore. And they wente/ and carryed them forth in theyr abes/ without the doore/ as Moyses sayde.

For the Heaue / shoulder / and the Wauchest / to the offeringes of the fat / walbe thou giue in: that they may be waied for a Waue offeringe before the Lord. Therefore is it thine a thy chyldre / for a perpetual beuetye / as the Lord commanded.

¶ And Moses sought for the goats of synnes offeringe: / and founde it burnt. And he was angry at Eleazar a Thamar / the sonnes of Aaron / which were left alyue / and said: Wherfore haue ye not eaten the synnes offeringe in the holy place? for it is mooste holy / a the hath giuen it you / that ye might beare the synne of the congregation / to make agrement for them before the Lord. Beholde / shoulde it came no more into the Sanctuary. Ye should haue eaten it in the Sanctuary / as I was commanded.

Aaron sayde vnto Moses: Beholde / this daye haue they offered theyr synnes offeringe / as theye shuld offeringe / before the Lord. And it is shewed me after this maner / as shoulde I see of the synnes offeringe to daye / as be mercy before the Lord: Whā Moses herde that / he was content.

The XL Chapter.

¶ The Lord talked with Moses and with Aaron / as theye spoke vnto the chyldren of Israel / as theye sayde: These are the beastes / which ye shall eate amonge all the beestes / wherof carth: Wherof carth hath hoofs / and deuideth it into two clauers / and cherech cub amonge the beestes / that shall ye eate. But ife what cherech cub / a hath hoefe / a deuideth it not / as the Camel / because is vncleane vnto you / and ye shall not eate it. The coneye cherech the cub / but they deuide not the hoefe into two clauers / therefore they are vncleane vnto you. The heye / cherech cub also / but deuideth not the hoefe into two clauers / therefore he is vncleane vnto you. And the Swyne deuideth the hoefe into two clauers / but cherech not the cub / therefore is it vncleane vnto you. Of the rest of these shall ye not eate / no: touch theyr carcases / for they are vncleane vnto you.

These shall ye eate / of all that are in the waters: Wherof carth hath synnes a scales in the waters / sco / a ryuere / that shall ye eate. But wherof carth hath not synnes / and scales in the sea / a ryuere / amonge al that mouen in waters / of all that lyue in the waters / shall be an abhominacion vnto you / so that ye eate not of theyr fleshs / a ye abhorre theyr carcases. For all that haue not synnes a scales in the waters / shall ye abhorre.

¶ And these shall ye abhorre amonge the fowles / so that ye eate them not: The Eagle / the Goshawk / the Cormorant / the Vulture / the Hye / and all his kynde / a all Ravens with theyr kynde: the Estrich / the Nighthow / the Corone / the Sparrowhawk with his kynde / the litle Oule / the Stork / the great Oule / the Duck / the Pellicane / the Swaine / the Dyr / the Heron / the Jaye with his kynde / the Lapwing / a the Swallow. And wherof carth crept amonge the fowles / a goeth vpo foure feete: shall be an abhominacion vnto you. Yet these shall ye eate of the fowles that crepe / and go vpon foure feete: euen those that haue no fynes about vpon legges / to hoppe withall vpo carth. Of these maye ye eate / as there is the Arbe with his kynde / a the Scald with his kynde / a the Gargoll with his kynde / and the Sagab with his kynde. But wherof carth hath foure feete amonge the fowles / it shall be an abhominacion vnto you / and ye shall saie: for vncleane. Wherof carth toucheth the carse / Leuit. 11. case of such / shall be vncleane vntil the eue / and 12. wherof carth beareth the carcase of any of these / shall wash his clothes / and shall be vncleane vntil the euen.

Therefore eueny beast that hath an hoefe / a deuideth it not into two clauers / and cherech not cub / shall be vncleane vnto you. Wherof carth toucheth such / shall be vncleane vnto you. Wherof carth toucheth the carcase of them / shall be vncleane vntil the eue. And he that beareth theyr carcases / shall wash his clothes / a be vncleane vntil the eue / for such are vncleane vnto you.

These shall be vncleane vnto you also / amonge the beastes that crepe vpon carth: the Weasel / the Mouse / the Toad / eueny one with not to be eaten.

The. XII. Chapter.

¶ And the Lorde talked with Moyses / and vsayde: Speake vnto the chyldeyn of Israe el/and saye: When a woman hath conceiued/and beareth a man child: the shal be vncleane seven dayes/so longe as she suffereth her dis ease/ and in the eyght daye shal the flesch of his foef'ync be cut away. And she shal byde at home thet and thyrty dayes in the bloude of her puriffyng: the shal touch no holy thing/nor come in the Sanctuary / in the dayes of her puriffyng be out. But if she beare a maids chylde/then shal she be vncleane two wykes/so longe as she suffereth her dyscase / and sye and the scoe dayes shal she byde at home/ in the bloude of her puriffyng.

¶ And when the dayes of her puriffyng are out:/ot the sonne of the daughter / the shal bringe a lambe of one yere elde / ot a Tabernacle of witness / vnto the prest/whiche shal offer it before the Lorde/ a make an attonement for her/and so shal she be clea sed from her bloody yssue. This is the lawe fo her / whiche a man chylde/ot maye bechylde.

¶ But if she be not able to bring a sheper/ the let her take two turn doues/ot two yonge py geons/ the one fo a burnt offering/ the other fo a synneofferyng: then shal the prest make an attonement for her/ so that she shalbe cleane.

place then the other Synne of his fleche/ then is it surely a leproyse/therfor shall þe priest loke vpoð hym/a iudge hym vncleane.

But when there is any white plette in the Synne of his fleche/a yet sente no Deper then þe other Synne of the fleche /and the beeres be not turned to whyte/ the the prieste shall shut hym vp seuen dayes/and on the seuenth daye/ loke vpon him/ the plague seme vnto hym as aforesaid hath seer no Deper in the Synne/ then that the prieste shall shute hym vp seuen dayes moe. And when he lokeh on hym as gayne/ vpoð the seuenth daye/a syndeh that the plague be darkish/and hath freer no Deper in the Synne/ the shal he iudge hym cleane/ for it is but a styffe/a he shal washe his clothes / a then is he cleane.

B But when the scabbe freteth farther in þe Synne/ after that he is seene of the prieste/a iudge cleane. a he be now seene of þe prieste againe whā the prieste seyh the it hat þe scabbe hath fret farther in the Synne/ the shal iudge hym vncleane/ for it is surely a leproyse.

When a plague of leproyse is vpoð a mā/ he shal be brought vnto the prieste. Whā he seyh a syndeh/ that there is whyte risen vp in the Synne/ a the beere turned vnto whyte/ and there be raw flech in the soe/ the is it surely an olde leproys in the Synne of his fleche/ therfore shal the prieste iudge him vncleane/ a not shut him vp/ for he is vncleane already.

But whā the leproyse dealeth out in the Synne/ a couereth the whole Synne/ from the heade vnto the soe/ al that the prieste seeth. So when the prieste lokeh vpon it/ a syndeh that the leproys hath couered all the fleche/ he shall iudge hym cleane/ for so much as it is turned al into whyte vpon hym/ for he is cleane.

E Moreover/ and iudge/ if there be raw flech on hym/ in the Daye whā he is lofed vpon/ the is he vncleane. And whā the prieste seyh þe name fleche/ he shal iudge hym vncleane/ for he is vncleane/ a it is surely a leproyse. But if the name fleche deaie againe/ a be turned into whyte/ then shal he come vnto the prieste. And when the prieste lokeh vpon hym/ a syndeh that the plague is returned to whyte/ he shal iudge him cleane/ for he is cleane.

When there is a Boile in the Synne of any mans fleche/ and healeth agayne/ and after ward in same place there arise vp any white thyng/ or a glistering vnto/ some what reedeth he shal be seene of þe prieste. So whā the priest seyh þe it appereth to be lower the the other Synne/ and the beere turned to whyte/ then that he iudge him vncleane/ for it is surely a plague of leproyse/ broken out of the boyle. But if the prieste seeth a synde that the beere are not whyte/ a that it is no lower the the other Synne/ a it is darkish/ he shall shut him vp seuen dayes. If it hath fretted farther in the Synne/ the shal he iudge him vncleane/ for it is surely a plague of leproyse. But if the glistering whyte abyde styll/ and fret no farther/ then is it but a pynte of þe boyle/ a the prieste shal iudge hym cleane.

Whā the Synne of any māns flech is hurte with freer/ and the pynte of the burnyng is reedeth or whyte/ and the prieste lokeh vpon hym/ and syndeh the beere turned to whyte/ vpoð the marke of the burnyng/ and it appereth Deper the the other Synne/ then is there surely a leproyse brok out of the pynte of the burnyng/ therfore shal the prieste iudge hym vncleane/ for it is a plague of leproyse. But if the prieste seeth a synde/ that the beere vpon the pynte of the burnyng/ is not turned into whyte/ and is no lower the the other Synne/ and is darkish also/ he shall shute hym vp seuen dayes.

And vpoð the seuenth daye he shal loke vpoð him/ if he hath fret farther in the Synne/ then shal he iudge him vncleane/ for it is a leproyse. But if it stande styll vpon the marke of the burnyng/ and fret no farther in the Synne/ and is darkish/ then is it a soe in the marke of the burnyng/ and the prieste shall iudge hym cleane/ for it is but the punt of the burnyng.

When a man or woman is styffe vpon the heade/ or beere/ a the prieste seyh þe marke/ and syndeh that it appereth Deper. then the other Synne/ and the heere be there golden and chayne/ the shal he iudge hym vncleane/ for it is a styffe of leproyse of the heade/ or of the beere. But if the prieste seeth that the styffe appereth no Deper the the Synne/ and that the beere is not of a pale colour/ he shall shut him vp seuen dayes. And vpon the seuenth daye/ when he lokeh a syndeh/ þe styffe hath frette no farther/and there be no golden beere there/and that the frysse appeare no deeper then C: orber frysse/then let him be shauen: But so that he shawe not of the scabbe/ a the puell shal shur him wth set seven dayes mo. And vpon the seventh daye wth he looke th<sup>er</sup>/and syncheth that the frysse hath frette no farther in the frysse/and that it appeareth no deeper then the other frysse/the shall the puell iudge him cleane. And he shal wash his clothes/so he is cleane. But if f<sup>r</sup> scabbe frette farther in the frysse/ after that he is washed cleane/ a the puell loferth/ a fyndeth/ that the scabbe hath frette farther in the frysse/ the shall he sife nomore for golden beere. f For he is vncleane. Neuertheless/ if he se that f<sup>r</sup> scabbe handeth still/and that pale beere are there ryfen wth/then is the scabbe whole/ a he is cleane/ therefore shall the puell iudge him to be cleane.

When there is any glisterynge/ whye vpon the frysse of the flesh of a man or woman/ and the puell seyth there/ that the glisterynge whyte vanyeth: then is it but a whyte scabbe/ yfen vp in the frysse/ and he is cleane.

When the heere fall out of the heade of a man or woman/ so that he is baulde/ this is cleane. If they fall out of his foreheade/ the is to be shoued bauld and cleane. But if there be a white redde/ fore in f<sup>r</sup> baulde heade/ or baulde foreheade/ then is there a lep: he ryfen vp in the baulde heade/ or baulde foreheade: therefore shall the puell lofe vpon him. And when he fyndeth the whyte redde/ fore ryfen vpon his baulde heade/ or baulde foreheade/ then shall the frysse of the flethe be so leperous/ therefore to be leperous man/ and vncleane/ because of it esme fore vpon his heade.

G When so nomore leperous/ his clothes shall be rent/ a the heade bare/ a the hyppes muffled/ a shall in any wyse be called vncleane. And as long as the se is vpon him/ he shall be vncleane/ a vncleane/ and haue his dwelling withoute the host.

When the plague of leprosy is in a cloth: whether it be wolle or linnen/ in f<sup>r</sup> warpe or west/ whether it be linnen or wolle/ or in a frysse/ or in any maner thynge that is made of frysse. And when the plague is pale or redde/ dybe in the cloth/ or frysse/ whether in f<sup>r</sup> warpe or west/ or in any maner thynge/ it is made of frysse/ because it is surely f<sup>r</sup> plague of leprosy/ therefore shall the puell lofe vpon it. And when he seyth the plague/ he shal shur it wth set seven dayes. And vpon the seventh daye/ when he seyth that he plague/ hath frett farther in f<sup>r</sup> cloth/ in the warpe or west/ in a frysse/ or in any maner thynge/ that is made of frysse/ then is it a frettinge plague of leprosy/ and is vncleane. And the cloth shall be burnt/ either warpe or west/ whether it be wolle or linnen/ or any thynge made of frysse/ whether in any such plague. So: it is a plague of leprosy/ it shal be burnt wth fyre.

But if the puell se that f<sup>r</sup> plague hath frett no farther in the cloth/ either in the warpe or west/ or any thynge made of frysse/ the shall be commaunde to walke the thynge/ there f<sup>r</sup> plagues in/ a shal shur wth other set dayes. And when the puell seyth/ after f<sup>r</sup> the plague is washed/ that the plague is not chaunged before his eyes/ and hath frett no farther also/ yet is it vncleane/ and shal be burnt wth fyre: for it is depe fretten in wth/ and hath made frysse. Neuertheless/ when the puell seyth/ that the pyn is vanyed/ after the washing of it/ then shal he rent it out of the cloth/ and of the frysse/ out of the warpe/ or west. But if it appeare any more in the cloth/ either in f<sup>r</sup> warpe/ or in the west/ or in any maner thynge made of frysse/ then is it a frettinge plague/ a wth it shall be burnt/ there as any such plague is in. So for the cloth/ either warpe or west/ or any maner thynge made of frysse/ that is washed/ and f<sup>r</sup> plague be departed fro it/ it shal be washed once agayne/ and then is it cleane.

This is the law ouer the plague of leprosy in clothes/ whether they be wolle or linnen/ either in the warpe or in the west/ and in any maner of thynge/ made of frysse/ to iudge them cleane or vncleane.

The XIII. Chapter.

¶ And the Lord spake vnto Moses/ and I sayde/ This is the law ouer the leper/ whether he shall be cleane. The shall come vnto the Master puell/ and the puell shal goe out of the host/ Master lofe howe the plague of leprosy is healed. ¶ And upon the loper. And he shal commaunde him that is to be censed to take two luyngte byrdes/whiche are cleane/and Cedar woodde/and purple wolle/and sponne/and shal commaunde þe one byrd to be fylled in an earthen vessell/ouer spynnyng water. And he shal take the luyngte byrde with þe cedar wood/the purple wolle and sponne/and dyppe them in the bloude of þis slayne byrde/ upon þe spynnyng water/ and spenneleat seven tymes upon hym/ þe must be censed from þe epesche. And so cense hym/and let the spynnyng byrd flye at libertye into the felde.

B But he that is censed/shal wash his clothes/and þe ure of all his heere/and barþ hym selfe with water/so he be cleane. Afterward/let hym go into the hostyete that be carye with your host ten seven daies. And upon þe seventh daie shal he shewe of all the heere upon his head/upon his eardes/upon his bowtes/so that all þe heere be shewe of/and he shal wash his clothes/and barþ his feet in water/then so be cleane.

And upon the eyght daie/shall he take two lambs/without blemyshe/ and a shepe of a yere old/þout blemyshe/ and thre tenth Deales of fyne flour/for meate offeringe/ myngled with oyle/and a logge of oyle. The þe shall the priest present hym that is censed/ and these thynges before the Lozde/ before þe doore of þe Tabernacle of witness/and shal take the one lambe/and offre it for a trespass offeringe/ with a logge of oyle/and shal waue them before the Lozde/ afterwarde slaye þe lambe/where the sponnyng and burntofferinge are slayne/ in ane place. For so the sponnyng/ for is the trespass offeringe the priestes also/ for it is mooll holy.

C And the priest shall take of the bloude of þe trespass offeringe/and put it upon the tipp of the ryght eare of hym/that is censed/ and upon þe thombe of his right hand/ and upon the great toe of his ryght foote. Afterward shall he take of the oyle/out of the logge/ and poure it into his owne lefte hande/and dyppe his right finger in the oyle/that is in his lefte hande/and spenneleat the oyle with his finger seven tymes before the Lozde. As for the remaier of the oyle in his hande/ he shal put it upon the tipp of the ryght eare/ of hym þe is censed/and upon the thombe of his right hande/and upon the great toe of þe ryght foote/and upon the great toe of þe trespass offeringe. But the remaier of þe oyle in his hande/ shall be poure upon the heade of hym þe is censed/and make an attonement for him before the Lozde. And he shall make the sponnyng offeringe/and receayle hym that is censed/ because of his vndernesse. And afterwarde shall he slaye the burntofferinge/ and shall offre it upon the altare with the meate offeringe/ and make an attonement for him/and then so be cleane.

D But if þe peopple getteth not so much to his hande/that he hym take one lambe for a trespass offeringe to waue it/ to make an attonement for hym/ a tenth deale of fyne flour myngled with oyle for a meate offeringe/ and a logge of oyle/ and two tenth bouces/ or two yonges pyngones/ whiche he is able to gette by his hande/ let he offer a fift offeringe/ the other a burntofferinge/ and let hym bynyng them upon the eyght daie of his cleansing/ unto the priest before the doore of the Tabernacle of witness/ before the Lozde.

Then shall the priest take the lambe for þe sponnyng offeringe/ and the logge of oyle/ a shal waue them all before the Lozde/ and slaye þe lambe of the trespass offeringe/ and take of þe bloude of the same trespass offeringe/ and put it upon the tipp of the ryght eare/ of hym that is censed/ and upon the thombe of his right hande/ and upon the great toe of his ryght foote/ and poure of þe oyle into his owne lefte hande/ and with his right finger spenneleat þe oyle/ that is in his lefte hande/ seven tymes before the Lozde.

As for the remaier of the oyle in his hande/ he shall put it vpo the tipp of þe right eare/ of hym that is censed/ and upon the thombe of his right hande/ and upon the great toe of his ryght foote/ seven aboute upon the bloude of þe trespass offeringe. The other oyle in his hande shal be poure upon the heade of hym that is censed/ to make an attonement for hym before the Lozde. And afterwarde of the one of the turrel bouces/ or yonges pyngones/ receaue yngte so his hande are able to gette. He shall make a sponnyng/ of the other a burntofferinge/ with þe meate offeringe/ and so shall the priest make an atonement for him & to cleanse before the Lord.

Leuitie 16 the lawe for the leper / which is not able with his hande to get that / that belongeth vnto his cleansing.

Now when he loketh / and syndereth / that there be holow strokes / yalowe or red / sh in the walles of the house / and they seme to be lower then the walles beyde / then shall he go out at the doore of the house / and shute up the house for seven dayes. And vpon the seventh daye when he cometh / and seeth that the plague hath fretted farther in the walles of the house / then shall he commaunde to be take out the stones wherin the plague is / and to cast them in a foule place / without the cytye / and the house to be scraped within rounde aboute / and the dust that is scraped of / to be poured without the cytye / in an vncleane place / and to take other stones / and put them in the place of the aker / and to take other playster / and playster the house.

¶ When the plague than cometh agayne / a beakerth forth in the house / after the stones are taken out / the playster scraped of / and the house playstred of the new / then shall the priest go in: and wha he seeth that the plague hath fretten farther in the house / then is there surely a frettinge leprosy in the house / and it is vncleane: therefore shall the house be broken downe / both the stones / and the timber / and all the dust of the house / shall be carryed out of the cytye / into an vncleane place. And who so goeth into the house / whyle it is shut up / is vncleane vntill the euen. And he that seeth them / or catcheth them / shall wash his clothes.

But if the priest se that he goeth in / that this plague hath fret no farther in the house / after that the house is new playstred / then shall he iudge it to be cleane / for the plague is healed. And to a synoffringe for the house / he shall take two byrdes / cedar wood / a purple wall / and yspice / and slaye the one byrde in an earthen vessel / vpon spynnyng water / and shall take the cedar wood / the purple wall / the yspice / and the lyuynge byrde / and dippe them in the bloude of the slayne byrde / vpon the spynnyng water / and spenke the house withal seven tymes: and so shall he purifie the house with the bloude of the byrde / with the spynnyng water / with the lyuynge byrde with the cedar woode / with the yspice / with the purple wolle. And the lyuynge byrde shall be let flye at liberty out of the tounce into the felde / and make an atonement for the house / and then is it cleane.

This is the lawe out of al maner plague of leprosy / and fflye / ouer the leprosy of clothes / or of houses / or of skynnes / or of a gylttinge wyte / that it maye be knowne / when any thyng is vncleane or cleane. This is the lawe of leprosy.

The XV. Chapter.

¶ And the Lord talked with Moses and Aaron / and sayde: Speake to the chyldren of Israel / and saye vnto them: When a man hath a runninge yssue / or a issue out of his flesh / the same is vncleane. But then is he not cleane / by the reason of this yssue / when his flesh is fretten of the issue / or woode. Every byrde / wher on he seeth / and whatsoeuer he setteth vpon / shall be vncleane.

And he that toucheth his bed / shall wash his clothes / and bath himself with water / and be vncleane vntill the euen.

And he that seeth where he sitteth / shall wash his clothes / and bath hym self with water / and be vncleane vntill the euen. Who so toucheth his flesh / shall wash his clothes / a bath himself with water / and be vncleane vntill the euen. When he seeth vpon hym that is cleane / or be same that wash his clothes / and bath hym self with water / a be vncleane vntill the euen.

And the saddell / and whatsoeuer he rydeth vpon / shall be vncleane. And whatsoeuer toucheth any thyng that hath ben vnder him / shall be shalbe vncleane vntill the euen. And who so beareth any such/shal waſhe his clothes/and bath hymſelfe with water/a ſe vncleane vntill the eue. And whom ſocuer he toucheth/a waſheth not his handes. firſt / theſame ſhall waſh his clothes/a bath himſelfe with water/and be vncleane vntill the euen. ¶ And he that toucheth an earthe veſſell/shal be ſo: But the euen veſſell ſhalbe raiſed with water. And who be is cleane of his yſſue/shal numbre ſeven dayes/after he be made cleane/a waſh his clothes/and bath him ſelfe with ſpringing water/then he be cleane. And upon the eyght daye ſhall he take two turtle doves/ or two yonge pigeons/a bringe them before the Lord/ before the doore of the Tabernacle of witneſſe/ and geue them vnto the prieſt. And the prieſt ſhall make of the one a ſin offeringe/of the other a burnt offeringe / and make an attonement for hym before the Lord/ as concernynge his yſſue.

¶ When a man ſced departedh from him in ſleep/ the ſame ſhall bathe all his fleſhe with water/ and be vncleane vntill the euen. And all clothe/ and euery thinge that is ſtayned w ſuche ſede/ ſhall be waſh with water / and be vncleane vntill the eue. ¶ A woman/ by whom ſuch one lyeth/ ſhal bath her ſelfe with water/and be vncleane vntill the euen.

¶ When a woman bath the bloody yſſue of her fleſh/ ſhe ſhal be put aparte. viij. dayes into ſundry place. Who ſocuer toucheth her/ ſhalbe vncleane vntill the euen. And al that the lyeth vpon/ as long as ſhe is put a parte / ſhalbe vncleane. And that ſhe lyeth vpon/ ſhalbe vncleane. And who ſocuer toucheth her bed/ſhall waſh his clothes / and bath hymſelfe with water/ and be vncleane vntill euen. And who ſocuer toucheth any maner thinge that ſhe hath ſerue vpon/ ſhal waſh his clothes/a bath hymſelfe with water / and be vncleane vntill the euen.

¶ And if a man lie to her / whyle ſhe is put aparte. ſhalbe vncleane ſeven dayes/ and the bed that he laye vpon/ ſhalbe vncleane.

¶ But when a woman hath her bloody yſ-ſue a longe ſeaſon / nor onely at ſome of her naturall courſe/ but alſo out of the tyme of her naturall courſe/ then ſhal ſhe be vncleane ſo longe as ſhe hath the iſſue/ euen as at ſome when ſhe is put aparte / ſo ſhal ſhe be vncleane here alſo. Who ſocuer ſhe lyeth vpon/al the tyme of her iſſue/ ſhalbe as her bed / wha ſhe is put aparte. And al that ſhe lyeth vpon/ſhalbe vncleane/ as is her vncleaneſſe / when ſhe is put aparte. Who ſocuer toucheth any of them / ſhalbe vncleane/ and ſhal waſh his clothes/ and bath hymſelfe with water / and be vncleane vntill the euen.

But if ſhe be cleane of her iſſue / then ſhall ſhe the numbre ſeven dayes / afterward ſhall ſhe be cleane: and vpon the eyght daye ſhal ſhe take two turtle doves/ or two yonge pigeons/a bringe them vnto the prieſt/ before the doore of the Tabernacle of witneſſe. And the prieſt ſhal make of the one a ſin offeringe/ of the other a burnt offeringe/ and make an attonement for her before the Lord/ as concernynge the yſſue of her vncleaneſſe.

¶ Thus ſhal ye ſee that the chyldren of Iſrael kepe them ſelues from their vncleaneſſe/ that they dye not in their vncleaneſſe/ wha they de-ſyre ny habitacion/ which is amonge you.

¶ This is the lawe ouer him that hath a run-nyng ſore/ and him/ whoſe ſede departedh fro him in ſleep/ ſo that he is vncleane therof. And ouer her/ that hath her bloody yſſue/ and whoſe euer hath a runnyng ſore/ whether it be man or woman/ and when a man lyeth with her ſhe is vncleane.

The. XLVI. Chapter.

¶ And the Lord ſpake vnto Moſes/ after that Aaron was ſonne was dead/ ¶ And when they offered before the Lord/ ¶ And ſayde: ¶ Speake vnto Aaron thy brother / that he goe not at all tymes into the inner court ſquare/ within the vayle before the mercy ſeate/which is vpon the Ark/ that he dye not: for
 I will appeare in a cloude vpon the mercy ſeate.
 ¶ And he ſhall ſhall be go in euen as a ramme for a burnt offeringe/ and ſhall put on the holy linnen albe/ and haue linnen breeches vpon his fleſhe / and gird hym with a linnen girdell / and haue the linnen mycke vpon his head.

¶ For theſe are the holy garmentes which the ſhall bath his fleſh with water/ and put them on of the congregacion of the chyldren of Iſrael/ſhal he take two hegoates for a ſyn offeringe/¶ ij. and

and a ramme for a burnt offeringe.

Ex. ij. b

And Aar had byngne the bullocke for his owne synofferinge / and make an attonement for hymselfe and his house / and afterwarde shall he take the two goates / a present them before the Lo:de / then before the Dore of the Tabernacle of witness / and shall cast lottes ouer the two goates: the lotte of the one goate for the Lo:de / and the other for the fre goate. And the goate that the Lo:de shall sell vpon / shall be offre for a synofferinge. But the goate / that the fre goate lot fill vpon / shall be present alvay before the Lo:de / to make an attonement for hym / and to let the fre goate go into the wilderness. And so shall he byngne the bullocke of his synofferinge / and make an attonement for: hym / and his housholde / and shall kill hym.

And he shall take a censer / full of coales from the altare / that standeth before the Lo:de / and his hand full of beaten incense / a dungie then in within the vayle / and put the incense vpon the fre before the Lo:de / that the cloude of the incense maye cover the mercies seate / which is vpon the witness / that he dye not. And he shall take of the bloude of the bullocke / and sprenckle it with his finger / to ward the Mercyseat / on the fowrside. Seven tymes shall he sprenckle of the bloude / thus with his finger / before the mercyseate. Then shall he kill the goate / which is the peoples synofferinge / and byngne it of his blood within the vayle / a shall do with his bloude as he byd with the bloude of the bullocke / and sprenckle therwith also on the fowrside / toward the mercyseate / and so shall he reconcile the Sanctuarie / from the vncleanness of the chyldre of Israel / a from their trespasses in all theyr synnes. Thus shall he do vnto the Tabernacle of witness / which is the habytacyon with them / amonge theyr vncleennesse.

¶ A woman shall in the Tabernacle of witness / when he goeth in to make an attonement in the Sanctuarie / on my selfe go out: and so shall he make an attonement for: hym selfe / and his house / and for the whole congregacyon of Israel. And when he goeth forth vnto the altare / that standeth before the Lo:de / he shall reconcile / and shall take of the bullockes blood / and of the goates blood / and put it vpon the hornes of the altare / rounde about: And with his finger shall he sprenckle of the bloude throughe seven tymes / a halowe it / and consecrate it from the vncleennesse of the chyldre of Israel.

And when he hath made an ende of reconcyllynge the Sanctuarie / and the Tabernacle of witness / at the altare / he shall byngne the lynynge goate.

Then shall Aaron laye both his handes vpon the heade of hym / and confesse ouer hym all the mysdoes of the chyldre of Israel / and al theyr trespasses in theyr synnes / and shall laye them vpon the heade of the goat / and by some man that is at hande / shall he let hym runne into the wilderness / that the goate maye so beare all theyr mysdoes vpon hym / into the wilderness / and he shall leaue hym in the wilderness.

And Aaron shall go into the Tabernacle of witness / and put of the linnen clothes / which he put on / when he went into the Sanctuarie / and shall leaue them there / and bath his flesh with water in the holy place / a put on his owne rayment.

And he shall go forth / a make his burnt offeringe / and the burnt offeringe of the peoples / and make an attonement / both for hymselfe / and for the people / and burne the fatte of the synofferinge vpon the altare. But he that carryeth out the fre goate / shall wash his clothes / and bath hymselfe with water / and then come into the host.

The bullocke of the synofferinge / and the goate of the synofferinge / whose blood was brought in the Sanctuarie / to make an attonement / shall be carryed out of the host / and burnt with fyre / both theyr synnes / fleshe / a vnyng. And he that burneth the / shall wash his clothes / and bath hymselfe with water / a then come into the host.

¶ And this shall be a perpetual lawe vnto you: Vpon the tenth daye of the seventh moneth / shall ye humble your soules / do no worke / whether it be one of your selues / or a stranger amonge you. For in this day is your attonement made / that ye maye be cleansed from all youre synnes / before the Lo:de: therefore shall it be a fixe Sabbath vnto you / and ye shall humble youre soules. Let this be a perpetuall lawe.

But

But the priest that is anoynted, and whose hande was seiled to be priest / in his fathers sleade / shall make this atonement / and shall put on the linnen clothes / namely the holy vestiments / so that he reconyle the holy Sanctuary / and the Tabernacle of wytnesse / and the aultare / and the priestes / and all the people of the congregacyon. ¶ This shalbe a perpetuall lawe vnto you / that ye reconyle the children of Israel from all theyr synnes / ouce a ycare. And Moyses dyd as the Lorde commanded hym.

Chap. XVII.

Vnto the Lorde talked with Moyses / and sayd: Speake vnto Aaron and his sonnes / and to all the chyldren of Israel / and say vnto them. This is it that the Lorde hath commanded: Whatsoeuer be of the house of Israel / that kyllen an ox / or lambe / or goat in the boos / or out of the boos / and wyngeth it not before the doore of the Tabernacle of wytnesse / that it inaye be brought vnto the Lorde for an offeringe before the habitation of the Lorde / the same shalbe gylty of bloud / as though he had shed bloud: and such a man shalbe roted out from amonge his people.

Therfore shal the chyldren of Israel bringe theyr offerings: that they wyll offere vpon the wyde felde / before the Lorde / euen before the doore of the Tabernacle of wytnesse / vnto the priest / and there offer they: thanke offerings vnto the Lorde. And the prieste shall spenke the bloud vpon the aultare of the Lorde / before the doore of the Tabernacle of wytnesse / and burne the fat for a sweete sauour vnto the Lorde / as they shal offer theyr offerings no more vnto denles / with whom they go a whoringe. This shalbe a perpetual lawe vnto them / amonge theyr posterites.

Therfore shal thou saye vnto them: What man soeuer be of the house of Israel / or a straunger also / that is amonge you / which offereth a burnt offering / or any other offering / and bringeth it not before the doore of the Tabernacle of wytnesse / to offere it vnto the Lorde / he shalbe roted out from amonge his people.

And what man soeuer it be / cyther of the house of Israel / or a straunger / amonge you / that catcheth any maner of bloud / agaynst him self / for my face / and wyll rote him out from amonge his people: for the soule of the body is in the bloud / as I haue geuen it you: for the aultare / your soules may be reconyled therewith: for the bloud that is in the soule / maketh atonement. Therefore haue I sayd vnto the chyldren of Israel: No soule amonge you shal eate bloud: no / nor any straunger that dwelleth amonge you.

And what man soeuer it be amonge you / whether he be of the house of Israel / or a strainger amonge you / that at the hurmynge taketh a beast / or fowle / which may be eaten / he shal poure out the bloud of the same / as a cover it is carib: for all flesh kyllen it the bloud.

And I haue sayd vnto the chyldren of Israel: Ye shal eate the bloud of no maner of flesh: for the lyfe of all flesh is in his bloud. Whatsoeuer catcheth it / shalbe roted out. And whatsoeuer soule catcheth it / which dyed alone / or that was rotye of wyld beastes / whether he be one of youre felles / or a straunger / the same shal weathe his clothes / and bath hym selfe with water / and he vndeane vntil the euen / and then is he cleane. But if the weathe not his clothes / nor bath hym selfe / then shal he beare his synne.

Chap. XVIII.

Vnto the Lorde talked with Moyses / and sayd: Speake vnto the chyldren of Israel / and say vnto them: I am the Lorde your God. Ye shall not do after the wyse of the lande of Egypte / wherein ye dwelt: neither after the wyse of the lande of Canaan / into the which I will bringe you. Ye shal not walke after theyr customes / but after my lawes / which I geue you / and my statutes / which I kepe / that ye may walke therein: for I am the Lorde your God. Therefore shal ye kepe my statutes and my lawes. For the man that doeth Rom. 8. a the same / shall lye therein / for I am the Lorde.

A woman shall come at his next kynnesman / to encounter her pyuirtye: for I am the Lorde.

Thou shal not encounter the pyuirtye of thy father / and of thy mother. This is my lawe / therefore shalbe thou not encounter her pyuirtye.

Ceremonies.*Leuiticus.

Deu. xxv. d. † Thou shalt not vncouer the pyuince of thy father's wyfe / for it is thy fathers pyuince.

De. xxxij. c. * Thou shalt not vncouer the pyuince of thy sister / which is the daughter of thy father / or of thy mother / whether she be borne at home or without.

Thou shalt not vncouer † pyuince of thy sonnes daughter / or of thy daughters daughter / for it is thine owne pyuince.

B Thou shalt not vncouer the pyuince of thy fathers wyfe daughter / which is borne vnto hym / and to thy sister.

Leuit. xx. c. † Thou shalt not vncouer the pyuince of thy fathers sister / for it is thy fathers next kynswoman.

Thou shalt not vncouer the pyuince of thy mothers sister / for it is thy mothers next kynswoman.

Thou shalt not vncouer the pyuince of thy fathers brother / nor take his wyfe / for she is thine owne.

De. xxv. d. † Thou shalt not vncouer the pyuince of thy daughter in lawe / for she is thy sonnes wyfe / therefore shalt thou not vncouer her pyuince.

Leuit. xx. c. † Thou shalt not vncouer the pyuince of thy brothers wyfe / for it is thy brothers pyuince.

Thou shalt not vncouer the pyuince of thy wyfe / and of her daughter also / neither shalt thou take her sonnes daughter / or her daughters daughter / nor vncouer the pyuince / for they are thyn next kynswomen. And it is wickednesse.

Gen. xxx. c. † Thou shalt not take a wyfe / and her sister also / to vncouer her pyuince / whyle she is yet aliue.

Leuit. xx. d. † Thou shalt not go vnto a woman to vncouer her pyuince / so long as she hath her discall / in her vncleannesse.

Le. xxij. c. † Thou shalt not lye with thy neyghbours wyfe / or meele with her / for to desyre thy self withall.

Leuit. xx. a. † Thou shalt not graue of thy sede also / to be burnt vnto Moloch / lest thou vnhalouere the name of thy God / for I am the Lord.

R. m. l. d. † Thou shalt not lye with man / vnto / as th woman kinde / for that is abhominacion.

De. xxij. c. * Thou shalt lye with no manner of beast / to desyre thy selfe therewith. And no woman shall haue to do with a beast / for it is abhominacion.

Ye shall desyre your selves in none of these thynges. For the Seythen / whom I wyl cast out before you / haue slayned them selfes in all these / and the lande is defyled therfore. And they wickednesse wyl I wyte vpon them / so † the lande shal spewe out the indwellers thereof. Therefore feare ye my statutes / and obserue them / and do not one of these abhominacions / neither one of your owne selues / ne: the stranger amonge you / all such abhominacions haue the people of this land done / which were before you / and haue defyled the lande / that the lande spewe not you out also / when ye haue defyled it / as it speweth out the Seythen / that were there before you. For whosoever committeth these abhominacions / the same soules shalbe rotd out / from amonge theyr people. Therefore feare ye my statutes / but ye do not after the abhominable custumes / which were before you / that ye be not defyled therewith / for I am † Lord youre God.

The. XIX. Chapter. † SHALD the Lord call with Moses / and say vnto the whole congregation of the chyldren of Israel / and say vnto them: I Ye shalbe holy / for I am holy / and the Lord your God. Every one feare his father and his mother. Keep in holy dayes / for I am the Lord your God. Ye shal not rane your selves vnto Idoles / for I shal maake you no Goddes of metall / for I am † Lord your God.

And when ye will offer thankoffringes vnto the Lord / then shal ye offer them / that be maye be mercifull vnto you / and ye shal kepe the same dayes / that ye offer them / as on the morowe / whatsoeuer is lefte on the thyrde daye / shalbe burnt with fre. But if any man eate thereof vpon the thyrde daye / then to be vnholy / and shal not be accepted / if the same eate shall beare his synne / because he hath vnhalouere the Sanctuary of the Lord / and such a soule shalbe rotd out from amonge his people.

When thou reapst thy lande / thou shalt not reape vnto the vttermost borders / whiche haue separated you from the nations/that ye shoulde be myne.

viij. b ¶ If a man or woman be a soothsayer / or a spouder of tokens / the same shall dye the death / they shalbe stoned / they; bloude be up drieth.

The XXI. Chapter.

A ¶ The Lord sayde vnto Moyses: Speake vnto the priestes / the sonnes of Aaron / a saye vnto them: ¶ A priest shall defyle hym selfe / vpon no soule of his people / but vpon his ne:xt kynne that belongeth vnto hym: as vpon his mother / vpon his father / vpon his sonne / vpon his soughter / vpon his brother / and vpon his sister / which is yet a virgyn / and hath bene no mans wyfe / (which belongeth vnto hym) vpon her maye he defyle hym selfe: Moreover / he shall not defyle hym selfe vpon any ruler in his people / to vnhalowe hym selfe.

ix. f ¶ He shall make no croune also vpon his beade / nor he shall not go into the waye / nor they cut out any merkes in their flesch. They shalbe holy vnto the Lord / a not vnhalowe the name of the Lord: for they offere the sacrifice of the Lord / the beade of the Lord / therefore shall they be holy.

x ¶ They shall take no whose / nor one that is defyled / or that is awaye from her husbande / for he is holy vnto his God: therefore shall he sanctifie hym selfe / so he effectueth the beade of his God / he shall be holy vnto the Lord: I am holy cuen the Lord that sanctifieth you.

xi. f ¶ If a priestes daughter fall to whoringe / she shall be burned with fyre / for she hath stomed her father. He that is hye priest amonge his brethren / vpon whose beade the enuyngre might be poured / and his hande fylled / (that he might be arayed with the vestimentes) shall not encounter his beade / nor cut his clothes / a shall come at no dead / and shall defyle hym selfe / neyther vpon father / nor mother. He shall not go out of the Sanctuary / he vnhalowe not the Sanctuary of his God / for the croune of anoyninge oyle of his God is vpon hym / for I am the Lord.

xii. b ¶ A virgyn shall be take to wyfe / but no widow / nor deuored / nor defyled / nor rebote / but a virgyn of his owne people / shall be take to wyfe / he vnhalowe not his seede / amonge his people / for I am the Lord / which sanctify hym.

¶ And the Lord talked with Moyses / and sayde: Speake vnto Aaron / and saye: If there be a blemyshe vpon any of thy seede / in your generations / the same shall not pceasse to offere the beade of his God: ¶ For whosouer hath a blemyshe vpon hym / shall not come neare / whiche he be blynde / lame / with an euell fauoured / nose / with any myschapen member / or that hath a broken foote / or hande / or is crooke backed / or hath any blemyshe in the eye / or is gyled / or is stryue / or scoulded / or hath his stone broken.

¶ Whosouer now / of the seede of Aaron / the priest hath any blemyshe vpon hym / shall not come nye to offere the sacrifice of the Lord.
For he hath a defoult. Therefore shall he not pceasse vnto the beade of his God / nor offere it.
Howwithstandyng / he shall care of the beade of his God / both of the holy / and of the moost holy: / nor he shall not go into the waye / nor come nye the altare / for so much as he hath a blemyshe vpon hym / that he vnhalowe not my Sanctuary. For I am the Lord that sanctifieth the. And Moyses spake this vnto Aaron / and his sonnes / and to all the chyldren of Israel.

The XXII. Chapter.

A ¶ The Lord talked with Moyses / and sayde: Speake vnto Aaron / and his son-nes / that they absteyne from halowed thynges of Israel / which they haue halowed vnto me / a that they vnhalowe not my holy name: for I am the Lord. Saye now to them / and their posterite: Whosouer he be of youre seede / that commeth nye vnto the holy thynges / which I haue halowed vnto the Lord / and he defyleth hym selfe vpon that same / his soule shall perishe before my face: for I am the Lord.

¶ Whosouer of the seede of Aaron is a kper / or hath a runnyngre yssue / shall not care of the holy thynges / till he be cleansed. Who so toucheth any vncleane thyng / or whosede separerth from hym by sight / or whosede toucher any womne that is vncleane vnto hym / or a man that is vncleane vnto hym / and whosederth defyleth hym / so he that soule toucheth any such / is vncleane vntill he euen / and shall

nor eate of the holy thynges / but shall fysh eat his fleshe with water. And when the Sonne is gone downe / and he be cleane / then maye he eate therof / for it is his fooode. Take what which alonco: is rente of wyld beastes / shall he not eate / that he be vncleane theron: for I am the Lord. Therefore shall they kepe my lawe / that they lade not sinne upon them / and bre them / when they vnhalowe them selfen in. For I am the Lord / that halowe them.

Exo. xlii. d
 Eze. xliii. d

B A stranger shall not eate of the holy thyn-ges / nor an housholde guest of the priestes / nor an hyred seruaunt. But if the prieste bye a soule for: bys money / the same maye eate therof.
 And loke who is borne in his house / maye eate of his bread also. Keuertheless / of the priestes daughter be a strangers wyfe / she shall not eate of the Braucofferinges of holynesse. But if she be a wedow / or a widow / or haue no sede / and cometh agayne to her fathers house as afore / when she was yet a mayden in her fathers house / then shall she eate of her fathers bread. But no stranger shall eate therof.

Who so cleaureth of the halowed thynges / unwittingly / shall put the fyfte parte there vnto / and geue it vnto the priest with the halowed thynges / that they vnhalowe: not the halowed thynges of the chyldren of Israel / which they heaue vp vnto the Lord / lest they lade them selfes with mysdoynge and trespass / when they eate their halowed thynges: for I am the Lord / which halowe them.

Deut. xix. c
 and. xxi. a

E And the Lord called with Moyses / and sayde: Speake vnto Aaron and his sonnes / and to all the chyldren of Israel: Whatsoeuer Israelite or stranger in Israel wyll do his offeringe / whether it be they: vouce for of fre will / that they will offre a burnt offeringe vnto the Lord / to reconcile them selfe / it shall be a male / and without blemys / of the oxen / or lam-bes / or goates. Whatsoeuer hath any blemys shall they not offre / for they shall fynde no fauour therwith.

Mal. j. b

And who so will offre a thant offeringe vnto the Lord / to separate out a vouce / of fre will / or of shepe: it shall be without blemys the: that it maye be accepted. It shall haue no defourme. If it be blynde / or broken / or wounded / or haue a wen / or scabbed / they shall offre none: fynde vnto the Lord / nor put an offeringe of any such vpon the aultare of the Lord.

An ox / or shepe / that hath misshapen memberes / no rompe mayst thou offre of a free will: but to a vouce it maye not be accepted.
 Thou shalt offre also vnto the Lord: nothinge that is blynde / or broken / or rent / or cut out / and ye shall haue no syn in your labe. Mo-reouer ye shall offre no bread vnto your God of strangers hande: for it is marred of him / and he hath defourme: therfore shall it not be accepted vnto you.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses / sayd:
 When an ox / or lambe / or goate is brought forth / it shall be seuen dayes with the damme / a vpon the cyghthe daye / and thereafter it maye be offered vnto the Lord: when it is accepted: Whether it be ox / or lambe / or shall not be slayne with his yonge in one daye.

But when ye will offre a thant offeringe vnto the Lord / that it maye be accepted / ye shall eate it the same daye / kepe nothinge ouer vntil the morninge: for I am the Lord. Therefore kepe now my commaundementes / a do them: for I am the Lord / that ye vnhalowe not my holy name / and that I maye be halowed amonge the chyldren of Israel. For I am he that halowe you vnto the Lord / which brought you out of the lande of Egypte: that I mighte be your God: vntil I the Lord.

The XXII. Chapter.

Speke the Lord called with Moyses / and sayde: Speake vnto the chyldren of Israel / and saye vnto them: These are the feastes of the Lord / which ye shall call holy dayes:
 They: dayes shall be that ye vnhalowe
 not my holy name / and that I maye be halowed amonge the chyldren of Israel. For I am he that halowe you vnto the Lord / which brought you out of the lande of Egypte: that
 I mighte be your God: vntil I the Lord.

These are the feastes of the Lord / that are called holy / which ye shall call your feastes: Upon the fourteenth daye of the fyfth moneth at euen / is the Lordes Easter / a vpon the fyfth daye of the same moneth is the feaste of the vnleuened bread / of the Lord.
 Then shall ye eate vnleuened bread seuen
 dayes.

The fyfth daye shall be called holy among you /

you/ye shall do no worke of bondage therein/and seven dayes shall ye offre vnto the Lord.
De. The seventh daye shall be called holy life-wyse/wherin ye shall do no worke of bondage also.

¶ And the Lord talked with Moses/and sayde: Speake to the children of Israel/ a sepe vnto them: When ye come into the lande I shall geue you a seape doine your harvest/ye shall geue a shepe of the first frutes of your harvest vnto the priest / when shall the shepe be wound before the Lord/ that ye may be accepted: but this shall the priest do the next daye after the Sabbath. And the same daye of your shepe is wound/ shall ye offre a burnt offeringe vnto the Lord / of a lambe which is without blemish/ of a year old/ with mear offerings / two tent deale of fyne flour/ mearing with oyle for an offeringe of a sweete sauour vnto the Lord: a shepe offeringe also/euen the fourth parte of an Ekin of wyne.

¶ And ye shall eate neither bread / nor cakes/nor soumme (of new coine) till the same day/that ye bringe an offeringe vnto your God.
This shall be a lawe vnto your posterities/where soeuer ye dwell.

¶ Then shall ye number from the nexte daye after the Sabbath / when ye broughte your shepe / seven whole weekes/ vntill the nexte daye after / seven weekes/ namely / sixte dayes/shall ye number / a shepe new mear offeringe vnto the Lord. And out of al your dwellinges shall ye offre / namely / two Oxen / or two tent deales of fyne flour / leuened / a bake for the first frutes vnto the Lord. ¶ And with your breade ye shall bringe seven lambes of one yere old / without blemish / a yonge bullocke / and two rammes: this shall be the Lordes burnt offeringe / mear offeringes / a shepe offeringes. This is a sacrifice of a sweete sauour vnto the Lord.

¶ Moreover ye shall offre an hegoate for a sin offeringe / and two lambes of a yere old for a shepe offeringe. And the priest shall maue it vpon the bredd of the first frutes / before the Lord / with the two lambes. And thys shall be holy vnto the Lord / and shall be the priestes. And this daye shall ye proclaime/for it shall be called holy amonge you / no seruil-like shall ye do therein / a perperuall lawe shall it be amonge your posterities / where soe-uer ye dwell.

¶ When ye scape young / or barnes / of your lande / ye shall not cut it / draine / because upon felde / nor gather vp al / but shall leave it for the poore and straungers / I am the Lord your God.

¶ And the Lord talked with Moses / and sayde: Speake vnto the children of Israel / and saye: Upon the first daye of the seventh mo-neth shall ye haue the holy rest of the remaindraunce of blowinge / wherein ye shall do no seruile worke / and ye shall offre sacrifice vnto the Lord.

¶ And the Lord spake vnto Moses and sayde: Upon the tenth daye of this seventh moneth / is the daye of reconcilinge / which shall be an holy conuocation with you. Ye shall humble your soules them / and offre vnto the Lord / and shall do no seruilike worke in this daye / for it is the daye of atonement / that ye maye be reconciled before the Lord your God. For what soule soeuer humbleth not himselfe vpon this day / the same shall be reuoyced out from amonge his people. And what soule soeuer doth any worke this daye / the same wil I destroye from amonge his people: therefore shall ye do no worke. This shall be a perperuall lawe vnto your posterities / where soe-uer ye dwell. It is the rest of your Sabbath / that ye maye humble your soules. Upon the nyneth daye of the moneth at euen / shall ye kepe this holy daye / from the euen forth / vnto the euen againe.

¶ And the Lord talked with Moses / and sayde: Upon the first daye of the seventh moneth / is the feast of Tabernacles / seven dayes vnto the Lord. The first daye shall be an holy conuocation / no seruilike worke shall ye do therein. Seven dayes shall ye offre vnto the Lord. The eighth daye shall be an holy conuocation vnto you also / and ye shall offre vnto the Lord: for it is the daye of gatheringe together: no seruilike worke shall ye do therein.

¶ These are the holy dayes of the Lord / which ye shall proclaime / and holde for holy conuoca-tion / ye maye offre vnto the Lord / burnt offerings / mear offerings / and shepe offeringes / and oyle offerings / euen one ending to his day, beside the Sabbath of 7 Lord; and your gifts; and doves; a freewill offering; that ye offer vnto the Lord.

6 So upon the sixteenth day of the seventh month; when ye haue brought in y<sup>e</sup> increase of y<sup>e</sup> land; ye shall kepe the Lord's feast seuen dayes longe. The first day shall be kept holy daye; & the eighth daye shall be kept holy daye also. And upon the first daye ye shall take of y<sup>e</sup> goodly fruitfull trees / brambles and palm trees; and bawes of these trees / and willow of the brooke; and seuen dayes shall ye be merry before the Lord; your God; and thus shall ye kepe: the feast vnto the Lord; seuen dayes in the year. This shall be a perpetual lawe; amonge youre posterities; that they kepe holy daye; thus in y<sup>e</sup> seventh month. Seue dayes shall ye dwell in booths. Whosoever is an Israelite borne; shall dwell in booths; that they which come after you; maye knowe; howe that I made the children of Israel to dwell in booths when I brought them out of the lande of Egypt: I am the Lord; your God. And Moses tolde the children of Israel these holy dayes of the Lord.

The XXXIII. Chapter.

1 And the Lord spake vnto Moses / and sayde: I commaunde the children of Israel; that they bring pure oyle / of pure beaten floure; that it maye be alway put in the lampes; without defile; the wawe of the wor-ning; in y<sup>e</sup> Tabernacle of witness. And Aaron shall besse it; alwaye at euen; and in the morninge before the Lord. Let this be a perpetual lawe vnto your posterities. The lampes shall be besse vnto the pure candlestick before the Lord; perpetually.

2 And thou shalt take fine floure / & bake it into twelfe cakes; thou shalt take of the cakes; one cake haue; and thou shalt laye them sixe on a rowe vpon the pure table before the Lord.
 And upon the same table thou shalt laye pure franscencels; / so it maye be bread of remembrance; for an offering vnto the Lord; euery Sab-both shall he prepare them before the Lord alwaye; and receaue the of the children of Israel; for an euertlasting conuenant. And they shall be Aarons his sonnes; which shall eat them in the holy place. For this is his most holy of the offerings of the Lord;

for a perpetual dewty.

And there came out an Israelite wymans sonne; which was the child a man of Egypt; amonge the children of Israel; and stroue in the boole with a man of Israel; & a named the name of God blasphemously; and curst. Then broughte they him vnto Mosses. His mothers name was Selomith; the daughter of Dib; of y<sup>e</sup> tribe of Dan. And they put him in prison; till they were informe; by the mouth of the Lord.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses; and sayde: Bring him y<sup>e</sup> curst out of the boole; & let them that berde it; laye theyr handes vpon his heade; / & let the whole congregation stone him. And saye vnto the children of Israel; Whosoever blasphemeth the God; shall beare his sinne; and he that blasphemeth the name of the Lord; shall dye the death. The whole congregation shall stone him. As the stranger; so shall he of the boole; be also.
 If he blasphem: the name; he shall dye.

He that slayeth a man; shall dye the death; but he that slayeth a beest; shall paye for it; or he for soule. And he that smyth his neyghbour; it shall be done vnto him; euen as he hath done; broke for broke; eye for eye; tooth for tooth; euen as he hath martyred a man; so shall it be done vnto him; againe; so that; who so slayeth a beest; shall paye for it. But he that slayeth a man; shall dye. There shall be one lawe; amonge you / to the strangers; as to one of youre selves; for I am the Lord your God.

Moses tolde the children of Israel. And they brought him that had curst; out of the boole; & stoned him. Thus vnto the children of Israel as the Lord commaunded Moses.

The XXXV. Chapter.

1 And the Lord talked vnto Moses vpon y<sup>e</sup> Mount Sina; and sayd: Speak to the children of Israel; and saye vnto them: When ye come into the lande; that I shall geue you;
 the land shall rest vnto the Lord; so that thou shalt sowe y<sup>e</sup> seide sixe year; / and sixe year cut the wynde; and gather in the frutes. In y<sup>e</sup> seventh year; the land shall haue his Sabbath of resse; for a Sabbath vnto the Lord; / wherein thou shalt not sowe thy seide; / nor cut thy wynde.

Loke what groweth of it selfe after thy harvest/ thou shalt not reap it. And þ grapes that growe without thy labour / shalt thou not gather / for so much as it is the yere 3 of the landes rest. But the rest of the lande shalt thou kepe for this iurte / that thou mayest eate thereof / thy seruait / thy mayde / thy hurlinge / thy gell / thy straunger with the / thy cattell / the bestles in thy lande. At the increase shalt thou mete.

And thou shalt number sciue of these yere Sabbarthes / that seven yeres may be tolde seven times / and so the time of the seue yeres Sabbarthes / make nyne a foine yeres. Then shalt thou let þ blasse of the hoine go tharto all your lande / upon the tenth day of the seuenth moneth / euen in the day of attonement. And ye shal halowe that fyfth yere / a shall call it a fre yere in the lande / for all them that dwell therein / for it is þ yere of Jubilee. Then shall euery one amonge you come agayne to his possession / and to all his kindred / for the fyfth yere is the yere of Jubilee. Ye shal not sow / nor reape it that groweth of it selfe / ne gather the grapes / that growe without labour. For the yere of Jubilee shal be holy amonge you. But loke what the felde beareth / that shal ye eate. This is the yere of Jubilee / wherein ye shall come agayne euery man to his owne.

Now when thou selkst ought vnto thy neighbour / or byest any thinge of him / thre shal of you none oppresse his brother / but according to the number of þ yeres of Jubilee shal thou bye it of him / and according to the number of the yeres of increase shal he sel it vnto the. According to the multitude of þ yeres shal thou raise the price / according to the fewnesse of the yeres shal thou minish the price / for he shal sel it vnto the / according to the number of the increase. Therefore let no man oppress his neyghboure / but feare thy God. for I am the Lord your God. Wherefore do after my statutes / and kepe my lawes / so that ye do then that ye may dwell safe in þ lande. For the lande shal geue you her increase / that ye shall haue ynough to eate / a dwell safely therein.

And if ye wolde saye / What shal we eate in the seventh yere / in so much as we shal not sowe / nor gather in our increase? I will sende my blessing vpon you in the sixty yere / that it shall bringe forth fruite for the yere / so that ye shall sowe in the egypt yere / and eate of the olde fruite / vntill the ninth yere / that ye maye eate of the olde / in every yere come agayne. Therefore shal ye not sel the land for euer / for the lande is myne. And ye are straungers / and sojourners before me. And in all youre lande shal ye geue youre lande to louise.

When thy brother waxeth poore / and selleth his possession / and his neigboure buyeth it / then shall he redeme it / that his brother sold. But what a man hath none to redeme it / and he gett so much with his hande / as to redeme one part / then shall it be reckned how many yeres it hath ben sold / and the remaunt shal be restored vnto him / to whom he sold it / that he may come agayne to his possession. But if his hand can not gett so much / as to haue one parte agayne / then shal it be sold / be still in the hande of the buyer / vntill þ yere of Jubilee. In this same shal it go out / and returne to his owner agayne.

He that selleth a dwelling house within the walke of þ cytie / hath an whole yere respit / to louise ouer agayne / þ shal be the time / wherein he may redeme it. But if he redeme it not afore the whole yere be out / then shal he that bought it / and his successours / kepe it for euer / and it shall not go ouer louse in the yere of Jubilee. Neuertheless / if it be an house in a village that hath no walle about it / it shal be counted lyke vnto the felde of the countrey / and may be redemed / a shal go out / in the yere of Jubilee.

The cyties of the Leuites / and the houses in the cyties / that theyr possession is in / may alway be redemet. Whoso purchaseth ought of the Leuites / shal leaue it in the yere of Jubilee / whether it be house or cytie / that he hath had in possession. For the houses in the cyties of the Leuites are theyr possession / amonge the children of Israel. But þ felde before theyr cyties shal not be sold / for it is theyr owne for euer.

When his brother waxeth poore / and selleth his house / he shall haue respit that ye shoulde not be theys bondmen. And I haue broken the cepter of your yokes/and caused you to go wythright.

hal. 4
But if ye wyl not herken vnto me/not do all thes commandementes/and wil despise my statutes/and if your soules despise my lawes/that ye wyl not do al my commandementes/and shall let my conuenaunt stande/that wil I do this agayne vnto you: I wil vyse you shortly with swellynges and feures/whiche shall destroye the eyes/and consume awaye the herte. Ye shall fore your side in payne/and your enemyes shal eat it vp.

1. xxviii. a
And I will set my face agaynst you/and ye shalbe slaine before your enemyes. And they that bate you / shall haue dominion ouer you.

And ye shall rise when no man chaseth you. But if ye will not herken vnto me/for all this/then wil I make it yet fewe tymes more/ to punysh you for your synnes/ that I may breake y pride of your strenght/and will make your heanen life yon/ and your earth as brasse: and your traualle and labour shalbe but lost/so that your lande shal not geue her increase/and the trees in the lande shall not bringe forth they: frute.

If ye walke yet agaynst me/ and wil not herken vnto me/then wil I make it yet seuen tymes more/ to punysh you/ because of your synnes/and will sende wilde beastes amonge you/whiche shall robbe you/and destroye your cattel/and make you fewer/a your hye waye shall become wastell.

But if ye will not yet be reformed here withall/and wil walke contrary vnto me/then wil I walke contrary vnto you also/and will punysh you yet seuen tymes for your synnes. And I wil bringe vpon you a swerde of vengeance/whiche shall auenge my Testament. And though ye gather you together into your cities/ yet wil I sende the pestilence amonge you/and wil deliuer you into the handes of your enemyes: for I wil destroye your prouision of bread/so that women shall bake your bread in one oven/and your bread shalbe deliuered out by wyght. And when ye eat/ye shal not haue ynough.

le. iij. b
ch. vij. e
If ye will not yet for al this herken vnto me/and will walke contrary vnto me/then wil I also/walke contrary vnto you in wrath/full dis-spicature/ and will punysh you seuen folde/ because of your synnes/ so that ye shall care the fleshe of your synnes a doughiero. And I will destroye your hye altars/ and rote out your ymages/and will cast your bodyes/ vpon the bodies of your Idols/and my soule shall abhorre you. And your cities will I make wastell/ and bringe your churches to nought/a will not finde your sure adoucers.

Thus wil I make the lande desolate/so that your enemyes shall dwell therein/and make it wastell: but you wil I scatter amonge the heathen/and drawe out the swerde after you/ so that your lande shalbe wastell/and your cyties desolate.

Then shal the lande reioyce in her Sabbes: for then/as longe as it lieth wastell/and ye been the enemyes lande. Yet/then shall the lande bepe holye daye/and reioyce in her rest/as longe as it lieth wastell/because it could not rest in your Sabbathes/when ye dwelle therein.

And as for them that remaine of you/ I wil make them sayntherdes/ in the lande of theys enemyes/so that a shepene lease shall chace them. And they shall rise from it/ as though a swerde persecuted them/and shall sal noman following vpon them. And they shal sal one vpon another/ Cas it were before the swerde/and noman yet chasing them. And ye shal not be so bold/as to withstande your enemyes/and shall perishe amonge the heathen/and the lande of your enemyes shal eat you vp.

And they that are left of you shall pnye awaye in they: misdedes/ euen in the enemyes lande/ and in the misdedes of theyr fathers shal they esume awaye. Then shal they knowe lege they misdedes/and the misdedes of theyr fathers in the trespasses/where with they haue trespassed agaynst me/and walked contrary vnto me. Therefore wil I also walke contrary vnto them/ a will bringe them into the enemyes lande.

Then shal they oneireuemed herre be tamed. And then shal they end they: misdedes. And I shall thynke vpon my conuenaunt with Jacob/and vpon my conuenaunt with Isaac/ and vpon my conuenaunt with Abraham/ and will thynke vpon the lande. So for the lande/when it shal be left: of them/ it shall it shall reioyce in her Sabbathes / euen them / when it lyeih waste / and they yllit it not.

And they shall make armentent for thei; maledocion / because they despised my lawes / and theyi; soules refused my statutes. Moses ouer / I haue not so refused them / that they shoulde be in caitiues lande: neyther haue I so vterly abhorred them / that I would bringe them to nougth / and breake my covenant with them: for I am the Lordde they; God. And for thei; sake I wil reuenge.

If he be lx. yere olde / a about them shal; thou set vnto a lxx. syles / when it is a man / a woman at ten syles. If he be to poore so to be set / then let hym present hym selfe to the prest / and the

B prest shall value him. Neuertheless he shall value hym / according to his hande / as hym that wote / he able to get. But if it be a beest / that maye be offered vnto the Lordde / all that is offered vnto the Lordde / of such / in hois / it shall not be altered / nor changed / a good for a bad / or bad for a good. If any man chaungit / or one beest for another / then shall they both be holy vnto the Lordde. But if the beest be vndeane / which maye not be offered vnto the Lordde / then shall it be set before the prest / and the prest shall value it / whether it be good or bad / when it shall stande at the prests valuatione. But if any man will bye it out / he shall geue the syleth parte moie / so that it was set at.

When any mans sanctuery / is brought vnto the Lordde / for the sanctuary / the prest shall value it / whether it be good or bad. And as the prest valueti; it / so shall it stande. But if he the sanctuery / it will redeme it / he shall geue the syleth parte of syluer thereto / about that it was set at. So shall it be hie.

C If any man halowe a peece of lande of his heritage / vnto the Lordde / it shal; be valued / according to his beareth. If it beare an Homer / of barley / it shal; be valued at fyfye syles of syluer. But if he halow his lande / immediately from the yere of Jubilee forth / then shall it be set according to the value thereof. If he haue halowed it after the yere of Jubilee / then shall the prest reken it / according to the yeres / that remaine vnto the yere of Jubilee / and thereafter shall he set it the lower.

But if he that sanctified the lande / will redeme it agayne / then shall he geue the syleth parte of syluer thereto / about that it was set at / so shall it be hie. If he will not loose it out / but sell it / it vnto another / then shall he redeme it no moie: but the same lande / when it cometh out fre in the yere of Jubilee / shal; be holy vnto the Lordde / as a dedicated felde / and shal; be prests inheritance.

S If any man halowe vnto the Lordde a felde / which he hath bought / and is not his inheritance / then shall the prest reken it / when it is wote vnto the yere of Jubilee / and the same daye shall he geue the pryce that it is set at / vnto the yere of the Sanctuary. But in the yere of Jubilee / it shall reuene vnto hym that bought it / ther it maye be his inheritance in the lande. All maner of pynninge shal; be made / according to the Cycle of the Sanctuary. These are they / whome Moses and Aaron numbered with the twelue princes of Israel / whos of every one was ouer the house of their fathers. ¶ And 7 summe of y children of Israel / after they: fathers houses / from xx. years and above / whatsoeuer was able to go forth to 7 warre in Israel / was xxx. hundredth / thousande / rthe thousande / syue hundredth and ffyfy. But the Leuites / after the tribe of they fathers / were nor numbered amonge them.

¶ And the Lozde spake vnto Moses / and 8 sayd: The rybes of Leui shall thou not number / nor take the summe of them amonge the children of Israel / but shalt appoynte them to the habitation of witness / and to all 7 apparell thereof / and to all that belongeth thereto. ¶ And they shall beare the Tabernacle / and all 7 the ordinance thereof / and shall weyte vpon it / and shall pitch they: tentes round about it. And when men shall go on they: iourney / the Leuites shall take vpon the Tabernacle. And when the host pitcheth they: tentes / they shall set vp the Tabernacle. And if a straunge peccasse nye vnto it / he shall dye. The children of Israel shall pitch they: tentes / every one in his owne armie / and by 7 banner of his owne company. But the Leuites shall pitch rounde aboute the tabernacle of witness / y there come no weath vpon the congregation of the children of Israel: for thou shalt 7 Leuites weyte vpon the habitation of witness. And the children of Israel did all / as the Lozde commaunded Moses.

The 11. Chapter.

¶ And the Lozde spake vnto Moses and Aaron / and sayd: The children of Israel shall pitch rounde about the Tabernacle of witness / every one vnder his banner and toke / after their fathers houses.

¶ On the East syde shall Juda pitch with his banner and host / they: capteyne Iehoshafon / the sonne of Aminadab. And his armie / in the summe / feure and fcutyue thousande and six hundred. Nexte vnto hym shall the tribe of Issachar pitch / their capteyne Nathanael the sonne of Suarand his armye / in the summe four and fiftie thousande / and four hundredeth. The tribe of Zabulon also they captayne Eliab / the sonne of Helon: his armye / in the summe / seven and fiftie thousande / and four hundredeth.

So that all they / which belonge vnto the hoost of Iuda / be in the summe an C. five and foure score thousande / and foure hundredeth / belonginge to theyr armye / and they shall go before.

B On the South syde shall lye the pavillions and banner of Ruben / with their hoost / theyr captayne Elizur / the sonne of Sedeur and his armye / in the summe sixe and soine thousande / and fyue hundredeth. Nexte vnto him shal the rybe of Simeon pitch / their captayne Salimell / the sonne of Suri Sebati and his armye / in the summe / nyne and fiftie thousande / and the hundredeth. The rybe of Gad also / theyr captayne Eliafaph / the sonne of Segual and his armye / in the summe / fyue and fourey thousande / sixe hundredeth and fiftie. So that all they / which belonge vnto the hoost of Ruben / be in the summe / an hundredeth / one and fiftie thousande / four hundredeth / and fiftie / belonginge to theyr armye. And they shall be the seconde in the iourneye.

C After that shall the Tabernacle of witness go with the hoost of the Leuites / euen in the midde / amonge the hoost / and as they lye in their tentes / so shall they go forth also / euey one in his place / vnder his banner.

On the West syde shall lye the pavillions and banner of Ephraim / with their hoost: theyr captayne shall Elisama / the sonne of Amihud / and his armye / in the summe / fourey thousande / and fyue hundredeth. Nexte vnto him shal the rybe of Manasse pitch / their captayne Gamaliell / the sonne of Pedazur: his armye / in the summe / two and thirye thousande and two hundredeth. The rybe of Beniamin also / their captayne Abidam / the sonne of Gedon: his armye / in the summe / fyue and thirye thousande / and foure hundredeth. So that all they / which belonge to the hoost of Ephraim / be in the summe / an hundredeth thousande / sixty thousande / and an hundredeth belonginge to his armye. And they shall be the thrid in the iourneye.

On the North syde shall lye the pavillions and banner of Dan / with their hoost: theyr captayne Thier / the sonne of Amim Sabati / his armye / in the summe / two and fiftie thousande / and seven hundredeth. Nexte vnto him shall the rybe of Asser pitch: theyr captayne Pagal / the sonne of Obean / his armye / in the summe / one and fourey thousande / and fyue hundredeth. The rybe of Naphtali also their captayne Thira / the sonne of Enan: his armye / in the summe / thye and fiftie thousande and foure hundredeth. So that all they / which belonge to the hoost of Dan / be in the summe / an hundredeth thousande / seven and fiftie thousande / and sixe hundredeth. And they shall be the last in the iourneye with theyr banners.

This is the summe of the chylidren of Israel / after theyr fathers houses and armyes with their hoostes: euen sixe hundredeth thousande / the thousande / fyue hundredeth / and fiftie. But the Leuites were not numbered in the summe / amonge the chylidren of Israel: for the Lord commaunded Moses. And the chylidren of Israel did as the Lord commaunded Moses. And so they pitched vnder theyr banners / and toke theyr iourneye: euey one in his tent / accordinge to the house of theyr fathers.

And vnto euery one / shall ye appoynte his portion of charge / to wayte vpon the apparel. Let this be the office of the kynred / of the chyldren of Merari / al that they shall do in the Tabernacle of witnessse / vnder the bande of Jithamar / the sonne of Aaron the parr.

S And Moses and Aaron / with the captaynes of the congregacion / numbred the chyldren of the Rubynites / accordinge to theyr kynreds / and houses of their fathers / from xxx yearre and aboue / vntill l. all were mete for the warre / to haue an office in the Tabernacle of witnessse. And the summe was n. thousande / vij. hundred: and l. This is the summe of the kynred of the Rubynites / which all had seruce in the Tabernacle of witnessse: whome Moses and Aaron numbred / accordinge to the word of the Lorde by Moses.

The chyldren of Gerson were numbred also in theyr kynreds / and fathers houses / from xxx yearre and aboue / vntill l. all were mete for the warre / to haue an office in the Tabernacle of witnessse: and the summe was ij. thousande / vij. hundred: and xxx. This is the summe of the kynred of the chyldren of Gerson / which all had to do in the Tabernacle of witnessse: whome Moses and Aaron numbred / accordinge to the worde of the Lorde.

The chyldren of Merari were numbred also / accordinge to theyr kynreds and fathers houses / from xxx yearre and aboue / vntill l. all that were mete for the warre / to haue an office in the Tabernacle of witnessse: and the summe was iij. thousande / a ij. hundred: This is the summe of the kynred of the chyldren of Merari / whome Moses a Aaron numbred / accordinge to the worde of the Lorde by Moses.

The summe of all the Levites / whome Moses and Aaron with the captaynes of Israel tolde / after theyr kynreds and fathers houses / from xxx. yearre and aboue / vntill l. all that went in / to do euery one his office / or to beare the burthen in the Tabernacle of witnessse / was viij. thousande / v. hundred: a xxx. which were numbred / accordinge to the worde of the Lorde by Moses / euery one to his office and charge / as the Lorde commaunded Moses.

The V. Chapter.

S And the Lorde spake vnto Moses / and Israel sayde: Commaunde the chyldren of Israel / they put out of the hoost / all the lepers / & leui. 14. all that haue yssues / or that are cystled vpon the dead / borne men and women / shall theyr put out of the hoost / that they defile not their tentes / when I dwell amonge them. And the chyldren of Israel did so / and put them out of the hoost / so the Lorde had sayde vnto Moses.

And the Lorde talked with Moses / and sayde: Speake vnto the chyldren of Israel / and saye vnto them: When a man or woman hath a syne to any body / a offendeth therewith with agaynſt the Lord/then hath that ſoule a treſpaſſe upon it. And they ſhal knowlege theyr ſynne/that they haue done/a ſhal make amende for theyr treſpaſſe/with y whole ſumme/and put the ſythe parte more therio/ and geue it vnto hym/ agaynſt whome they haue treſpaſſed. But if there be noman to make the amende vnto/ſo for offence that he hath treſpaſſed agaynſt hym/then ſhal the reconcilinge be made vnto the Lord/ for the pueſt/ſyde be the ramme of the atonement/ wherwith he ſhal be reconciled.

B Likewyſe/all the beaue offerings of al that the chyldre of Iſrael balowe vnto the Lord/ and offre vnto y pueſt/ſhal be his. And who ſo baloweth any thyng/it ſhal be his. And who ſo geueth the preſt any thyng/it ſhal be his alſo.

And the Lord talked with Moſes/ and ſayde: Speake to the chyldren of Iſrael/ and ſaye vnto them: Whan any mans wyfe geerth aſide/and treſpaſſeth agaynſt hym/ and any man ſe with her ſleddye/and the thyng be ſer hyd from hye/ſhe is deſyled/ and be cen bynge no wtraſſe agaynſt her/ for the was not wken thern/ and the ſpyte of gelouſy kyndeth hym ſo that he is geloue ouer his wyfe: whether ſhe be vnkane/ſo not vnkane/ the ſhal be bunge her vnto the pueſt/a bunge an offering for her/ vnto the tenth parte of an Ephah of barley meale/a ſhal poure no oyle ther/ no put frankence vpon it/ ſo it is an offering of gelouſe/ and an offering of remembrance that rememberth ſynne.

C Then ſhall the pueſt bunge her/ and ſet her beſore the Lord/ and take of the y holy water in an earthen veſſell/ and put of the duſt y is on the floore of the habitacion/ into the water. And he ſhal ſet the wyfe beſore the Lord/ and vncouer her head/ and the offeringe of remembrance/ whiche is an offeringe of gelouſe/ ſhal be laſe vpon her hande. And the pueſt ſhal bane in his hande bitter curſynge water/ and ſhal coniure y wyfe/ and ſaye vnto her: If noman haue lycen with the/ and thou haſt not gone aſide from thy huſ bande/ to deſye thy ſelfe/ then ſhal not theſe bitter curſynge waters hurt the. But if thou haſt gone aſide from thy huſ bande/ ſo that thou accdeſyled/ and ſome other man hath lycen with the/ deſye thy huſ bande/ then ſhal the pueſt coniure the wyfe with this curſe/ and ſhal ſaye vnto her: The Lord ſet the to a curſe/ and conuacion amonge thy people/ ſo that the Lord make thy thy rote/ and thy wombe be ſterile. So go this curſed water into thy body/ that thy wombe be ſterile/ and thy thy rote. And y wyfe ſhal ſaye: Amen Amen.

So the pueſt ſhal wyte this curſe in a byll/ and waſhe it out with the water/ and ſhal geue the wyfe of the bitter curſynge water to drinke. And whan the curſynge water is gone in her/ ſo that it is bytter onto her/ then ſhal the pueſt take the gelouſe offeringe out of the wyfes hande/ and waue it for a meate offeringe beſore the Lord/ and offre it vpon the aultare: namely/ he ſhal take an handefull of the meate offeringe/ for her remembrance/ and burne it vpon the aultare/ and then geue the wyfe the water to drynke. And whan ſhe hath dronken the water/ if ſhe be deſyled/ and haue treſpaſſed agaynſt her huſ bande/ then ſhall the curſynge water go into her/ and be ſo bytter/ that her wombe ſhall be ſterile/ and her thyfe ſhall rote/ and the wyfe ſhal be a curſe amonge her people. But if the ſame wyfe be not deſyled/ but is cleane/ then ſhall it do her no harme/ ſo that ſhe maye be with chyld.

This is the lawe of gelouſy/ whiche a wyfe geerth aſide from her huſ bande/ and is deſyled: Whan the ſpyte of gelouſy kyndeth a man/ ſo that he is geloue ouer his wyfe/ that he bunge her beſore the Lord/ ſo that the pueſt do al with her/ accordynge vnto his lawe. And the man ſhal be gyttleſſe of the ſynne/ but the wyfe ſhal beare her myſe de.

The. VI Chapter.

Said the Lord talked with Moſes/ and ſayde: Speake vnto the chyldren of Iſrael/ and ſaye vnto them: Whan a man or woman ſeparate them ſelfe/ to eowe a pover of abſtinence vnto y Lord/ he ſhal abſtyn fro wyne a ſtronge drinke. Vnto of myme/ ſtronge Judi. p. 4. Pente ſhal be not drinke/ nor y ſo paſſed out Amos. 9. c. of grace/ he ſhal neither eate fleſh/ nor drye grece/ ſo longe as his abſtinence endureth. Moreover/ he ſhal eate nothing y is made of y vine/ except y wyne/ vnto the full.

As long as the voice of his abstinence endureth there shall no rasure come upon his head: till the time be out which he abstaineth vnto the Lord: for he is holy. And he shall keepe the heere of his head grow: and stande bare openly. All the time ouer that he abstaineth vnto the Lord: shall he go to no dead. Ne yett hee shall be vsing hym selfe at the death of his father: of his mother: of his brother: or of his sister. For the abstinence of his God is vpon his head: and the whole time of his abstinence shall be of holy vnto the Lord.

B And if thou chance any man to dye: suddenly before him: then shall the heade of his abstinence be vsyded. Therfore shall hee haue his heade in the daye of his cleansing: that is vpon the seventh daye: and vpon the eighth daye shall hee bringe two turtle doves: or two yonge pigeons vnto the priest: before the doore of the Tabernacle of witness. And the priest shall make the one a synnofferinge: and the other a burnt offeringe: and make an anointment for hym: because hee vsyded hym selfe vpon the heade: and so shall hee haue his heade 7 same daye: that hee maye holde out the time of his abstinence vnto the Lord: and hee shall bringe a lambe of a yere olde: for a trespass offeringe. But the dayes afore shall be but lost: because his abstinence was vsyded.

C This is the lawe of the absteyner. When the time of his abstinence is out: hee shall be brought before the doore of the Tabernacle of witness. And hee shall bringe his offeringe vnto the Lord: vizt an hebrake of a yere olde: without blemyshe: for a burnt offeringe: and a hebrake of a yere olde: without blemyshe: for a synnofferinge: and a ramme without blemyshe for a thankofferinge: and a manide with vntewinded eares of fyne floure: myngled with oyle: and sweete waters: anoynted with oyle: and theyr meatofferynges and drinckofferynges.

And the priest shall bringe it before the Lord: and shall make his synnofferinge: and his burnt offeringe: and the ramme shall hee make a thankofferyng vnto the Lord: with the manide of the vntewinded breade. His meatofferyng and drinckofferyng shall hee make also. And hee shall haue the heade of the abstinence abstinence: before the doore of 7

Tabernacle of witness: and shall take the heade heere of his abstinence: and cast it vpon the fyre: that is vnder the thankofferyng.

And the soddie shoulder of the ramme shall hee take: and an vntewinded cake out of the manide: and a sweete water: 7 laye them vpon the handes of the absteyner: after that hee hath shauen of his abstinence. And hee shall waite them before the Lord. This is holy for the priest with the Maudes: and haue shoulder. After that maye the absteyner drinke wyne. This is the lawe of the absteyner: which vnto his offeringe vnto the Lord: for his abstinence: vsydes that which his hande can geue. So hee hath vowed: so shall hee do: accordinge to the lawe of his abstinence.

And the Lord talked with Moses: and sayde: Speake vnto Aaron and his sounes afore: Thus shall ye saye vnto the chyldren of Israel: when ye blesse them.

7 The Lord blesse the: and kepe the. The Lord make his face to shyne vpon the: and be merciful vnto the.

The Lord lift his countenance vpon the: and geue the peace.

For theye shall put my name vpon 7 chyldren of Israel: that I maye blesse them.

The VII. Chapter.

AND when Moses had set vpon the habitation: and anoynted it: and sanctified it: with all the appaill thereof: and had anoynted and halowed the altare also: with all his vessels. Then offered the captaynes of Israel: which were the rulers in theyr fathers houses.

For they were the captaynes amonge the kynedes: and had the rule ouer them that were numbred. And theye brought theye offeringes before the Lord: 7 hee couered charrettes: and reuelse open: for euery two captaynes a charrete: / a an oxe: for euery one: and brought them before the Tabernacle.

And 7 Lord sayd vnto Moses: Take it of them: that it maye serue for the ministracion of the Tabernacle of witness: / a geue it vnto 7 Leuites: vnto euery one: according to his office. Then toke Moses the charrettes and oxen: / a gaue them vnto the Leuites.

¶ And whā Moses wente into the Tabernacle of witness / that he myght be commended withal / he orde the voyce speakinge vnto hym from the mercy seat / which was vpon the Arcke of witness / betwixt the two Cherubins / from thence was he conioned withal. The .viii. Chapter.

¶ And the Lorde talked with Moses / and sayde: Speake to Aaron / and saye vnto hym: When thou stest vp the lampes / thou shalt set them / so that they maye all geue light about vpon the candlesticke. And Aaron wyd so / and set the lampes vpon the candlesticke / as the Lorde commaunded Moses. The worke of the candlesticke was of beate golde / both the base and floures thereof: accordinge to the vision / that the Lorde had shewed Moses / when he made the candlesticke.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses and sayd: Take the Leuites / from amonge the children of Israel / and cleanse the. But thus shalt thou do with them / that thou mayst cleanse them. Thou shalt sprinkle purifyinge water vpon them / let a rasur go ouer theyr whole body / and walsh theyr clothes / and then are they cleane. Then shalt they take a yonge bullocke / and his meate offeringe of fyne flour / mingled with oyle. And another yonge bullocke shalt thou take for a synofferinge.

¶ And thou shalt bringe the Leuites before the Tabernacle of witness / together with the whole congregation of the children of Israel / bringinge the Leuites before the Lorde. And the children of Israel shall laye theyr handes vpon the Leuites. And Aaron shall waue the Leuites before the Lorde / for the children of Israel / that they maye minister in the seruice of the Lorde.

And the Leuites shall saye they: handes vpon the heades of the bullockes / and the one bulke made a synofferinge / the other a burnt offringe vnto the Lorde / to made an atonement for the Leuites. And thou shalt set the Leuites before Aaron and his sonnes / and waue them before the Lorde / so shalt thou separate them from the children of Israel / that they maye be myne. Then shalt they go in / that they maye do seruice in the Tabernacle of witness. Thus shalt thou cleanse them / and waue them: for they are my gyfte of the children of Israel. And I haue receiued them vnto me / so that I maye open the matris / namely / so the fyrthorne of all the children of Israel.

¶ For euery fyrthorne / amonge the children of Israel is myne / both of men and cattel / sense the tyme that I smote all the fyrthorne in the lande of Egypte / and sanctified them vnto my self / and receiued the Leuites for all the fyrthorne / amonge the children of Israel / and gaue them for a gyfte vnto Aaron / a his sonnes / from amonge the children of Israel / that they should be do the seruice of the children of Israel / in the Tabernacle of witness / to make atonement for the children of Israel / that there be not a plague amonge the children of Israel / if they wyl come nye the Sanctuary.

And Moses with Aaron / and the whole congregation of the children of Israel / wyd to the Leuites as do the Lorde hath commaunded Moses. And they purified the Leuites / a washed theyr clothes. And Aaron waued them before the Lorde / and made atonement for them / that they myght be cleane.

After that wene they in to do theyr office / in the Tabernacle of witness / before Aaron and his sonnes: As the Lorde commaunded Moses / concerninge the Leuites / when he dyd they with them.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses / and sayd: This is it that shall comen vnto the Leuites: From fyue and twenty yeare and aboue / shalt they go into the office of the Tabernacle of witness. But fro fyfth yeare forth / they shall comen from wayninge of the seruice thereof / and shall minister nomore / but shal appointe theyr brethren to waite / and to serue in the Tabernacle of witness: But the office shal not they execute. Thus shalt thou do with the Leuites in theyr seruices / that euery one maye waye report his owne charge.

And

¶ And the Lord spake unto Moses / in the wilderness of Sin / in the first month of the seconde year / that they were departed out of the land of Egypt and sayd: ¶ The children of Israel kepe Easter in his first month / when in his season / that they kepe it / according to all statutes and lawes thereof. ¶ And Moses spake to the children of Israel that they should kepe Easter. ¶ And they kepe Easter upon the fourteenth day of the first month / as it is in the wilderness of Sin. ¶ According to all that the Lord commanded Moses / even so did the children of Israel.

¶ Then were ther certayne men despised of a Beemā / so that they could not kepe Easter upon 7 dayes: these came before Moses a Beemā the same day / and said unto him: We are despised of a Beemā: wherefore should we be despised? we must not bringe our giftes in his season / amonge the children of Israel: Moses sayd vnto them: Stand still / I will heare what the Lord commaundetb you.

¶ But he 7 is cleane / a not gone in a iourney / a is negligent to kepe the Easter / the same soule shall be roted oute fro amonge his people: because he thought not his gifte to the Lord in his season / he shall beare his sinne. ¶ And whā there dwelleth a stranger / andge you he shall kepe Easter also vnto 7 Lord: / a that holdeth / according to the ordinance a lame of 7 Easter. This figure shall be a like to the stranger / as vnto him that is borne in the lande.

¶ And the same daye that the habitation was set vp / a cloude covered it / vnto 7 Tabernacle of witness / and at euens there was a similitude of fire vpon the Habitation / vntill the morninge. So came it to passe alwaye that the cloude covered it by daye / and 7 similitude of fire by night. ¶ And whā the cloude was taken vp / fro the habitation / then the children of Israel went on their iourney. ¶ And loke in what place the cloude abode / there the children of Israel pitched their tentes: ¶ According to the woide of the Lord / so the childre of Israel pitched their iourney / and according to his woide pitched they their tentes. ¶ So long as the cloude abode vpon 7 habitation / they late still. ¶ And whā the cloude carryd many dayes vpon the habitation / the children of Israel wayed vpon the Lord / and went not on their iourney.

¶ And whā it chaunced that the cloude abode vpon the habitation any space of dayes / then pitched they / according to the woide of the Lord / and after the woide of the Lord / went they on their iourney. ¶ Whā the cloude was there from the eueninge vntill the morninge / and so was taken vp / then went they on their iourney: and whether it was taken vp by daye / and by night / they iourneied. ¶ But whā it tarped vpon 7 habitation two dayes / or a moneth / or a long season / then laye the children of Israel / and iourneied not / and so whā it was take vp / they went on their iourney. ¶ For according to the mouth of the Lord they iourneied: so that they kepte the Lordes march / according to the woide of the Lord by Moses.

The X Chapter.

¶ And the Lord spake vnto Moses / and 7 7 sayd: Make the two prospectors of Beare / kepen iuglers / that thou mayest vse them / to call the congregacion together / and whā the host shall breake vp. ¶ Whā they blowe with both / then shall the whole congregacion gather them selves together vnto the before the Doore of the Tabernacle of witness. ¶ Whā they blowe but with one / then the captiuitie / the rulers ouer the thousandes in Israel shall gather them selves together vnto the. ¶ Whā ye trumpet / then shall the hostes / that lye on the East syde / breake vp. ¶ And whā ye trumpet the seconde tym / the hostes that lye on the South syde / shall breake vp. ¶ For ye shall trōpe / whā they shall raise their iourney. ¶ But whā whā the congregacion is to be gathered together / ye shall blowe / and not trōpe. ¶ This blowyng blowing with the trumpets that the sonnes of Aar & priest do. And it shalbe your lawe for euer/amonge your posteritee.

When ye go to battayle in your lande / against your enemies that vered you/ye shall rouse with the trumpets/that ye maye be remembered before the Lord your God/ and delivered from your enemies.

B Likewise when ye are merry in your feast dayes/and in your new monethes/ye shall blowe with the trumpets ouer your burnt sacrifices and thank offerings/that in maye be a reuend:ance vnto you/before your God. Jam the Lord your God.

Upon the twentieth daie/in the seconde moneth of the seconde yeare/arose the cloude first the habitation of witness. And the chyldren of Israel went on theyr journey out of the wilderness of Sinai/and the cloude abode in the wilderness of Pharan. First shate vp according to the woide of the Lord by Moses. Namely the banner of the hoost of Iuda went forth first with theyr armies/ and ouer their hoost was Eliaff sonne of Ammadab. And ouer the hoost of the tribe of the chylden of Issachar was Nathanel/the sonne of Zuar. And ouer the hoost of the tribe of the chylden of Zabulon was Eliah/the sonne of Ieion. And the habitation was taken vnto euaud and the chylden of Gerson/and Merari bare the habitation.

After that went the banner of the hoost of Ruben with theyr armies/ and ouer theyr hoost was Eliazur/the sonne of Sedeur. And ouer the hoost of the tribe of the chylden of Simeon was Elcumel the sonne of Sauri Sadai. And Elisaph the sonne of Demuel/ouer the hoost of the tribe of the chylden of Gad. Then went the Zababirnes soeuerbe also/ and bare the Sanctuary/ as caused the habitation be set vp agaynst they came.

After that went the banner of the hoost of the chylden of Ephraim with theyr armies/ and ouer theyr hoost was Elisama the sonne of Amibon. And Gemael the sonne of Pedeur ouer the hoost of the tribe of the chylden of Manasse. And Abida the sonne of Gedon/ouer the hoost of the tribe of the chylden of Beniamin.

After that went the banner of the hoost of the chylden of Dan / with theyr armies/ and so went at the hoostes vp and Bueker the sonne of Ammi Sadai was ouer theyr hoost. And Pagnel the sonne of Othian/ouer the hoost of the tribe of the chylden of Asser. And Abira the sonne of Euan/ouer the hoost of the tribe of the chylden of Naphtali. Thus the chylden of Israel went forth with theyr armies.

And Moses spake vnto his brother in lawe/ Hobab the sonne of Reguel of Madian: Exo. xxi. 10 We go vnto the place of the which the Lord sayd: I wyl geue it you: Come now with vs therefore/ and we wil do the best with the so: the Lord hath promised good vnto Israel. But he aunswered: I wil not go with you/ but wyl go in to myne owne lande/ vnto my kynrede. He sayd: Oh myn/ leaue we not for thou knowest where we wil go: we to pise in the wilderness/ and thou shalt be our eye. And if thou goest with vs/ loke what good the Lord doth vnto vs/ the same wyl we do vnto the. So they departed from the mount of the Lord the thirte daies/ and the Trocke of the Lordes conuenaunt/ wente before them those the thirte dayes/ to shewe them where they shoulde rest. And the cloude of the Lord was ouer them in the thirte tyme/ that they wente out of the tentes.

And when the Trocke wente south/ Moses sayd: I wyl see the Lord. Let thine enemies be scattered/ and let them that hate the sye before the. And when it resteth/ he sayd: Come agayn O Lord vnto the multitude of the thousandes of Israel. Ps. cxviii. 14

The XI Chapter.

Exo. xxi. 15 When the people weard vnpayent/ I wyl displeasid fore the eares of the Lord. Exo. xxi. 16 And when the Lord heerde it/ his wrath was kindled/ and he croude of the Lord burnt amonge them/ so that it consumed the uttermost of the hoost. Then cryed the people vnto Moses. And Moses prayed vnto the Lord. So the fyre quenched/ and the place was called Tabara/ because it fre of the Lord burnt amonge them.

Then the conuincit forte of the people that was amonge them/ fill a lustyng/ and let it wepe with the chylden of Israel/ and sayd: Why

Who will geue vs fleshe to eate. We remembre the fyshc / that we did eate in Egypte for nought / and cucumbers / melons / leeks / onions / and garlick: But now is our soules dyed awaye / our eyes se nothinge then the Manna.

B The Manna was hyfe Couanderside / and to loke vpon hyfe Bedellion. And 3 people came here and there / and gathered it / and grounde it in myles / and bere it in mortars / and bated it in panncs / and made cakes of it / and it had a sayllike an oyle cake. And when the Jewes fel the tenes in the night / the Manna fel therwith.

Now was Mosco herde the people wepe amonge they: Fynned / every one in his tent bose / then the word of the Lord wasp creadyng where. And it greued Mosco also.

C And Mosco sayd vnto the Lord: Why wepeth thou thy seruauit? And why fynde not I fauoure in thy sight / that thou layest 3 diuers then of al this people vpon me: Haue I then conceaied al this people / or begotten them / that thou shouldest say vnto me: carye them in thine armes / as a nurse beareth a chyld / vnto the lande / that thou hast sworne vnto theyr fathers: Where shal I get fleshe to geue al this people? They wepe before me / I saye: Geue vs fleshe / that we may eate. I am not able to beare al this people alone / for it is to heauy for me. And if thou wilt deale thus w me: O vs! me then / I haue founde fauoure in thy sight / that I se not my wretchednesse.

D And the Lord sayde vnto Mosco: Gather vnto me thre tyenty men amonge the elders of Israell / whom thou knowest that they are the 3 Elders in 3 people / a officers ouer the / and bring them before the Tabernacle of testimony / and set them there with thee: then will I come downe / and talke with the euen there / and take thy spere that is vpon the / and put it vpon them / that they may beare the burthen of the people with the / that thou beare not al alone.

E And vnto the people thou shalt saye: Take of your silkes agaynst to morow / ye may eate fleshe: for youre weepinges come into the cares of the Lord / ye that saye: Who shall geue vs fleshe to eate: for we were well at ease in Egypte. Therefore shall 3 Lord geue you fleshe to eat / not one daye / not two / not 3 / not ten / not twentye dayes longe / but a monthe longe / nll it go out at our noses / and nll ye loke it / eue because ye haue refused 3 Lord which is amonge you / and haue wepte before him / and sayd: I therefore wente we out of Egypte.

And Mosco sayd: 3 Gyre hideth thou / I sende fore men are there of the people / amonge whom I am / and thou shalt: I will geue you fleshe to eate a monthe longe. Shall the shepe 3 and oven be slayne / to be yonghe for them: Or: shal al the fyshes of the see be gathered together to be sufficient for them: The Lord sayd vnto Mosco: 3 In the Lordes hande: he sheweth then: But now shal thou se / where ther my wordes shalbe fulfilled in dede / or no.

And Mosco went out / and tolde 3 people the worde of the Lord / and gathered the 30 uarye men amonge the eldest of the people / and set them rounde about the Tabernacle. Then came the Lord downe in a cloude / and spake vnto him / and toke of 3 spere that was vpon him / and put it vpo the scuney Elders. And when the spere rested vpon them / they prophesied / and ceased not.

But in the hoost there remayned yet two 3 men / of whom the one was called Eldad / 3 other Madad / and the spere rested vpon they: for they were wnten vp also / and yet were they not gone out vnto the Tabernacle / and they prophesied in the hoost. The ranne there a lab / and tolde Mosco / and sayde: Eldad and Madad prophesye in the hoost. Then answered Josua the sonne of Nun / Mosco seruauit / whom he had chosen / and said: My lord Mosco forbidde them. But Mosco sayd vnto him: Are I gelous for my sake: I wold God / that al the people of the Lord coude prophesye / and that the Lord wold geue them his spere. So Mosco and the Elders of Israell gat them to the hoost.

Then went out the wynde from the Lord / and caufd quayles to come from the see / and scated them ouer the hoost / here a days iourney / therc a dayes iourney / round about the hoost / two cubites hye aboue the earth. Then the people stode vp al the daye / al that night / and al the nexte daye / and gathered quayles / and be that gathered the least gathered ten homers: and they fylled them rounde aboute the hoost.

17c ¶ But while the sicke was yet betwene they receyue: euer it was wth the weari of the 1 Lord waxed rebote amonge the people / and 1 flew: them with an exceeding great slaughter. Therefore to the same place called the graues of lust / because the voluptuous people were buried there. ¶ From the lust graues toke 18c the people their iourney unto Hazeroth / and abode at Hazeroth.

The. XII. Chapter.

19c ¶ And Miriam and Aaron spake agaynst 18b Moyses / because of his wyfe the Moian
1 which he had taken / because he had taken a 1 Moian to wyfe / as they sayd: Soth the Lord 1 spake onely thoro to Moyses: Speaker he not also by vs: And the Lord e herde it. ¶ But 19a Moyses was a very meke man / above al men upon earth. And haustly spake the Lord 1 unto Moyses / and to Aarons / and to Miriam:
Go out ye thre: unto y Tabernacle of witness.
And they wente out all thre.

20c ¶ Then came the Lord downe in the 19g cloudy pillar / and stode in the doore of the Ta-bernacl: and called Aaron and Miriam / and they both reit out. And he sayde: Heare my wordes: If any man be a prophet of the 1 Lord: / or shal he saye I shewe my selfe in a 1 vision / or shal he speake vnto him in a dreame.
21a But not so thys seruauit Moyses / which 19e is faithfull in all my house. ¶ Mouth to mouth
1 spake I vnto hym / and he seyd the Lord 1 in his faithion / nor reioyde vnto wordes of 1 licencesse: Wherefore were ye not afrayed / then 1 to speake agaynst my seruauit Moyses: And 1 the weari of the Lord waxed rebote ouer 1 them / and he turned hym away / and the 1 cloude al departed from the Tabernacle.

21b ¶ And beholde / then was Miriam become 1 leprous / as it were snow. And Aaron turned 1 vnto Miriam / and sayd that she was 1 leprous / and sayde vnto Moyses: Oh my 1 Lord: / put not the synne vpon vs / which 1 we haue falsly committed and synned / that 1 she be not as one that commeth drede out of 1 his mothers wombe: It hath eaten up halfe 1 her selfe already.

¶ But Moyses cryed vnto the Lord: / and 1 sayde: Oh God heale her. The Lord sayd 1 vnto Moyses: If her father had spure in her face / should she not be ashamed seven dayes: ¶ Let her be shur out of the hoost seven dayes /

1 after that: let her be receaued agayne. So 1 Miriam was shure out of the hoost seven 1 dayes / as the people wente no farther nil. Mir
1 Jam was receaued agayne. ¶ Afterward de-1 parted the people from Hazeroth / and pitched 1 in the wilderness of Pbaran.

The. XIII. Chapter.

¶ And the Lord spake vnto Moyses / and 1 sayde: ¶ Sende forth men to spye ouer the 1 lande of Canaan / which I wil geue vnto the 1 chyldren of Israel. Of euery trybe of their fa-1 thers a man / and let them all be such as are 1 capraynes among them. Moyses sent the out
1 of the wilderness out of Pbaran / accordinge 1 to the word of the Lord: / such as were all 1 heades among the chyldren of Israel / and these 1 are they: name.

¶ Samma the sonne of Zadur / of the trybe 1 of Ruben. Saphat the sonne of Hen / of the 1 trybe of Symeon. Caleb the sonne of Iephu-
1 ne / of y tribe of Iuda. Igeal the sonne of Zo-
1 seph of the trybe of Iaschar. Hosca the sonne 1 of Nun / of the trybe of Ephraim. Pally the 1 sonne of Raphu / of the trybe of Ben Iamin.
Gadullah: sonne of Gadi / of the trybe of Ga-
1 bulon. Gaddi the sonne of Susi / of the trybe 1 of Ioseph of Manasse. Annuul the sonne of 1 Gemalli / of the trybe of Dan. Serhur the son-
1 ne of Michael / of the trybe of Asser. Uabchi 1 the sonne of Dappi / of the trybe of Nephtali.
Guell the sonne of Nachi / of the trybe of 1 Gad. These are the names of the men / whom 1 Moyses sent forth to spye ouer the lande. As 1 for Hosca the sonne of Nun. Moyses called 1 hym Iosua.

¶ Now when Moyses sent them forth to 1 spye ouer the lande of Canaan / he sayd vnto
1 them: Go ye forthward / and get you vp to y 1 mountaynes / and loke vps the lide hore this:
1 a the people y dwell therein / whether they be 1 stronge or weak: fewe or many: and what ma-1 ner of lande it is: what they dwell in / whether 1 it be good or bad: and what manner of cyties 1 they be: what they dwell in / whether they be 1 fenced with walles / or not: and what maner 1 of lande it is / whether it be fat or lean / and 1 whether there be trees therein / or not. Be of 1 a good courage / a bringe of the frutes of the 1 lande

lande. It was euen aboute the tyme that grapes are fylled ripe.

They wente vp/and spied the lande/ from the wilderness of Sin/ vntill Nehoby/ so me go vnto Goshath. They wente also vp toward the south/ and came vnto Hebion/ where a human was/ and Hebion/ an Chalmas/ the chylidren of Eneke/ (Hebion was buylded seuen yere before Ioan in Egipte).

E ut. j. D And they came vnto the ryuer of Escoll/ and there they cutt doune a clouster of grapes/ and caused two to beare it vpon a fless/ pouerly made also/ and syngge. The place is called the ryuer of Escoll/ because of the clouster of grapes/ which the chylidren of Israell cutt doune there.

And when they had spied out the lande/ they turned backe agayne after xl. dayes/ and came to Mosse a Barona/ to the whole congregation/ of the chylidren of Israell/ in to the wilderness of Pharan/ cutt vnto Cedus/ and broughte them worde agayne/ and to the whole congregation/ how it stode/ and let them see the fruit of the lande/ and tolde them/ and sayd: We came into the lande/ wher ye sente vs/ where it floweth with milke and hony/ and this is the fruit thereof: sayunge that stronge people dwell therein/ and the citeys are exceeding stronge and great. And we sawe the chylidren of Enacke there also. The Emackes dwell in the south countre/ the Gethites/ a Jebusites/ and Ammonites dwell vpon the mounteynes/ but y Cananites dwell by the seaward aboute Iordane.

B W ut. iij. f D Howbeit/ called filled the people that was agaynst Mosse/ and sayde vnto them: We go vp/ and conquere the lande/ for we are able to ouercome it. But the men that wente vp it hym/ sayde: We are not able to go vp agaynst the people/ for they are stronge for vs. And of the lande that they had feared/ they broughte vp an euill reporte amonge the chylidren of Israell/ and sayde: The lande that we haue gone thow to spy out/ ceceth by the uid well/ is therof/ and all the people that we sawe therein/ are men of greate stature. We sawe giants there also/ yee/ giuantes as the chylidren of Enacke: and we sined in our sight as the grethoppers/ and so dyd we in their sight.

L Then the whole congregation rose on/ and cryed/ as the people wepte that night. And all the chylidren of Israell murmured as they sayd agaynst Mosse and Aaron/ and the whole congregation sayde vnto them: O if we had dyed in the lade of Egipte/ or that we mighte haue yet in this wilderness. Wherfore by agayneth the Lord vs into this lande/ that our wyse shoulde fall/ howe the swerde/ and our chylidren be a praye/ for we neither/ y we go agayn into Egipte/ and they sayd one to another: Let vs make a captiue/ and go into Egipte agayne.

But Mosse and Aaron fell vpon their faces before the whole congregation/ of the multitude of the chylidren of Israell. And Jos. said vnto the sonne of Nun/ and Eled the sonne of Ithi/ Sephura/ which also had spied out the lande/ rente theyr clothes/ and spake to the whole congregation of the chylidren of Israell: The lande that we haue walkt in thow to spy out/ is a very good lande. If the Lord haue luste vnto vs/ he shall bringe vs into this lande/ and geue it vs/ whiche is a lande that floweth with milke and hony. But in any wyse rebell not ye agaynst the Lord/ and I feare not: the people of this lande/ for we will deuore them vp as bread. Their defence is departed from them/ but y Lord is with vs/ hee will not be trayed off them.

And all the peple had stoneth them with stones. Then appeared the glory of the Lord in the Tabernacle of witness/ vnto all the chylidren of Israell/ and the Lord sayd vnto Mosse: How longe shall this people blaspheme me? And how longe will it be/ or they beleue me? all y rekeine that I haue strowed amonge them? I will smyte them/ with pestilence/ and destroye them/ and wil make of the greater and mightier people then this is.

But Mosse sayde vnto the Lord: Then shall the Egyptians haue it/ for with thy power haue thou broughte this people from amonge them/ so shal it be told to the inhabitants of this lande also/ which haue heard of thou/ O Lord art amonge the people/ for thou art fine face to face/ and that thy cloude standeth ouer them/ as that thou goest goest before them in the cloudy pillar / on the daye tymes / and in the fire pillar on the night season. If thou shouldest not say: thy people as one man / then the Lord sayeth thus: ¶ Therefore for good report of his shouldest saye: The Lord was not able to bringe the people into the land / for he swaue unto them / therefore he shal slayne them in the wilderness.

E So let the power of the Lord now be great / accordinge as thou hast spoken / and saye: The Lord is of longe sufferance / and of great mercy / and forgiveth synne and transgression / and leaveth innocent / and visiteth the iniquitie of the fathers upon the children / into the thirde and fourth generation.

O be gracious now unto the synne of this people / accordinge to thy great mercy / lest as thou hast sayd / because thou shalt cut from Egypte unto this place / And the Lord sayde: I have forgiven it as thou hast sayd.

But as truly as I live / all thy wonder shal be full of my glorye. For of all men that have sent my glorye / and my tokens / whiche I did in Egypte / and in the wilderness / and I sent thee me now ten tymes / and have not beneferred unto my purpose / there shall not one of the land that I swaue unto their fathers: neither shall any of them that have blasphemed me sit.

But my seruante Caleb / because there is another man spere with him / because he hath folowed me / my will I bringe into the land / whiche he hath gone thorow / and his seed shall conuerce it / and the Amalekites also / and the Canaanites that dwell in the lowe countreies. To morrowe turne you / and get you in the wilderness / and reuey towarde the read see.

O And the Lord spake vnto Moses and Aaron / and sayd: How longe shall this euell multitude murmur agaynst me? for I haue herd the murmuringe of the children of Israel / that they haue murmured agaynst me. Et them therefore / I as truly as I live / (sayeth the Lord) I wil do vnto you / euen as ye haue spoken in mine eares / your carcase shall lie in the wilderness. And all ye that were I numbed from twentye yeare ago / whiche haue murmured agaynst me / shall not come into the land / concerninge which I sware vnto my hande / that I wolde let you dwell therein / saue Caleb the sonne of Iephune / and Josua the sonne of Nun.

Your children of whom ye sayde: They shal be a spoyle / whom wil I bringe into the land / they knowe the land / whiche ye haue receyued. But ye wold that your carcase should be in this wilderness / and your children should be in this wilderness / for ye care not / a beare your whoredoms / till your carcase be walled in the wilderness / accordinge to the number of the fortye dayes / when ye spyed out the land. ¶ And saye for a yeare / so for fortye yeares ye shall beare your iniquities / that ye maye knowe what it is / when I withdraue my hande / cut I the Lord haue sayde it / and will do it in bede / vnto all this euell congregation / that haue lift vp themselves agaynst me: In this wilderness shall they be confirmed / and there shall they dye.

¶ So these fortye dayes / and were plagued before I come. ¶ And the Lord all the men / whom Moses sent to spye out the land / and came agayne / and made the whole congregation to murmur agaynst it / because they brought vp a misreporte of the land / for it was euell. But Josua the sonne of Nun / and Caleb the sonne of Iephune were left aloue of the men that wente to spye out the land. ¶ Then Moses spake these wordes vnto all the children of Israel. Then rose the people great rore.

And they arose early in the morninge / and wente vp to the toppe of the mountayne / and sayde: We haue are wold / and will go vp to the place / wherof the Lord hath sayde: For we haue sinned. But Moses sayde: Wherefore go ye on this maner beyonde the word of the Lord? It shal not prosper with you / go not vp / for the Lord is not among you / therefore ye shal not slayne before your enemyes. For the Amalekites and Canaanites are there before you / a ye shall fall thorow the sword / because ye haue turned your selfe from the Lord / and the Lord shal not be with you.

But they were blinded to go vp to the toppe of the mountayne: Vieweth this / the Arke of the Lordes conuenance / a Moses came not out of the boote. Then came Bonc I Amalekites and Canaanites / whiche dwelt upon that mountayn / and smote them / a be wred them / euen vnto Hoina.

The XV. Chapter.

And the Lord talked with Moses / and sayde: Speake to the chyldren of Israell / and say vnto them: When ye come into the lande of youre dwellinge / which I shall geue you / and will do sacrifice vnto the Lord / whether it be a burnt offeringe / or an offeror your fre offerings / that ye maye make a sweete sauoure vnto the Lord / of oyle or of strepe.

The that will offre now his gifte vnto the Lord / shall bringe for the meate offeringe a tenth deale of fyne flour / mingled with oyle / of the fourth part of an Eyn / and wyne for the drinke offeringe / the fourth part of an Hin also: for the burnt offeringe / or any other offeringe / when a lambe is offered. But when there is a ramme offered / thou shalt make the meate offeringe two tenth deales of fyne flour / mingled with oyle / of the third parte of an Hin: or the thirde parte of an Hin of wyne also / for a drinke offeringe: this shall thou offre for a sweete sauoure vnto the Lord.

But if thou wilt offre an oxe for a burnt offer-ryng: for a speciall vowe offeringe / or for a thank offeringe vnto the Lord / thou shalt bringe to the oxe / meate offeringe / euen the tenth deales of fyne flour / mingled with halfe an Hin of oyle / or halfe an Hin of wyne / for a drinke offeringe. This is an offeringe of a sweete sauoure vnto the Lord. Thus shalt thou do with an oxe / with a ramme / with a lambe / and with a goat. Accordyng as the number of the offeringes is / thereafter shall the number of the meate offeringes and drin-ke offeringes be also.

If he be one of youre selves / shall so this / that he may offre a sacrifice of a sweete sauoure vnto the Lord. And if thre dwell a stranger with you / or in amonge your hyndfolkes / and will do an offeringe vnto the Lord for a sweete sauoure / the same shall do as ye do. Let there be one statute for the whole congregacion: and vnto you / and to the strangers. A perpetuall statute shall it be vnto youre posterities / that the stranger be euen as ye before the Lord. One lawe / and one ordinance shall be vnto you / and to the stranger that dwelleth with you.

And the Lord talked with Moses / and sayde: Speake to the chyldren of Israell / and saye vnto them: When ye come into the lande / into the which I shall bringe you / so that ye eate the bread of the lande / ye shall bane vp an heauy offeringe vnto the Lord / nammely: a cake of the firstlings of your vowe shall ye geue for an heauy offeringe. This is the heauy offeringe of the barme / euen so shall ye geue the firstlings of your vowe: also vnto the Lord / for an heauy offeringe: amonge youre posterities.

And when ye thowte ignorauce of uerfe any of these commaundementes / which the Lord hath commaunded you by Moses / and all that the Lord hath commaunded you by Moses / from the daye that the Lord began to commaunde for your posse-sion: and the congregacion do oughte igno-rantly: then shall the whole congregacion offre a yonge bullocke / from amonge the greate cattell to a burnt offeringe / for a sweete sauoure vnto the Lord / with his meate offer-ryng and drinke offeringe as the manner is to end an hegoate for a synnofferinge. And so shall the priest make an atonement for the whole congregacion of the chyldren of Israel / and it shalbe forgiven them: for it is an ignorauce. And they shall bringe these their giftes for an offeringe vnto the Lord: a their synnofferinge before the Lord / for their ignorance: and it shalbe forgiven the whole con-gregacion of the chyldren of Israell: and the stranger that dwelleth amonge you: for so much as all the people is in such ignorauce.

If one soule synne thowte ignorauce / the same shall bringe a shegoate of a yere elde / for a synnofferinge. And the priest shall make an atonement for such an ignorant soule by the synnofferinge: for the ignorauce before the Lord: that he maye reconyle hym: if it shalbe one lawe: that they shall do for the ignorant both vnto hym that is borne amonge the chyldren of Israell: and to the stranger that dwelleth amonge you.

But if a soule do oughte presumptuously /

 Lord.

Loide / and hath left his commaundement vnto: that soule shall utterly perish / his synne shall be vpon hym.

E Nowe whyle the chyldren of Israel were in the wilderness / they founde a man gathering flycses vpon the Sabbath day. And they that founde hym gatheringe stickes / brought hym vnto Moses and Aaron / and before the whole congregation. ¶ And they put hym in prison / for it was not declared what shoulde be done vnto hym. The Loide sayde vnto Moses: The man shall dye the death / the whole congregation shall stone hym without the hoost. Then the whole congregation brought hym out of the hoost / and stoned hym that he dyed / as the Loide commaunded Moses.

¶ And the Loide sayde vnto Moses / Speake to the chyldren of Israel / and saye vnto them / that they make them gardes vpon the quarters of their garmentes / amonge all youre postures / and put yalowe rybandes vpon the gardes in the quarters. And the gardes shall serue you / that ye maye loke vpon them / and remembre all the commaundementes of the Loide / and do them / that ye sider not your selves after the meaninge of youre owne herte / no: go a whaynge after your owne eyes. These shall ye remembre / and do all my commaundementes / and be holy vnto your God / I am the Loide your God / which broughte you out of the lande of Egypte / to be your God: Euen I the Loide your God.

The XVI. Chapter.

AND I Corah the sonne of Jezbar / the son of Ephraim / the sonne of Abirath / the sonne of Leui / with Dathan and Abiram / the sonnics of Eliab / and On the sonne of Peleth / the sonne of Ruben / stode vp agaynst Moses / with certayne men amonge the chyldren of Israel / two hundred and ffyfe captaynes of the congregation / countfallers / and famous men. And they gathered them selfe agaynst Moses and Aaron / and sayde vnto them: Ye make to much a do / for all the congregation is holy every one / and the Loide is amonge them: Why lieste your selves vp vpon / about the congregation of the Loide?

Whan Moses herde that he fell vpon his face / and sayde vnto Corah / At to all his company: To moone shall the Loide shew who is his / and who is holy to come vnto hym. Whome soeuer he choseth / the same shall come vnto him. This do: Take the censers / thou Corah and all thy company / and do fyre thereon / and put incense thereon / to morrow before the Loide: then whome soeuer the Loide choseth / the same shall be holy. Ye make to much a do / ye chyldren of Leui.

And Moses sayde vnto Corah: Heare ye O chyldren of Leui / is it not ynough vnto you / that the God of Israel hath separated you / from the multitude of Israel / that ye shoulde come nye hym / to do the seruice of the dwellinge place of the Loide / and stande before the people to minister vnto them? He hath caused the end thy brethren / the chyldren of Leui / with theto come nye vnto hym: and now ye see the pusillhode also: Thou a lly thy company conspyre agaynst the Loide. What is Aaron that ye shoulde murmure agaynst hym?

¶ And Moses sent to call Dathan and Abiram / the sonnics of Eliab. But they sayde: We will not come vp. Is it to litle that thou hast brought vs out of the lande of Egypte / (that floweth with mylke & hony) / to flye vs in the wilderness / but thou must raygne ouer vs also? Howe goodly / and well hast thou brought vs into a lode / that floweth with mylke and hony / a greuen vs felde / and vineyardes in possession: Wilt thou put out / these mens eyes: We wil not come vp.

¶ Then was Moses very wroth / and sayde vnto the Loide: Turne the nor vnto their meate offerings. I haue not taken so much as an asse from them / yet they haue I hurt any of them. And Moses sayde vnto Corah: To morrow be thou / and all thy company before the Loide / thou / and they / and Aaron. And take euery one his censer / and put incense thereon / and come before the Loide / euery one with his censer (that is two hundred and ffyfe censers) / and both thou and Dathan / take cyther his censer.

¶ And euery one toke his censer / and put fyre thereon / and layd incense thereon / and came before the Doie of the Tabernacle of witness / and Moses and Aaron also. And Corah gathered the whole congregation agaynste them / before the Voce of the Tabernacle of witnessse.

3 ii gathered

But the glorie of the Lord appeared before the whole congregation. And the Lord spake vnto Moses and Aarons / and sayde: Separate your selves from this congregation / that I may shortly consume them. And they fell vpon their faces / and sayde: O God / thou God of the spircs of all fleshe / if one man haue sinned / wilst thou therefore be wroth agaynste the whole congregation. And the Lord spake vnto Moses / and sayde: Come vp from the waellynge of Corah / and Dathan / and Abiram.

And Moses stode vp / and wente vnto Dathan and Abiram / and the elders of Israel folowedyhem / and he spake to the congregation / and sayde: Separate from the tentes of these vngodly men / and touche nothinge that is theirs / that ye perishe not in any of their synnes. And they gart them vp from the waellynge of Corah / Dathan / and Abiram. But Dathan and Abiram came out / and stode in the Voce of their tentes / with their wyues / and sonnes / and chyldren.

And Moses sayd: Here by shall ye knowe that the Lord hath sent me to do all these woordes / and that I haue not done them of mine owne wille. If these men be the commynue deathe of all men: be vsited so. all men are vsited / when hath not the Lord sent me. But if the Lord make a new thyng / and the earth open her mouth / and swallowe them / with all they haue / so that they go downe quicke into hell / then shall ye knowe that these men haue blasphemid the Lord.

¶ And when he had spokene out all these woordes / the grounde clost agaynste vnder them / the earth opened her mouth / and swallowed them / with their houses / and all the men that were with Corah / and all theyr substance / and they wente downe quicke into the hell / with all that they had.

And the earth closed vpon them / and so they perished from amonge the congregation.

And all Israel that were aboute them / fled at the crye of them / for they sayde: That the earth swallowed not vs also. Moreover the fyre came out from the Lord / and consumed the two hundred and syftye men / that offered the incense.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses / and sayde: Speake to Eleasar the sonne of Aarons the priest / that he take vp the censers out of the burninge / and scatter the fyre here and there. For the censers of these synners are halowed thowgh theyr soules / that they may be beate into thynne plates / and fastened vpon the altare. For they are offered before the Lord / as halowed / and they shall be a token vnto the chyldren of Israel.

And Eleasar the priest toke the brasen censers / which they that were burnt had offered / and beate them to plates / to fasten them vpon the altare / for a remembraunce / vnto the chyldren of Israel / that no straunger / and he that is not of the seede of Aaron / come nye to offer incense before the Lord / that it happen not vnto hym as vnto Corah and his company / accordinge as the Lord sayde vnto hym by Moses.

On the nexte morowe murmured the whole congregacion of the chyldren of Israel agaynste Moses and Aarons / and sayde: Ye haue slayne the people of the Lord. And when the congregation was gathered agaynste Moses and Aarons / they turned them towarde the Tabernacle of witnessse. And beholde / when the cloude covered the Tabernacle / and the glay of the Lord appeared. And Moses and Aarons wente in before the Tabernacle of witnessse. And the Lord spake vnto Moses / and sayde: Get you of this congregation / I will shortly consume them. In theyr fall vpon their faces. And Moses sayde vnto Aarons: Take the censer and put fyre therein / from of the altare / and laye incense thereon / and go soone to the congregacion / and make an attonement for them. For the wrath is gone out from the Lord / and the plague is begonne amonge the people.

And Aaronsyd as Moses sayde / a ranne in the myddel amonge the congregacion. And beholde the plague was begonne. And he burnt incense / and made an attonement for the people / and stode betwene the dead and the liuing / and the plague ceased. But there were xij. thousande / and two hundred dead in the plague / besides them that dyed aboute the businessse of Corab. And Aaron came agayne vnto Moses before the doore of the Tabernacle of witnessse. And the plague ceased.

The. XVII. Chapter.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses / and Pharaide spake vnto the chyldren of Israel / and saide of them twelfe slawes / of euery captiue / of his fathers house one / a wyffe / euery mans name vpon his staffe. But Aarons name shall thou write vpon the staffe of Leui. For euery heade of theyr fathers house shall haue a staffe. And laye them in the Tabernacle of witnessse / before the witnessse / where I resthye vnto you. And loke whome I shall chuse / his staffe shall stoyse / ther I maye still the grudge of the chyldren of Israel / to god they grudge agaynst you.

And Moses spake vnto the chyldren of Israel / and all theyr captiue / gaue hym twelue staffes / euery captiue a staffe / after the house of theyr fathers. And Aarons staffe was amonge theyr staffes also. And Moses layed the staffes before the Lorde / in the Tabernacle of witnessse.

B On the morowe when Moses wente in to the Tabernacle of witnessse / he founde the staffe of Aarons raddre of the house of Leui florished / and broughte forth blossoms / and bare almonds. And Moses broughte forth all the slawes from the Lorde / before all the chyldren of Israel / that they mighte see it. And they wote euery man his staffe.

The Lorde sayde vnto Moses: Byng Aarons staffe agayne before the witnessse / that it maye be kepte for a token to the chyldren of rebellion / that theyr murmuringe maye cease for everlest they dye.

Moses did as the Lord commaunded hym. And the chyldren of Israel sayde vnto Moses: Beholde / we consume awaye / we are destroyed / and perishe. Who so cometh nye the dwellinge place of the Lorde / he shall die. Shall we then utterly consume awaye?

The. XVIII. Chapter.

And the Lorde sayd vnto Aaron: Thou and thy sonnes / a thy fathers house with the / shall beare the mysdede of the Sanctuarye / and thou and thy sonnes with the / shall beare the mysdede of your priesthode. But thy brethren / of the tribe of Leui thy father / shall come nye the / and be ioynd vnto the / when they may minister vnto the. But thou and thy sonnes with the / shall minister before the Tabernacle of witnessse. And they shall wayte vpon thy seruice / and vpon the seruice of the woike Tabernacle. But nye vnto the vessels of the sanctuarye / and to the aultare shall they not come / that bodye and they dye not: where be it / they shall be ioynd vnto the / to wayte vpon the ministracion in the Tabernacle of witnessse / in all the seruice of the Tabernacle. And there shall no strainger come nye vnto you.

Therefore wayte now vpon the seruice of the Sanctuarye / and vpon the seruice of the aultare / that there come no more wrath vpon the chyldren of Israel. For lo / I haue taken your brethren the Leuites / from amonge the chyldren of Israel / to be your gyfte / for a priestee vnto the Lorde / to do the seruice in the Tabernacle of witnessse. As for the and thy sonnes with the / they shall wayte vpon your priestee office / that ye maye minister in all manner busynesse of the aultare / and within the wayle / for your priestee office geue I vnto you for a gyfte to do seruice. If a strainger come nye / he shall dye.

And the Lorde sayd vnto Aaron: be Leuit. vij. b holde / I haue giuen the my heaue offeringe / Eccl. xij. c geue: And all the chyldren of Israel halowe / that I geue vnto the / and to thy sonnes / for a perpetuall seruyce. This shall thou haue of the moost holy thynges / that they offer. All their gyfte / with all theyr inuacofferynges / and with all theyr trespassofferynges / that they geue me / this shall be moost holy vnto the / a thy sonnes. In the moost holy place shalt thou eat it. All that are males shall eat thereof / for it shall be holy vnto the.

The heaueofferynges of theyr gyftes / in all the waueofferynges of the chyldren of Israel / that I geue vnto the also / and to thy sonnes / and to thy daughters / for a perpetuall seruyce. Whoso is cleane in thy house / shall care thereof. All the fat of the orde / and all the fat of the wyne and comel / of theyr dwellinges / that they geue vnto the Lorde / haue I geue vnto the. The fyth seruyce of all / is in their lande / which they byng vnto the Lorde /

¶ And they shall inherite none inheritaunce amonge the chyldren of Israel. For the ryche of the chyldren of Israel/ whiche they beaue vnto the Lord/ haue I geuen vnto the Leuites for an heritage. ### The XIX. Chapter.

¶ And the Lord spake vnto Moyses and Aaron/ and sayd: Thus costume shal be a laue/ whiche the Lord hath commaunded/ and sayd: Speake vnto the chyldren of Israel/ that they buyng vnto the read forme without spot/ wherin is no blime/ is/ and vpon whome/ there came neuer yoke: and ye shall geue her vnto Eleazar the prest: / whiche shal buyng her without the hoost/ and cause her to be slayn there before hym.

And Eleazar the prest shal take of her bloude with his synger/ and spenke it seuen tymes/ thrayght towards the doore of the Tabernacle of witness: / and cause the fore to be burnt before him/ dooth her synne a her flesch/ and her bloude also with her vngue. And the prest shal take Cedar wood/ and Viope/ a purple wolle/ and cast it vpon the fore as the burneth/ and he shal wash his clothes/ and herb his body with water/ a then to into the hoost/ and be vncleane vntill the euen.

And he that burneth her/ shal wash his clothes also with water/ and bath his body in water/ and be vncleane vntill the euen. And one that is cleane/ shal gather vp the asbes of the forme/ and poure them without the hoost in a cleane place.

place/that they may be kept there for spenkinge water: to the congregation of the chri-stien of Israel. For: it is a synofferynge. And be that gathered vp the asbes of the fire:/ shal washe his clothes / & be vncleane vntill the euen. This shalbe a perpetual lawe vnto the children of Israel/ and to the straungers that dwel amonge you.

¶ Who so now touched a dead man / shalbe vncleane seuen dayes: the same shall purifie him selfe here with/on the thyd daye/ and on y seuenth daye: and then shal be cleane. And if he purifie not hym self on the thyd daye/and on the seuenth daye/ then shall be not be cleane. But when any man toucheth a dead person/ and wil not purifie hym selfe: he be-syeth y dwelinge of the Lozde/ and the same soule shalbe roued out of Israel/ because y spenkyng water is not spenckled vpon him/a be to vncleane/ as longe as he leeth not hym selfe to purifie therof.

¶ This is y lawe. Whā a man dyeth in y tēte/slayne th the sword vpon the selde: or any other dead: or a dead mā: bone: or: a graue/ the same is vncleane seuen dayes.

¶ So now for the vncleane persone/ they shal take of the asbes of this burnt synofferyng / a pitt springing water theron into a vessel/ and a cleane man shal take y syffe/ a dippe it in the water/ and spenckle it vpon the carke/ a vpon all the vessels/ and all the soules that are therein.
Likewise also vpon him/ that hath touched a dead mā: bone: or: a slayne person/ or a dead body/ or a graue.

And be that is cleane/ shal spenckle vpon the vncleane/ the thyd daye/ and y seuenth daye/and purifie hym on the seuenth daye. And he shal washe his clothes/ a bath hym selfe with water/ a so at euen he shalbe cleane.

¶ But be that is vncleane/ and wil not purifye hym selfe/ the same soule shalbe roued out of the congregation. For: he hath despyed the Sanctuary of the Lozde/ and is not spenck-led with spenkyng water/ therfore to be vnc-cleane. And this shalbe a perpetual lawe vnto them. And he that spencketh th y spenkyng water/ shal washe his clothes also. And whosoeuer toucheth y spenkyng water/ shalbe vncleane vntill the euen. ¶ And wharfover be toucheth/ shalbe vncleane: a lōfē what soule he toucheth/ shalbe vncleane vntill the euen.

The. XX. Chapter.

¶ And the children of Israel came with the whole congregation into the wilder nesse of Sin/ in the first moneth: and the people abode at Cadese. And there dyed Miriam / a was buried there. And the congregaciō had no water/ and they gathered them selfe together against Moses and Aaron / and the people chode with Moses/ and sayd: Wolde God that we had perished / when our brethren perished before the Lozde. ¶ Wherfore hauē ye brought the congregaciō of y Lozde in this wilder nesse / y we shoulde be here th out of Egypt into this place / where men can not sowe/ where are neither sygges / nor vynes / nor: pomgranates / and where there is no water to drinke.

And Moses a Aaron went from the congregaciō vnto the vore of y Tabernacle of witness/ a fill vpon theyr faces. And y glory of the Lozde appeared vnto them. And the Lozde spake vnto Moses/ and sayde: Take the staffe/ and gather the congregaciō to gether/ thou and thy brother Aaron/ and spenck vnto the rocke before theyr eyes/ a it shal geue water. And thus shal thou prouide water out of y rocke/ and geue the congregaciō drinke/and they: catel also.

Then toke Moses the staffe before y Lozde/ B as he commaunded hym / and Moses and Aaron gathered the congregaciō together before the rocke/ and sayd vnto them: Heare ye rebellions: What we prouide you water out of this rocke? ¶ And y Lozde lysse vpon his hand/ and smote the rocke with the staffe twice. The came the water our abundantly/so that the congregaciō drinke/ and they: cat-tel also.

But the Lozde sayde vnto Moses a Aaron: Because ye haue not so lanctified me before the children of Israel/ ye shall not bringe this congregaciō into y lande that I shal geue them. ¶ This is y water of stryfe where long tyme / and how the Egyptians dealt cruel with vs our fathers. And we cryed unto the Lorde / whiche herde our voyce / and sent his aungel / a bair broughte us out of Egypte. And whosoevr / we are at Cades in the Num. xxxi. eynde with our borders of thy lande. Whe

j. Mat. v. c. do go thotoo thy lade / we wil not go thotoo the feldes: nor wynter / nor: synke the water out of the fountaynes. We wil go þe high strete / a turne / myther to the ryghte hande / nor to the left / unlesse we be past the borders of thy countre.

Ege xxx. a. Then the Edomite answered him: Thou Abd. j. b. shalt not go by us: for I wyl come againste þe with the sword. The chyliden of Israel said Deut. ii. a. unto him: We wil go: the countre bye waye / and if we do oure carell synke of thy water / we wil pay for it: we wil do nor synke but passe thowen on foote onely. But he said: Thou shalt not go thotoo. And the Edomites came out against them with a myghy people / and a strong hand. Thus the Edomites denyed to graunt Israel passage / thowen the borders of the lande. And Israel turned awaye from them.

D And the chyliden of Israel brake vp from Num. xxxij. d. Cades / and came with the whole congregation unto mount Hore. And the Lorde spake unto Moyses and Aaron at mount Hore / harde upon the cofles of the lande of the Edomites / and sayde: Let Aaron be gathered unto his people: for he shal not come unto the land that I have geuen unto the chyliden of Israel: because he were vnscheked: unto my mouth at the water of siffre. The Aaron and Eleasar and his sonne / and synke them vp unto mount Hore / a stripe Aaron out of his vestments / and put them upon Eleasar and his sonne / and there shal Aard be gathered unto hye people / and bye.

Ege xxx. c. Then did Moyses as the Lorde commaunded him / a they wente vp unto mount Hore in the sight of the whole congregation. And Moyses toke Aarons clothes / and put the vpe on Eleasar his sonne. 1 And Aard died there / euen aboute upon the mount. 2 And Moyses and Eleasar came downe from the mount. 3

 And when þe whole congregation sawe þe Aard was awaye / they mourned for hym xxx.
 Daies / thowenout the whole house of Israel. Th. X. xl. Chapter.

SMoyses toke Aard the kynge of the Cathonites / which dwelt towarde þe South herde that Israel came in by the waye that the spyes had founde out: he soughte against Israel / and toke some of them prisoners.
 Then vowede Israel a vowe unto the Lorde / and sayde: If thou wilt geue this people into my hande / I wyl utterly destroye they: eyes.
 And the Lorde herde the voyce of Israel / and destroyed them the Cananites / and they utterly destroyed them with their eyes also. 1 And he called the place Hore.
Judith.

Then departed they from mount Hore / on the weye towarde þe read se: that they might go about the lande of the Edomites. And the soules of the people fainted by the weye / and they spake against God / and against Moyses:
1 Wherfore hast thou broughte us out of the lande of Egypte / to lare us in the wilderness:
 for here is neither bread nor water / a our soules lonkeþ to thy lighte meate.

Then sent the Lorde siffre serpentes a-gainste the people / which bore the people / so that theye dyed much people in Israel. Then came they unto Moyses and sayde: We haue sinned / because we haue spokene against the Lorde / and against the. 1 Praye thou unto the Lorde / that he take awaye the serpentes from vs. 2
 And Moyses prayed for the people.

Then sayde the Lorde vnto Moyses: Make the a staffe serpent / and sette vp for a token.
1 Whosoever is bitten / and tokeþ vpon it / shal lyue. 2 Then made Moyses a serpent of brasse / and sette it vp for a token: a when a serpent had bitten any man / he shalde the brasse serpent / and recovered.

2 And the chyliden of Israel departed / and pitched in Oboth. 2 And from Oboth theye wente on / and pitched in Jym / by Abaram in the wilderness: / so ouer against Moab / on the East syde. 3 From thence departed they / and pitched by

By the ryuer of Sared. From thence departed they/ and pitched on this side Arnon / which is in the wildernes/ and cometh out of the crosse of the Ammonites. For Arnon is the border betwixt Moab and the Ammonites. Wherefore it is spoken in the booke of the warres of the Lord. And go with violence/ both on the ryuer of Arnon/ and on the fountayne of the ryuer / which boweth youneuerde to the well at Zar/ and leaueh the rion/ to be the border of Moab.

And from thence they came to the well. This is the well/ whereof the Lord spake vnto Moyses. Gather the people together/ I will geue thee water. Then sange Israel this song / a they sange one after another ouer the well: This is the well/ that the prince digged: the nobles amonge the people haue digged it: the sheue the teacher and they: slauos.

And from this wilderness: they went vnto Marah/ and from Marah vnto Na- badib/ and from Nabadib to Bemoth/ from Bemoth vnto the valley that lyeth in the felde of Moab/ at the toppe of Pisga/ and turneth towarde the wilderness.

And Israel sent messengers vnto Sib-the kynge of the Ammonites/ a caused to saye vnto him: Let me goe throue thy lande/ we will not turne into the felde/ nor into the wynerdes/ neyther will we drinke the water of the wells/ neyther will we streke will we geue/ we be past the borders of thy countre.

Wherefore it is sayd in the proverbe: Come vnto Hesbon/ let vs buyde/ and prepare the cyme of Hesbon/ for there is a fyre gone our of Hesbon/ and a flammie from the cyme of Hesbon/ which hath consumed Ar of the Moabites/ and the cytyens of the toppe of Ar. Wo vnto the Moab: thou people of Camos art vnder: His sounes are put to flight/ a his daughters bought captiue vnto Hesbon/ the kynge of the Ammonites. Their glory is come to nought/ from Hesbon vnto Hesbon: waysted are they vnto Hesbon/ whiche reacheth vnto Mediba. Thus saith the Lord in the lade of the Ammonites.

And Moyses sent out spyes vnto Jabsar/ and they take the towne/ belonginge thereto / and conquered the Ammonites that were therein. And they turned / and wente vnto the wege toward Basan. Then Og the kynge of Basan/ went out against them with all his people to fight in Eby. And the Lord sayd vnto Moyses: feare hym not/ for I haue geuen him with his lande / and people into thy hande / and thou shalt go with hym as thou dydest with Sihon/ the kynge of the Ammonites/ which dwelt in Hesbon. And they smote him / and his sounes / an all his people / so that there remained none. And conquered the lande. After ward wente the chyldren of Israel / a pitched in the felde of Moab / by the side of Jordan by Jericho.

and lynch ouer agaynst me. Come now therefore/ curse me this people/ for they are to multiply for me/ if peradventure I might be able to smite them/ & to dyeue them out of the lande/ for I wote/ if whome thou blessest/ he is blesed/ & whome thou cursest/ he is cursed.

B And the elders of the Moabites wente out with f elders of the Mediamites/ & had the rewarde of the forsbaying in theyr handes/ & they came vnto Balaam/ and tolde hym the woices of Balaam. And he sayd vnto the: Laye here all night/ & I will byngne you wode agayne/ cuxen as the Lord: & shall saye vnto me. So f pynces of the Moabites abode w Balaam.

And God came vnto Balaam/ and sayd: What men are these/ which are with thee? Balaam sayd vnto God: Balaam the sonne of Beophor/ the fring off Moabites hath sent vnto me: Behold/ there is a people come out of Egypt/ and couereth the face of the earth/ Come now therefore/ and curse me them/ if peradventure I may be able to fyghe with them/ and to dyeue them out. But God sayd vnto Balaam: Go not with the/ and curse not that people/ for they are blesed.

C Then rose Balaam vp in the morning/ & sayd vnto the pynce of Balac: Get you vnto your lande/ for the Lord: weyl not suffice me to go with you.

And f pynce of the Moabites gat them vp/ came to Balaam/ and said: Balaam refusest to come with vs. Then sent Balac yet a greater company of pynces/ and more honorable the they. Whā they came to Balaam/ they tolde hym: Balaam the sonne of Beophor/ sendeth the woices: Wherefore/ wyl not to come vnto me/ for I wyl promote f vnto bye honour/ and weyl do wharsoeuer f sayest vnto me. Come I praye the/ curse me this people.

Nu. 22. 13. Balaam answered/ and sayd vnto f seruantes of Balac: If Balac wolde geue me his house full of siluer and golde/ yet coulde I not go beyond the woide of the Lord: my God/ to do lile or great. Neuerthelste/ tary ye here this night/ that I may wote/ what the Lord weyll saye more vnto me. Then came God to Balaam by night/ & sayd vnto hym: If f me are come to cal f/ get f vp the/ & go to the/ but whar I shal say vnto f/ thalt f do.

Then rose Balaam vp in the morning/ and saddled his asse/ & wente with f pynce of the Moabites. But the waly of God wroth w bare/ because he wente. And f aungel of the Lord stode in the waye/ to withstand him. But he rode vpon his asse/ & two seruantes w him. And the asse saw f aungel of f Lord standinge in f waye/ & his fyncard brayen in his hande. And f asse turned asyde out of the waye/ & wente into the filde. But Balaam smote her/ that she shoulde go in the waye.

Then stode the aungel of the Lord in the path by f pyncardes/ where there were walles on both f sydes. And whā the asse sawe f aungel of f Lord/ she wroth vnto f walle/ & thus Balaam smote vnto the walle. And he smote her agayne. Then wente f aungel of f Lord farther/ and stode in a narrowe place/ where there was no waye to turne/ wether to the right hande/ nor to f liffe. And when the asse sawe the aungel of f Lord/ the fild boome vnder Balaam. Then was Balaam wroth furiously/ & smote the asse with a staffe.

Then opened the Lord the mouth of the asse/ and the sayd vnto Balaam: What haue I done vnto the/ that thou hast smitten me now the pynce? Balaam sayd vnto the asse: Because thou hast mocked me/ Whar f had a fyncard now in my hande/ I wold fyll the. The asse sayd vnto Balaam: Am I not thyne asse/ which thou hast ryder vpon in thy tyme vnto this daye? Was I euer wroth to do so vnto the? He sayd: No.

Then opened the Lord the eyes of Balaam/ that he sawe the aungel of f Lord standinge in the waye/ and a dyauen fyncard in his hande. And he clynded him selfe/ and wente vnto his face. And f aungel of f Lord sayd vnto hym: Wharfore hast thou smitten thyne asse now the tyme? Beholde/ I am come out to resse the/ for thy wale is forwarde/ & contrary vnto me. And f asse saue me/ & wrothed fro me the tyme/ & els/ if she had not turned asyde fro me/ I had slayne h/ & saued the asse alyne.

Then sayde Balaam vnto the aungel of f Lord: I haue synned/ so/ I weyl not that thou stodest in the waye agaynst me. And now/ if it displeaseth the/ I weyl turne agayne. The aungel of the Lord sayd vnto him: Go with with the men: but thou shalt speake norbinge else: then that I shal saye vnto the. So Balaam wente forth with the pynces of Balac. When Balac herde that Balaam came / he went out to mete hym (in the carye of the Moabites) that lyeth in the coast of Arnon / which is on the innermost Wyder / and sayd vnto hym: Whyd not I sende for the to call the? Therefore camest thou then vnto me? Thyngst thou that I am not able to promote the vnto honoure? Balaam answered him: Lo / I am come vnto the. ¶ But how can I say any thyngc clo: then that God punyssh in my mouth: that I must speake:

So Balaam went with Balac / and they came vnto a cyne on the border of the border of the lande. And Balac strewe oxen / and shepe / and fene for Balaam / and for the pynces that were with hym.

The XXXIII Chapter.

I N the morning / Balac toke Balaam / and they wente vp to the hye place of Baal / that from thence he myght se vnto the innermost parte of the people. And Balaam sayd vnto Balac: Buyde me here seuen aultars / and piouslyde me here seuen bullockes / a seuen rammes. Balac byd as Balaam sayd. And both Balac and Balaam offered on euey aultare a bullock and a ramme. And Balaam sayd vnto Balac: Stande thou by thy burntofferinge / I wyl go / shably ¶ Lord c wyl mete me / and call me / that I may tell the / what shal be the word of the Lord. And he went his waye as he sayd.

And the Lord mette Balaam. And Balaam sayd vnto hym: Seuen aultars haue I pypared / and offered on euey aultare a bullocke / and a ramme. The Lord put h wynde in Balaams mouth / and sayd: Wo agayne vnto Balac / and saye on thys wyse. And wha he came agayne vnto him / behold / he shode by his burntofferinge / with all the pynces of the Moabites.

B Then toke he vp his parable / and sayd: ¶ Balaam the kynge of the Moabites / hath caused to set me out of Siria / from the mountaynes towards the east / and sayd: Come / curse me Jacob / since the se my Israel. How shall I curse hym / whome God curseyth not? Howe hal I dese hym / whom the Lord blesyth:

nor: for from the toppe of the stony rockes I se hym / and from the bylles / I beholde hym. Beholde / the people shal dwel by them selles / and shal not be refened amonge the Hebreis. Who can tell the buss of Jacob / a the number of the fourth parte of Israel? My soule bye the deary of the ryghious / and my ende be as the ende of these.

Then sayd Balac vnto Balaam: What doest thou vnto me? I caused to se for the for to curse myne enemyes / a beholde / thou blessest them. He answered and sayd: Must I not kepe and speake / that which the Lord puttyth in to my mouth? Balac sayd vnto hym: Come with me yet vnto another place: from whence thou mayest se the innermost parte of them / and not se them al / and curse me them there.

And he toke hym vp to a free place / euen vnto the toppe of Disga / and builded seuen aultars / and offered on euey aultare a bullocke and a ramme. And he sayde vnto Balaam: Stande so by the burntofferinge / wyl I go yonder. And the Lord mette Balaam / and put the wynde in his mouth / and saye: Wo agayne vnto Balac / saye on thys wyse. And whan he came to hym / agayne beholde / he shode by his burntofferinge / with the pynces of the Moabites. And Balac sayd vnto him: What hath the Lord sayd?

And he toke vp his parable / and sayde: Kysse vp Balac and beare / make my restimony with thine eares / thou sone of Ziphor. ¶ God is not a man / that he shoulde lye / ne: a mans thide / that any thyngc shoulde repede hym. Shoulde he saye / and not be? Shoulde he speake / and not make it goode? Beholde / I am thoughte hitherto to blesse / I blesse / and can not go backe therto. There is no weerynesse fene in Jacob / in thier any labour in Israel. The Lord his God is with hym / and the kynge trumpe to amogge them. ¶ God hath brought them out of Egypt / his strength is as an vnicoone. ¶ So: there is no secrecye in Jacob / and no seych / aser in Israel. Whan h ymc comyth / it shalbe said vnto Jacob / a to Israel / that God voyd. Beholde / the people shal rye vp as a lyoness / and beate vp hym selfe as a lyon. He shal norise himselfe because of the praye / and synke the bloude of the:

the sayne.

Then sayde Balaam vnto Balaam: Thou shalt neuer curse hym nor blesse hym. Balaam answered / and sayde vnto Balaam: Haue I not told thee: All that the Lord speaketh thou muste do: Balaam sayde vnto him: O come, I wil bringe thee to another place / if it maye happe please God / that thou mayest curse them there. And he thought him vp to the toppe of mount Peor: that looketh toward the wyderesse.

And Balaam sayde vnto Balaam: Byside me here / sit thou a while / and proude me foue bullockes / and twen rammes. Balaam dyd as Balaam sayde / and offered on enery aultare a bullocke / and a ramme.

The XXIII. Chapter.

QUEN when Balaam sawe that it pleased the Lord / that he shoulde blesse Israel / he wente not / as he dyd before / to see whether he wold set his face straight toward the wyderesse / as he vp his eyes / a sawe Israel / how they laye / accordinge to theyr trybes / a the spere of God came vpon him / and he toke vp his parable / a sayde: Thus sayeth Balaam / the sonne of Beor: Thus sayeth the man / whose eyes are openede: Thus sayeth he / which heareth the wordes of God / whose face the vision of Almighty: which set vnto / a his eyes were openede.

How goodly are thy tentes / O Jacob / a thy habitacione / O Israel: Euen as yf Godd wales / as the gardenes by the water side / as the tentes / which the Lord hath plant / as at the Cedreces vpon the water. The water shall flowe out of his bouler / a his rye shall be a greate water. His ryege shall be hyer then wheat / a his kingdome shall be exalted: Godd shall haue brought him out of Egypt / his strength is as of an unicorn. He shall eate vp the Herben his enemies / a grinde they: bones to powder / a thou shalt owe the with his arrowes.

He hath layd him vnto as a Lyon / and as a Lyonesse. Who wyl raise hym vp / Blessed be he that blesseth thee / a cursed / that curseth thee.

Then was Balaam furious in wrath against Balaam / and smote his hedes together / and sayde vnto hym: I haue called thee / that thou shouldst curse myne enemies / a behold / thou hast blessed the newe that myneste now get / hence to thy place: I thought that I wolde proude vnto honoure / but the Lord hath kepte the backe from that which I hope.

Balaam answered hym: Told I not thee the message / a whose thou sendest vnto me / a saye: I If Balaam wolde geue me his good full of silver and golde / yet coude I not go beyonde the wyde of the Lord / to do eyther euil or good / a mine owne heret / but what the Lord speaketh / that must I speake also / And now behold / soe much as I go to my people / come therefore / I will shewe thee / what this people shall do vnto thy people after this tyme.

And he toke vp his parable / and sayde: Thus sayeth Balaam / the sonne of Beor: Thus sayeth the man / whose eyes are openede: Thus sayeth he / which heareth the wordes of God / and that hath the knowledge of the byss / euen he that sawe the vision of the almyghty / and fell vnto / and his eyes were openede: I shall see hym / but not nye at now: I shall beholde hym / but not nye at hand. There shall as flare come out of Jacob / and a cypre shall come vp out of Israel: and shall synge the rulers of the gentes / and overcome all the chyldren of Seth.

Whom shall be his possion / and Scyth shall be his enemye / possession / a Israel shall be manifold. Out of Jacob shall come he that hath Romanus / and that shall be remanur of the gentes.

And when he sawe the Amalechites / he toke vp his parable / and sayde: Amalech / the first amonge the Kethites / but at the last / thou shalt perie the utterly. And wold be same the Gentes / toke vp his parable / and sayde: Stronge is thy dwelling / and on a rocke hast thou put thy nest / neuer belisse / thou shalt be a burninge vnto Baan / and I will take the prisoner.

And he toke vp his parable agayne / and sayde: Alas / who shall lye / when God vouch this: And shippes out of Cum shall subdue Assur / a Eber. He him selfe also / shall perie the utterly. And Balaam gat him vp / and departed / and came againe vnto his place / and Balaam wente his waye also.

The XXV. Chapter.

And Israel dwelt in Sin / a the people beganne to comitte whoredom with the daughters of the Moabites / which called the people vnto sacrifice of their goddes. And the people did eate and whoredom: they made gods. And Israel submitted himself vnto Baal Peor. Then the wrath of the Lord waxed more vnto Israel / and he said vnto Moses: Take of the rulers of the people / and hang them vp vnto the Lord / against the sunne / that the terrible wrath of the Lord may be turned awaye from Israel. And Moses sayd vnto the iudges of Israel: Every man slaye his captaine / that haue submitted them selfe vnto Baal Peor.

And Bebalde / one of the children of Israel / came in agaynst his brethren / and sayed hym selfe to a Moabish woman / in the sight of Moses / and of the whole congregation of the chyldren of Israel / which was before the Tabernacle of witness.

When Phineas the sonne of Eleazar / the sonne of Aaron the priest / sawe that he rose vp out of the congregation / a reule a sword in his hande / and wente after the man of Israel / into the whoredome / and thrust hym thorow / both the men of Israel / and the woman / vnto the belly of her. Then ceased the plague from the chylden of Israel / and there were slayne in the plague foure a thowsand.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses / and he sayde: Phineas the sonne of Eleazar / the sonne of Aaron the priest / hath turned my wrath awaye from the chylden of Israel / because he was zelous for his God / and made an atonement for the chylden of Israel.

The man of Israel that was slayne with the Moabianish woman / was called Sinri / the sonne of Salu / a captyne of the house of the father of the Simconites. The Moabianish woman also that was slayne / was called Cozbi / the daughter of Zur / she was a ruler of the people of a kynede amonge the Madianites.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses / and sayde: The Moabianites / and synce the / whereby they haue begyled you theowt Peor / a theowt they sister Cos / by the daughter of a captaine of the Moabianites / which was slaine in the daye of the plague / so: Peors sale / and the plague came after.

The XXXVI. Chapter.

E And the Lord spake vnto Moſes: Get thee vp into this mount Abarim: a beholde the land: whiche I ſhall geue vnto the chyldren of Iſrael. And when thou haſt ſene it: thou ſhalt be gathered vnto thy people: as Aaron thy brother was gathered: for ye were diſobedient vnto my worde in the wilderneſſe of Sin: in the ſtryke of the congregacion: when ye ſhould haue ſanctified me: whome we ſaw before them: This is the water of ſtryke at Edon: in the wilderneſſe of Sin.

And Moſes ſpake vnto the Lord and ſayde: O heere the Lord God of the ſpirites of all fleſh: ſet a man ouer the congregacion: which may go in and out before them: and to lead them out and in: that the congregacion of the Lord be not as the ſheepe without a ſhepheard.

And the Lord ſayde vnto Moſes: Take vnto the Joſia the ſonne of Num: which is a man: in whom is the ſpirc: and put thyne handes vpon hym: and ſet hym before Eleazar the priefte: and before the whole congregacion: and geue hym a charge in their ſightes: a bewyſe him with thy bewyſe: that the whole congregacion of the chyldren of Iſrael may be obedient vnto hym. And he ſhall ſtande before Eleazar the priefte: which ſhall ſe eueſday for hym: after the maner of the Tabernacle before the Lord. In the mouth of hym ſhall both he: and all the chyldren of Iſrael with hym: a the whole congregacion go in and out.

Moſes did as the Lord commanded hym: and ſet Joſia: and ſet hym before Eleazar the priefte: and before all the congregacion: and laide his handes vpon hym: and gaue him a charge: as the Lord ſayde vnto Moſes.

The XXXIII. Chapter.

And the Lord ſpake vnto Moſes: and ſayde: Commande the chyldren of Iſrael: and ſaye vnto them: The offeringe of my bread: whiche is my offeringe of the ſweet ſauour: ſhall ye ſepe in his due ſeaſon: that ye maye offer vnto me. And ſaye vnto them:

There is the offeringe that ye ſhall offer vnto the Lord: ſhalles of a year elde: which are without blemiſh: euey ſaye two for a bullocke: one lambe in the morninge: the other at eue.

A tenth deale of an Epha of ſyne flour: for a meate offeringe: mingled with beaten oyle: of the fourth parte of an Ekin: this is a daily burnt offeringe: whiche ye offered vpon mount Sinai: for a ſweet ſauour: of a ſacrifice vnto the Lord. And the tenth offeringe of the ſame: the fourth parte of an Ekin: is a lambe: a this ſhalbe poured in: a ſacrifice for a giſt vnto the Lord. The other lambe ſhalt thou prepare at euen: like as the meate offeringe in the morninge: and the tenth offeringe thereof: for a ſacrifice of a ſweet ſauour vnto the Lord.

On the Sabbath daye: two lambes of a year elde without blemiſh: a two tenth deales of ſyne flour: mingled with oyle: and the tenth offeringe thereof. This is the burnt offeringe of euey Sabbath: before a daily burnt offeringe: with his tenth offeringe.

On the firſt daye of your monethes: ye ſhall offer a burnt offeringe vnto the Lord: two yonge bullockes: or a ramme: ſeven lambes of a year elde without blemiſh: a awaye the tenth deales of ſyne flour: for a meate offeringe: mingled with oyle vnto euey bullocke: twentieth deales of ſyne flour: for a meate offeringe: mingled with oyle vnto the ramme: and a tenth deale of ſyne flour: for a meate offeringe: mingled with oyle vnto euey lambe. This is the burnt offeringe of a ſweet ſauour: a ſacrifice vnto the Lord.

In their tenth offeringe ſhalbe half an Ekin of wine vnto euey bullocke: the thyrd parte of an Ekin to the ramme: the fourth parte of an Ekin to euey lambe. This is the burnt offeringe of euey moneth in the yeare. There ſhall offered an hegoate alſo for a ſyn offeringe vnto the Lord: in the daily burnt offeringe with his tenth offeringe.

And on the fourteenth daye of the firſt month is the Feaſt vnto the Lord: and on the feſtiue daye of the ſame moneth is the Feaſt: ſeven dayes ſhall vnleuened breade be eaten. The firſt day ſhalbe an holy conuocation: to ſeruite mee: ſhall ye do therein: a ſyre ſhall offer a burnt offeringe vnto the Lord: two yonge bullockes: one ramme: ſeven lambes of a year elde: without blemiſh: with their meate offeringe: the tenth deales of ſyne flour: mingled with oyle to euey bullocke:

The .XXX. Chapter.

And Moses spake vnto the rulers of the Tribes of the chylden of Israel a say: Thus is it that the Lord hath commaunded. If any man make a vowe vnto the Lord / or sweare an othe / so that he bynde his soule / he shall not breake his vowe / but he shall do all that is proceeded out of his mouth.

If a woman make a vowe vnto the Lord / and bynd her selfe / whyche she do in her fathers house / and unmarried / and her vowe is bonde that she maketh ouer her soule / cometh to her fathers care / as he holde his peace therto / then all her vowe is bounden / that the hath bounde her selfe / withall ouer her soule / shall stande in effect. But if her father forbidde her the same daye that he heareth it / then shall no vowe nor bonde / that she hath bounde her selfe / withall ouer her soule / be of value. And the Lord shalbe mercifull vnto her / for so much as her father forbidde her.

If she haue an husband / and hath a vowe vpon her / or if she haue lette go out of her lippes a bonde ouer her soule / and her husbande heare it / an holdeth his peace therto / the same daye that he heareth it / then her vowe and bonde / wherwith she had bounde her selfe / ouer her soule / shall stande in effect. But if her husband forbidde her the same daye that he heareth it / then is the vowe louse / if she hath vpon her / and the bonde also / that she hath lette go out of her lippes / ouer her soule / to the Lord shall be gracious vnto her.

The vowe of a veruow / and of her that is deuoced / all that she byndeth her selfe / withall ouer her soule / shall stande in effect vpon her.

If she vowe in her husbands house / and bynde her selfe with an othe ouer her soule / or her husbande heare it / she holde his peace therto / and forbiddeh it not / then shall all this be a vowe / and all that she hath bounde her selfe / withall ouer her soule / stande in effect. But if her husbande will vntunall it / the same daye that he heareth it / then is it of no vclur / that is proceeded out of her lippes / which she hath vowed or bounde ouer her soule / for her husbande hath made it louse / and the Lord shalbe gracious vnto her. And all women a othe / that bynde to humble the soule / maye her husbande stablish it or breake. Thus / if he holde his peace therto / from one daye to another / then shall stablisheth be al her womes/a bodes & the harb upon her/becaus he helde his peace / thesame saye that he berde theim. But if she vsaunalle them/after that he hath berde them/then shall he take awaye her mynde.

These are the statutes that & Lo:de commaunded Moyses / betwene a man a his wyfe / a betwene the father a his daughter / whyle she is yet a damsell in her fathers hous.

The XXXI. Chapter.

2 ¶ And the Lo:de spake vnto Moyses / and ¶ sayd: I Auenge the chylden of Israel of the Madianites / that thou mayst afterward be gathered vnto the people. Then spake Moyses vnto the people / and sayd: Earnesse some men among you to the warre/agaynst & Madianites / that they may enuge the Lo:de vpon the Madianites. Out of euery trybe a thousande / that out of euery trybe of Israel ye maye sende some to the battayl. And from amonge the thousandes of Israel / they toke one of euery trybe / euen twelfe thousande / prepared vnto the battayl. And Moyses sent them with Phineas / the sonne of Eleazar the priest into the battayl / and the holy vessels / and the trompettes to blowe in his bande.

And they fought against the Madianites / as the Lo:de commaunded Moyses / and slawe all the males / and the kyngs of the Madianites slawe they also / among the other that were slayn manly / Eui / Rekem / Zur / Hur / and Reba / the fyve kynges of the Madianites. And they slawe Balaa the sonne of Beor with the sword. And the chylden of Israel toke fyve women of the Madianites / prisoners / and theyr chylden: all theyr cattell / all theyr substance / and all theyr goodes spoyled they / and all theyr cyties of theyr dwellinges / and castles burne they with fyre. And they toke all the spoyles / and all that they coulde catch / men and cattell / and brought them vnto Moyses and to Eleazar the priest / and to the congregation of the chylden of Israel (namely the prisoners / and the cattell that were taken / and the good that was spoyled / vnto the hoost / in the syle of & Madianites / which lyeth beyde Jordan / and agaynst Jericho.

4: ¶ And Moyses and Eleazar the priest / and all the captaynes of the congregations / went out of the hoost to meete them. And Moyses was angrye at the officers of the hoost / which were captaynes ouer thousandes and hundredes / that came from the battayl / and sayde vnto them: Hane ye saved all the women alyue? Behold / Hane not they (thow Bealams busynesse) turned awaye the chylden of Israel / to synne against the Lo:de vpon Peori / and there came a plague ouer the whole congregation of the Lo:de. ¶ Now therefore slaye al the males amonge the chylden / and ysl al the women that haue knowen men / and lyeu with them. But al the women chylden that haue knowen no men / nor lyeu with them / kepe those alyue for your selues. And ledge ye without the hoost / Tall that haue slayne any man / or touched the slayne: that on the thrid and secuth daye / ye may purifie youre selues / and those / whome ye haue taken prisoners. And all the clothes / and all luffe that is made off synnes / and all maner furres / all vessels of wood shall ye purifie.

And Eleazar the priest sayd vnto & captaynes of the hoost / that went out to the battayl: This is the statute of the law / which & Lo:de commaunded Moyses: golde / syluer / brasse / yron / synne / and lech / and al & suffreth the fyre / shall ye cause to goe thowse in the fyre / and cleanse it / that it maye be purified with & synnfull water. As for all such as suffreth not the fyre / ye shall cause it to goe thowse the water / and shall washe your clothes vpon the fourth daye / and then shall ye be cleane. After that shall ye come into the hoost.

And the Lo:de spake vnto Moyses / and sayd: I Take the summe of the spole of those that are taken / both of the women and of cattell / thou and Eleazar the priest / and the chyfe fathers of the congregation / and geue the half vnto those that toke the warre / vpon them / and went out to the battayl / and the other halfe to the congregation. And of the men of warre that wente out to the battayl / thou shalt geue vnto the Lo:de one soule of fyve hundred / both of the women / ysen / asse / and shepe. Of theyr halfe parte shalt thou take it / and geue it vnto Eleazar the priest / for an heauy offeringe / vnto the Lo:de. But of the chylden of Israel halfe parte / thou shalt take one heauy of fyfty / both of the women / ysen / asse / and shepe / and of all the cattell / and shalt geue them vnto the Leuites / that wayte upon the habitation of the Loꝛde.

And Moſes and Eleazar the prieft did as the Loꝛd commaunded Moſes. And ſpoyke a prayer which the men of warre had ſpoyled / was vi hundred thouſande / a lxxv thousand ſhepe / lxxv thousand oxen / and lxxv thousand aſſes: and the women that had ſerued no man: ſerued with them / were xxxv thousand ſoules.

¶ And the halfe parte / which belonged vnto them / that went to the warre / was in number this hundred thouſande / and xxxv thousand / and v hundred ſhepe: of the which the Loꝛd had vi hundred / and lxxv ſhepe. From xxxv thousand oxen / whereof the Loꝛd had lxxv. From xxxv thousand / and v hundred aſſes: whereof the Loꝛd had lxxv. From xxxv thousand ſoules of women: whereof the Loꝛd had xxxv. And Moſes gaue this becauſe offeringe of the Loꝛd vnto Eleazar the prieft / as the Loꝛd commaunded hym.

¶ As for the other halfe / which Moſes deuyded vnto the chyldren of Iſrael fro the men of warre (namely the halfe that fell to the congregation) it was alſo ii hundred thouſand and xxxv thousand / and v hundred ſhepe / xxxv thousand oxen / xxxv thousand / and v hundred aſſes / and xxxv thousand women ſoules. And of this halfe of the chyldren of Iſrael / ſaue Moſes one of every ſyſte / both of the cattell and of the women / and gaue them vnto the Leuites / that wayted vpon the habitation of the Loꝛd: as the Loꝛd commaunded Moſes.

¶ And the captaynes / ouer the thouſandes of the hoſt / namely they that were ouer thouſandes and ouer hundredes / came forth vnto Moſes / and ſayd vnto hym: Thy ſeruauntes haue taken ſlaine of the men of warre: that were vnder our bandes / and there lacked not one: therefore bringe we a preſent vnto the Loꝛd: what eury one hath ſoude of ſerues / of golde / ſerues / bracelets / rymbes / carnyces / and taches: that our ſoules maye be reconcyled before the Loꝛd.

And Moſes and Eleazar the prieft toke of them the golde of al maner ornaments. And all the golde of the beaue offeringe / that they beaue vnto the Loꝛd: was xlv thousand / and vi hundred / and l. ſheles / of the captaynes ouer thouſandes and hundredes. For ſeke what eury one had ſpoyled: / was h. o. xlv. And Moſes with Eleazar the prieft / toke the golde of the captaynes ouer thouſandes and hundredes / and brought it into the Tabernacles of witneſſe / for a remembrance of the chyldren of Iſrael: before the Loꝛd.

The XXXII. Chapter.

The chyldren of Ruben and the chyldren of Gad had an exceddinge great multitude of cattell / and ſawe the lande of Jaſar and Gilead: that it was a mere place for cattell / and came and ſpake vnto Moſes and to Eleazar the prieft / and to the captaynes of the congregation: The lande of Iſrahel / Sebon / Jaſar / Aunra / Eſdon / Elale / Seben / Hebo / and Beon / which the Loꝛd ſmote before the congregation of Iſrael: is a meede for cattell / and thy ſeruauntes haue many cattell. And they ſayd moreover: We haue ſoude fauour before the congregation: ſeruauntes the lande in poſſeſſion / and we will not go ouer Iordane.

Moſes ſayd vnto them: your brethren ſhall go to the warre / and will ye tary here? Wherefore turne ye the herde of the chyldren of Iſrael: that they ſhoude not go ouer into the lande: that the Loꝛd ſhall gene them. ¶ Thus ſaid your fathers alſo / when I ſent them out from Edesernes: to ſpye out the land. And when they were come vp to ſpye of Heſon / and ſawe the lande: they mended the herce of the chyldren of Iſrael: ſo that they wold not go into the lande: which the Loꝛd wold haue gene them.

And the Loꝛd was wroth at the ſame tyme / and ſware / and ſayd: ¶ Thoſe men that are come out of Egipte / from twentye yeare olde and aboue / ſhall not ſee the lande: which I ſware vnto Abraham / Iſaac / and Jacob / becauſe they haue not wholly ſoloued me: ſaue Caleb the ſonne of Iephune / the Kenite / and Joſua the ſonne of Nun / for they haue wholly ſoloued the Loꝛd. So the Loꝛd was wroth with Iſrael: / and let them wander in the wilderness foureye yeares: all the generation that had done euill before the Loꝛd.

Loide was consumed.

And behold/ye are risen vp in your fastures/stabes/to increase the number of synfull men/and to augment yet the wrath and indignation of the Lord against Israel. For if ye turne you backe from followinge hym/be that shall leaue them more in the wilderness/and so shall ye destroye all this people.

Then stept they to hym/and sayde: we will but buyde shepewolde here for oure shepe a cattell/and cytes for our chyldren. As for our selues/we will go ready armed before the chyldren of Israel/all we haue brought them into theyr place: Our chyldren shall remayne in the fenced cytes/because of the indwillers of the lande. We will not turne home agayne/all the chyldren of Israel haue taken entry one by one/wherby we shall haue our enheritaunce in possession: for we will not inheret with them beyonde Iordane: for oure enheritaunce shall fall vnto vs vpon this syde Iordane/Eastward.

Moses sayd vnto them: If ye wil do this that ye wil harness your selues to the warre before the Lord/then go ouer the Iordane before the Lord/whosoever is harness'd amonge you/ye shall haue shynen out his eyes before his face/ vntill the lande be subdued before the Lord/then shall ye returne/ a beynghly before the Lord/ as before Israel/ as so shall ye haue this lande in possession before the Lord. But if ye will not do so/ beholde ye shall offend against the Lord/ as be sure that your synne shall fynde you out. Buyde cytes now therfore for you chyldren/ as shepewolde/ as stables for your shepe a cattell/ as so ye haue spoken.

The chyldren of Gad/ and the chyldren of Ruben sayd vnto Moses: Thy seruantes shall be as my Lord hath commaunded. Our chyldren/wyfes/substaunce/ a all our cattell shall be in the cytes of Gilead. But we/ thy seruantes will go all harness'd for the warre/ vnto battayll before the Lord/ as my lorde hath sayd.

Then Moses commaunded Eleazar & priests/ as also the sonne of Nun/ as the chiefe fathers of the tribes of Israel/ as sayd vnto them: If the chyldren of Gad/ and the chyldren of Ruben/ go ouer Iordane with you/ all prepared to fight before the Lord/ as when the lande is subdued vnto you/ then shall they the lande of Gilead be in possession. But if they go not ouer with you in battayll/ then shall they inheret with you in the lande of Canaan.

The chyldren of Gad/ and the chyldren of Ruben answered and sayd: As the Lord hath spoken vnto thy seruantes/ so will we do: we will go harness'd before the Lord/ vnto the lande of Canaan/ and possess our enheritaunce on this syde Iordane.

So Moses gaue vnto the chyldren of Gad/ and to the chyldren of Ruben/ as to the halfe tribe of Manasse/ the sonne of Joseph: the kyngdome of Sihon/ kyng of the Ammonites/ and the kyngdome of Og/ the kyng of Basan/ the lande with the cytes therof/ in all the coastes of the countrey round about. Then the chyldren of Gad buyded Sibon/ Zarath/ Arcti/ Zophan/ Jaser/ and Jegabeh/ Beninnar/ and Betharam/ stidg fenced cytes/ and shepewolde. The chyldren of Ruben buyded Hidon/ Eleale/ Amartham/ Nebo/ Hual/ Meon/ a turned the names/ and Sibamas/ and gaue names vnto the cytes/ which they buyded. And the chyldren of Machir/ the sonne of Manasse went vnto Gilead/ and conquered it/ and dwelt there. Then Moses gaue Gilead vnto Machir/ the sonne of Manasse/ and he dwelt therein. For the sonne of Manasse went and conquered the villages therof/ a called them Kenath Zar. Nodabh went/ and conquered Kenath/ with the towne belonging thereto/ a called it Nodabh after his owne name.

The XXXIii. Chapter.

These are the journeyes of the chyldren of Israel/ which went out of the lande of Egypt/ according to their armyes/ by Moses and Aaron. And Moses wrote their goinge out/ as they journeyed/ after the commaundement of the Lord. And these (namely) are the journeyes of their outgoynge. They departed from Ramesse/ vpon the fyfth daye of the first month/ when the morrowe after the Easter shewen in hye hande/ so that all the Egyptians sawe/ and buryed them their firstbornes/ and the Lord had slayn among them: for the Lord creawed iudgment also vnto their goddes. The XXXIII. Chapter.

¶ And the Lorde spake vnto Moses / and sayde: Commande the chyldren of Israel / and sey vnto them: When ye come into the lande of Canaan: the lande that falleth to your inheritance / shal haue her borders in the lande of Canaan. The fourth quarter shall beginne at the wyldernesse of Sin by Edom / so that your fourth quarter be from the edge of the salte see / which lyeth toward the East: and that the same quarter for a compass: from the South up to Acrabim / and go thowre Simma: and that his out goynge be from the South vnto Adin Bernea / and reache vnto Hazoi Dar / and go thowre Azmona / and stretch out from Azmona vnto the ryuer of Egypt: and that the ende thereof be at the great see.

But the West quarter that be this: name it by the great see / let that be your border toward the West.

¶ The North quarter shalbe this: Ye shal passe from the great see vnto mounte Hazoi. And fro mounte Hazoi ye shall compass eyll a man come vnto Emath: that the out goynge thereof be the coast of Zebada / and that the border of the same go out vnto Ephraim / and that the goynge out of it be at Hazoi Wana. Let this be your North quarter.

And your East quarter shall ye compass from Hazoi Emath vnto Ephraim / and let the easte go doune from Ephraim and Kibla / on the East syde of Sin. Then let it go doune / a reach vnto the syde of the see of Chimereth / Eastward: and come doune by Iordane / so that the goynge out of it be the salte see. Let this be your lande with the borders thereof rounde aboute.

¶ And Moses commanded the chyldren of Israel / and seyde: This is your lande: & ye shal becoue out amonge you by lot: which the Lorde hath commaunded to geue vnto the synnynges / and to the halfe trybe. & So: the trybe of the chyldren of Ruben / after their fathers house / and the trybe of the chyldren of Gad / according to their fathers houses / a the halfe trybe of Manasse haue receaued their portion. Thus the two trybes and the halfe trybe haue their inheritance already on this syde Iordane / ouer against Jericho / Eastward.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses / and sayde: These are the names of the men / which shall diuide the lande amonge you. Eleazar the priest / and Josua the sonne of Nun. And the captayne of euery trybe shal ye take / so doo ye the lande.

Pedabel the sonne of Amibud / of the trybe of the chyldren of Nephtali. These are they whome the Lorde commaunded / that they shoulde diuide the inheritance vnto the chyldren of Israel / in the lande of Canaan.

The XXXV. Chapter.

¶ And the Lorde spake vnto Moses / in the syde of the Moabites by Iordane / ouer against Jericho / and said: I commaunde the chyldren of Israel / that they geue vnto the Leuites / of the inheritance of theyr possessions / cyces to dwell in. The suburbs also aboute the cyces / shal ye geue vnto the Leuites / that they may dwell in the cyces / and in the suburbs to haue theyr cattell / and substaunce / and all theyr bestee.

side two thousand cubites / a on y Northside two thousand cubites / so that the cyte be in the middes. This ishalbe thes suburbs.

3:1:ff a And amonge y cytes / which ye shal geue unto the Lemites / ye shal geue them sixe fre cytes / that be whyche com murtherer a slaughter maye slye thyer. Besides the same ye shall geue them sixe two a fourty cytes / so that all the cytes / which ye geue unto the Lemites / be cyght a forty with they suburbs. And of the same ye shal geue the more from them / that haue much in possession / amonge the children of Israel: a the lesse from them / y haue litle in possession. Every one accordinge to his enherytaunce / that is deuided vnto hym / shal geue of hys cytes vnto the Lemites.

Exo: xxxi. b And the Lorde talked with Mosse and saye: vnto them: When ye come ouer Iordane / into the lande of Canaan / ye shal chose out cytes to be fre cytes / that whoso com miterly slaughter vnwares / maye slye thyer. And such fre cytes shalbe amonge you / because of y auenger of bloude / that he / which hath commyted slaughter / bye not / will be stande in iudgement before the congregation. And of these cytes / which ye shall geue there / shalbe sixe fre cytes. This shal ye geue on this side Iordane / and the in the lande of Canaan.

E These are the sixe fre cytes / both for the children of Israel and for the straungers / and so: such as dwell amonge you / that whoso euer hath slayne any soule vnwares / may slye thyer.

Exo: xxxi b The that smyterth any man with an yron weapon / that he bye / the same is a murtherer / and shal bye the deathe. If he cast at hym a stone / whether with any man maye be slayne / that he bye therof / then is he a murtherer / a shall bye that deathe. If he smyte hym with an hand weapon of wood / whether with any man maye be slayne / that he bye / then is he a murtherer / and shal bye the deathe. The auenger of bloud shall bringe the murtherer to deathe. When he fyndeth hym / he shall slaye hym. If he churth at hym of bare / or cast ought at hym with layenge of water / or smyte hym of enaye with his hande / that he bye / then shall he y hath slayne hym / bye the deathe: for he is a murtherer. The auenger of bloud shal bringe hym to deathe / as sone as he fyndeth hym.

B If he churth at hym by chaunce / and not of enaye / or hurle ought at hym / without layenge of water / or cast at hym with a stone / whether of a man maye bye / and same it not / so that he bye / and is not his enemy / neither thoughte hym any euill / then shall the congregation iudge betwene hym that hath commyted the slaughter / a the auenger of bloude in such cases. And the congregation shal be lyner the deathe slayer from the bande of the auenger of bloude / and shall let hym come agayne to the fre cytes / whyther he was fled: and there shal he abyde vnto the deathe of the hye puelle / which was anoynted with holy oyle. But if the deathe slayer go out of the borders of hys fre cytes / that he was fled vnto / a the auenger of bloude fynde him without the borders of hys fre cytes / and kyll him / he shall not be gilty of bloude. For he shoulde haue hidden in his fre cyte vntill the deathe of the hye puelle / and after the hye puelle deathe to come agayne vnto the lad of his enheritaunce. This shalbe a statute of the lawe vnto you / amonge your posterites in all your dwellinge.

The deathe slayer shalbe slayne at the mouth of witness. One witness shal not aunswere ouer a soule to deathe. And ye shall receaue none attonement ouer the soule of the deathe slayer / for he is gilty of deathe. But he shall bye y deathe. And ye shal receaue none attonement of him / which is fled to the fre cytes / but he shoulde come agayne to dwell in the lande till the puelle bye. And doyle not ye the lad / whether ye dwell. For: who so is gilty of bloude / whether the lande: and the lande can not be reconciled from the bloud that is shed therein / but only thowen y bloud of hym that shed it. Doyle not ye y lande that ye dwell in / whether it dwell also: so: I am the Lorde / which dwell amonge the children of Israel.

the cleuenth moneth in the fourtyeth yeare/Mosse spake vnto the childen of Israel/ accordinge vnto al as the Lorde commanded him/after he had smyte Sichem/ the kyng of the Ammites/ & dwelt at Heshbon/ Ouis kyng of Basan that dwelt at Istaroth a ar Libai.

On the other syde Jordan/ in the lande of the Moabites/ began Mosse to declare the law/ and saide: The Lorde our God spake vnto vs vpon mount Horeb/ and sayd: Ye Num. 1. 16 haue bene longe ynough vpon this mount-ayne/ turne you/ and departe hence/ that ye maye come to the mountaynes of the Amite-rites. a to all theyr neighboures / in the felde vpon mountaynes/ and in the valleyes to wade the South/ and toward the see / syde/of the lande of Canaan: and to mount Libanus/ a vnto the great water Euphrates.

Behold / I haue vsuured you the lande/ go in/ and take it in possession/ which the Lorde sware vnto your fathers Abraham/ Isaac/ a Jacob/ that he wold geue it vnto them/ and then saide I vnto you at some tyme: * am not able to beare you my selfe alone / for the Lorde: youre God hath increased you / so that this daye ye are as the floure of heuene in multitude. ¶ The Lorde God of youre fathers make you yet many thousande more as now/ and blesse you/ as he hath promised you.

you) How can I alone beare such combailes/ and charge/ a sylee and ge you: Diouide here men of wisdom/ and vnderstanding / such as are know among your trybes / them wyll see to be heade vnto you.

Then answered ye me/ and sayde: It is a good thyng that thou sayest / thou wylt do. Then toke I the heade of your trybes / wyse and famous men/ and sette them ouer you to be heade ouer thousande / ouer hundredes / ouer fifty / and ouer ten: and officers amonge your trybes.

And I charged your iudges at the same tyme/ and sayde: Heare your brethren / I and iudge righteously betwene euery man and his brother/ a the stranger. Ye shal know a person in iudgement/ but shal beare the final as well as the greates / and be afrayed of no man: for the iudgement is Gods. But if any cause be to hard for you/ let it be brought vnto me / that I may beare it. Thus commaunded I you at the same tyme all that ye shoulde do.

Then departed we from Boichan / and walked throughte the whole wyldernesse / (whiche is greates a terrible as ye haue sene. by the waye to the mountaynes of the Ammonites / as the Lorde our God commaunded vs / a came vnto Cadoc Berca. Then sayde I vnto you: Ye are come to the mountaynes of the Ammonites / whiche the Lorde our God shall geue vs. Whiche / there is the land before the / whiche the Lorde thy God hath geuen vnto the: Go vp / and conquer it / as the Lorde God of thy fathers hath sayde vnto the: I fear not / and be not discouraged.

Num. xiiij. a
Num. xij. e

Then came ye all vnto me / and sayde: Let vs sende men before vs / to spye vs out the land / and to bringe vs wordes agayne / by what waye we shal go vp / and to what citty we shal come. That pleased me well / a I toke wylde men from amonge you / of euery tribu one. Whiche whan they were departed / and wente vp the hie countre / and came to the riuer / scoll / they spied it out / and toke of the frute of the lande with them / and broughte it home vnto vs / a broughte vs wordes agayne / and sayde: This is a good lande / that the Lorde our God hath geuen vs.

But ye wold not go vp / and were disobedient vnto the mouth of the Lorde your God / and murmured in your toures / and sayde: Because the Lorde hath vs / therefore hath he brought vs out of the lande of Egypt / to deliuer vs into the handes of the Ammonites / to destroye vs. Whiche shal we go vp? Cure brethren haue discouraged our hartes: a said: The people is greater / a of higher stature then we / the cities are greates / and walled euen vp to heauen. Therefore / we haue sene the chyliden of Enamlim.

But I said vnto you: feare not / and be not afrayed of them: for the Lorde your God goeth before you / and shal fight for you / lyke as he dealt with you in Egypte / before your eyes / and in the wyldernesse: where thou sawest / that the Lorde thy God bare the Ceun as a man beareth his owne sonne / thowmont all the waye that ye haue walked / yf ye came to this place. And yet for all this ye haue not belued vnto the Lorde your God / whiche wente before you / to search you out a place / where ye shoulde pitch your tentes by nyght in the frise / to shewe you the waye / wherein ye shoulde go / and on the daye syme in the cloude.

Whan the Lorde herde the voyce of your wordes / he was wroth / and sayde: There shal none of this euill generacyon see that good lande / whiche I sware to geue vnto you / your fathers / excepte Cakib / the sonne of Je phune / he shal se. And vnto hym wyl I geue: the lande / that he hath riden upon / and to his chyliden / because he hath perfectly followed the Lorde.

The Lorde was angry with me also / for I your sakes / and sayde: Thou also shalt not go in thither. But Josua the sonne of Nun / whiche standeth before the / he shal go in thither: Cou rage hym / so he shal deuide the enteraunce ouer vnto Iffad. And your childe / of whom ye said / they shoulde be a praye / and your sones / whiche this daye enberstide / neyther good nor bad / they shal go in thither / vnto them will I geue it / and they shall enioye it. But as for you / mine you / and take you iourne to the wyldernesse / tyein the waye to the red see.

Then answered ye / and sayde vnto me: We haue synned agaynst the Lorde / we will go vp / and fight / according to all that the Lorde Loide hath commanded vs. Now/ when ye had prepared your selves/ every one in his burnt-offe/ and were at the paynt to go vp to the mountayne/ the Loide sayde vnto me: Speake vnto them/ that they go not vp/ and eiter fight not/ (for I am not amonge you) theye be no synners. Before your enemyes. When I tolde you this/ ye wold not heare/ a were disobedient vnto the woide off Loide/ and were presumptuous/ and went vp to the mountayne. Then the Ammonites/ that dwelt vpon the mountayne/ came against you/ and chased you/ as Bees do: and smote you at Scuten vnto Hoina. Now/ when ye came agayne/ and were before the Loide/ he wold not heare your voyce/ and enclined not his eare vnto you. Wo ye abode in Cades a longe season.

The 1. Chapter.

When turned we vs/ and toke our iourneys to the wilderness/ euen the waye to the read sea/ as the Loide saide vnto me/ and compassed mount Scir a longe season. And the Loide sayde vnto me: Ic haue compassed this mountayne now lge ynough/ turne you Northward/ and commaunde the people and saye: Ye shal go therow the coaste of your brethren/ the chyldren of Isau/ which dwel at Sciran/ and they shal be a frayd of you. But take diligent hede to youre selves/ that ye proude them not: for I wyl not geue you one fore bread of theyr lande. For mounte Scir haue I geuen to the chyldren of Isau to possesse. Ye shal bye ricate of them for: money that ye maye care. And water shal ye bye of them for money/ that ye maye drinke. For the Loide thy God hath blessed the in al the works of thy handes. He hath considered thy iourneys/ thow eue this greete wilderness/ and this foureyeares hard the Loide thy God bene with the/ so that thou hast wanted nothinge.

Now when we were departed from our brethren the chyldren of Isau/ that dwelte vpon mount Scir/ by the waye of the felde fro Elah and Lezon/ wher we turned vs/ and went by the waye of the wilderness of the Moabites. Then sayde the Loide vnto me: Thou shalt not warre the Moabites/ nor proude them vnto Bateyll/ for I wyl not geue the of theyr lande to possesse. For Ar haue I geuen vnto the chyldren of Lot in possession. The Emimms dwelt there before ninc/ which were a greate stronge people/ and byr of stature/ as the Enakims/ and were taken for gauntes/ as the Enakims. And the Moabites called them Emimms. The Hoinas also dwelt in Scir afore tyme/ and the chyldren of Isau/ drove the out/ and destroyed them. Be fore them/ and dwelt in theyr steade: lyke as Israell dyd in the lande of his possession/ that the Loide gaue them.

Get you vp now/ and go ouer the ryuer E Sared/ and we went ouer. The tyme that we were goynge fro Cades/ Bernca/ tyme we came ouer the ryuer Sared/ was eyght and thyrty yeres: tyme al the men of warre were wayfled out of the boos/ tyme as the Loide sware vnto them. The hande off Loide also was against them/ so destroyed them out of the boos/ tyme they were consumed.

And when al the men of warre were consumed/ so that they were dead amonge the people/ the Loide spake vnto me/ and saide: This daye shalt thou go therow the coast of the Moabites by Tr/ and shalt come nye vnto the chyldren of Ammon/ wher men steale Iudi. If not ye geue not proude. For I wyl not geue the of the lande of the chyldren of Ammon to possesse/ for I haue geuen it vnto the chyldren of Lot in possession. It was taken for a lande of gauntes also/ and gauntes dwelt thern a fewe tyme. And the Ammonites called them Samiunims/ which was a people that was great/ many/ and of byc stature/ as the Enakims.

And these the Loide destroyed before the/ and let them possesse the same/ so that they dwelt in theyr steade. Like as he dyd with the chyldren of Isau/ which dwel vpon mount Scir/ when he destroyed the Hoinas before them/ and let them possesse the same/ so that they haue dwelt in theyr steade vnto this daye. And the Ephraimms came out of Ephraim/ and destroyed the Ammms. Ther dwelt at Bazanum euen vnto Gaze/ and there dwelt they in theyr steade.

Get you vp now/ and departe/ and go ouer the ryuer Arnon/ Echols/ I haue geuen Sibon the kyng of the Ammonites at Beled into thy hand: go to and conquer/and possess hym unto banayl. This daye wyl I deliuer/so I will alwayes vnder al the heauyl/shal feare and drede thein so much that wha they heare of the: they shal tremble a quake for thy cominge.

Ex. xxii. c. Then sent I messengers from the wilderness/into the East vnto Siban/ the kynge at Hesebon/ with peaceable wordes/ a cause to saye vnto him: I wil go but thow thy lande/ I wil go a lounge by the hie waye/ I wil neyther hurte to the right hande nor to the left. Thou shalt sell me meate for mony/char I maye eate/ and water shalt thou sell me for mony/ that I maye drinke. Only let me go thow by fote/ too the chydren of Esau (which dwelt at Enr.) dyd vnto me/ and the Madabites that dwelt at Arvners/ I be come ouer Iordan into the lade/ which the Lord your God shal geue vnto vs.

Deut. xx. c. But Siban/ the kynge at Hesebon wold not let vs go by hym: so the Lord thy God hardened his minde/ a made his herte tough/ that he myght deliuer him into thy hande/ as it is come to passe this daye.

Num. xxxi. c. And the Lord said vnto me: Behold/ I haue begonne to deliuer Siban with his lande before thee: go to and conquer/ and possess his lande. And Siban came our with all his people to fighte aganst vs at Jahza. But the Lord our God deliuered him into our handes: so that we smote hym with his chydren and all his people.

Num. xxxi. c. The toke we al his cities at the same tyme/ and destroyed vnto all synes/ men/ women and children/ and let none remaine: save the cattell/ which we caught to oure selles/ and the spoyle of the cities that we wanted from Arzer/ which lyeth upon the ryuer side of Arnon/ and from the cync on the ryuer vnto Gilead. There was no cime that could defende selfe from vs: The Lord our God deliuered vs from all besite vs. But vnto the lade of the chydren of Ammon thou comest/ not/ nor to al that was on the ryuer Iabod/ nor to the cities upon the mountaynes/ nor vnto whatsoeuer the Lord our God forbad vs.

Num. xxxi. c. The 111. Chapter.

Num. xxxi. c. And we turned vs/ and went vp the way vnto Basan. And Og the kynge of Basan came our with all his people to fighte aganst vs at Edrei. But the Lord our God deliuered vs from hym: so that we smote hym/ and all his people/ and all his lande/ as it is come to passe this daye.

Num. xxxi. c. Thus destroyed we all the cities/ and all the chydren/ and all the spoyle of the cities that we wanted from Arzer/ which lyeth upon the ryuer side of Arnon/ and from the cync on the ryuer vnto Gilead. There was no cime that could defende selfe from vs: The Lord our God deliuered vs from all besite vs. But vnto the lade of the chydren of Ammon thou comest/ not/ nor to al that was on the ryuer Iabod/ nor to the cities upon the mountaynes/ nor vnto whatsoeuer the Lord our God forbad vs.

Num. xxxi. c. The 111. Chapter.

Num. xxxi. c. And we turned vs/ and went vp the way vnto Basan. And Og the kynge of Basan came our with all his people to fighte aganst vs at Edrei. But the Lord our God deliuered vs from hym: so that we smote hym/ and all his people/ and all his lande/ as it is come to passe this daye.

And we destroyed vnto all synes/ men/ women and children/ and let none remaine: save the cattell/ which we caught to oure selles/ and the spoyle of the cities that we wanted from Arzer/ which lyeth upon the ryuer side of Arnon/ and from the cync on the ryuer vnto Gilead. There was no cime that could defende selfe from vs: The Lord our God deliuered vs from all besite vs. But vnto the lade of the chydren of Ammon thou comest/ not/ nor to al that was on the ryuer Iabod/ nor to the cities upon the mountaynes/ nor vnto whatsoeuer the Lord our God forbad vs.

Then wanted we at the same tyme al his cities/ and there was not one cync/ that we tele not from hym/ vnto the cync/ and the whole region of Argob/ in the kyngdom of Og/ at Basan. All these cities were stronge with he wallles/ gates/ and darres/ besyde many other walled roundes.

And we vnto the destroyed them/ as the Lord thy God shal geue vnto vs. And we destroyed vnto all synes/ men/ women/ and children. But al the cattel and spoyle of the cync caught we for our selfe.

Thus toke we at the same tyme the lande/ out of the hande of the two kynges of Ammon/ beyonde Iordan/ from the ryuer of Arnon/ vnto mount Hermon/ which the Edreites call Sirion. But the Ammonites call it Senuir. All the cities upon the playne/ and all Gilead/ at Basan vnto Gilead/ and Edrei/ the cync of the kyngdom of Og at Basan. So: onely Og/ the kynge of Basan remainyd ouer of the gyauantes. Behold/ his wyf was here at Khabah/ among the chydren of Ammon/ myne cubites lounge/ and foure cubites broad/ after the cubite of a man.

This lande conquered we at the same tyme from Arzer/ that lyeth on the ryuer of Arnon/ vnto the Rubenites and Gadites. I gave half myne Gilead with the cities therof/ vnto the remnant of Gilead/ and al Basan the kynge of Og/ gaue I vnto the half myne of Manasse. The whole region of Argob/ with all Basan was called the gyauantes lande.

Then the sonne of Manasse toke all the region of Argob/ vnto the coastes of Giffon and Madaban/ and Basan called he Senoir. After his owne name/ vnto this daye. But vnto Madur I gaue Gilead. And vnto the Rubenites and Gaddites I gave one part of Shiloh unto the ruler of Iron: and the middes of the ruler to the border: and unto the ruler of Soba: which is to the border of the children of Ammon: the feild also / a Jordanic (which is the coast) from Ecrech unto the sea: in the feild: namely the salt sea / vnder mount Pisga: Eastward.

¶ And I commaunded you at the same tyme / and sayde: The Lord your God hath given you this lande to take possession of it: / your waye is to be as I have said: / because ye were Iordish / barnast: because your brethren the children of Israel: all ye that be mete for the warre: / he for your trees: and children: and camel: / for I know that ye haue much cattel: / for they remaine in your land: / which I haue given you: / onely the Lord your God haue thoughte your brethren to reite also: / so well as you / that they also maye take possession of the lande: / which the Lord your God shall geue them beyonde Iordane: / and then shal ye turne againe to your owne possession / which I haue given you.

¶ And I warned Josua at the same tyme / and sayde: Thus eyes haue sene all that the Lord your God hath done vnto these two synages: / euen so shal the Lord do also vnto all the synagomes: / whether thou goest: / feare them not: / for the Lord your God shal fight with you.

¶ And I besought the Lord at the same tyme / and sayde: O Lord I beseeche thee: / thou hast begonne to shewe thy seruant thy greatness: and thy myghty hande. / For where is there a God in heauen and earth: that can do after thy woordes: / or after thy power? / O let me go: / for that good lande beyonde Iordane: / that goodly by countree: / a Libanus.

¶ But the Lord was angry with me for your sakes: / or woulde not beare me: / but sayde vnto me: Be content / speake no more to me of this matter. / ¶ Get thee vp to the toppes of mount Pisga: / and lyste vp thine eyes toward the West: and toward the North: and toward the South: and toward the East: / and behold it with thine eyes: / for thou shalt not go ouer this Iordane. / And geue Josua these charges: / and charge him: / be den hym: / for he shal go ouer Iordane. / Be ore the people: / that shal be vnto them the lande: / that thou shalt see. / ¶ And so we abode in the valley: / ouer agaynst the house of Deo.

The IIII. Chapter.

¶ And now hearken Israel vnto the ordinaunces and lawes: which I reade you: / that ye do them: / that ye maye lyeue and come in: / and take possession of the lande: / which the Lord your God of youre fathers geuech vnto you. / ¶ Ye shal put nothyng vnto the word: / which I commaunde you: / neither ye oughte there from: / that ye maye kepe the commaunde: / which the Lord your God / which I commaunde you. / Your eyes haue sene what the Lord hath done with Baal Peor: / all them that walked after Baal Peor: / which the Lord thy God destroyed from amonge you. / But ye that cleue vnto the Lord your God: / are all alyue this daie. / Behold: / I haue taughte you ordinaunces and lawes: / such as the Lord my God commaunded me: / that ye shoulde do: / euen so in the lande: / in the which ye shall come to possesse it.

Take them now therefore: / or do them: / for that is your wisdom: / or vnderstandinge: / in the sighte of all nacions: / which / when they haue herde all these ordinaunces: / shal saye: O what a wise and vnderstandinge folke is this: / and how excellent a people: / for where is there so excellent a nation: / that hath goddes: / or ye hym: / as the Lord our God is: / vnto vs: / so as we see all vpon him: / and where is there so excellent a nation: / that hath so righteous ordinaunces and lawes: / as all this lawe: / which I laye before you this daie.

Take heed to thy selfe now: / or kepe well thy selfe: / that thou forget not the synages: / which thine eyes haue sene: / and that they departe not out of thy heart: / all the dayes of thy lyfe.

¶ And thou shalt reade them thy children: / or thy childrens children: / in the daye: / when thou shaldest seeke the Lord thy God: / by mount Sion: / when the Lord had vnto me: / Whether me the people together: / that I might make the heere my woordes: / which they shal learne: / that they maye feare me: / all the dayes of theyr lyfe: / vnto earth: / and that they also maye teach their children.

¶ And ye came nye: / and stode vnder the mount: / but the mount burnt euen vnto the middes midde of heauen/and there was darkenesse/cloudes/and myst. And the Lozde spake vnto you out of the midde of the fyre. The voyce of his woordes ye herd/In euery chelleyse/ sawe no ymage/But herde the voyce onely. * And he declared vnto you his conuenaunce / which he commaunded you to do/namely/the ten verses/and wrote them vpo two tables of stone.

And the Lozde commaunded me at the same tyme/to teach you ordinaunces and lawes/that ye might do thereafter in the lande / into the which ye go to possesse it.

C Take wyl youre soules therfore/for ye sawe no maner of ymage/in the vaye when the Lozde spake vnto you out of the fyre/upon mount Sion/ that ye destroye not your selman/ or woman/ or best upon earth/ or fershered foule vnder the heauen/ or wombe upon the grounde / or fyre in the water vnder the carth: that thou lyte not up thine eyes to warde heauen/ and se the Sonne and the Mooone/and the starres/and the whole host of heauen/and be deceaued/and worshippes/a seruice them/ which the Lozde thy God hath made to serue all nations vnder the whole heauen.

But you hath the Lozde taken / and thought you out of the yon forsaue/ mainly out of Egypt / ye should be the people of his conuenaunce / as it is come to passe this day.
† And the Lozde was angry with me for your sake/ so that he swaue: that I should not go ouer Iordane/ nor come into the good lande / which the Lozde thy God shall geue the to enheritaunce. So for me/ I must dye in the lande/ and shall not go ouer Iordane.
But ye shall go ouer / a shall haue that good lande in possession.

Take heede therefore vnto your selues/ that ye for get not the conuenaunts of the Lozde your God/ that ye make no ymages of any maner of fashion / as the Lozde thy God hath commaunded. * for the Lozde thy God is a consuming fyre/ and a gelous God.

If whan ye haue begotten chyldren/ and chylders chyldren/ and haue vnderre in the lan-de/ ye marre your selues/ and make you ymages of any maner of fashion / and do euell in the sight of the Lozde your God/ so proude hym: † I cal heauen and earth to recorde ouer you this daye/ that ye shall shortly perishe/ sed the lande/ into the which ye go ouer: I ordne to possesse it. Ye shall not dwell longer therein/But shall utterly be destroyed. † And the Lozde shall scatter you amonge the nations / and ye shall be like a smal people among the Heathen/whither the Lozde shall bunge you. There shall ye serue goddes/ which are the woikes of mens handes/ euen woodde and stone/ whiche neither se nor heare/ nor eate/ nor smell.

But if thou see the Lozde thy God there/ thou shalt find him/ yee/ if thou see him with thy whole herte/ and with all thy soule.
Whan thou shalt be strayly troubled / and whan all these thynges shall come vpon the in the later daies / the shall thou mine agayne to the Lozde thy God/ and be obedient vnto his voyce. For the Lozde thy God is a mercifull God/ he shall not forsake thee/ no: desloye the: neyther shall he forgette the conuenaunt with thy fathers/ which he swaue vnto the.

For as after the tymes past/ whiche haue bene before the tence the vaye that God cre-eted man vpon earth/ from one ende of heauen vnto the other / whether there was er any suche great thynges done/ or any lorde/ life herde: that a people hath orde the voyce of God/ spake out of the fyre/ as thou haste hard and yet lyeud. O: whether God steyed to go and take vnto hym a people / out of the midde of a nation / to showe temptacions/to showe tokens/ to showe wordes / to showe warre / and to showe a myghty hande / and to show a stretch/ out arme / a showe great visions / according vnto all / as the Lozde your God hath done with you in Egypt/ before thine eyes.

Thou hast seie it that thou mightest knowe / that the Lozde is God: a that there is none other/ but he onely. * Out of heauen is to hear his voyce/ that he might nurture the: and vpon earth be shewed the his great fere/ and out of the sic thou herdest his wodes. Because he loued thy fathers/ and chise they: se de after them. And he: might the out with his presence/ thouto to his myghte power out of Egypte / to bryng out (Before the) na-lande to embraunee / as it is come to passe thise daye.

Therefore shalte thou knowe thise daye / and thou shalt not into thine hart / that the LoRDE is God aboue in heauen / a beneth vpon earth / and that therein is no mo. Repe his ordinauntes therof / and commaundements / which I commaunde the thise daye / then shalt it go well with the and thy chyldren after the / so that thy lyfe shall longe endure in the lande / which the LoRD thy God geueth the thy lyfe longe.

¶ Then separated Moyses the ciues beyond Jordan towarde the Sunne rising / that he might spee thither / which had slayn his neighbours a boure in warres / and hated him not afore tyme that he might flye into one of these ciues / and liue. This is the lawe / which Moyses layed before the chyldren of Israel / these are the testimonies / ordinauntes and lawes / that Moyses spake vnto the chyldren of Israel / after they were departed out of Egypte / beyonde Jordan in the valley / ouer agaynst the house of Peor in the lande of Sihon / kynge of the Ammonites / which dwelt at Heshbon / whom Moyses and the chyldren of Israel smote / after they were departed out of Egypte / and conquered his lande / and the lande of Og / kynge of Basan / two kynge of the Ammonites / which were beyonde Jordan / towarde the Sunne rising / from Troce / which lyeth vpon the ryuer syde of Arad / vnto mounte Sion / which is Hermon / and all the playne felde beyonde Jordan / Eastward vnto y see / in the playne felde vnder mount Draga.

The. V. Chapter.

¶ And Moyses called all Israel / a sayde vnto them / Heere Israel the ordinauntes and lawes / which I speake in your eares thise daye / learne them / and kepe them for thyre do ther after. The LoRD our God made a conuenant with vs at Houbbe / he made not his conuenant with our fathers / but with vs / that are here thise daye / and thus euery one of us shall be vs face to face / our of the syde vpon y mount. I stode at the same tyme betwixt the LoRD and you / that I might shewe you the woide of the LoRDE. For ye were afrayed of the syde / and went not vp to the mount / and he spake.

I am the LoRD thy God / which haue broughte the out of the lande of Egypte / our of the house of bondage. Thou shalt haue no other goddes in my sight. Thou shalt make the no grauen ymage of anye maner of likeness / of the thinges that are aboue in heauen / and beneth vpon earth / and in the water vnder y earth. Thou shalt not honoure them / nor serue them. For I the LoRD thy God am a gelous God / visitinge the synne of the fathers vpon the chyldren / vnto the thirde and fourth generation / of them that hate me / and shewe mercy vpon many thousandes / of them that loue me / and kepe my commaundements.

Thou shalt not take the name of the LoRD thy God in vayne / for the LoRD shall not holde hym vngiltye / that taketh his name in vayne.

¶ Repe the Sabbath daye / that thou shalt kepe it / as the LoRD thy God hath commaunded the. Sixe dayes shalt thou labour / and do all thy worke / but vpon the seventh daye it is the Sabbath of y LoRD thy God: do no maner worke / shalt thou do in it / thou / and thy soune / and thy daughter / and thy seruants / and thy mayden / and thyne esse / and all thy cattell / and the steuanger / whiche is within thy gates / that thy seruant and thy mayden maye rest as well as thou. For thou shalt remember / that thou thy selfe also wast a seruant in the lande of Egypte / and how that the LoRD thy God broughte the out from thence / with a mighty hande / a stretched out arme. Therefore hath the LoRD thy God commaunded the to kepe the Sabbath daye.

¶ Honour thy father and thy mother / as the LoRD thy God hath commaunded the / that thou mayest lyue longe vpon earth / and it maye go well with the in the lande / which the LoRD thy God shall geue the.

¶ Thou shalt not kill.
Thou shalt not break wedlocke.
Thou shalt not steale.
Thou shalt beare no false witnesse agaynst thy neyghboure.

 heare/ and do. When the Lord herde the voyce of your wordes/ which ye spake vnto me/ he sayd vnto me: I haue herde the voyce of the wordes of this people/ which they haue spoken vnto the. It is all good that they haue spoken.

But who shall giue them such an heare/ that they may feare me/ a kepe all my commaundmentes as long as they liue/ that it maye go well with them/ and with theyr chy lden for euer? Go and saye vnto them: Get you in to your tentes agayne. But thou shalt stande here before me/ that I may tell the all the commaundmentes/ and ordinaunces a lawes/ which thou shalt teache them/ that they maye do therafter in the lande/ which I shall giue them to possesse. Take hede now therfore walke in all the wayes/ which the Lord your God hath commaunded you/ that ye maye liue/ and that it maye go well with you/ a that ye maye liue longe in the lande/ which ye shal haue in possession.

The VI. Chapter.

These are the commaundmentes/ or ordi naunces and lawes/ which the Lord your God hath commaunded/ that ye should heare them/ and do therein/ the lande whither ye go to possesse it/ that thou mayest feare the Lord thy God/ and kepe all his ordinaun ces and commaundmentes/ which I com maunded the/ thou and the chylders chyldren all of thyce of your lyfe/ that ye maye liue longe.
 Thou shalt heare (O Israel) and take hede that thou do therafter/ that it maye go well with the/ and that thou mayest multiplye greatly/as the Lord God of thy fathers hath pro misyd the a lande/ that floweth with milke a honey. Heare O Israel/ the Lord our God is one Lord onely. And thou shalt loue the Lord thy God with all thyne heart/ with all thy soule/ and with all thy might. And these wordes/ which I commaunde the this daye: kepe thou well to hert/ a shalt rechearse them vnto thy chyldren/ a shalt talke of them when thou sitest in thyne house/ a when thou wal kest by the waye/ when thou lystest done/ and when thou risest vp. And thou shalt bind them for a signe vpon thyne hande/ a they shalbe a token of remembraunce before thy eyes/ when and thou shalt wyte them upon the postes of thyne house/ and upon thy gates.

Now when the Lord thy God shall bringe the into the lande/ wherof he swore vnto thy fathers Abraham/ Isaac and Jacob/ and shall giue the great and goodly cyties/ which thou hast not buylde: a houses full of all goo des/ which thou hast not fylled: a digged tres ses/ which thou hast not digged: a yncarna des a olyue trees/ whiche thou hast not plant ed/ so that thou eatest/ a art full: then beware that thou forger not the Lord/ which brought the out of the lande of Egypte/ from the house of bondage/ that thou shalt feare the Lord thy God/ and him onely shalt thou serue/ and shalt sweare by his name. And ye shall not folow the other goddesses of the nacion/ whiche are aboute you (for the Lord by God is a ge loue God/ in the middelt of the) that I the Lord thy God wyte not whote ouer the/ a destroye the from the earth.

1 Ye shall not tempt the Lord your God / as ye tempted him at Massa: but kepe the commandmentes of the Lord your God / and his witnesses / as his ordinances / which he hath commanded the / that thou mayest know that which is right / and good in the sight of the Lord / that thou mayest prosper / as that thou mayest go in / as conquer that good land / which the Lord swaie vnto thy fathers / so he may place our al thine enemies before the / as the Lord hath sayd.

2 Know when thy sonne aske the to daye of us / and sayeth / What meane these witnesses / ordinaunces / and lawes / that the Lord our God hath commaunded you: Then shalt thou saye vnto thy sonne: We were Chanaan bondmen in Egypt / as the Lord brought vs out of Egypt with a mighty hande / as the Lord his great auell reke us a wonders in Egypt / vpon Pihahor / and his house before our eyes / as brought vs from thence to bring vs in / and to geue vs thy lande / that he swaie vnto our fathers. And therfore hath the Lord commaunded vs to do / accordinge vnto all these ordinaunces / that we might feare the Lord our God / that we might prosper all the dayes of our life / as it is come to passe this daye. And it shalbe righteousness vnto vs before the Lord our God / if we kepe and to all these commaundmentes / as he hath commaunded vs.

The VII. Chapter.

1 When the Lord thy God bringeth the into the lande / wherein thou shalt come to possesse it / and rethor thou many nations before thee: the Hittites / Gergisites / Ammonites / Canaanites / Pherezites / Hittites and Jebusites / seven nations / which are greater / and mightier then thou: as when the Lord thy God deliuereth them before thee / that thou mayest inuite them: thou shalt utterly destroye them / so that thou make no covenant with them / nor shalt thou fauour / and shalt make no marriage with them. Ye shall not geue your daughters vnto they / sonnes / nor take they / daughters vnto your sonnes: for they will make your sonnes to depart from / to serue straunge goddes: then shall the wrath of the Lord rage against you / and he will destroye you shortly.

3 It was not because of the multitude of you above all nations / that the Lord had lust vnto you / and chose you: for ye were the least amonge all nations: but because he loued you / and that he might kepe the oath / which he swaie vnto your fathers / he brought you out with a mighty hande / and deliuered you from the house of bondages / out of the hande of Pharaon / kynge of Egypte.

4 Thou shalt vnderstande now therfore / that the Lord thy God is a mighty and true God / which keepeth covenant and mercy vnto them that loue him / and kepe his commaundmentes: euen thow thou art a house of gentes: and rewardeth them that hate him before his face / that he maye destroye them: it will not belonge in reuenge towards the before his face / that hatre him. Ape now therfore the commaundmentes / as ordinaunces and lawes / which I commaunde the this daye / that thou do therafter.

5 And if ye shall heare these lawes and kepe them / and do therafter: then shall the Lord thy God also kepe the covenant / as mercy with the / which he swaie vnto thy fathers: and shall loue the / as the multitude / and the frute of thy lande / as by come / weyne and oyle / the frute of thy fyne / and the frute of thy shepe / in the lande that he swaie vnto thy fathers to geue the. Blessyd shall thou be above all nations / there shall no vnfruitfull person be in the / nor amonge thy canell. The Lord shall put from the all manner of vncleanness / and shall bringe vpon the none of the cruelle sinnes of Egypte: which thou shalt see: but thou shalt put them vpon all those that here the.

6 Thou shalt heare no sougth all the nations / which the Lord thy God shall deliuer the. Thine eye shall not spare them / and they: Goddes shall thou not serue / that shall be thy decay. If thou shalt lay in thine

But if thou shalt forget the Lorde thy God / and followe other Goddes / and serue them / and worshippe them: I testifie ouer you this daye / that ye shall certeynly perishe. Euen as the Hyrcan / whome the Lord Destroyeth before your faces / shal ye perishe also / because ye are not obedient vnto the voyce of the Lord your God.

The IX Chapter.

Isræll hearken. This day shalt thou goe vnto your Iordā / that thou maiest come in / to conquer the nations / which are greater and mightier then thou / great cyrces / walled vp vnto heauen / a great people / and of byc slave / namely the chyldren of Enakim / whome thou hast knowne / and of whome thou hast herd saye: Who is able to stande agaynst the chyldren of Enakim? Therefore shalt thou knowe this daye / that the Lorde thy God goeth before the / a consumingme fyre. He shall destroye them / and shall subdue them before the / and shall tryue them oute / and shortly shall he bringe them to naught / as the Lorde hath promised the.

None whan the Lorde thy God hath expelled them before the / saye not than in thy herte: The Lorde hath brought me in / to take possession of this lande for mine owne righteousnesse sake / where as the Lorde yet tryueth oute the Hyrcan before the / because of theyr vngodlinesse.

For thou comest not in / to take theyr lande in possession / for thine owne righteousnesse sake / and because of thy righteous herte / but the Lorde tryueth oute these Hyrcan for theyr owne vngodlinesse sake / and that he may performe the word / which the Lorde hath sworne vnto thy fathers / Abraham / Isaac / and Jacob.

Understande nowe therfore / that the Lorde thy God geueth not the thys lande to possesse it / for thine owne righteousnesse sake / for thou art a sinner people.

Remember / and forget not how thou displeasest the Lorde thy God in the wilderness. Hence the daye that thou departedst out of the lande of Egypt / till ye came vnto this place / haue ye ben disobedient vnto the Lorde.

For in Horeb ye angered the Lorde / so that of wrath he wolde haue destroyed you / whan I was gone vp to the mount / to receaue the tabels of stone / namely the tabels of the conuenant / which the Lord made with you / and I chode fourty daies and fourty nightes vpon the mount / and did eate no breade / and dranke no water: And the Lord gaue me the two tabels of stone / written with the finger of God / and in them was accordinge to all the wordes / which the Lord sayd vnto you vpon the mount / out of the heuē in 7 daye of the gatheringe together.

And after the fourty daies and fourty nightes / the Lorde gaue me the two tabels of stone / namely the tabels of the conuenant / and sayde vnto me: Up / and get the Stone quickly from hence for the people / whome thou broughtest out of Egypt / haue marred them / for they are fowne gone out of f wawe / which I commaunded them / and haue made them a molten ymage.

And the Lord sayd vnto me: I see thys people / that it is a stiffnecked people: let me alone / that I maye destroye them / and put out theyr name from vnder heauen. I will make of the a people / mightier and greater than thys is.

And as I turned me / and wente down from the mount / which diuēt with fyre / and had the two tabels of the conuenant in both my handes / I beheld / and beholde / ye had synned agaynst the Lord your God / so that ye had made you a molten calfe / and were fowne turned out of the wawe / which the Lord had commaunded you. Then toke I the two tabels / and cast them out of both my handes / and brake them before your eyes / and I fell before the Lorde / euen as at the first tyme.

fourty dayes and fourty nightes / a member did eate bread / nor dranke water / because of all youre synnes which ye had sinned / whan ye did such euell in the sight of the Lorde / to provoke hym vnto wrath. For I was afraied of the wrath and indignacion / wherwith the Lorde was angry with you / when to haue destroyed you. And the Lorde herde me at that tyme also.

Moreover the Lorde was very angry with Aaron / so that he wolde haue destroyed hym / but I made intercession for Aarō also at that tyme.

The XI. Chapter.

¶ Deu. x. Therefore shalt thou loue the Lord thy God/and kepe his commandementes/ his ordinaunces / his lawes / and his peccetres all thy life longe. And vnderstande this daye / that which your chyliden knowe not: whiche haue not sene the nurture of the Lord your God/ and his greatnesse / and his myghty hande / as his stretched out arme / and his tofens and aces / whiche he did amonge the Egyptians/ vnto Pharaon the kynge of Egypte/ and so al his lande/ as whiche he did to the power of the Egyptians/ and vnto their heuies and charrettes / I wntan be broughte the waters of the reed see vpon them: so they flowed after you / and howe the Lord hath broughte them to naughte vnto this daye / and whar he did vnto you in the wilderness / vntill ye came vnto this place: I whar he did vnto Sarhan and Thiram the chyliden of Elilab/ the sonne of Kube/ howe the earth opened her mouth / and swallowed them with theyr houlholtes a tenne/ and all their good that they had in the middes/ amonge all Israell.

¶ For your eyes haue sene the great workes of the Lord/ which he hath done. Therefore shall ye kepe all the commandementes/ whiche I commaunde you this daye / that ye maye be stronge to come in / and to cōquere the lande / wherby ye go to possesse it / that ye maye lye longe in the lande/ whiche the Lord swore vnto your father / to geue vnto them / and to their seds / eny a lande that sheweth rich mylke and honey. I you the lande/ wherby ye come in to possesse it / is not as the lande of Egypte/ wherby ye came out / where thou so weest thy seds/ and wateredest it at thy foote/ as a garde of herbes / but it hath hylles and valleyes / whiche thynke water of the reyne of heauen / a lande that the Lord thy God careth for. And the eyes of the Lord thy God are alwayes therein / from the beginninge of thye yeare vnto the ende.

¶ I ye shall heren therfore vnto my commaundementes/ whiche I commaunde you this daye / that ye loue the Lord your God / and serue hym with al youre hart / with al youre soule / with all your rayne vnto your lande in the daye / that ye shall eate a late / that thou mayest gett theer in thy come / thy wyne / and thynne oyle / a lande / whiche I will geue grasse vnto thy felde / for thy cattel / that ye maye eate and by fyllen.

¶ But beware / that your herte be not deceued / that ye go a side / and serue other goddes / and worshippe them / and then the wrath of the Lord waxe vnto you vnto / as he that vnto the heauen / that there come no rayne / and in the earth geue no her increase / and ye perish and your a shortly from the good lande / whiche the Lord hath geuen you.

¶ Put up therfore / these my wordes in your hertes / and in your soules / and bynde them for a signe vpon your handes / that they maye be a token of remembrance before your eyes / and teache them your chyliden / so that thou talke theer of / when thou sittest in thynne house / or walkest by the waye / whiche thou lyst / whiche a when thou risest vp / and writte the vpon the postes of thynne house / and vpon the gates / that thou and thy chyliden maye lye longe in the lande / whiche the Lord swore vnto thy father / to geue them / as longe as the dayes of heauen endure vpon earth.

¶ For if ye shall kepe all these commandementes / whiche I commaunde you this daye / thereafter / that ye loue the Lord your God / and walke in all his wayes / and cōquere vnto hym / then shall the Lord thynne out all these nacions before you / so that ye shall conquere greater and mightier nacions then ye your selfe are.

¶ All the place that the soles of your feete treade vpon / shall be yours / from the wilderness / and from moūt Lebanon / and from the rauer Eubrates / vnto the uttermost sic / shall your coastes be. Woman shall be able to worke stand before you. The Lord your God shall see the face and side of you come upon all the lande wherein ye goe/like as he hath promised you.

Deut. xxxi. c
*E. xvij. d

Beholde / I laye before you this daye the blessing and the curse. The blessing / if ye be obedient vnto the commaundementes of the Lord your God / which I commaunde you this daye. The curse / if ye will not be obedient to the commaundementes of the Lord your God / but turne out of the way / which I commaunde you this daye / so that ye walke after other goddes / whome ye knowe not.

Deut. xxxij. b

When the Lord thy God hath bidden thee into the lande / whether thou comest into the lande / which are beyonde Jordan / the waye towards the goinge downe of the Sunne / in the lande of the Canaanites / which dwell in the plains / seld / ouer against Gulgath / beside the Ceftrone of More. For ye shall go ouer Jordan / that ye maye come in / to take possession of the lande / which the Lord your God hath giuen you / to conuercit / and to dwell therein. Take heede now therfore that ye do / according vnto all the ordinance and lawes / which I laye before you this daye.

The XII. Chapter.

These are the ordinance and lawes / which ye shall keepe / that ye do thereafter in the lande / which the Lord your God of thy fathers hath giuen / to possess / as loege as ye linc vpon earth.

Deut. vij. d

Destroye all the places / wherein the heathen / whome ye shall conuercit / haue sacrit / their goddes / whether it be vpon hie mountaynes / vpon hilles / or amonge grentrees. And ouerthrowe their altars / and breake downe their pylers / and burne their grones with fyre / and burne downe the ymagines of their goddes / and bynge the names of hem to naughte / out of the same place. Ye shall not do so vnto the Lord your God :

Deut. x. d
Deut. x. d

but the place / which the Lord your God shall chosse out of all your trybes / that he maye let his name dwell there / shall ye see / and come thither / and thither shall ye bringe your burnt offerings / and youre other offerings / and youre tithes / and the heate offerings of youre handes / and your vowe / and youre frewill offerings / and the first borne of your oren and shepe : and there shall ye eate before the Lord your God / and reioyce with all that ye / and youre heuies / haue and haue giuen vnto your handes / because the Lord thy God hath blessed the. Ye shall do none of the thynges / that we haue here this day / euery man / what semeth him good / in his owne eyes. For ye are not yet come to rest / nor to the inheritance / which the Lord thy God shall giue the.

But ye shall go ouer Jordan / and dwell in the lande / that the Lord your God shall chosse out vnto you / and he shall giue you rest from all your enemies rounde about / and ye shall dwell safe. Now when the Lord thy God hath chossen a place / to make his name dwell there / ye shall bringe thither all that I haue commaunded you / namelye your burnt sacrifices / youre other offerings / or your tithes / or the heate offerings of youre handes / and all your frewores / which ye shall bringe vnto the Lord : and there shall ye eate / and reioyce because the Lord your God / ye and your sonnes / and your daughters / and your seruantes / and your maydens / and the Leuite that are within your gates / for they haue no portion : no inheritance with you.

Take heede vnto thy self / that thou offer not thy burnt offerings / in whatsoeuer place thou fyndest / in the place / which the Lord shall haue chossen in one of thy trybes / there shalt thou offer thy burnt offerings / as do all that I commaunde the. Norwithstanding / when thou mayest fynd and eate flesh within all thy gates / after al desyre of thy soule / accordinge to the blessing of the Lord thy God / which he hath giuen the / both the cleane and vncleane maye eat it / as of the roe a harte / once ly the blood / that thou note not / but poure it out as water vpon the earth.

But within thy gates mayest thou not eate of the ritche of thy cow / of thy wyne / and of thy oyle / nor of thy fyreshoone of thyne / or of any of thy ritche / or of any of thy ritche / which thou hast tored / or of thy frewill offerings / or heate offerings of thy handes : but before the Lord thy God shalt thou eate them : in the place / which the Lord thy God shall chosse / and thy soune / and thy daughter / thy seruante / thy mayden / and the Leuite : that is within thy thy gates and thou shalt reioyce before the Lo:De thy God/ouer all that thou puttell thyne hande vnto. ¶ And beware that thou forfake nor the Remite/as longe as thou liuest vpon the earth.

But when the Lo:De thy God shall enlarge the borders of thy lande/so he hath promised the A: th: thou say: I will eat flesh/C for so much as thy soule longeth to eat flesh/when eat flesh/according to all thy desire of thy soule.
But if the place that the Lo:De thy God hath chosen to let his name be there/Be farre from th: then kill of thy oxen and of thy sheepe/which the Lo:De hath giuen thee/as he hath commanded the/and eat it within thy gates/seecording to all thy desire of thy soule. ¶ When as a roo or heert is eaten/mayest thou eat: both the cleane and the vncleane maye eat it indifferently. ¶ Only beware that thou eat not the blood: for the blood is the life. Therefore shalt thou not eat the life with the flesh/ but shalt pour it out lyke water vpon the earth/ & thou mayest prosper/and thy child: after the whan thou hast done/ that which is right in the sight of the Lo:De.

¶ When thou hast welldoughte that is thyne/ or makest a uow: thou shalt take it/and bring it vnto the place/that the Lo:De hath chosen/and laye thy burnt offerings with the flesh and blood vpon the altare of the Lo:De the God. The bloude of thyne offering shalt thou poure vpon the altare of thy Lo:De thy God/and eat the flesh. Take heed/and heare all these wordes/ which I commande the/that it maye goe well with the/and thy children after the for euer/whan thou hast bene/that which is right and acceptable in thy sight of the Lo:De thy God.

¶ When the Lo:De thy God hath roted out the wicked before thee/whether they committ into concuence the/and dwellst in their lande: beware then that thou fall not in the snare after them/whan they are despoiled before the/and that thou are not after their goddes/and saye: Why so these nations haue sinned their gods/des/so wil I do also. ¶ Thou shalt not do so vnto thy Lo:De thy God. For al is abhomination vnto thy Lo:De/and that he hateth/ & same haue they done vnto their goddes. For they haue burnt euen theyr sonnes a their daughters with fyre vnto theyr goddes.

¶ All that I commande you/shal ye kepe & obser-ue therafter. ¶ Ye shal put nothing thereto/ & nor take ought there from.
The XIII. Chapter.

¶ If there rise vp a prophet or dreamer among you/and geue thee a token or wonder/ & saye: Let vs go after other goddes/ whom thou knowest not/ a let vs serue them: Thou shalt not hearken vnto his wordes of such a prophet or dreamer.

¶ For the Lo:De your God proceyth you/to wete whether ye loue him/ & all your her-te/ and with all your soule. ¶ For ye shal walke after the Lo:De your God/and feare him/and kepe his commandementes/ and herke vnto his voyce/and serue him/and cleue vnto him.
¶ To so: that prophete or dreamer/ he shal dye:
because he hath spoken to turne you away from the Lo:De your God/ which brought you out of the lande of Egypte/ and deliuered you from thy house of bondage/ to thusse the out of the reare/ which thy Lo:De thy God commanded the to walke in/ so shalt thou put away the euil from the.

¶ If thy brother/ the sonne of thy mother/ or thyne owne kinne/ or thy daughter/ or thy sister/ or the frende whiche is vnto the/ as thyne owne soule/ entice the secrete/ & and saye: Let vs go and serue other goddes/which are amonge the nations rounde about you/ whether they be nye vnto the/ or fere fro the/ from the one ende of the earth vnto the other: consente not vnto hym/ and hea-ken not vnto hym. ¶ Thyne eye shall not pitye hym/ and thou shalt haue no compassion vpon hym/ no: kepe hym secrete/ but shalt cause hym to be slayne/ thyne hande shal be first vpon hym/ to cause hym to be slayne/ and then the handes of all the people. ¶ He shal be stoned to death/ because he wente aboute to thusse the awaye from the Lo:De thy God/ which broughte the out of the lande of Egypte/ from the house of bondage: ¶ That all Israell maye heare and feare him/ and do no more: suche euil amonge you.

¶ If thou heere in any cite/ which thy Lo:De thy God hath giuen the to dwell in/ that it is

The XIII. Chapter.

ME are the chylidren of the Loide youre God/ / but not your selles therfore / and make you no baldness: berweene youre eyre ouer any vrede. For thou art a holy people vnto the Lord thy God. * And the Loide hath chosen the to be his owne peculiar prople/ from amonge al the nationes that are vpon the earth.

E thou shalt eat no abhominacion. These are the Beastes which ye shal eate/ oxen / shepe goates/ hert/ roo/ Bugle/ wyde goate/ vnicorn/ougen/ and camelion. And every Beaste that vndeth his claw/ and chewed cudde/ shal ye eate. Vnter these/ these shal ye not eate of the beare/ chace/ eud/ and veuie. nor the doke into two clawes: The camel/ the haye/ and the conye/ for though they chere cud/ yet veynde they not the hofe/ therefore shal they be vnclean vnto you. The swyne / though he veynde the hofe/ yet he chere be not eud/ he shal be vnclean vnto you: ye shall not eate of the fle of them/ and they shal eate of all that is in the water: All that hath fyngres and feet like shal ye eate. But wpon anye other no: scales / that shal ye not eate/ so: it is vnclean vnto you.

Eate of al cleane foules. But these are they / whereof ye shal not eate: The Eagle/ the goshawk haue/ the comynaut/ the yon/ the vulture/ the fyre/ with his fynde / and all rauen in theye fynde/ the chrich/ the night crowe / the cocow/the spaw/ hawk with his fynde/ the lute/ the the great owle/ the backe/ the biture/ the swaine/the pellicane/ the gyre/ the stakke/ the heron/ the tare with his fynde/ the vungge/ the swalowe:
And all foules that crepe/ shal be vnclean vnto you/ and ye shal not eate the/ but every cleane byde it shal ye eate.

Ye shall eate of no thyng / & vich alone/ thou mayest geue it vnto the straunger within thy gate/ that he eate it/ as it is to a straunger. For thou art a holy people vnto the Lord thy God. I Thou shalt not seeth a kid wyllye it

Thou shalt separate out the tythe of all the encreafe of thy sode/ that cometh out of thy felde every yere / and shalt eate it before the Loide thy God / in the place / whiche he shal chuse/ that his name may dwell there / Namely of the tythes of thy come of thy wyne/of thy oyle/ and of the fyftheome of thyne oyle

2771c In the thide yeare shalt thou dyngre forth all the tythes of thyne increase / of the same yeare / and shalt laye it within thy gates. Then shall the Leuite / which hath no portion nor inheritance with the Land / the stranger / and the fatherlesse / and the widowe / which are within thy gates / come and eate / and fill them selves / that the Lord thy God maye bless the in all the woordes of thy handes / which thou speakest.

The XV. Chapter.

2772a There shall be no begger amonge you: for the Lord thy God shall bless the in thy lande / which the Lord thy God shall geue the to inheritance / to take it in possession / such that thou hearken vnto the voyce of the Lord thy God / and kepe all these commaunders / which I commaunde the this day / that thou mayest prosper. For the Lord thy God shall bless the: so he hath promised the. Thee shalt thou lende vnto many nations / and shalt serue of no man. Thou shalt raygne ouer many nations / and noman shall raygne ouer the.

2772c Beware that there be not a point of Beldie in all thyne heart: that thou woldst saye. The seventh yeare of freedom is at hande: for if thou lokest not freshly vpon thy poore Brother / and gressest hym nothing: then shall he crye out vnto the Lord / and it shall synne vnto the: But thou geue hym / and let it not greue thine heart that thou gressest him. For the cause of which the Lord thy God shall bless the in all thy woordes / and in all that thou puttest thine hande vnto. The lande shall neuer be without poore: therefore commaunde I the a say: that thou open thine hande vnto thy Brother: which is needy and poore in thy lande.

2772d If thy Brother an Ebrue / or Scheweite be sold vnto the: he shall serue the first yeare in the seventh yeare shalt thou let him go free. And when thou deliuerest him free / thou shalt not let him go from thy empne: but shalt geue hym of thy shepe / of thy conee / and of thy reyne: so that thou geue hym of that / whiche the Lord thy God hath blessed the withall. And remember that thou also wast a seruall in the lande of Egyp: and borne of the Lord thy God deliuered: therefore commaunde I the this thinge to saye.

2772e But if he saye vnto the: I will not go out awaye from the: for I loue the and thine house in so much as he is to eate with the: then take a barker / and bore him thre: so his care to thy house / and let him be thy seruante for euer. And with thy mayden shalt thou likewise. And let it not seme greuous vnto thy to let him go free from the: / for he hath serued the sixe yeares as a double byred seruitt: then shall the Lord thy God bless the in all that thou doest.

2772f All first borne that come of thine oxen / and shepe / are males: shalt thou halow vnto the Lord thy God. Thou shalt not plowe thine field with the first borne of thine oxen / and shalt not choppe the first borne of thy shepe: before the Lord thy God shalt thou eate them every yeare: in that place that the Lord thy God shall chuse thee.

2772g But if thou have a Besomite / so that it is lame / or blind / or hath any other out blemish: thou shalt not offer it vnto the Lord thy God: but shalt eat it within thine owne gates: whether thou be vnto cleane or cleane: as the roo and herte. Onlye that thou eate not of the floude thereof: but put it out as water vpon the grounde.

The XVI. Chapter.

2773a Besure the monthe Abib: hat thou offre the first borne vnto the Lord thy God: in the monthe Abib / the Lord thy God brought and putteth the out of Egyp: by night. And for the cause of that thou shalt offer vnto the Lord thy God: thou shalt offer vnto the Lord thy God: the first borne of thy shepe / in the place / which the Lord thy God shall chuse: that his name maye be well there.

The. XVIII. Chapter.

The iudges / the Leuites / and all the trybe of Leuit shall haue no parte nor inheritaunce with Israel. The offeringes of the Lord and his inheritance shall they receiue.
Therefore shall they haue no inheritance amonge their brethren / because the Lord be they: inheritance / as he hath said vnto thee.
This shall be the iudges duty of the people / and of the office / whether it be one / or / sepe / so that they gaue vnto the iust the souldier and both the heles / and the best. And if first frues of they come / of thy wyne / and of thy oyle / and the first of thy sheepe shearinge. / For the Lord thy God hath chosen hym out of all thy tribes: to stand a minister in the name of the Lord thy God / and his sonnes / at the dece of theyr life.

If a Leuite come out of any of thy gates / or out of any place of all Israel / where he is a gesser / and cometh with all the desire of his feuler / vnto the place which the Lord hath chosen / to minister in the name of the Lord thy God / like as of his brethren the Leuites whiche stande there before the Lord: then shall he haue like portion of meate with the other: besides that which he hath of the solde good of his fatheres.

When thou comest into the lande / which the Lord thy God shall geue thee / thou shalt ff. b. ¶ If a man be founde lycinge with a womā / that is a married husband / and they be both the man & woman that he hath lycn withall. And so shal they put a waye euell fro Israell.

¶ If a mayden be handfasted to any man / and another man getteth her in the cytye / and lycn with her / ye shall bringe them both out vnto the gate of the cytye / and stone them both that they dye. The damselfe / because she cryed not / beinge in the cytye. The man / because he hath brought his neighbours wyfe to shame: And then shalt put awaye the euill from the.

¶ If a man fynde a mayden / it is not handfasted / and take her / and lye with her / and be founde / then shall he that laye with her / geue her father ffiftye sickeles of siluer / and shall haue her to wyse / because he hath shamed her: he maye not forsake her all his lyfe longe.

The XXIII. Chapter.

¶ Here shall none have bys stoncs blyssed: / neither shall no gelded come into the congregacion of the Lord. There shall no whorow / whiche also come into the congregacion of the Lord / no / not after the tenth generacion of the Lord / neuer come in to the congregacion of the Lord: The Timonites / & Moabites shall not come into the congregacion of the Lord / no / not after the tenth generacion / but neuer come in / because they were yet not with bread a water in the way / when ye came out of Egipte: And besides this they byed agaynst you Balam the soune of Beor / the interpreter out of Mesopotamie / to curse the Lord: & the Lord thy God wolde not heare Balam / & he turned the curse to blessinge vnto the because the Lord thy God loued the: Thou shalt weise hym / neither prosper nor health al thy lyfe longe for euill. Thou shalt not adhoure an Idolatrye: for he is thy brother.

¶ An Egiptian shall thou not adhoure / for he is a straunger in thy lode. The childre / whome they beget in the thre generacions / shall come into the congregacion of the Lord.

When thou goest out to fighte agaynst thyne enemyes, kepe the from all wickednesse.

If there be any man among you, which is vncleane / so that any thyng is chaunced to hym by might / the same shal goe out of thy boos / vnll he haue barbed hym selfe with water before euill : and when the Sunne is gone downe the shal come into the boos agayne.

And reuote the boos / thou shalt haue a place to reuote vnto for necessite / a thou shalt haue a shouell vnder thy myddel / a when thou wyste it the vaine without / thou shalt bygge therewith : a when thou hast done thyne case-ment / thou shalt cower that / which is separated from the so: the Lord thy God walketh in thyne hoos / to velsuer the / and to geue thyne encurse before thee. Therefore shal thy boes be holy / that be no vncleane thyng in the / and so mure hymselfe from thee.

Thou shalt not velsuer vnto his master the semail / which is escaped from hym vnto thee. He shall breell with the in the place / he choseth within any of thy gates / for his wealth / a thou shalt not vete hym.

When thou makest a vowe vnto the Lord thy God / thou shalt not be slacke to performe it: for the Lord thy God shal requyre it of thee / and it shal be sinne vnto thee. If thou leane vpon wyne / then is it no sinne vnto thee. But that which is proceeded out of thy lips / pou shalt thou kepe / and so thereafter: accordinge as thou hast vowed vnto the Lord of a fre will / which thou hast spoken with thy mouth.

When thou goest into thy neyghbours vncleane / thou mayest ease of the grape / accordinge to thy desire / till thou haue enough. But thou shalt put none into thy vessell.

When thou goest into thy neyghbours countre / thou mayest plucke the eys / with thyne hande / but with a sickle mayest thou not rape it herin.

The XXXIII. Chapter.

Can a man take a wyfe / and marrye her / and she syndeh no fauoure in his eyes / because of any vncleane / then shall he lende a byll of deuocement / and geue it her in her hande / and sende her out of his house. If when she is gone out of his house / she goe and be another mans wyfe / and the same keconde man haue her also / and weyre a byll of deuocement / and geue it her in her hande / she be out of his house: And if the same keconde man strem hys toke her to wyfe / then her hys / has bande that put her awaye / may not take her agayne to be his wyfe / in so much as she is despyed / for that is abhominacion before the Lord: that thou make not the lende to synne / which the Lord thy God hath geuen the to inheritaunce.

When a man hath newly taken a wyfe / he shall not go a warfare / neyther shal he be charged withall. He shal be fre in his house one yere logs / that he may be merry with his wyfe / which he hath taken.

Thou shalt not take the necker most / and uppermost myllston to pledge / for he hath set the his myllstone to pledge.

If any man be founde that stealer one of the of his brethren / from amonge the chyldren of Israel / a seller hym to pledge / or seller hym / swyche thee / shal dye / that thou mayest put awaye the euell from thee.

Kepe the from the plague of leprosie / that thou shalt observe diligently / and do accordinge vnto all the preceptes the Lawe teach thee. I haue commaunded thein / that shall observe and do the same. Remember that the Lord thy God byd vnto Miriam by the waye / when ye were come out of Egipt.

If thou lendest thy brother any / thou shalt not go into his house / and take a pledge / but shall stande without / and he to whome thou lendest / shall buyge out his pledge vnto thee.

Cursif it be a poore body / thou shalt not lye Dounce to slepe with his pledg / but shalt vety-uer bym his pledge agayne / when the Sunne goth downe / so he maye slepe in his owne rayment and bless the / so shal the same be re-kened vnto the for righteousnes before the LORD thy God.

Thou shalt not withdrawe the hye of the necke and poore amonge thy bretheren / or stranger / is in thy lande / or within thy gar-res / but shalt geue bym his hye the same / yee shar the Sunne go not downe theron / for so much as he is nedye / a his lyfe susteyned / ther with / that he call not upon the LORD agaynst the / as it be synne vnto the.

The fathers shal not dye for the chyldren / as a nor the chyldren for the fathers / but every one shall dye for his owne synne.

Thou shalt not wrest the right of the straunger and of the fatherlesse. And the widowes rayment shalt thou not take to pledge. For thou shalt remembre / that thou wast a seruante in Egipte / and how that the LORD thy God Redeemed the from thence / therfore commaunde
I the to do this.

When thou hast reaped dounce thyne har-uyst in the feilde / and hast forgotten a shefe in the feilde / thou shalt not turne agayne to fetch it / but it shalbe for the straunger / the fatherlesse / and the widowe / that the LORD thy God maye bless the in all the woikes of thy hande.

When thou hast plucked thyne Olyue tree / thou shalt not plucke them vp cleane afterward / it shalbe for the straunger / the fatherlesse / and the widowe. When thou hast gathered thy tynesard / thou shalt not gar-ther vp cleane afterward / it shalbe for the straunger / the fatherlesse / and the widowe. And thou shalt remembre that thou wast a seruante in the lande of Egipte / therfore commaunde
I the to do this.

The XXV. Chapter.

When there is a stryfe betwene men / they shalbe brought before the laue and iudges / and the iudges shal iustifie the righteous / and cōdemne the vngodly. And if the vngodly haue desired stryces / the iudges shall commaunde to take hym dounce / and they shall beare hym before hym / accordyng to the measure and nombre of his trespass.

When they haue geuen him fourty stryces / they shall beate hym no more / lest / (if there be more stryces geuen hym) he be beate to mudd and thy brother be horrible before thyne eyes.

Thou shalt not mofell the mouth of the oyle that treadeth out the olue.

When bretheren dwell together / and one of them dye without chyldren / then shall not the wyfe of the deade take a straunger without her kynsman shall go in vnto her / a take her to wyfe / and the fyrst sonne that she beareth / shall he set vp after the name of his brother / which to dead / that his name be not put out of Israell.

But if the man will not take his kynswoman man / then shall his kynswoman go vp vnto the gate vnto the Elders / and saye / My kyns-man refuseth to steepe vp a name vnto his brother in Israell / and will not marrye me. Then shal the Elders of the cite call hym / and coo-men with him. If he stande then and saye / I will not take her / then shall his kynswoman steppe forth vnto hym before the Elders / and loose a shoe fro his foote / and spere in his face and shall answer and saye / Thus shall it be done vnto every ma that will not buyde his brothers house. And his name shalbe called in Israell the vnsobd house.

If two men stryue together / and the wyfe from the hande of hym that stryeth hym / a putt saith her hande / and take hym by the secretes / then shalt thou cut off her hande / and thyne eye shall not purre her.

Thou shalt not haue in thy bagge two maner of weyghtes / a greater a a small. Neys ther shalt thou haue in thyne boufe twoe mesures / a greater a a small. Thou shalt haue a perfecte and iust weight / and a perfecte and iust measure / that thy lyfe maye be longe in the lande / whiche the LORD thy God shal geue the. For whosoeuer both iust / yee all they that do well / are abdonnation vnto the LORD thy God. Remembre what the Amaleytes did vnto the by the waye / what re were departed out of the Egipte / howe they buckled with the by the waye / and smote thy hymnall / euen as I were feble / whiche came after / whā thou wast weyre and saynte / a they feared nor God. Note when the Lord thy God bringeth thee to rest from all thine enemies round about in the lande; which the Lord thy God geueth thee for inheritance to possess / then shalt thou put out the remembrance of the Amalchites from vnder heaven: for get not this.

The XXVI. Chapter.

When thou comest in the lande that the Lord thy God shall geue thee to inheritance: and enioyest it / and dwellest therein / thou shalt take of all manner of firstfrutes of the lande / that come out of thy ground: which the Lord thy God geueth thee: and shalt put them in a munde / and go vnto the place / whiche the Lord thy God shall direct: (that his name may dwell there) and thou shalt come vnto the priest: in whiche shall be at that tyme / and saye vnto him: I knowlege thy Name vnto the Lord thy God: that I am come vnto the lande / whiche the Lord sware vnto our fathers to geue vs / and the priest shall take the munde out of thyne hande / for it is donne before the altare of the Lord thy God.

When shalt thou answer: and say before the Lord thy God: The Sennans wolde haue destroyed my father / whiche wente vnto into Egypte / and was a stranger there with a small flocke / and became there a nation great: multiplyng / and ful of people. ¶ But the Egyptians entreated vs euill / and troubled vs / and layed a hard bondage vpon vs. Then cryed we vnto the Lord: the God of oure fathers. ¶ And the Lord herde our cryenge / and looked on our aduersite / labour / and oppression. ¶ And brought vs out of Egypte with a mighty hande / and a stretched out arme / and with great terriblest: shewing tokens and wonders: and hath brought vs vnto this place / a lande geuen vs this lande that floweth with mylke and hony. Therefore bringe I now the firstfrutes of the lande / whiche the Lord hath geuen vs. And thou shalt leaue them before the Lord thy God / and geue thanks before the Lord thy God / and reioyce ouer all the good: that the Lord thy God hath geuen thee / and thine house:

thou and the Leuite / and the stranger that is with thee.

¶ When thou hast broughte together all the firstfrutes of thine increase in the thyrde yeare: whiche is a yeare of tythe / thou shalt geue it vnto the Leuite / to the stranger: to the fatherlesse / and to the widowe / that they maye eate within thy gates / and be fylled. And thou shalt saye before the Lord thy God: I haue brought that halowed is out of my house / a haue geuen it vnto the Leuite / the stranger: the fatherlesse / and the widowe / accordinge to all thy commandementes / whiche thou hast commaunded me. I haue not transgressed thy commaundementes: nor forgotten them. I haue not eate thereof in my heauynesse / nor taken awaye thereof in violence. I haue not geuen thereof vnto the dead. I haue bin obedient vnto thy voyce of the Lord my God: and haue done all as he hath commaunded me. ¶ Take youne from thy holy habitation from heauen: and blesse thy people of Israel: and the lande that thou hast geue vs: as thou swarest vnto our fathers: a lande that floweth with mylke and hony.

In the daye when the Lord thy God commaunded thee so accordinge vnto all these ordinancees and lawes / that thou shouldest kepe them: and so thereafter with all thy heart / and with all thy soule. ¶ These me saye my lord: I will thou a promise vnto the Lord / that he should by thy God: a that thou wouldest walk in all his wayes: and kepe his ordinancees / his commandementes / and his lawes: a to be seen vnto his voyce. ¶ And the Lord promised to be his owne peculiar people: / yf he kepe and obeye vnto the / so that thou kepe all his commandementes: and that he wolde make the by him precious: and he woulde aboue all nations: whiche he hath made: that they maye be an holy people vnto the Lord thy God: as he hath sayde vnto thee.

The XXVII. Chapter.

Moses with the Elders of Israel: commanded the people and sayde: Kepe all the commandementes / which I commaunded you this daye. ¶ And when tyme shal come: ye shall go ouer Jordan: vnto the lande that the Lord thy God

shal geue the / thou shalt set up greate stones / and playster them with playster / and write vnto the all the wordes of this lawe: / when thou art come oute of the iordan: / when thou art come into the lande: / which the Lord thy God shall geue thee: a lande that floweth with mylke & hony: as the Lord thy God of thy fathers hath promysed thee.

10. When thou shalt passe Jordan: / thou shalt set up these stones: / wherof I commaunde you this daye: / vpon mount Ebal / and playster them with playster: / and there shalt thou builde vnto the Lord thy God an altare of stones: wherupon thou shalt sacrifice a bullocke: / and thou shalt offer burnt offering: / and thou shalt offer thankes offerings: / and eate thereof: and reioyce before the Lord thy God: / and vpon the stones thou shalt write all the wordes of this lawe: / manfully and well.

B And Moses with the priests and Leuites spake vnto all Israel: / and sayd: / Take heede and heare: / O Israel: / this daye arte thou become the people of the Lord thy God: / that thou mayest be obedient vnto the voyce of the Lord thy God: / and do accordinge vnto all his commaundementes & obseruaunces: / which I commaunde the this daye.

11. And Moses charged the people the same daye: / and sayd: / These shall stande vpon mount Garizim to blisse the people: / when ye are gone oute Jordan: / Simeon / Leui / Iuda / Issachar / Joseph / Ben Iamin. / And these shall stande vpon mount Ebal to curse: / Ruben / Gad / Asser / Zabulon / Dan and Neftaluy. / And the Leuites shall beginne: / & saye vnto every man of Israel with a loude voyce.

12. Cursed be he / that maketh any cruell Idoe: / for molten image: / Can abhominacion of the Lord thy God: / of the handes of the craftsman: / and putteth it in a secret place: / and all the people shall answer and say Amen.

13. Cursed be he / that curseth his father and mother: / and all the people shall say Amen.

14. Cursed be he / that remoueth his neighbours marke: / and all the people shall say Amen.

15. Cursed be he / that maketh a blynde man go out of his waye. / And all the people shall say Amen.

16. Cursed be he / that wresteth the right of the widow: / or of the fatherlesse: / and weddow. / And all the people shall say Amen.

17. Cursed be he / that lyeth with his fathers wife: / to vncover his fathers couerynge. / And all the people shall say Amen.

18. Cursed be he / that lyeth with any maner beaste: / and all the people shall say Amen.

19. Cursed be he / that lyeth with his sisters: / which is the daughter of his father: / or of his mother: / and all the people shall say Amen.

20. Cursed be he / that lyeth with his mother in law: / and all the people shall say Amen.

21. Cursed be he / that slayeth his neyghbour secretly: / and all the people shall say Amen.

22. Cursed be he / that receaueth giftes to slaye the soule of innocēt bloude: / and all the people shall say Amen.

23. Cursed be he / that continueth not in all the wordes of this lawe: / to do them. / And all the people shall say Amen.

The XXXVIII. Chapter.

1. And if thou shalt hearken vnto the voyce of the Lord thy God: / to obserue and do all his commaundementes: / which I commaunde the this daye: / then shall the Lord thy God set the on hye aboue all nations vpon earth: / and all these blessinges shall come vpon thee: / and ouertake thee: / because thou hast been obedient vnto the voyce of the Lord thy God. / Blessed shalt thou be in the towne: / a blisse in the felde: / Blessed shall be the frute of thy body: / the frute of thy grounde: / and the frute of thy cattell: / and the frute of thy open / & a frute of thy sheepe: / Blessed shall be thy basket: / & thy store. / Blessed shalt thou be when thou goest out: / and thine enemies that rise vp against thee: / shall be as they that flye before thy face: / they shall come oute against the one waye: / and flye before the face of thee.

The Lord shall commaunde the blessing to be with thee in thy ciuities: / and in all that thou takest in hande: / and shall blisse thee in the lande: / that the Lord thy God hath giuen thee. / The Lord shall set thee vp to be an holy people vnto hym selfe: / as he hath sworne vnto thy fathers: / when thou kepte the commaundementes of the Lord thy God: so that all nations vpon earth shall see that thou art called after the name of the Lord: and they shall asrayed of you. And the Lord shall make the plenteous in goodra in the frute of thy wombe: in the frute of thy carell: and in the frute of thy ground in the lande that the Lord swaue vnto thy fathers to geue thee.

Deut. xi. d And the Lord shall open vnto the his good treasure: to open the heauen to geue raine vnto thy lande in due season: and to prosper

Deut. x. a all the workes of thyne handes. And thou shalt receiue vnto many nations: but thou shalt become of woman. And the Lord shall set the before: and not behynd: and thou shalt be as becke onely: and not benefite: if thou be obedient vnto the commandementes of the Lord thy God: which I commaunde the this daye

Deut. xii. a and xiiij. c To kepe: and to do them: and if thou shouldest not asyde from any of these wordes: which I commaunde the this daye: whether to the right hande: or to the left: that thou wouldest walke after other goddes to serue them.

Leuit. xxiij. b But if thou wilt not hearken vnto the voyce of the Lord thy God: to kepe and to do all his commandementes: / and obseruaunces: / whiche I commaunde the this daye: / then shall these curses come vpon thee: and euery take thee.

Deut. xxi. b Cursed shalt thou be in the torent: and cursed in the felde: cursed shalt thy basket be: the foare: Cursed shalt be the frute of thy body: the frute of thy lande: the frute of thyne eye: the frute of thy sheepe. Cursed shalt thou be: when thou goest in: a cursed shalt thou goest out: The Lord shall sende into the consuming and consuming: and consuming in all that thou shalt in hande to do: till he haue destroyed thee: / a shortly brought the iongathe: because of thy wicked inuencions: in that thou hast forsaken me.

Deut. xxi. c The Lord shall make the pestilence to be delong: with thee: till he haue consumed the car of the lande into the which thou commaund to possesse it. The Lord shall smyte the with scallynge: feures: heat: burnyng: beynne: drought: and paleynes: and shall persecute: they shall be haue destroyed thee. The heauen shall to cover thy heade: / the heke of heauen: and the earth vnder the feet of thee. The Lord shall geue thee: the wide heke for raine: and the

from heauen vpon thee: vntill thou be brought to naught. The Lord shall cause thee to be smytten before thyne enemyes. Thou shalt come out one way: agaynst them: / and thou shalt wayes shalt thou flye before them: / a shalt be scattered amonge all the kyngdomes vpon earth. Thy carcase shall be meate vnto all maner fowles of the eye: / and to all the beastes vpon earth: and there shall be no man to freye them awaye.

Deut. xxv. d The Lord shall smyte the with the bot: / the of Egypt: with ymerodes: with scall: / and maingnyesse: / that thou shalt not be healed thereof. The Lord shall smyte the with madnesse: / and blindness: / and basing of knees: / and thou shalt grope at the noone day: / as the blynde gropeth in darkness: / and shalt not profere in thy waye. And thou shalt suffer violence: and wronge: all thy life long: / a woman shall hyspe thee. Thou shalt spoue a woman: / but another shall be with her. Thou shalt buye an house: / but another shall dwell therein. Then shalt plante a vineyard: / but shalt not make it continue.

Thyne eye shall layne before thyne eye: / but thou shalt not care thereof: / thyne ass shall be violently taken awaye: / euen beefore thy face: / and shall not be restored the agayne. Thy sheepe shall be geuen vnto thyne enemyes: / and woman shall helpe thee. Thy sonnes: and thy daughters shall be geuen vnto another nation: / and thyne eyes shall see it: / and shalt see upon them all the daye longe: / and thy hande shall not be able to deliuer them. The frute of thy lade: / and all thy labour: / that a nation eat: / whiche thou knowest not: / and thou shalt not onely be that shall oppressed: / and suffice wronge all the dayes of thy life. And thou shalt be clean besyde the selte for the sight: / whiche thyne eyes shall see.

The Lord shall smyte the with a muschuous botche in the fures: and legges: / so that thou shalt not be healed: / euen from thy sole of thy foote: vnto the crone of thy heade.

Deut. xxv. d The Lord shall bringe thee and thy kyng: / whiche thou shalt for ouer thee: vnto a nation: / whome thou knowest not: / neither thy fathers: / and there shalt thou serue: / euer good: / to waye: / and become thy weede: / and a leu thyngs stock among all nations / whether f Lo:De hath cared for.

Thou shalt carry out much seed into the field / thou shalt gather but little in: for the great hoppers shall destroy it. Thou shalt plant vineyards and olive trees / but thou shalt neither thyne of the vine nor gather of the grapes: for the worms shall consume it. Thou shalt have olive trees in all thy coastes / but shalt not be anointed with the oyle: for thyne olive trees shall be rated out. Thou shalt give sonnes and daughters / and yet not have them: for they shall be carried away captives. Thy tree and fruit of thy land shall be marred with blaynne.

The stranger that is with thee shall chime upon thee / and be as thy brother: thou shalt come into his vineyard and olive orchard. He shall be as thou / but thou shalt not be as he: he shall be as thou / but thou shalt be as thyne. And all these curses shall come upon thee / and shall overcome thee / and overthrow thee: all thou shalt be destroyed / because thou hast not kept the voice of the Lo:De thy God / to keep his commandments and ordinances / which he hath commanded thee. Therefore shall there be tokens and wonders upon thee / and upon thy seed for ever / because thou hast not served the Lo:De thy God / with a joyfull and good heart / when thou haddest abundance of all thyngs. And therefore shalt thou serve thyne enemy / whiche the Lo:De shall send upon thee in hunger / and thirst / in nakedness / and ride of all thyngs / and he shall put a yocke of iron upon thy neck / until he have brought thee nought.

The Lo:De shall bynge a nation upon thee from farre / even from the ende of the world / as a flyenge Eagle people / whose speache thou canst not understand / an hard favoured people / whiche regarde not the personage of the old one: have compassion on the young. And they shall cate up the fruit of thy cattell / and the fruit of thy land / till they have destroyed thee / and shall keane the noyngs in come / wine / oyle / in the frate of thy oxen / and hope / until they have brought thee to nought / and shall have thee into the webbe. Thou shalt cate the frute of thyne own body / the flesh of thy sonnes / of thy daughters / of thyne / whiche the Lo:De thy God hath given thee / in that strayntness / and sege / wherewith thyne enemy shall besige thee: so that it shall greve the man / that eateth hard tenderly and in voluptuousness / amonge you / to loke upon his brother / and upon his wyfe that lyeth in his bosome / for in the same that is left over his sonnes / lest he should give any of them of the flesh of his body / when that he cateth / in as much as there is nothinge left him / in that strayntness / and sege / wherewith thyne enemy shall besige thee / in all thy gates. And the woman that eateth hard tenderly and voluptuously amonge you / that she durst not for the sake of her face upon the ground for indignitee / and voluptuousness / shall be greued to loke upon her husbande that lyeth in her bosome / and on her sonne / and on her daughter / even because of her daughters / whiche she hath nourished betwixt her legges / in her lappe / because of her sonnes / that she hath borne for her: shall cate them secretly / for very fearfulness of all thyngs / in the strayntness / and sege / wherewith thyne enemy shall besige the within thy gates.

If thou wilt not be diligent to do all the wordes of this lawe / whiche are written in this booke / that thou mayest feare this glorious and fearful name / even the Lo:De thy God / then shall the Lo:De encrease the numberous / and plagues upon thee / and thy seed / ever / with great and continual plagues / with ene and continual sicknesses / and shall bringe upon thee all the sicknesses of Egypte / wherof thou wast afraid / and they shall come onto thee. Thereof all manner sicknesses a plague / whiche thou art written in the booke of this lawe / shall the Lo:De thy God cause to come upon thee / until he have destroyed thee / and thou shalt be left but a few people of you / which thou wert as the stables of beaumen in multitude / because thou hast not hearkened unto the voice of the Lo:De thy God.*

And as the Lo:De did to the children of Israel / so shall he do to you / if ye will not hearken unto the voice of the Lo:De thy God.

a foer to do you good / a to multiply you: eif so shall he reioyce ouer you / to destroy you / a to bringe you to naughte / a ye shall be wasted from the lande / whether thou goest now to possess it. For the Lorde shall scatter the armie of a nation / from the one ende of the world vnto another / a there shalt thou see other goddes / whome thou knowest not / nor yet thy fathers / euen wood and stone.

And amonge those same name shalt thou haue no quietnes / neyther shalt the sole of thy foote haue any rest: for the Lorde shall geue thee a threare full hert / and dasyng of eyes / a a troubled soule / so that thy lyfe shall hang before the: Nigh and Vaye shalt thou feare / and shalt haue no trust in thy lyfe. In the morning thou shalt say: Who shall geue me the euenyng? And at euen thou shalt say: Who shall geue me the morninge: for t very greate feare of thine here / whiche shall make the a frayd: a for I sight of thine eyes / whiche thou shalt see.

And the Lorde shall bringe the again into Egypt by shipfulke / euen thow the way wherof I sayd vnto the: Thou shalt see it no more: a there shall ye be solde vnto youre enemies / a there shall be solden to youe seruants: a there shall be solden to youe seruants.

The XXX. Chapter.

These are the wordes of the conuenaunt / whiche the Lorde commaunded Moyses to make with the chyldren of Israel / in the lande of the Moabitico: Beside the conuenaunt whiche he made with them in Horeb. And Moses called all Israel / and sayde vnto them: Ye haue seene all that the Lorde did before your eyes in the lande of Egypt / vnto Pharaos with all his seruantes / a all his lande / the great terrors / whiche thine eyes haue seene: a that were greate tokens a wonderes: And yet vnto this daye hath not the Lorde given you an herte that vnderstandeth / eyes that see / and eares that heare.

Dec. viij. a The heathen said: you to walke foure yeeres in the wilderness: your clothes are not waxed olde vpon you / neyther is thyltue waxed olde on thy foote. Ye haue eaten no bread / and drinke no wyne / in a strange lande / that ye might knowe that he is the Lorde your God.

And when ye came vnto this place: Sihon the kynge of Hesbon / and Og the kynge of Basan / came out against vs vnto battayl / and we smote them / and toke their lande / and gaue it to inheritaunce vnto the Rubenites and Gadites: a to the half tribe of the Manassites. These now therefore the wordes of this conuenaunt / a of the covenent / that ye maye haue vnderstandinge in all that ye see.

Ye stande this daye all before the Lorde your God / the chiefe rulers of youre tribes / your elders / your officers / eury man in Israel / your chyldren / your wyues / the strangers that are in thine booste / from the brewe of the wood / vnto the shewe of the water: that thou shouldest entre into the conuenaunt of the Lorde thy God: a into the oath whiche the Lorde thy God maketh with this daye: that he might see the vp this daye to be a people vnto hym selfe / and that he might be thy God: as he hath sayde vnto the land / a as he saide vnto thy fathers / Abraham / Isaac and Jacob.

For I make not this conuenaunt and this oath with you onely / but both with you that are here this daye / and stande with vs: for the Lorde our God / a also with them that are not here with vs this daye. For ye knowe howe we haue dwelt in the lande of Egypt / and howe we came thow the middea of the Redden / whome ye passed by / and sawe theyr abhominacions / and theyr Idole wood and stone / silver and gold / whiche were with them. All these be amonge you man or woman: in a heuylde: a a tyde / whiche turneth awaye his herte this daye from the Lorde our God: to go and to serue the goddes of these nations: and sell herte be among you some fore that beareth gall / and wome wood: so that though he heare the wordes of this curse / he blesse hym selfe: as in his herte / and say: Thus a shall not be so euill. I will walke after the * meaning of myne owne herte: that the diuylen maye perissh with the thyselfe.

Then shall not the Lorde be mercifull vnto hym / but his wrath and gellous shall smite / or ner such a man / and all the curses that are written in this booke / shall lighte vpon hym / and the Lorde shall put out his name from vnder under heauen/and shal separate him vnto euery part of al the tribes of Israel/accordinge vnto al the curses of the conuencant/that is written in the booke of this lawe.

D And the posteritee of youre children/which shal rise vp after you/and the strangers that come out of farre countries/shall saye/when they see the plagues of this lande/and the visitacions wherewith the Lord hath smitten it/ why hath hee thus done vnto this lande/why hath hee thus done vnto this people/that it can not be sowed/ nor is fruitefull/ neither groweth any grasse there. Le. 17. Lyke as Sodoma / a Gomor: / a Sodom are ouerthrowne/whiche the Lord o uerthrowe in his wrath and anger.

Ex. 32. 1. Then shal al nations say: Wherefore hath the Lord done thus vnto this lande: What great wrothfull displeasure is this: Then shal it be saye: Euen because they haue forsaken the conuencant of the Lord God of their fathers/ which he made with them/ when he brought them out of the lande of Egypt/ and they went and serued other goddes/ and worshipped them/ eue such goddes as they knewe not/ and whom he had not created vnto them. Therefore the wrath of the Lord was redde vnto this lande/ to bringe vpon it all the curses that are written in this booke. And the Lord thus sent them out of theyr lande with greate wrath/ indignacion and displeasure: a heild cast the into another lande/ as it is come to passe/ this daye.

The XXX Chapter.

De. 32. 1. Now when al this comyneth vpon the/ whether it be the blessinge or the curse/ which I haue layed before thee/ and thou goest in thine heart sayinge amonge the heathen: whiche the Lord thy God hath trust the/ and thou turnest vnto the Lord thy God/ so that thou herkenest vnto his voyce/ thou and thy children with al thy heart/ and with al thy soules/ al that I commaunde the this daye/ then shal the Lord thy God turne thy captiuitie/ and haue compassion vpon the/ and shal gather thy congregation agayne from amonge al nations/ whiche the Lord thy God hath scattered the.

And though thou werest thrust out vnto the uttermost partes of the heauen/ yet shal the Lord thy God gather the from thence/ and from thence shal he fetch the/ as a bringe the into the lande/ whiche thy fathers haue possided/ as thou shalt enioy it/ as he shal do the good/ as multiplye the aboute thy fathers.

And the Lord thy God shal circumcise the thine heart/ and the heart of thy side/ that thou mayest loue the Lord thy God/ with al thy heart/ a with al thy soules/ thou must loue. But al these curses that the Lord thy God laye vpon thine enemyes/ and vpon the that hate the/ and perserue the. But thou shalt turne and herke vnto the voyce of the Lord/ to do al his commaundementes/ which I commaunde the this daye. And the Lord thy God shal make the plentiful in all the workes of thine handes/ in the fruite of thy body/ in the fruite of thy cattell/ in the fruite of thy lande to good.

For the Lord shal turne to reioyce ouer Jer. 32. 41. the for good/ as he reioyced ouer thy fathers/ so that thou herken vnto the voyce of the Lord thy God/ to kepe his commaundementes/ and ordinances/ which are written in the booke of this lawe/ and turne vnto the Lord thy God/ with al thy heart/ and with al thy soules.

For the commaundement/ which I commaunde the this daye/ is not to wonderfull for Rom. 13. the/ neither to farre/ nor yet in heauen/ that thou needest to saye: Who wil go vp for vs into heauen/ and bring it vnto vs/ that we may heare it/ and do it: Neither is it beyonde the see/ that thou needest to saye: Who will go ouer the see for vs/ and ferde it vs/ that we may heare it/ and do it: For the worde is very neere vnto the euen in thy mouth/ as in thine heart that thou do it.

Beholde/ I haue layed before you this daye life and good/ death and euill. For I commaunde the this daye/ to loue the Lord thy God/ and to walke in his wayes/ and to kepe his commaundementes/ ordinances and lawes/ that thou mayest loue and multiplye/ and that the Lord thy God maye blesse the in the lande/ whither thou goest to possesse it.

But if thou turnest awaye thine heart/ so that thou wilt not heare / but shall awake to worship other goddes / and to serue them.

 I receiue you this daye / that ye shall perishe / a nothyng longe in this land / whither thou goest ouer Iordane to possess it.

Deut. 1. 28
 and xxxi. 9
 I take haue and eate this daye to ree cord ouer you: I haue layed before you life a death / blessing and cursing / that thou mayest choose life / in that thou a thy selfe maye liue / that ye maye loue the Lord your God / and haue vnto his voyce / a cleare vnto him: for he is thy life and thy long age: what thou mayest shall in the land / which the Lord swaue vnto thy fathers Abrahā / Isaac and Jacob / to geue them.

The XXXI. Chapter.

¶ And Moyses wrote this lawe / and deliue red it vnto the priestes / the children of Lemī / that bare the ark of the covenant of the Lord:

and vnto al the Elders of Israel.
 ¶ And he commanded them / and sayde:
 ¶ In the ende of seven yeares / in the syne of the feue yeares / in the feall of Tabernacles / whā all Israel come to appeare before the Lord thy God / in the place that he shall chose / thou shalt cause this lawe to be proclaimed before all Israel in theyr eares / mainly / before the eō gregacion of the people / both men and wo men / thy children / and thy strangers / which are within thy gates: that they maye heare and learne to feare the Lord thy God / and be diligent to do all the wordes of this lawe: and that theyr children also / which sit vnto the maye heare / and learne to feare the Lord your God / all your lyues / ouer which ye haue in the land / whither ye go ouer Iordane to possess it.

¶ And the Lord sayde vnto Moyses: Be hold / this syne is come: that thou shalt see the Tabernacle of witness / that I haue graue him a charge: Mo ses was: vnto Iosua / and Iosua in the Taber nacle of witness. ¶ And the Lord appeared in the Tabernacle in a cloudy pylle / in the same cloudy pylle stode in the voyce of the Tabernacle.

¶ And the Lord said vnto Moyses: Behold / thou shalt seepe with thy fathers / a thō peo ple will rise vp / and go a whoringe: after the strange goddes of the landes / into the which they come / and will forsake me / and shall conuenant with them: which I haue made with thee. ¶ And the shall my wrath waxe whōse against them: the same syne / and I shall forsake thee / and hyde me face from them / that they maye be consumed. ¶ And so / when much aburthe and trouble cometh vpon them / they shall saye: Is not all this euill come vpon me: for cause God is not with me: But I shall hyde my face: at the same tyme / because of al the euil that they haue done / that they haue turned them vnto other goddes.

¶ Where ye now therefore this songe / and teach it the children of Israel / and put it in their mouth: that this songe maye be a witness vnto them / when they shall come into the land which I swore vnto theyr fathers / that I would give it vnto them / when they shall come into the land.

as full and fatte they ſhall turne vnto other goddess: and ſerue them: a blaſphemie me: and break my commaunt.

And so when me: q̄ my schiſme and tribulacion is come vpon them: this ſonge ſhal annuſuere beſore them for a witness. It ſhall not be forgotten out of the mouth of they: ſed: for I knowe their ymaginacion: that they goe about euen now: beſore I bringe them into the land: vnto which I ſware vnto them.

f So Moſes wrote this ſonge at theſame tyme: and taught it the childre of Iſrael. And the Loꝛde gaue Iosif the ſonne of Aun a charge: and ſayd: We ſtrange and Golde: for thou ſhalt bringe the children of Iſrael into the land: vnto which I ſware vnto them: and I will be with the.

Now when Moſes had writen out all the wordes of this laue in a booke: he commaunded the Leuites: which bare the Arke of the Loꝛdes commaunt: and ſayd: Take the ſide of this laue: and laye it by the ſide of the Arke of the commaunt: of the Loꝛde your God: that it maye be there a witness a-gainſt the: for I knowe thy ſtubburneſſe a thy harde necke. Beholde: while I am yet a liue with you this daye: ye haue bene diſobe-dient vnto the Loꝛde: howe muche more after my death.

G And her now vnto me all the Elders of your tribes: and your officers: that I maye ſpeake theſe wordes in they: cares: I and the beauen an eare: to recorde againſt them. For I am ſure: that after my death ye ſhall marre your ſelues: and turne aſyde out of the waye:
which I haue commaunded you: and ſo ſhall miſfortune happen vnto you hereafter: becauſe ye haue bene cuell in the ſyde of the Loꝛde: an pronouſyng hym: howe ſo I wote of your handes.

So Moſes ſpake out the wordes of this ſonge: vnto the eardre: the cares of all the congregation of Iſrael.

Th. XXXIII. Chapter.

Num. xxxij. c
v Mac. 8. 4
And Moses wente from the silde of the Moabites/ vpon mounte Nebo/ vpon the toppe of mount Pisga/ ouer against Jericho. And the Lord be showed him all h lande of Gilcad vnto Dan/ and all Nephthaly/ and the lande of Ephraim and Manasse / and all the lande of Iuda/ vnto the uttermostt se/ and towards the South/ a the regnd of the plaine of Jericho/ the cyme of the palme trees / euen vnto Soar. And the Lord sayd vnto hym:
This is h lande that I swore vnto Abraham/Isaac and Jacob/ and sayd: I wil geue it vnto thy side. Thou hast sene it with thine eyes/Num. xx. b
thou shalt not go ouer thither.

So Moses the seruante of the Lord dyed there in the lande of the Moabites/ according vnto the word of the Lord. And he buried him in a valley/ in the lande of the Moabites/ouer against the house of Peori. And no man knowe of his graue vnto this daye. And Moses was an hundred and twenty yeare olde whan he dyed: his eyes were not dimme / a his chere were not fallen. And the children of Israell weped for Moses in the silde of the Moabites thity dayes. And the dayes of the weping and mourninge for Moses were fulfilled.

And Josua the sonne of Nun/ was filled with the spere of wisdome/ C for: Moses had layed his hande vpon him / and the chyldren of Israell berckened vnto hym / and dyd as the Lord commaunded Moses. And there arose no prophete more in Israell lyke vnto Moses/ whome the Lord knewe see to see in all tolke a wodder/ whiche h Lord sent hym to do in the lande of Egypte / vnto Pharao/ a to all his seruantes / a his lande / a in all this myghtye hande/ a great visions/whiche Moses dyd in the sight of all Israell.

The boke of Josua.

The first Chapter.

After the death of Moses/ a the seruante of h Lord/ I spake the Lord vnto Josua the sone of Nun Mose I minister: My seruant Moses is dead/ vpon now/ a go ouer this Jo-dan/ thou and all this people into the lande that I haue geuen the children of Israell. I will the places that h soles of your feet shal treade vpon/ haue I geuen vnto you. So I sayde vnto Moses/ from the wilderness/ and this Libanus/ vnto the great water Euphrates: Al-
the

the lande of the Hebrides vnto the great see towards the West. Make your border. There shall no man be able to stande & al thy lyfe longe. And yf hee as I reue to Moses/ so wil I be with thee also. I wil not faile thee/ neither forsake thee. De stroge a bolde: for vnto this people shall thou beude the lade/ which I swere vnto they fathers to geue it them.

B The stronge therefore and very bolde / that thou mayest feare and be eury thyng/ according to the lawe that Moses my seruant commaunded the. Turne not aside from it/neither to the right hande nor to the left/ that thou mayest beake wisely/ whether fouer thou goest. And let not the boke of this lare be parte out of thy mouth/ but exercise thy selfe therein daye and night/ that art thou mayest feare/and be eury thyng / according to it that is written therein: Then shalt thou prosper in thy wayes and beake wisely. Lo. I haue commaunded the to be stronge and bolde. feare not / and be not afrayed: for the Lorde thy God is with thee / whether fouer thou goest.

Then commaunded Joshua the officers of the people/ and sayde: Go thow the heuill/and charge the people/ and saye: Prepare you walles/ for ouer these dayes shall ye go ouer this Iordane/ that ye maye come in and take possession of the land/ which the Lord your God shal geue you.

C And to the Rubenites / Gadites/ and to the halfe tribe of Manasse/ saide Joshua: Think vpon the worde/ that Moses the seruant of the Lorde spake vnto you / and saide: The Lorde your God hath brought you to rest/and geuen you this lande. Let your wyces/ a children/ and cattel remaine in the lande/ that Moses gaue you on this syde Iordane: But ye your selves/ as many as be fightinge me/shal go forth before your brethren in harness/and helpe them/ till the Lorde haue brought your brethren to reste also/ as well as you:
 that they also maye take possession of the lande/ whiche the Lorde your God shall geue them: Then shall ye turne agayne in to the lande of your possessyons that ye maye enioy therein. Whiche Moses the seruant of the Lorde hath geuen you on this syde Iordane/ to re-uide the. And they answered Joshua and sayde: All that thou hast commaunded vs/ we will do: and whether fouer thou sendest / we will go thither. Like as we haue obeyed Moses/ so will we be obedient also vnto thee.

 Only that the Lorde thy God be with thee/ yf he was with Moses. Whosouer disobeyeth thy mouth/ and hardeneth not vnto thy wordes in all that thou shalt commaunded vs/ shall dye. Only be thou stroge and bolde.

The II. Chapter.

Joshua the sonne of Nun/ sente out two spyes secretly from Scin/ and sayde vnto them: Go your waye/ loke vpon the lande and Jericho. They went forth / and came into the house of an harlot/ called Rahab/ and lay there. Then was it tolde the kinge of Jericho: Lo/ here are me come in this night from the children of Israel to spye the lande.
 Then sent he the kyng of Jericho vnto Rahab/sayinge: Deliuere the men sayng that are come vnto the in to thy house/ for they are come to spye out the whole lande. Nowe as for the two men/ the woman had hid them/ and sayde: There came men in vnto me in the daye/ but I knewe not whence they were. And at the shurryng in of the gate when it was darke/ they wente out/ so that I can not tell whether they be gone/ folowe sone after them / for ye shall ouertake them. But she had caused them to chymne vp vnto the haufe topp/ and hydde them vnder the stalkes of flaxe/ that he had prepared her vpon the toppe of the house.
 Sowthwith the men followed after them in the waye towards Iordane/ vnto the seray and when they that followed vpon the were gone/ forth the gate was shut.

And ouer the men layed them downe to sleep. She wente vp to the vnto the haufe topp/and sayde vnto them: I knowe that the Lord is with you/ for the feare of the Lord is fallen vpon vs/ and all the inhabytants of the lande are discomfited at your cominge.
 For we haue herde how the Lorde dyed vnto the two kynges of the Ammonites/Sihon/ and Og kynge of Iordan/ how ye rose in their our/ and destroyed them. And since we herde this/ our hearts haue sayd/ we maye as yet

neither is there a good stomacke more in any man by the reason of your charge. For the Lord your God is both the God about in heaven/and bench upon earth.

Q. ut. p. d. E were it now then vnto me T euen by the Lord? for so muche as I haue dealt mercy fully with you: that ye also will shew mercy vpon my fathers house/and geue me a true answer: that ye will let my father lyue and my mother/ my brethren/ and my sisters/ and al that they haue/and deliuer our soules from death.

And she sayd vnto them: Go your way vp to the mountaynes/ tell they mete you that follow vs: you: and hyde your selves there: the dayes/ in they be come againe that follow after you: and then get you your way.

O But the men saide vnto her: As for this oath that thou hast take of vs: we will be discharged of it: when we come in the lande: except thou kinerest in the wyndow the lynce of this robe colour: read rope: that thou hast taken vs donne withall/ and gatherest vnto the into thy house/ thy father/ thy mother/ thy brethren/ and al thy fathers house. And like wchouer goeth out at the doore of thy house/ his bloude be upon his owne heade/ as we be guiltyesse. But of all those that are in thy house/ if a hande be layd vpon them/ their bloude shalbe vpon our owne heade. And if thou betrayest any of this charge of ours: then will we be discharged of the oath that thou hast taken of vs. She saide: Let it be so as ye saie/ and seeke them go. And they wente their waye. And the kinte the rosecoloured lynce in the wyndowe.

They wente on they: waye/ and came to the mountaine/ and remained there the dayes: vnto they that followed vpon them were come againe: for they sought them thorow every streete/ and yet they founde them not. So the red man turned againe/ and departed from the mountaynes/ and passed ouer (Jordan.)

and came to Iosua the sonne of Nun/ and tolde hym every thyng: as they had founde it/ and they said vnto Iosua. The Lord hath geuen vs all the lande into oure hande/ and al they that dwell in the lande/ are for afeard of vs.

The III. Chapter.

And Iosua rose vp early/ and they departed vnto Iordan/ and came onto Jordan/ he and all the children of Israel/ and remained there al night: afore they wente out. But after the dayes wente the officers thowme the hoost/ and commanded the people/ and sayde: When ye se the Arke of the conuenaunce of the Lord your God/ and the priestes standing amonge: the Leu. s. Beringe it/ departe ye then out of youre place/ and follow after/ (But so that there be retorne betwene you and it/ by two thousand cubites/ and that ye come not nye it) that ye may know what waye ye shoulde go: for ye neuer wente that waye afore.

And Iosua said vnto the people: I shalbe B your selues/ in to morowe shall the Lorde bringe wondrous thinges to passe amonge you. And vnto the priestes he sayde: Beare ye the Arke of the conuenaunt/ and go before the people. Then there they the Arke/ and wente before the people. And the Lord saide vnto Iosua: This day will I beginne to make thy greate in the sight of all Israel/ for they maye knowe/ howe that I ye as I was with Moyses/ so am I with you also. And commaunde thou the priestes that beare the Arke/ and say: When ye come before the water of Jordan/ stande still.

And Iosua saide vnto the children of Israel: Come hither/ and heare the woide of the Lord your God. He saide moouer: By this shal ye perceaue/ that the lvinge God is amonge you/ and that he shall drye out the fore you the Canaanites/ Gethites/ Ghibonites/ Hethites/ Hergosites/ Ammorites/ and Jebusites. Beholde/ the Arke of the conuenaunt of hum that hath dominion ouer all landes/ that go before you in Jordan. Lete now there fore twelfe men out of the tribes of Israel/ out of every tribe one. And when the soles of the feet of the priestes that beare the Arke of the Lord/ the grouer noure of all lande/ are sit in the water of Jordane / then shall the water of Jordane withdrawe it selfe / from the water that floweth from above / that it may stande on an heape.

D Now when all the people departed out of theyr tentes / so over Jordan / and the priests bare the Arke of convenaunt before the people / and came in Jordane / and vnto theyr place before in the water / (as for Jordane on all his bankes it was full of all maner waters / of the lande) / then the water that came vnto from above / stood straight vp upon one heape / very farre from the crosse of Adom / that lieth on the syde of Zartban: But the water that ranne vnto to the see (euen to y<sup>e</sup> salt see) fell away / and vtteraced.

To the people wente thowme ouer agaynst Jericho. And the priestes that bare the Arke of the Lordes conuauant / stode vnto in the myddes of Jordane / ready prepared / and all Israell wente thowme / vnto theyr place: and all the people were all come ouer Jordane.

The IIII Chapter.

And the Lord sayde vnto Josua: Take vnto thee twelue men / out of euery tribe one / and commaunde them / and say: Take vp twelue stones out of Jordane / from the place where the feet of the priestes stode in theyr araye / and carrye them with you / that ye maye leaue them in the lodyng / where ye shal lodge this nyght. Then Josua called twelue men / which were prepared of the chyldren of Israell / out of euery tribe one / and sayde vnto them: Go youre waye ouer before the Arke of the Lord your God / in the myddes of Jordane / a take euery man a stone vpon his shoulder / after the numbre of the tribes of the chyldren of Israell / that they maye be a token amonge you. And whyn your chyldren aske theyr fathers hereafter / and say: What do these stones there? That ye maye then saye vnto them / how that the water of Jordane drew in sunder before the Arke of the Lordes conuauant / when it wente thowme Jordane / and that these stones are set for a perpetual remembrance vnto the chyldren of Israell.

B Then why the chyldren of Israell as Josua commaunded them / and bare twelue stones out of the myddes of Jordane (as the Lord hath sayde vnto Josua) / according to the i<sup>e</sup> of the xxviii<sup>e</sup> numbre of the trybes of the chyldren of Israell / and brought the same with the in to the lodyng / and left them there. And Josua sente vp twelue stones in y<sup>e</sup> myddes of Jordane / where the feet of the priestes stode that bare the Arke of the conuauant: and there they be yet vnto this daye. As for the priestes that bare y<sup>e</sup> Arke / they stode in the myddes of Jordane / vntill all was performed that the Lord charged Josua to say vnto the people / according to the i<sup>e</sup> of the xxviii<sup>e</sup> numbre of the trybes of the chyldren of Israell / and the people also made hayll / and wente ouer / when all the people was gone ouer the Arke of the Lord / were ouer also / and the priestes wente before the people.

And the Rubenites and Gabbites / and y<sup>e</sup> halfc tribe of Manasse went harnessed before the chyldren of Israell / as Moyses had sayde vnto them: Aboute a fourty thousand men ready harnessed to y<sup>e</sup> warre / wente before the Lord to the battayll / vpon the syde of Jericho. In that daye the Lord made Josua greate in the syghte of all Israell: and lyfte as they feared / Moyses / so stode they in awe of hym at his lyfe longe.

And the Lord sayde vnto Josua: Commaund y<sup>e</sup> priestes which beare the Arke of wrauesse / that they come vp out of Jordane. So Josua commaunded the priestes / and sayde: Come vp out of Jordane. And when the priestes that bare the Arke of the conuauant of the Lord were come out of Jordane / and trode with the soles of theyr feet vpon the drye lande / the water of Jordane came agayne in to his place / and flowed (lyke as afore tyme) vpon all his bankes.

It was the tenth daye of the first moneth / when the people came out of Jordane: and they pitched theyr tentes in Bilgall vpon the Easteside of the crosse of Jericho. And the twelue stones / which they hadde taken out of Jordane / wher Josua set vp at Gilgal / he sayd vnto the chyldren of Israell: Whan your chyldren aske theyr fathers hereafter / and say: What meane these stones? Ye shall tell them / a saye: Israell wente vnto Jordane / wher tyme as the Lord your God dyed vp the water of Jordane before you / vntill ye were ouerlyfte as the Lordde your God had

The v. Chapter.

Q When al the Kinges of the Ammonites / that dwelle beyond Iordane Westward / and al the Kinges of the Canaanites by the sea / shewde how the Lo:de had theyd vpon the water of Iordane / before the chyldren of Israel / till they were come ouer / they herce sweare them / neither was there any more courage in them at the presence of the chyldren of Israel.

Josue. ij.

At the same tyme sayde the Lo:de vnto Exod. iij. Josua: Make the stones & of stones / and circumcise the chyldren of Israel agayne the seconde tyme. Then Josua made hym knyfes of stone / and circumcised the chyldren of Israel vpon the toppe of the foze hynnes. And the cause why Josua circumcised al the males of the people / that were come out of Egypte to this / for al the men of warre theyd in it wilddernes: by the way / after they were departed out of Egypt: for al the people that came forth were circumcised.

B But al the people that were borne in the wyldernes by the waye / after they departed out of Egypt: were not circumcised: for the chyldren of Israel walked fourtye yeares in the wyldernes / vntill al the people of the men of warre that came out of Egypt were consumed / because they hekd not vnto the voyce of the Lo:de / like as the Lo:de sware vnto them / that they should not see the land / whiche the Lo:de sware vnto theyr fathers to geue vnto you / when a lande that floweth with mylke and honye: theyr chyldren / which were come vp in theyr steade / had Josua circumcise: for they had the foze hynne / a were not circumcised by the waye.

Ex. iij.

C And when all the people were circumcised / they abode in theyr place / when in the tentes / till they were whole. And the Lo:de sayd vnto Josua: To daye haue I turned the stone of Egypte awaye from you / so the same place was called Gilgal vnto this day. And whyle the chyldren of Israel lay at Gilgal / they at eueryn in the felde of Jericho. And they theyd care of the corne of the lande the seconde daye of the Eastermannis / vntill circled breade and fyrmenys of that yeare / euen the same daye. And vpon the morowe the Manna sayled / when they theyd care of the corne of the lande / so the chyldren of Israel had nomore Manna: but theyd care of the corne of the lande of Canaan the same yeare.

And it fortuned that when Josua was by Jericho: he lyst vp his eyer / a was ware that there stode a man agaynst hym / and had a naked swerde in his hande. And Josua wente to hym / and sayde vnto hym: Jerthou one of vs: or of our enemyes? He sayd: No: but I am the punce of the Lo:des hostes / a now am I come: the fel Josua vnto the waye vpon his face / and was stopped hym / a sayde vnto hym: What sayest my Lo:de vnto his seruante? And the punce ouer the Lo:des hooste sayde vnto hym: Put of thy shooes / for this place is holy. And Josua theyd so.

The vi. Chapter.

When for Jericho it was shut / and kepte: because of the chyldren of Israel / so that no man myght go our nor in. But the Lo:de sayd vnto Josua: Beholde: I haue geuen Jericho with the kynge and men of warre: therof in to thy bande. Let al the men of warre go once rounde aboute the citie / and so foure dayes. But vpon the seuth daye: let the priestes take the seven trompettes of the yeare of Iubilee: before the Ark of the Lo:de the same seuenth daye: seuen tymes aboute the cytre: a let the priestes blowe the trompettes. And when the home of the yeare of Iubilee bloweth: a maketh a sounde / so that ye heare the trompettes: al the people shall make a great shoute: then shall the walles of the cytre fall downe / a the people shall fall in / eury one straght by the waye.

Then Josua / the sonne of Nun called the priestes / and sayd vnto them: Heare ye the voice of the conuauit: and let seuen priestes take the seuen trompettes of the yeare of Iubilee: before the Ark of the Lo:de. But vnto the people he sayde: Get you hence: and go rounde aboute the citie: and let him that is barnished / go before the Ark of the Lo:de. When Ioe his had spoken this vnto the people/the seven priests bare the seven trompettes of the year of Jubile/ before the Arke: of the Lord/ and wente and blew the trompettes/ as the Arke of the Lordes commandment/ after them: and wdo so was harnessed/ wente before the priests that blew the trompettes / as the multitude followed the Arke. And al was full of the noyse of the trompettes. But Josua commanded the people/ a sayde: Ye shall make no shout: nor let your voyce be heard/ neither shall ye geue any woide out of your mouth: vntill the day that I saye vnto you: Make a shout/ then make a shout.

So the Arke of the Lord wente once rounde aboute the cyte / and came agayn in to the hoost/ and reuainyd therein: for Josua wold to crye vp early in the morninge. And the priests bare the Arke of the Lord: so did the seven priests beare the seven trompettes of the year of Jubile/ before the Arke of the Lord: and wente and blew the trompettes: a who so was harnessed/ wente before the Arke: and the multitude followed the Arke of the Lord. And al was full of the noyse of the trompettes.

The seconde day wente they once aboute the cyte/ and came agayn in to the hoost. Thus did they sixe dayes. But vpon the seventh day/ when the morninge spyng arose / they gathered them vp early/ and wente after the same manner seven tymes aboute the cyte/ so that vpon the same one seventh day/ they wente seven tymes aboute the cyte.

And at the seventh tyme/ when the priests blew the trompettes. Josua sayde vnto the people: Make a shout / for the Lord hath deliuered you the cyte. Therefore/ this cyte a all that is therein/ shall be damned vnto the Lord: for the harlot Rahab shall live/ and all that are with her in the house/ for they hid the messengers / whom we sent forth. Wholy beware of it that is damned/ lest ye damne your selves. (If ye take ought of it/ which is damned.) and make the hoost of Israel to be damned/ and bringe it in to misfortune. But al the sluer and golde/ with the ornaments of brass/ and yron/ shall be sanctified vnto the Lord: that it maye come to the Lords treasure.

Then made the people a greate shout/and the priests blew the trompettes/ for when the people heard the noyse of the trompettes/ they made a greate shout: and the walls fell/ as the people cymned vp in to the cyte every one straggle before hym. Thus they wanne the cyte/ as destroyed al that was in it/ vnto the edge of the sword/ both man and woman/ yonge a olde / of / shepe / a asse.

But Josua sayde vnto the two men/ which had spied out the lande: Go into the house of the harlot/ and bringe out the woman from thence/ with all that she hath/ because as ye haue sworn vnto her. Then the yonge me that spied out in/ and brought forth Rahab vnto her father and mother/ and brethren / a all that she had/ and al her kynrede / and caused her to dwell without the hoost of Israel. As for the cyte/ they burnt it with fyre/ and al that was therein: only the sluer and golde/ the ornaments of brass/ and yron / put they vnto the treasure in the house of the Lord: but Josua let the harlot Rahab live/ with her fathers house/ and al that she had/ and she dwelt in Israel vnto this day: because she had hid the messengers/ whom Josua sent vnto Jericho to spye.

At the same tyme swaie Josua/ and sayde: Let it be that man before the Lord/ which feteth vp this cyte of Jericho/ a buildeth it. When he layeth the foundation thereof/ let it cost him his first sonne: And when he feteth vp the gate of it/ let it cost him his yongest sonne. Thus the Lord was with Josua / so that he was spoken of in all landes.

The VII. Chapter.

When the chyldren of Israel had conquered a sonne in the ryng that was damned/ for Achan the sonne of Carnai/ the sonne of Suddur/ the sonne of Sarah/ of the tribe of Judah/ some of it that was damned. Then was the ward of the Lord/ since vnto the chyldren of Israel.

Now when Josua sent our men from Jericho vnto Bethel/ which lyeth betwixt Bethan on the East syde of Bethel/ he sayde vnto they: Go vp/ and spye the lande. And when they had gone vp / and spied out Bethel/ they came agayne to Josua / and sayde vnto him: Let not all the people goe vp / but vpon a two or thre thousande/ that they maye goe vp a spye

So there wente vp of the people vpon a thet thowlande men / and they fled before the men of Hai / and they of Hai sinned vpon a stre a therye int of them / a chased them from the poite vnto Sebarim / a smote them vnto the wase. Then was the herte of the people discouraged / a became life water. As for Josua he rente his clothes / a fell vpon his face vnto the earth before the Ark of the Lozde / vnto the euenyng / with the elders of Israel / a calde wite vpon they deades.

B And Josua sayd: O Lord Lord / wherefore hast thou brought this people ouer Jordan / to deliroy vs in to th handes of the Amoritoe / to Destroy vs: What we had receiued beyonde Jordan as we beganne. O my Lozde what shall I saye / whye Israel turneth his backe vpon his enemyes? When the Cananites heare of this / they shall compe passe we rounde aboute / yee / and rote out our names from of the earth. What wylt thou do then vnto thy greate name?

The sayd the Lozde vnto Josua: Stande vp / whye I will thus do vpon thy face: Israel hath offended / a transgressed ouer my conuenaunt / which I commaunded them. They haue taken also of the thynges that was banded / a haue holde / a assembled / a layed it amonge theys ornamentes. The chyldren of Israel are not able to stande before theys aduersaryes / but muste turne theys backes vpon theys enemyes / for they are accursed: I will not be with you from hence forth / if ye put not our the banded from amonge you.

E Stande vp / and sanctifye the people / a saye: Sanctifye youre selfe agaynst to morrow / thus sayeth the Lozde God of Israel: There is a banded thyng in the Ark / wherof: canst thou not stande before thyne enemyes / yll ye putte awaye the banded from amonge you. And ye shall ryse vp early / one trybe after another: and lobe whiche trybe fouer the Lozde taketh / the same shall come forth / one kynred after another: and lobe whiche kynred the Lozde taketh: the same shall come forth / one house after another: And lobe what house the Lozde taketh / the same shall come forth / one houshold after another. And whosouer is founde in the turke / the same shall be burnt in the fyre with al that he hath: because he hath gone beyonde the conuenaunt of the Lozde / a committed folye in Israel.

Then Josua gaue hym vp by synes in the morning / and brought forth Israel / one trybe after another / and the trybe of Iuda was taken. And when he hath brought forth the kynreds in Iuda / the kynred of the Seraites was taken. And when he hath brought forth the kynred of the Seraites / one houshold after another. Sabdi was taken. And when he had brought forth his house / one housholder after another. When the sonne of E harmus / sonne of Seddi / the sonne of Serab / of the trybe of Iuda was taken.

And Josua sayde vnto Ahan: I Mye King / sonne: geue the glory vnto the Lozde the God of Israel / and geue him the pierce / and tel me what thou hast done / a hyde nothinge from me.

Then answered Ahan vnto Josua / and sayd: Verely I haue sinned agaynst the Lozde God of Israel / thus and thus haue I done: I sate amonge the spoyles / a costly Babilonish garment / and two hundred sicles of syluer / and a ringe of gold / worth fifty sicles in weyght / onto which I had a lust / and rote it: and beholde / it is hid in the grounde in my tent / and the syluer vnder it.

Then Josua sent messengers thither / which ranne to the trette / a beholde it was hid in his tent / and the syluer vnder it. And they rote it out of the tent / a brought it vnto Josua / and to all the chyldren of Israel / a poured it before the Lozde. Then Josua a all Israel wey byn / rote Ahan the sonne of Serab / the syluer / the garment / and golden ringe / his sonnes / and daughters / his oxen / and they / a shepe / and all that he had / brought they in to the valley of Achor.

And Josua sayde: For so muche as thou hast troubled vs / the Lozde trouble the thynges. And al Israel stoned hym / and burnt hym with fyre / with al that he had. And when they had stoned hym / they made ouer him a grete heap of stones / which remyneth vnto this daye. So the Lozde turned from the rygour of his wraith. The fore is the same place called the valley of Jehos unto this daye.

The VIII. Chapter.

AND the Lord said vnto Josua: Fear not, and be not afrayed. Take all the men of warre with thee, and vske/a get the vp vnto Hebron: I haue geuen in to thy hande/ the kyng of Hai/ with his people in his cyrie and contrie. And thou shalt do with Hai and the kyng of sit/ as thou vydest with Jericho and the kyng thereof/ sayyng that ye shall I deale amonge you they: spoyle and carrell: but for thou a prey watch behynde the cyrie.

Then Josua arose/ and all the men of warre to go vp vnto Hai: and Josua chose thretye thousande syghtryng men/ and sent them out by nyght/ and commaunded them and sayd: Take thys cyrie shall be the prey watch behynde the citie/ but go not to farre from the citie/ and ke thare be ready al together. As for me and all the people that is with me/ we will get vs to y cyrie. And when they come forth against vs (I as afors) we will slye before them/ that they maye folowe out after vs/ tyll we haue poured them forth of the cyrie: so they shall thinke that we slye before them/ lyke as at the first. And whyle we slye before them/ ye shall get you vp out of the prey watch/ and wyne the cyrie. For the Lord your God shall vsure it in to your handes. But when ye haue wonne the cyrie/ sit ye vpon it/ syngye

According vnto the woide of the Lord. Behold/ I haue commaunded it you.

So Josua sent them away/ and they wente vnto the place of the prey watch/ and laye by the Bethell and Hai/ on the Westside of Hai. But Josua abode that nyght amonge the people. And in the morninge he arose early/ and set the people in order/ and wente vp with the Elders of Israel before the people towards Hai: and all y men of warre that were with him wente vp/ and gat them forth/ and came ouer/ gainst the cyrie/ and pitched they: tentes on the North side of Hai/ so that there was but a valley betwene hym and Hai.

He had taken aboute a fyne thousande men/ set them in the hynder watch betwene Bethell and Hai/ on the Westside of the cyrie/and they ordred the people of the whole host that was on the Northside of the cyrie/ so that the extremost of the people reached vnto the West ende of the cyrie. So Josua wente the same nyght in to the myddes of the valley.

But when the kyng of Hai sawe that/ he made hast/ and gat hym vp early/ and y men of the citie to meete Israel to the bataille/ with all his people/ euen nyght before the field: for he wist not that there was a prey watch behynde hym/ on the backe side of the cyrie. But Josua and all Israel were feble before them/ and fled by the way to the wilderness: then cryed all the people in the cyrie/ that they shoulde folowe vpon them/ and they folowed after Josua/ and rushed out of the cyrie/ so that there remayned not one man in Hai and Bethel/ which wente not out to folowe vpon Israel/ and theye the cyrie standyng open/ that they myght persecute Israel.

Then sayd the Lord vnto Josua: Reach out the speare that thou hast in thine hande towards Hai: for I will vsure it in to thy hande. And when Josua reached out the speare that was in his hande towards the cyrie/ the hynder watch brake vp out of theye place/ and ranne (when he had streided out his hande) and came in to the cyrie and wanne it/ and made hast/ a set vs: vpon it. And the men of Hai turned them/ and lofid behynde them/ and the smoke of the cyrie wente vp towards heauen/ a they had no place to fle vnto/ neither hitber no: thither: and the people that fled towards the wilderness/ turned about to folowe vpon them.

And when Josua and all Israel sawe that the hynder watch had wonne the cyrie/ for the smoke of the cyrie ascended/ they turned as gayne/ and smote the men of Hai. And they in the cyrie came forth also against them/ so that they came in the myddes amonge Israel on both the sides/ and they slew them/ so that there was not one man of them lefte ouer or escaped: and they toke the pryge of Hai as lye/ a brought hym vnto Josua. And when Israel had slayne all the inhabitants of Hai/ which had folowed vpon them in the field/ and in the wilderness: and when they were all fallen throughe the edge of the sword/ then they were vsured/ they turned all Israel vnto Hai/

h smote it with the edge of the swerde. And of all them which fel that day frō man vnto woman there were xiij thousand of me of Hai.

f But Josua withdrew not his hande where with he reached out the spear: till all the inhabitants of Hai were vnicly destroyed / vsing the cattell and the spoyle of the cytie / vnto the woodde of the Lotd / whiche he commaunded Josua. And Josua burned vp Hai / and made an heape thereof for euery which is there yet vnto this daye. And the wyll of Hai shal be hangd on a tree vntill the euen.

Deut. xxxij. d Josua. y. c. But when the Sunne was gone downe / he commaunded to take his body from the tree / a to cast it vnder the garte of the cyrie / a made vpon hym a great heape of stones / whiche is there yet vnto this daye.

Then buylded Josua an altare vnto the Lotde God of Israel vpon mount Eball / receiuinge as Moses the seruant of the Lotd commaunded the chyldren of Israel / as it is writen in the booke of the lawe of Moses / euen an altare of whole stone / where vpon there was no vponsteynde: he offered burnt offeringes / and shank offeringes / and there vpon the stone he wrote the seconde lawe of Moses / whiche he wrote before the chyldre of Israel.

Deut. x. d Josua. x. d And all Israel with thei Elders and officers and iudges / stode on both the sydes of the Arke: right ouer agaynst the priestes that bare the Arke of the conuainant of the Lotd: whiche fraungers as well as one of them selfe / stode one halfe bysde mount Gushim / and the other halfe bysde mount Eball / as Moses the seruant of the Lotd commaunded aser: to blisse the people of Israel. Afterward caused he to proclayme all the wordes of the lawe of the bliffenge and cursing: as it is writen in the booke of the lawe. There was not one word that Moses commaunded: but Josua caused it to be proclaymed: he for all the congregation of Israel / and before the women / and chyldren / and straungers / which walked amonge them.

Then the captaynes toke they: vitayles / and eged not the mouth of the Lotd.

And Josua made peace with them / and set vp a conuainant with them: that they should be fained alyue / and the rulers of the congregation swore vnto them: But the wyces of

in the conuicio / and in all the hauens of the great sea / and bysde mount Libanus / herde this / namely the Gebath / and Ammonites / and Canaanites / Pherezites / Gathites / and Jebusites / they gathered them selfe together with one accord / to fight agaynst Josua / and agaynst Israel.

But when the inhabitants of Gibeon herde / what Josua had done with Jericho and Hai / they dealt craftely / wrote on theyi wayes / and made a missage / and toke olde fackes / and theyi assioles / and olde rente wyne bottles / and olde mouded shooes upon theyi feet / and put on olde and pced garments / and al f becad of they: vitayles was herd a moult / and they wente vnto Josua into the hooch at Gulgala / and sayde vnto hym / and to euery man in Israel: We are come out of a farre contry / and therefore make now a conuainant with vs. Then sayd euery man in Israel vnto the Gathites: Paradyssure thou dwellest amonge vs / how can I then make a conuainant with the.

They secd vnto Josua: We are thy seruaunts. Josua sayd vnto them: What are ye / and whence come ye: they sayde: Thy seruantes are come out of a farre contry / because of the name of the Lotde thy God: for we haue herde the report of hym / and al that he had done in Egypt / and al that he had vnto the three kynges of the Ammonites beyonde Jordan / and when the kyng of Hethon / and the kyng of Hysan / which dwell at Ashtaroth. Therefore sayd our elders and inhabitants of our contry: Take with you for your iourney / and go nicte them / saye vnto them: We are your seruantes / therefore make now a conuainant with vs. This our bread that we toke out of our house for our foode / was newe when we toke our iourney towarde you: but now / it is hard and mouded: And these bottles filled we newe / a le / they are rente. And these our clothes and shooes are waxed old / by the reason of the longe iourney.

Then the captaynes toke they: vitayles / and eged not the mouth of the Lotd.

And Josua made peace with them / and set vp a conuainant with them: that they should be fained alyue / and the rulers of the congregation swore vnto them: But the wyces of

ser that they had made a conuenaunt with them / they herd that they were their neyghbours / and dwell amonge them : for as the chyldren of Israel wente south ouer they iourney they came on a thyrde way vnto theys cyties / wher they are called Gibeon / Ephraim / Beeroth / a Bithah / Icarim / and smate them not / because that the rulers of the congregacion had swaine vnto the by the name of the Lord the God of Israel.

But when al the congregacion murmured against the rulers / al the rulers sayd vnto the woyle congregacion : We haue sworne vnto them by the Lord the God of Israel / therefore may we not touch them . But this will we do vnto them : Let their lyues there come no weath upon vs / because of the oathe that we haue made vnto them.

¶ And the rulers sayde vnto them : Let them aspeylye / that they maye be the riuers of wood / and bearers of water for the whole congregacion / as the rulers haue sayd vnto them . Then Josua called them / and communed with them / and sayd : Wherefore haue ye deceaued vs / and sayd that ye were furre from vs / where as ye dwell amonge vs : Therefore shal ye be cursed / so that of you there shall not cease seruantes to beyn wood / and to beare water for the house of my God.

They answered Josua and sayde : It was tolde thy seruantes / that the Lord thy God commaunded Moses his seruant that he should geue you the whole land / and that he wolde destroye all the inhabitants of the lande before you : therefore were we fere afraide of oure lyues before you : a thus haue we done . But now we are in thy handes : left what thou thyselft good and i right to do vnto vs / that we

And he byd euen so vnto them / and they used them fro the chyldren of Israels handes / that they should not slaye them . So upon the same daye / Josua made the heuvers of wood / and water bearers for the congregacion / and for the altare of the Lord & vnto this daye / in the place that he shal dofe.

Ed. X Chapter.

¶ Han Admisede the synge of Ierusalem / when he had ben Josua had wonne Hai / and Dammid / and had done vnto Hai / and the synge of it / slye as he byd vnto Jericho / as the synge therof / I a that they of Gibeon had made peate with Israel / were come vnder them / they were fere afraide / for Gibeon was a grece citty / slye as one of the synge cittyes / and greater then Hai / and all the cittyes therof were men of armes . Therefore sent he vnto Hoham the synge of Hebron / a to Dira the synge of Jarmuth / to Iaphia the synge of Kadish / and to Debir the synge of Legion / a caused to saye vnto them : Come vp vnto me / a helpe me / that we maye synge : Gibeon : for they haue made peate with Josua / a the chyldren of Israel . Then came the synge synge of the Ammonites together / and wrote vp : the synge of Jerusalem / the synge of Kadish / the synge of Jarmuth / the synge of Legion / the synge of Ierusalem / the synge of the synge of Legion / and layd leg vnto Gibeon / and fought agaynst it.

¶ Howbeit they of Gibeon sent vnto Josua at Gilgal / and caused to saye vnto him : We shal be we not thine handes from thy seruantes / come vp sone vnto vs : velyner and helpe vs / for al the synge of the Ammonites that dwell vpon the mountaynes / are gathered together agaynst vs . Josua went : vp from Gilgal / a al the warriors / and al the men of armes with hym . And the Lord sayd vnto Josua . I feare Josua . vnto the not / for I haue geuen them in to thy hande . There shall not one of them be able to stande before the . I So Josua came suddenly vnto Josua . vnto them / for al that might went by vp from Gilgal . I And the Lord & discomfited them before Israel / a smote them with a great slaughter at Gibeon / and they chased them the waye vnto to Beth Horon / and smote them vnto Aisfa and Massada .

¶ And when they fled before Israel / the waye vnto to Bethoron / the Lord caused a great hayle from heauen to fall upon them / vnto Bethoron / so that they dyed / and many mo of them dyed of the hayle / then the chyldren of Israel stowe with the hewerde .

¶ Then spake Josua vnto the Lord & the same daye / that the Lord gaue ouer the Ammonites before the chyldren of Israel / and sayd in the presence of Israel : I Sunne / holde thy selfe still at Gibeon / and thou Moone in the valley of Aialon .

Then the Sunne hede styl and the Moone stode/vntill the people had auenged them selfe on their enemyes. Is not this wrytten in the booke of the righteous? Thus the Sunne stode styll in the myddes of heauen/ and vsferred to go downe for the space of a whole day after. And there was no day lyfe vnto this/ neither before nor after. When the Lord hardened vnto the voyce of one man/ for the Lordde fought for Israel. And Josua wente agayne to Gulgath to the tentes/ and al Israel with hym. As for the fyue kynges they were fled/ and had hyd them selfe in the caue at Makeda.

Then was it tolde Josua: We haue found the fyue kynges hydde in the caue at Makeda. Josua sayd: Kille great slanes the befoze the hole of the caue/ and set men there to kepe them.

As for you stande ye not styll/ but solum after your enemyes/ a synre them behynde/ and let them not come in there: cyues/ for the Lordde roure God hath vsynered them in to your hande. And wha Josua and the chyldren of Israel had ended yf ore greute slaughter vpon them/ so that they were brought to nought: the remnant of them came into the strong cyues.

So al the people came agayne to the hoost vnto Josua to Makeda in pece: and no man durst moue his tunge agaynst the chyldren of Israel. Josua sayde: Open the mouth of the caue/ and bringe the fyue kynges forth vnto me. They dyd so/ and brought the kynges vnto hym out of the caue/ the kyng of Jerusalem/ the kyng of Geba/ the kyng of Jaramuth/ the kyng of Lachis/ the kyng of Hebron.

Wha these fyue kynges were brought forth vnto hym/ Josua called euery man of Israel/ and sayd vnto the rulers of the men of warre that went with hym: Come forth/ and tread vpon the neckes of these kynges with youre feet. And they came forth/ and trode vpon their neckes with thyr feet/ and Josua sayd vnto them: Be not afrayed/ a feare not: be shewing a beke for thus shall the Lordde do vnto all your enemyes/ agaynst whom ye fight.

And Josua smote them afterwarde/ and put them to death/ and hanged them vpon fyue trees. And they hanged styl vpon fyue trees vntill the enemyes. But when the Sunne wente downe/ he commaunded to take them of frō the trees: they caste them in the caue/ wherin they had hyd them selfe/ a befoze the hole of the caue they layed great slanes/ which are there yet vnto this daye. The same yere wente Josua Makeda also/ and smote it with the edge of the swerde/ and the kyng thereof/ and Jaramuth/ and all the foules that were therein/ and let none remayne therin: and did vnto the kyng of Makeda as he had dyd vnto the kyng of Jericho.

The Josua and al Israel with hym vsynered frō Makeda vnto Lachis/ and foughte agaynst it. And the Lordde gaue it with the kyng thereof in to the hande of Israel/ a smote it/ a he the foules that were therein with the edge of the swerde/ and let not one remayne in it/ a dyd vnto the kyng thereof as he had done vnto the kyng of Jericho.

Afterwarde wente Josua and al Israel frō hym from Lachis vnto Lachis/ and layed site vnto it/ and foughte agaynst it. In the Lordde vsynered Lachis also in to the hande of Israel/ so that they wanne it vpon the seconde daye/ and smote it with the edge of the swerde/ and al the foules that were therein/ according to as he had done vnto Lachis. At the same tyme Hozani/ the kyng of Gogor went vnto to helpe Lachis. But Josua smote hym with his people/ till there remained no one.

And Josua wente with al Israel from Lachis vnto Eglon/ and layed site vnto it/ and foughte agaynst it/ and wanne it the same yere/ a smote it with the edge of the swerde/ a danned al the foules that were therein/ the same yere/ according vnto all as he had done vnto Lachis.

After that went Josua with al Israel from Eglon vnto Hebron/ and foughte agaynst it/ a wanne it/ and smote it with the edge of the swerde/ and the kyng of it/ and al the cyues thereof/ and al the foules that were therein/ and let not one remayne/ accordinge vnto all as he had done vnto Eglon/ and danned it/ and al the foules that were therein.

Then turned Josua agayne with al Israel to warde Debir/ and foughte agaynst it/ and wanne it with the kyng of it/ and al the cyties thereof/and smote them with the edge of the fweard/and damned all the foules that were therein/and let nor one remayne ouer. Thus so he had done vnto Hebron a Lybna vñ theyr fyinge/fo byd he also vnto Edur / and the fyinge therof.

Thus Jofua smote all the lande vpon the mountaynes/and towards the South/and in the lowe contrie/and by the ryuers with al their fyinges/and let nor one remayne ouer / a damned al that had theyr / 1. 26. f Lord God of Israel had commaunded. And Jofua smote them from Cadec. Vernea vnto Gazar/and al the lande of Gosen vnto Gabeon/and rofe all these fyinges with theyr lande at one nunt/for the Lord God of Israel fought for Jofua. And Jofua wrote agayn with al Israel to the tenes vnto Gilgal.

The XI. Chapter.

¶ When Jofua fyinge of Afo herde this/ he faw vnto Iabed the fyinge of Madon/and to the fyinge of Samron/and to the fyinge of Idsaph: to the fyinge that was set towards the North vpon the mountaynes/ and in the playne on the South fide of Emroth/ and in the lowe contrie/and in the lordfhippe of Dor by the fea fide/and to the Canaanite towards the East/and West/ to the Amorites/Chitruce/Phersires / and Jebusites/ vpon the mountaynes/and to the Genuites/vnter mounte Hermon / in the lande of Mispa. These wente out to all theyr armies/ a great people as many as the fand of the fea/ and carryinge many horfes and charrettes. Al these fyinges gathered them felke a coint/ and pushed together by the water of Merd/ to fight with Israel.

¶ And the Lord sayde vnto Jofua: feare them not / for to morowe aboute this tyme will I deliuer them all fayne. Before the children of Israel thou shalt lome their horfes/ and burne their charrettes with fyre. ¶ And Jofua came foderly vpon them/ and all the mount of warre with them by the water of Merd/ and fell vpon them. And vñ the Lord deliuered them into the handes of Israel/ a they smote them/ and chered them vnto great Siden/ and to the warme water/ and to flaine of Mispa to wards the West: a smote they vnto that ther remayned nor one.

¶ Then dealt Jofua with them as the Lord had sayd vnto him/and lamed theyr horfes/ a bent theyr charrettes. And he turned backe at the same tyme/and wanne Hebron / a smote the fyinge of it by the fweard/ fo: Jofua was afore tyme the heade cytye of al these fyinges/ a smote al the foules that were therein with the edge of the fweard / and damned it/and let nothinge remayne that had theyr / a damned Hebron with fyre. All the cyties of these fyinges/ a wanne Jofua also / a smote them with f edge of the fweard/and damned them/ according as Moses the seruaunt of the Lord commaunded.

¶ Eowbeit/ the cyties that stode vpon the hills/ did not the children of Israel burne with fyre: but Hebron only did Jofua burne. ¶ And al the spoyle of these cyties/and the cated byd the children of Israel deale among them/ but smote al the iacob with f edge of the fweard/ till they had destroyed them/ and let nothing remayne that had theyr. So the Lord commaunded his seruaunt Moses/ and as Moses commaunded Jofua/ thus so byd Jofua / that there was nothinge vnto one of al that the Lord commaunded Moses.

11. 33. b

¶ So Jofua rofe all this lande vpon the mountaynes/ and all that lyeth toward the South/ and al the leuue of Gosen/ a the lowe contrie/ and the plegie felde/ and the incourteyne of Israel with the valley therof/ from the mountayne that porth the leude/ vñ toward Ser vnto Basged / in the playne of mount Libanus/ Geneth mount Hermon. All theyr fyinges rofe by/ and smote them / a put them to death. ¶ Howbeit he warded a f. 37. vñ d longe season with these fyinges.

¶ Yet was there none cytye/ that yalded it selfe peaceably vnto the children of Israel / excepte the Genuites/ which dwelt at Giv. ¶ Jof. 11. a ¶ And this was done so of the Lord/ that their herte was so hardened / to come against the children of Israel with battail / that they mighte be damned/ and no founte to be stemed vnto them/ but to be destroyed / as the Lord Deut. 33. c commaunded Moses.

¶ At the same tyme came Jofua / and roted out the Canaanites from the mountaynes/ from Hebron/ from Edur/ from Anab / f. 11. c every

The XIII. Chapter.

One whan Iosua was olde / and well Iustyfien in age / the LoRde said vnto him:
Thou art olde / and well aged / and there remaineth yet muche of the lande to conquere / namely all Galle of the Philistines / and all Gessuri / from Sibon / whiche floweth hyside the Egypt / vnto the border of Ebron Northward / which is reftened vnto the Cananites: foure lordes of the Philistines / namely the Gassites / the Ashdodites / the Ghalonites / and the Gethites / the Ebronites / and the Avites. But from the South is all the lande of the Ca-nanites / and Nazara of the Sidonians vnto Aphek / euen vnto the border of the Ammonites. Moreover the lande of the Ghiblytes and all Libanus Eastward / from Baal-gad vnder mount Hermon / till a man come vnto He-math. All they that dwell vpon the mount from Libanus vnto the weate waters / and all the Sidonians. I wyl vycte them out before the children of Iracl. Only let them be dealt our amonge / Iracl / as I haue commaunded the.

Soeide thus the lande how to be inheritance: amonge the nyne tribes / the halfe tribe of Manasse. For the Rubenites and Gadites / with the halfe tribe of Manasse had receiued their inheritaunce / whiche Moses gaue them beyonde Iordane Eastkingdome of Og at Baſan / which dwelt at Iſtaroh/and Kirioth/are remainyd yet our of Kaphaim. But Moſes ſmote them and droue them out.

The children of Iſrael droue not out the Gaſſurite a Maachathite/ but both Gaſ ſur and Maachath dwelt amonge the child ren of Iſrael vnto this daye. ¶ But vnto the trib e of the Leuites he gaue no inheritaunce: for the offeringe of the Lord God of Iſrael they inheritaunce/accordinge as he hath pro miſed them.

¶ So Moſes gaue vnto the tribe of the children of Ruben after they: fynredes/so they: border was Ireor/which lyeth upon the waterſyde of Arnon/and the cyte in the myd de of the ſame water/with all the playn ſide

all the realme of Sibon/ſyng of the Ammo rite/which dwelt at Heſden/whome Mo ſes ſmote with the pygmes of Madian / Eui/Reken/Sur/Sur/and Keba/the inſygher of the ſyng Sibon/which were inhabytors of the lande. ¶ And Balazan the ſonne of Beor the pygmer/and the children of Iſrael ſlue with the ſword amonge the other that were ſlaine/and the border of the children of Ruben was Iordane. This is the inheritaunce of the children of Ruben amonge they: fynredes/ cytes/and village.

¶ Vnto the tribe of the children of Gad a monge they: fynredes gaue Moſes / ſo that they: border was Jabesh/and all the cytes in Gilead/and the halfe lande of the chylden of Ammon/vnto Ireor/which lyeth before Rab barh/and from Heſden vnto Kains: the Miſ peah and Betonim/and from Maachan vnto the border of Dibir. But in the valleye/Beth Haram/Beth Imra/Sudoth and Sapho (which remainyd yet of the realme of Sibon ſyng of Heſden/and was by Iordane/ve to the edge of the ſee of Uincaſion this ſide Iordane) allſward: This is the inheritaunce of the chylden of Gad in they: fynredes/ cy tes and village.

¶ Vnto the halfe tribde of the children of Ma naſſe after they: fynredes/gaue Moſes ſeibah they: border was fro Maachan/ all Ba ſan/all the ſyngdome of Og ſyng of Baſan/and all the tounes of Gaſſur/which lye in Ba ſan/ namely the ſcite cytes. And halfe Gi lead/Iſtaroh/ Kirioth/and the cytes of the ſyng dome of Og at Baſan/vnto the chylden of Maſur the ſonne of Manaſſe. This is the halfe portion of the children of Maſur after they: fynredes.

This is it that Moſes ſaue out vpon the ſide of Moab/beyonde Iordan/our againſt Iericho Eaſtward: ¶ But vnto the tribe of Ju dith gaue Moſes no inheritaunce: for the Lord God of Iſrael is they: inheritaunce/as he hath promiſed them.

The XIII Chapter.

This is it that the children of Iſrael haue inherited in the lande of Canaan/ which the Leuiter the poſſeſſor/and Joſua the ſonne of Nun/and the chiefe of the fathers amonge the tribes of the children of Iſrael/ parted out amonge them. ¶ But by theſe they: gaue it out amonge them/accordinge as the Lord commanded Moſes to gaue vnto the ſyng tribes and the halfe ſo: vnto the two tribes the halfe/ the Moſes gaue inheritaunce be yonde Iordane. ¶ But vnto the Leuiter he gaue no inheritaunce amonge them. ¶ For of the children of Joſeph there were two tribes/ Ma naſſe and Eppraim. Therefore gaue they: the Leuiter no portion in the land/our cytes to dwel therein/and ſuburbs for they: cartell a goodde. ¶ Euen as the Lord commanded vnto Moſes ſo by the children of Iſrael / he gaue ded the lande.

¶ Then came forth the children of Iuda to Joſua at Gulgail / and Caleb the ſonne of Joſeph.

 ¶ But the Jebusites dwell at Ierusalem/and the children of Iuda could not thye the awaye. So the Jebusites remayne with the children of Iuda at Ierusalem vnto this daye.
 The XVL Chapter.

And the lot fel vnto the children of Ioseph ¶ from Iordane ouer a runn Iericho/ vnto the water on the East side of Iericho and the wilderness/ that goeth vp from Iericho / thro-row the mountayne of Bethel/ and cometh out from Bethel vnto Luz / and goeth thro-row the coast of Tera/ Ataroth/ and stretcheth vnto Westward vnto the call of Zaphan/to the border of the lower Bethon/ and vnto to Gazer/ and the ende thereof is the greates see. ¶ The children of Ioseph/ Manasse/ a Ephraim/ receaued to inheritance.

The border of the children of Ephraim/ so mony their kinreds of their inheritance fro the East/ was Ataroth/ Adar vnto the upper Bethon/ and goeth out Westward by Mithmethah/ that iseth toward the North/ there stretcheth a compassse toward the East/ side of the crite Thacnath/ Silo/ and goeth thre thorevnto from the East vnto Janoba/ and commeth vnto from Janoba vnto Ataroth and Azarath/ and bodeth on Jericho / and goeth out at Iordane/ from Esnath goeth Westward vnto Naclfan/ and the outgoinge of it is at the see.

This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Ephraim amonge theyr fynedes.
 And all the borders/ cyties with theyr villeges.

gōe of the children of Ephraim / lay scattered amonge the suburbs of the children of Manasse. And they diuise not vnto the Canaanites / which dwell ar Gaser. So the Canaanites remained amonge Ephraim vnto this daye / and became tributaries.

The XXII. Chapter.
I And the rest fell vpon the rybe of Manasse / (for he is Iosephs first sonne) and it fell vpon Machir the first sonne of Manasse the father of Gilead: for he was a man of armes / therefore had he Gilead and Basan. It fell also vnto the other children of Acher / the children of Belak / the children of Ahrail / the children of Sechem / the children of Hepher / and the children of Semida. These are the children of Manasse the sonne of Ioseph / make amonge theyr kyndredes.

But Ioseph had the sonne of Hepher the sonne of Gilead / the sonne of Machir / the sonne of Manasse had no sonnes / but daughters: and theyr names are these: Machala / Elou / Pagla / Milca / Tirza / and they came before Eleazar the priest / and before Iosua the sonne of Nun / and before the rulers / and sayde: The Lord commaunded Moses / to geue vs an inheritance amonge oure brethren. And so they had inheritance geuen them amonge theyr fathers brethren / accordinge to the commaundement of the Lord.

B There fell vpon Manasse ten meereynes / without the lande of Gilead & Basan / which lyceth betwene Iordane. for the daughters of Manasse receaued inheritance: amonge his sonnes: but the other childre of Manasse had the lande of Gilead. And the border of Manasse was from Aser forth vnto Michmetah: that lyceth before Sechem / and reacheth vnto the right syde of them of Ein Tapuah: for the lande of Tapuah fell vnto the tribe of Manasse: and the border of Manasse is vnto the children of Ephraim. The cometh is vnto the childre of Ephraim. The cometh is vnto the childre of Ephraim: and the childre of Ephraim are the ryuer cines / whiche are Ephraim amonge the cynes of Manasse. But from the Iordane to the border of Manasse by the ryuer / and goeth forth by the see syde / Southwarde vnto Ephraim: to Manasse Northwarde / and the see is his easle. And it shal border ou Aser: from the North / and ou Issachar from the East.

So amonge Issachar and Aser / Manasse had Beth Sean and the townes thereof / and Zebalam and the townes thereof / and them of Doi and theyr townes / and them of Ein Doi and theyr townes / and them of Eranach and theyr townes / and them of Nagbdo a theyr townes / and the thirde parte of the ryue Mosher. And the children of Manasse coulde not diuise away the inhabitants of these cynes / but the Canaanites beganne to dwell in the same lande. Howbeit / when the children of Israel were able / they made the Canaanites tributaries / and diuise them not out.

Then spake the children of Ioseph vnto Iosua / and sayde: Wherefore hast thou geuen me but one portion / and one meedle of inheritance / I am yet a great people / as the Lord hath blessed me so largely. Then said Iosua vnto them: for so much as thou art a great people / go vp therefore into the wood / & make thy selfe rowme there in the lande of the Cherites and Ephraim / beinge mount Ephraim is to narrowe for the.

Then sayd the children of Ioseph: We shal not be able to aryue vnto thy mountaynes / for there are yon charrtes amonge all the Canaanites / that dwell in the lande of Enef / by whom leeth Beth Sean / and the villages thereof / and Israel in Enef. Iosua sayd vnto the house of Ioseph / geue to Ephraim and Manasse: Thou art a great people / so much as thou art so great / thou must not haue one lot / but I mountayne where I wood is / shalbe thine: that out for the / so that it be the outpoynte of thy portion / when thou shalt out the Canaanites / which haue yon charrtes / I am mynne.

The XXIII. Chapter.
I And all the multitude of the children of Israel gathered them selfes together vnto Silo / and they kept the Tabernacle of witness / and the lande was subdued vnto them. But there were yet seven rybes of the children of Israel / vnto whom they had not deuoted theyr inheritance. And Iosua sayde vnto the children of Israel: How longe are ye slowe to go and conuere the lande / which the Lord God of your fathers hath geue you?

your: That you the men out of every tribe / I may finde them; and that they may get the pp/ and go thow the lande; as it descride at eviding to the enheritaunce therof / a come unto me.

Wayde the lande in seven partes. Judas shall remayne upon his borders of the Southside; and the house of Joseph shall re-mayne upon his borders of the North parte: But w/ scribde ye the lande in seven partes; and dwyge them vnto me; then shal I cast the lot for you before the Lord our God; / for the Lanuce haue no portion amonge you. But the priesthode of the Lord is theyr enheritaunce.
As for Gad and Ruben; and the half tribe of Manasse; they haue receued theyr en-heritaunce beyonde Iordane Eastwarde; / wher Moyses the seruicant of the Lord gaue them.

Then the men gat vp to go they: way:
And when they were aboute to go for to scribde the lande; Iosua commaunded them; and saide: Ho youe waye; and walke thow the lande; and describete it; and come agayne vnto me; that I maye call the lot for you before the Lord at Silo. So the me departed; and wente thow the lande; and describete it in seven partes vpon a letter / accordinge to the cyrcles; and came to Iosua into the boosle at Silo. Then Iosua cast y lot ouer them at Silo before the Lord; and there distributed the lande amonge the children of Israel; vnto eu-ery one his parte.

And the lot of the myde of the children of Beniamin fell; accordinge to theyr kyndes; and the border of theyr lot wente out betwene the children of Iuda; and the children of Ioseph.
And theyr border was on y Northquar-ter of Iordan; and goeth vp from y Northside of Jericho; a cometh vp to y mountayne Westwarde; and goeth out by y wilderness of Bethanen; and goeth from thence toward Lus; then by the South side of Lus; that is Bethel; and cometh vnto Achorbath by y mountayne; whiche lyeth on the Southside of the lover Bethoron. Then bowerth it downe; and serched a compassse into y Southwest quarter; from the mount that lyeth ouer against Bethoron towards the South; and goeth out vnto Bithai; Baal; that is Be-riah; Beirim; a cite of the childer of Iuda.

This is the Westborder.

But the South border is from Bithai; Be-riah; and goeth out toward the well of Dol; and cometh south vnto the water welde of Nephtieban; and goeth vnto the y edge of y mount; that lyeth before the valley of y sonne of Ginnem; and goeth vnto thow y valley of Ginnem; on the Southside of the Jebusite; a cometh vnto the well of Rogel;
a stretcheth from y Northward; a cometh out vnto En-Semes; and cometh south to y becke; that lyeth vp toward Adummim; a commeth vnto the stone of Bohem; y sonne of Ruben; and goeth a longe by the plain side; whiche lyeth Northward; and cometh vnto the plain side; and goeth by the Beth-Elgila; that lyeth toward the North; a his ende is at the North border of the fat fact vnto the edge of Iordan Southward. This is the South border.

But Iordan shalbe the ende of the East quarter. This is the enheritaunce of y childer of Beniamin in theyr borders; round about amonge theyr kyndes.

The citis of the tribe of y childer of Be-niamin; amonge theyr kyndes; are these: Jericho; Beth-Elgila; Elmek; Regit; Beth-Ababa; Zemaraim; Bethel; Jaim; Paphar; Ziphim; Caphar-Amnona; Ziphim; Gaba: these are twelfe citis; and theyr villages.

Gibeon; Rama; Beeroth; Mispah; Caph-ra; Meza; Bethel; Beersheba; Beersheba; Beersheba; Elph; and the Jebusite; that is Jerusalem; Gibeah; Bithai: These are foure cytes and theyr villages. This is the enheritaunce of the childer of Beniamin in theyr kyndes.

The XIX. Chapter.

Then fell the seconde lot of the tribe of the childer of Simeon; accordinge to theyr kyndes; and theyr enheritaunce was amonge the enheritaunce of the childer of Iuda. And to their enheritaunce they had Beer-Saba; / Ceba; / Molada; / Ezer-Zual; /
Baal-Ham; / El-Holad; / Bethul; / Harma; /
Zi-Hag; / Beth-Markaboth; / Ezer-Sussa; / Beth-Elchab; and Sarubim: These are thurene cytes; and theyr villages; / Ain; / Rimmon; / Eother; / Aza: These are foure cytes; and theyr villages.

villages. And all the villages that lye aboute the riuers vnto Balath/Bar Ramath toward the South. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Simeon/in their synecdoes for the inheritance of the children of Simeon/ie vnder the portion of the children of Juda. So so muche as the inheritance of the children of Juda was to great for them/ therefore inherited the children of Simeon amonge their inheritance.

The thirde lot fell vpon the children of Zabulon after they synecdoes. And the border of theyr inheritance was vnto Sarid/a goeth vpon Westwarde to Mareala/ and bordereth vpon Sabasch/and reacheth vnto the ryuer Ijar/floweth ouer againste Iafneam/and turneth from Sarid Eastward: vnto the border of Gilgath/ebor/and cometh out vnto Sabasch/and reacheth vpon Tapia/and from thence goeth it Westwarde shewinge Girbas/Lepher/and Orba Kajan/and cometh out towarde Nunon/ Hamboar/Banca/ a ferdeth a compass aboute fram y North vnto

B Marhou/and the goinge out of it is in the valley Zephrah/El Azrah/Abalal/Ornith/ Zedeal/and Berthehem: These are the residue of cities and theyr villages. This is the inheritance of the children of Zabulon in theyr synecdoes/ these are the cities and villago.

The fourth lot fell vpon the children of Issachar after their synecdoes/ and theyr border was Zefraia/Beffulsthor/Sumen/ Gopharaim/ Dion/Anabarath/Kaobith/Asion/ Abeg/Ameth/El Ganim/El Nhada/Beith Dage/and bordereth vpon Ebor/Sibezina/ Beith Simeon/and the outgoings of it was at Jordan. These are sixtine cities and theyr villages. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Issachar in theyr synecdoes/ cities and villages.

The fyfth lot fell vpon the tribe of the children of Asser/after they synecdoes. And theyr border was Beth Farth/ Hali/ Breen/ Achaph/ Haimelch/Imcab/ Misell/ and bordereth on Carmill vnto the see/ and on Orhos/ a Lebnath/a turneth towarde the East vnto Beth Sagon/and bordereth on Zabulon/ and on the vallee of Zephthad/and towarde North the syde of Beth Lemel/ and Negel/and cometh out vnto Labul/on the left syde of Ebron/Ree hob/Hamon a Cana/vnto great Sidd. And turneth towarde Nama/vnto the stronge citie of Zor/and turneth towarde Gofsa/ and goeth out vnto the see/after y meene towarde Achib/Dmal/Zph:Zebob.

These are two and twentie cities and theyr villages. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Asser in theyr synecdoes/ cities and villages.

The sixt lot fell vpon the children of Nephthali in theyr synecdoes. And theyr border was from Achib/Elon thowt Saman/ Adas/ Uked/Zabneel vnto Lakum/and goeth out vnto Joibane/ and turneth Westwarde to Ashoth/Ethaboz/and cometh out fro thence vnto Hufof/and bordereth on Zabulon towarde the South/and on Asser towarde the West/and on Juda by Joibane towarde the East/and hath stronge cities/ Sidmijer/ Garath/Kafath/ Chinnareth/ Hama/ Kama/ G:zor/ Rebes/ Edia/ El Hazar/ Jercon/ Magdal/ Elheron/ Beth Anath/ Beth Samon. These are the nyntene cities and theyr villages. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Nephthali in theyr synecdoes/ cities and villages.

The seventh lot fell vpon the tribe of the children of Dan after they synecdoes/ and the border of theyr inheritance was Sarca/El Hual/ Zefames/ Sealahun/ Aalon/ Zethar/Elon/ Chinnara/ Fron/El thefco/ Gibethon/ Baalath/ Zebud/ Buerbaraf/ Bar Rimon/ M: Zafon/ K:fon/ with the border by Zapho/and on the same goeth the border of the children of Dan out. And the children of Dan wente vp/ and fought againste Ekem/and wenne it a finte it with the edge of the sword/ and toke it in possession/ and dwelt therein/ and called it Dan/after the name of theyr father. This is Judgement the inheritance of the tribe of the children of Dan in theyr synecdoes/ cities and villages.

And when the lande was all parted out vnto the borders thereof/ the children of Israel gaue Josua the sonne of Nun/ an inheritance amonge them/ and accordinge to the commandement of the Lord. They gaue him the cytie that he requyred/ namely Timnath/ Therah/vpon mount Ephraim/ there builded Josua the citie/ and dwelt therein.

The XX. Chapter.

¶ And the Loide spake vnto Josua / and sayde: Speake to the chylden of Israel: Greue among you free cyties / in whiche I spake vnto you by Moses/ that the headslayer which slayeth a soule vnwares and vnwyttingly/ may flye thither/ that they may be free amonge you from the aungier of blood. And he that flyeth to one of these cyties/ shall stande without before the porte of the cyte/ and there he shall beare the Elders of the cyte / then shall they take him to them in to the cyte/ and geue hym place to dwell with them.

¶ And if the aungier of bloude folow vpon hym / they shall not deliuer the headslayer in to his handes / for so much as he hath slayen his neyghbour vnwares / and was not his enemye afore: but he shall dwell in the cyte/ tyll he stande before the congregacion in iudgement: vntyll the hie prieste dye / whiche shall be at that tyme. Then shall the headslayer returne / and go vnto his owne cyte/ and vnto his house in to the cyte / from whence he was fled.

¶ Then appointed they Kedesh in Galile vpon mount Ephraim: and Shechem vpon mount Ephraim: And Kiriatbarba / that is Hebron vpon mounte Iuda: And beyonde Ieribanc on the Eastside of Iericho/ they gaue Befer in the wilderness vpon the playne out of the trybe of Ruben: And Ramoth in Galaad out of the trybe of Gad: And Holan in Basan out of the trybe of Manasse.

These were the cyties appointed for all the chylden of Israel / and for the straungers which dwelt amonge them / that whosoeuer had slayen a soule vnwares / mighte flye thither / & he should not be put to death by the aungier of bloude / tyll he had stande before the congregacion.

The XXI. Chapter.

¶ Then the chieft fathers amonge the Leuites came south vnto Eleasar the priest / and to Josua the sonne of Nun / and to the aungier fathers amonge the trybes of the chylden of Israel / and spake vnto them at Silo in the lande of Canaan and sayd: The Lord commaunded by Moses / that we should haue cyties geuen vs to dwell in / and the suburbs of the same for our cattell. Then the chylden of Israel gaue of their inheritance these cytes / and the suburbs thereof vnto the Leuites / accordinge to the commandement of the Loide.

And the lot fell vpon the Dyned of the Kharithes / and the chylden of Aaron the priest amonge the Leuites / had by the lot threene cyties of the trybe of Iuda / of the trybe of Simcon / and of the trybe of Ben Iamin. The other chylden of Kharth of the same Dyned had by the lot iiij cytes / of the trybe of Ephraim / of the halfe trybe of Manasse / and of the halfe trybe of Manasse.

But the chylden of Gerson of the same Dyned had by the lot threene cytes / of the trybe of Issachar / of the trybe of Asser of the trybe of Naphtali / and of the trybe of Manasse at Basan.

The chylden of Merari of theye Dyned had twelf cytes / of the trybe of Ruben / of the trybe of Gad / and of the trybe of Zabulon. So the chylden of Israel gaue these cytes and theye suburbs vnto the Leuites by lot / as the Loide commaunded by Moses.

Of the trybe of the chylden of Iuda / and of the trybe of the chylden of Simcon / they gaue these cytes (whiche they named by name) vnto the chylden of Aaron of the Dyned of the Kharithes / amonge the chylden of Leui / for the byll lot was theye.

So they gaue them Kiriatbarba / which was the fathers of Eleasar is Hebron vpon the mount Iuda / and the suburbs thereof of rounde aboute. But the felde of the cyte and the villages thereof / gaue they vnto Caleb / the sonne of Iephune for his possession.

Thus gaue they vnto the chylden of Aaron the priest / the free cyte of the headslayers / Hebron and the suburbs thereof / Edna and the suburbs thereof / Zubar and the suburbs thereof / Esibuma / and the suburbs thereof / Holan

I. Par. v. d.

Edon and the suburbs thereof / Debir and the suburbs thereof / Ain and the suburbs thereof Ain and the suburbs thereof / Beth Zemes and the suburbs thereof / euen nyne cyties of the two nybes.

But of the rybe of Ben Jamin they gaue four cyties / Gibdon and the suburbs thereof / Waba and the suburbs thereof / Anathot and the suburbs thereof / Alnon and the suburbs thereof / so that all the cyties of the chyldren of Ierai the pusi were thyrtye with theyr suburbs.

The kynredes of the other chyldren of Kathab the Leuites had by theyr lot four cyties of the rybe of Ephraim and they gaue them the fre cytie of the deadslayer / Zichem and the suburbs thereof upon mozt Ephraim / Gazer and the suburbs thereof / Bethan and the suburbs thereof / Bethon a the suburbs thereof.

- ¶ Of the rybe of Dan four cyties / Elsheba a the suburbs thereof / Gibion and the subur-bes thereof / Tilon and the suburbs thereof / Gath Ramon and the suburbs thereof. Of the halfe rybe of Manasse two cyties / The-nadi and the suburbs thereof / Gath Ramon and the suburbs thereof / so that all the cyties of the other chyldren of the kynred of Kathab were ten with theyr suburbs.

But vnto the chyldren of Ierfon amonge the Feurded of the Leuites were giuen.

Of the halfe rybe of Manasse two cyties/the fre cytie of the deadslayer / Golan in Basan and the suburbs thereof / Beashta and the suburbs thereof. Of the rybe of Issachar four cyties / Tison and the suburbs thereof / Zabud and the suburbs thereof / Tarmuth and the suburbs thereof / Engannim and the suburbs thereof. Of the rybe of Isser four cyties / Misal / Abdon / Belkath / and Nebot with the suburbs thereof. Of the rybe of Ephraim the cyties of the fre cytie Redee for the deadslayer in Galle / Ramoth / Dori / Bar-rehan with the suburbs thereof / so that all cy-ties of the kynred of Ierfon were thyrtene with theyr suburbs.

- ¶ Vnto the kynredes of Merari the other Leuites were giuen / Of the rybe of Zabulon four cyties / I:nead / Barham / Simnel and Khabal with the suburbs thereof. Of the rybe of Ruben four cyties / Bezer / Zabza / Bedemoth and Mesphaat with theyr suburbs. Of the rybe of Gad four cyties / the fre cytie for the deadslayer / Ramoth in Gilead / Mahanaim / Hesbon / and Jaser with theyr suburbs / so that all the cyties of the chyldren of Merari amonge theyr kynredes of the other Leuites were twelue. Thus all the cyties of the Leuites amonge the possession of the chyldren of Israel were eighty and fourey with theyr suburbs. And these cyties were so Re-alt out / that every one had theyr suburbs rōide about / the one as the other.

Thus the Lord gaue the chyldren of Israel all the lande / whiche he had sworne vnto theyr fathers to geue / a theyr lotte possession of it / a drekt thei in. And the Lord gaue them rest before / at those tyme were aboute them / yste as he swore vnto theyr fathers / and none of theyr enemies stode agaynst thei / but all their enemies behouered hem to theyr hande. And they myssed nathing of al the good that the Lord had promysed vnto the house of Israel / it came euery why.

The XXXII. Chapter.

¶ Then Josua called the Rubenites and I Gadites / and the half rybe of Manasse / and sayd vnto them / Ye haue kept al that Moses the seruaunt of the Lord commaunded you / and haue herkened vnto my voyce in all that I haue commaunded you / Ye haue not forsaken your biethen alonge tye / you vnto this daye / and haue wayted vpon the commaundement of the Lord your God. So so much now as the Lord your God hath broughte your biethen to rest / as he promysed them / turne you now / and go youre waye to your tentes in to the lande of youre possession / whiche Moses the seruaunt of the Lord gaue you beyonde Iordane.

But take diligent heed / now / that ye do e:dyng to the commaundement and lawe whiche Moses the seruaunt of the Lord hath commaunded / that ye loue the Lord your God / a walke in his waye / a kepe his commaundementes / and cleue vnto hym / a se-rue hym with all your hert / a with all your soule.
So I Josua blessed them / a let them go. And they wente vnto theyr tentes.

Vnto the halfe rybe of Manasse had Mo-his voye/and to buyde an altare for sacrifice by burnt offeringe / and for any present without the altare of the Lord our God / that standeth before this habitation.

C But when Phineas the priest/a the chiefe of the congregation / the priences of Israel which were with him / herde these wordes that the chyldren of Kuben / Gad and Manasse had spoken/they pleased them well. And Phineas the sonne of Eleazar the prieste sayd unto the chyldren of Kuben / Gad and Manasse. This voye we knowe that the Lordde is amonge you that ye have not trespassed agaynst the Lord in this voyde. Now haue ye deliuered the chyldren of Israel out of the hande of the Lord.

Then Phineas the sonne of Eleazar the priest/and the rulers returned out of the lande of Canaan from the chyldren of Kuben / and Gad/unto the lande of Canaan to the chyldren of Israel/and brought them worde agayn of the matter.

Then were the chyldren of Israel well content with the thyng. And they praised the God of Israel/and sayd nomore that they wolde go vp agaynst them with an armye / to destroye the lande that the chyldren of Kuben and Gad dwelt in. And the chyldren of Kuben and Gad called the name of the culture: This culture be witness betwene vs/that the Lord is God.

The XXIII. Chapter.

I After a long season/when the Lord had broughte Israel to rest from all their enemyes rounde aboute: And Joshua was now olde/and well strepen in age/ he called all Israel and they Eldres / heades / iudges / and officers/and sayd vnto them: I am olde and well aged/and ye haue seene that the Lord your God hath done vnto all these nacions in your sight. For the Lord your God him selfe hath foughte for you. Beholde/I haue parted amonge you the remanent of the nacions by lot/oure euerye tribe his inheritaunce from Joshua forth/a all the nacions whom I haue rote out vnto the great see Westward.

Jud. j. a

B And the Lord your God shall rebuffe them out before you / and byue them awaye from you/that ye maye haue theyr lande in possession / as the Lord your God hath promysed you. Be stronge now therfore / ye maye obserue/and do all that is written in the booke of the lawe of Moses: For that ye turne not a syde from it/ neyther to the right hande / neyther to the left: that ye come not amonge the remanent of these nacions / whiche are with you: And se ye make no mencions / nor swyre by the names of theyr goddes / neyther serue them / nor bowe your selves vnto them: But cleue vnto the Lordde your God/ as ye haue done vnto this daye: then shall the Lordde byue you great and myghty nacions before you / like as there hath no man bene able to stande before you vnto this daye. One of you shall chace a thousande: for the Lordde your God shall fighte for you/ accordinge as he promised you. Take diligent hede therfore vnto your soules/that ye loue the Lordde your God.

But if ye turne backe/ and cleue vnto these other nacions/a make marriages with them/so that ye come amonge them/ and they amonge you/ be ye sure then that the Lordde your God shall nomore byue you: all these nacions before you / but they shalbe vnto you a snare and net / and pyccles in your eyes/and thornes in your eyes/ vntill he haue destroyed you from the good lande/ which the Lordde your God hath giuen you.

Beholde/ this daye do I go the waye of the world/and ye shall knowe euen from all your herte/and from all your soules/ that he hath not sayed one worde of all the good that the Lordde your God promysed you. Now lyke as all the good is come that the Lordde your God promysed you: I euen so shall the Lordde your God cause all euill to come vpon you/ till he haue destroyed you from this good lande / like the Lordde your God hath giuen you / if ye transgresse his conuainment of the Lordde your God: which he hath commaunded you. And if ye go your way / and serue other goddes/a worship them/ then shall I with of the Lordde your God: whiche he hath commaunded you out of the good lande that he hath giuen you.

The XXIII. Chapter.

J Joshua gathered all the iudges of Israel together vnto Shechem/ and called the Elders of Israel the heades / iudges / a officers.

And

And when they were come before God / he sayd vnto al the people: Thus sayeth  $\gamma$  Lord the God of Israel: Your fathers dwelte afore me beyonde the water / Abrahams and Laban / with Sarah theys father / and serued other goddes. Then toke  $\gamma$  your father Abraham beyonde the water / and caused hym to walke in the lande of Canaan / and multiplied his sede / and gaue hym Isaac / and vnto  $\gamma$ Isaac  $\gamma$  gaue Jacob and Esau / I gaue Esau a mounte Syon to possesse. As for Jacob and his chyldren / they went downe in to Egypte.

Then sent  $\gamma$  Moses and Aaron / and plagued Egypt as  $\gamma$  haue done amonge them.
 After that  $\gamma$  broughte  $\gamma$  you and your fathers out of Egypte. And when ye came to the see / and the Egyptians folowed vpon your fathers with charrettes and horsemen vnto the reade / they cryed they vnto the Lord / which put a vnsufficke betwene you and the Egyptians / and brought the see vpon them / and ouerwhelmed them: And your eyes haue bene vnto  $\gamma$  vnto the Lande of the Egyptians / and ye were in the wilderness / a longe season.

And  $\gamma$  broughte you in to the lande of the Ammor-ites / which dwelt beyonde Iordane / when they fought agaynst you /  $\gamma$  deliuered them in to your handes / that ye myght haue they: continue in possission / and  $\gamma$  bestrobed them before you.

Then Balac the soune of Biphor / the kyng of the Moabites gaue hym vp / a fought agaynst Israel: and he sent / and had call Balaam / soune of Beor: to curse you / neuerthelesse /  $\gamma$  wold not heare him / but  $\gamma$  blessed you and deliuered you out of his hande.

And when ye went out of Iordane / a came vnto Jericho / the cytyens of Jericho fought agaynst you / the Ammonites / Hierusites / Ca-naniens / Hetites / Gergisites / Heuites / and Jebusites / howbeit /  $\gamma$  deliuered them in to your hande.

And  $\gamma$  sent hornetes before you / which drove them out before you / namely the two kynge of the Ammonites: nor thow they strewe / nor thow we thy home. And  $\gamma$ haue giuen you a lande / wherupon ye be floroed / no labour / and cyties which ye haue not builded / that ye myghte dwell therein / and ye myghte eare of the vnyngardes and olyue trees / which ye haue not plantid. Feare the Lord now therefore / and serue him perfectly / and in the truth / a lette go the goddes / wher your fathers serued beyonde the water and in Egypte / and serue ye the Lord.

But if ye saye no: to serue the Lord / then chose you this daye wherome ye will serue: the God whom your fathers serued beyonde the water / or the goddes of the Ammonites / in whose lade ye dwell: As for me and my house / we will serue the Lord. Then answered the people and sayd: God forbidde / that we shoulde forsake the Lord / and serue other goddes. For the Lord our God brought vs and our fathers out of the lande of Egypte / from the house of bondage / and vnto this great towne before our eyes / and preserued vs all the waye that we went / and amonge all the nacyons / whom we traueled by. And the Lord thrust out before vs all the people of the Ammonites that dwel in the lande.
 Therefore will we also serue the Lord: for he is our God.

Josua sayd vnto the people: Ye can not serue  $\gamma$  Lord: for he is an holy God / myghty and glorious / which spareth not your transgressions and synnes. But if ye forsake the Lord / and serue a strange God: then shall the Lord turne hym / and do you euell / and consume you / after he hath done you good.
 The people sayd vnto Josua: not for vnto we will serue the Lord. Then sayd Josua vnto the people: Ye are wytnesse: ouer you / selfe / that ye haue chosen you the Lord / to serue hym. And they sayd: Yee. Then put awaye frō you / the strange goddes wher ye are amonge you / and enclyne your heart vnto the Lord the God of Israel. And y people said vnto Josua: We will serue the Lord our God / and be obedient vnto his voyce. So Josua made a conuenaunt with the people the same day / and set statutes and lawes before them at Shechem.

And Josua wrote this acte in the boke of the lawe of God / and toke a great stone / and set it vp there vnder an Oke / which was in the Sanctuary of the Lord / and sayd vnto all the people: Behalde / this stone shall be wytnesse ouer you. For: hath herde all the worder of the Lord / which he hath spoken vnto vs / and shall be a wytnesse ouer you / that ye serue not your God. So Josua let the people go workes of the Lord/ that he had done vnto Israel. The bones of Joseph/ which the chy-lden of Israel had brought out of Egypt/ buryed they in Sichem/ in the peece of the lande/that Jacob bought of the chyldren of He-mon/ father of Sichem for an hundred pēs/and was the inheritance of the chyldren of Joseph. Eleazar the sonne of Daro dyed also/and he was buried bym at Gibeath/ which was Dimeon his sonnes/ that was geue him vpon mount Ephraim.

The booke of the Judges/ called Judicum.

The first Chapter.

After the death of Josia/the chyldren of Israel
 erd the Lord a sayd:
 Who shall go vp and be oure captain of warre against the Canaanites/ The Lord sayd: Iuda shall go vp. Behold/ I haue deliuered the lande in to his hande. Then sayd Iuda vnto his brother Simcon/ Ga vp with me into my loire/ a let vs fyght agaynst the Canaanites/ then will I go agayne with the in to thy loe. So Simcon wet with hym.
 Now when Iuda went vp/ the Lord deliuered the Canaanites and Phereites in to they handes/ a they slawe ten thousand men at Bethel/ and they slawe Adoni Bethel at Befel/ and sought against hym/ and slawe the Ca-nanites/ and Phereites. But Adoni Bethel fled/ and they folowed after hym/ and when they had ouertake bym/ they cut of the thombes of his handes and fete.

Then sayd Adoni Bethel: This score and B ten fyngtes wnt the thombes of theyr handes and fete cut of/ gathered vp the meate that was left vnder my table. Now so I haue leudones/ so hath God rewarded me agayne. Iuda And he was brought vnto Ierusalem/ where he dyed.

But the chyldren of Iuda foughte against Ierusalem/ and wanne it/ and smote it with the edge of the swerde/ and set fyre vpon the cyte. Then went the chyldren of Iuda vnto to fyght agaynst the Canaanites/that dwelt vpon the mount/ and towards the South/ and in the valleye. And Iuda went agaynst the Canaanites/ which dwelt at Hebron. (As for Hebron/ it was called Bariah-Arba afore tyme.) and they smote Gesei/ and Achiman/ and Elhama.

And from thence he wente against the inhabytants of Debir/ but Debir was called Bir-zath Ephraim afore tyme. And Caleb sayd:
 The that syneth Barath Sepher/ a wyfe Iosa-nab it/ I will geue hym my daughter Achis.
 Then sayd Achis the sonne of Kenas/Calebs youngest brother wanne it. And he gaue hym his daughter Achis to wyfe. And he souned that when they went in/ the was counsayled of her husbande/ to cre a peece of lande of her father. And he fel from the esse.
 Then sayd Caleb vnto her: What esty the?
 She sayd: Geue me a blessinge/ for thou hast geuen me a soure and drye londe/ geue me also a watery lande. Then geue he her a lande/that was watery adone and dryeth.

And the chyldren of Kenites Moyses brother in lawe/ went vp out of the tyne cyte/with the chyldren of Iuda in to the wyldrenesse of Iuda/ that lyeth on the Countrey of the cyte Arab: and wente theye waye/ and dwelt amonge the people. And Iuda went with his brother Simcon/ and they smote the Canaanites at Sephar/ a Ramoth/ and they called the name of cyte Getha. And also wnt Gesei/ and they smote thers/ a Taisalon

ites therof. And the Lord was with Iuda/ so that he conquered the mountaynes: but them that dwelt in y<sup>e</sup> valley/could he not conquer: because they had yron chariots. And accordinge as Moses had sayd: they gaue Hebron vnto Caleb/which shoue out the the founte of Enai. ¶ Howbeit the chyldren of Ben Jamin shoue not out the Jebusites / th dwell at Jerusalem/ but the Jebusites dwelt amonge the chyldren of Ben Jamin at Jerusalem vnto this daye.

E The firste the chyldren of Joseph wente by also vnto Bethell: and the Lozde was with them. And y<sup>e</sup> house of Joseph spyd out Bethell/ which afore tyme was called Luz/ and the wisdemen sawe a man going out of the cytie/and sayde vnto hym: Where w<sup>o</sup> where w<sup>o</sup> may come in to the cytie/ for we wil shewe mercy vpon the. And whan he had shewed them where they myght come in to the cytie/ they lieste th<sup>e</sup> cyne w<sup>o</sup> the edge of y<sup>e</sup> sword: but they let the man go/ and all his frendes.

Then wente the same man vpin to the cotric of the Hetites/ and buylded a cytie / and called it Luz/ and so is the name of it yet vnto this daye. And Manasse y<sup>e</sup> shoue not out Beth Sean with the villages therof / nor the inhabitants of Doi with the villages therof/ nor the inhabitants of Zebulun with the villages therof / nor the inhabitants of Magaddo with the villages therof/ a the Canaanites beganne to dwell in the same lande. But whan Israel was mighty/ he made the Canaanites tributaries/ and shoue them not out.

In lyke maner Ephraim shoue not out the Canaanites that dwell at Gazer/ but y<sup>e</sup> Canaanites dwelt amonge them at Gazer.

Zabulon also shoue not out the inhabitants of Betron and Bethal/ but the Canaanites dwelt amonge them/ and were tributaries.

G Asser shoue not out the inhabitants of Zidon/ the inhabitants of Sidon/ of Zebul/ of Zebul/ of Zebul/ and of Nebo/ but the Canaanites dwelt amonge the Canaanites that dwell in the lande/so: they shoue them not out. Naphtali shoue not out the inhabitants of Beth Semco/ nor of Beth Anath/ but dwelt amonge the Canaanites/ whiche dwelt in the lande: Howbeit they of Beth Semco and of Beth Anath were tributaries.

And the Ammonites subdued the chyldren of Dan vpon the mountaynes/ a suffred them not to come thome in to the valley. And the Ammonites beganne to dwell vpon mount Heres at Bathan/ and at Baalim. Howbeit the hande of the house of Joseph was to force them/ a they became tributaries. And the border of the Ammonites was as man goeth vp to ward Aradim/ and from the raele/ and from the teppe.

The ii. Chapter.

Where came a messaunger of y<sup>e</sup> Lord from Gilgall vnto Bedun/ and sayde: I haue carryed you vp hether out of Egypte/ and brought you in to the lande that I sweare vnto youre fathers/ and sayde: I will neuer breake my covenant w<sup>o</sup> you / that ye should make no covenant w<sup>o</sup> the inhabitants of this lande/ but breake donne theyr altars: w<sup>o</sup> carelesse / ye haue not hearkened vnto my voyce. Wherefor haue ye done this? Then sayd y<sup>e</sup> moouer: I will not shoue them out before you / that they maye be a fall vnto you/ and theyr goddes a snare. And whan the messaunger of the Lozde had spoken these wordes vnto all the children of Israel/ the people lyfte of theyr voyce/ and w<sup>o</sup>pe / and called the name of place Bedun / and offered there vnto the Lozde.

For whan Josua had sent away the people/ and the chyldren of Israel were gone / eueny one to his inheritance/ so to take possession of the lande/ the people serued the Lozde as longe as Josua liued/ and the Elders whiche liued longe after Josua/ and that sawe all the grete wordes of the Lozde/ whiche he sayd for Israel.

Howe whan Josua the sonne of Nun/ the seruaunt of the Lozde was dead / whan he was an hundred and ten yere olde/ they buried hym in the border of his inheritance at Timnath Heres/ vpon mount Ephraim/ on the Northsyde of mount Gaas. And whan all the same generacion was gathered vnto theyr fathers/ there came vp after them another generacion/ which knew not the Lozde / nor the wordes that he had done for Israel.

Then wrought the chyldren of Issacel Judic. ij. a cuell before the Lozde/ and serued Baalam/ w<sup>o</sup> a. vj. a palme trees. And the children of Israel serued Eglion the kyng of the Moabites cythretye yeaeres. Then cryed they vnto the Lozde. And the Lozde rayfed them vp a sauourer/ namely Elhud/ the sonne of Gera/ the sonne of Jamin/ which was a man that might do no thynge/ with his right hande.

And when the children of Israel sent by him vnto Eglion/ the kyng of the Moabites/ Elhud made him at two edged dagger of a spannel/enge/ and gyded it vnder his garment/ open his right thye/ and brought the pecton vnto Eglion/ the kyng of the Moabites. So for Eglion he was a very fat man.

And when he had deliuered the pecton/ he let the people go that had caried the pecton/ & he hymselfe turned backe from the Idoles at Gulgath/ and cansted to saye thus/ vnto the kyng: I haue a secrett charge to tell the O. Kyng. And he commaunded to kepe silyence/ and all they that stode aboute him/ wente out from him.

And Elhud came in vnto him/ he set in a syded senter parlor/ in hyde was for hym selfe alone. And Elhud said: I haue some what to saye vnto the of God. The ofe he vp from his seat. But Elhud put forth his left hande/ and toke the dagger from his righte thye/ & thrust it vnto his belly/ so that the herte went in also after the blade/ and the sar closed the herte: so he was no: the dagger cut of his belly/ and the silythynes departed from hym. But Elhud gat hym out at the backe doer/ & put to the doer after him/ and locked it.

Now when he was gone/ his seruantes came in/ and sawe that the doer of the senter parlor was locked/ and they saide: peradventure he is gone to the pryncer in the siled senter parlor.

But when they had wayted so longe tyll they were ashamed/ for no man opened the parlor doer: they toke the keye/ and opened it. Wholden then they beyng losde dead vpon the earth. So for Elhud he was gotten away/ whyle they made so longe taryenge: and he wente ouer by the Idoles/ and ranne his way vnto Seirath.

And when he came in/ the siewer the romp-pet vpon mount Ephraim/ and the children of Israel wente vnto hym from the mount/and he before them/ and he said vnto them: for loze me/ for the Lozde hath deliuered the Moabites your enemyes into your hande. And they sode: we hym/ and waime the serye of Jordan/ that goeth toward Moab/ and suffred no man to go ouer/ and at the same tyme they more of the Moabites vpon a ten thousande men/ & nobles and men of armes/ so that there escaped not one. Thus were the Moabites brought vnder the hande of the chyldren of Israel at that tyme/ and the lande was in restre foure score yeaeres.

Afterwarde was I Gargar the sonne of Iud. v. s. Anath. which slew sixe hundred Philistines with a colther gad/ a deliuered Israel also.

The. lxxx. Chapter.

But the chyldren of Israel byd yet more cruel before the Lozde when Elhud was dead. And the Lozde solde them in to the hande of Iabin the kyng of the Canaanites/ & Iabin reioyced/ which dwelt at Hazor/ a wise captaine of his hoste was Siffier/ a he bred at Hazor/ sith of the Hevrythen. And the children of Israel cryed vnto the Lozde: for he had mure hundred chyren darrence/ and suddned the chyldre of Israel by violence threty yeaeres.

At the same tyme was iudgesse in Israel the prophesse Deborah/ the wife of Lapdor/ and she dwelt vnder the palme of Debora/ betwene Rama and Berbell/ vpon mount Ephraim/ and the children of Israel came vnto her to the lawe. She sent forth/ and called for Barak the sonne of Abi Noam of Redek/ Ephraim/ and sayd vnto him. Hath not the Lozde the God of Israel commaunded the: Go thy waye/ and get the vp vnto mount Tabor/ and take wth the ten thousande men of the chyldren of Neptial/ and Zabulot/ for I wil make Siffiera the chiefe captaine of Iabins hoste/ to come to the vnto the water of Cison/ with his chertence and wth his multitude/ and I wil deliuer him into thy hande. Barak said vnto her: If thou wilt come with me/ I wil go: but if thou wilt not come with me/ I wil not go.

She sayde: I wil go with the: Remember thy lesse/ praye that not be thine in the tourneer that thou goest/ but the Lozde shall deliuer Siffiera into a weat: no hande. So Deborah gat her vp/ and wente wth Barak vnto Redek.

Jud. 4.

Then Barak called Zabulon and Neftalim vnto Seber/ and wente on foote thre thousandemen. As for Heber the Kenite/ he was separated from the Kenites/ frō the chylde of T Hobab Moyses brother in lawe/ and had pitched his tenthe by the Oke of Zanaim beyde Aedes.

Then wente into her Siffera/ that Barak the sonne of Abithoam/ was gone vpon mounte Ephabor/ and he gathered al y charrettes together/ myne hundred yon charrettes/ and all y people that was with hym from Hazerofis of the Herythen/ vnto the water Eison. Debboia said vnto Barak/ Vp/ this is the daye wherein the Lord hath deliuered Siffera into thy hande/ for the Lord shal go forth before the. So Barak wente frō mounte Ephabor/ and the ten thousandemen with him.

I. Re. 24. c.

Then bre the Lord thymfified Siffera with al his charrettes and hooff/ and made them as frayed of the edge of the swerde before Barak/ so that Siffera leaped of his charrette/ a fied on foote. He wente beyde/ Barak folowed vpon the charrettes/ and the hooff vnto Hazerofis of the Herythen/ and al Sifferas hooff fell throughte the edge of the swerde/ so that not one escaped. As for Siffera/ he fled on foote vnto the tente of Jacl/ the wyfe of Heber the Kenite/ for there was peace betwene King Jabin at Hazor/ and the house of Heber the Kenite.

Israell wente south to mete Siffera/ and sayde vnto him/ Turne in my Loide/ turne into my land/ be not afrayed. And he turned in vnto her into the tere/ and she couered hym with a garment. He sayde vnto her/ I praye the geue me a lync water to drynke/ for I am a thyst.

Jud. 4.

Then opened she a myllsteyn/ and gaue hym to drinke/ and couered hym. And he said vnto her/ Stande in the tent/ here/ and if one come and aske/ is there any man here? saye Nonan.

The Jacl the wyfe of Heber toke a nayle of the tente/ and an hammer in her hande/ and wente in pryely vnto hym/ and smote y nayle in throughte the temple of his heade/ so that he sunk to the earth. As for hym/ he was fallen on a stone/ a recepy/ and so he dyed.

But when Barak folowed after Siffera/

Jacl wente for to mete hym/ and sayde vnto hym/ Come hither/ I will shewe the y man whom thou seest/ And whā he came in vnto her/ she same Siffera dead/ and the nayle styking in his temple. Thus God daunte dyane Jabin the kynge of the Cananites/ because the chyliden of Israell at that tyme/ and the hande of the chyliden of Israell mounte/ subdued Jabin the kynge of the Cananites/ till they had roteid him oute. Then Debboia a Barak the sonne of Abithoam/ sang at the same tyme and sayde.

The V. Chapter.

Then had hee solate the rule to the mightie of the people: The Lord had the Dominion thorow the giants.

12. 11. b

Out of Ephraim was thery rote against Amalek / and after hym Ben Jamin in thy people.

Out of Machir haue teachers ruled / a out of Zabulon are theye become gouernors thorow the wysynge prync.

And out of Zebulon there were prynces to Deborah / and Jachar there was as Barak in the valley / sent with his people on foote: As for Ruben hee stode bye in his owne conceyte / as hee spared him selfe from vs.

Whye abodest thou Bethmirie / Godebarn / whye thou herdest the noyse of the flockes / because Ruben stode bye in his owne conceyte / as hee separated himselfe from vs.

Gilead abode beyonde Iordan / and whye dwelt Dan amonge the Hyppro: After sat in the haire of the sea / as theye in his potens.

But Zabulon's people recepered their life vnto death: Naphtali also in the toppes of the felde of Merom.

The Hyppro came a fought / the fought the Hynges of the Canaan: as Theanah by the water of Megiddo / but spoyle of money brought theye not there from.

From heanen were theye foughten agaynst / the flares in theye courses foughte with Siffra.

The duke Cyson ouerwhelmed them / the duke Abudim / the duke Cyson. My soule treade thou vpon the myghye.

Then made the hoste a rushinge together: for the great violence of their myghtie hoste men.

12. 11. c

Curse the cyte of Meron / saide hee anngell of the Lord. Curse the cytyes that are thereof / because theye come not to helpe the Lord / to helpe the Lord with the myghtye.

Blessynge amonge women haue Iael the wife of Heber / the wife of Heber: Blessynge haue shee in the tent amonge the woman.

He bowed him selfe vnto as hee sete / he fell vnto / and laye there. Hee sank vnto as hee sete / hee had souke downe / hee laye there destroyed.

His mother looked out at the window / as shee cryed piteouslye thorow the wallace: Why together his charret out so longe / that hee cometh not: Wherefore do the wheelis of his charret make so longe tarienget.

Hee wisht amonge her ladyes answered / and saide vnto her: Shouldst theye not synde / and deuide hee spoyle vnto euery man a sayre maiden / or two for a piage / a perry coloured garmentes of noble woike to Siffra / for a spoile: perry coloured garmentes of noble woike aboute the necke for a piage.

Thus all thine enemies must perishe / O Lord: But theye that loue the / shall be euen as the Sunne / synge up in his myght.

And the lande had peact fourtye years.

The VI Chapter.

And when the children of Israel dyd er the Phil in the sight of the Lord / the Lord dect Iud. 4. b hyered them vnder the bande of the Madian / and 14. b nites of years. And when the bande of the Madianites was to myghtye ouer the childre of Israel / the children of Israel made them cystes in the mountaynes / as theye and holden / to defende them selfes from the Madianites.

And when Israel sowd anye thinge / the Madianites and Amalechites / and the childre toward the East came vpon them / and pitched theye tentes agaynst them / and destroyed the increace of the lande vnto Gaba / and let nothinge remayns ouer of the bestes in Israel / neyther sheepe / nor oxen / nor asses: for theye came vpon theye camels and tentes / as it had bene a greate myltyrude of grellhoppers / so theye theye theye camels myghte be numbed / and fill into the lande / that theye myghte destroye it. Thus was Israel / as theye small before the Madianites. Then erud the childre of Israel vnto the Lord.

But when theye cryed vnto the Lord / because of the Madianites / the Lord sende them a prophete / whye hee saide vnto them.

Thus sayeth the Lord the God of Israel: I charged you out of Egypte / and broughte you out of the house of bondage / and whye and from the bande of al them that oppressed you/and I haue thrust them out before you/and geuen you the lande/and sayde vnto you: I am the Lord your God. I feare not ye: I gadder of I Ammonites/in whose lande ye dwell: neither the feare/ye haue not herkened vnto my voyce.

ill. x. xlvij
Iud. v. a

And there came an aungel of the Lord/ a far him doune vnder an Ofe at Arphiz/ which belongeth vnto Joas/ the father of the Efrates/and his sonne Geddon was there/ byng wheate in the barn/ that he myghte awaye before the Madianites.

E Then appeared vnto hym the aungell of the Lord/ and sayde vnto hym: The Lord vnto hym: Take a sed bullocke from amonge thy fathers oxe/ and another bullocke of foue yeare olde/ a sheeke/ a vnto an altare of brasse/ which is thy fathers/ a cut doune the groue/and stande by it/ and sayde thou an altare vnto the Lord thy God/ aboue upon the toppe of this rocke/ and make it ready/ and take the other bullocke/ and offer a burnt offering with the wood of the groue that thou hast heuen doun. Then rose Geddon ten men of his seruauntes/ a vnto as the Lord sayde vnto him:
But he was afraide to do this by/ for he feare his fathers house/ and the people in the cite/ and so he did it by night.

i. Reg. vi. b

The Lord turned hym vnto him/ a said:
Go thy way in this thy strength/ thou shalt deliuer Israel out of the bande of the Madia nites: I haue sent the. But he said: My Lord where will I befall? Shall I deliuer Israel?
Behold my strength is the smallest in Manasse/and I am the least in my fathers house. The Lord sayde vnto him: I will be with the/so that thou shalt smite the Madianites/ euen as though they were but one man.

E He sayde vnto hym: If I haue founde grace in thy sight/ then make me a rocke that is in thow/ which speakest with me: for now am I come to the/ and byng a meere offeringe to set before the. He sayde: I will tary with thow amongst a garn.

Jud. vi. b

And Geddon went/ and made ready a sheeke/ and an Opha of vnleuened flour/a layd the sheeke in a mounds/ and put the sheeke in a pot/ and broughte it forth vnto hym vnder the Ofe/ and cainc nye. But the aungell of the Lord sayde vnto hym: Take the sheeke/ and the vnleuened bread/ and set it vpon the stony rocke that is here/ a poure the sheeke theron. And he did so. Then the aungell of the Lord shewed out the staffe that he had in his hand/

and with the ende of it he touched the sheeke/ and the vnleuened flour: and the sheeke/ and consumed the sheeke/ and the vnleuened flour. And the aungell of the Lord vanished out of his sight.

Gen. xv.
I. Re. i. a

Now when Geddon saw that it was an aungell of the Lord/ he sayde: O Lord the Lord/ I haue thus sene an aungell of the Lord face to face: The Lord sayde vnto hym: Drece be with the/ feare not/ thou shalt not dye. Then Geddon builded an altare there vnto the Lord/ and called it the Ofe of peace. The same standeth yet vnto this daye at Arphiz/ that belongeth vnto the father of the Efrates.

Ex. i. iij
Judi. i. j

And in the same nyght sayde the Lord
vnto hym: Take a sed bullocke from amonge
thy fathers oxe/ and another bullocke of foue
yeare olde/ a sheeke/ a vnto an altare of brasse/ which is thy fathers/ a cut doune the groue/ and stande by it/ and sayde thou an altare vnto the Lord thy God/ aboue upon the toppe of this rocke/ and make it ready/ and take the other bullocke/ and offer a burnt offering with the wood of the groue that thou hast heuen doun. Then rose Geddon ten men of his seruauntes/ a vnto as the Lord sayde vnto him: But he was afraide to do this by/ for he feare his fathers house/ and the people in the cite/ and so he did it by night.

Now when the people in the cite rose early in the morninge/ behold/ Daal altare was broken/ a the groue betweene Daal and the other bullocke a burnt offeringe vnto the altare that was builded/ a one sayde vnto another: Who hath done this? And when they soughte and made searche/ it was Geddon the sonne of Joas/ whoe it was. He sayde the people of the cite vnto Joas: Beinge forth thy sonne/ he must dye/ because he hath broken Daal altare/ and heuen doun the groue therby. But Joas sayde vnto all them that stood by him: What ye saye for Daal? What ye deliuer him?
He said: Strucke he is/ him/ shall dye/ because he hath done this. If he be God/ let him avenge hym selfe/ because his altare is broken. From that daye forth was he called Jerubaal/ because it was sayde: Let Daal avenge him selfe/ that his altare is broken.

G When the Midianites now and the Amalechites and the children toward Soud had gathered them selfe together and were passed thowre / C Jordan and had pitched their tentes in the valley of Iffrael / that spie of the Lordc ended Gedeon / and caused y<sup>e</sup> trumpet to be blowne / and called the house of y<sup>e</sup> Lordc / wher that they shoulde follow hym : a

h he sent messengers vnto al Manasse / a called them / that they shoulde follow him also / and he sent messengers lykewise vnto Isser / a Zabulon / and Iephrah / whiche came vp to meet him.

And Gedeon sayde vnto God : If thou wilt deliuer Iffrael thowre my hande / as thou hast sayde / then wil I laye a flece of wolle in the court : if the dew be onely vpon y<sup>e</sup> flece / and vye vpon all the grounde / then wilt I perceaue that thou shalt deliuer Iffrael thowre my hande / as thou hast sayd. And it came so to pass. And when he rose vp early in the morninge he wrang the dew out of y<sup>e</sup> flece / and filled a dysh full of water. And Gedeon said vnto God : Be not worch at me / y<sup>e</sup> I speake yet this one tyme I will proue yet but once with the flece / let it be vye onely vpon the flece / and dewe vpon all the grounde. And God vnsd so the same nyght : so that it was vye onely vpd the flece / and dewe vpon all the grounde.

The VII. Chapter.

G Then Jerubbaal that is Gedeon gat him vp early / and al the people that was with him / and pitched theyr tentes beside the well of Harob / so that he had the hoost of the Midianites on the North side / & byndre the byl of a Noe in the valley. But the Lordc sayde vnto Gedeon : The people that are with the / are to many for me : to deliuer Midian into thyr hande / lest I Iffrael doall them selfes a geynall me / and saye : My hande hath deliuered me. Cause a proclamation now to be made in the caree of the people / and say : He that feareth and is afrayed / let hym turne back / and get hym gone fro mount Gilcad. Then returned there of the people aboute two and twenty thousande / so that there was left but ten thousande.

B And the Lordc sayde vnto Gedeon. The people are yet to many : diuige them vnto to the water / there wyl I proue them for the : and of whom I saye that he shal go with y<sup>e</sup> the same / shal go with the bar of whom I saye that he shal nor go with the / the same shal not go. And he thought the people vnto the water. And the Lordc said vnto Gedeon : What soeuer lyketh of the water with his tynge / as a dog lyketh / make hym stande asyde : and lykewise whosoener falleth vnto vpon his knee to drynke. Then was the number of the that had lickt out of the hande to the mouth / the hundred men. And the Lordc said vnto Gedeon : Thowre the the hundred / which haue lyketh : wil I deliuer you / and geue ouer the Midianites into thy hande : As for the other people / let them go home eury one vnto his place.

And they rose vnto the water with them for the people / and theyr trumpet : but the other Iffraelites let be go / eury one vnto his tent. And he strengthened hym selfe with the the hundred men : and the Midianites hooste laye before hym bench in the valley. And y<sup>e</sup> same nyght sayde the Lordc vnto him : Vp / a go vnto the hoost / for I haue geuen the ouer into thy hande. But if thou be afrayed to go vnto / then let thy seruaunt Pura go vnto the vnto y<sup>e</sup> hoost / y<sup>e</sup> thou mayest heare what they say : after that shalt thou be bold / and thy hande strange / that thou mayest go vnto into the hoost.

Then went Gedeon vnto with his seruants / vnto the vnto the part of y<sup>e</sup> washmen of armes that were in the hoost. And the Midianites and Amalechites / and all the children of the East / had layed them selfes bench in the valley / as a multitude of grey shepers / and theyr camels were not to be numbred for multitude / euen as the sand of the see shore. Now when Gedeon came / he held / one to the another his the same / and sayd : Behold / I haue dreamed a dream : Me thought a sheken barley sheaf came rollinge vnto the hoost of the Midianites : and when it came to the tent / it smote it / and ouerthrew it / and turned it vpside downe / so that the tent fell. Then answered the other : That is no thyng els then the swarde of Gedeon : the sonne of Iosab the Iffraelite : God hath geuen ouer y<sup>e</sup> Midianites to al y<sup>e</sup> hoost vnto the hande.

2 When Gedeon herde this dreame told / a the interpretation of it he washipped / and came agayne into the host of Israel / a saide: Up for the Lord hath deliuered the host of the Midianites into your hands. And he blew vnder the the hundred men into the pipes / and gaue every one a trumpet in his hands / and empye pitchers / and lampes therein / and saide vnto them: Take vnto me / and do ye euen so / and beholde / when I come to the vntermost parte of y<sup>e</sup> host / euen as I do / so do ye also. When I blowe the trumpet / and all that are with me / then shall ye blow the trumpets also rounde aboute all the host / and saye: Here the Lord and Gedeon. Thus came Gedeon and the the hundred men to hym vnto the vntermost parte of the host / about the tyme when the mydnight beganeth / and wailed vnder the watchmen / a blew vnder the trumpets / and sate afouder the pitchers in theyr hands.

3 So al th: the companies blew vnder the trumpets / and shalke the pitchers. But the lampes hidde they in theyr lefte hands / and y<sup>e</sup> trumpets in theyr righte hands / so that they blew / and cried: Here the sward of y<sup>e</sup> Lord and Gedeon. And euery one stode in his place aboute y<sup>e</sup> host. Then ranne all the host / and cryed and fled. And whyl: the the hundred men blew the trumpets / the Lord broughte vs to pass / that euery mans sward was in al y<sup>e</sup> host was agaynst another / a th: host fledde vnto Bethbarah Zerath / and vnto the border of the playne of Mithabab beside Ebarah. And the men of Israel of Ephraim / of Isser / and of Manasse / cryed / and followed vpon the Midianites.

And Gedeon sent messengers vpon vnto all mount Ephraim / sayinge: Come vnto me agaynst the Midianites / and loppe the water from them vnto Beth Bara and Jordan. And then cryed all they that were of Ephraim / and stopped the water from them vnto Beth Bara and Jordan / and toke two pinnes of the Midianites / Oreb and Zeb / and steepe Oreb vpon the rocke of Oreb / and Zeb in the temple of Zeb / and followed vpon the Midianites / and broughte the heade of Oreb and Zeb / and vnto Gedeon ouer Jordan.

4 And the men of Ephraim saide vnto him: Wherfore hast thou done this vnto vs / that thou hast not called vs / when thou wentest forth to fyghe agaynst the Midianites / and they shal be for us with byrn. But he sayde vnto them: What haue I done now that is like your acte: Is not the after gatheringe of Ephraim better then the whole barrell of Isser: God hath deliuered the pinnes of the Midianites / Oreb and Zeb into youre hands / how coulde I do that ye haue done: When he had sayd this / theyr blast was swaged from him.

Now when Gedeon came vnto Jordan / he went ouer with the the hundred men / were they him / and they were treery / a folowed vpon theyr trace. And he said vnto the men of Bethbarah: I praye you geue y<sup>e</sup> people y<sup>e</sup> are / with me some houses of bread / for they are and treery / that I may folowe vnto Zebca and Salmana / the kynge of the Midianites.

But the rulers of Zebca and Salmana / saye: are the handes of Zebca and Salmana into my hands / I wil theste your flesh with thames of the wilderness / and with sheares. And so thence he went vpon Dnuel / and spake euen so vnto them. And the men of Dnuel gaue him life / and fire as they of Zebca. And he fled also vnto the men of Dnuel: If I come peaceably agayne / I wil beate vnto this towe.

So for Zebca and Salmana / they were at Barkat / and theyr host is the vpon a hyeme / y<sup>e</sup> house / which were all that were left of the whole host of the chyld of the East / for there were fallen an hundred and twenty thousand that coulde haue the swarde.

And Gedeon went vpon by the way / where they dwell in the ronne on y<sup>e</sup> asside of Nobah and Jaktha / and sate the host / for the host was carelesse / and mystrustful nothing. And Zebca and Salmana fled / but he folowed after them / and toke the two kynge of Zebca and Salmana / and put all the host in feare.

Now when Gedeon the sonne of Joas came came agayn from the battayl/out of 3. East he toke a lad from the men of Sudoth / and examined hym / which wrote him vp the names of the rulers of Sudoth / a they elber / cunen the scole and seuerente men.

And he came to the men of Sudoth / and said: Behelde / heres is Seba and Salmana / concerning whom ye laughed me to scoles / and said: Are the handes of Seba and Salmana in thy handes already / that we must geue head vnto thy men which are werry? And he toke the elbers of the cune / and throu out of the wyderness / and beares / and caufed the men of Sudoth to be toine there with. And the tower Pennel shalke he down / and sturre the men of the cite.

Ke. 7. d

And he sayd vnto Seba and Salmana: What maner of men were they / whene ye steme at Thabor: They sayd: They were cunlike the / and goodly men / so if they had bin a kynge children. He sayd: They were my diche / then / cunen my mother sonnes: As truly as the Lord / I wylth if ye had luren them lyue / I wold not slaye you.

And he said vnto his fyfthorne sonne Jether: Stande up and slaye them. Howbeit the lad stue not out his swerde / for he was afrayd / so: so much as he was yet. But a lad Seba and Salmana sayd: Stande thou vp / and slaye vs / for such as the man is / iudic to also his strength. So Gedcon arose / and sturre Seba / and Salmana / and toke the ornaments that were aboute they / camels neckes.

Then said certayne in Israll vnto Gedcon: Ec thou led ouer wathou and thy sonne / and thy sonnes sonne / for so muche as thou hast deliuered vs from the hande of Medonico. Therfor he / Gedcon sayde vnto them: I wyl not be lord ouer you / neyther shall my sonne be lord ouer you / but 3. Lo: De shalbe lord ouer you.

Gedcon sayd vnto them: One thyng I desire of you. Every man geaume 3. earringe that he hath spoyled. (For in so much as the men were Ifraimico / they had carrynge.) They sayd: They wyl we geue the. And they spred out a cloth / and every man cast the carrynge thereon that he had spoyled. And the golden earringes which he required / had in weyght / a thousande and seuen hund: ch / se eles of golde / Besyde the spanges / and theynes / scarlet rayment: which the kynge of the Medianico dyd weare / and besyde the nece handes of they / camels. And Gedcon made an Ephod thereof / and set it in his eye: at Thpha. And al Israel went there / a rebuyng after it / a it turned to an occasyon of salunge and vs: vnto Gedcon and his hous.

Thus were 3. Medianico broughte doune before the children of Israll / and lyfte vp theys head: no more: a the lande was in rest fouyne years / so longe as Gedcon lyued.

And Jerubael the sonne of Joas wente a dwelle in his house. And Gedcon had thre wyf / and ten sonnes / which were come out of his wyf: for he had many wyfes. And his concubine which he had at Sichem / bare him a sonne also / whome he called Abimelech. And Gedcon / sonne of Joas dyed in a good age / and was buried at Thpha / in the sepulchre of his father Joas / the father of the Esraue.

But when Gedcon was dead / the children of Israll turned back / a went a rebuyng after Baalim / a made a conuenciu to Baal Berith / that he shoulde be they / God. And the child: of Israll thought not on 3. Lord their God / which had deliuered them from the hande of theys enemyes rounde aboute: and they besweyd not mercy vnto 3. house of Jerubael Gedcon / accordinge to all the good that he had done vnto Israll.

The .IX. Chapter.

Abimelech the sonne of Jerubael / wente a dwelle vnto Sichem to his mothers brethren / and spake vnto them / and to all the kynce of his mothers fathers house / and sayd: I praye you speake in the carce of all 3. me at Sichem: What is better for you: that the scole and ten men / all chydren of Jerubael shoulde be lordes ouer you: / one man shoulde be lord ouer you. Ke. in the also that I am your bone and your fleshe.

Then spake his mothers brethren all thes wordes for hym / in the carce of all the men at Sichem: And theys brei consyded to Abimelech / so they thought: Letio oure brether / and gaue him the scole and ten sylfing: gone out of the house of Baal Berith. And with them Abimelech byrd men that were vagaboundes / and of lyght ceryuans / which

But Jotham the yongest sonne of Jerubbaal remained ouer/for he was hyde. And all the men of Sichem/and all the house of Millo gathered them selfe together/ and wente a made Abimelech kynge / by the Wyche that standerth at Sichem.

B When this was tolde Jotham/ he went and stode vpon the topp of mount Gersin/ and lyst vp his voyce/ cryed and sayd: Heare me ye men of Sichem/ that God maye heare y. Pa. 171. c you also. The trees wente to anoynte a king

14. qd. uib ouer them/ a sayd vnto h Olyue tree: Be thou our kynge. But the Olyue tree answered hit: Shall I go a leaue my fatnesse (which hath God a man comende in me) a go to be putt vp aboute the trees? Then said the trees vnto h fygge tree: Come thou and be kynge ouer vs. But the fygge tree sayd vnto them: Shall I leaue my sweetnesse and my good frute / and go to be putt vp aboute the trees? Then sayd h trees vnto the vjne: Come thou and be our kynge. But the vjne saide vnto them: Shall I leaue my sweete wine/ which reioyseth God and men/ and go to be putt vp aboute h trees? Then sayd all the trees vnto the thorne bushe: Come thou and be kynge ouer vs. And the thorne bushe saide vnto the trees: If it be true/ that ye anoynte me to be kynge ouer you/ then come and put your trust vnder my shadowe. If no/ then go fyre out of the thorne bushe / a consume the lde trees of Libanus.

E If ye haue done right now and iustly/ h ye haue made Abimelech to be kynge: and if ye haue done vrel vnto Jerubbaal a to his house/ and haue done vnto him as he deserued vnto you: Whiche tven my father sought for your sakes/ and icoparded his lyfe/ to deliuer you out of the Midianites hande/ tne you/ which are risen vp this daye against my fathers house/ and haue slaine his children/ the scoie persons/ and ren upon one stone / and haue made you a kynge/ cmen Abimelech the sonne of his hand mayden/ ouer the men of Sichem/ for so much as he is your brother.

If ye haue done right now and iustly to Jerubbaal a his house this daye/ then reioyce ouer Abimelech/ and let him reioyce ouer you.

If no/ then go fyre from Abimelech/ and consume the men of Sichem / and the house of Millo: And fyre go out also from the men of Sichem/ a from the house of Millo/ a consume Abimelech. And Jotham/ when he had spoken out this/ Hedde/ a gat him out of h waye/ a wente vnto Bersa/ a dwelt there / because of his brother Abimelech.

Now when Abimelech had raygned thre 8 yeare ouer Israell/ God sent an euil in ynde. Whiche was Abimelech and the men of Sichem/ for the men of Sichem despyed Abimelech/ a reuersed the wronge done to the sonnes of Jerubbaal/ and theye drowde / and layed it vpon Abimelech theye brother whiche slewe them/ and vpon the men of Sichem that streyghted him hande thereto/ that he myght slaye his brethren.

And the men of Sichem set an hinder watch vpon the toppes of the mountaynes/ a spoyled all them that walked nye them by h waye/ and it was tolde Abimelech. But there came Gaal the sonne of Hebed and his brethren / a entered into Sichem/ and the men of Sichem put theye trust in him/ and went out into the felde / and gathered theye vjneyardes / and pressed theiir land made a bannaie / and wente into theye gods house/ and hyd eaz a vjnyke/ and cursed Abimelech.

And Gaal the sonne of Hebed sayd: Who is Abimelech/ and what is Sichem that we should serue hym? Is he nor the sonne of Jerubbaal/ and hath set Schuil his seruaint ouer the men of h twn: the father of Sichem: Wherfore should we serue him? Wold God the people were vnder my hande/ h I might put downe Abimelech.

And it was tolde Abimelech/ in creance thine hood/ and departe for Schuil the chief ruler of the cytie/ when he herde h wordes of Gaal the sonne of Hebed/ he was wrathfully displeasid/ a sent message secretly to Abimelech / and caused to saye vnto him: Behold/ Gaal h sonne of Hebed and his brethren are come to Sichem/ and make the cytie to be against the.

Arise therefore by nyght/ thou and thy people h is with the/ and laye wayre for them in the felde: and to morowe when the Sunne aryseth/ get the vp some/ and fal vpon the cme: and if he and the people / that is with him/ come names are Gaiath Jair, (that is the eyrie of Jair) vnto this daye, and lyc in Gilcad. And Jair dyed, and was buried at Canon.

- B But the chyldren of Israel wrought wyer-rednesse in the syght of the LoRde / a serued Baelim and Astaroth, a the goddesses of Siria / a the goddess of Sydon / and the goddess of Moab, a the goddesses of the chyldren of Ammon, and the goddesses of the Philistines / and forsoke the LoRde, and serued hym not. Then was the wrath of the LoRde seare upon Israel, and he gaue them ouer vnder the hande of the Philistines, and of the chyldren of Ammon. And they vexed and oppressed the chyldren of Israel eght yeres long, all the chyldren of Israel that were beynde Iordane in the lande of the Moabites, which lyceth in Gilcad. The chyldren of Ammon also wente ouer Iordane, a fought agaynst Iuda, Ben-Jamin, and agaynst the house of Ephraim, so that Israel was vexed sore troubled.

- C Then cryed the chyldren of Israel vnto the LoRde, and sayde, We haue synned agaynst thee: we haue forsaken our God, and serued Baelim. But the LoRde sayd vnto the chyldren of Israel, Syd not the Egiptians, the Ammonites, the chyldre of Ammon, the Philistines, the Sidonians, the Amalechites, and Maonites oppresse you / and I helped you out of their hande / when ye cryed vnto me.
Yet haue ye forsake me, and serued other god-des: Therefore will I helpe you no more. ¶ Wo your waye, a eye vpon the goddesses whome ye haue chosen, let them helpe you in the tyme of your trouble.

- S But the chyldren of Israel sayde vnto the LoRde: We haue synned / do thou vnto vs what pleaseth thee, only deliuer vs at this tyme.
And they put the strange goddesses fro them, and serued the LoRde. And his soule had pye in the mystery of Israel.

i. Reg. xj. c.

- ¶ And the chyldren of Ammon called them selves together, and pitched in Gilcad. But the chyldren of Israel gathered them selves together also, and pitched at Mitspa. And the people of the dwelfs of Gilcad sayd among them selves: Whosoener begynneth to fight a-gaynst the chyldren of Ammon, shall hee ouer all them that dwell in Gilcad.

The XI. Chapter.

S Ephraim a Gileadite was a valiaunt man of armes, but an barlotous chyldre.
Gilcad begat Zephibah. But when the wyse had borne chyldren vnto Gilcad / and the same wyse chyldren were waxen great, they thrust out Zephibah / and sayde vnto hym: Thou shalt not be heire in our fathers house for thou art another womans sonne. Then fled he from his brethren, and went in the lande of Tob. ¶ And there rested vnto byrn vnto bebounde, and went out with hym. And after a certayne tyme sought the chyldren of Ammon with Israel.

Gene. xij.
i. Reg. xi.

¶ Now when the chyldren of Ammon sought thus with Israel, the Elders went from To-lead to fetch Zephibah out of the lande of Tob, and said vnto hym: Come, a be our captiue, and syght agaynst the chyldren of Ammon.
But Zephibah sayd vnto the Elders of To-lead: The wyse they that hate me, and haue thrust me out of my fathers house / and now come ye to me, when ye are in trouble.

The Elders of Gilcad sayde: Therefore went we now agayne vnto the Elders, we will go with vs, and syght agaynst the chyldren of Ammon / and be our captiue, ouer all that dwelt in Gilcad. Zephibah sayd vnto the Elders of Gilcad: If ye seeke me agayne to fight agaynst the chyldren of Ammon, a the LoRde vengyr them before me, shall I then be yours heade. The Elders of Gilcad sayd vnto to Zephibah. The LoRde be heard, bringe me vnto ye, we will do as thou hast said. So Zephibah wente with the elders of Gilcad. And the people made hym heade / and vnto ouer them. And Zephibah spake al this before the LoRde at Mitspa.

¶ Then sent Zephibah messengers to the kinge of the chyldren of Ammon, and caused to saye vnto hym: What hast thou to do with me / that thou comest vnto me to fight a-gaynst my lande? The kinge of the chyldren of Ammon answered Zephibahs messengers: Because I Israel wil eate my lande, when they departed out of Egipt, from Iernon vnto Iabed, and vnto Iordane: Hence it is my right now therefore peaceably.

¶ But Zephibah sent yet more messengers to the kinge of the chyldren of Ammon, whiche sayd vnto hym: Thus sayth Zephibah: ¶ The rael hath take no lande/ neither fro the Moabites/ nor fro the children of Ammon: for what they separated out of Egipte / Israel walked throu the wilderness vnto the read sea/ and came to Cades/ and sent messengers to the Kinge of the Edomites/ and sayde/ Let me go throu thy lande. But the Kinge of the Edomites wold not heare the. They sent likewise vnto the Kinge of the Moabites / which wold not also. Then Israel abode in Cades/ and compassed the lande of the Edomites/ a Moabites/ and came on the Eastside of the lande of the Moabites/ and pitched beyonde. Arnon/ and came not within the coast of the Moabites. For Arnon is the border of the Moabites.

Num. 31. 1-16 And Israel sent messengers vnto Sihon/ the Kinge of the Ammonites at Hesbon/ and caused to saye vnto hym: Let me go throu thy lide vnto my place. Wether heldeste / Sihon wold not suffer Israel to go throu the border of his lande/ but gathered all his people / and pitched at Jahz/ and foughte with Israel.

Howbeit the Lord God of Israel gaue Sihon with all his people vnto Israels hande/ so that they streme them. Then Israel conquered all the lande of the Ammonites that dwelt in the same contrie. And they roke possesson of all the borders of the Ammonites/ from Arnon vnto Jabok / and from the wilderness vnto Iherdan. So the Lord God of Israel throue amonge the Ammonites before his people of Israel/ and wilt thou conquer them? So it not so/ if thy God Camoo gaue it ought to possess/ woldst thou not possess it? What sauer the Lord our God hath geuen vnto vs: for we to possess it/ that shall we conquer and take in possession.

Num. 31. 17-24 Kist thou better right thyselfe thou. Thou shalt walce the sonne of Jephthah/ the Kinge of the Moabites: Syd he euer go to lare / or fight against Israel? Though Israel haue dwelt now vpon a thre hundred yeeres in Hesbon/ and in the villages thereof/ in Troer/ and in the villages thereof/ and in all the cyties that lye by Arnon. Why syd not ye rescue it at the same tyme? I haue not offended the / a thou doest me cruel to fight against me. The Lord geue sentence thus vnto Iherdan. Israel a the children of Ammon.

Wether heldeste/ the Kinge of the children of Ammon wold not heare the wordes of Jephthah/ which he sent vnto hym. Then came the spirit of the Lord vpon Jephthah/ and he wrote throu Heled and Masasse/ and thore row Mispa / which lye in Gilead/ and thore Mispa that lye in Gilead/ vnto the children of Ammon.

And Jephthah vowde a vowe vnto the Lord/ and sayde: If thou wilt deliuer the children of Ammon in to my hande/ wether euer cometh (that) out at the doore of my house in my waye / when I returne agayne peaceably from the children of Ammon/ the same shall be the Lordes / and I will offer it for a burnt offering.

So Jephthah went vpon the children of Ammon to fight against them. And the Lord gaue them in to his hande / and he smote them in Troer/ till they comst vnto Minnith/ euen twenty cyties/ and vnto the playne of the vnyardes a very great slaughter/ and thus were the children of Ammon subdued before the children of Israel.

Now when Jephthah came to Mispa vnto his house/ he had a daughter went out to meet hym with taborettes and dannces/ and she was his onely childe/ and he had a nyether sonne nor daughter. And when he sawe her/ he rent his clothes/ and sayde: Alas my daughter/ how makest my heart sorrowfull / a which I haue sent me: for I haue opened my mouth vnto the Lord/ and cannot call it agayne.

She sayde: My father/ if thou hast opened thy mouth vnto the Lord/ then do vnto me as it is proceeded out of thy mouth/ according as the Lord hath cuninged the of thy cyties/ mye/ the children of Ammon. And she sayde vnto her father: Do this for me/ geue me leue to go downe vpon the mountaynes two monethes/ that I maye beteepe my virginitee in my playe place. He sayde: So thy waye. And he let her go two monethes. Then went she with her playe place/ and bewasped her maydenhead vpon the mountaynes. And after two monethes she came agayne vnto her father. And he syd vnto her accordinge as he had vowde. And she had neuer bene in daunger of any man. And it was a custome in Israel/ that the daughters of Israel shoulde go euery yeare/ and mourne for the daughter of Jephthah

Jephthab the Giliadite / fouer dayes in the yeare.

Thc.XII. Chapter.

And they of Ephraim made usurrection / and went Northwarde / and sayd vnto Jephthab: Wherefore wrest thou to the bartull agaynst the chyldren of Ammon / a hast not called vs that we myght go to the. We wyl burne thy house and the with fyre. Jeph-thab sayd vnto them: I and my people had a great matter to the chyldren of Ammon / a I cryed vpon you / but ye helped me not out of theyr handes. Now what I sawe there was not helper / I put my soule in my hande / and went agaynt the chyldren of Ammon / a the Lorde vsynered the in to my hande. Where fore come ye vpon me to fight agaynt me.

And Jephthab gathered all the men in Gilcad / and fought agaynt Ephraim / and the men in Gilcad smote Ephraim / because they sayde. Ye Giliadites are as they that ste away before Ephraim / and Brell amonge Ephraim a Manasse: And the Giliadites toke the streit of Joridane from Ephraim. Now what one of the fugiue Ephraimites had saye: Let me go ouer / the men of Gilcad sayd: Arie that an Ephraimite answered: No / they had hym say: Scholdeh / and he sayd: Schol-deh and coude not speake it ryght: then they toke hym and slewe hym at the streit of Jordane / so y the same ryght there fel of Ephraim xii. Jephthab iudged Israell six yeares.
And Jephthab the Giliadite dyed / a was buryed in one of the cnytes of Gilcad.

After hym iudged Israell one Ehzen of Berlicem / whiche had thyrty sonnes and as many daughters: and his thyrty daughters gave he forth to marriage / and thyrty doughters toke he from without for his sonnes / and iudged Israell fouen yeares / and dyed / a was buried at Berlicem.

After hym iudged Israell one Ido a Zabul-onite / and he iudged Israell ten yeares / a was buried at Zalou in the lande of Zabulon.

After hym iudged Israell one Abdon a sonne of Billet / a Pirgathonite / whiche had foueryc sonnes: and thyrty newnes / whiche rode vpon seuenly asses foales / and he iudged Israell cygh yeares / and dyed / a was buried at Pirgardon in the lande of Ephraim / vpon the mounte of the Amalechites.

Thc.XIII. Chapter.

And the chyldren of Israell wrought more vnto the Lorde / and the Lorde gave them ouer in to the handes of the Philistines foueryc yeares. But there was a man at Barga one of the kynedes of the Danites / named Manoah / a his wyfe was vnfrutful / and bare hym no chyldren. And the anngell of the Lorde appeared vnto the woman / and sayd vnto her: Beholde / thou art barren and bearest not: but thou shalt conceiue / and beare a sonne. Take heed therfore / that thou vniuersynke no wyne ne: stronge drynke / and that thou eat no wreciane thyng / for thou shalt conceiue / and beare a sonne / vpon whose i. Neg. id heade there shall come no roure: for the chylde shall be a Nazare of God / scilicet from his mother wombe / and shall begynne to belyuer Israell out of the hande of the Philis-tynes.

Then came the woman and tolde her husband / and sayde: There came a man of God vnto me / and his lyfrenesse was to lufe vpon as an anngell of God / very terrible / so that I feard hym not whene he came / and wher ther he woldeneyther tolde he me his name.
But he sayd vnto me: Beholde / vpon shalt thou conceiue and beare a sonne: vnynke no wyne ne: stronge drynke / and eat no wreciane thyng: for the chylde shall be called a Nazare of God / cut fro his mothers wombe vnto his berth.

Then Manoah prayed the Lorde / a sayd:
Oh Lorde / let the man of God whome thou hast sente / come to vs agayne / that he maye enforme vs what we shal do vnto the chylde whiche shall be borne. And God herde the voyce of Manoah / and the anngell of God came to his wyfe agayne. But she sat in the felde / and her husbande. Manoch was not with her. Then ranne she in all the byzell and tolde her husbande / and sayd vnto hym: Be-holde / the man hath appeared vnto me / that came to me no daye.

Manoah gar hym vp / and wente after his wyfe / and came to the man and sayd vnto hym: Her thou the man that spake to the woman: he sayde: Yee. And Manoah sayde wher a certyneth to passe that thou hast sayd what

wha shaldr þ maner and woik of the chyld:
The aungell of þ Lord sayd vnto Manoah:
He shall kepe hym from all that I tolde the woman: he shall not eat that which cometh of the vyne / and shall dryncke no wyne nor stronge dryncke / a care no vndecane thyng: a all that I haue commaunded her / shall be kepe.

Manoah sayde vnto the aungell of the Lord: I wolde the here / I praye the: we will prepare a hydde for the. / Neuertheless: the aungell of the Lorde answered Manoah:
I though thou trespell me here / yet will I not eat of thy breade. But if thou wilt make a burne offering vnto the Lord: thou mayest offre it: (for Manoah will not that it was an aungell of the Lord.) And Manoah sayd vnto the aungell of the Lorde. What is thy name / that we may praye the: when it cometh now to passe / that thou hast sayde:
But the aungell of the Lord sayde vnto hym:

Why askest thou after my name / which is wonderfull:

Then toke Manoah a hyd / and a meate offring: and layd it vpon a rocke vnto the Lorde: which doth the wonders him selfe.

But Manoah and his wyfe beheld it. And when the flame wente up from the aultare towards heauen / the aungell of the Lorde ascended vp in the flame of the aultare.
When Manoah and his wyfe sawe that they fell vnto the earth vpon theyr faces. And the aungell of the Lorde appeared no more vnto Manoah a his wyfe. Then knewe Ma-noah that it was an aungell of the Lorde: a he sayde vnto his wyfe: We must dye the deathe: because we haue sene God.

But his wyfe answered hym: If the Lorde wolde haue slayne vs: he had not receaued þ burne offring: and nicatioffring of oure handes / neither had he sene vs all these thynges / nor let vs heare suche as is now come to passe.

And the woman brougth forth a sonne / and called his name Samson. And the chyld grew: and the Lorde blessed him. And the spite of þ Lorde begannc to be with hym in yentice of Dan: her name Garga a Esphooll.
The XIII. Chapter.

Samson wente vnto Timnath: and there he sawe a woman among þ dought-eres of the Philistines. And when he came vp / he tolde his father and his mother and sayde: I haue sene a woman amonge the daughters of the Philistines: I praye you geue me the same to wyfe. His father and his mother sayd vnto hym: Is there not a woman amonge the daughters of thy brethren: and in all thy people / but thou must go a tafe a wyfe amonge the Philistines / which are vncircumcised?

Samson sayde vnto his father: Geue me this woman: so: the pleasest mine eyes. But his father and his mother knewe not þ it came of the Lorde: and that he sought an occasion agaynst the Philistines. For the Philistines raygned ouer Israell at the same tyme. So Samson wente vnto his father and with his mother vnto Timnath.

And when they came to the vineyardes of Timnath: beholde: there came a yorde roaring Lyon agaynst hym. And the spite of the Lorde came vpon hym: and he rente hym in pieces: euen as a hydde in parde a slunder:
and yet had he nothyng at all in his hande:
and he tolde it not vnto his father and his mother.

Now when he came vnto / he spake with the woman / and she pleased Samsons eyes.
And after certayne dayes he came agayne vnto Timnath: to receaue her: and wente out of þ waye / that he myghte see the dead carcas of the Lyon: and beholde: in the Lyons carcas there was a swarme of bees / a hone: and he toke of it in his hande: and dyd eate therof by the waye: and wente vnto his father and to his mother: and gaue them to eate also. But he tolde them not that he had taken the honey out of the Lyons carcas.

And when his father came vnto the woman / Samson made a feast there: as the yonge men vsed to do. And when they sawe hym / they gaue hym thyrre companions: to be with hym. Samson sayde vnto them: I will expresse a dark sentence vnto you / if ye spoude me the same with in these seue dayes of the feast: I will geue you thyrre: heres / and thyrre chaunge of rayment. But if ye can not spoude it: the shall ye geue me thyrre heres: and thyrre chaunge of rayment.
And they sayd vnto him: Shew forth thy rydle: let vs heare it. He sayd vnto them:

Where went out from the deuourer/a sweete nesse from the myghthe. And in the dayes they coude not expounde the ryde.

Upon the seventh daye they sayde vnto Sa mson wyse: Deswaide thy hous bande/ that he telle vs what the ryde meaneth/ or els we shal burne the and thy fathers house with fyre.

Haue ye called vs hither/ to bynne vs to por nerre: Then wepte Samsons wyfe before hym and sayde: Thou art displeasid at me/ and low est me not: thou hast expounde a darke senten ce vnto the chyldren of my people/ and hast not tolde it me.

D But he sayde vnto her: Beholde/ I haue not tolde it vnto my father and mother/ and shoulde I tell it the? And she wepte before hym thaseuen dayes/ whyle they had ffeast.
But on the seuenith daye he tolde it her/ for he was to impute vnto hym. And he exposi ded the darke senten vnto the chyldren of her people. Then sayde the men of the cyne vnto hym upon the seuidh daye/ or euer the Sunne wente downe: What is sweeter then honey?
What is stronger then the Lyon? But he sayd vnto them: If ye had not plowed with my calfe/ he shoulde not haue founde out my ryde.
And the spere of the Lord came vpon hym/and he wente downe vnto Healon/ and slew thynne men of them/ and toke they: spoyse/ a gaine chaunge of rayment vnto them/ that had expounded the ryde. And he was reioyfully displeasid/ and went vp vnto his fathers house.

18c. 7. 11c. As for Samsons wyfe/ she was giuen vnto one of his companions/ whiche belonged vnto hym.

The XV. Chapter.

2 He forsaide after certayne dayes chaunte the w theatre haruett tyme/ that Samson visited his wyfe with a ryde. And what he thought: I will go to my wyfe in to the chaumbre/ her father wolde not let hym in/ a sayde: I thought thou wast displeasid at her/and I gaue her to thy frende. But she hath a yonger sister whiche is more bettefull then she/ let the same be thynne for her. Then sayde Samson vnto them/ I haue once gotten a right occasion agaynst the Philistynes/ I will do you displeasure.

And Samson wente and catched the hui bury for wool/ and toke fyre brandes/ and faste ned one taylor to another/ and put euer a fyre brande betweene two riles/ a fynded the same with fyre/ and let them go amonge the Phi listynes come/ and thus he burnt the floures/the standinge corne/ and the vinye yards/ and the olue trees.

Then sayde the Philistynes: Who hath done this? And they sayd Samson/ the hus bande of the Thimmites daughter/ because he toke away his wyfe from hym/ and gaue her vnto his frende. Then wente the Philis tynes vp/ and burnt her and her father als with fyre.

But Samson sayde vnto them: I can sus tayne you to do this/ neuer the lesse/ I will be an geid vpon you my selfe/ and then will I leaue of. And he smote them fore heade vpon the shoulders and loynes/ and wente downe/ and wrest in the stone chiffe at Ram. Then went the Philistynes vp/ and layed sege vnto Iu da/ and pitched at Lechi. But they of Iuda sayde: Wherefore are ye come vp agaynst vs?
They answered: we are come to bynde Sa mson/ that we maye do vnto hym as he hath done vnto vs.

Then wente thence the 11 men of Iuda downe to the stone chiffe of Ram/ and sayde vnto Samson: Knowest thou not that the Phi listynes sayge ouer vs: Wherefore haste thou done this then vnto vs? He sayd: do they did vnto me so haue I done vnto them agayn.
They sayd vnto hym: We are come downe to bynde the/ and to deliuer the into the hande of the Philistynes. Samson sayde vnto them: Then swaue and promise me/ that ye will not slaye me. They answered hym: We will not kill the/ we will but bynde the/ and deliuer in thers hande/ a wyl not slaye the. And they bounde hym with two newe cordes/ and ca ryed hym from the stone. And whan he came vnto Lechi/ the Philistynes shouted/ and rine vnto hym. But the spere of the Lord came vnto hym/ and the cordes aboute his armes were lyke thredes burnt in to the fyre/ so that the brides were loosed from his handes.

And he founde the cheke bone of a dead affe: then put he forth his hande and toke it/ and slew a thousande men therewith. And Samson sayde: With an olde affe cheke bone/ yea/ euen with the cheke bone of an affe he was

hauē I slawe a thousande men. And when he had sayd that he call the chefe bone out of his hide/and called the place Ramath Lechi. But when he was fore a thyf/they called vpon the Lord: and sayd: Such great heales shall thou geue by the hande of thy seruants: but now must I dye a thyf: / and will in thy hide of the vntermyneyed. Then God opened a gromet in the chefe bone/ so f water went out: a when he thankeles spote came again/ and he was refreshed. Therefore vnto his daye it is called the well of the chefe bone / of hym that made intercession. And he iudged Iſraell in the tyme of the Philistines twentye yeare.

The XVI. Chapter.

2 Samson wente vnto Gaza / and there he was in a harlot/ and laye with her. Then was it sayde vnto the Gazars: Samson is come hither. And they compassed hym about/ and caused to laye wayte for hym piously / and watched all the night in the gate of the cytt/ and all tharnight they helde them thyl/ sayd: Whyde / to morow when it is light/ we will slaye hym. But Samson lay vnto midnyght/ then rose he at midnyght/ and toke holde on both the Sydeportes of the gate of the cytt/ with both the postes/ and lyfte them out with the barres / and layed them vpon his shoulders/ and bare the vp to the toppe of the iudith ouer a gawayll Gebon.

3 After this he fell in to the loue of a woman/ by the booke of Soth/ whose nam was Dalila vnto whom the pynnes of the Physlynes came vpon/ sayd vnto her: Desirethade hym and loke when he hath such great strength/ and how we may ouercome hym / that we myght hynce hym and subduē hym / so will we geue the every man a M. and an C. slyttersynges. And Dalila sayde vnto Samson: I praye the tell me/ when the great strenght is/ and how thou myghtest be bounde to be subduē. Samson sayde vnto her: If I were bound with seven ropes of fresh fenowes/ which are not yet dyed vp/ I should be weakened as another man. Then the pynnes of the Philistines brought vp vnto her seven new ropes/ which were not yet dyed vp. And she bounde hym therewith. But there was wayte layed for hym besyde her in the chamber/ and she sayd vnto hym: The Physlynes desire the booke of the Samson. Vnto which she brake the ropes in sunder/ euen as a ruynd threde breaketh/ wyl it hath catched the beare of the fyce. And it was not knowne when his strenght was.

Then sayde Dalila vnto Samson: he hadest thou hast begyled me/ and I sinned with me: tell me yet whether shall I mayll thou be bounde: He answered her: If they bounde me with new cordes/ whereof I ha labour had/ bene vnto. I should be sible/ and as another man. Then toke Dalila new cordes and bounde hym withall / and sayde: The Physlynes vnto the Samson/ but there was wayte layed for hym in the chamber. And he brake them from his arms: w/ euen as it had ben a threde.

Dalila sayde vnto hym: Yet hast thou begyled me/ and I sinned with me: I tell me yet/ whether shall I mayll thou be bounde: He answered her: If thou playest feut her eyes/ lockes of my heade together in a scyler / a scisseneth the in it a naile/ I should be weak. And she sayd vnto hym: The Physlynes vnto the: Samson. But he awaked out of his sleep/ and bare out the playted herre lockes with the nayle of the scyler.

Then sayd she vnto hym: How canst thou saye that thou louest me/ where as thine heart is not yet with me. This tyme shall thou becaued me/ a nortolde me when thy greates strenght is. So when she was every daye vnto pynnes vpon hym with her wordes/ a w she not lett hym haue rest / his soule was f ynte euen vnto the deathe / and he shered her his whole herte/ and sayd vnto her: I haue come a neuer reassure vpon my heade/ for I am a Nazare of God from my mothers wombe. If I were shauen / my strenght should separate fro me/ so that I should be weak/ and as all other men. Nowe when Dalila saw that he had opened al his herte vnto her/ the sent and called for the pynnes of the Physlynes/ and sayde: Come yet once vpon/ for he hath opened his whole herte vnto me.

Then came the pynnes of the Physlynes vnto vnto her/ a brought the money with them in theyr handes. And she made hym to sleepe vpon her lappe/ a called one which boue of seven hairy lockes of his heade. And she beganne to vexe hym. Then was his strength repaired from hym. And she sayd vnto hym: The Philistines vpon the Samson. Now when he awoke out of his slepe / he thought I will go forth as I haue done afore tyme / a case my selfe / I knewe not that the Lord was departed from hym. But the Philistines toke hym / and put out his eyes / and broughed hym vnto to Gath / and bounde him with fetters and made hym to grynde in the pylson. But the haer of his heade beganne to growe againe where it was shauen of.

¶ When the prynces of the Philistines were gathered together to make a great sacrifice vnto Dagon they: God / and to be ioyful they sayd: Our God hath deliuered Samson our enemye in to our hande. Likewise when the people sawe hym / they payed theyr God / and sayd: Our God hath deliuered in to our hande our enemye / that destroyed oure lande / a fewe many of vs. Howe rebd they: here was ioyfull they sayd: It is vs sech Samson / that he made make some passyme before vs. Then fetched they Samson out of the pylson / and he made passyme before them. And they set hym betwene two pylsers. But Samson sayd vnto the lad that led hym by the hande: Let me touche the pylsers where vpon the house stande / that I maye leane there vnto. As for the house it was full of men and women. All the prynces of the Philistines were there also / and vpon the rofe were about a thie thousande men and women / whiche behelde what passyme Samson made.

¶ But Samson called vpon the Lord / and sayd: O Lorde Lorde / thyne vpon me / and strenght me but this once O God / I beseech thee / that for both myne eyes I maye auenge me on the Philistines. And hereofe holde of the two my pylsers / that the house stode vpon / and was holden by the one in his righte hande / and the other in his left / a iud: Myr soule be with the Philistines / a be dooed by myselfe mightely. Then fel the house vpon the prynces / and vpon all the people that were therein / so that there were mo of 7 slayn / which layd in his death the be flew while he layed. Then came his brethren vnto and all his fatheres house and toke hym / and carryed hym vp / and buried hym in the graue of his father Manoah / betwene Dage and Esbaal. He iudged Israel twentye yere. The. XVII. Chapter.

¶ Here was a man vpon mount Ephraim / named Micha / whiche sayd to his mother: The thousande and hundred shilyngs whiche thou hast taken vnto the a freyne and spoken of before myne eares / beholde the same money is by me / I haue taken it vnto me. Then sayd his mother: The blessinge of the Lord haue thou my sonne. So he gaue his mother the thousande and hundred shilyngs agayne. And his mother sayd: That money haue I sanctified vnto the Lord with my hande for my sonne / to make a molten Image: therefore I geue it the agayne: Neuertheless / he deliuered the money agayne vnto his mother.

Then toke his mother two hundred shilyngs / and put them forth to the goldsmith / which made a molten Image that was after ward in Michas house. In this the ma Micha had a gods house / a made an other bodye in a Dole / a filled the handes of one of his sonnes / that he myghte be his priest. In that tyme was there no synng in Israel / and eury man had the thyng that was synne in his owne eyes. There was a yonge man of Bethleem Juda / among the synners of Judas / and he was a Leuite / and was a straunger there. The same went out of the cite of Bethleem Juda / to walke whether he coude.

And when he came vp to the mounte Ephraim vnto the house of Micha / to go on his iourney: Micha ased hym: wher comest thou: He answered hym: I am a Leuite of Bethleem Juda / a man walkinge where I can. Micha sayd vnto hym: Tary with me / thou shalt be my father and my priest: I will geue thee eury yere ten shilyngs / a thy appoynted rayment / a meat a drynke: and the Leuite went on. And the Leuite agreed to abyde in the mans / he helde the yonge man / as one of his owne sonnes. And Micha filled the Leuite house that he mighte be his priest / and so he was in Michas house. And Micha sayd: I am sure the Lord will do me good / in that I haue a Leuite to my priest.

The XVIII. Chapter.

And that time was there no king in Israel. And the trybe of the Danites sought the an inheritance to dwell in / for vnto that tyme there was no inheritance fallen vnto them amonge the trybe of Israel. And the children of Dan sent out of theyr hundreds fye captaynes whiche were men of armed. From Zarga and Eshecol to spye and scarde out the lande. And they sayde vnto them: Go youre waye/and scarde out the lande. And they came vp to mount Ephraim into the house of Michas/and taried there all night. And while they were there at Michas house/holdes they frewe the voyce of the yong man the Leuite/a sayde vnto him: What brought the hither: What meanest thou here: a why woldest thou come hither.

He answered them: Thus and thus hath Michas done vnto me/and hath byed me to be his priest. They sayde vnto him: O daye at God / that we maie perceaue whether oure journeye whiche we go/shal prosper wel or no. The priest answered them: Go youre waye in peace/oure journeye that ye go to before the Lord. Then the fye men wente theyr waye/and came vnto Raia/and saw that the people which was therein/were sure/when as the Sidonians are rest/and carelesse / and that there was no lord in the lande to use them/a were farre from the Sidonians/and had nothing to do with any man.

And they came to theyr brethren to Zarga and Eshecol/and theyr brethren sayde vnto them: How is it with you: They saide: Drye/let vs go vp vnto them: for we haue sene the lande/that it is a very good lande/make buyll therfor/and be not slacke to go / that ye maye come to take possession of the lande. When ye come ye shall come to a carelesse people/ and the lande is ryde: for God hath bespoken this place in youre hande/where nothing waieth of all that is vpon earth.

Then wente there thence out of the hundreds of Dan from Zarga and Eshecol / fye hundred men readye weaponed to the Gattayl/ and wente vp/and pitched at Aisath Jeram in Iuda: therefore called they the same place the booke of Dan/vnto this daye / which is beynde Aisath Jeram.

And from thence they went vp vnto moite

Ephraim/and came to the house of Michas. Then answered the fye men that went out to spye the lande of Raia/and sayd vnto theyr brethren: Knowe ye not that in these bouys there is an ourtbodye cote/Idols/and molten ymage: Where maye ye loke what ye haue to do. They departed thence/and came to the house of the yong man the Leuite in Michas house/and saluted him friendly. But the fye hundred men which were of the children of Dan/stande readye armed before the gate. And the fye men that were gone out to spye the lande went vp and came thither/and toke the ymage/the ourtbodye cote/and the molten Idols. In the meane whyle stode the priest at the gate with the fye hundred readye armed.

Now when these were come into Michas house/and toke the ymage/the ourtbodye cote/and the molten Idols/the priest sayde vnto them: What do ye: They answered hym: Golde thy peace/and laye thine hande vpon thy mouth/and go with vs/for thou mistest the oure father and priest: Is it better for the to be prieste in one mans house/then amonge a whole trybe and kyned in Israel: This pleased the priest well/and he toke both the ourtbodye cote/and the Idols/and the ymage/and came in amonge the people. And when they turned them and wente thence/they sente theyr children/and cattill/and such precious thynges as they had before them.

When they were now come farre from the house of Michas/the men that were in Michas house/and sollowed the children of Dan/and retyd vpon the children of Dan. They turned theyr faces aboute/a sayde vnto Michas: What ayleth the/that thou makest such a request: He answered: Ye haue taken away my goddes/and the priest/and are gottenge our waye/and what haue I becomen: What is here: And yet ye saie vnto me: What ayleth the: But the children of Dan send vnto him: Let not thy voyce be heard amonge vs / that some worshipfull men chaffe not at the/ and so thy soule/and the soule of thy house be destroyed. So the children of Dan wente on their waye. And Michas when he sawe that they were so stronge/for hym / turned backe.

side mount Ephraim/whiche I am / I wente vnto Berseba: Iuda/ a new I go vnto the house of the Lord/and nema wil barbaro wme. We haue swaie a pountender for our assos/ a sheab a wyne for me/ and thy handmaidens/ and for the young man which is with thy seruants/so that we wante nothinge.

3 The olde man sayde: Peace be with the: what seuer thou wantest/ thou findest it with me/ onely saye thou in the firste of nyght. And he brought hym into his house/ and gaue the assos pountender/ and they washed theyr feet/ and they eate and drynke. And when they were there was now ioyfull/ the men of the cyne/ the childe of Bethel came/ and compassed the house rounde aboute/ and rushed at the doore. And sayde vnto the olde man / which was the good man of the house: Drynke out the man which is come into thy house / that we may knowe him.

En. 1. 1. I But the good man of the house wente forth to them/ and sayde vnto them: Oh no my brethren / do not so wickedly / consideringe this maie come into my house: Oh do not sode sely. Beholde / I haue a daughter yet a virgin/ and this man hath a concubine/ whose wil I bringe forth vnto you/ haue my humble them/ and do wish the as ye life: But do not sude sely vnto this man. Answer the selfe/ the men wolde not hee ren vnto him. Then tolde the man his concubine/ a brought her forth vnto them: and they knewe her/ and theyt stom/ gulle with her all t night vntill the morninge. And when f morninge brake on/ a he let her go.

6 Then came the woman early in the morninge/ and fell downe at the foote of the mans house/ that her loide was in / and laye there till it was light. Now when her loide rose vp in the morninge/ and opened the foote of the house/ and wente forth to go on his iourney/ beholde his concubine laye at the foote of the house/ and her handes vpon the therselbe. He sayde vnto her/ stande vp/ set vs go. Answerd she/ he gaue hym no answer. Then tolde he her vp vpon his asse/ gat him vp/ and wente vnto his place.

11. 1. 6 Now whiche came home/ he reke a sword/ and bride his concubine/ and cut her with the sones/ and all into twelfe peeces/ and sent them into all the coastes of Israel/ whosouer saue it/ sayde: Eude a thinge hath not bene done youe/ not seme/ for the cyne that the childe of Israel prepared out of the lande of Egypt/ vnto this daye. Now/ as concerninge this/ take your aduise/ and gaue your counsel/ and steeve it forth.

The XX. Chapter.

1 Then wente the childe of Israel out / a gathered a congregation together as one man/ from Dan vntil Berseba/ and sith the lande of Gilead vnto the Lord / into Mispa/ and there came together of all the quarters of the people/ a of all the tribes of Israel / into the congregation of the people of God/ foure hundred thousande foremen that brue out of sword. But the childe of Ben Jamin berde/ howe that the childe of Israel were gone vp vnto Mispa. And the childe of Israel saide: Tell vs/ howe happened this euill?

Then answered the childe/ the house/ and of the woman that was slayne/ and saide: I came to Gibea in Ben Jamin with my concubine/ to saye there all nyght/ then the cyne sime of Gibea gat them vp againste me / and compassed me aboute in the house by nyght/ and I thought to slaye me/ and theyt my concubine/ so that she cryed/ then toke I my concubine/ and cut her in peeces/ and sent the peeces into every contrie of the inheritance of Israel/ for they haue done an abomination and sely in Israel. Beholde/ here are ye dysteden of Israel/ aduise you well/ and take this matter in hande.

2 So all the people gat the vp as one ma / and seyd/ en men shall go into his tent / not vperke to his house / that this will we doe now againste Gibea/ for we cast lot/ and take ten men of an hundred/ and a hundred of a thousande/ and a thousande of ten thousande/ out of all tribes of Israel/ that they may take sode for the people/ to come and do with Gibea Ben Jamin / according to the sime/ sely which they haue done in Israel. Thus all the men of Israel/ beinge confederate/ gathered them selfe together as one man vnto the cyne/ and the cyne of Israel/ sent men vnto all the hundreds of Ben Jamin / and cauld to saye vnto them: What manner of wyce/ doth ke done in this/ that is done amonge you?

Deliver here therefore the men/the children of Belial at Gibeath/that we maye put them to death/and so awaye the euill out of Israell. Neuertheless / the children of Ben Jamin wolde not followe the voice of their brethren/ children of Israell/ but gathered the selves out of the citie vnto Gibeath/ to go forthyn Baraal against the children of Israell.

And the same day were there numbred of the children of Ben Jamin/out of the citie sixe and twentie thousand men/that drew the swearde / beside the citysine of Gibeath/of whome there were tolde: seven hundred chosen men . And amonge at this people there were chosen out seven hundred men/ which vsed not the right hande but the left / and yet with the stroke could they touch an heer/and not misse . But the men of Israell/beside the of Ben Jamin/were numbred foure hundred thousande/whiche drew the swearde / a were all men of armie. And the children of Israell arose/and wente up to the house of God/ in Silo/ and ased at God/and sayde: Who shal go vp for vs to begynne the battail with the children of Ben Jamin: The Lordē sayde: Iuda shal begynne.

So the children of Israell gat the vp in the morninge/and pitched ouer against Gibeath/ and euery man of Israell wente out to fyght with Ben Jamin/and set them selves in araye to fyght against Gibeath. Then fel the children of Ben Jamin out of Gibeath / and slew the same daye amonge Israell two and twenty thousande to the grounde.

But the people of the men of Israell consorted them selves/ and made them ready to fyght yet more in the same place / after they had prepared them selves the daye afore. And the children of Israell wente vp / and wepte before the Lordē vntill the euenyng/ and ased at the Lordē/and sayde: Shall we go any more to fyght with our brethren the children of Ben Jamin: The Lordē sayde: Go vp vnto them. And when the children of Israell gat them up to the children of Ben Jamin on the nexte daye/ the Ben Jaminis fell out of Gibeath against the the same daye/ and slawe yet eyghente thousande of the children of Israell to the grounde/whiche all drew the swearde.

Then wente all the children of Israell vp / and all the people / and came to the house of God/and wepte/and taryed there before the Lordē/and fasted that daye vntill the euenyng/ and offered burnt offerings/ and thank offerings before the Lordē. And the children of Israell ased at the Lordē / the Arke of the conuenaunt of God was there at that tyme/ and Phineas the sonne of Eleazar/ the sonne of Aaron / stode before hym at the same tyme/ and they sayde: Shall we go forth any more to fyght against our brethren the children of Ben Jamin: or shall we leaue off: The Lord sayde: Go vp to moioa/ wil I deliuer the vnto youre handes.

And the children of Israell set a prey <sup>E</sup> march against Gibeath rounde aboute / and so the children of Israell wente vp to the children of Ben Jamin on the thirde daye / and set them selves in araye against Gibeath/ as the other two tymes afore. Then came the children of Ben Jamin out against the people/ and brake out of the citie/and beganne to slaye certayne wounded of the people / by the waye as the other two tymes afore/ in the side vpon two streets: wherof one went towards Bethel/ the other vnto Gilead vpon a thirne men in Israell. Then thoughte the childē of Ben Jamin: They are smitten before vs lyke as afore. But the children of Israell sayde: it vs styll / we maye prouoke them out of the citie into the bye streets.

Then all the men of Israell gat the vp fro their place/and prepared the selves vnto Baraal thomar. And the hinder march of Israell brake out of their place/ fro the caue of Gaba/ and came vnto Gibeath / twentie thousande chosen men out of all Israell/ so that it was a foue battayl: but they knewe not that the euill shoulde happen vnto the. Thus the Lordē smote Ben Jamin before the children of Israell/ so that the same daye the children of Israell destroyed thye and twentie thousande an hundred men in Ben Jamin/whiche all drew the swearde.

For when the children of Ben Jamin sawe that they were smitten/ the men of Israell gaue the romme to flye. For they trauellid to the march/whiche they had set by Gibeath. And the march made hayll also / and brake forth vnto Gibeath.

Ubea/and wente vpon it/and smote all the cyrie with the edge of the sword. They were appoynded betwene them selves / the men of Israel and the hinder ward/to fall vpon the with the sworde vban the sinde of the cyrie arose vnto when the men of Israel turned them in the battayls/ and Ben Jamin began to saye/they wounded in Israel vpon a thysie men and thought / they are stryemen before vs/like as in the battail afore/ then began there a pillar of smoke to crye vp from the cyrie. And Ben Jamin lokt behynde the/ and beholds/ the flame of the fire wente vpon vnto heauen. And the men of Israel turned them/and were feare vpon the men of Ben Jamin:/ for they sawe that the euil wolde hap pou vnto them.

¶ And they turned them before the men of Israel in the waye to the wildernes/ but the banget followed vpon them. And then of the one destroyed they amonge them. And they compassed Ben Jamin rounde aboute / a followed vpon them vnto Mennady/ and rode them downe thyl afore Ubea Eastward. And there fell of Ben Jamin cyghthe thousande men/ which were all men of armes.

When the remanant of Ben Jamin sawe that they turned them / and fled toward the wildernes vnto the stony rocke of Rimon. But in thysie strete they sawe fyny thousande men/ and folowed vpon the vnto Gideon/ and slew two thousande of them / and so there fell thysie. Say of Ben Jamin syue and twenty thousande men/ whiche were the sworde/ and were al men of armes. Onely fye hundred men turned backe/ and fled to ward the wildernes vnto the stony rocke of Rimon/ and abode in the rocke of Rimon foure monthes. And the men of Israel came againe to the childre of Ben Jamin/ and smote them that were in the cyrie with the edge of the sworde/ both men and cattell / and all that was founde/ and whatseuer was founde in the cite / they cast it into the fyre.

The XLII. Chapter.

¶ The men of Israel had sworne at Mispah and sayde/ Woman shall steue his daughters to the Ben Jamin to wyfe. And the people came to the house of God in Silo. ¶ abode there before God vntill the eveninge/ as they vsed to doo/ and wepte sore/ and sayde/ O Lorde God of Israel/ wherfore is this come to passe in Israel this daye? But on the morowe the people gat them vp early/ and builded there an altare/ and offered burnt offerings/ and thank offerings.

And the childre of Israel sayd / Where is there any man of the tribes of Israel/ that is not come vp with the congregation vnto the Lorde? For there was a great othe made/ that who so came not to Mispah vnto the Lorde/ shoulde dye the death. And the chylidren of Israel were so/ for Ben Jamin their brother/ and said/ This daye is there one more lesse in Israel. How will we do that the remanant may haue wyfes? For we haue sworne by the Lorde/ that we wil not geue them wyfes of oure daughters. And they said/ Where is there any man of the tribes of Israel/ that is not come vp to the Lorde vnto Mispah? And beholds/ there was not one man of the cyries no of Zabeb in Gilcad.

Then sent the congregation twelfe thousande men of armes thither/ and commaunded them/ as they sayd/ O you were and smyte the anicins of Zabeb in Gilcad with the sworde/ the woman also and the childre/ but so that ye do after this maner. ¶ We that ye summe al them that are males/ and all the woman / ye haue lyeu with men. And amonge the cyries of Zabeb in Gilcad they founde foure hundred damels/ which were virgins / and had lyeu with woman/ those they brought in to the host vnto Silo / whiche lyeu in the lande of Canaan.

Then sent the whole congregation/ and caused to talke with the childre of Ben Jamin/ which were in that stony rocke of Rimon/ and called vnto them friendly. So the childre of Ben Jamin came againe at the same tyme/ and they gaue them women which they had of the women of Zabeb in Gilcad/ and found no mo after that maner. Then were the people so/ for Ben Jamin/ that the Lorde had made a gappe in the tribes of Israel. And the Elders of the congregation sayd/ What will we do/ that the remanant may haue wyfes also? for the women in Ben Jamin are destroyed/ and they sayd / The chylidren of the them of Ben Jamin that are escaped / must needs remayne / that there be not a ryde destroyed out of Israel: and we can not geue them our daughters to wyfes: for the children of Israel haue sworn and sayde: cursed be he that geueth a wyfe to the Ben Jaminites.

And they sayde: Beholde / there is a yearly feall of the Lord at Silo / which lyeth on the West syde of the Gods house / on the East syde of the strete / as a man goeth from Bethel vnto Sichem / and lyeth on the South syde of Labana. And they commaunded the chyldren of Ben Jamin / and sayde: Go your waye / and wayte in the vnyngardes. And when ye se that the daughters of Silo go forth by companye to Daunce / get you out of the vnyngardes / and euery man take hym a wyfe of the daughters of Silo / and go your waye into the lande of Ben Jamin. As for theyr father and brethren / when they come to laue with vs / we will saye vnto them: Be fauourable to them / for they haue not taken them in Battayll: but ye gaue them not vnto them by tyme / and it is your fault.

The chyldren of Ben Jamin vnderstande / and accordinge to theyr number toke them wyfes from the Daunce / whome they caught by violence / and reuente theyr waye / and vnder in theyr owne inheritance / and buylded cyties / and dwelte therein. The children of Israel also gat them vp from thence at that tyme / euery one to his wyfe / and so he synned / and departed thence euery man to his owne inheritance.

And that tyme was there no synge in Israel / and euery man vnder the thyng that was ryght in his owne eyes.

The boke of Ruth.

The first Chapter.

In the tyme whan King Iudges ruled / there was a verth in the lande. And there went a man from Bethleem Judo / to take his iourney into the lande of the Moabites / with his wife and two sonnes / which man was called Elimelech / and his wyfe Naemi / and his two sonnes / the one Elimelech / and the other Chilion: there were shepharues of Bethleem Judo. And when they came into the lande of the Moabites / they dwelt there. And Elimelech Naemis husband dyed / and she was left she bynde with her two sonnes / which toke Moabish wyfes: the one was called Orpa / the other Ruth. And when they had dwelt there ten yeres / they dyed Orpa / and Chilion / so that the woman remayned desolate of Orpa her sonnes / and her husbande.

Then gat she her vp with both her sonnes wyfes / and reuente agayne our of the lande of the Moabites / for she had herde in the lande of the Moabites / that the Lord had visyted his people / and geuen them bread / and so she departed from the place where she was / and both her sonnes wyfes with her. And as they went by the way to come agayne into the land of Judo / she sayd vnto her sonnes wyfes: Whose waye will ye take? Shall I turne backe with you to her mother house? The Lord deere mercy vpon you / as ye haue done on them that are dead / and on me. The Lord deere graunte you / that ye may fynd rest cyther of you in her husbandes house / whome ye shall see / and she kylled them.

Then lyst they vp theyr voyce / and wept / and sayde vnto her: We will go with theu / to thy people. But Naemi sayd: Turn agayne my daughters / why wold ye go with me? How can I haue chyldren any more in my body?

Jud. xviij. b

body to be your husbande: Turn again my daughter: a go your way: for I am now to olde to take an housbande.

And though I should saye: I hope this night to take an housband: a to singe forth children: yet could not yet saye: yll they were growen vp: for ye shoulde be to olde: so that ye could haue no housbande. No my daughter: therefore am I saye for you: for the hande of the Lord is gone forth ouer me.

Then saye they vp they voyce: a wept yet more: and they kysed her mother in lawe: a turned backe againe: But Ruth abode still by her. Where the lesse / she said: Behold: my sister in lawe is turned backe vnto her people: a to her God: turn thou againe also after thy sister in lawe: Ruth answered: Speake not to me thereof: I shoulde be to take her: a turne backe from thee: whither soeuer thou goest: whither wilt I go: also and loke where thou chydest: there wilt I abide also: Thy people is my people: and thy God is my God. Loke where thou dwellest: there wilt I dwell: and where thou shalt be buried: I also be buried. The Lord do this a thee vnto me: which only shal departe v.

¶ Now when she sawe that she was fled fast: is mynded to go with her: she spake wemore to her thereof. So they wente on both together: yll they came vnto Bethleem. And whā they were come into Bethleem: the whole cite was moued ouer them: and sayde: Is not this Naami? Where the lesse / she sayde vnto them: call me not Naami: But Mara: for the almightie hath made me very soye. I departed full: but the Lord hath brought me home agayne emptye. Why call ye me then Naami? when the Lord hath brought me lowe: and the Almighty hath made me soye.

It was aboute the tyme of the begynnyng of the barley harvest: whā Naami and her sonnes were: Ruth the Moabitisse / came agayne from the lande of the Moabites vnto Bethleem. There was a synneman also of the kyned of Elimelech: Naamis housband: whose name was Booz: whiche was an honest man.

The II Chapter.

¶ Now said Ruth the Moabitisse vnto Naami: Let me go into the felde: and gather eyres of coine after him: in whose sight I shall fynde fauoure. She sayde vnto her: Go thy way my daughter. She went on: a came and gathered after the reapers in the felde. And it fortuned that the same felde was the enchainment of Booz: whā he was the hired of Elimelech: a sheold: Booz came fro Bethleem: and sayde vnto the reapers: The Lord be with you. They answered: The Lord bless the. And Booz sayde vnto his yongemen: which had the oversight of the reapers. Whose name is this? The yongeman that was first ouer the reapers: answered and sayde: It is the damsel of the Moabitisse: whiche came agayne with Naami from the lande of the Moabites. And she sayde: Let me plucke vp and gather: I pray the. Where the she was after the reapers: and she is the moynge: a hath stande here euer since the daye: a within a litle while she wold haue bin gone hence agayne.

Then said Booz vnto Ruth: Hearest thou my daughter: Thou shalt not goe vpon any other mans lande to gather: and goe not away from hence: but tary with my damsel: and loke where they reape in the felde: go thou after them: for I haue commanded my seruauntes that no man touch the. And if thou be a thys: go thy waye to the vessel a binke: where my seruauntes dwaw. Then set she vpon her face: and bowed her selfe vnto the earth: and said vnto him: For haue I soue this fauoure in thy sight: that thou woldest knowe me: which am yet a stranger.

Booz answered and sayde vnto her: It is tolde me altogether: what thou hast done vnto thy mother in lawe after thy housbandes death: how that thou hast left thy father and thy mother: a thy manue coyntrie: and art come to a people: whome thou dost not knowe afore. The Lord recompence the thy doinge: a thy reward be perfect in the Lord God of Israel: vnto whome thou art come to put thy trust: and vnto his wings. She sayde: Let me finde fauoure. Before thou eye: for thou hast comforted me: a spoken friendly vnto thy hand: in that where so I am: nor yett like one of thy handmaidens.

Booz sayde vnto her: When it is earnged: I will come hither: and cut of the bread: and and byppe thy mo: sell in the wynger. And she far her Doue Besyde the reapers. And he for parched come before her/ and she byd eate/ and was satisfyd/ and left ouer. And when she rose to gather/ Booe commaunded his seruantes also/ and said: Let her gather Berwene the sheeces also/ and let her no dyspously: a call offe the sheeces vnto her/ and let it be that she maye gather it vp/ and let that noman reioyce for it.

So she gathered in the felde vntil euen/ a she byd shafe out what she had gathered/ and it was almost an Ephah of Barley: a she rose it vp/ and came into the cite/ and showed her mo: her in law what she had gathered. She rose forth also/ and gaue her of that whiche was left/ wherof she was satisfied. Then said her mo: her in lawe vnto her. Blessinge haue the man that hath knowen the/ where thou hast gathered and laboured this daie.

She tolde her mo: her in lawe by whome she had laboured/ and saide. The mans name by whome I haue wroughte to daie/ is Booe. Naemi sayd vnto her Daughter in lawe: The blessing of the Lord haue befo: he hath not left of to be unprofitful vnto the lyuinge/ and to thy dead. And Naemi sayde vnto her: The same man belongeth vnto vs/ and is our nye kynsman. Ruth the Moabynsk said: He said vnto me/ vnto me. Thou shalt reside vnto my seruantes/ till they haue made an ende of all my harvest. Naemi said vnto Ruth her Daughter in lawe: It is better my Daughter than thou go forth with his Damselfelst/ any man wouldeste y in another felde. Thus she kepte her selfe with Booe Damselfel: so that she gathered vntil the Barly harvest/ and she wher harveste w: ouer/ and came againe to her mo: her in lawe.

The III. Chapter.

¶ Said Naemi her mo: her in lawe saide vnto her: My Daughter, I wil prouide rest for thee/ that thou mayest prospere. Booe our kynsman by whose Damselfel thou hast bene/ calleth vp Barlye nowe this nyght in his borne. Barly the selfe therefore/ and I will feede/ and put on thy clothes/ and go vnto vnto the borne/ so that no man knowe the/ til they haue al eaten and dyed.

When he layeth him vnto to slepe/ then mark the place where he seth Doue/ a come she/ and take vp the coveringe/ at his feet/ a laye the Doue/ so shall he call the/ what thou shalt do. She said vnto her: wherfor thou sayest vnto me/ I wil do it.

She went vnto in the borne/ and byd of as her mo: her in law had commaunded her. And when Booe had eaten and dronke/ his hart was merry/ and he came and layd hym vnto the bynde a heape of sheeces. And he came secretly/ and take vp the coveringe at his feet/ a layd her Doue. Nowe vntil was mydnyght/ man was asrayed/ and groped aboute him/ and beholde/ a woman laye at his feet. And he said: Who arte thou? She answered: I am Ruth thy handmaiden/ speede thy wynges ouer thy handmaiden: for thou art the nye kynsman.

He saide: The Lordes blessing haue thou my Daughter. Thou hast bene a better mercy hereafter then before/ that thou art not gone after yonge men/ wherbyd not possesseare nor now my Daughter: All that thou hast sayde/ wil I do for the: for all the crye of my people knoweth that thou art a veruous woman. Truth it is nowe/ that I am a nye kynsman/ but there is one nye then I. Carrye thou al myght. To morowe if he take the/ well: if he lyenot/ to take the/ then will I take the/ my selfe/ as trulye as the Lord lyeth. Slepe thou vntil the morninge. And she slepte at his feet vntil the morninge. And he rose vp: euer one coulde knowe another. And he thought: thou: y no man knowe new y there hath come a woman into the borne/ and he saide: Keade me the clofe that thou hast on the/ and holde it forth/ and she helde it forth. And he byd mee: her fyre measures of Barley/ a layd a ropen her/ and she wente in to the cite/ and came to her mo: her in lawe/ which said: How is it with the my Daughter? And she tolde her all that the man had done vnto her/ a saide: These fyre measures of Barley gaue he me/ sit he saide: Thou shalt not come empty to thy mo: her in lawe. She saide: Wode my Daughter/ till thou se what the maner wil growe to: for the man wil not casse/ till he thyng: it to an ende this daye.

Boos went vp to the gate / and set hym doune there: and beholde / when the nye fynsman wente by. Boos spake vnto hym and sayde: Come and sette the doune here (and called hym by his name.) And he came and sat hym doune: and he toke ten me of the Elders of the cytye: and sayd: Syt you doune here.
 And they saue them doune. Then sayde he to the nye fynsman: Naemy / which is come a-gayne from the lande of the Moabites / offer-eth to sell þe peece of lande / that was oure biothers EliMelech / therfore thoughte I to shewe it before thyne eares: and to tell the: If thou wilt redeme it / then bye it before the cytyens / and before the Elders of my people: but if thou wilt not redeme it / then tell me þ
 I may knowe: for there is no nye fynsman except thou / and I neke after the.

He sayde: I will redeme it. Boos sayde: In the base that thou byest the lande out of the hande of Naemi / thou must take Ruth also the Moabynesse the wyfe of the dead: that thou mayst rayse vp a name to the dead in his enheritaunce. Then sayde he: I can not redeme it / lest I happye destroye myne owne en-heritaunce. Redeme thou that I shoulde redeme / for I can not redeme it. But this was an olde coslume in Israell / concernynge the redemyng and chaungynge / that al marters myght be stable / the one parte of his shue / and gaue it vnto the other: that was the testymony in Israell.

And the nye fynsman sayd vnto Boos Eye thou it / and he put of his shue. And Boos sayd vnto the Elders / and to all the people: Ye are wytnesses this daye / þ I haue boughte out of the hode of Naemi / all that belonged to EliMelech / and all that was Chilio: a Mahelons. And Ruth the Moabynesse Maheids wyfe / take I to wyfe / Tbar: I maye rayse vp a name vnto the dead in his enheritaunce / and that his name be not roted out from amonge his biethens / and out of the gate of his place:
 Of this are ye wytnesses. And all the people that was in the gate with the Elders / sayd:
 We are wytnesses. The Lord make the woman that commeth in to thy house / as Rachel and Lea: / whiche both haue buylded vp the house of Israell: that she may be an ensample name in Berleem. And thy house be as the house of Phares / ( / whom Thamar bare vnto Iuda. Whom the sedit / that the Lorde shall geue the of this daye sell.

So Boos toke Ruth / and she became his wyfe. And when he laye with her / the Lord graunted her that she conceiued / and bare a sonne. Then sayde the woman vnto Naemi: Prayde be the Lord / which hath not suffered a fynsman to cease from me at this tyme / that his name maye continue in Israell: he shall restore thy lyfe agayne / and prouide for thine age. For youre sonnes wyfe / whiche hath loued / hath borne him that is better vnto the / then seven sonnes.

And Naemi toke the chyld / and layd it vpo her lappe / and became the noife of it / and her neyghbours gaue hym a name and sayde:
 There is a chyld borne vnto Naemi / and they called his name Obed. The same is the father of Isai / whiche is the father of Dauid. This is the generation of Phares / / Phares begat / a vntenken at Silo. But Eli the priest sat vpon a stole by the poste of the temple of the Loide. And she was ful beuynes in her hert / and prayed vnto the Loide / a wepte / a wewed a veme / and sayde: O Loide Zabaor / if thou wilt lufe vpon the aduersite of my bendings / den / a thyne vpon me / a not forget thy hand mayde / a myght graue thy hand mayde a vnto /

 I will gye hym vnto the Loide at his lyfe
 J. id. 21. a long / and there shall no rasoure come vpon
 Time. 3. a his heede.

And when she had prayed longe before the Loide / Eli roke hede to her mouth / soe Hanna spake in her hert / her lippes onely moued / but her voyce was not herde. Then thought Eli she had ben vntenken / and said vnto her: How longe wilt thou be vntenken? Let come from the the wyne that thou hast by thy. Neuerther lesse / Hanna answered and sayde: No my lord / I am a sorrowful woma / wyne nor stryde D. 2. 1. a dyne haue I not vntenken / thou haue pour red out my herte before the Loide. Caine not thy hand mayden a daughter of Behail: for out of my beaute thought and sorrow haue I spoken her herto.

C Eli answered her / and sayde: Wo thy waye in prayer the God of Israel shall graunt the the prayson that thou hast desired of hym.
 He sayde: Let thy hand mayden synde sauoure in thy sight. So the woman wente her waye and yed eate / and loked nomore so sorrowfully / and on the morowe they gat them vp by ryces: And when they had worshipp ped before the Loide / they returned / a came home vnto Ramatha.

And Eliana layc with Hanna his wyfe / the Loide remembred her. And after certayne dayes she conceaued and bare a sonne / a Gen. 31. a cald his name Samuell / for I haue desired hym (sayd she) of the Loide. And when the man Eliana wente up with al his house / hold to offer sacrifices / a his vowe vnto the Loide at such tyme as the costume was / Hanna wot not up / but sayd vnto her housbande: I will not go vp / till the chyld be weened: then will I dyngge hym / that he maye appeare before the Loide / and conynne there? for euer. Num. 2.

Eliana her housband sayd vnto her: Eden
 Q. do as thou thyself best / tary not here weened hym: but the Loide performe that he hath spoken. So the woman abode / a gaue her sonne iust / till she weened hym. And whā she had weened hym / she brought hym vp with her / with three bullockes / with an Ephā of fyne flour / a a barte of wyne / and brought him in to the house of the Loide at Silo.

Neuertheless / the chyld was yet but yonge
 And they slew a bullocke / a brought the chyld vnto Eli. And he sayd: My lord / as truly as thy soule lyueth my lord / I am the womā that stode here by the / and made intercession vnto the Loide / whā I prayed for thy chyld.
 Now hath the Loide graunted me my prayson vnto which I desired of hym: therefore haue I gauen hym ouer vnto the Loide / as longe as he is quiet vnto the Loide. And they worshipp ped the Loide there.

The 11. Chapter.
And Hanna prayed and sayde: My hert receyved in the Loide / and my boime is called in the Loide.

My mouth is opened vnto vpon myne nemys / for I am glad of thy saluation.

There is noman holy as the Loide / for withouth the is nothyng / a there is no com foite lyfe vnto our God.

Let go youre grear boastyng of the thyn ges / let go out of youre mouth that elde by words: for the Loide is a God that knoweth all.

all thynges / and he hath set all woyses in order.

The worde of thy myghte is broken / and strength are gyved about with strenght.

They that were fylled afoze / are solbe for bread: they that were hungrye / are satisfied: myll the barren bare fruit / and yll the that had many chyldren / was become weake.

The Lord slayeth / and geueth lyfe: he leueth / and bringeth vnto hill / and bringeth out agayne.

The Lord maketh poore / and maketh ryche: he bringeth lowe / and exalteth.

He taketh vp the ruyne out of the dust / and lyfteth vp the poore out of the myre / that he maye set them amonge the prynces / and to let them inheret the seat of honoure / for the foundation and corner of the world are the Lordes / and he hath set the compassse of the earth theron.

He shall persecute the feite of his sanctes / but the vngodly shall be put to silence in their fenell: for there is no man that can voughte of his owne power.

The Lordes enemies shall be put in feare / before hym: he shall thunder vpon them in heauen.

The Lord shall iudge the endes of the world / and shall geue strenght vnto his kynges / a shall exalte the borne of his anoynted.

Elcana wente his wayes to Ramath vnto his house: And the chyld became the Lordes minister before Eli the puelle. But Elia sonnes were the chyldren of Bethell / and knewe not the Lord: nor the Beurye of the puellis vnto the people: but when any man wolde offer ought / the puellis boye came: whyle the self was sechryng / and had a thre foiled fleshe in his hande / and thrust it in to the cauldron / of Fettel / or panne / or por: and loke what he drew forth with the fleshe / that toke the puell therof. Thus byd they vnto all Israell / whiche came thence vnto Silo.

They wyse / or cuer they burned the sacrifice / the puellis lad came / and sayd vnto hym that broughte the offeringe: Crue me the fleshe / that I maye roste it for the puell / for he wyll receaue no fozen fleshe of the / but rawe.

If any man sayd then vnto hym: Let the sacrifice as it ought to be thus saye / and afterwarde take what thynge heere desyrest / then sayde he vnto hym: Thou shalt geue it me / euen now if no / I will take it from thy by violence. Therefore was the synne of the chyldren very greue before the Lord: for the people spake euell of the: meate offeringe of the Lord. But Samuel was a minister before the Lord: and the chyld was gyded with an ouerbody of lymme. His mother also made hym a lya core of silke / and broughte it vp vnto hym at conuenient tymes when she wente vnto her husbande to offer the offeringe in due season.

And Eli blessed Elcana and his wyfe / and sayde: The Lord geue thee side of this woman for this good that thou haste lent vnto the Lord. And they went: vnto theyr place. And the Lord visyted Hannah / so that he educatid and bare this sonne: a two dayes later: but the chyld Samuel grew vp with the Lord.

As for Eli he was very olde / and bedde of all that his sonnes byd vnto all Israell / how they lape with the women that serued God before the doore of the tabernacle of witness: as he sayde vnto them / wherefore do ye this? for I heare of your euell conuersacion of all this people. Not so my chyldren / this is no good reporte that I heare / ye cause the people of the Lord to offend. If any man synne against a man / the iudgcan redresse it. But if any man synne against the Lord / who can redresse it? Leuerbleste they bekened not vnto the voyce of theyr father / for the Lordes will was to slaye them. But the chyld Samuel grewe vp / and was accepted of the Lord and of men.

There came a man of God to Eli / and said vnto hym: Thus sayeth the Lord: I sawe my selfe vnto thy fathers house / when they were yet in Egipte vnder the house of Pharao / and chose hym thence vnto my selfe before all the rybes of Israell / for the puell / and that he shoulde offer vpon my altare / and burne incense / and weare the ouerbody core before me / and vnto thy fathers house. I gave all the offeringe of the chyldren of Israell. Why leyst thou thy selfe then against my sacrifices / a meate offeringe / which I commaunded to offer in the habitecyons and thou honourst thy sonnes more the me/ that ye mighte fede your selves with the fruyt-lynges of all the meatespynges of my people of Israell:

Therefore sayeth the Lorde God of Israell: I haue spoken/ that thy house and thy fathers house should walke before me for euer.

G But now sayeth the Lorde: That be farre from me. But whoso euer honoureth me/ hym will I honour also: as for those that despise me/ they shall not be regarded. Beholde/ the tyme shall come/ that I will breake thyne arme in rwa/ and the arme of thy fathers house/ so that there shall no alde man be in thy house. And thou shalt see thyn aduersaries in the habitacyon/ in all the good of Israell/ and there shall neuer be elde men in thy fathers house. Yet will I not reue out eny my of the fro myne auisere/ but that thyn eyes may be cofumed/ and that thy soule may be foire: and a great multitude of thy house shall dye/ when theye come to be men.

i Reg. i. a. And this shalbe a token vnto the/ that shal come vpon thy two sonnes Ophni and Phineas: They shall both dye in one daye. i Reg. i. c. vnto my selfe I will rayse vp a saythful puel/ which shall do accordynge as it is in my herte and in my soule: vnto hym will I buyde a sure house/ that he maye alwaye walke before myne auisere. And whoso euer remaineth of thy house/ shall come and worshippe hym for a seuer peny/ as for a peece of bread/ as thou saye: I praye the leaue me to one puffed party/ that I maye eate a messell of bread.

The III. Chapter.

And when the chyld Samuel ministred vnto the Lorde vnder Ely/ the word of the Lorde was heare at the same tyme/ neyther was there any sure and manyfell vshon. And it comyned at the same tyme that Ely laye in his place/ and his eyes beganne to be vshyned/ that he coulde not see. And Samuel had layd hym doune in the temple of the Lorde/ (where the Treke of God was) before the lampe of God was put out. And y Lorde called Samuel. He answered: Beholde here am I. And he rane vnto Ely/ and sayd: Beholde here am I/ thou hast called me. But he sayd: I haue not called/ why thou waye agayne/ laye the doune to slepe. And he wte his waye/ and layed hym doune to slepe.

The Lorde called agayne Samuel. And Samuel arose/ and wete vnto Ely/ and sayd: Beholde here am I/ thou hast called me. Vscurred he. He sayd: My sonne/ I haue not called the. Go thy waye agayne/ and laye the doune to slepe. So sae Samuel/ he knewe not the Lorde as yet/ at the word of the Lorde was not yet shewed vnto hym. And y Lorde called Samuel the thrid tyme. And he arose and wente vnto Ely/ and sayd: Beholde here am I/ thou hast called me. Then perceaued Ely that the Lorde called the chyld/ and he sayd vnto hym: Go thy waye agayne/ and lepe the doune to slepe: and if the Lorde call any more/ then seye: Speake Lorde/ for thy seruants heareth. Samuel wente his waye/ and layd hym doune in his place. Then came the Lorde/ and stode/ and called lyfr an afors: Samuel/ Samuel. And Samuel sayd: Speake Lorde/ for thy seruant heareth. And the Lorde sayd vnto Samuel: Beholde/ I do a thyng in Israell/ that whoso euer shall here in/ both his eares shall glowe. In that daye will I raise vp vpon Ely/ all that I haue spoken/ concernynge his house. I will raise in thyn hande/ and performe it: for I haue tolde hym/ that I will be iudge ouer his house for euer/ because of the wickednes/ that he knewe how shamefully his chyldren behaued them selves/ and hath not once loked sorely therto: Therefore haue I strewe vnto y house of Ely/ that this wickednesse of the house of Ely shall not be reconcyled/ neyther with sacrifice/ nor with meatespynges for euer. And Samuel lay vnto the meatespynges/ and opened the doores of the house of the Lorde.

But Samuel was afrayed to tell the vshon vnto Ely. Then Ely called hym/ and sayd: Samuel my sonne. He answered: Behold. Here am I. He sayd: What is the word that the Lorde hath spoken vnto the: whye it not for me: God do this a that vnto the/ if thou hyde ought fro me/ of al that he hath talld with y. Then Samuel tolde hym altogether/ and byd nothyng from him. He sayd: It is y Lorde/ let hym do what please hym.

Samuel grewe vnto the Lorde was with hym/ and there fell none of all his wordes vpon the earth. And all Israell from

Then onto Bersaba / knewe þe Samuel was fyrstfull to be a prophete of the Lorde. And the Lorde appeared agayne at Silo: for the Lorde shewed him selfe onto Samuel at Silo: þow in the wynde of the Lorde.

The xliiij. Chapter.

And all Israel spake of Samuel. And Israel wente forth to the battayll agaynst the Philistines / and pitched beside the i. Helpstone: As for the Philistines / they pitched at Aphek / and prepared them selves agaynst Israel. And when the battail beganne / the host was deuyded / so that Israel was in x. iij. before the enemyes / and in the edge in the felde they slewe aboute a foure thousande mē.
And when the people came in to the host / the Elders of Israel sayde: Wherefore hath the Lorde caused vs to be smytten this daye before the Philistines? Let vs take vnto vs the Arke of the Lorde: & the conuenaunt from Silo / euidet it come amonge vs / that it may helpe vs from the hande of our enemyes. And the people sent vnto Silo / and caused to fetch thence the Arke of the conuenaunt of the Lorde Sabaoth / that sitteth vpon the Che-rubims. And with the Arke of the conuenaunt of God there were the two sonnes of Eli / Ophni and Phineas.

And when the Arke of the conuenaunt of the Lorde came in to the host / all Israel shouted with a great shout: / so that the earth sounded withall. But when the Philistines heard the noise of it: they sayde: What noise is this of such great shouting in the tent of the Hebrewes? And when they perceaued that the Arke of the Lorde was come in to the host / they were affrayed and sayde: God is come in to the host. And they sayd moou-erly: Wo vnto vs / for it hath not bene thus afore tyme. Wo vnto vs. Who will deliuer vs from the hande of these byc goddes? These are the goddes that smote Egypt with all maner of plegues in the wilderness. Be stronge now in manly ye Philistynes / that ye serue not the Hebrewes / for they haue serued you.
Be manly and fight.

E Then fought the Philistines / and Israel was smitten / and euery one fled vnto his ren-te / and there was a very great slaughter / so that there fell of Israel thurty thousande foote men. And the Arke of God was taken / And the two sonnes of Eli / Ophni and Phni / died byc.

Then raine there one off Ben Jamin out of the fore front of the battayll / and came onto Solo the same daye / and had his clothes rent / and had earth vpon his heade / And when he came in / he fell vpon the seate / that he might loke toward the waye: for his herte was fere full aboute the Arke of God. And when the man came in to the cysteme / he robe it forth / and all the cysteme cryed. And when Eli herd the noise of the cryenge / he cryed: What noise of busynesse is this? The man came hastily / and tolde him. (As for Eli he was foure score / and eyghtene year old / for his eyes were dimme / so that he coulde not see.) The man sayde vnto Eli: I come / and am fled this day out of the host. He sayde: How is it thy sonne?

Then answered the rynging: byrnger and sayde: Israel is fled before the Philistines / and a great slaughter hath there ben entoughe the people / and thy two sonnes Ophni and Phineas are dead / yee / and the Arke of God is taken awaye. When he had made incheion of the Arke of God / he fel downe backwarde from the seate by the gate / and brake his necke and dyed: for he was olde / and an heauy man.
He iudged Israel soueraynly. The wife of his sonne Phineas was with chylde / and shoulde shortly haue ben deliuered: when she herde the rynging that the Arke of God was taken / and that her brother in lawe / and her houssbande were dead / she bowed her selfe a trauapled: for her payne came vpon her. And when she was now at the pointe of death / the women that stode by her / sayd: Fere not / thou hast a yonge sonne. But she gaue no answere / nyther regarded it / and she called the chylde Icabod / and sayd: The glorye is gone from Israel / because the Arke of God was taken awaye / and her brother in lawe and her houssbande. And she sayd incheion The glorye is gone from Israel / for the Arke of God is taken awaye.

The v. Chapter.

As for the Arke of God / the Philistynes tooke it / and brought it from T. the floure of Helpe vnto Ashdod / into the house of Dagon / ¶ Reg. viij. c.

¶ Reg. viij. c.

and set it besyde Dagon. And when they of Ashod rose vp early on the morow/they soude Dagon lying on his face upon the earth/beside the Arke of the Lord. But they toke vp Dagon: and fer hym agayne in his place. Cleuerhils/when they rose vp early on the next morow/they found Dagon lying on his face upon the earth beside the Arke of the Lord: but his heade a both his handes betwix of vpon the tresholde /so that the blacke laye there only. Therefore the priestes of Dagon/and al they that go in to his house/creade nor vpon the tresholde of Dagon at Ashod: vnto this daye.

B But the harte of the Lord was heauy vpon them of Ashod/and destroyed them/and smote Ashod/and al the borders therof in secrette places. When the men of Ashod saw that they were so plagued/they sayde: Let not the Arke of the God of Israel tary with vs: for his hande is to hard vpon vs/ and vpon oure God Dagon. And they sent forth/and gathered all the pynces of the Philistynes vnto them/and sayde: What shall we do with the Arke of the God of Israel: Then answered they of Geth: Lett the Arke of the God of Israel be bose aboure. And they caried the Arke of the God of Israel rounde aboure.

C But when they bare it aboute/there was a very greate rumor: in the eyne the men had of the Lord/and smote the people of the eyne from the smallest vnto the greatest/and destroyed them in the secrette places. Then sent they the Arke of the Lord vnto Efron. But when the Arke of the Lord came vnto Efron/they of Efron cryed: They haue caused the Arke of God aboute vnto me/to slaye me and my people.

D Then sente they forth / and gathered all the pynces of the Philistynes together / and said: Sende awaye the Arke of the God of Israel agayne vnto her place/that it slay not me a my people:for there is a very greate rumoure with the dead in all the eyne/and the hande of God is there. And the people that theyd not/were smitten in secrette places/so that the necke of the eyne wente vp vnto heauen.

E Thus was the Arke of the Lord in the Arke of the Philistynes six monethes. And the Philistynes called they: pestes and sorowfayers/and sayde: What shal we do with the Arke of the Lord: They answered vs/wherby shall we sende it vnto her place: They sayde: If ye wil sende awaye the Arke of the God of Israel/steale it nor awaye empty: but geue a trespassse offeringe: so shall ye be made whole/and ye shall knowe why his hande departeth not from you.

They sayde: What is the trespassse offeringe that we shall geue hym: They answered: fruc mans hynder partes of golde / and frue golden myce / accordyng to the numbe of the frue pynces of the Philistynes. For there hath ben: one maner of plague vnto you all/ and vpon youre pynces. Therefore must ye make your hynder partes of one substance/ and youre myce/ whiche haue destroyed youre lande: that ye maye geue the God of Israel the honoure: per aduantage his hande shal be the lyghter vpon you/ and vpon youre God/ and vpon youre lande. Why hath en ye youre herto as the Egyptians and Pharaos hardened they: hert: When he showed hym selfe vpon them: theyd not they let them departe to go they: weye.

Go to now/therefore/ make a T new cart/ and take two milke lynes/ vnto the which there neuer came yocke/ and yocke them to the carte a kerbyes: callt tary behynde the at home/ take ye the Arke of the Lord/ and laye it vpon the carte/ and the iewels of golde that ye geue hym for a trespassse offeringe/ put in a coffere beside it/ and sende it awaye/ and let it go. And loke well if it go the weye of her owne coast Beth Shemoa / then hath he done vs all this greate euill: If no/then shal ye knowe that his hande hath not touched vs/ but that is happened vnto vs by chaunce.

The men theyd so/ and toke two yonge milke lynes / and yocked them to carte / and helde they: callt at home / and layed the Arke of the Lord vpon the cart/ and the coffere with the golden myce / and with the Images of they: yscals. And the lynes wente straight waye vnto Beth Shemoa upon one of the streets/ and wente on clearyng/ and turned nyther to the ryght hande nor to the left. And the pynce pynces of the Philistynes wente after them vnto the coall of Beth Semes.

The Beth Semites were euen reappynge youne theyr wheat baruel in the valley / and lyfte vp theyr eyes / a sawe the Arcke / a reioyced so fast. The care came in to the felde of Josua the Beth Semite / a there it stode still. And there was a great stone / a they claue the tymber of the care / and offered the fyne vnto the Lord for a burnt offeringe.

But the Lewites toke youne the Arcke of the Lord / and the coffe that was by it / when the Jewes of golde were / and sette them vpon the great stone. The men of Beth Semes offered burnt offerings / a other offerings also vnto the Lord the same daye. And when the fyne pynces of the Philistynes had sene it / they departed agayn / the same daye towarde Ebron.

And certayne of Beth Semes were slayne / because they had sene the Arcke of the Lord / and because theyre ffyfte thousande and seuen ty men of the people. Then mourned the people / because the Lord had done so great a slaughter in the people. And the men at Beth Semes sayde: Who may stande before the Lord so holy a God? And to whome shal he go from vs? And they sent messengers to the inhabitants of Bynath Jearam / sayenge: The Philistynes haue broughte the Arcke of God agayne / come youne and fetch it vp vnto you.

The. VII. Chapter.

¶ Some of Bynath Jearam came youne / and fetched the Arcke of the Lord / and broughte it in to the house of Aminadab at Gibeon / and they celebrated Eleazar his sonne for that he myghte feyre the Arcke. And fro that daye that the Arcke of the Lord abode at rynath Jearam / the tyme extended forth so longe tyll it came to twentye yeares: all the house of Israel wept after the Lord.

But Samuel sayd vnto al the house of Israel: If ye returne with all youre heart vnto the Lord / then put away from you ffyrte eue goddes and Astaroth / and directe youre heart vnto the Lord / and I sette hym onlye thy god. And he deliuer you out of the hande of the Philistynes. Then the chyldren of Israel put away Baalim and Astaroth from thence / and serued the Lord onlye.

Samuel sayde: Gather all Israel together vnto Mizpa / that I maye praye for you vnto the Lord. And they came together vnto Mizpa / and drew water / and poured it out before the Lord / and fasted the same daye / and there they sayde: We haue synned vnto the Lord. So Samuel iudged the chyldren of Israel at Mizpa.

But when the Philistynes herd: that the chyldren of Israel were come together vnto Mizpa / the pynces of the Philistynes wente vp agaynst Israel. When the chyldren of Israel herd that they were afrayed of the Philistynes / and layde vnto Samuel: Ceasse not to crye vnto the Lord our God for vs / that he maye helpe vs out of the hande of the Philistynes. Samuel roke a fat lambe / and offered it eel. And crye vnto the Lord for Israel / and the Lord herde hym. And whyle Samuel was of the offeringe the burnt offeringe / the Philistynes came to fight agaynst Israel. But the Lord rhounded a thunder vpon the Philistynes the same daye / and vnkoufired them / so that they were fynyten before Israel. Then wrote the men of Israel forth / and chased the Philistynes / and smote them tyll vnder Beth Car. There roke Amnael a stone / and set betwene Mizpa and Beth / and called it the f. Piles. Reg. iij. a stone / and sayde: Hebereth hath the Lord and vs a helpe vs. Thus were the Philistynes broughte youne / and came no more within the border of Israel. And the hande of the Lord was agaynst the Philistynes as long as Samuel liued.

¶ So Israel gat the cyties agayne / that the Philistynes had conquered from Ebron. Reg. iij. a vnto Gath / with the border therof / those

And Israel rescue out of the hande of the Philistines: Israel had peace with the Ammonites. Samuel iudged Israell as long as he lived: and went aboute euery yeare vnto Bethel and Gilgal and Mizpa: when he had iudged Israell in all the places he came agayne vnto Ramath: for there was his house: there he iudged Israel: a daylded an anntre there vnto the Leide.

The VIII. Chapter.

And when Samuel waxed olde / he sette his sonnes to be iudges ouer Israell. His first borne sonne was called Joel: and the seconde Abia: and they were iudges at Bersaba. Neuertheless his sonnes walked not in his traces: but enclined vnto couerousnesse: and toke gyfts: and wasted the lawe. Then all the Elders in Israell gathered them selfes together / and came to Ramath vnto Samuel: and sayde vnto hym: Beholde: thou art wesen olde: and thy sonnes walke not in

i. Neg. xii. c. thy wayes: / for a kynge ouer vs therfore: to i. Neg. xii. d. iudge vs: as the Heithen haue. Then was 2c. xxij. b. Samuell displeasid when they sayde: Geue vs a kynge to iudge vs. And Samuel prayed before the Loide.

The Loide sayde vnto Samuel: Herken vnto the voyce of f people in all that they haue sayde vnto thee. For they haue not refused: / but me that I should not be kynge ouer the. They do vnto thee / as they haue done euery sence the daye that I brought them out of the lande of Egipte vnto this daye: and haue forsaken me: and serued other goddes. Herken now therfore vnto theyr voyce. Yet restlyse vnto them: / and thence thyn the name of the kynge that shal raygne ouer them.

And Samuel tolde all the wordes of the Loide vnto the people: that required a kynge of hym. This shalbe the lawe of the kynge: that shal raygne ouer you: your sonnes shalbe taken for his charrettes: and for horsmen to rüne before his charrettes: / and to be rulers a cupp raynes to be plowmen to yll his lande: and to be reapers in his barnes: / a to make his harness: and such thyng: as be longte to his charrettes. To for your daughteres: he shal take them to be Apparetices: cofers: and bakere.

ii. Re. xij. d. Your best lande: and vineyardes: and oylegardens shal be take: / and geue vnto his seruauntos: / of youre sides also: and by nyghtes shal he take the nyghtes: and geue vnto his chamberlaynes and seruantes. And youre seruantes: and youre maydens: / and youre beste yonge men: and your asses shal be take: and so his busynesse withall: of your flockes shal be take the nyghtes: as ye shalbe his seruantes. When ye shal crye: then at the same tyme: / ouer your kynge: whome ye haue chosen you: the Loide shal not heare you at any same tyme. Neuertheless: the people refused to heare the voyce of Samuel: and sayde: Not so: but there shal be a kynge ouer vs: / at we maye be as al other Heithen: / that oure kynge maye iudge vs: and geue soubd: for vs: / and gouerne our warres. Then berkened Samuel vnto all that the people sayde: / and tolde it before the eeres of the Loide. The Loide sayde vnto hym: Herken thou vnto theyr voyce: / and make them a kynge. And Samuel sayde vnto the men of Israell: So youre waye euery one vnto his cyne.

The IX. Chapter.

There was a man of Ben Iamin named Jelis: his sonne of Abel: the sonne of Zee: / a Kap: the sonne of Bethobah: the sonne of Zaphath: / a Kap: the sonne of a man of Iamin: / a valiant man: which had a sonne named Saul: which was so goodly a yonge man: / that there was not a goodlyer among the dayldren of Israell: by ether by the heade then all the people. Elis the father of Saul had lost his assis: / and he sayde vnto Saul his sonne: Take one of the dayldren with thee: / get the vp: / go thy waye: and sike the asses. And he wente his waye thowre mounte Ephraim: / and thowre the lande of Solisa: and founde them not. They wente thowre the lande of Galim: / and there they were not. They passed thowre the lande of Zamin: and founde them not. But when they came in to the lide of Suph: Saul sayde vnto the dayldre that was with hym: Come let vs go home agayne: / lest my father let go the asses: and take care for vs. He sayde: Beholde: here is an honorable man of God: in this tyme: / al that he sayth cometh to passe: Let vs go thither nowe: / peraduenture he maye sike vs: our waye which we go. But Saul sayde vnto his dayldre: Though we shoulde go: / what kynge we the man: for the breache is gone out of oure wall: / a clo haue we no gyfte to bunge the man of God: what haue we? The child answered againe a sayde: Beholde: I haue þe fourth part of a splere siele by me the same wil we geue the man of God / that he maye shew vs oure waye.

B Also came in Israel: when a man wente to Egypt: counseyll at the Lord: he sayde: Come: let vs go to the Egypt: for they that now are called prophets: were called Seiers afore tyme: Saul sayde vnto his childre: Thou hast well spoken: come let vs go. And when they went vnto the cyne where the man of God was: a came vp vnto the cyne: they founde damfelle / which were gone forth to drawe water: vnto them they sayde: Is the Egypt here? They answered the and said: Yee: Beholde / he is there: make hast: so he came into þe cyne this yere: because the people haue a sacrifice to do to Baem the hye place. When ye come in the cyne: shal fynde hym: so he go vp to the hye place: for to eate for the people wyl not eate: he shall come. For he shall bestee the offeringe: Then shall they eate that are called. Therefore go your waye vp: for euen now shal ye fynde hym.

C And when they came vp to the cyne / and were euen in the myddes of þe cyne / beholde: Samuel came forth in they: way: and wolde go vp to the hye place. Aug. 17. a But the Lord had opened Samuels eare the daye afore: so oure Saul came: and saide: To morow aboute this cyne will I fynde a man vnto the out of the lande of Ben Jamin: hym shalt thou assigne to be pyncer ouer my people of Israel: that he maye deliuer my people from the hande of the Philistines: for I haue loked vpon my people: a they: eye is come before me. Now when Samuell behelde Saul: the Lord cōfiterred hym: lo / that is the man of whome I tolde the: that he should reygne ouer my people.

Then came Saul vnto Samuell vnder the gate: and sayde: tell me (I praye the) where is the Seyers house? Samuell answered Saul / and sayde: I am the Seyer. Go vp before me vnto the hye place: for ye shall eate with me to day: to morow will I let the go: and all that is in thine heart: will I tell the: and as for the asses: which were lost the daye ago: care not thou for them: for they are founde. And to whome shall belonge all that is pleasaur in Israel? Shall it not be longe vnto the: and to all thy fathers house? Saul answered: Am not I a sonne of Teremi: / and of the smallest tribe: and my kindred is the leaste amonge all the kynredes off Irybe of Ben Jamin? Why speakest thou so then vnto me? Samuel toke Saul and his childre: and brought them into þe parle where they should eate: and sette them aboute those that were called: / of whome they were aboute a thynke men. And Samuel laid vnto the cofe: geue me the porcion that I gaue the: / a had the kepe it by the. Then the cofe roke vp a shoulder / and bare it forth: and set it before Saul. And Samuel sayde: Beholde: this is left: laye it before the: and care: for it was kepe for the: againste this yere: when I called the people. Thus spak Saul eate with Samuel the same daye.

And when they were gone: he came from the hye place: vnto the cyne: he called with Saul in the chamber. And they rose vp early on the morow. And when the morning spryngt: crose / Samuel called Saul in the chamber: and sayde: Why: thou maye sende þy waye. And Saul gaue hym vnto they: both wente forth together: he and Samuel. And when they came vnto the ende of þe cyne: Samuel sayd vnto Saul: Speake vnto the childre: that he go on feith before vs: our stande thou: first now: what I maye shewe the what God hath sayde.

The X. Chapter.

A Then toke Samuel a glasse of oyle: and I poured it vpon his heade: / a I blessed hym: / a he: ruy. c. and sayde: Seyst thou that the Lord hath anoynted the: to be the pyncer ouer this en: deut. 17. c. heritaunce: When thou goest now for me: thou shalt fynde two men by the: Achis: Ge. xxxv. d. graue: in the coast of Ben Jamin at Bethel: which shall lere vnto the: The asses are feid: / whome thou wrentest to see: and beholde: thy father hath put the asses out of his mow: / a taketh thought for the: and sayde: What shal I do for my forme.

And when thou goest on forth from thence: thou shalt come to the Ofte of Thebes: there shall the man fynde the: which go vp vnto waye.

And when they came onto the hill / Be-holde there mette him a company of prophetes /
i. Reg. xi. b and the spete of God came upon him / so that he propheted amonge them. But when they which knewe him before / saue him that he propheted with the prophetes / they sayde all amonge them selfes: What is happened vnto the sonne of Elis? Is Saul also amonge the prophetes? And one that was there answered and saide: Who is they: sa-ther? Here of came y prouerbe: Is Saul also amonge the prophetes? And what he had left of prophesyng / he came vnto the hill.

Sauls vncle sayde vnto him and to his childe: Whether wente ye? They answered: To see the offse. And when we sawe that they were awaye / we came vnto Samuel.
Then sayd Sauls vncle: Telle me / what sayde Samuel vnto you? Saul answered his vncle:
The tolde vs that the offse were founde.
But of the kynngdome / he tolde him nothinge what Samuel had said.

Samuel called the people together vnto the Lorde to Mizpa / and spake vnto the chiliden of Israel: Thus sayeth the Lorde God of Israel: I thoughte Israel out of Egypte / and deliuered you from the hande of Egyptians / and from the hande of all y kinges that oppressed you. But now haue ye refused you God / which hath helped you out of all youre sorowes and troubles / and ye haue said vnto him: Set a kenge ouer vs. Will stande ye now before the Lorde / accordinge to your mitis and kynredes.

Now / what Samuel hadde broughte forth / all the wibes of Israel / the wibe of Ben Jamin was taken. And when he had shewed the the wibe of Ben Jamin with his kynredes / y fined of Eli was taken / and Saul the sonne of Elis was taken. And they sought him / but they founde him not.

Then asked they further at the Lorde / whether he was for to come thence. The Lord answered: Beholde / he hath hidd himselfe amonge the vessils. Then ranne they thither / and founde him. And when he shode amonge the people / he was by the y head then all the people. And Samuel said vnto all the people: There seye him whom the Lorde hath chosen / so: in all the people there is none like him.
Then gaue al y people a shoute / and said: God saue the new kynge.

Samuel tolde the people of the late of the kynngdome / and wrote it in a booke / and laid it before the Lorde. And Samuel let all the people go every one to his owne house.
And Saul went home also vnto Gibea / and there mette with him one parte of the hoole whiche heres God had reioiced. But the chiliden of Bethal saide: What shall this helpe vs / and despyred hym / and sought him: no present. But he made him as though he herde it not.

The XI. Chapter.

¶ Thus the Ammonite went vs / a layd y siege vnto Jabes in Gilead. And all the men of Jabes sayd vnto Nabas: Be at one with vs and we will serue the. But Nabas y Ammonite answered them: I will make a conuenaunt with you on this condicon / that I maye thrust out al your right eyes / a put you to shame amonge al Israel. Then sayde al the eldres of Jabes vnto him: Geue vs seuen shekes of spysse / that we maye sende me
saunges

saungers into the coastes of Israel: If there be no sauour/we wil go forth vnto the.

So the messaugers came vnto Gibea of Saul/and spake thus before the eares of the people. Then at the people lyke vp theyr voice and wepte. And beholde/Saul came after the open out the fild:and sayde:What eyeth the people that they wepte? So they tolde him the cause of the men of Jabes. Then came the spere of God vpon him/whan he had herde these wordes/and his wrath was sore moued/and he toke a couple of oxen/and therewith them in funder/and sent them in to all the coastes of Israel by the messaugers/sayinge: Whosoever goeth not forth after Saul and Samuel/ his open shalbe thus dealt withal.

Then fell the feare of the Lorde vpon the people/so that they wente forth lyke as one man. And they were tolde at Babel/ and of the children of Israel there were the hid:eth thousande men/and thery thousande of the children of Iuda. And they spake vnto the messaugers that were come: Saye thus vnto the men of Jabes in Galaad: To morrowe shal ye haue helpe/whan I Sunne is at the whorset. Whan the messaugers come and tolde this to the men of Jabes/they were glad. And the men of Jabes saide: To morrowe wyl we come forth vnto you/that ye maye do vnto vs/whosoever it pleaseth you. And on the nexte morrowe/Saul set the people in their perres/and came into the heell aboute the morninge ward/and smote the Ammonites/whiche were at the whorset. So for those that remained/they were so feared/that two of them abode not together.

Then said the people vnto Samuel: Where are they that sayd: I shoulde Saul reigne ouer vs? Beluier vs here I men/that we maye put them to death. But Saul saide: There shal no man spe this vnto: for to haue hath the Lord geuen health in Israel. Samuel sayd vnto the people: Come/let vs go vnto Gilgal and renewe the kynagome there. Then went all the people vnto Gilgal/where they made Saul kynge before the Lord at Gilgal/and offered thankoffringes before the Lord. And Saul with all the men of Israel reioyced there greatly.

The XII. Chapter.

Samuel said vnto all Israel: Beholde/ I haue chosen vnto you a voice in all that ye said vnto me/and haue made a kynge ouer you. And now lest here goeth your kynge before you. As for me/ I am wryth eide a grep decreed/and my sonnes are with you: and I haue gone before you fro my youth vp vnto this daye. Beholde here am I: I haue sworne as ganst me before the Lord and his anoynted/ if I haue taken any mans eye/ or affe: if I haue done any man violence/ or wronge/ if I haue oppressed any man/ if I haue receaued a gyfte of any mans hande/ and septe it secretly/ I wil restore it you agayne.

They sayde: Thou hast done vs no nether violence nor wronge/ nether oppressed/ nor taken ought of any mans hande. He sayde: The Lorde be mynesse agaynst you/ and so he his anoynted this daye/ that ye haue founde nothyng in my hande. They sayde: Yee/they shalbe mynesse. And Samuel sayde vnto the people: The Lorde whiche made Moses and Aaron/and broughte your fathers out of the lende of Egypte here present. Stande forth now therfore/that I may iudge you before the Lorde ouer the ryghteousnes of the Lorde/whiche he hath done for you and your fathers.

Whan Jacob was come into Egypte/ Gen. xlii. a your fathers cryed vnto the Lord. And he sent Moses and Aaron to bringe you for: Ex. ii. b there out of Egypte/and to cause them for to dwell in this place.

But when they forgoth the Lorde/they Iud. iii. a God he sold them vnder the power of Chisra the captayne at Heger/ send vnder the power of the kynge of the Moabites/ whiche fought agaynst them. But they cryed vnto the Lord/ and sayde: We haue sinned/ in that we haue forsaken the Lord/ and serued Baalim/ and Ashtaroth. But now Beluier vs from the hand of our enemyes/ and we wyl serue the. Then Iud. vi. e the Lorde sent Jerubbaal/ Eder/ i. Zeph. i. Jud. viii. b and Samuel/ and Beluiered you from your enemye rounde aboute/ and caused you to dwell safe. I. K. xii. a

But when ye sawe that Chisra/ the kynge of the children of Ammon came agaynst you/

1. Kc. viij. a The sayde vnto me: Not thou/ but a kynge shall raygne ouer vs where/as not withstanding your God was your kynge. Now/ there haue ye your kynge/ whome ye haue chosen/ and desired: so lo/ the Lord hath set a kynge ouer you. If ye shall feare the Lord now/ a serue hym/ and hearken vnto his voyce/ and be not disobedient vnto the mouth of the Lord/ the Lord shall be your kynge/ and your kynge shall be the Lord your God. But if ye hearken not vnto the voyce of the Lord/ but be disobedient vnto his mouth/ then shall the hande of the Lord be against you/ and against your fathers.

Standeth forth now also/ and beholde this great rhyng/ that the Lord shall do before your eyes. Is it not now the wheat harvest?
 For will I call vpon the Lord/ so that he shall cause it to thunder and rayne/ that ye shall knowe and se the great euill/ which ye haue done in this sight of the Lord/ in that ye haue desired to haue a kynge.

ij. K. xviij. f And when Samuel called vpon the Lord/ the Lord caused it to thunder and rayne the same daye.

Then all the people feared the Lord/ as Samuel greatly/ and they sayde al vnto Sa-mul: Diste thou vnto the Lord thy God for thy seruantes/ that we theve not/ for beynde our synnes we haue done thus euill also/ that we haue desired vnto vs a kynge: Samuel sayde vnto all the people: Feare not/ ye haue done all this euill in deede. Neuerthelesse/ depart not backe from the Lord/ but serue the Lord with all your herte/ and go not afyer after vayne/ for it profiteth you nothing/ and can not helpe you in so much as is vs/ but a

Ex. xxxij. b wayne thyng. ¶ For the Lord shall not forget his people/ because of his great names sake/ for the Lord hath begun to make you a people vnto hym selfe. But God forbod/that I shoulde synne so vnto the Lord/ to cause from praiing for you/ and from teaching you the good and righteous waye. Feare ye the Lord therefore/ and serue hym faithfully with all your herte: for ye haue sent home great rhynges be both vnto you. But if ye byd voycedly/ both ye and your kynge shall perishe.

The XIII. Chapter.

Saul had ben kynge one yere/ and wha he had raygned ouer Israel two yeres/ he chose hym the thousand men out of Israel/ whiche thousand were with Saul at Mich-mas/ vpon the mount of Berbe/ a one thousande with Ionathas at Gibea of Ben Jamin. As the other people/ helte the goe euery one vnto his tent. But Ionathas smote the Philistines in theyr own watch/ which was at Gibea. That came to the Philistines care-And Saul caused to blowe the trumpets in all the lande/ and to saye: Let vs heauen be heard. And all Israel herde saye: Saul hath synneth the Philistines watch/ for Israel stande before the Philistines. And all the people cryed after Saul at Gilgal.

Then the Philistines gathered them selfes together to fight with Israel/ thysie thousande charrettes/ six thousande horsemen/ and other people beside in numbre as the lande by the seethore/ and came vp/ and pitched at Michmas on the Eastside of Berbaen.
 When the men of Israel saw that missetune laye vpon the necke of them/ so the people was come therto/ they crepe into caues and crenelles/ into rocks/ and holes/ and welles.
 But the Hebrews wente ouer Iordan vnto the lande of Gad and Gilead. As for Saul he was yet at Gilgal/ and all the people were synne heret after him: Then caryed he seue dayes/ according to the tyme appointed of Samuel. And when Samuel came not vnto Gilgal/ the people were scattered abroade from him. Then sayde Saul: Bring me a burnt offering/ and thank offering/ and he offered a burnt offering. But when he had made an ende of the burnt offering/behold/ Samuel came. Then wente Saul forth to meet hym/ he myghte salute him.

But Samuel said: What hast thou done? Saul answered: I sawe that the people was scattered abroade for me/ and thou camest not in due season/ and the Philistines were gathered together at Michmas. Then said I: Now shall the Philistines come doune to me vnto Gilgal/ and I haue not sought the face of the Lord: and so I boldened myselfe and offered a burnt offering.

Samuel sayde vnto Saul: Thou hast done.

None softly/and nor kepte the commandment of the Lo:de thy God/whiche he commanded the. For if thou haddest not done this/he had prospered thy kyngdome vpon Israel for euer: but now shall not thy kyngdome continue. ¶ The Lo:de hath sought him out a man after his owne hert/him hath the Lo:de commanded to be pynned ouer his people: for thou hast not kepte that the Lo:de commanded the. And Semuel arose/a wente up from Gilgal vnto Gibeon Ben-Jamin.

¶ And Saul numbered the people that was founde with him vpon a sixe hundred men. Saul and his sonne Jonathan/and the people that was with thei saryed at Gibeon Ben-Jamin: but the Philistines hadde pitched thei: tentes at Michmas. And out of the host of the Philistines there wente the bandes of men to Betsur: and they turned the waye towards Ephraim into the lande of Sual: another turned to wards the waye of Bethoron: the thirde turned toward the waye that reacheth to the valleye of Sebaim/ vnto the wilderness.

But there was not a smith founde in all the lande of Israel: for the Philistines thought: The Hebrewes might haplye make swordes and speares. And all Israel were sayne to go vnto the Philistines/when any man had a plowshare/a mattocke/an axe/ or a sickle to sharpen: and the edges of the plowshare/ and mattocke/and sickle/and axes were laboured/ and sharpened at Bethoron. Now when the date of the battell came/there was neither sword nor speare founde in the hande of all the people that was with Saul and Jonathan: but for Saul and Jonathan his sonne/there was some that founde. And the Philistines warch went ouer by Michmas.

The XIIIII Chapter.

¶ The first founde at the same tyme that Jonathan sayde vnto his lad / which was his weapen bearer: Come let vs go ouer to the Philistines warch that lyeth about / and be tolde not by our father. Saul dwelt at the ende of Gibeon vnder a Pomegranate tree/ which was in the suburbs. ¶ And the people that were by him/ were vpon a sixe hundred men. And Jonathan the sonne of Saul the brother of Abdon/ the sonne of Phineas/ the sonne of Eli/priest of the Lo:de at Silo / byd weare the ouerbodye coat. But the people feared not that Jonathan was gone.

¶ Betwene the passages / where Jonathan soughte to go ouer vnto the Philistines warch/ there were two bye routes/ the one on the one side/ the other on the other: the one was called Beth-sean/ the other Seime. And the one laye on the North side toward Michmas/ and the other on the South side toward Gaba. And Jonathan sayde vnto his weapen bearer: Come let vs go ouer to the warch of these vncircumcised: peradventure the Lo:de shall wofe with vs. For it is no harde matter for the Lo:de to helpe by many o: by fewe. The answered hym his weapen bearer: So al that is in thine herte/ go in thy waye/ behold I am with thee/ euen as thine herte wyl.

¶ Jonathan said: Will then/ when we are gone ouer to the men / and come within the sight of them/ if they saye: Stande still/ till we come to you/ then will we stande still in our place/ and not go vp to the/ but if they saye come vp to vs/ we wyl go vp to them/ then hath the Lo:de deliuered them into oure hande/ and thus shalbe a token for vs. Now/ when they came forth in the sight of the Philistines warch the Philistines sayde: See the Hebrewes are gone out of their holes/ that they were crepte into. And the men in the warch answered Jonathan and his weapen bearer/ and sayde: Come up to vs/ and we wyl reach you what matter is. Then said Jonathan to his weapen bearer: Come up after me / the Lo:de hath deliuered them into Israels hande. And Jonathan clamme vp with handes and feet/ and his weapen bearer after him. And Jonathan smote them downe before him/ and his weapen bearer slowe behinde hym / so that the first slaughter that Jonathan and his weapen bearer dyd/ was vpon a weenie men/ within the length of halfe an acker of labe/ which a pare of oken maye tyl in one daie.

¶ And there came a fearfulness/ and flight in the host vpon the side/ and amonge all the people of the warch/ and vpon the Westroiers there came a fearfulness also/ and flight/ so that the lande was in a rumoure/ and there came a flighte downe God/ and Sauls warminen at Gibeon Ben-Jamin/ saw that the multitude that them awaye/and ranne to and fro.

Saul saide vnto the people that was with him: Let and se which of vs is gone away. And whan they numbe/Behold/ Jonathan and his weapen bearer was not there. Then sayd Saul vnto Thia: Hung vnto the Arke of Gods: for at þe tyme was the Arke of God with the children of Israel/ And while Saul was yet speakinge to the priest/ the multitude in the Philistines hoost gaue vp/ ranne/ a was great. And Saul sayde vnto the priest: With diuine thyns bande. And Saul cryed and all the people that was with him/ and came to þe Judic. vii. f. 34. sayd. And beholde/ Taucry mans sword ¶ Par. xx. d. was agaynst another/ and there was a very great rumoure.

The Hebrews also that were with þe Philistines afore/ and had gone vp with them in the host on euery syde/ toynd them selves vnto Israel/ which were with Saul and Jonathan. And all the men of Israel/ which had byd them selves vpon the mount of Ephraim/ whan they herde þe Philistines fled/ so towed after them in the battayll. Thus the Lord helped Israel/ at that tyme/ and the batteill lasted vnto Berbaucn.

¶ And whan the men of Israel came forth/ Saul charged at the people the same daie and said: Cursed be euery man/ which eateth bread vntill euen/ that I maye avenge me on myne enemies. Then all the people raysted no bread. And all þe people of þe lande came into þe wood. But there laye honny vpon the silde/ and wha þe people came into the wood/ beholde/ þe honny flowed/ but no man put of it to his mouth/ wha he had/ for the people were afraied/ because of þe sorbe. As for Jonathan he had not herde/ that his father had charged the people/ and he put forth his staffe/ þe he had in his hande/ and bypped the ende of it in the honny combe/ and turned his hande to his mouth/ and his eyes were lighted.

Then answered one of the people/ a sayde: Thy father hath charged the people/ and said: Cursed be euery man that eateth ought this daie. Neuertheless/ the people were sayure. Then sayd Jonathan: My father hath troubled the lande: Se how lyghte myne eyes are become/ because I haue raysted a styck of this honny. If the people this daie had eaten of the spikes of theyr enemies that they found/ the laughter shoulde haue bene greater against þe Philistines. For inuice they the Philistines/ some daie fro/ whichman vnto Bealon/ and þe people were very weery.

And the people turned to þe spores/ a toke a speere and open/ and calles/ and slew them vpon the earth/ and byd care them with the sword. Then was it tolde Saul: Behold/ the people synne against the Lord: in that they haue eaten bloude. He saide: Ye haue done euell/ toll vnto me now a great stone. And Saul sayde moueuer I go a broode amonge the people/ a saye vnto them: that euery one dyngne me his eye/ and his speere/ and slaye them here/ that he maye eat/ and not to synne against þe Lord with eating of bloude. Then brought all the people euery one his eye with his hande the same nyght/ and slew them there. And Saul builded an altiare vnto the Lord. This is the stycke altiare that he builded vnto the Lord.

¶ And Saul said: Let vs go doune after the Philistines by nyght/ a spoyle them till it be cleare morning/ that we let none scape. They answered: Do what soeuer pleaseþ þe. But þe puctle sayde: Let vs go nye here vnto God. ¶ And Saul ayed at God: Shal I go doune/ a my here/ after the Philistines/ and wil thou deliuer them into Israels hande: Neuertheless/ he answered him not at that tyme.

¶ Then said Saul: Let all þe armyes eye of þe people come hithe/ a make search a syn wome in this synne at this tyme. Soe as truly as God the sauncour of Israel lyueth/ a though it be in my sonne Jonathan/ he shal lye. And no man answered him of all the people. And he said vnto all Israel: Be ye on the one syde/ I and my sonne Jonathan will be on this syde. The people saide vnto Saul: Do as it pleaseþ the. And Saul saide vnto the Lord the God of Israel: Do thou that righte. The was Jonathan a Saul tuffe: but the people wente forth fre. Saul saide: Cast the lot ouer my and my sonne Jonathan. So Jonathan was taken. And Saul sayd vnto Jonathan: Tell me what hast thou done. Jonathan tolde him/ and saide: I raysted a styck bouy in the staffe that I had in my hande/ and beholde/ must I spee therfore. Then saide Saul: God

He this is that vnto me Jonathan thou must bye the death.

G But the people said vnto Saul: Shoulde Jonathan die that hath bene so great heath in Israel this night? God forbid. And truly as the Lord lieth there shall not one heer of his heade fall vpon the earth: for with God hath he wrought this miracle. So the people de lyered Jonathan that he dyed not. Then went Saul vp from the Philistines: and the Philistines wente vnto theyr place.

But when Saul had conquered the kinge dom ouer Israel he fought agaynst all his enemyes rounde aboute agaynst the Moabites agaynst the children of Ammon agaynst the Idumeites agaynst the Kinge of Zoba / a gaynst the Philistines: and whethersouer he turned him he got the victoie. And he made himself an host: and smote the Amalechites: and he lyered Israel from the hande of all those that spored them.

Saul had thre sonnes: Jonathan / Ishui and Malchisa. And these were the names of his moe daughter: The first borne Merob: and the youngest Michol. And Sauls wyfe was called Ahinoamah: the daughter of Ahimelech.
And his chiefe captiue name was Icher: the sonne of Ner: Sauls vncle. And he was the father of Saul. But Ner the father of Icher was the sonne of Abiel.

There was a myghty warre agaynst the Philistines: as long as Saul liued. And when Saul saw a man that was stronge and mett for the warre: he toke him to him.

The .XV. Chapter.

A Samuel sayd vnto Saul: The Lord sent me to anoynte the: so it be kyng ouer his people of Israel: Heare nowe these wordes of the Lord: For the voice of the Lord is heard: I haue remembered what Amalek hath done vnto Israel: and howe he layeth waite for him in the waye: when he wente out of Egypte:
So why now standest thou here? and smitest the Amalechites: and bringest them with all that they haue: a spare hym not: but slaye both man and woman: childe and sucklinge: oxen and sheepe: camel and asse. Saul communded the people the same: and numbred them at Carai: two hundred thowsande score men: and ten thowsande men of Iuda.

And when Saul came to the crite of the Amalechites: he set an hinder watch by the ryuer: and saide vnto the Amecites: Get you hence: departe: and go vnto the Amalechites: that I smyte you not with them: for ye shewed mercy vnto all the children of Israel: when they departed out of Egypte:
So the Amecites gaue them awaye fro among the Amalechites.

Then smote Saul the Amalechites from Gaula vnto Sur: which lieth ouer agaynst Egypte: and toke Agag the kyng of the Amalechites: and banded all the people with the edge of the sword: neuertheless: Saul and the people spared Agag: and the sheepe that were good and fat: and the lambs: and all that was good: and wolde not burne them: but toke what was foule and nothing worth:
that they burned.

Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Samuel: and sayde: Repenteth me that I made Saul kyng: for he hath turned hym selfe backe fro me: and nor confirmed my wordes. Therefore was Samuel angry: and cryed vnto the Lord: all that nyght. And Samuel got hym vp early: that he might meete Saul in the morninge: And it was tolde him that Saul was come vnto Carmel: and set hym vp a pyler: and was gone aboute: and came vnto Gilgal.

Now when Samuel came to Saul: Saul sayde vnto hym: Blessed be thou vnto the Lord: I haue performed the worde of the Lord: Samuel answered: What crye is this then of sheepe in myne eares: and the crye of oxen which I heare.

Saul saide: They haue broughte them from the Amalechites: for the people spared the best sheepe and oxen for the offeringe of the Lord: the other haue we burned. Neuertheless: Samuel answered Saul: Let me tell the what the Lord hath sayde vnto me this nyght: He sayde: Saye on: Samuel sayde: When thou wast but small in thyne own eye: wast thou not the heade amonge the trybes of Israel: and the Lord anoynted the to be kyng ouer Israel. And the Lord sent the into the waye: and sayde Ga thy waye: a vnto the synners the Amalechites:

lechires: and fight against the: will thou haue vnclely destroyed them. Wherefore hast thou not hearkned vnto the voyce of the Lord: but hast turned the selfe to the spoyle / a boue tucl in the sight of the Lord.

E Saul answered Samuel: Yee: I haue hearkned vnto the voyce of the Lord: and haue gone the waye that the Lord sent me: and brought Agag the kynge of the Amalec chites: and banded the Amalechites: but the people haue taken of the spoyle: sheepe and oxen: and the best amonge the banded / to offer vnto the Lord thy God in Gilgal. Samuel sayde:

Ecc. iij c

But the Lord pleasure in sacrifices and burnt offerings: as in obeyinge the voyce of the Lord: Wholde / to obedience is better then offerings: and to hearken is better then the fat of rames. For disobedience is as the synne of Iudas: and rebellion is as the blasphemy of ydolatrie. In so much now as thou hast refused the voyce of the Lord: he hath refused the also / that thou shouldst not be kynge.

Ezo. xxi. c
Deu. xxiij b

F Then saide Saul vnto Samuel: I haue synned: that I haue transgressed the commaundment of the Lord: and thy worde: for I was afrayed of the people / a hearkned vnto thy voyce: And now forgiue me my synne: and returne with me: that I maye worshipp the Lord: Samuel saide vnto Saul: I will not returne backe with thee: for thou hast refused the voyce of the Lord: and the Lord hath refused the also / that thou shouldst not be kynge in Israel. And when Samuel turned him backe to go his waye / he gaue hym by the edge of his garment: and rente it. Then saide Samuel vnto him: The Lord hath rente the kynngdome of Israel from the thy hand: and geue it vnto thy neyghboure: which is better then thou. The ouerwinner in Israel also shal not spee: neither shal he repete: for he is no man: that he should repent.

ij. R. xi. b. c

G He said: I haue synned: yet honoure me before the Elders of my people: and before Israel: and turne backe with me: that I maye worshipp the Lord thy God. So Samuel turned againe after Saul: that Saul in myghte worshipp the Lord. But Samuel sayde: Singe me rather Agag the kynge of the Amalechites: And Agag went vnto him tenderly.

ij. R. xxij d

And Agag saide: Thus departed the Symoness: of Beath. Samuel saide: Take as thy reward: but made women childlesse: so that thy mother also be without children amonge women. So Samuel beweb Agag in pecco before the Lord in Gilgal.

I And Samuel departed vnto Ramath. But Saul wente vp to his house as in Beath Saul. And Samuel saue Saul nor come vnto the base of his Beath. Neuertheless: Samuel mourned for Saul: because it repented the Lord: that he had made Saul kynge ouer Israel.

The. XVI. Chapter.

S And the Lord said vnto Samuel: How longe mournest thou for Saul / whom I haue refused: that he should be kynge ouer Israel: For thine home with esle: go thy waye: I will sende thee to Isai the Berlicemite: for amonge his sonnes haue I prouided a kynge: But Samuel sayde: How shal I go: The Lord shal perccame it: and shal slaye me. The Lord saide: Take the a calf from the doue: and saye: I am come to do sacrifice vnto the Lord. And thou shalt call Isai to the sacrifice: shal I tell the what thou shalt do: that thou mayest anoynt me him: whom I shall shew thee. Samuel dyd as the Lord sayde: and came to Berlicem. The were the Elders of the cytie assembled: and wente forth to meete him: and sayde: Is thy cominge peaceable. He saide: Yee: I am come to do sacrifice vnto the Lord. Sanctifie your selves: and come with me to the sacrifice. And he sanctified Iesse: Isai and his sonnes: and called the to the sacrifice.

But the Lord sayde vnto Samuel: Take not his his contentaunce: nor vpon the talente of his personne. For I iudge not after the sight of man: A man hath respect vnto: I thenge that to before his eyes: but the Lord lokeh vpon the herte. Then Isai called Abinadab: and brought hym before Samuel: And he saide: This hath not the Lord chosen. Then Isai brought Eamma: But he saide: This also hath not the Lord chosen. Then brought Isai his seven sonnes before Samuel: Neuertheless: Samuel saide:

unto Iſai: The Lord hath choſen none of theſe.

And Samuell ſayd vnto Iſai: Are here all the chyldren? He ſayde: There is yet one ſcſpe of all/and he ſhal be kepte the ſcſpe. Then ſayde Samuell vnto Iſai: Ernde/and caſed hym to be ſeide/for we will not ſer ſoune at the table vntill he come. Then ſent he a caſſed hym to be brought. And he was well colourd with ſayre eyes and of a betwyfull countenance. And the Lord ſayde: Cryſt/and Tanoynt hym/that is he.

Then roſe Samuell his oyle borne/aſſoynted hym amonge his brethren. And the ſpce of the Lord came vpon Dauid from that daye forth. So ſai Samuell he gat hym vp/and wente vnto Ramath.

But the ſpce of the Lord departed from Saul/and an euill ſpce from the Lord vnto hym. The ſayde Sauls ſeruautes vnto hym: Beholde / an euill ſpce from God ſeeth the. Let our lord ſay vnto his ſeruautes/which ſtande beſore hym / that they ſeke a man which can playe vpon the harpe and inſtrument / that when the euill ſpce of God cometh vpon the / he maye playe with his hande / to caſe the withall. Then ſayd Saul vnto his ſeruautes: Prouide me a man that can playe well vpon the inſtrument / a byng hym vnto me.

Then answered one of the chyldren / and ſayde: Beholde / I ſawe a ſonne of Iſai / which ſeemeth which can playe vpon the inſtrument / an honeſt and valiant man / and one that hath vnderſtandyng in matters/and is well fauoured. Then Saul ſent meſſaungers vnto Iſai ſayinge: Ernde me Dauid thy ſonne which is with the ſcſpe. The roſe Iſai an aſſe with bread/and a bord with wyne / a a Iuda/ and ſent it vnto Saul by Dauid his ſonne. So Dauid came to Saul / and ſtode beſore hym / and he loued hym well / and he became his weapen bearer. And Saul ſent vnto Iſai ſayinge: Let Dauid remaine beſore me / ſoi he hath ſounde fauoure in my ſight. Now when the euill ſpce of God came vpon Saul/ Dauid roſe the harpe/and played with his hande: So was Saul reſtrefued / and caſed / and the euill ſpce departed from hym.

The XVII. Chapter.

The Philistynes gathered their hoost to the battayll/and came together to Soccho in Iuda / and pitched theys tentes betwene Soccho and Beſai at the ende of Danin. But Saul and the men of Iſraell came together/ and pitched in the Weſte valley / and prepared themſelues to the battayll agaynſt the Philistynes. And the Philistynes ſtode vpon a hill on the one ſide / and the Iſraelites vpon a hill on the other ſide / ſo that there was a valley betwene them.

Then ſtept there forth from amonge the Philistynes a ſloute dolde man/ named Goliath of Gaſh/ſixe cubites a an hande breith Jud. 4. b. hie/and had an helme of ſtele on his heade/ and a ſaſt habergion vpon him/and the weight of his habergion was ſyue thouſande ſciels of ſtele/and barnesse of ſtele had he vpon his legges / a a ſhild of ſtele vpon his ſhoulder/ and the ſtafe of his ſpear was lyke a weiers ſoume/ and the yon of his ſpear had ſixe hundred ſciels of iron / and his weapen bearer wente beſore hym.

And he ſtode and called vnto the hoost of Iſraell / and ſayde vnto them: Wherefore are ye come forth / to prepare your ſclues to battaille? Am not I a Philistine/and ye the ſeruautes of Saul? Choſe one amonge you to come vnto me: if he can fight agaynſt me and ſlay me/then will we be your ſeruautes: but if I can ouercome hym/and ſlay him/ then ſhall ye be our ſeruautes to do ſeruyce. And the Philistine ſayd: I haue ſpoken vnto you vnto be hoost of Iſraell this day / wear me one/and let vs fight to gether. Wha Saul and all Iſraell herde theſe wordes of the Philistine/they were aſtoned a ſore aſtayed.

But Dauid was the ſonne of a man of Beſleem of Beſleem Iuda / whoſe name was Iſai/whiche had eyght ſonnes/and was an olde man in Sauls tyme / and was well ſtreyken in age amonge men. And the thre beſt ſonnes of Iſai were gone with Saul to the battayll. And theys names were theſe/ Eliab the firſt borne/ Abinadab the ſecond / a Samma the thurde. But Dauid was the yongest of all. So when theſe thre eldeſt were gone with Saul to the battayll: Dauid wente aſſayn from Saul / to ſeke his fathers ſcſpe at Beſleem. But the Philistine ſtept forth early early in the mornyng and at euen/ and stode there foure dayes.

C Thus sayde vnto Dauid his sonne: Take this Ephe of fermentye for thy bierchen/ and these ten loaves of breade/ (and runne to the hoost vnto thy bierchen) and these ten new chekes/ and brynge them to the captayne/ and loke how thy bierchen haue: whether it go well with them or no/ and take what they byd the. But Saul and they/ and all the men of Israel were in the Ghe valley/ and fought agaynst the Philistynes.

Then Dauid gat hym vp early in the mornyng/ and committed the shepe to the keeper/ and toke his burthen/ wente his waye/ as Iosai commaunded hym/ and came to the tent. And the hoost was gone forth/ and had pierced them selfe/ and cryed in the battayl: for Israel had set them selfe in array/ and the Philistynes were agaynst theyr hoost in theyr array also.

Then left Dauid the vessel that he bare in the peper of the stuffe/ and ranne to the hoost/ and wente in/ and saluted his bierchen. And while he was yet talkyng with the beholde/ then came vnto the slowe holde man / whose name was Goliath/ the Philistyne of Gath/ one of the Philistyne hoosts/ and spake like as afore/ and Dauid herde it. But euery man in Israel reule be sawe the mansted from him/ and was sore afrayed of hym.

And euery man in Israel sayde: Hauye ye seue the man commyng vp herber? for he come vp ther to speake vnsdaynously vnto Israel. And whosouer smyeth hym/ hym will the kyng make rich/ and geue hym his daughter/ and make his fathers house fre in Israel.

S Then sayd Dauid vnto the men that stode by hym: What shalbe done to the man that smyeth this Philistyne/ a turned this shame awaye from Israel: for what so be this Philistyne/ this vncreuynsed: that defiecth the hoost of the kyngs Gode: Then the people tolde hym as afore: Thus shal it be done vnto the man that smyeth hym. And whas his greater worber herde him talke with the nise/ and was very wroth agaynst Dauid/ a sayd: Wherefore arte thou come thynce/ and why hast thou leste a fewe shepe in thy wyldernesse?

I know the presumptuousnesse wel ynough/ and the wickednesse of thine her: for thou art come: thynce to the battal. Dauid aunswere this: What haue I done more: for there not an occasion: And he turned hym selfe from hym vnto another/ and spake accordyng as he had sayde before. Then the people aunswere hym lyke as afore.

And when the herde the wydes whiche Dauid said/ they tolde them in the presence of Saul/ a he caused hym be fetched. And Dauid sayde vnto Saul: Let no mans hart be discouraged/ because of hym Thy seruant shall go/ and fight with the Philistyne. Vnto the best/ Saul sayde vnto Dauid: Thou art not able to go agaynst this Philistyne to fight by hym/ for thou art but a chyld: but this is a mā of warre from his youth vp.

Dauid sayd vnto Saul: Thy seruant kept his fathers shepe/ and there came a Lyon/ and a Beere / and caryed awaye a shepe from the flocke/ then wente I forth after hym / a smote hym/ a deliuered it out of his mowth. And I shal than he wolde haue bene vpon me / I toke hym by his heerde/ and smote hym/ and slew hym. So thy seruant smote both the Lyon a the Beere. Therefore shal this Philistyne this vncreuynsed be cren as one of the: for he hath defiecth the hoost of the kyngs Gode. And Dauid sayde: The Lord hath deliuered me from the Lyon and the Beere/ shal deliuer me also from this Philistyne.

And Saul sayde vnto Dauid: Go thy waye/ the Lord be with the. And Saul clothed Dauid with his clothes / and set on helme of stele vpon his heed/ and put an habergeon vpon hym. And Dauid gyved his sworde about his dorber/ and begyne to go: for he had neuer den used to it afore. Then sayde Dauid vnto Saul: I can not go thus/ for I haue not den used to it/ and so be layd it from hym/ and toke his staffe in his hande/ and thre stones/ lyghte stones out of the ryuer/ and put them in the shepethours bagge/ which he had by hym/ and toke a stynge in his hande/ and gat hym to the Philistyne. And the Philistyne wente forth/ a gat bym to Dauid/ and his weepbeere before hym.

Now when the Philistyne leste/ and sawe Dauid/ he thoughte count of him/ for he was a chybe/well coloured / and beweyfull to loke vpon. And the Philistine sayd vnto Dauid: Am I a dogge then / that thou comest vnto me with a staffe? And he cursed Dauid by his God/and sayd vnto Dauid: Come hyther to me/ I will geue the shepe to the soles vnder the heauen/ and to the beasts in the felde. Neuertheless/ Dauid sayd vnto the Philistine: Thou comest vnto me with swearde/ speare/ and shyde. But I came vnto the in the name of the Lorde Zabaoth/ the God of the hoste of Israel / whome thou hast despyed. This daye shall the Lorde deliuer the in to my hande/ that I may synne the/ and take thy heade from the/ and geue the bodies of I hoste of I Philistines this day vnto the soles vnder the heauen / and to the wyld beasts vnder the earth/ that al the lande may knowe that Israel hath a God. And al this congregation shall knowe / that the Lorde saith nayther to his swearde / nor to speare: for the battaile is the Lordes/ as he hath deliuer you into our handes.

Now when the Philistine gat hym vp/ and went forth / and due nye vnto Dauid/ Dauid made haile/ and ranne from the hoste vnto the Philistine. And Dauid put his haid in his bagge/ and toke out a stone/ and thre it with the slyng / and hie the Philistine cur in the foreheade/ so that the stone stak in his foreheade / and he fell vnto the grounde vpon his face.

So Dauid ouercame the Philistine with the slyng/ and with the stone/ and smote him/ and strowe hym. And for so much as Dauid had no swearde in his hande/ he raue a stode ouer the Philistine / and toke his swearde/ a due it out of the sheeth/ and strowe hym / and smote of his heade withall. When the Philistines sawe that the strongest of them was dead/ they fled. And the men of Israel and Iuda gat them vp/ and cryed as if smored vpon the Philistines/ yf they came vnto the valley/ and to the portes of Ebron. And the Philistines fel downe vnto Gath and to Ekron. And the children of Israel turned agayn fro chasing of the Philistines/ and spoyled theyr tentes. But Dauid toke the heade of the Philistine/ and brought it vnto Ierusalem. As for his armour/ he layed it in his tentes.

When Saul sawe Dauid go forth agayn the Philistines/ sayd vnto Abner his chyfe captayne: Abner/ whate sonne is this chybe? Abner sayde: As truly as thy soule lyueth O kyng/ I wote not. The kyng sayde: Are there whate sonne the yong man is? Now when Dauid came agayne from the slaughter of I Philistine. Abner toke hym/ and broghte him before Saul/ and he had the Philistines beade in his hande. And Saul sayd vnto hym: Whose sonne art thou/ thou yong man? Dauid sayde: I am a sonne of thy seruants I sai the Berlicemite.

The XVIII. Chapter.

And wha he had made an ende of talkyng vnto Saul/ the soule of Jonathan was bounde with the soule of Dauid. And Jonathan loued hym as his owne soule. And Saul toke hym the same daye / and let hym not go agayne to his fathers house. Jonathan and Dauid made a conuenant together/ for and Jonathan loued hym as his owne soule. And Jonathan put of his owne cote that he had vpon hym/ and gaue it vnto Dauid/ and he had of his swearde/ his bowe/ and his gylde. And Dauid went forth wher he soeuer Saul sent hym/ as he behaued hym selfe wysely. And Saul set hym ouer the men of warre/ and he pleased all the people well/ and all the seruantes of Saul.

It fortuned / that when Dauid was come agayne from the slaughter of the Philistines/ the women wente out of al the cyties of Iuda/ with songes and dancces/ to meete kyng Saul with tymbels/ with myses/ with syrdels. And the women songe one to another/ a played and sayde: Saul hath synnen his thousande/ but Dauid his ten thousande. and then was Saul very wrath/ and the word displeasid hym sore/ and he sayde: They haue ascribed ten thousande vnto Dauid/ and but one thousande vnto me: what shall he beare more but the kyngdome? And from that daye forth/ Saul loved sowerly vpon Dauid.

The next daye after came that euill spere of God vpon Saul/ and propheted in the myddes of the house. But Dauid played on and was wyse harly. And Saul had a carying in his hande/ and cast it/ and thought: I will speeke vnto Dauid

David fell to the wal. Neuertheless David minded hym selfe wylle awaye from hym. And Saul was afrayed of David: for the Loide was wth him/ & departed from Saul. Then Saul put hym from hym / and set hym to be pycke out a thousande men / and he wente out and in before the people. And David behaued hym selfe wylly in al his doynges / & the Loide was wth hym.

S Then when Saul sawe that he was so exceedinge wyse/ he stode in feare of hym. But all Israel and Iuda loued David/ for he was out and in before them. And Saul sayd vnto David: Beholde my greatest daughter Merob 7. i. x. i. c. r. o. b. 7. i. I geue the to wyse/ be stronge now/ and gouerne the warres of the Loide. For Saul thought my hande shal not be vpon hym/ but the hande of the Philistynes. Neuertheless/ David answered Saul: Who am I/ and what is my life/ and the hire of my father in Israel/ that I should marry the kynges daughter?

E But when the tyme came/ that Merob the daughter of Saul shoulde haue ben geuen vnto David/ she was geuen vnto Adiel the Micholathite to wyse. Neuertheless/ Michol Sauls daughter loued David. When this was tolde Saul/ the matter pleased hym wel/ and he said: I will geue hym her/ that she may be a snare vnto hym / and that the hande of the Philistynes maye come vpon hym / and he sayd vnto David: This day shalt thou be my daughter/ thou shalt haue the seconde reme. And Saul spake vnto his seruantes: Tallye wth David secretly and saye: Beholde / the kyng hath pleasure in the/ and al his seruantes loue the / marry thou therfore the kynges daughter.

J And Sauls seruantes spake these wordes in the eares of David. But David sayde: Think ye it but a small matter to marry the kynges daughter? As for me / I am but a poore simple ma. And Sauls seruantes tolde hym agayne/ & sayd: Such wordes hath David spoken. Saul said: Then see ye vnto David: the kynge respecteth no dowrye/ but onely and hundred of fyfftynes of the Philistynes/ that wingeauce may be taken of the kynges enemies. Howbeit/ Saul thought to cause David be slayne by the hande of the Philis-tynes. Then his seruantes tolde David these wordes / and David was contente wth the matter to marry the kynges daughter.

And after a fewe dayes David gat hym vp / & wente wth his men / and smote two hundred men amonge the Philistynes. And David broughte they: foff fyfftyne/ and made their number sufficient vnto the kyng / that he myght marry the kynges daughter. Then Saul gave hym his daughter Michol to wyse. And Saul sawe a occasion that the Loide was wth David. And Michol Sauls daughter loued hym. Then was Saul the more afrayed/ & became his enemye as longe as he lyued. And when the pryces of foff Philistynes wente forth. David behaued hym selfe more wylly the al the seruantes of Saul in they: outgoynge: so that his name was in great reputation.

The XIX. Chapter.

Saul spake to Jonathan his sonne/ and to al his seruantes/ that they shoulde kill David. Neuertheless/ Jonathan the sonne of Saul loued David exceedingly/ and tolde hym/ and sayde: Saul my father goeth about to slaye the. Keepe the therefore / I praye the / in the mountaynes/ and abyde in secret/ & hyde the. But I will goe forth/ & stande before my father in the felde where thou art/ & will speake of the vnto my father: and whatsoeuer I shall saye the wordes.

And Jonathan reported the best of David vnto Saul his father/ & sayd vnto hym: What let not foff kynge synne a gaynst his seruants / for he hath not sinned agaynst the / & his doyng is very necessary for the / the pur his lyfe is his hande also/ and smote the Philistynes/ and the Loide byd a great healeth vnto al Israel: the felde hath thou sone/ and rayued therof. Wherefore D wylt thou offende agaynst innocent bloude / that thou wyldest kill Saul without a cause? Then berced Saul vnto the voyce of Jonathan/ and sweare: As truly as the Loide lyueth he shal not dye. Then Jonathan called David/ and tolde hym all these wordes / & charged hym to Saul/ so that he was in presence lyke as afore tyme.

But there crese a battayl agayne/ and David wente forth/ and fought agaynst the Philistynes/ and smote a greates slaughter/ so that they they fled before hym. Heu:ri:chless: / the cruel speere of the Lord came: vpon Saul / and he: / in his hand / and had a slaughting in his hande. But Dauid played vpon the instrument with his hande. And Saul thought w:th his slaughting: to lyke Dauid fall to the wall. Howbeit he went asyde from Saul / away the slaughting smite in the wall. And Dauid fled / and escaped that night.

¶ E When this slaughting: / Saul sent his mes-saungers to Dauid house / that they should laye waye for hym / and kill hym in the mornyng: Michol Dauides wyfe tolde hym this / and sayde: If thou saue not thy soule this nyght / thou shalt dye to morow. The King holter hym doune thatow the window / so that he went his waye / fled / and escaped. And Michol toke an ymage / and layed it in the bed / and layed a goate / & yunc at the heade of it / and covered it with clothes. Then Dauid sent his messaugers to fetch Dauid. But she sayde: He is fled. Heu:ri:chless: / Saul sent his messaugers to slay Dauid / and sayde: Byng hym op to me: with the bedde / that he maye be sturue.

¶ When the messaugers came: behold: the ymage laye in the bed / and a goate & yunc at the heade of it. Then sayd Sa il on to Michol: Why hast thou begyled me / and let my enemye go / that he myght escape: Michol sayd vnto Dauid: He sayd vnto me:
 Let me go for I wyl kill the. So sayd Dauid:
 he fled and escaped / and came to Samuel in Ramath / and tolde hym all that Sami had done vnto hym. And he was with Samuel / and they abode at Ramath.

¶ And it was tolde Saul: Behold: Dauid is at Uloth in Ramath. The King Dauid sende messaugers to fetch Dauid. And they sawe:
 a company of prophetes prophesyng / and Samuel had the ouersight of them. Then came the speere of God vpon the messaugers of Saul / so that they prophesied also.

¶ When this was tolde Saul / he sent other messaugers / which prophesied lykewise.
 Then sent he messaugers the thide tyme / and they in lyke maner prophesied. Then went he hym selfe also vnto Ramath / and when he came: to the great well whiche is at Bethel: he came and sayd: Where is Samuel and Dauid: Then was it tolde hym: Behold: at Uloth in Ramath. And he wente thither / and came vnto Uloth in Ramath. And the speere of God came: vpon hym also / and he wente out and prophesied lykewise: came vnto Uloth in Ramath. And he put of his clothes / and prophesied lykewise before Samu- / and fell Dauid naked all that daye / and all that nyght.

 There of came the proverbe: As Dauid also among: the prophetes.

The. XX. Chapter.

¶ And fled from Uloth in Ramath / and came and spake before Jonathas: What haue I done: What trespass haue I made:
 What haue I sinned in the sight of thy father: that he seekes to kill me: He sayd to hym: What doest thou saie: Behold: my father hath nathyn gyues thee yet nor in thut he my father then hyde this fro me: It shall not be so. Then swaure Sa and agayne / and sayd: Thy father knoweth well that I haue done fauoure in thy sight: therefore: all thy Jonathas that no: fauoure of his father geue hym. Verily as truly as the Lord liues: and as truly as my soule lyueth / there is but one steppe betwene me: and death. Jonathas sayd vnto Dauid: I will do what I can: that thou shaldest not dye. And Dauid sayd vnto him: Behold: to morow is the new moone: that I should sit at the table with the kyng. Let me byde my selfe: therefore in the side: vnto the thide tyme: If thy father then saye after me / saye Dauid: praye me that he myght giue me to Bethel vnto his cytye: for all his cytyes haue there a yearly sacrifice. If he saye then:

 It is good / thou shalt dye: I will with thy friend.

¶ But he was woth / thou shalt perceiue that he intended euill. O mercy therefore vpon thy seruante: for why me thy friend hast thou made a conuenant in the Lord.
 But if they: be any trespass: in me / then laye me thy selfe: for why woldst thou byng me vnto thy father:

the felde. And they wente out both in to the felde. And Jonathan sayd vnto Dauid.

Loide God of Israel/ If I perrecaue by my father to moue/ or on the thyrd day/ that it goeth wel with Dauid/ and sende not vnto the/ a stem the before thyn cares/ then let the Loide do this/ a that vnto Jonathan. But if my father velyne in euil against I. I. wel. then it be for thyn cares also / and let the go/ that thou mayst depart in peace.

And the Loide be with the/ as he hath bene with my father. If I do it not/ then do thou no mercy of the Loide on nic. whilst I lyue/ no/ nor when I dye / a plucke thy mercy from my house for euer. And wha the Loide roreth out the enemies of Dauid/ euey one of the lide/ when let Dauid rote out Jonathan also with his boue / a he Loide requyre it of the hande of Dauids enemies.

And Jonathan proceeded further/ a stouere vnto Dauid/ he loued hym so wel / so he loued hym as his owne soule/ and Jonathan sayd vnto hym. To morow is I new Moone/ and thou shalt be eced after: for thou shalt be wanted where thou wast wonte to syt. But on the thy. de. daye come vnto me / and go in to the place where thou hyddest the on the woekeday/ a set the vnto me by the stone of Uel: then wilt I throt the arrowes on that syde/ as though I would shote at a mark: and beholde/ I will sende the boye/ a saye vnto hym: Go see the arrowe. If I saye now vnto the lab: Lo/ the arrowe lye bytherward behynd the feth: then come thou/ for it is peace/ and there is no perrell/ as truly the Loide lynerh. But if I saye vnto the lab: Beholde/ the arrowe lye yonderwarde before the/ then go thou thy waye/ for the Loide hath let the go. ¶ Do for that whiche thou and I haue spoken together/ the Loide is betwene me and the fe: euer.

Dauid dyd hymselfe in the felde. And wha the new Moone came/ the kynge sat hym vnto the table to eate. When the kynge had set hym vnto in his place as he was wonte/ by the wall/ Jonathan a stode vp / but Abner sat him vnto beside Saul. And Dauid was mysed in his place. And Saul spake nothing that daye / for he thought: There is somwhat happend vnto hym/ that he is not cleane. On the seconde daye of the newe Moone / when Dauid was mysed in his place. Saul sayde vnto Jonathan his sonne: Wherefore is not the sonne of I. I. come to the table / neyther yesternay nor to daye?

Jonathan answered Saul: He prayed me that he mighte go vnto Bethleem/ a said: Let me go / for our kynred hath a sacrifice to do in the cyne/ and my brother hath sent for me hym selfe: If I haue founde fauoure in thy sygher/ I wil go/ and se my brethren: there fore is he not come to the kynge table. Then was the kynge reueryd at Jonathan/ and sayde vnto hym: Thou wykest a onyngste. I know how that thou hast chosen the sonne of I. I. to the shame of thy kisse / and of thy shankull marker. For as long as the sonne of I. I. lyueth vpon earth / neyther thou nor thy kynge dome shal prosper. Sende now thy forwe and cause hym to be fished vnto me / for he is a i. R. m. dyde of death.

Jonathan answered his father Saul and sayde vnto hym: Wherefore that he dye? What hath he done? The p. ro. Saul the tautlyng at byn/ that he mighte smyte hym. Then proceeded Jonathan that his father was vnto ly determined to kyll Dauid / and he rose vp from the table in a wrathfull displeasure/ and dyd eate no bread the same seconde daye of the newe Moone: for he was veyd because of Dauid / that his father had done hym such dishonoure.

On the morow wente Jonathan forth in to the felde/ at the tyme appointed of Dauid/ a lyke boye with hym/ and said vnto the boye: Runne a kisse me the arrowes which I shote. When the boye ranne/ he shot an arrowe ouer hym. And when the boye came to the place/ a byther Jonathan had shote the arrowe/ Jonathan cryed after hym/ an sayd: The arrowe lyech yonderward before the. And he cryed after hym agayne/ but he/ and stande not still. Then the boye gathered vp Jonathan arrowe/ and brought them to his Loide. And the boye knewe nothinge/ only Jonathan a Dauid knewe of the matter.

Then Jonathan gaue his boye his weapons/ and sayde vnto hym: Go thy waye/ and carry them in to the cyne. And when the boye was gone/ Dauid arose from the place to ward.

warde the South/ and fell upon his face to the grounde/ a worshipped the kynges/ and they kyssed one another/ and wept together: But David moode specially. And Jonathan sayd vnto David: Wo thy waye in peace. Whatseruer we both haue sworne and spoken together in the name of the Lord/ the Lord be mynst: betwene me and the/ betwene my side and thy side for euer. And Jonathan gaue hym vp/ and came in to the cite.

The XXXI. Chapter.

David came to Hobe to the priest Thimelech. And Thimelech was assayed/ when he sawe David cominge/ and sayde vnto hym: Why comest thou alone/ and no man to with thee? David sayde vnto Thimelech the prieste: The kyng hath committed a matter vnto me/ and sayd: Let no man knowe wherfore I haue sent the / and wher I haue commaunded the: for I haue appointed my seruaunts to meet me here a there. If thou haue now ought vnder thy hand/ and a loafe of bread or fyue/ geue me / some in my hande/ or wharsoeuer thou findest.

The priest answered David/ and sayd: I haue no commune breade vnder my hande/ but the holy breade/ if the yong men haue only refrayned themselves from women. David answered the priest/ and said vnto hym: The women were feate the dayes from vs/ when we departed forth/ and the yong men no vessels were holy. But this waie to vnholi/ neuertheless/ it shall be sanctified to daye in the instrument. Then the prieste gaue hym of the holy/ in so much as there was none other breade/ but the five breades/ which were taken vp before the Lord/ that there might be offer freish breade for therein/ the day when he toke them awaye.

But the same daye was there a man spured in before the Lord/ one of Sauls seruaunts/ named Doeg an Edomite/ the myghnest among Sauls hyndmen. And David sayd vnto Thimelech: Is there not a spere/ or a spear here vnder thyne hande/ I haue not taken my sworde/ or a weapens with me/ for the kynges manner requyred basly. The prieste sayd: The sworde of Golieth the Philistine/ whom thou smitest in the valley/ is here wrapped in a cloth behinde the querdore/ etc.

If thou wilt haue it/ take it / for here is none but it. David sayd: There is not such another/ geue it me.

And David gaue hym vp/ and fled from Saul/ and came to Achis the kyng of Gath. But Achis seruaunts sayde vnto hym: This is David the kyng of the lande/ of whome they songe in the vauce/ and sayd: I sawe haile a mynre his thousand/ but David his is thousand/ and David toke these woodes to hert/ and was fore afrayed of Achis the kyng of Gath/ and altered his countenance before them/ and shewed him selfe as he had ben made in theyr handes/ and stered to ward the vone of the gate/ a his launcynges ranne vnto his beerde. Then said Achis vnto his seruaunts: Behold/ ye se that he mize out of his wytt/ wey haue ye brought him vnto me? Haue I to swere made men/ that ye haue brought him hyther/ to be made before me? Shoulde he come into my house.

The XXXI. Chapter.

David wente from thence/ and fled vnto the care of Achis. When his brethren a all his fathers house herde that they came vnto thence/ they gathered vnto hym all men that were in trouble and he/ and sojourned there/ a he became their heade/ so that there were with hym upon a foure hundred men.

And David wente from thence to ward the Myspa in the lande of the Moabites/ and sayd vnto the kyng of the Moabites: Let my father and my mother go out a in among you/ I will se what God will do with me. And he left them before the kyng of the Moabites/ so that they remayned by hym/ as long as David was in the castell. Neuertheless/ the Diaphet Gad sayde vnto David: Thyde not in the castell/ but go thy way/ and come into the lande of Iuda. Then departed David/ and came into the woodde of Hareb. And Saul herde that David and the men which were with hym/ were come forth.

Now to hye Saul dwelke at Gibeon vnder a grove in Rama/ he had a iudycyng in his hande/ a all his seruaunts stode by hym/ then sayd Saul vnto his seruaunts/ that shoulde be by hym: Search ye the children of Jemim/ what the some of Isai geue landes and vnteyardes

Then answered Doeg / & Edomite / whiche

Then the kyng / and caused to call Abi-nielech the pusshie femme of Achab / and all his fathers house / the pusshies / were all Hobe / as they came al to the kyng. And Saul sayd: Heare then sonne of Achab. He sayd: Here

Abinielech thou muste see the death: thou a thy fathers house. And the kyng sayd to his foote men that stode by hym: Turne you / and slaye the pusshies of the Lord: for they haue toe with Saul also.

Wherupon standynge / the kyngs seruantes also wold not laye theyr handes vpon the pusshies of the Lord to slaye them. Then said the kyng vnto Doeg: Turne thou / and slaye the pusshies. Doeg / & Edomite turned hym / a Neuertheless / there escaped a sonne of Abi-nielech / sonne of Achab / whose name was Abiathar / and fled after Saul / & tolde hym that Saul had slayne the pusshies of the Lord.

Saul sayd vnto Abiathar: I knowe well I sawe thy that Doeg the Edomite wold thre that he wold tel Saul. I am gylty of the sou-les of thy fathers house: whiche thou wilt not end feare not. He that layeth waye for my lyfe / shall laye waye for thynne also / and thou shalt be persued with me.

The XXXII. Chapter.

It was tolde Saul: Ehelde / the Philistine / he was aganist Egysa / spoyle the barnes. Then Saul toke at the Lord / & sayd: and sayd: Chal I go and spyie the Philistines. And the Lord sayd vnto Saul: Go thy waye: then shall I sende these Philistines / and they shall be aganist thee. But the men that were with Saul / sayd vnto hym: Ehelde / we are here in care in Jewry / and shall we go to Egysa / vnto the hoost of the Philistines: Then Saul / sayd at the Lord: agayne. And the Lord answered hym / and sayd: Vp: gythe poune to Egysa / for I will deliuer the Philistines: in to thy hande.

So Saul wente with his men / vnto Egysa / he sought aganist the Philistines / and there was they: rattell / a more: them with a great slaughter. Thus Saul deliuered it of Egysa: for when Abiathar the sonne of Abinielech fled vnto Saul / at Egysa / he bare poune the ouerbodye care with hym.

Then was it tolde Saul / that Saul came to Egysa / and he sayd: God hath deli-uered hym into my hande / for he is thus fall in now that he is come in to a cyne / & is fyght with gares and barnes. And Saul sayd to call of the people poune vnto the battell vnto Egysa / that they myght besyge Saul / and his men. But when Saul perceued that Saul intendede euill aganist hym / he sayd vnto Abiathar the pusshie: Thyng me brether / the ouerbodye care. And Saul sayd: The Lord God of Israell / thy seruants hath herde that

that Saul goeth aboute to come / for: to betheye f one of / Egila for my sake. Shall the cirnyfio of Cegila deliuer me ouer into his fayde: He fhall come vnto me.

E Sauid lhyde: Shall the cryefino of Egila deliuer me and my men into Sauls hēder?
The Lo: D fayde: Yee. Then Sauid gat him vp with his men / of whome there were vpon a hū: hundreth / & walked whiter they coude.
Nex: when it was telde Saul that Sauid was efcaped from Cegila / he let his iourney flende. So for Sauid he remained in h wī-denesse in the caftell / and abode vpon the mounte in the wildernes of Siph. But Saul fought him as longe as he lued. Neuerthe-

Sauid saw that Saul was gone south to feke after his life. But Sauid was in the wildernesse of Siph in the wood.

Then Jonathan the sonne of Saul gaz hym: & he went vnto Sauid into h wood / and strengthened his hande in God: and fcyde vnto hym: feare not: My father Sauls hande shall nor fynde the: / and thou shalt be kyng ouer Ifraell: as wyl I be the nexte vnto together before the Lo: D. And Sauid remained in the wood. So for Jonathan he wente home againe.

for: accordinge to al the befre of his herde: / a we wyl deliuer him into the kynges hande.
Then saide Saul: Blessed be ye of the Lo: D:

Then gat they them vp / and went their way vnto Siph before Saul. But Sauid & his men were in the wildernes of Maon:
euen in the felde of the right hande of the wildernes. Now when Saul wente thither with his men to feke hym: / it was tolde Da-abode in the wildernes of Machon. When Saul herde that: he followed after Sauid in the wildernes of Machon. And Sauid with his men wente on the one fyde of the hyll: Sauid with his men on the other fyde of the hyll. But when Sauid made haffe them not to rype vp against Saul.

But when Saul gat hym out of the caue/ and was gonyng his waye. Dauid rose vp also after hym/ and wente out of the caue/ and cryed behynde Saul/ and sayde: My soude the syng. And Saul loked behynde hym. And Dauid bowed hys face to the earth and woosheppyd/ and sayd vnto Saul: Why herkenest thou vnto the wordes of ine that saye: Dauid seeketh thy myfortune: Behold/ thyne eyes se this daye the Lord gaue the in my hande in the caue/ and I was couersayd to slaye the: Yet curstest/ thou wast fauoured/ for I sayde: I will not slaye my hande vpon my laide/ for he is the Lords anoynted. Behold/ my father the tyypp of thy garment in my hande/ that I wolde not slaye the/ when I cut of the tyypp of thy garment. And now I see that there is no euell/ nor trespasse in my hande: neither haue I offended the/ as thou folowest after my soule to take it awaye. The Lord shalbe iudge betwene me and the/ and auctinge me in the/ but my hande shall not be vpon the/ accordinge as it is saide after the olde prouerbe: Vngodlynesse cometh of the vngodly: but my hande shal not be vpon the. Now when Dauid had spoken out these wordes vnto Saul/ Saul saide: Is not this the voyce of my sonne Dauid? And Saul lyske vp his voyce/ and wepte/ and sayde vnto Dauid: Thou art more righteous then I/ for thou hast recompenced me good: but I haue rewarded the euill. And this daye haste thou serued me howe thou hast done me good/ for so much as the Lord hath deliuered me into thy hande/ and thou neuertheless/ hast not slayd me. What is he/ which if he soude his enemye/ woulde let him go in a good waye: The Lord rewarde the good for: that I shall done vnto me this daye: Behold now/ I knowe that thou shalt be syng/ and the syng godme of Israel standeth in thy hande. Swaue now therefore vnto me by the Lords/ that thou shalt not rote out my sibe after me/neither destroye my name out of my fathers house. And Dauid swaue vnto Saul. Then wente Saul home/ but Dauid gat hym vp to his men vnto the castell.

The .XXV. Chapter.

¶ Said Samuel dyed/ and all his Israel gaue/ gathered themselves together/ mourned for him/ and buried him in his house at Ramath. So for: Dauid he rose/ and wente doune into the wilderness of Paran. And there was a man at Elon/ and his possission at Carmel/ and the man was of great power/ and had thre thousande shepe/ and a thousande goates. And it fortuneth that he clipped his shepe at Carmel/ and his name was Nabab/ but his wifes name was Abigail/ she was a woman of good vnderstandinge/ and beautyfull of face. But the man was hard/ a wicked in his saynges/ and was one of elch.

Now when Dauid herde in the wilderness: that Nabab clipped his shepe/ he sent out ten yonge men/ and sayd vnto them: Go vp vnto Carmel/ and whaye come to Nabab/ salute him friendly on my behalfe/ saye: Good lucke/ peace be with the/ a thine house/ a with all that thou haste I haue herde say that thou hast shepe clippers. Now thy shepherdes whome thou hast/ haue ben with us/ we haue borne them no dishonoure/ and they wanted nothinge of theyr number/ as longe as they were at Carmel. The thy yonge men/ they shal tel the/ a let thy yonge men fynde fauoure in thy syghte: for we are come in a good daye/ I geue thy seruantes/ and thy soune Dauid what thy hande fyndeth.

And when Dauids yonge men came/ and spake all these wordes on Dauids behalfe vnto Nabab/ they leste of. But Nabab answered his seruantes/ and sayde: What is he that Dauid/ and who is the sonne of Ihu? There are many seruantes nowe that runne awaye fro their masters. Shoulde I take my bread/ water and flesch/ that I haue slayne for my clippers/ and geue it vnto men/ whome I knowe not whence they are?

Then Dauids yonge men turned their waye againe. And wha they came againe vnto him/ they tolde hym all these wordes. Then saide Dauid vnto his men: Wery me gyde his swaerde about him. And eury one gyde his sweard about him: And Dauid greved his sweard about him also / and there wente up after him vpon a foure hundred men: his two hundred remained with the stuffe.

¶ He receiued / se / one of the younge men tolde Abigail Nabals wyfe / and sayde: Beholde / Dauid sent messengers out of the wilderness to blesse our lord: / Nor withstanding / he was scarce vpon them / and yet haue they ben very profitable men vnto vs / and haue done vs no dishonour / and we wanted none of the number so long as we walked with them / when we were in the felde: But they haue ben our walle they and myght / as long as we kepte the shepe by them: Take hede now therefore / and take weel what thou doest / for there is surely a my fortune at hande agaynst our lord: and agaynst al his house. And he is a man of Abial / to whome noman shal seie any thynge: ¶ Then Abigail made hayste / and take two hundred loauce of bread / and two bottles of wyne / and fyue shepe ready byghte / and fyue measures of symmentize / and an hundred frayles of rasyne / and two hundred frayles of figges / and layed them vpon asses / and sayde to her younge me: Go ye your waye before me: beholde / I wyl come after. And she tolde Nabal her hous bande nothing thereof: And as she rode vpon the asse / and wente vnto in the shadowe of the hyl / beholde / Dauid and his men met her vnto / so that she came vpon them.

¶ But Dauid sayde: Well / all that this man hadde in the wilderness / haue I kepte for naught: so that they wanted nothinge of al that he had / and yet rewardeth me euill for good. God do this and yet more vnto the enemies of Dauid / amongst to mooue in the morninge: I leaue this man / of all that he had / so much as tunc that maketh warr as gentile the walle. ¶ Now when Abigail sawe Dauid / she lighte vnto from the asse in al the hast / and fell vpon her face before Dauid / a weel shopped bym to the grounde / and fell at his feet / and sayde: Oh my lord / let this trespass be myne / al: thy handmaiden speake before thyne eares / and heere the recorde of thy handmaiden: Let not my lord see his here agaynst the Nabal / the man of Abial / for he is a foule / according as his name is called:

his name is foule / a foulness is to him. / So for me thy handmaiden / I sawe not my lordes younge men / whome thou bydest / se.

But now my lord / as truly as the Lord lyueth / and as truly as thy soule lyueth / the Lord hath kepte the backe / that thou shouldest not come agaynst Dauid / and he hath depured thyne hande.

¶ Thynne enemies be now as Nabal / and so be they that wolde my lord euill. Here is the blessing / that thy handmaiden hath broughte my lord / take it / and geue it vnto the young men: that walke vnder my lord. For a sure house shal the Lord make vnto my lord / whiche syghtly the syghinge of the Lord / and no euill shal be founde in all thy lyfe longe. And if any man rise vp to persecute / and to lay waye for thy soule / then shal I foal of my lord: be bounde in the band of my lyfe / vnto / euen with the Lord thy God. But the soule of thine enemies shal be turned backe with the synges. When the Lord do the therefore both al this good for my lord / which he hath promised the: / he hath decreed / so to be his Duke ouer Israel / then shall it be no stumbling blocke / nor occasion of falling vnto my lordes here / that thou hast me: the Lord shal warr our cause / and auenged the selfe / then shall the Lord do good vnto my lord / and thou shalt thinke vpon thy handmaiden.

¶ Then sayde Dauid vnto Abigail: Blessed be the Lord God of Israel / which hath sent the to me: me this daye / and blessed be thy speech / and blessed be thou which haste kepte me backe this daye / that I am not come agaynst Dauid: / to auenge me with myne owne hande. Verely / as truly as the Lord the God of Israel lyueth / whiche hath bynded me that I shoulde do no euill: If thou haddest not met me in al the waye / Nabal should not haue had lesse bym vnto the syght morninge / so much as one that maketh warr agaynst the walle. So Dauid toke of her hede what she had broughte bym / and sayde vnto her: Go up in peace vnto thy house: Beholde / I haue herkened vnto thy voyce / I accepted thy personance.

But when Abigail came vnto Nabal / beholde / she had prepared a feast in his house / lyke a synges feast / and his herte was merry / for he was very drunken. And she told him nothing: neither shall no: greates: vntil she cleare: in morning. But when it was day: and the royne was come from Abal: his wyfe tolde him these thinges.

Then was his herie: Deade in his body: so that he became: euen as a stone: and ouer ten daies the: Lorde smot: him: so that he dyed. Whiſt Dauid herde: that Abal was dead: he said: Blessed be the Lorde: whiche hath auenged my rebulge on Abal: as he deserued his seruants fro euil. And the Lorde hath rewarded Abal that euil: vpon his heade.

And Dauid sent: and caused to talke with Abigail: so he myght take her to wyfe. And when Dauids seruantes came: vnto Abigail vnto Carmel: they spake vnto her: and saide: Dauid hath sent vs vnto the: that he maye take the: to wyfe. She rose vp: and was shipped: vpon her face: vnto the carth: and saide: Beholde: here is thy hand mayden: that she maye be seruaunt vnto the seruantes of my lorde: and so traile: they: sete. And Abigail made hayste: and gather vp: and rode vpon an asse: and hure maydenes: that were vnder her: and wente after Dauids messaungers: and became his wyfe. Dauid roke Abigail vnto Bethlehem: and they both became his wyfes. But Saul gaue Michol his daughter: the wyfe of Dauid vnto Phai: the sonne of Laio of Gathaim.

The XXVI Chapter.

A Boy of Siph came to Saul vnto Gath: and sayde: Is not Dauid hyd vpon the hyll of Achila: which lyeth ouer against the wilderness? Then Saul gat him vp: and wente vnto the wilderness of Siph: and the thousand men of Israel with him: to see Dauid in the wilderness of Siph: and pitched vpon the hyll of Achila: which lyeth by the waye before the wilderness. But Dauid remyned in the wilderness: and when he sawe that Saul came after him into the wilderness: he sent our spies: and knewe of a suretye: that he was come in vnto.

And Dauid gat him vp: and came to the place where Saul had pitched his tent: and sete a place where Saul laye with his chariot: capayne. But the sonne of Achis: for Saul laye in the tent: and the host aboute hym:

Then answered Dauid: and sayde vnto Saul: Beholde the Spies: that are the sonne of Achis: for the word of Saul: whiſt he goe vnto me: to Saul: into the host: Thus saith Achis: I will goe vnto me with the.

So Dauid and Achis: came to 7 people in the nyght season: and behalder: Saul laye and slepe in the tent: and his speare stak in the ground at his hynde. But Achis and 7 people laye rounde aboute hym. Then sayde Achis vnto Dauid: Hadst thou not closed thy eyes vnto me: hand this speare. Therefore will I now thynke thou art dead: once with the speare: euen into the ground: so he that haue ynough of it. Achis reblessed: Dauid sayde vnto Achis: Destroye him not: for who will laye hande vpon the anoynted of the Lorde: and remain vnslayn. Dauid said: moreover: As truly as the Lorde speaketh: if the Lorde hym selfe smyte him not: or: keepe his tyme come that hee: shall: that hee goe into the battayll and perishe: the Lorde let it be saide: fro me: that I should laye my handes on the Lorde: as he hath anoynted. Take the speare now therefore at his heade: and the cup of water: and let vs go.

So Dauid roke the speare: and the cup of water at Sauls heade: and they went their way. And there was no man that sawe it: and perceaued it: neither waske: But they slepe: euen on this: there was a vayne stepe fallen vpon them from the Lorde.

Now when Dauid was come out on the other syde: he stode vpon the topp of the mount a farr of 70 that there was a wide space betwene them: and cryed vpon the people: and vpon Achis the sonne of Achis: and saide: Hearest thou not Achis? And Achis answered: and said: Who art thou that criest so: and shalst the synges? And Dauid saide vnto Achis: Art thou not a man? And where is there such one as thou in Israel? Why hast thou not then kepte thy Lorde: the kyng: for there is one of the people come into the camp: to see thy Lorde the kyng. It is not well that thou hast done. As truly as the Lorde lyueth: I ye are the children of death: because ye haue not kepte your lorde: the Lorde as anoynted. Beholde now: where is the kynges speare: and the cuppe of water that was at his heade.

Then

Then knewe Saul the voyce of Dauid / <sup>1</sup> and he said: It is not that thy voyce my sonne Dauid: Dauid saide: It is my voyce my lord the Kyng. And he said moreover: Why doth my lord so persecute his seruaunt: What haue I done: and what euill is there in my hande: Yet let my lord the Kyng heare but the woordes of his seruaunt: If the Lord prouoketh against me / let there be smelled a meate offering: but if the children of men do it / cursed be they before the Lord: because they haue thrust me out this day: that I shoulde not dwell in the Lande of inheritance: and saie: So thy waye: and serue other goddes. So fell not now my shoude vpon the earth from the face of the Lord. For the Kyng of Israel is gone (sayth) to sike a sicke: a parridge is forsoken vpon the mountaynes.

And Saul sayeth: I haue sinned. Come againe Dauid my sonne: I wil do the nomore hurt: because my soull hath ben vtare in thy sight this day. Behold: I haue done solyibly and very vnwysly. Dauid answered and saide: Behold: here is the Kynges speere / let one of the yonge men come out here / a siche it. But the Lord shal rewarde euery one: according to his righteousnesse and faith: for the Lord hath vtured the this daye into my hande: neuertheless: I wold not laye my hande vpon the Lord: because he hath greatly reputed in my sight this daye: so let the Lord requite my soule in his sight: and deliuer me from all trouble. Saul saide vnto Dauid: He shal be thou Dauid my sonne: thou shalt do it / and be able. But Saul wold wente his waye: a Saul turned againe vnto his place.

The XXVII. Chapter.

And thought in his herte: one of these dayes shal I fall into the handes of Saul. Thus saying that I get me my waye into the lande of the Philistines: that Saul may leaue off from synging me in all the coastes of Israel: so shal I escape his handes. And he gat him vpon: and went out with the six hundred men that were with him vnto Achis the sone of Achishyng of Gath. So Dauid remained with Achis or Gath with his men: euery one with his householde: and Dauid with his two wyues. Thuscom the Ierusalemite / a.

Abigail Nababs wyse of Carmel: And when she came to Saul / Dauid was fled vnto Gath: he sought him nomore.

And Dauid said vnto Achis: If I haue founde grace in thy sight: then let there be gotten me a place in one of the cyties of the lande: that I maye dwell therein. Wherefore shoulde thy seruaunt dwell in the Kynges cytie with thee: Then Achis gaue him Sicalag / same daie. Therfore dwelongoth Sicalag to the Kynges of Iuda vnto this daye. The name that Dauid dwelt in the lande of the Philistines to foure monethes.

Dauid wente vpon with his men / and fell vnto the lande of the Gessurites and Gittites: and Amalechites: for they were the inhabytors of this lande of olde: so thour commeth to Sur vnto the lande of Egypt. But when Dauid suted the lande: he let neither man nor woman syle: and toke the sheepe / oxen / asse / camels / and rayments / and returned and came to Achis. So when Achis spake: Whether sel ye us to daye? Dauid saide: Towarde the South part of Iuda: towarde the South part of the Ierusalemite: and toward the South parte of the Kenites. But Dauid let neither man nor woman come leuynge vnto Gath: and thought: They might peradventure speake and reposte against me: Thus vnto Dauid: and this was his maner as long as he dwelt in the land of the Philistines. Therfore Achis gaue credence vnto Dauid: and thought: he hath made himselfe sike before his people of Israel: therefore shal he be my seruaunt for euer.

The XXVIII. Chapter.

It foyned at the same tyme: that the Philistines gathered they: host together to fight with vs against Israel. And Achis saide to Dauid: Thou shalt fight: whether thou art thy men shal goe with thee in the battell. Dauid said vnto Achis: Where thou shalt see what thy seruaunt shal do. Achis saide vnto Dauid: Therfore wil I ordeine thee to be the keper of my heede as long as I shal lyue. So hee was head of al the people had merced for himselfe: stayed him in his cytie: and expounde of it: hee cut off the lande: Now when the Philistines gathered them selfe

But when Saul sawe þ host of the Philistines/ he was afraid/ and his heart was discouraged/ and he ased counsaill at the Lord. But þ Lord gaue him no answer/ neither by dreames/ nor by thelyghte/ nor by prophetes.

B Then sayde Saul vnto his seruantes: Seeke me a woman which hath a spere of syth/ sayenge/ that I may go vnto her/ & aske her: His seruantes saide vnto hym: Beholde/ at Endor is there a woman/ which hath a spere of syth/ sayenge. And Saul chaunged his clothes/ and put on other/ & went his way/ and two men with him/ and came by nyght vnto the woman/ and sayde: Prophecie vnto me. I praye the. Whose is the spere of syth/ sayenge/ and bringe me hym vp/ to whome I shall name vnto. The woman sayd vnto hym: Beholde/ thou knowest what Saul hath done how he hath roted out the syth/ sayers/ and watches from the lande/ wherefore wilt thou bringe my soule into the nete/ that I maye be slayne. But Saul swaie vnto her by þ Lord/ and sayde: As truly as the Lord liueth/ there shall no harme happen vnto þ for this. Then sayd the woman: Whome shal I bring vp vnto the: He sayde: Brynge me vp Samuel.

C Now when the woman sawe Samuel/ she cryed loud/ & said vnto Saul: Wherefore hast thou begiled me: Thou art Saul. And þ King saide vnto her: Feare not/ what saith thou: The woman sayd to Saul: I se goddes counnyng vp out of the earth. He saide: How is he departed: She sayd: There cometh vp an olde man/ & is clothed with a longe garment. He perceaued Saul that it was Samuel/ & he wold him selfe bowne wþ his face to the ground/ and wold shipped hym.

D Samuel saide vnto Saul: Why hast thou disquieted me/ to cause me to be brought vp: Saul sayde: I am sore troubled/ the Philistines fyght against me/ & God is departed from me/ & gaue me no answer/ neither by prophetes: no: by dreames: therefore haue I called the/ & thou mightest shewe me what I shall do. Samuel saide: What wilt thou aske me: I saynge: the Lord is departed from the/ and is become thyne enemye: The Lord shall be vnto the euen as he saith by me/ & I shall plucke thy kyngdome out of thy hande/ and geue it vnto David thy neyghbour/ because thou hast not performed vnto the voyce of the Lord/ & thou hast persecuted the displeasur of his wrath against Amalek. Therefore hath the Lord bene this now vnto the. Moreover the Lord shall deliuer Israel with the also/ into the handes of the Philistines: & to no mane shall thou and thy synce be with me. And þ host of Israel shal the Lord deliuer vnto þ handes of the Philistines. Then fell Saul immediately vnto the earth/ for he coulde not stand/ and was sore afrayed at these wordes of Samuel/ so that there was no mane strenght in hym: for he had eare no theade al that daye/ and all that nyght.

And the woman wente in to Saul/ & saith that he was sic wored/ & sayde vnto hym: Beholde/ thy handmaiden hath berkened vnto thy voyce: and I haue put my soule in my hande/ so: that I haue berkened vnto thy voyce/ which thou sayst. Kill vnto me. Therefore follow thou also the voyce of thy handmaiden. I will sit a mo: full of bread before the to eate/ that thou mayest come to thy strenght/ and go thy waye. But he refused and sayde: I will not eate. Then his seruantes and the woman compelled him so/ that he berkened vnto they: voyce.

And he rose vp from the grounde/ and sat vpon the bed. The woman had a far calke at home/ so she made haste/ and filled it/ and teile mell and yd kneede it/ and baked firste cakes/ and brought them forth before Saul/ and before his seruantes. And when they had eaten/ they stode vp/ and wente their waye that nyght.

The XXXI. Chapter.

The Philistines gathered all they together at Aphek. But Israel pitched at Ain in Israel. And the synces of þ Philistines wente forth with hundredes/ and with thousandes/ but David and his men wente behynde with Achis. Then sayde the prynces of the Philistines: What shall these Hebrewes do: Achis sayde vnto them: Is not this David the seruant of Saul/ synge of Israel/ which hath bene with me now yeares and sayes/and I haue founde no euill in him since the tyme that he sell to me into this waye. Neuertheless/the pynnes of the Philistines were worst at hym /and sayde vnto hym: Let the man turne backe agayne / and abyde in his place / which thou hast appoin-

 Banail/and become our aduersary in y<sup>e</sup> felde.

B For wherein coulde he better do his loide a pleasure/then in the heades of these men? Je-nor this Dauid/of whome they songe in the Banais: Dauid hath smuren his thousande/but Dauid has ten thousande. Then Achis called Dauid/and saide vnto him: As truly as the Lord liveth/I take the for an honest man/and thy outgoingyng and ingoynge with me in the host shall please me well/and no eu-ill shall I make in the/ since the tyme that thou camest to me onto this waye. But thou pleasest not the pynnes. Returne home therefore/and go the waye in peace / that thou do no euill in the sight of the pynnes of the Philistines.

C Dauid saide: what haue I done/and what haue I made in thy seruance/ since the tyme that I haue bene in thy presence vnto the daye/that I should not come and fighte against the enemies of my lord the kyng? I doe remember a fad vnto Dauid: I knowe well that thou pleasest myne eyes euen as an angel of God. But the pynnes of the Philistines haue sutede/et him not to go with vs into the Banail. Yet he vs therfore to mo-rewe by tyme / and thy loides seruantes/whiche are come with the. And wha ye haue gotten you up early in the morninge/when it is lighte/go youre waye. So Dauid and his men gat them up early to go the waye in the morninge/and to come againe into the land of the Philistines. But the Philistines came up towards Iesrael.

The XXX Chapter.

In the which daye with his men/the Amalechites had fallen in on the Southparte and at Ieslag/and had smytten Ieslag/and burned it with fyre/and had carryed awaye the women out of ierusalem and greates. Neuer-theless/they had slayne no man/But they them the/and were going on their waye.

Now when Dauid with his men came to the crie/a saue that it was bene with fyre/and that their wyfes/sonnes and daughters were led awaye captiue: Dauid and the people that was with him/ars up they voyce/and wept so longe/tyl they coulde wepe no more. For Dauids two wyfes also were carryed awaye captiue/Abinoan the Iesraelite/and Abigar Uthais wyfe of Carmel. And Dauid was very sorrowfull/for the people wold haue stoned hym: for the soule of all the people was in greates chaunce/for every one our his son-nes and daughters.

Neuertheless/ Dauid strengthened hym selfe in the Lord his God / and saide vnto Abiathar the priest/ the sonne of Ahimelech:
 I bring me herbe / out of the crite. And wha Abiathar had brought / out of the crite vnto Dauid/Dauid axed at the Lord/saide: Shall I followe vpon the men of warre/and shall I ouerake them? He saide: Yee/for we vpon the/thou shalt ouerake them/and shall repulse the pryce. Then wente Dauid his waye / and the fyve hundred men that were with hym. And when they came to the ryuer of Besor/ some fode still. But Dauid and the foure hundred men followed after: As for the two hundred men that fode full/they had bene slow to go ouer the ryuer of Besor.

And they founde a man of Egypte vpon the felde/whiche they brought vnto Dauid/and gaue him bread to eate/a water to dryncke/and gaue him a quantite of figges/and two quantites of raisins. And when he had eate/his fyre came to him againe/for in this waye and thic nyghte he had eaten no bread / and dronken no water.

Dauid saide vnto hym: Whose arte thou?
 He saide: I am a child of Egypte/and Ima-lechites seruante/and my master hath forsaken me/ because I was fyre the daye agoe.
 We fell here in towards the Southside of Iericho/and vpon Iuda/and towards the South parte of Ieslag/and haue burned Ie-slag with fyre.

Dauid saide vnto hym: Wilt thou bringe me vnto these men of warre? He saide:
 I cannot vnto me by God/that thou shaldest slaye me/ nor I shal bringe me into my masters hands/and I wold bringe / I wold bringe me vnto these men

of warre. And he brought them downe / and beholds / they were scared upon all the ground / earninge and vntilking / a keeping holy daye / a were making merry therof / because of the great spoiles that they had taken out of the lande of the Philistines and of Iuda.

B And David smote them from the morning vntill the euen against the nexte daye / so þat there escaped none / except foure hundred yonge men / which rode vpon camels / and fled. So David rescued all that the Amalekites had taken / and his two wyfes / and there missed nothing / neyther smal nor great / neyther sonnes nor daughters / nor spoiles / and whatsoeuer they had take. David thought all againe. And David toke the sheepe a oken / and vntoe the carrel before him. And they saide: This is Dauides spoyle.

And when David came to the two hundred men / which had ben slowe to followe after David / and abode at the riuer of Besor / they went forth to meete Dauid / and the people that was with him. And David came to the people / and saluted them friendly.

L Then answered iudge men as were euil / and beliall men / amonge them that had gone with Dauid / and sayde: Whyng they were not with vs / they shal haue none of the spoiles that we haue rescued: But let every man take his wyfe and chyldren / and be goinge.

Then saide Dauid: Ye shall not do so / my shepemen / why that whiche the Lorde hath graunted vs / and hath preferred vs / and deliuered these men of warre / which were come against vs / into our handes. Who shoulde cōfent vnto you herein? Lyke as the porcion is of them that went downe to the battail / so shal the porcion be of them also that abode with the stuffe / and shall be diuided a lyke.

F From that tyme forth / hath this bene an ordinance and lawe in Israel vnto this daie. And when Dauid came to Bethlag / he sent of the spoyle vnto the Elders in Iuda his neyghbour / a saide: Behold / there haue ye þe bringing out of the spoyle of the enemies of þe Lorde / namely vnto them of Bethel / vnto them at Ramath in the South / vnto them at Ziph / vnto them at Troer / vnto them at Siphmoth / vnto them at Eschemoa / vnto the at Bethan / vnto them in the ctyes of the Jerahmilites / vnto them in the ctyes of the Bezaite / vnto them at Gethaim / vnto them at Borsan / vnto them at Achish / vnto them at Gethion / and so at the places where David had walked with his men.

The XXXI. Chapter.

QUERE the Philistines sought against Israhel / and the men of Israhel fled before / I Dauid. Philistines / and fell downe smitten vpon the mount of Gilboa. And the Philistines preasied vpon Saul and his sonnes / and slew Jonathan and Amnadaab / and Malchijah / the sonnes of Saul. And the battail was sore against Saul / and the archers fell vpon hym with bowes / and he was sore wounded of the archers.

Then saide Saul to his weapenbearer: I shewe out thy sword: / and thus it shal come to passe / that these vncircumcised come not and slaye me / and make a laughing stocke of me. Neuertheless / his weapenbearer wolde not / for he was sore affrayed. Then toke Saul the sword / and sel theron. Now when his weapenbearer sawe that Saul was dead / he fel also vpon his sword / and dyed with hym. Thus dyed Saul and his three sonnes / a his weapenbearer / and all his men together the same daye.

When the men of Israhel / which were beyond the valley / a beyonde Jordan / sawe that the men of Israhel were fled / and þat Saul and his sonnes were dead / they left the ctyes and fled also. Then came the Philistines and dwelt therein.

¶ On the nexte daie came the Philistines to spoyle the laine / and sounde Saul and his three sonnes vpon mount Gilboa / and inore of his head / and toke of his harness / and sent it into the lande of the Philistines / rounde aboute / to shewe it in the bouie of their Idols / and amonge the people / and laied his harness in the house of Astoroth: But his body hanged they vp vpon the walles of Bethsam.

Whā they of Jabes in Gilead / herde what the Philistines had done vnto Saul / they gathered them vp / as many as were men of armes / a vented the night / and toke the body of Saul / and the bodyes of his sonnes / from the walles of Bethsam / brought them to Jabes / a bent them

The first Chapter.

After the death of Saul whan Dauid was come agayne from the slaughter of the Amalechites/ and had remained two dayes at Siclag/ beholde/ on the thyrde daye there came a man out of Sauls hooste / with his clothes rent/ and earth vpon his heade. And whan he came vnto Dauid / he fell vnto the grounde/ and worshipped. Dauid sayd vnto hym: Whence comest thou? He sayd vnto hym: Out of the hoost of Israel am I fled.
Dauid sayd vnto hym: Tell me/ wharis the matter? He sayd: the people is fled from the batter/ and many of the people are falle: Dee-and Saul also is dead and his sonne Jona-thas. Dauid sayd vnto the yonge man that brought hym this word: How knowest thou that Saul & Jonathan his sonne are dead: The yonge man that tolde hym this/ sayde: I came by chance vnto mount Gilboa/ and beholde/Saul leaned vpon his speare / and the charre-tes/ and horsemen folowed hard after hym:
and he turned hym aboute/ and saue me/ and called me. And I sayde: Here am I. And he sayde vnto me: What art thou? I said vnto him:
I am an Amalechite. And he sayd vnto me:
Come to me / and I will me/ for anguythe hath gotten holde of me: for my lyfe is yett vob-with me. The sleete I to him & slewe hym/for I knowe well that he coude not lyue after his fall. And I toke the crowne from his heade/ and the armet/ from his arme / and haue brought it here vnto the my lord. Then toke Dauid holde of his clothes/ And reute it.

Then / and so dyd al the men that were with hym/ and mourned/ and wepte/ and fasted vntyll the euen ouer Saul and Jonathan his sonne/ and ouer the people of the Lorde/ and ouer the house of Israel / because they were sal-len thow the sword.

And Dauid sayd to the yonge man that brought hym wordes: What art thou? He sayd:
I am the sonne of a straunger an Amalechite.
Dauid sayd: How happened it that thou wast not afrayed to laye thine hande vpon the Lordes anoynted/ to destroye hym? And i. Reg. iij. c.
Dauid sayd vnto one of his yonge men: Come

The 11. Chapter.

After these actes Dauid crept at the Lordes side/and sayde: Shall I go vp in to one of the cyties of Iuda? And the Lord sayde vnto hym: Go vp. Dauid sayde: Whyther? He sayde: Vnto Hebron. So Dauid wente wyther in his two wyfes/ Abinoam the Isteractisse/a Abigail Nababs wyfe of Carmel. And Dauid brought vp the men that were with hym also/ euery one with his household/a they were in the cyties of Hebron. And the men of Iuda came / and there they annoyed Dauid synge ouer the house of Iuda.

I And when it was tolde Dauid/ that they of Iabes in Gilead had buryed Saul/ he sent messengers vnto them sayinge: Blessed be ye of the Lord: that ye haue done this mercie vpon your Lord Saul/ and haue buryed hym: The Lord therefore shewe mercy now/ and ferthfulness vpon you. And because ye haue done this/ I also wyll do you good. Let your hands now therefore be comforted / a be ye stronge: for though Saul youre lorde be dead/ yet hath the house of Iuda annouced me to be kynge ouer them.

B But Abner the sonne of Ner/ whiche was Sauls chiefe capayne/ toke Ithobech s sonne of Saul/ and brought him thowme the hooll/ and made hym kynge ouer Gilead / Assur/ Iesrael/ Ephraim/ Ben Jamin/ a ouer Asher. And Ithobech the sonne of Saul was fourtye yere olde/ when he was made kynge of Iesrael/ and he reigned two yeres. But the house of Iuda helde with Dauid: The yere that Dauid was kynge at Hebron ouer the house of Iuda/ was seuen yere and sixe monethes longe.

A And Abner the sonne of Ner wente forth with the seruantes of Ithobech/ the sonne of Saul/ out of the hooll vnto Gibeon. And Joab the sonne of SeruJa wente forth with Dauid seruantes / and they met together by the poynt at Gibeon/ a thes: laye on the one syde of the pole: the other on the other syde. And Abner sayde vnto Joab: Let the yonge men get them vp/ a playe before vs. Joab sayde: Let them arys. Then get they them vp/ and were in number twelue of Ben Jamin/ on Ithobech Sauls sonnes syde/ and twelue of Dauids seruantes. And euery one gaue armor by the heade/ a thrust his sword in his syde/ and set together: therefore in the place called Gilgath Ezurim/ (that is in the felde of the Worthies) whiche is at Gibeon.

And there arose a fore harde battayle. The same daye. But Abner and the men of Iffad were put to flyghte of Dauids seruantes. The sonnes of SeruJa were there/ Joab/ Abigail/ a Ithobech. So for Ithobech he was slyght of feet/ as a Koe in the felde/ a followed after Abner/ and turned not asyde/ neither to the ryght hande nor to the lefte from Abner. Then Abner turned hym aboute / and sayde: Art thou Ithobech? He sayde: Yee. Abner sayd vnto hym: Go thy waye/ eyther to thy ryght hande: to the lefte/ and get the one of the yonge men/ a take his harness from hym. A leuerless Ithobech wolde not leaue of from hym. Then sayde Abner agayne to Ithobech: Get the way fro me/ why wyll thou that I smyte the to the grounde/ and howe dare I lyffe vpon my face/ a gayneth thy brother Joab? Howe can he wold not go byo waye.

Then Abner thrust hym in with a speare into his belly/ so that his speare went out behynde hym. And there he fel/ and dyed before hym: a who so came to the place where Ithobech laye dead/ stode still there. But Joab a Ithobech followed vpon Abner / with the same wente thowme. And wher they came to the byl of Amma/ which lyeth before Gibeon/ by the waye to the wyldecrasse of Gibeon/ the chyldren of Ben Jamin gathered the selfes together behynde Abner/ and grewe to a mynitude/ and stode vpon the topp of an hill.

And Abner called vnto Joab/ a sayde: Shall the sword the diuoure withoute ende? Howe mayest thou not/ that it wyll be bytter at the last? Howe longe wyll it be on thou say vnto the people

ple & they leaue of fro theyr death. Jonathan sayde: As truly as God lyueth/ if thou haddest sayd thus to Day in 7 monynges/ if people had casted euery one from his brother. And Joab thence the tempe/ & all the people fled/ & still/ as foloweth nomie vpo Israel/ neyther fought they any more.

And he and his men wente all the same nyght ouer the playne felde/ and passed ouer Jordan/ and walked throuwe all Bithon/ & came to the tentes. Joab turned hym from Abner/ and gathered all the people together. And of Dauides seruantes there mysst nyntene men/ & Isabel. But Dauides seruantes had mysstren so amonge Ben Jamin/ and the men of Abner/ that the hundred & a thre score men were dead. And they toke vp Isabel/ and buried hym in his fathers graue at Bethleem. And Joab with his men wente all that nyght/ and at the breake of the Daye they came vnto Hebron.

The III. Chapter.

And there was a greate battayll betwene the house of Saul and the house of Dauid. But Dauid wente and increaced/ and the house of Saul wente and mynistred. And vnto Dauid were chyldren borne at Hebron. His first borne sonne Amnon of Ahinoam the Israhelisse/ the seconde Elieab of Abigail the wyfe of Nabal of Carmel/ the thyrde Amnon the sonne of Maacha/ the fourth of Abigail the daughter of Nabal/ the sonne of Geffur/ the fourth Abdon the sonne of Nageb/ the fift Saphan the sonne of Abital/ the sixte Jerichem of the wiffe Dauides wyfe. These were borne vnto Dauid at Hebron.

Now when it was warre betwene the house of Saul and the house of Dauid. Abner strenghted Sauls house. And Saul had had a concubyn/ whose name was Ripsa the daughter of Aia. And Jospheth sayde vnto Abner: Wherefore lyest thou with my fathers concubynes?

B Then was Abner very wroth at these wordes of Jospheth/ and sayde: In 3 a dogges head then/ that I agaynst Iuda do mercy vnto the house of Saul thy father/ & vnto his chylren and kynfolke/ & haue not deliuered the into the hande of Dauid/ & thou layest a respasse to my charge this daye for a womans saie? God do Abner this/ that if 3 do not see the Lord hath sworne vnto Dauid/ that it. R. c. x. r. o. f. the Ryngdomc may be taken from the house and people of Saul/ & the fear of Dauid set vp ouer Israel and Iuda/ from Dan vnto Bersaba. The coloude be not aſtore him one word agayne/ he feared hym so.

And Abner sent messengers vnto Dauid saying: Whose is the lande? And sayde: Make thy conuenant with me. Beholde/ my hande shall be with the/ to turne all Israel vnto the.

He sayde: Well/ I will make a conuent with the/ but one thyng I desire of the/ that thou se not my face/ excepte thou first byngne my Michol Saules daughter/ when thou comest to se my face. Dauid sent messengers also vnto Jospheth the sonne of Saul/ sayinge: I Geue me my wyfe Michol/ whom I married with an hundred shekes/ synned of the Physitians/ Jospheth sent/ & caused for to take her from the man/ Paltiel the sonne of Laio. And her houndande went with her/ and wepte behynde her vnto Bahurym. Then sayde Abner vnto hym: Turne backe agayne/ and go thy waye. And he turned backe agayne.

And Abner talked with the Elders in Israel/ and sayde: Your myndes haue bene set aſide tyme and longe ago vpon Dauid/ that he might be kynge ouer you. So it now therefore/ for the Loide hath sayde of Dauid: I will deliuer my people of Israel by the hande of Dauid my seruant/ from the bande of the Physitians/ and fro the bande of thys enemye.

Abner spake also before the eares of Ben Jamin/ and wente to speake before the eares of Dauid at Hebron/ that all Israel & the whole house of Ben Jamin was contente withall. Now when Abner came to Hebron vnto Dauid/ a twenty men with hym/ Dauid made them a feast. And Abner sayde vnto Dauid: I will get me vp/ and go gather all Israel together/ to my lord the kynge/ & that they may make a conuenant with the/ that thou mayest be kynge at thy soules desire.

So Dauid let Abner go from hym in peace. And beholde/ Dauides seruantes and Joab came from the int of weare/ & brought a great spoyle with them. And Abner was not now with David at Hebron: so he had sent him from hym / so that he was gone his way in peace.

E But when Joab a all the hoost with hym was come: it was tolde hym that Abner the sonne of Ner came to the kyng / a how he had sent hym from hym / so that he was gone his way in peace. Then wente Joab in to the kyng / and sayde: What hast thou done? Beholde / Abner came to the / why hast thou sent hym from the / that he is gone his way? Answereth thou not? I am yett but tender and abnerre came to the / because the / by myght knowe thy outgyng and ingoynge / and to spy out all that thou doest: And when Joab went out from David / he sent messengers after Abner / to fetch him agayne from Boharsia / and David knew not thereof. Now when Abner came agayne unto Hebron / Joab brought hym in to the myddes vnder the gate to talke

Judic. iii. c. with hym secretly / and thrust hym there in to t belly that he dyed / because of his brother
4. Reg. ii. c. 1. Ahabes bloude.

F When David knew of it thereafter he said: I am ungyly / and so is my kyngdom for: euer before the Lord: concerninge the bloude of Abner the sonne of Ner: but vpo the heade of Joab fall it / and vpon all his fathers house. In the house of Joab there ceasse not one to haue a renyng / yf I see / and a leprosy / and to go vpon a staffe / and fall thow the sword / a to haue screawes of blood. Thus Joab and his brother Abisai slew Abner / because he had slaine they: brother Ahabel in the battayll at Gibeon.

David sayd vnto Joab / and to all the people that was with hym: Kent your clothes / a gyde sackcloth aboute you / and make lamen<sup>s</sup> reason for Abner. And the kyng went: after the beare. And when they buried Abner at Hebron / the kyng lyfte vp his voyce / a wept beyde Abners graue / and all the people wept also.

G And the kyng mourned for Abner / a said: Abner is not dead as a soule dyeth. Thy handes were not bound / thy feet were: not bred with fetters / thou art fallen as a man falleth before wyked enynges. Then all the people bewayld hym yett more.

Now wha all the people came in to eat with David / whyle it was yett bye Vape / David swaure / and sayd: God Do this and that vnto me: If I taust cyther head / or oughte els a fore the King go home. And all the people knew it / and it pleased them well all that the kyng byd in the syght of all the people. And all the people and all Israel perceaued the same Vape / that it came not of the kyng / that Abner the sonne of Ner was slayne. And the kyng said vnto his seruauites: Knowe ye not that this Vape a pyntes a great man is fallen in Israel? He is for me / I am yett but tender and abnerre came to the kyng. But the men / the chyldren of Heru / a are to harde for me. The Lord increaseth hym that doth euell / accordynge to his wykednesse.

The III. Chapter.

Han Sauls sonne herbe / Abner was a head at Hebron / his bandes were sible / and all Israel was sory. But there were two men captaynes ouer the souldyers vnder the sonne of Saul: the one was called Baanai / the other Rechob / sonnes of Rimoi the Berorite / of the chyldren of Ben Jamin: for Beroth was counted also in Ben Jamin. And the Berorithes were fled vnto Gethaim / and were strangers there vnto this daye. Jonathan a Kg also the sonne of Saul / had a sonne which was lame on his fete / and was fyve yere olde / when the raimour of Saul and Jonathas came from Israel. And his noie toke hym / and fled. And whyle it made hayll and sibe / he fel and was lame. And his name was Nephtoseth.

Then wente the sonnes of Rimon the Beroroth / Rechob and Baanai / and came to the house of Ishbosheth in the beate of the Vape / and he laye vpon his bed at the poone day. And they came in to the house to fetch the beate / and thrust hym in to the belly / a get them awaye: for when they came in to the house / he laye vpo his hed in his chaumber / and they likte hym to death / and smote of his heade / a toke his heade / and departed by the wege of the place sibe all that nyght / and brought the heade of Ishbosheth to David vnto Hebron / and sayde vnto the kyng: Beholde / there is the heade of Ishbosheth the sonne of Saul thyne enemye / which I haue waite for thy soule.
Tha

This daye hath the Loorde auenged my lord the Kyng of Saul and his seede.

C Then answered Dauid vnto Rehob and Bena his brother the sonnes of Rimon that Berociah and sayd: As truly as the Loorde lyueth which hath deliuered my soule out of trouble: I toke hym that draughte me worde and sayd: Saul is dead: and the thoughte he had ben a good messenger: and at Seielg I put hym to death: vnto whome I should haue giuen a reward for his message. And these vngodly persones haue slayne a ryghte-ous man in his owne house vpon his bed. Yet shoulde not I requyre his bloude of your han-des: and take you awaye from the carth: And Dauid commaunded his yong men: which slew them: and smote of theyr handes a feere and hangd them vp by the poolle at Hebron.
But the head of Iphoseth toke they: and buried it in Abners graue at Hebron.

The V. Chapter.

And all the trybes of Israel came to Da-uid vnto Hebron: and said: Behold we are thy bone and thy fleshe. And afore tyme whan Saul was kyng ouer vs thou leddest Israel out and in. So the Loorde hath sayde: Thou shalt kepe my people of Israel. And all the Elders of Israel came to the kyng vnto Hebron. And kyng Dauid made a conuenant with them at Hebron before the Loorde.
And they anoynted Dauid to be kyng ouer Israel. Thyry year old was Dauid whan he was made kyng: and reigned fouertye yeares.
At Hebron reigned he seuen yeares and syxe monethes ouer Iuda: but at Ierusalem he reigned thre and thryty yeares ouer all Israel and Iuda.

B And the kyng went with his men to Ierusalem agaynst the Jebusites: which dwelt in the lande. Acurtiselle: they sayde vnto Dauid: Thou shalt not come in her: but the bynde and lame shall byrte the arraye.
They thoughte plainly: that Dauid shoulde not come in. Howbeit: Dauid mane the castell of Zion: which is the cytie of Dauid. The sayd Dauid the same daye: Whosoeuer sitteth the Jebusites: and aprayned the peruelles: he shall be the bynde: whiche Jebusites saundes soule batreth. Here of cometh the proverbe: There no bynde nor lame come in to the house. So Dauid dwelt in the castell: and called it the cytie of Dauid. And Sa-uid buylded rounde aboute first Walle and within. And Dauid greete: and the Loorde the God Zababoth was with hym.

I And Hiram the kyng of Tyre sente messengers vnto Dauid: and Cedre trees for walles: and Carpenteres: and Masons to buyde Dauid an house. And Dauid knew that the Loorde had confirmed hym kyng ouer Israel: and exalted his kyngdome for his people of Israels sake. And Dauid toke yet more wyfes and concubynes at Ierusalem:
after he was come from Hebron: and there were yett mo sonnes and daughters borne vnto hym: And these are the names of them that were borne vnto hym at Ierusalem: Sarima: Sobab: Nathan: Salomons: Iebehar: Elisue: Nephog: Zaphia: Elisama: Eliada: Eliphale.

And whan the Philistynes herd that Da-uid was anoynted kyng ouer Israel: they went vp all to sette Dauid. Whi Dauid perceaued that: he wote to come in to a castell. But the Philistines came: and scattered them selfes benech in the valleye of Rephaim. And Sa-uid aied at the Loorde: and sayde: Shall I go vp agaynst the Philistines: and wylt thou de-liuer them in to my hande: The Loorde sayde vnto Dauid: Go vp: I wyl deliuer the Philistines in to thy hande.

And Dauid came vnto Baal Perazim: and smote them there: and sayde: The Loorde hath decyded myn enemies: cuen as the water parte asunder: therfore is this same place called Baal Perazim. And they lefte theys magas there: but Dauid and his men carryed them awaye.

Acurtiselle: the Philistynes wente vp agayn: and scattered themselves benech in the valleye of Rephaim. And Dauid aied at the Loorde. The Loorde sayde: Thou shalt go vp: but compass them behynde: that they be vpon them ouer agaynst the pecceres: and whan thou hearest vnto the toppe of the peccer-res: thou shalt founde the goinge: be bold: for the is the Loorde gone forth before the: to smyte the hoost of the Philistynes. Dauid did as the Loorde commaunded him: and smote the Philistines from Gibea: vnto Gath: vnto Gazer: vnto Ierusalem.

all manner of inſtrumentes of pyne tree / with harpes / and ſuliterces / and tabrettes / and bellows / and cymbals.

B † And when they came to the barn ſtoke

Dauid ſore: becauſe ſ Lorde had made ſuch a rent vpon Uſa / and he called the ſame place Perez: ſi. or Diuſion.

Perez: ſi. or Diuſion. Uſa went vnto this Daye. And Dauid feared the Lorde ſi. the ſame Daye / and ſayde: How hal this Arke of ſ Lorde come vnto me: And he wold not let it be brought to hym in to ſ crye of Dauid / but cauſed it be brought in to the houſe of Obed Edom the Gariſite.
And when the Arke of the Lorde had continued thre monethes in the houſe of Obed Edom the Gariſite / the Lorde bleſſed hym all his houſe.

C And it was tolde ſynge Dauid / that the Lorde had bleſſed the houſe of Obed Edom / and all that he had becauſe of the Arke of Iſraell brought up the Arke of the Lorde with tabrettes and trompettes.

D And when the Arke of the Lorde came in to the crye of Dauid / Michol the daughter

Lorde. And when Dauid had made an ende of offerynge / he offered offerynge and thank-offerynge / he bleſſed the people in the name of the Lorde Zabaoth / and dealt out vnto al the people / a to the multitude of Iſraell / both to men and woman / vnto eury one a cake of bread / and a peece of ſhepe / and a moare of por-rage. Then wente all the people they: waye / e-uery one vnto his houſe.

E When Dauid came agayne to bleſſe his houſe: Michol the daughter of Saul wente forth to meete hym / and ſayde: How glorious haſt thou beene the ſynge of Iſraell ben to Daye / whiche haſt encountered thyſelfe before the maydens of his ſeruauntes / like as the raſcalle people

The VII. Chapter.

NOW when the ſynge ſerch his houſe / a ſ Lorde had bleſſed hym ſerch from all Iſraell his enuyſes on eury ſyde / he ſayde vnto the Diophere Naſhā: Beholde / I dwell in a houſe of Cedar / a the Arke of God dwelleth amonge the curtaynes: Naſhan ſayde vnto the ſynge: Wo thy waye / what ſeuer thou haſt in thine heart: that be: for the Lorde is with the. But the ſame night came the word of the Lorde vnto Naſhan / and ſayd: Go and ſpeake to my ſeruaunt Dauid. Thus ſayerh the Lorde: Eſaie

Shalt thou buyde me an house to dwell in? I haue dwelt in no house since the daye I brought the chyldren of Israell out of Egypte vnto this daye / but haue walked in the Tabernacle and habitation / wherher soeuer I wente with the chyldren of Israell. And I euer speake to any of thynges of Israell, whō I commaunded to kepe my people of Israell and sayde: Wherfore do ye not buyde me an house of Cedar woodet

B So shalt thou speake now vnto my seruaut Dauid: Thus sayeth the Lorde Zabaorb: Ag. p. 1 I to take thee from the pasture whan thou wast byde the rbe shepe / that thou shouldst be the pynce ouer my people of Israell/and haue ben with the wherher soeuer thou wentest / a roted out all thyne enemyes before thee / a haue made the a greate name / accordyng to the name of the greate men vpon earth. And for my people of Israell I will appoynte a place / and will plante them that they may remaine there nomore to be remoued / a that the chyldren of wyrdnesse oppresse them no moyle as afore / and since the tyme that I ordeyned iudges ouer my people of Israell. And I wyl geue the rest from all thyne enemyes. And the Lorde breued the / that the Lorde wyl make the a house.

C Now whō the tyme is fulfilled that thou Ag. p. 2 shal slepe with thy fathers / I wil after I raise vp thy rbe / whō shal come of thy bodye: his name shal be Zabaorb wyl I stablyshe shall buyde an house for my name / and I will stablyshe the seat of his kyngdom for euer. I wyl be his father / and he shal be my sonne.

D Whan he hath a resposse / I wyl re- Ag. p. 3 pouse hym with the rodde of myn / and with the plagues of the chyldren of men: But my mercy shal not be withdrawen fro hym / as I haue withdrawn it from Saul / whome I haue taken awaye before thee. As for thy house and thy kyngdom: it shal be stablyshed for euer before thee / and thy seate shall endure fast for euermore.

Whan Nathan had tolde al these wordes / and al this visyon vnto Dauid: kyng Dauid came and sat hym vpon the Lorde / a sayde: O Lorde God / whō art thou? and what is my house / that thou hast brought me thus farr: This O Lorde God hast thou thought to lyke also / but hast spoken of the house of thy seruaut for longe for to come. O Lorde God is that the lawe of myn:

And whā shall Dauid speake vnto the: O thou knowest thy seruaut O Lorde God / for thy wordes sake / and accordyng to thy herte hast thou done all these greate thynges / that thou myghtest shewe them vnto thy seruauant. Therefore art thou greatly magnified. O Lorde God / for there is none lyke the / and there is no God but thou / accordyng vnto all that we haue herd with our eares. For: where is there a people ept earth as thy people of Israell: for whose sake wente God to deliuer hym a people / and to make hym selfe a name / and to do them such greace and terrible thynges in thy land before thy people / whome thou hast deliuered vnto thy selfe from Egypte / from the people and from they: Goddes. And thy people of Israell hast thou prepared the to be a people vnto thyne owne selfe for euer / and thou O Lorde art become thy God.

Stablyshe now the worde therefore for euer. O Lorde God whiche thou hast spoken ouer thy seruaut / and ouer his house / and do accordyng as thou hast sayde. So shall thy name be greate for euer / so that it shal be sayde: The Lorde Zabaorb is the God of Israell / and the house of thy seruaut Dauid shal be made sure before thee. For thou Lorde Zabaorb / thou God of Israell hast opened the care of thy seruants / and sayde: I wyl buyde the an house. Therefore hath thy seruaut soude his herte to praye this prayer vnto the: Thou Lorde God thou thy selfe art God / and thy wordes shal be the truth. Thou hast spoken such good ouer thy seruants. Begynne now therefore and blesse thy seruantes house / that it maye be before thee for euer / for thou Lorde God thyne owne selfe hast spoken it: a with thy blyssyng shall thy seruants house be blessed for euer.

David smote Hadad Efer also: the sonne of Nebob kyng of Goba/whan he wente to fetch his power agayne at the water Euphrates. And of them toke David a thousand and seven hundred bysonnes/ and reuerye thousande fore men/ and lained all the charrettes/ saue an hundred which he kepte behynde. But the Syrians came from Samascon to helpe Hadad Efer kyng of Goba. And David smote two and reuerye thousande men of the Syrians/ and layed people vnto Damasuscu in Siria.

Thus was Siria subdued vnto David/so that they brought hym gyftes: for the Lord helped David wherher soeuer he wente. And David toke the spildes of gold/which Hadad Efers seruantes had/a brought the to Ierusalem. But fro Bethab a Berothai the cities of Hadad Efer toke David very much brasse.

The 1X. Chapter.

S And David sayde: Remaunt there yet any man of Sauls house/ that I may do mercy vpon hym for Jonathas sake? There was a seruaunt of Sauls house/ named Tiba/ whome they called vnto David/ a the kyng sate vnto hym: Art thou Tiba? He sayde: Yee the seruaunt. The kyng sayde: Is there yet any man of Sauls house/ that I maye do the mercy of God vpon hym? Tiba sayde vnto the kyng: There is yet a sonne of Jonathas/ lame on his fete. The kyng sayde vnto hym: Where is he? Tiba sayde vnto the kyng: He holdeth he is at Ladober in the house of Maschur the sonne of Amiel. Then sente kyng David thither/ and caused for to fetch hym from Ladober/ out of the house of Maschur the sonne of Amiel.

Now whan Mephiboseth the sonne of Jonathas/ the sonne of Saul came vnto David/ he fell vpon his face/ a was bypped hym. David sayde: Mephiboseth. He sayde: Here am I thy seruaunt. David sayde vnto hym: feare not/ for I will do mercy vpon the for thy father Jonathas sake/ and will restore the kyngdome vnto the all the lande of thy father Saul: But thou shalt eate brade vaily at my table. He was shipped and said: Who am I thy seruaunt/ that thou turnest the to a brade dogge as I am?

Then the kyng called Tiba the seruaunt of Saul/ and sayde vnto hym: All that hath belonged vnto Saul and to all his house/ haue I geuen to thy lodesonne. Tiba his lande set hym therfore/ thou and thy children and seruauntes/ and bringe it in/ wher it maye be brade for thy lodesonne/ and that he maye enioy it: But Mephiboseth thy lodesonne shall eate brade vaily at my table. Tiba had sytten sonnes and reuerye seruauntes. And Tiba sayde vnto the kyng: Accordinge vnto all as my lode the kyng hath commaunded his seruaunt/ so shall his seruaunt do. And let Mephiboseth brade vnto me/ as at my table/ as one of the kynges owne chyldren. And Mephiboseth had a yonge sonne/ whose name was Mefib. ## The X. Chapter.

And he returned after this that the kyng of the children of Ammon dyed/and his sonne Hanun was kyng in his steade. Then sayde Dauid: I will do mercy vpon Hanun the sonne of Nabas/ as his father dyd mercy vpon me. And so he sent / and comforted hym by his seruantes vpon his fathers death. Now when Dauides seruantes came into the lande of the children of Ammon / the meyn men of the children of Ammon sayd vnto Hanun theyr lord: Thinkest thou it is for the honour of thy father in thy sight/ that Dauid hath sent comforters vnto the: Hath he not sent his seruantes vnto the (whynell thou) to spye and search out the cyte and to ouerburden it?

When he sawe Hanun the seruantes of Dauid / and theyd shewe of the one halfe of theyr beards/and cut of the halfe of theyr garments/ vpon the gyrdel/ and so let them go. When this was tolde Dauid/ he sent to meete theyr for the me were put to great shame. And the kyng caused to saye vnto the: Abide at Jericho tyl your beards be growen/ and the come againe.

When the children of Ammon sawe theyr synked in the sight of Dauid / they sent and heard the Sirians of the house of Achob / and the Sirians of Sobab/ euen twentye thousande fore men/ and fro the kyng of Macha a thousande men / and fro Hoth twelue thousande men. When Dauid herde that he sent Joab with all the host of the men of warre. And the children of Ammon wente forth/ and prepared the selues to the battail before the entrance of the gate. But the Sirians of Sobab/ of Achob / of Hoth and of Macha were alone in the fele.

Now when Joab sawe that the battail was set vpon him before and behinde / he chose of all the best young men in Israel/ and prepared the selfe against the Sirians. And the residue of the people put he vnder the hande of his brother Abisai/ that he might prepare hym against the children of Ammon. And saide: If the Sirians be to myghte for me/ helpe thou me/ but if the children of Ammon be to myghte for the / I shall helpe the. Take a good courage vnto the / and let vs be stronge for our people/ for the cyte of our God: neuertheless/ the Lord do what pleaseth him.

And Joab gat him forth with the people that was with him/ to fight against the Sirians: they fled before him. And wha the children of Ammon sawe the Sirians fled/ they fled also before Abisai/ and wente into the cyte. So Joab turned againe fro the children of Ammon/ and came to Jerusalem. And when the Sirians sawe that they were smitten before Israel/ they came to gether.

And Hadad Ester sente/ and brought out the Sirians beyond the water/ and charged theyr power in / and Sobab the chiefe captayne of Hadad Ester wente before the. Wha this was tolde Dauid/ he gathered of Israel together/ and wente ouer Jordan/ and came to Helai/ and the Sirians prepared the felus againste Dauid to fight with hym: howebeit/ the Sirians fled before Israel. And Dauid slew of the Sirians seven hundrede thertetye and fourtye thousande horsemen / and Sobab the chiefe captayne smite he also/ so that he dyed there. When the Sirians which were vnder Hadad Ester sawe that they were smitten before Israel / they made peace with Israel/ and were subdued vnto the. And the Sirians were a fraye to helpe the children of Ammon any more.

The XI. Chapter.

And when the yere came aboute wher Ayme as the kynges vse to go forth. The .xxj. And sente Joab and his seruantes with him/ and all Israel/ to destroye the children of Ammon/ and to laie siege vnto Rabbas/ wher Dauid abode at Jerusalem.

And aboute the twentye it foynned that Dauid arose fro his restinge place/ and went vnto the toppes of the kynges palays/ and fro the toppes he sawe a woman / washinge her. The .xxij. And he was of a very fayre bewty. And Dauid sente / and caused to see what woman it was/ and said: Is not that Bethsabe the daughter of Eliam/ the wyfe of Urias the Hethite? And Dauid sente messengers / and caused for to sende her. And when she was come in vnto him / he laye with her. Neuertheless/ she hadore her selfe from her vncleanness. And he turned turned againe vnto her house. And the woman was with child/and sent/and caused to tell David/and say: I am with child. David sent vnto Joab/saying: Send me Urias the Gethite. And Joab sente Urias vnto David. And when Urias came to him. David opened him if it should well with Joab/and with the people/and with the battail.

B And David said vnto Urias: Wo thoue into thy house/and wash thy feet. And when Urias wente out of the Kinges palayce/3 Kinges grete folowed him. And Urias layed him vnto a step before the Kinges palayce gate/ where all his lodges seruantes lay: a wente not vnto his house. When word came to David: Urias is not gone vnto his house. David sayde vnto him: Camelst thou not ouer 3 feild? Why wenteft thou not vnto his house? Urias saide vnto David: The Arke and Israel/and Juda abyde in the tentes: And Joab my loide/ and my lodges seruantes lye in the felde/and shall I go to my house to eate and drinke/and to lye with my wyfe? Is truly as thou liuest/ and as truly as thy soule lyueth/ I wyl not do this thyng. David sayde to Urias: Abide here then to daye/ to morow wyl I let the go. So Urias abode at Ierusalem the same daye/ and 3 night also. And David called him to eat and drinke before him/and made him dronken. And at euen he wente to laye him vnto a step vpon his couche with his lodges seruantes/ and wente not vnto his house.

C On the morow wrote David a letter vnto Joab/ 3 sent it by Urias. After this maner wrote he in the letter: Set Urias in the foell parte of the battail/ 3 turne you behinde him/ 3 he maye be slaine. Nowe when Joab layed siege to the cite/ he set Urias in 3 place/ where he knewe the myghtiest men of armes were: And when the men of the cite fell out/ and fought: against Joab/ there fel certainly of the people of Davids seruantes. And Urias the Gethite dyed also.

Then sent Joab/and caused to tel the King all the matter/ concerninge the battail/ and commended the messaunger/ and saide: When thou hast tolde the Kinge al the matter/ concerninge the battail/ 3 seest that he is wroth/ and ys the Kinge face vnto the: Wherefor came ye so nye the cytie with the battail? Know ye not how they wyl to shute from the wall? I wo shote whiche the sonne of Ierubaal? 3 yd nota woman cast a peece of a mylstone vpon him feld the wall/ so that he dyed at Thebes? Why came ye so nye the wall? He saith thou say: Thy seruantes Urias the Gethite is dead also.

S The messaunger wente his waye/ 3 came and tolde David also/ wherefor Joab had sent him. And the messaunger saide vnto David: The men prynciple aganste vs/ and fell out vnto vs into the felde: and we were vpon the hard at the doore of the porte. And the archers shot from the wall vpon thy seruantes/ and slawe certayne of the Kinges seruantes: and thy seruant Urias the Gethite is dead also.

David sayde vnto the messaunger: Thus shalt thou saye vnto Joab: Let not that vexe the for the sweate/ consumerth now one/ now another. Go forth with the battail aganste the cytie/ that thou mayest deliuer it/ and do for it the men. And when Urias wyl herde that Urias was dead/ he mourned for her half bande. But when he had made an ende of mourninge. David sent/ 3 caused her to be fetched vnto his palayce/ and he became his wyfe/ 3 bare hym a sonne. Ueruerlye/ this vnde 3 David dyd displice the Lord.

The XII. Chapter.

And the Lord sente Nathan vnto David. When he came to him/ he tolde him: There were two men in one cytie/ one ryche/ the othe poore. The ryche man had very many shepe and oxen: But the poore man had nothinge save one lytle shepe/ which he had bought/ and nourished it/ so that it grew vp with him and his children together. It dyd care of his sheade/ and dranke of his cuppe/ and slept in his lappe/ and he kepte it as his daughter. But when there came a stranger vnto the ryche man/ he spare to take of his owne shepe and oxen/ to prepare ought for the stranger: that was come vnto him. And toke the poore mans shepe/ and prepared it for the man that was come vnto him.

Then was David wroth with greate displeasure aganste that man/ and sayde vnto Nathan: Is truly as the Lordde lyueth/ the man man that hath done this is a child of death.

 ¶ The shepe also shal be made good fourc fold/because he hath done such a thinge/and not spared it.

¶ Then sayd Nathan vnto Dauid: Thou art such a man. Thus sayth the Lorde the God of Israel: I haue anoynted thee to be kyng ouer Israel/and defyrred the out of the bande of Saull/and haue geuen the thy lordes house/and his wyfe into thy lappe/and the house of Israel and Iuda haue I geuen thee: and yf that be to lytle/ I wyl yet do this and that for the also. Wherefore hast thou then despised the woide of the Lorde/ to do such euill in his sight? Vnto the Hebride hast thou layne the sword: His wyfe hast thou taken to be thy wyfe / but hym hast thou layne with the swerde of the chyldren of Ammon.

¶ ¶ Now therefore shall not the swerde depart from thy house for euer/ because thou hast despised me/and taken the wyfe of Vrias the Hebride/ to be thy wyfe. Thus sayeth the Lorde: Beholde/ I I wyl raise vp euell of thine owne house/ and wyl take thy wyfe before thine eyes/and wil geue them vnto thy neighbour/so that he shal be with thy wyfe by Sunne light. for thou haste done it secretly/ but I wyl do this in the sight of all Israel/and by Sunne light.

¶ ¶ Then saide Dauid vnto Nathan: I haue sinned vnto the Lorde. Nathan said vnto Da-uid: So hath the Lorde also taken away thy sinne/ thou shalt not dye. But for so much as thou hast done this vnto the Lorde/ he hath caused the enemyes of the Lorde to blaspheme: the sonne thar is borne vnto the shal dye the death. And Nathan went home. As for the child which Vrias wyfe bare vnto Dauid/the Lorde smote it so that it was dead sicke.

¶ ¶ And Dauid sought God for the child and fasted/and went in/ and laye all nyght vpon the earth. Then rose the Elders of his house/and welde haue taken him vp frō the ground/and beseechd he wolde not/ neyther wold he care with them. Vpon the fourth day the child dyed. And Dauids seruantes buried him/ and that the child was dead/ for they thought: Behold/ when the child was yet aliue/ we spake vnto him/ as he berthed not so oure voyce / How much more shal it grieve him/ if we saye: the child is dead: And Dauid sawe that his seruantes made a whispering together/and perceaued that the child was dead/ asaid vnto his seruantes: Is the child dead? They sayde: Yee. Then rose Dauid vp from the earth/ and washed hym selfe/ and anoynted hym/ and put on other garnementes/and wente in to the house of the Lorde/ and worshipped.

¶ ¶ And when he came agayn/ he commaunded to set breade before hym/ and byd care.
 Then sayde his seruantes vnto hym: What manner of thyng is this that thou doest: Whā the child was alyue thou fastedst/ and wept-est: but now that it is dead/ thou standest vp and eatest? He sayde: I fasted and wept for the child whā it was yet alyue/ for I thought: Whā knoweth/ peraduenture the Lorde may be gracious vnto me/ that the child may lyue: I But now that it is dead/ wherefore should I fast? Can I restore it agayne? I shal go vnto it/ but it shal not come agayne vnto me. And when Dauid had consoled Berthabe his wyfe/ he went in vnto her/ a lay with her. And she bare a sunne/ whome he called Salomon. And the Lorde louded him.
 And he put hym vnder the bande of Nathan the prophete/ which called hym Ieredia because of the Lorde.

¶ ¶ So Ioth sought agaynst Rabba of the chyldren of Ammon/ and wanted the kynges eyre/ and sente messaungers vnto Dauid/and caused to say vnto him: I haue soughte agaynst Rabba/ and haue wonne the water eyre also. Gather thou therefore the residue of the people together/ and laye siege to the cytye and wyntent/ that I wyntent it not/ I haue the name thereof. So Dauid gathered all the people together and wente/ and fought agaynst Rabba/ and wanted it/ and toke theyr kynges crowne from his head/ which in weyght had a talent of golde/ and precious stones/and was set vpon Dauids heade/ and very muche people carryed he out of the cyte. So for the people that was therein/ he broughte them south/ and layd them vnder yon sa-uens/ and hefted/ and wredged of yon/ and burned them in tye ouens. Thus dyd he vnto all the cytyes of the chyldren of Ammon.

But Ammon had a friend / whoſe name was Jonadab / ſonne of Simca Dauids ſiſter. And the ſame Jonadab was a very wiſe man / which ſaid vnto him: Why arte thou ſo ſicke / thou ſyngeſt ſonne of Iſraels ſaye to ſaye: I mayeſt thou not tel me? Then ſaid Ammon vnto him: I loue Thamar my ſiſter Abſaloms ſiſter exceedingly.

B Jonadab ſaid vnto him: ſaye þe ſoune vpo thy bedde / and make the ſicke. And whā thy father cometh to loke how thou doſt / ſaye vnto him: O let my ſiſter Thamar come / þe ſhe maye fede me / and make a meace of meate before me / that I maye ſee it / a catte of her hād. So Ammon layd him ſoune / a made hym ſicke. Now when þe Kinge came into loke how he was / Ammon ſaide vnto the Kinge: O let my ſiſter Thamar come / and make me a ſpynging of two / and that I maye eate it of her hād. The Kinge ſaid for Thamar into þe houſe / and ſayde vnto her: Go thy waye to thy ſiſter Ammons houſe / and make him a meace of meate. Thamar wente vnto her ſiſter Ammons houſe / but he laye in his bed. And ſhe toke floure / and mixt it / and blyght it befor her eyes / a made him a ſpynging. And ſhe toke the meace of meate / and poured it out befor him: but he wolde not eate.

And Ammon ſaid: Put forth euery man fro me. And euery man wente forth fro him. The ſaid Ammon vnto Thamar: Whyng me that meace of meate into þe chaubdr? I may eate it of thy hande. The ſaid Thamar the ſpynging that he had made / a brought it vnto Ammon her ſiſter into the chaubdr.

And when ſhe brought it vnto him that he might eate / ſhe toke holde of her / and ſayde vnto her: Come my ſiſter lye with me. Neuer theles / ſhe ſaide: O þe no my ſiſter / ſoyce me not / ſo do theye not in Iſrael / þe not thou ſuch ſoly. Whether ſhal I go with my ſiſter: and thou ſhalt be as one of the vnyrſe in Iſrael. But ſpake vnto the Kinge / þe ſhal not worholde me from the.

So when he wolde not heren vnto her / and ouercame her / and forced her / and laye with her. And Ammon hated her exceedingly. For he ſayd that the hatred was greater bet the loue was before. And Ammon ſaid vnto her: Up / and get the hence.

She ſaide vnto him: This euil that thou thruſteſt me out / to greater the other that thou haſt done vnto me. Neuer theles / þe herenod not vnto her / but called his boye that ſerued him / and ſaide: Put awaye this womā fro me / and locke the doore after her. And ſhe had a party garment on: for ſhe had garmentes wear the Kinges daughters whyche they were virgyns.

And when his ſeruaunt had put her forth / a locke the doore after her / Thamar ſtrowed aſbes vpon her heade / and rent the partye garment which ſhe had vpon her / and layd her hande vpon her head: and wente on and cryed. And her ſiſter Abſalom ſaide vnto her: Hath thy ſiſter Ammon ſeuen with the? Now holde thy peace my ſiſter: it is thy doore / and take not the matter ſo to her.

So Thamar remained a widow in her ſiſter Abſaloms houſe. And when Kinge Dauid herde of al this / he was very ſoye. So for Abſalom / he ſpake neyther hee nor good to Ammon / but Abſalom hated Ammon / becauſe he had forced his ſiſter Thamar.

After two yeaeres had Abſalom ſhepeſpyrers at Baal Hazor / which lieth by Ephraim. And Abſalom called all the Kinges children / and came to the Kinge / and ſayde: Beholde / thy ſeruaunt hath ſhepeſpyrers / let it pleaſe the Kinge with his ſeruaunte to go with the ſeruaunte. But the Kinge ſayd vnto Abſalom: No my ſonne / let us not all go / leſt we be to chargeable vnto the.

And he wolde nedes haue had hym to go / howbeit / he wolde not / but bleſſed hym. Abſalom ſaid: What my ſiſter Ammon go with us then? The King ſaid vnto him: Whyng ſhal he go with the? Then was Abſalom ſo impoſtune vpon him / that he let Ammon a all the kynges chyldren go with hym.

 But Abſalom commaunded his yonge men/and ſayde:Take heed when Amnon is merry with wyne:As I ſaye vnto you: Smyte Amnon/as ſaye hym:that ye be not afraid: ſo: I haue commaunded you be ſtronge/and plague the men: So Abſaloms yonge men ſyd vnto Amnon as Abſalom had commaunded them: Then ſtoode all the kynges chyldren vp/and every one gat him vp vpon his mule/and fled. And whyle they were yet on theyr waye/ther rauour came to kyng Dauid: that Abſalom had ſlayne all the kynges chyldren/ſo that not one of them was left.

¶ Then ſtoode the kyng vp / and rerte his clothes/and layed hym downe vpo the carth/ and all his ſeruauntes that ſtoode aboue hym/ rerte theyr clothes. Then answered Ionadab the ſonne of ſemias Dauids brother/ ſayde: Let not my lorde rhyſke that al yonge men the kynges chyldren are dead / but that Amnon is dead only: ſo: Abſalom herſe kept it in hymſelfe / ſince ſe daye that he forced his ſiſter Thamar: Therfore let not my lorde the kyng reſt ſo to here/that al the kynges chyldren ſhoulde be dead / but that Amnon is dead only.

¶ As for Abſalom he fled. As the yonge māther kept the watch/ſhe vp his eye/and lo: ſhe: and beholde/a great people came in the waye one after another by the hyl ſide. Then ſayde Ionadab vnto the kyng: Beholde / the kynges chyldren come. Euen as thy ſeruaunt ſayd: ſo it happened. And when he had ended his talſpyng/the kynges chyldren came/and liſt ry the voyer and wepte.

The kyng and all his ſeruauntes wepte also very ſore. But Abſalom fled / and wente vnto Thalmay the ſonne of Ammiud kyng of Geſur: As for Dauid/ he mourned for his ſonne eury daye. When Abſalom was fled and gon vnto Geſur/ he was there thre yearre. And kyng Dauid ceaſed from goynge out agaynſt Abſalom/ for he had comforted hym liſte our Amnon that he was dead.

The XIII. Chapter.

¶ Then ſtoode the ſonne of Zeruij perrecaued that the kynges hart was agaynſt Abſalom/ ſo ſent vnto Theſoa/and cauſe to ſerche from thence a prudent woman/and ſaide vnto her:

Make lamentacion/and weate mourninge garments/ and anoynt the not with oyle: But ſaynt thy ſelfe as a woman/which mourned longe ouer a dead/and thou ſhalt go into the kyng and ſpeake ſo / and ſo vnto hym. And Ioab tolde her what ſhe ſhoulde ſaye.

And when the woman of Theſoa wolde ſpeake with the kyng / ſhe fell vpon her face to the grounde and woſſhopped / and ſayde: Helpe me O kyng. The kyng ſayd vnto her: What ayleth the? She ſayde: I am a widow/ a woman that mourneth/and my houſband is dead. And thy handmayden had two ſonnes/which ſtroue together in the ſelbe / and whyle there was no man to parte them aſunder/ the one ſmore the other/and ſlew hym.

And beholde al the whole lined ryſeth vp agaynſt thy hand mayden/and ſay: We wylle hurt hym which hath ſmitten his brother / that we maye kil him/ for ſake of his brother whom he hath ſlaine/and that we maye deſtroy the herte alſo. And thus are they minded to pur out my ſpake / which yet is left / that there ſhoulde no name/ nor any thinge els remaine ouer vnto my heuſe/ vnto carth.

The kyng ſaid vnto the woman/ go thy waye hertly / I wil geue a comenſement ſo: for the. And the woman of Theſoa ſaid vnto the kyng: The treſpaſſe be vpon me/ ſaid the kyng: and vpon my fathers houſe: But the kyng and his ſer ſe vngilty. The kyng ſaide: Let that ſpakeſh agaynſt the / bynge him vnto me/ ſo ſhal he touch the noſome. She ſaide: Let the kyng thinke vpon the Lord his God/ that there be not ſo many awengere of bloude to deſtroye / and that they bynge not my ſenne to nought. He ſaide: I do truly as the Lord lyerth/ there ſhal not one heer of thy ſonne fall vpon the carth. And the woman ſaid: Let thy hand mayden ſpeake ſome thar to my lord the kyng. He ſaid: ſpeake on. The woman ſaid: What ſort heſt thou be uſed ſuch a thing agaynſt the people of God? And howe happily it that the kyng ſpeakeſh ſuch to make hymſelfe gilty/and cauſeth not his owne lawe to be brought agaynſt: For we all ſye the deſerch/ and as the water that ſynkeſh into ſe carth/ which is not rafſe vp. I And God wyl not rafſe away the liſe/ but beſerue hymſelfe/ that euen the vryce coule be ſe not cleane:

deane thruſt out from him.

C Thus an I come alſo to ſpeake this to my loide the King/in the preſence of the people. For thy hand made thought: I will ſpeake to the King: & peraduenture he ſhall do that his hand mayde ſayeth/ſo he ſhall heare his hand-maide/ſo ſeruaunt me from the bande of all them that wolde beſteyde me with my ſonne from the indignaunce of God. And thy hand-maide thought/the word of my loide ſ Kinge is as an angel of Gods/ſo that he can heare good and euill/therfore ſhall the Lord be thy God ſe with the.

The Kinge aunſwered and ſaide vnto the woman: Take nothing from me that I ſee the. The woman ſayde: Let my loide the Kinge ſpeake on. The Kinge ſayde: Is not the bande of Ioab with the in all this? The woman aunſwered a ſayde: As truly as thy ſoule liueth/ My loide O Kinge/there is no woman/neyther at the righte bande nor at the left:/but euen as my loide the Kinge hath ſaid:/ſo thy ſeruaunt Ioab hath commaunded me /and he himſelfe hath taught thy hand-maide of theſe wordes/ I ſhoulde turne this matter of this faſhion/this hath Ioab thy ſeruaunt done. But my loide is wiſe/as the wiſedome of an angel of God/ſo that he knoweth all thynges vpon earth.

D Then ſaid the King vnto Ioab: Beholde/I haue done this: go thy way therfore/a thinge the child: Abſalom againe.

Then fell Ioab vpon his face vnto the grounde/and worſhipped/archanted ſ Kinge/and ſaide: This haue both thy ſeruaunt perceiue/that I haue founde grace in thy ſight my loide the Kinge/in that the Kinge doth as his ſeruaunt hath ſaid. So Ioab gat him vp/and went vnto Geſur/a thought Abſalom to Jeruſalem. But the Kinge ſaid: Let him go a-gaine into his houſe/a not ſee my face. Thus Abſalom came againe to his houſe/and ſawe not the Kinge face.

But in all Iſraell there was not ſo fayre/and ſo manlyuous goodly a man as Abſalom. From the ſole of his foete vnto the toppe of his head/there was not one ſtemple in him. And wha his head was rounded/ that was commonly every yeare/ for it was to heavy for hym/ſo that it muſt neede haue been rounded. The beere of his head woyed two hundred Sicles after the Kinges weyght. And vnto Abſalom there were borne the ſyncs one daughter/ whoſe name was Thamar/and ſhe was a woman of ſure beerye: So Abſalom abode two yeare at Jeruſalem/ and ſaw not the Kinge face.

And Abſalom ſent for Ioab/that he might ſend him to the King. And he wold not come to him. But he ſent ſeconde tymes/ yet wold he not come. Then ſaide he vnto his ſeruaunt: Ye knowe Ioaabs peece of lande that I ſeth by myne/and he hath barly thereon: So youre waye therfore and let ſye vpon it. So Abſalom ſeruaunt ſet ſye vpon Ioaabs peece of lande.

Then Ioab gat hym vp/and came to Abſalom into the houſe/and ſaide vnto hym: Wherefore haue thy ſeruaunt ſet ſye vpon my peece of lande? Abſalom ſaide vnto Ioab: Behold/I ſent for the/and cauſed to ſaye vnto the: Come hyther/that I maye ſende the to the Kinge/and to ſaye: Wherefore came I ſet Geſur? It were better for me that I were there yet. Let me therfore ſee the Kinges face. But if there be any treſpaſſe in me /then put me to death. And Ioab went into the Kinge/and tolde him. And he called Abſalom to come into the Kinge/and he worſhipped vpon his face to the grounde before the Kinge. And the Kinge kyſſed Abſalom.

The Xv. Chapter.

After this/it fortuned that Abſalom I cauſed to prepare him kiſt charrettes/ & a ſkilfull men which were his ſeruaunt. And Abſalom gat him up alwaie early in the morninge/and ſtoode in the waye by the poſte/and wha any man had a matter/ which ſhould come to the Kinge for iudgement: Abſalom called hym vnto him a ſaid: Of what kinde art thou? If he ſaid then: Thy ſeruaunt is of one of the tribes of Iſraell/then ſaid Abſalom vnto him: Beholde/this matter is righte and plaine: But there is no man appointed the of the Kinge to heare the.

And Abſalom ſaide: Of who ſerret me to be iudged in the lande/that every man which hath a plea or matter to do in the lawe/might come to me/that I myght helpe him to righte. And

And when any man came to hym to do worshippe/a to do him obeisance/he put forth his hand/a hebe him/a kissed him. After this manner Did Absalō vnto al Israel/whā they came to / I saue vnto the kinge / a so Did he scale awaye the hartes of the men of Israel.

After foure yeares said Absalom vnto the kinge: I wil go/and performe my vowe at Hebron/which I made vnto t<sup>e</sup> Loide. For thy seruante made a vowe/whā I dwelt at Gibeon in Gabaon: Whā t<sup>e</sup> Loide burnt me againe to Ierusalem: I shal do a Gods seruice vnto the Loide. The kinge said vnto him: Go thy way in peace. And he gat hym vp/and went vnto Hebron.

But Absalom had sent out spyes in al the rybes of Israel/ sayinge: Whā ye heare the noyse of the troupe/ saye: Absalom is made kyng at Hebron. There wente with Absalō two hundred men called from Ierusalem/ but they went on slyly/and knewe not of the matter. Absalom sent also for Achitophel (the Gilonite) Dauides counsailer/ out of his owne Cite. Now when he had the sacrifice/ the conspiracion was myghty/ and the people rāse together/a multiplied with Absalom.

Then came one which tolde Dauid/ and sayd: He here of euery mā in Israel followeth Absalō. Dauid said vnto al his seruantes that were with him at Ierusalem: Dp/ let vs flye/for here shalbe no escaping for vs before Absalom.

Make heull that we may be goyng/lest he overtake vs/and cuthe vs/a byge some inisfortune vpon vs/and smite the cite wth edge of the sword. Then said the kynges seruantes vnto hym: Loke what my loide the kynge wol say. Behold here are thy seruantes. And the kyng went forth on foot with al his household. But ten concubynes lest he to kepe the house.

And when the kynges and all the people came forth on foot/they wente saure frō home/ and al his seruantes wente by hym/and all the Ephraimys/ and Manassians/ and all the Githites/ Cuen sixe hundred men/ which were come on foot from Gath/ wente besyde the kyng.

And the kynge saide vnto Ishai the Gethite: Why goest thou also with vs? Turne becke/and syde with the kyng/ for thou art a slaugter: get the hence agayne vnto thy place. Thou canest yesterday/ and to daye thou isperdest to go with vs. So for me/ I wil go whether I can: name thou seeke agayne/and mercy and faythfullnesse happen vnto thy brethren with the. Ishai answered and saide: I do truly as the Loide hath sayd/ as truly as my loide the kynge hath/ soke in what place my loide the kynge shalbe/ whāther it chaunce to lyse of death. I desire thys seruante be also.

Dauid said vnto Ishai: Then come / and go with vs. So wente Ishai the Gethite/ a all his men/and the whole multitude of the childre that were with him. And all the lande wept with a loude voyce/ and al the people blyssed them. And the kynge wente our the cite of Hebron/ and al the people went our by the way that goeth to the wilderness.

And behold/ Sadoc was there also/ and al the Levites that were with him/ a they bare the Arke of the cōnuant of God/ a set it there. And Abiathar wēt vp/ in al t<sup>e</sup> people cam our of t<sup>e</sup> cite. But t<sup>e</sup> kyng said vnto Sadoc: Buryng the Arke of God into the cite agayne. If I shal fynde grace before the Loide/ he will send me agayne/ and shal let me see/ and the house of it. But if he saie thus: I haue no pleasure to the: Behold here am I: Let him: Do with me as it pleaseth him.

And the kyng said vnto Sadoc the priest: If O thou? Seer/ turne againe to the cite with peace/ and Ahimach thy sonne wth the of a Jona shas the sonne of Abiathar: Behold/ I will stane in the plane of the wilderness/ wth t<sup>e</sup> sage come frō you/ a tell me. So Sadoc a Abiathar soughte the Arke of God agayne to Ierusalem/ and remained there.

But Dauid wente vp to mounte Olyuete and wepte/ and his head was couered. And al the people that was with him/ had euery man his head couered/ and wente on a wepe. And when it was tolde Dauid that Achitophel was in the consederacy with Absalom/ he saide: Loide/ turne thou Achitophels counsaill to fooly shence.

And when Dauid came vp to the toppes of the mount/ where the t<sup>e</sup> was to worship God. Behold/ Chusi the Achitome came by with his coxe rent/and earth vpon his heade. And Dauid saide vnto him: If thou go with me/thou shalt be chargeable vnto me: But if thou goest agayne into the citie/and sayest vnto Abisalom: I am thy seruant: O hyngel/euē as I was thy fathers seruant: so wil I now be thy seruant: If then shalt thou bring Achitophels counsaile to nought: So is Sadoc and Abisathar þe priestes with the/ and al that thou hearest out of the kinges house/rel it vnto Sadoc and Abisathar the priestes. Behold/ there two sonnes are with them: Ahimaae þe sonne of Sadoc/and Jonathas the sonne of Abisathar/ by them mayest thou sende woide what thou hearest. So Chusai Dauids frende came into the citie: And Abisalom came to Jerusalem.

The XVI. Chapter.

AND whē Dauid was gone a hyle by fro the toppe of the mounte: Beholde/ Siba þe seruante of Achitophels met him with a couple of asses laden/wheron were two hundred loaves of bread/and hundred frailes of refines/and an hundred frailes of hyggel/ and a banel of wyne. Then saide the kinge vnto Siba: What wilt thou do here with? Siba saide: The asses shall be for the kinges household to ryde vpon/and the loaves and hyggel for thy young men to eat/ and the wyne shall be for them to drinke when they are weery in the woldernesse. The kinge saide: Where is thy lordes sonne? Siba saide vnto the kinge: Beholde/ he abideth at Jerusalem/for he said: To daye shall the house of Israel restore my fathers kingdome vnto me. The hyngel saide vnto Siba: Behold/ Abisathar Achitophels hath shalbe thine. Siba saide with reuerence: Let me finde grace in thy sight my lord O kinge.

But when hyngel Dauid came to Bahurim/Beholde/ there went out a man of þe kindred of the house of Saul/ whose name was Gai/ and cast stones at Dauid/ and at all hyngel Dauids seruantes/ at al the people/ and al the mighty men were at his right hande/ and at his lefte. Thus saide: Some when he cursed: Yet the foeth/ get the foeth thou bloody bounde/ thou man of Ecliel. The Lord herd remembred the foule of the bloude of þe house of Saul/ that thou becamest hyngel in his stead: Now hath the Lord giuen the kingdome into the hande of Abisalom thy sonne. And beholde/ now stekest thou in thine owne mischuse: for thou art a bloody hand.

But Abisai the sonne of Ner/ Ja saide vnto the hyngel: Shall this head dogge curse my lord the kinge? I wil go/ and take the heade awaie from him. The hyngel saide: Ye chyldren of Ieru/ what haue I to do with you? Let him curse/ for the Lord hath commaunded him: Curse Dauid. Who can saye now: Why doest thou so?

And Dauid saide vnto Abisai and to all his seruantes: Beholde/ my sonne whiche came of my body/ seeth after my life/ home much more the sone of Zeremim: Let him curse on/ for the Lord hath commaunded him: Ierabudanture the Lord shall chuse mane is. Hei/ a curse/ and recompense me good for his cursing: this daye. So Dauid went on his waye with his men. But Some went on by the mounte beside him/ and cursed/ and cast stones at him/ at the me drotto of carth.

And the hyngel came in/ and all the people that was with him weery/ and refreshed him selfe there. But Abisalom and al the people of the men of Israel came to Jerusalem/ Achitophel with him. When Chusai the Archite Dauids frende came into Jerusalem/ he saide vnto Abisalom: God saue the hyngel/ God saue the kinge.

Abisalom saide vnto Chusai: Is this thy mercy vnto thy frende? Why art thou not gone with thy frende? Chusai saide vnto Abisalom: Not so/ but loke whome the Lord doeth/ and this people/ and all the men in Israel/ his wil I be/ and abide with him. Secondly/ whome should I serue? Should I not do seruice before his sonne? Let as I beare seruice in the pience of thy father/ so will I do seruice before the also.

And Abisalom saide vnto Achitophel: Geue vs your counsaile what we shall do. Achitophel saide vnto Abisalom: Woyle with thy fathers concubines/ whome he hath left to kepe the house/ so shall all Israel heare that thou hast made thy father to sinke/ and the bande of al them that are with the/ shall be the soldier. He made thy arene vnto Abisalom/ upon the house toppes. And Abisalom laye with his fathers thoſe counſelors in the ſyght of all Iſrael.

 That ſome whan Achitophel gaue a counſayl that was euen as yſaiahs counſayl at Gods Word: So were all the counſayls of Achitophel: both wryth Dauid and wryth Abisalom.

The XVII. Chapter.

Achitophel ſayd vnto Abisalom: I will doſe our twelſe thouſande men/ and wyl get me vp/ and perſue Dauid by nyght/ and fall vpon him whan he is ſeble & weery: When I ſee him then / ſo that all the people which are by him flye: I will ſmyte the kyng onely/ & bringe all the people vnto I agayne. So whan every man is brought vnto the as thou deſireſt/ then ſhall all the people be in peace. Abisalom thought that good/ and ſo did all the Elders in Iſrael. But Abisalom ſayd: I praye you call Chuiſai the Arachie / and let vs heare what he ſayeth thereto. And whan Chuiſai came in to Abisalom/ Abisalom ſayde vnto him: Thus hath Achitophel ſpoken: ſay thou now/ ſhall we do it or no.

Then ſayd Chuiſai vnto Abisalom: It is no good counſayl: Achitophel hath geuen at this tyme. And Chuiſai ſayde in reuerſe: Thou knoweſt thy father well / a his men / that they are ſtrong / and of a woorthful ſtomack: euen

As a Beer that is robbed of her yongones in the ſelde. Thy father alſo is a man of warre/ and will not be negligent with the people.
Behold he hath now peradventure byd him ſiſte in ſome cauſe/ in ſome place. If it came to paſſe then / ſhant it chaunced euell at thy ſyde/ and there ſhould come a rumoure and ſaye: There is a ſlaughter done in the people that ſolomed Abisalom: then ſhould every man be diſcouraged/ whiche is valcaine/ and hath a bitter lyfe & kyng: for al Iſrael knoweth that thy father is ſtrong/ and that all they whiche be wryth him/ are nyghty men.

But this is my counſayll/ that thou gather together all Iſrael from Dan vnto Beſebai/ in number as the ſande of the ſee/ and go thou thyne owne perſone among them: then will they fall vpon him in what place we ſhinde him/ and wyl ouerwhelme him euen as the dew ſalleth vpon the carth/ ſo that we ſhall not leaue out of him/ and of all his men. But wylde reſouſe in to a ctye / then ſhal all Iſrael caſt roapes about the ſame ctye/ and ſawe it in to the ryuer / ſo that there ſhall nor one ſtone of it be founde.

Then ſayd Abisalom and every man in Iſrael. The counſayl of Chuiſai the Arachie is better then Achitophels counſayll.

But the Lorde broughte it ſo to paſſe/ that the good counſayl of Achitophel was hindered/ that the Lorde myght bringe euill vpon Abisalom.

And Chuiſai ſayde vnto Saboc & Abia: that the priſte: Thus and thus hath Achitophel counſayled Abisalom and the Elders in Iſrael: but ſo and ſo haue I counſayled. Sende now therfore in al the haill/ and tell Dauid/ and ſaye: Abide nor all nyght in the playne ſelde of the wildernisſſe/ but get thouer/ that the kyng be not ſerayled vp/ and all the people that is wryth hym. As for Jonathan and Ahimaaz / they ſlode by the welde of Kogell/ and a ſamſell wente thither and tolde them: They wente on they way / and tolde kyng Dauid / for they durſt not be ſene to come into the ctye.

But a lad ſawe them / and tolde Abisalom. Neuertheleſſe / they went on they way / and came to a mans houſe at Bahurim / whiche had a well in his court / a chy. y. wente vnto in to it. And the woman toke/ and ſpied a courtinge ouer the welles mouth/ and ſhewed ſermyng come theron/ that it was not preceaued. Now whan Abisaloms ſtrauntes came to the woman in to houſe / they ſaid: Where is Ahimaaz and Jonathan? The woman ſaid vnto them: They are gone ouer & lytle water.

And whan they ſought and founde them not / they went agayne to Jeruſalem. And whan they were gone / they turned vp out of the welde and / ſente theyr way / and tolde Dauid the kyng. and ſayd vnto Dauid: Get you vp / and go ſone ouer the water / for thus and thus hath Achitophel geuen a counſayl agaynst you.

Then Dauid get him vp / and all the people that was wryth him / and paſſed ouer Iordane tyll it was cleare morninge. And there was not one/ but he wente ouer Iordane. Whan Achitophel ſawe that his counſayll went not forth / he ſadled his aſſe / get him vp and went home in to his ctye / and ſit by his house in order: / and hanged hym self: and dyed: / as was buried in his fathers graue.

¶ And Dauid came to Mahanaim. And ¶ Abisalom wente ouer Jordan: / and al the men of Israell went hym. And Abisalom had set a Masse ouer the hoost in Joabs strede. Amasa was the sounke of a man: whose name was Jerth: a Jezreelite: which laye with Abigail the daughter of Nabal: the sister of Jeru: / a Joabs mother. But Israell and Abisalom perished in Gilad.

¶ When Dauid was come to Mahanaim ¶ Mahas of Nabbar of the chyldren of Amasa. ¶ Re. ix. a mon: / and Machir the sonne of Ammiel of Issachar. ¶ Ebedebar: / a Bersillai a Giliadite of Noglim. ¶ Ke. q. b brought bedluffe: / aspestry worke: / as silens: / earthe vessel: / wheate: / barley: / melle: / pardedo: / oint: / becces: / odurell: / syffe: / hony: / butter: / shepe: / and farr: / open vnto Dauid: / and to the people that was with hym: / for to cate. For they thought: The people shal be hongry: / weery: / and shy: / sye in the wyldernes.

The XVIII. Chapter.

¶ And Dauid mustred the people that was with hym: / and set captaynes ouer them: / ouer thousandes and ouer hundredes. / And sent out of the people one thyrd parte vnder Joab: / and one thyrd parte vnder Abisai the sonne of Ner: / a Jebus brother: / a one thyrd parte vnder Ittai the Gethite. And the kynge sayde vnto the people: / I wyll go forth with you also: / cleuereth off: / the people saide: / The hou shalt not go forth with vs: / so: though we slye: / or the half of vs: / they shall not regard vs. / so: thou art as ten thousand of vs. Therefore is this better that thou mayst helpe vs out of the cytie. The kynge sayde vnto them: / Lofe what ye are contented withal: / that wyl I do. And the kynge stode in the gate: / and all the people went forth by hundredes and by thousandes. / And the kynge commaunded Joab and Abisai: / and Ittai: / and sayde: / Intreate me the yonge man Abisalom gently. / And all the people herde: / when the kynge commaunded all the captaynes: / concernyng Abisalom. / And when the people were come forth in to the fild: / against Israell: / the battayl beganne in the wood of Ephraim. / And the people of Israell were in mynre there before Dauid seruantes: / so that there was a greate slaughter the same daye: / of twenty thousande men. / And the battayl was scatered: / as broode there in all the lode. / And the wood consumed much more people the same daye: / then the swerde consumed.

¶ And Abisalom met Dauids seruantes: / and rode vpon a mule: / And when the mule came vnder a greate thicke Oke tree: / his head toke hold on the Oke: / as he hanged be betwene heauen and earth: / but the muleranne awayne from vnder hym. / When a certayne ma saue that he tolde Joab: / and sayde: / Behold: / I sawe Abisalom hange vpon an Oke tree. / And Joab sayd vnto the man that tolde it hym: / Beholde: / sawest thou that: / why smotest thou hym not there in to the grounde: / so wold I haue geuen the of myne owne behalfe ten siluerlinges and a gyrdell.

¶ The man sayde vnto Joab: / If thou haddest weyed me a thousande spurlinges in my handes: / yet wold I not haue layd my handes on the kynge sonne. / For the kynge commaunded the: / and Abisai: / and Ittai before oure carres: / and sayde: / Repe me the songe ma Abisalom. / O: / if I had dissembled vpon the reopery of myne owne soule: / for so much as nothyng should be hyd from the kynge: / thou thy self shouldst haue stande against me. / Joab sayde: / Not so: / I wyll vpon hym before thy face.

¶ Then toke Joab three speares in his hande: / and thus Abisalom stode in the hert: / while he was yet alyue vpon the Oke. / And ten yonge men Joabs were: / as he came aboute hym: / and smote hym to death. / Then blew Joab the trompe: / and broughte the people agayne: / that they shoulde followe nomore vpon Israell: / for Joab wolde sauoure the people. / And they toke Abisalom: / and cast hym in the wood in to a greate pyre: / and layd a greate heape of stones vpon hym. / And all Israell fled: / euerie one vnto his tene.

¶ Abisalom had set hym vpon a pyler: / while he was yet alyue: / which stode in the kynge vallye: / for he sayde: / I haue no sonne: / therefore shal this be a remembrance of my name. / And he called the pyler after his owne name. / And vnto this daye is it yet called Abisalom place.

¶ Ahimaas the sonne of Zadoc sayde: / Let me see runne

runne now/and byng the kynges woide/ that the Lorde hath gomen hym righte from the bande of his enemyes. But Joab sayde vnto hym: Thou shalt byngge no good rydynges to Dage/another Dage shalt thou byngge hym woide/ and not to Dage/for the kynges sonne is dead/ But vnto Chusi sayde Joab: Go thou thy waye/and tell the kyng what thou hast sene. And Chusi shewd his obediante vnto Joab/ and ranne. Ahimaas the sonne of Sadoc sayde agayne vnto Joab: What/and I ranne also: Joab sayde: What wyle thou rúne my sonne? Come byther / thou shalt byngge no good rydynges. He answered: What and I ranne yet. He sayde vnto hym: Runne thy waye then. So Ahimaas ranne the straight waye/ and came before Chusi.

E As for Dauid / he far betwene the two gawnde. And the watchman went vp to the toppes of the poole upon the wall / alyfte vp his eyes/ and sawe a man runnyng alone / and cryed: and tolde the kyng. The kyng sayde: If he be alone / then is there good rydynges in his mouth. And as the same wente he came forth/ the watchman sawe another man runnyng/ and cryed in the poole / and sayde: Beholde/ there runneth a man alone. The kyng sayde: faine is a good messaunger also. The watchman sayde: Ifc the runnyng of the fystic/ so it were the runnyng of Ahimaas the sonne of Sadoc. And the kyng sayde: He is a good man/and bynggeth good rydynges. Ahimaas cryed / and sayde vnto the kyng: Peace/ and wasshipped before the kyng upon his face to the grounde/and sayde: Pleased be the Lorde thy God/ which hath gomen ouer the men that isyfe vp theyr handes agaynst my lorde the kyng.

f The kyng sayde: Goeth it well with the sonne man Ahisalom: Ahimaas sayde: I saw a greatespioner/whan Joab the kynges seruaunt sent me thy seruaunt / and I wote not what it was. The kyng sayde: Go about and stande there. And he wente about and stode there. Beholde/then came Chusi and sayde: Byngge good rydynges my lorde the kyng: The Lorde hath executed righte for the this Dage/ from the bande of all them that rose up agaynst the. But the kyng sayde vnto Chusi: Goeth it well with the yonge man Ahisalom?

Chusi sayde: Euen so go it with all the enemyes of my lorde the kyng/and with all them that ryse vp against the lorde euell/so it goeth with the yonge man. Then was the kynge foomful/ a wente vp in to the parter upon the gate and wepte/and as he wente he sayde thus: O my sonne Ahisalom my sonne/ my sonne Ahisalom/wolde God that I shoulde see for the. O Ahisalom my sonne/ my sonne.

The. XIX. Chapter.

And it was tolde Joab: Beholde/ the kyng is weperh and mourneth for Ahisalom. And so out of the victory of that Dage there came a mournyng amonge all the people. For the people had herde the same Dage / that the kyng toke on heuely/ because of his sonne. And the people stode a waye the same Dage / so that they came not in to the cyte / as a people that is purte to shame / pyereth them selfes a waye / whan they are fled in a battell. As for the kyng/ he had covered his face/ and cryed loud/and sayde: O my sonne Ahisalom/ Ahisalom my sonne/ my sonne.

But Joab came vp to the kyng in to the house/and sayde: This Dage hath thou shamed all thy seruauntes / whiche haue deliuered thy soule this Dage/ and the soules of thy sonnes/ of thy Daughters/ of thy wyfes/ and of thy concubynes / in that thou louest the that hate the/and hatel those that loue the. For to Dage thou bestest thy selfe that thou carest not for the captaynes and seruauntes. For I perceau this Dage / that if Ahisalom onely were alyue/and we all dead this Dage/ thou woldst thyselfe it were well.

Get the vp now therfore/and go forth/and speake louynge vnto thy seruauntes. For I sweare vnto the by the Lorde: if thou go not forth / there shall not be lesse the one man this night/this shalbe wofe vnto the / then all the euell that happened the/ sence thy youth vp hitheo. Then the kyng garbym vp/and sat in the gate. And it was sayd vnto all the peple: beholde/ the kynge sittyth in the gate. Then came all the people before the kyng. But Jisrael was fled euery one vnto his tent.

And all the people stroue in all the trybes of Israell / and sayde: The kyng deliuered vs from the bande of our enemyes / a saued vs from the bande of the Philistynes/and was fayne to flye out of the lande for Absalom. So Absalon whome we haue annoynted ouer vs / is dead in the battayl. Why are ye so shil now / that ye sech not for kyng agayne.

The kyng sent vnto Saboe and Abiah that the priellcs/and caused to say vnto them: Speake to the Elders of Iuda/and say: Why will ye be the last to seche the kyng agayne vnto his house? (for the sayinge of all Israel was come before the kyng in to his house) ye are my brethren/my bone and my fleshe. Wherefore will ye then be the laste to byngte the kyng agayne? And saye vnto Amasai: Art not thou my bone and my fleshe? God do this and that vnto me/ if thou shalt not be the chiefe captayne before me in Iobabs steade as long as thou liuest.

And he bowed the hert of all the men of Iuda as one man. And they sent vnto the Kyng: Come agayne/ thou and all thy seruantes. So the kyng came agayne. And when he came vnto Iordane/ the men of Iuda were come vnto Gilgal / for to go vnto to meete the kyng / that they might byngte the kyng oauer Iordane. And Semei the sonne of Geora the sonne of Jenimi/ whiche dwelt at Bahurim / made keyll / and wente vnto with the men of Iuda to meete kyng Dauid / and there were with hym a thousand men of Beniamin. And also the seruantes of the house of Saul with his systerne sonnes / and twenteie seruantes gat them thowen Iordane before the kyng. and passed ouer the ferye / that they might byng ouer the kyngs householde / and to do byn pleasure.

But Semei the sonne of Geora fel vnto before the kyng/ whiche he passed ouer Iordane / and sayde vnto the kyng: O my lord/ saye not the treppasse vnto my charge / and thynke not vpon it / for thy seruants were with the / in the daye when my lord the kyng wente out of Ierusalem: and let not the kyng take it to hert / for thy seruants knowe that he hath synned. And beholde/ this daye am I come the first amonge al the house of Ioseph/ for to go vnto to meete my lord: the kyng.

Then answered Absai the sonne of Zeruia answered and sayd: And should not Semei the therefore/ kyng be hath cursed the annoynted of the Lorde: But Dauid sayde: What haue I to do with you ye children of Zeruia / that ye will become Sarban vnto me this daye? Should any man the this daye in Israel? Thynkest thou that I knowe not / that I am become kyng ouer Israel this daye? And the kyng sayde vnto Semei: Thou shalt not the. And the kyng wrote vnto hym.

Mephiboseth the sonne of Saule came vnto also to meete the kyng. And he had not made cleen his feet/ nor cōdde his bredder/ neither had he washed his clothes from the daye that the kyng was gone awaye / vntill the daye that he came agayne in peace. Now when he came to Ierusalem / for to meete the kyng / the kyng said vnto him: Mephiboseth/ wherefore wentest thou not with me? And he sayde: My lord O kyng / my seruants hath deale wrighteously to me: for they seruauit thought: I will saddle an esse and ride thereon / and go vnto thy kyng: for thy seruants is lame / and he hath accused the seruants before my lord the kyng.

But my lord the kyng is an angell of God / and thou mayest do what thou pleasest the. For all my fathers house was nothyng / but people of death before my lord the kyng. And yett hast thou set thy seruants amonge them that eate at thy table. What other vngbreuousnes haue I / that I should crye any more vnto the kyng? The kyng sayde vnto hym: What spakest thou yett more of thy matter? I haue sayde: Thou and Giobarta parte the lande betwene vs. Mephiboseth sayde vnto the kyng: Let hym take it all in as muche as my lord the kyng is come home in peace.

And Barsilay the Gileadite came vnto from Roglim / and broughte the kyng oauer Iordane: that he might conuene hym in Iordane. And Barsilay was verye olde / so good as foure score yere olde / the same had petye the kyng of foode while he was at Mahanaim / for he was a verye noble man. And the kyng sayde vnto Barsilay: Thou shalt go ouer with me / I will take care for the with myne owne selfe at Ierusalem. But Barsilay sayde vnto the kyng: What haue I yett to saye / that I should go vnto Ierusalem with the kyng? This daye am I foure score yere olde. How should I knowe what

whar is good or euell / or sayst what I care of thyne / or I heare what the musicians do synge: Why shoulde thy seruante be chargeable hence forth vnto my loide the kynge: thy seruante shall go a lytle with the kynge ouer Iordane. Why wilt the kynge recompence me after this maner? Let thy seruante turne backe agayne: that I may dye in my cytie: besyde my father and my mothers graue. Behold: there is thy seruante Chimcan: ser him go ouer with my loide the kynge: and so vnto to him what pleaseth the.

G The kynge sayde: Chimcan shall go ouer with me: and I will do for hym what lyketh the: and whatsoeuer thou desirest of me: that wilt I do for the also. And when all the people was gone ouer Iordane / and the kynge left wysse: the kynge kysst Barsillay and blessed hym: and he returned vnto his place. And the kynge passed ouer vnto Gulgath: and Chi-mean went with hym. And all the people of Iuda broughte the kynge ouer: howbeit there was but halfe of the people of Israell there.

And behold: then came all the men of Israel vnto the kynge: and sayd vnto hym: Why haue our brethren the men of Iuda stolen the waye / and haue conueyed the kynge and his household ouer Iordane: and al Dauids men with hym: The answered they of Iuda vnto to them of Israell: The kynge is of our nye kin-red: why are ye angrye therfore? Whyke ye we haue receaued any foode or gyffes of the kynge: Then answered they of Israell vnto them of Iuda: and sayde: We haue ten tymes more with the kynge and with Dauid then thou: why hast thou regarded me the so lightly: that oures were not the first to serd oure kynge agayne? But they of Iuda spake haber then they of Israell.

The XX Chapter.

A Here was a famous ma of Belial there: whose name was Seba the sonne of Bidai: a man of Temini: which blew the trope: and sayde: I We haue no porcyon in Da-uids non inheritaunce: in the sonne of Ihu: let every one get hym to his tent. O Israell.
 Then sell euery man in Israell from Dauid: and folowed Seba the sonne of Bidai. But the men of Iuda cleued vnto theys kynge from Iordane vnto Ierusalem. When Da-uid came home to Ierusalem: he toke the ten concubynes / C T whome he had leste to kepe the house: and put them in a holde to be kepte and made prison for them: but he laye not with them / and so were they shut vp vnto they: death: and lyued weeway.

ii. Re. xv. a

And the kynge sayde vnto Amasa: Call me all the men of Iuda together agaynst the theide Haze: and be thou here present also.
 And Amasa wrote to cal Iuda together. And he was slacke to come at the tyme which he had appointed hym. And Dauid sayd vnto Abisai: Now shall Seba the sonne of Bidai do vs more harme then Abisai: Take thou thy loides seruantes / and folow vpon hym:
 that he synde not some strange cytes for him:
 and so scape out of oure syght. Then were Iobas men so: better hym: a the Ebreians and Plethians: and all the myghtie men: and they wente out of Ierusalem to folowe vpon Seba the sonne of Bidai.

B

But when they were by the great stone at Gibeon: Amasa came before them. As for Iobas / he was gyded aboute his garmente which he had on: and vpon it he had a sword gyded / whiche hangyd by his thye in the sheeth / and wente safely ouer an in / and fell from hym. And Iobas saide vnto Amasa: Plea-ce be with the my brother. And Iobas take Amasa by the heerde with his ryghte hande to kysse hym. And Amasa toke no heed vnto the sword in Iobas hande: / and he thus Iob. iiij. c. hym therewith in to the belly: with his bowels ranne out vpon the earth: and he thus: at him namoz: And so he dyed.

Jub. iiij. c.

ii. Re. iiij. e

Iobas and his brother Abisai folowed vpon Seba the sonne of Bidai. And one of Iobas seruantes stode by hym / and sayde
 What is be this that wolde be agaynst Iobas to please Dauid: and to be with Dauid in I-abas steade? As for Amasa: he laye rolled in the blood in the myddes of the strete. But when one sawe that all the people stode there styll: he remoued Amasa from the strete to 3 felde: and call a cloth vpon hym: for so muche as he sawe: that whosoever came by hym: stode styll.
 Nowe when he was put out of the waye: euery man wente after Iobas / to folowe vpon Seba the sonne of Bidai.

And wente thowre all the rybes of Israel vnto Abel Beth Maacha/ and all the best chosen men gathered them selves together / and followed after hym / and came and beseged hym at Abel Beth Maacha / and made a bank adoure the cytie herde vnto the wall. And all the people that was with Joab/ layed to theyr ordinarie/ and wold haue cast doun the wall.

Then cryed there a wyse woman out of the cytie: Heare / heare / saye vnto Joab that he come heber/ I wyl speake wth hym. And when he came to her/ the woman sayde: Art thou Joab? He sayde: Yee. She sayde vnto hym: Heare the wordes of thy handmaiden. He sayde: I heare. She sayde: The common saying was for mynne: Whoso wyl save/ let him save at Abel/ as he came in to a good ende. This is the noble and faythfull cyne in Israel/ and wilt thou destroye the cyne and the mother in Israel? Why wilt thou swalowe up the embriauence of the Lorde.

Joab answered and sayde: That be farre/ & be farre for me/ I shoulde swalowe up and destroye. The matter is not so/ but a certayne man of moit Ephraim/ named Zeba & sonne of Bichu/ hath lyfte up hym selfe against King Dauid/ & vsuer hym onely/ and I wil departe from the cyne. The woman sayde vnto Joab: Beholde / his heade shalbe cast vnto the ouer the wall. And the woman came in to all people wth her wysdome. And they smote of the heade of Zeba the sonne of Bichu/ and cast it vnto Joab. Then blewe he the trompe / and they departed from the cyne / eury one vnto his tent. But Joab came agayne to Jerusalem vnto the kynge.

Joab was captiue ouer all the hoost of Israel: Benaia the sonne of Neada was ouer the Cheritians and Plerhians: Aboram was reuegarther: Josephar the sonne of Abiud was Chamberler: Seia was the scribe: Sedec and Abiarar were the priestes: Isra also the Iarme was Dauids priest.

house/ holde that he slawe the Gibeonites.

Then the kynge caused for to call the Gibeonites/ and spake vnto them. As for the Gibeonites / they were not of the chyldren of Israel/ but a remaite of the Ammonites: howbeit/ the chyldren of Israel had freyne vnto them/ and Saul sought for to smyte them in his gelouise/ se: the chyldre of Israel and Judah. Then sayde Dauid to the Gibeonites: What shal I do vnto you / where with shal I make the atonement/ that ye maye blesse / & embriauence of the Lorde: The Gibeonites sayde vnto hym: It is not for golde and siluer that we haue to do wth Saul and his house/ neyther haue we ought to do for to slay any man in Israel.

He sayde: What saye ye then/ that I shall do vnto you? They sayde vnto the kynge: The man that hath destroyed vs/ and brought vs to naught/ shoulde we destroye/ that nothyng be lefte hym in all the coastes of Israel. Let there be geuen vs seven men of his sonnes/ that we maye hange them vp vnto the Lorde at Gibea of Saul the dosen of the Lorde. The kynge sayde: I wyl geue them. Howbeit/ the kynge spared Mephiboseth the sonne of Jonathas the sonne of Saul/ because of the oorb of the Lorde that was betwene them: namely betwene Dauid and Jonathas the sonne of Saul. But the two sonnes of Ripsa the daughter of Aia/ whar he had home vnto Saul Armony and Mephiboseth/ and the fyne sonnes of Michol & daughter of Saul/ whome she bare vnto Adull the sonne of Ripharsilla the Ababorsite/ & the kynge take/ and gaue them in to the handes of the Gibeonites/ which hanged them vp vpon the moit before the Lorde.

So these seuen fell at one tyme / and dyed in the tyme of the first harvest/ when the barley harvest begynneth. Then reke Ripsa the daughter of Aia a sackcloth/ and spred it vpon the rocke in the begynninge of the harvest/ til the water from the heauen dropped vpon the/ and suffered not the foolles of the heauē to rest on them in the daye tyme/ neyther the wyde beasies of the felde on the night season. And it was tolde Dauid whar Ripsa the daughter of Aia Sauls concubine had done.

And Dauid wente and toke the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathas his sonne from

from the circons of Jabes in Gilboa/ which they had stolen from the street at Bethsam/ where the Philistynes had hanged the/ wch as the Philistynes had sinned Saul upon mount Gilboa/ & brought the up from thence/ and gathered them together with the bones of the spar were haged. And the bones of Saul and his sonne Jonathan buried they in the lands of Ben Jamin / beside the graue of his father E. And they dyd all that the kynge had commaunded : So after this was God at one with the lande.

But there arose warre agayne of the Philistynes agaynst Israel. And Dauid wente vnto and his seruantes with hym / & fought agaynst the Philistynes. And Dauid was weery / and Icyth of Nob/ which was one of the cytyen of Kapha/ and the weight of his spere was the weight of bulles/ & had a new barnasse upon hym. I thought to synge Dauid. Kauer the lesse/ Abisai the sonne of Zerai helped hym / and smote the Philistyne to death. Then smote Dauids men vnto hym / and sayde. Thou shalt not moie go forth with vs vnto the warre/ that the lantern in Israel be not put out.

¶ Afterwarde there arose yet warre at Nob with the Philistynes. Then Sidaibath the daughter smote Saph/ which also was one of the cytyen of Kapha.

And there arose yet warre at Gob with the Philistynes. Then Elhanan the sonne of Jaere Ogim a Bethleemite smote Goliath the Gethite/ which had a spere/ whose shaft was like a cawlers lorie.

And there arose yet warre at Gath where there was a contentious man/ which had six fingers on his handes / and six toes on his feet/ that is foure and twenty in the number: and he was borne also of Kapha. And when he spake bespreefully vnto Israell/ Ionaib the sonne of Simca Dauids brother smote hym : These foure were borne vnto Kapha at Gath/ and fell vnto the hands of Dauid a of his seruantes.

The XXII. Chapter.

¶ And Dauid spake the wordes of this songe before the Lord/ what tyme as the Lord had deliuered hym from the hands of all his enemyes/ and from the bande of Saul/and he sayde.

The Lord is my stony rocke/ & my castell/ & my deliuerer.

God is my strength/ in hym wil I put my trust/ my shilde/ and the hope of my saluaciō/ my defence/ & my refuge/ my Sauoure/ thou shalt helpe me from violent wronge.

I wil call vpon the Lord with prayse/ & I shall be deliuered from myne enemyes.

For the seruices of death compassed me / & the booke of Death made me afraid.

The paynes of hell came about me/ and the snares of death had ouertaken me.

When I was in trouble/ I called vpon the Lord/ yet/ euen my God called I vpon: so he heerde my voyce from his holy temple/ and my complaine came in to his carce.

The earth trembled and quaked/ the foundation of the heauen shak a moued/ because he was wroth.

Smoke wente up from his nose/ and confusynge fyre out of his mouth/ eales were kindled therof.

He bowed the heauens and came downe/ & it was darke vnder his feet.

He sat vpon a Cherub and shyd hys/ & appeared vpon the setheros of the wynde.

He made darkness his pavilion rounde aboute hym / thicke water in the cloudes of the aye.

In the brightnesse of hym were the fyre colles kyndled.

The Lord thondered from heauen / & the heyl put forth his voyce.

He bot his arrowes/ and scattered them: he lightned and discomfited them.

The pouring out of the see were stenc/ & the foundations of the earth were discouered as the foundryng of the Lord/ & at the cry of the spere of his wrath.

He sente downe from aboue/ and receiued me/ and drew me out of many waters.

He deliuered me fro my stronge enemyes/ from them that hated me/ for they were to my shylde/ & to my helpe.

They ouertoke me in the tyme of my trouble/ but the Lord drew me out of myne.

He brought me forth in to libertye/ he deliuered me/ because he had a fauour vnto me.

The Lord shall rewarde me after my Roma & a righteousnesse/and accordinge to the cleanness of my handes shall be recompence me.

For I haue kepte the waye of the Lord/a faule nor ben vngladly agaynst my God.

For I haue an eye vnto al his lawes/a haue not put his ordinnances fro me.

Therefore wyl I be perfecte vnto hym / and wyl chere myne owne wekednesse.

So shall the Lord rewarde me after my righteousnesse/according to the cleanness of my handes in his eyes sight.

With the holy shall thou be holy/and with the perfecte shall thou be perfecte.

With the cleane thou shalt be cleane / and with the frowarde thou shalt be frowarde.

For thou shalt saue the poore oppressed people/and shalt set thyne eyes agaynst the poudre to bringe them downe.

Psal. cxviii. b and cxviii. a For thou O Lord art my lanternne. The Lord shall lyghte my darknesse.

For in the Lord I shall discomfite an host of men / and in my God shall I leape ouer the wall.

The waye of God is perfecte: the wordes of the Lord are tryed in the syche: so a shilde for al them that putte theyr truste in hym.

For where is there a God/excepte the Lord:
O: who hath any strength without oure
God?

God hath strengthened me with power/and made playne a perfecte waye for me.

He hath made my fete lyke hertes fete/and hath set me vpon hys.

Psal. cxliii. a He reacheth my handes to syght / a byndeth the stele bowe with myne armes.

And thou hast giuen me the shyld of thy health/and with thy louynge correccion shalt thou multiplye me.

Thou hast enlarged my goynge vnder me/and myne ankes haue not slyded.

I wyl followe vpon myne enemyes a destroye them: a wyl not turne backe agayn/tyl I haue brought them to nought.

I wyl consume them / a I will thruste them thro-row: that they come not vpon: they shall fall vnder my fete.

Thou hast gaddened my with strength to the barnayll / a wyl subdued them vnder me that rose vp agaynst me.

Thou hast made myne enemyes to turne theyr backes vpon me: that I myght destroye them that hate me.

They shall crye / but there shall be no saueoure: yee: euen vnto the Lord: but hee will strengthen them not.

I wyl beate them as smal as the duste vpon the earth: euen as the claye of the strettes wyl I make them thynne / a I spede them out abroade.

But me shalt thou deliuer from the stre-nynges of the people: and shalt kepe me to be the heede of the Cheryen: I people whome
I haue not knowne shall serue me.

The straunge chyldren haue denyed me/at the hearynge of the care shall they beken vnto me.

The straunge chyldren are wasen olde/and are shur vp in theyr persons.

The Lord lyueth/and blessed be my God/a magnified be the strength of my health.

God syth that I be awaged/and subdueth the people vnto me.

He bringeth me out fro myne enemyes: a from them that ryse vp agaynst me: shall thou callyste me/and from the cruell men shall thou deliuer me.

For this cause wyl I geue thankes vnto the amonge the Cheryen / and syngre praises vnto thy name.

Which doth great health for his kynge/and sheweth mercy vnto Dauid his annoynd / a to his seldes for euermore.

The. XXXIII. Chapter.

These are the last wordes of Dauid: O: I and the sonne of Isai sayde: the man that was set vp to be annoynd of the God of Iarcob / and a plaiasant wyer of songes of Irael: sayde: The spere of the Lord hath spoken by me/and the veteraunce thereof is done thorow my tynge. He sayde: The God of Irael hath spoken vnto me: the strength of Irael: the gouernoure amonge men: the righteous gouernoure in the feare of God. Do the lyght is in the morninge vnto the Sunne cryeth: so that for the brightnesse thereof no cloud remayneth: and as the greffe lofeth vpon the earth: thow shall the rayne: euen so shall me house be with God.

I for he hath made an euerlastynge conside and sure. For this is el my heath a pleasure; that it shal growe. But the Philsine wreth a cleane rood out as f thornes; which men take not in theyr handes. And they ther touch them; shal destroy the wrythons and sparee; and in the fyre shal they be burnt; that they maye be broughte to nought.

B These are the names of Dauid's worthies: Jesse becom the sonne of Achinoni; the chiefest amonge; the which lysse vp his speare/a f lewe cygh hundredth at one tyme.

After hym was Eleazar the sonne of Dadi the sonne of Abihai; among the thre worthies with Dauid; when they spake dyspyrfully to the Philistines; and were gathered together to the Gattai; and the men of Israel went vp.
Then slede be vp and smote the Pphiltines/till his hande was so weery that it crepleth with the forward. And the Lo:de gaue a great victory at the same tyme; so that the people turned after him to spoyle. After him was Samma the sonne of Aige the Herarite.
When the Philistines had gathered them selfes in a copany; in the same place there was a peece of lande full of small conne; and f people fledge before the Philistines; when sode be in the mydde of the peece of lande; and velyured it; smote the Philistines. And God gaue a great victory.

C And the thre principal among theyre/came downe in the heruest unto Land; into the caue of Adullaim. And the hoost of f Philistines laye in f valley of Nephthim: But Sa-uid was at the same tyme in the castel; and the Philistines people lay at Bethleem. And Sa-uid was dyspyrous; and said: Wolde God that some man wolde ferde me a synke of water out of f wellle at Bethleem vnder f gate. The Lo:de fet the worthies into the hoost of the Philistines; a dycke of the water out of the wellle at Bethleem vnder the gate; and caried it; a brought it vnto Dauid; in curtyles; he wold not synke; in; but offered it vnto the Lo:de a fad: The Lo:de let this be farr fro me; that I should do it. For it not the bloude of the men that incorporated theyr leues; and wreite theyr; And he wold not synke it. Thus did the thre Worthies.

D When the brother of Joab the sonne Jee-roboam was one also of the chief amonge the-

He lysse vp his speare and smote the hundred; and was an auncient ma among the;
and the noblest amonge; the; and was theyr ruler. But he came not vnto f the; 1. And Be-naia the sonne of Joiaida; the sonne of Ishal a man of great actes; of Cabazel smote two myghte gauntes of the Moabites; and wreit downe a f lewe a Lyon at a wellle in the froure rye. He smote also a fayre goodly ma of Egypte; which had a speare in his hande. But he wreit downe to hym with a staffe; and refere the speare out of the Eppycians hande; by violence; a f lewe hym with his owne speare.
Thus dyd Benaia the sonne of Joiaida; and was a famous man amonge the worthies; a more honorable then f theyr; for he came not vnto be the. And Dauid made hym of his secret counsaill.

Isabel the brother of Joab is amonge the

The XXXIIII. Chapter.

S And the Lo:de was wrothfully dyspleased of a newe against Israel; and moued f Dauid amonge them; that he dyd saye: Wo noughte Israel and Juda. And the kynge sade vnto Joab the chief captayne of his hoost: Wo ebeut in all the trybes of Israel; / f S: n vnto Berseba; and number the people; that I maye knowe how many they be. Joab sade vnto the kynge: The Lo:de is the God adde vnto this people an hundred thim: as much as tis now / h my loide h Kinge may be his eyes lust theron. But why haue my loide h Kinge a desire to this thyng? Neuertheless: the Kinges wode persuaded agaynst Joab / and the captaynes of the hoost.

So Joab and the captaynes of the hoost wente forth from the Kinge / to numb the people of Israel / and passed ouer Iordane / a pitched at Troas / at the ryghte hande of the rye / which lyeth in the ryuer of Gad / and at Iazer: / a came to Gilead / a in a low countrie of Hadissland came vnto Dan Jaan / and a boue Sidon / and came vnto the stronge cite of Tyrus / and all the cyties of the Heures and Amanites / a came forth to the South parte of Iuda vnto Bersaba / a went round aboute that countrie / and after nyne monethes and twenty dayes they came to Jerusalem. And Joab descryed vnto the Kinge the summe of the people that was numbed. And in Israel there were eght hundred thousand stronge men / that dwelt ouer the swerde: a in Iuda fyue hundred thousande men. And after that h people was numbed / Dauid herte smow byn selfe. And Dauid sayde vnto the Loide: I haue synned foie / that I haue done this. And now Loide take awaye the trespass of thy seruauant. For I haue done very vnwysely.

And when Dauid rose vp in h morninge / the wode of the Loide came vnto the prophet Gad / Dauid Seir / and sayde: Go and speake vnto Dauid. Thus sayeth the Loide: I hyng the thee thynges / whose the owe of them / that I maye do it vnto the. Gad came vnto Dauid / and told him / and sayde vnto hym: Wyle thou that seven yeare death shall come into thy lande: Or that thou be sayne to flye for thyne aduersaries the monethes / and they to persecute the: Or that there be pestilence the dayes in the land: Take aduisement therof / a se what aunswere I shall bunge agayne vnto hym that sent me.

Susan. b.

Dauid sayde vnto Gad: I am in extream trouble. Neuertheless: (if it maye be) let me rather fall into h bandes of the Loide (for his mercie is great) I wyl not fall into the bandes of men.

So the Loide sent pestilence into Is rael from the morninge vnto the tyme appointed / so that there died of the people from Dan vnto Bersaba / thre score and ten thousande men. And when h aungel stretched his hand ouer Jerusalem to desroye it / the Loide repented ouer the euill / and said vnto the aungel: It is ynough / holde now thy hande. The aungel of the Loide was besyde the Barne of Trasna the Jebusite. But when Dauid sawe the aungel that smote the people / he said vnto the Loide: Beholde: It is I that haue synned: I haue done h trespass: As for these shepe / what haue they done? Whylet they haue be agaynst me / and agaynst my fathers house.

And Gad came to Dauid at the same tyme and said vnto him: Go vp and set vp an altare vnto the Loide in the Barne of Trasna the Jebusite. So Dauid wente vp as Gad h sayde / and as the Loide had commanded. And when Trasna lokod aboute hym / he sawe the Kinge with his seruauantes goynge vnto him / and he worshipped upon his face to the grounde / and sayde: Wherefore cometh my loide h Kinge vnto his seruauant? Dauid saide: To bye the barne of the / and to buyde an altare vnto h Loide: that the plague maye cease from the people.

But Trasna sayde vnto Dauid: Let my loide the Kinge take it / and offre what please hym. Behold: there is an ox: for a burnt offeringe / and shedders / and harrusse of oxen to the wood. All this gaue Trasna vnto the Kinge. And Trasna sayde vnto the Kinge: The Loide thy God make h accepted vnto hym. Neuertheless: h Kinge said vnto Trasna: Not so / but I wyl buye it of h for as much as it is worth. For I wyl not offre burnt offeringes vnto the Loide / of that which I haue for nought. So Dauid bought h barne and the ox: for fyfte sheles of silver: a buyde an altare there vnto the Loide / and offered burnt offeringes and than offered offeringes. And the Loide was merciful vnto the lande / and the plague ceased from the people of Israel.

The ende of the seconde booke of the historye otherwise called the seconde booke of Samuel.

The thyrd booke of the kynges.

The first Chapter.

And when hyngc David was olde and wellstricken in age / he coulde not be warme / though he was couered wth clothes. Then said his seruauntes vnto hym : Let vs sele a yonge damsel a virgin for our lorde & hyngc / to stand before the kyng / and to nurse hym / and to slepe in his armes / as to warme our lorde the kyngc. And they sought a fayre damsel in all the coastes of Israel / a sounde Abisag of Sunem / a brought her vnto the kyng. And she was a very fayre damsel / and noryshed the kyng / and serued hym. Howbeit the kyng knewe her not.

Adonias the sonne of Bagith lyst vp him selfe / and sayde : I wil be kyngc. And he gathered hym charrettes and horsmen / and sycif men to be renners on foote before him. And his father reioyced hym not therfore / for he made as to saye : Wherefore dost thou set thy selfe vp to be a man of a very fayre beery / for I had begotten hym myghte after Absolom. And his matter sloke by Iacob the sonne of Ieruzalem / and by Abiathar the priest which helped Adonias. But Sadoe the priest / a Benaias the sonne of Joiada / a Nathan the prophet / and Semiel / and Rei / and David Worshippers were not with Adonias.

And when Adonias offered sheepe a oxen and fat carnel beside the founte of Sobebeth / which is by the wellle of Nogel / he called all his brethren the kynges sonnes / and all the men of Iuda the kynges seruauntes. But the prophet Nathan and Benaias / and the worshippers and his brother Salomon called he not. Then sayde Nathan vnto Beresba Salomons mother : Hast thou not herd that Adonias is kyngc / and our lorde David knoweth not thereof : Come now therefore / I will geue thee counsaill / if thou mayest disyuer thy soule / and the soule of thy sonne Salomon. Come now and go into the kyngc David and saye vnto hym : Hast not thou my lorde the kyngc sworne and sayde vnto thy handmayden : Salomon thy sonne shall be kyngc after me / and he shall sit vpon my seat : Why is then Adonias made kyngc : Beholde / whyle thou art yet here / and talkest with the kyngc / I wil come in after the / and tell forth thy tale. And Beresba wente to the kyngc in to the chaumbre : and the kyng was very olde. And Abisag of Sunem serued the kyngc. And Beresba bowed her selfe a worshipped the kyngc.

The kyngc sayde : What wilt thou : She sayd vnto hym : My lorde / Thou hast sworne vnto thy handmayden that the Lorde thy God : Thy sonne Salomon shalbe kyngc after me / and sit vpon my seat. But now is Adonias made kyngc / as my lorde the kyngc knoweth it not. He hath offered oxen and fat carnel / and in any shepe / and hath called the kynges sonnes / and Abiathar the priest / and Iacob the chiefe captayne. But thy seruaunt Salomon hath he not bydden. Heure he selfe / thou my lorde art kyngc / the eyes of all Israel loke vpon thee / that thou shouldest seeke them who shal sit vpon the seat of my lorde the kyngc after the. And when my lorde the kyngc slepeth with his fathers / then shall I and my sonne Salomon be seyne to be kynges.

But whyle she yet spake to the kyngc / the prophet Nathan came / and she tolde him : Behold / there is the prophet Nathan. And when he came in before the kyngc / he worshipped the kyngc vpon his face to the ground / and sayd : My lorde the kyngc / hast thou sayd : Adonias shalbe kyngc after me / and sit vpon my seat : For he is gone doune this day / as offered oxen / and fat carnel / and many shepe / and hath called all the kynges sonnes / and the captaynes / and the priest Abiathar. And beholde / they eat a venise before hym / and seye : God saue the kyngc Adonias. But my seruaunt / and Sadoe the priest / and Benaias the sonne of Joiada / and thy seruaunt Salomon hath he not called. Hath my lorde the kyngc commaunded this / and not certified his seruauntes / who shal sit vpon the seat of my lorde the kyngc after hym.

The kynge answered and saide: Cal Bethsabe vnto me. And she came in before the kynge/ and whan she stode before the kynge/the king swaie/and saide: Is truly as the Lorde sayeth/which hath dyuerced my soule out of trouble/I wil do vnto the this daye/euen as I swaie vnto the by the Lorde the God of Israel/so that Salomd thy sonne shalbe king after me/and he shal sit vpon my seate in my steade.

Then Bethsabe bowed her selfe with her face to the grounde/and thanked the kynge/and saide: God saue my loide kinge Dauid for euermore. And the kynge said: Cal me the priest Sadoc/and the prophet Nathan/ And Benaia the sonne of Jojada.

¶ And whan they came in before the kynge/ the kynge sayde vnto them: Take your lodges/seruauntes with you/and let my sonne Salomon vpon my mule/and carye him vnto Gihon/and let Sadoc the priest a the prophet Nathan anointe hym thereto be kinge ouer Israel/and blowe the trompe/and saie: God saue king Salomon/and go ye vp after him. And whan he cometh/he shal sit vpon my seate/and be kynge in my steade: for I haue oideyned hym to be prince ouer Israel and Iuda. Then answered Benaia the sonne of Jojada vnto the kynge and saide: Amen. The Lorde God of my loide the kynge saye thus also. To the Lorde hath ben with my loide the kynge/so be he with Salomd also/that his seate maye be greater then the seate of my loide kynge Dauid.

Then wente they vnto the priest Sadoc/ and the prophet Nathan /and Benaia the sonne of Jojada/and the Cherubians and Plethians/and set Salomon vpon kynge. Sauides mule/and broughte him to Gihon. And Sadoc the priest toke the oyle borne out of the Tabernacle/and anoynted Salomon. And they blew the trompe/And all the people saide: God saue kynge Salomon.

¶ And all the people went vp after him/ and the people pyed with al the pypes/and was very ioyfull/so that the earth range at the noyse of them. And Adonias herd it/and al they whom he had called/which were with hym/ and they had new eaten. And whan Ioab herd the noyse of the trompe/he saide: What meaneth this noyse of the cite and this busynesse? But while he yet spake/Beholde/ Ionaas the sonne of Abiarath the priest came.

And Adonias saide: Come in hys / thou art a valaunte man/and bringest good rydinges. Ionathas answered and said vnto Adonias: Alas/our loide kynge Dauid hath made Salomon kynge/and hath sent with him Sadoc the priest/and the prophet Nathan /and Benaia the sonne of Jojada/and the Cherubians and Plethians/wher they haue set him vpon the kyngees mule: A Sadoc the priest with the prophet Nathan hath anoynted him kinge at Gihon/and from thence are they gone up to noyse/that the eare range withall: that is the noyse that ye haue herd.

Salomon also sittyeth vpon the kyngees seate/and the kyngees seruauntes are goinge into wythe good lucke vnto our loide kynge Dauid/and haue said: Thy God make Salomon a better name the thy name is/and make his seate greater then thy seate. And they haue wysshed the kynge good lucke vpon the bed. Meane while the kynge hath said thus: Dreyed be the Lorde God of Israel/wher this way hath made one to sit vpon my seate/that myne eyes haue seene it.

Then were they afrayd/and gat them vp all that were called by Adonias /and so they departed euery man his waie. But Adonias was afraid of Salomon and gat him vp/ and wente his waie/and toke holde of the barnes of the aultrare. And it was tolde Salomon: Beholde/ Adonias seareth kynge Salomon/and beholde/he seareth holde of the barnes of the aultrare/and sayeth: Let kynge Salomon swaie vnto me this daye / that he shall not slaye his seruaunt with the sword. Salomon sayd: If he wyl be anythynge all nighte shall not one heer fall from byn vnto the earth / burye there he euil founde in hym he shall dye. And kynge Salomon sent/and caused hym to be serched from the aultrare. And Iudas whan he came/he fell vnto besyde kynge Salomon/But Salomon sayd vnto hym: What waye is to thy house.

The II. Chapter.

¶ And whan the ynter came that Sand I should be/ he commaunded Salomd his sonne a sayd: I go the waye of all the world I will be angry/so: for thou art a wise man/and shalt well knowe what thou oughtest to do vnto hym/that thou mayest bringe his grace here vnto to the grate with bloude.

¶ So Dauid slept with his father/and 143 d was buryed in the cyne of Dauid. The cyne that Dauid was hyng ouer Israel/ is foure 144 b nye year. Seven nyre was he hyng at He-bon/and thre and thyrtye year at Ierusalem.
 ¶ And Solomon sat vpon the seat of Dauid 145 b his father/and his kyngdome was made ver-ry sure.

¶ But Adonias the sonne of Hagith came into Bethsabe Salomons mothyer. And she sayd: Is thy countinge peaceable: He spake Yee/and saide: I haue sonnybar to say to the-146 b She sayde: Saye on. He sayde: Thou know-est that the kyngdome was myne/and that al Israel had set them selfis vpon me / that I should be kyng / But now is the kyngdome turned/and become my brothers / for he hath it of the Lord.

¶ Now desyre I one penion of thee: Make not my face ashamed. He saide vnto bym: Say on. He sayde: Spake vnto kyng Salomon/for he shal not shame thy face: He may geue me whisag to wyse. Bethsabe said: Wel/ I wil speake to the kyng for the.

¶ And Bethsabe came into kyng Salomon to speake with him. And the kyng stode vp/and wente to mee her/ and woshyppd her/and sat him downe vpon his seat. And there was a chayre set for the kyngs mothyer/so that she sat at his right hande. And she said: One penion desyre I of thee/ make not my face a-

 I wyl not shame thy face. She said: Let Abi-sag of Sunem be geuen thy brother Adoniaas to wyse.

¶ Then answered kyng Salomon/a sayd vnto his mothyer: Why desyrest thou Absag of Sunem for Adonias: See the kyngdome for him also / for he is my greater brother: I 148 b had Abiathar the priest. And Joab the sonne of Jeru Ja. And the kyng sware by the Lord De/and sayd: God do this and that vnto me/Adonias shal haue spoken this word agaynst his lyfe. And now as truly as the Lord lyueth/whiche hath ordeyned me/and made me to sit vpon the seat of my father Dauid/and hath made me an house / I accordinge as he

1. Reg. 4. f. ¶ Which he spak ouer the house of Eli at Silo. And this raimure came befove Joab: for Joab cleued vnto Abonias/a not vnto Salomon. Then fled Joab into the Tabernacle of the Lord/and toke holde of the hautes of the aultere. And it was tolde Kyng: Salomon that Joab was fled into the Tabernacle of the Lord/and beholde/he standeth at the aultere.

Then sent Salomon Benaia the sonne of Joiada/and sayde: Who shal slaye hym. And when Benaia came to the Tabernacle of the Lord he sayde vnto hym: Thus sayeth the Kyng: Come forth. He sayde: no / I will dye here. And Benaia tolde this vnto the kyng againe/ and sayde: Thus hath Joab spoken/and thus hath he answered me.

The kyng saide vnto him: So as he hath spoken/and slaye him/and bury him / y thou mayst put from me and my fathers house y blood/which Joab hath shed without a cause/ and that the Lord maye recompence him his blood vpo his head/ because he smote two men/ which were more ryghteous and better then he/ and slew them with the sword that my father Dauid knewe not of mainly / 1. Abner the sonne of Ner/ the chiefe captaine ouer Israel/ and 2. Amasa the sonne of Iether the chiefe captaine ouer Iuda/ that theye shoulde maye be recompensed vpon the heade of Joab and of his fedes for cuer: But Dauid and his fede/ his house/ a his seat haue peace for euermore of the Lord.

2. Reg. 18. e. ¶ 4. Reg. 11. b.

¶ And Benaia the sonne of Joiada wente vp/ and smote him / and slewe him: and he was buried in his house in the wyldernes. And y Kyng set Benaia the sone Joiada in his steade ouer the host. And y Zadoc the priesit wode the kyng set in the steade of Abiathar.

Exc. 21. 1. b.

And the kyng sente / and caused for to call Semai/and sad vnto him: Whyste the an house at Jerusalem/ and dwell there/ and departe not from thence/ neyther hyther nor thys ther. In what daye soeuer thou departest forth and goest ouer the brooke Cedion / be thou sure that thou shalt dye the deathe: thy shoulde be vpon thine owne heade. Semai saide vnto the kyng: This is a good meanynge / as my loude the kyng hath sayde/ so shall thy seruante be. So Semai dwelt at Jerusalem a longe season. But after this yere it fortuned that two seruantes ranne awaye from Semai vnto Itho the sone of Machabinge of Gath.

And it was tolde Semai: beholde/ thy seruantes are at Gath. Then Semai gette him vp/ sabled his asse/ and went vnto Gath to Itho/ for to seeke his seruantes. And wha he came thys ther / he brought his seruantes from Gath.

And it was tolde Salomon / that Semai went from Jerusalem vnto Gath / and was come agayne. Then sent the kyng / and caused for to call Semai/ a sad vnto him: Swaere not I to the by the Lord/ and assured y/ and sayd: Loke what daye soeuer thou departest out and goest hyther: or thys ther/ be sure that thou shalt dye the deathe: And thou saydest vnto me: I haue herde a good meanynge. Why hast thou not kept the then / according to the oath of the Lord/ and commaundement that I commaunded the?

And the kyng saide vnto Semai: Thou rememberest al the wickednesse/ which thy grette knowest / y thou widdest vnto my father Dauid. The Lord hath recompensed y thy wickednesse vpo thy heade. And kyng Salomon is blessed/ a the sake of Dauid his father/ that he befove y Lord for cuer. And y kyng commaunded Benaia y sonne of Joiada/ that he wente forth / a smote him that he dyed. And the kyngdome was stablished by Salomons hand.

The III. Chapter.

¶ And Salomon made mariage with Pharaoh the kyng of Egypte/ a toke Pharaohs daughter/ and brought her into the cite of Dauid/ wyl he had stablished his house/ and the Lordes house/ and the walles rounde about Jerusalem. But the people offered yett vpon the bye places/ for: as yett there was no house builded vnto the name of the Lord vnto y tyme. But Salomon loued the Lord/ and walked after the ordinaunces of Dauid his father: excepte onely that he offered and burnt incense vpon bye places.

¶ And the kyng wente vnto Gibion to offer sacrifice there: for that was a goodly bye place. And Salomon offered a thousand burnt offerings vpon the same aultere. ¶ And the Lord appeared vnto Salomon at Gibion

By a dreame in the nyght/and God said: Ie what I shal geue thee. Salomon saide: Thou halt done great mercy vnto my father. Said thy seruant. Lyfe as he walkt before the in synfulnesse and rightousnesse/ and in a new herbe with the/and this greate mercy hale thou layd vp for hym/and geuen hym a sonne to stye vpon his seate as it is now come to passe.

B Now Lorde my God/thou hast made thy seruant syng in my father Dauides strate: As for me/I am but a small syng man/nowing nyther my outgoyng nor in-goyng. And thy seruant is amonge y<sup>e</sup> people whom thou hast chosen which is so great/that no man can numbre them/ nor describe them for multitude. Gue thy seruant therefor an obediēt here/that he maye iudge the people/and understande what is good & bad: for who is able to iudge this thy mighty people?

This pleased the Lorde well/that Salomon sayd such a petition. And God sayd vnto hym: For so much as thou askest this/and desirest not longe lyfe/neyther ryche/neyther the ioules of thine enemies/ But understan-dinge to heare iudgement/ beholde/therefor
I haue I done accordinge to thy wyddes. Beholde/I haue geuen the an hart of wysdome and understandinge/so that suche one as thou art/ hath not ben before the/neyther shall stye vp after the.

And that thou haste not prayed for haue
I geuen the also/namely ryche and honoure/so that amonge the Kynges in thy tyme there is not suche one as thou. And if thou wilt walken in my wayes/so that thou kepe myne commandmentes and lawes/ I as Dauid thy father hath walkt/then will I geue the a longe lyfe.

And when Salomon awaked/ beholde/in a dreame/and he came to Ierusalem and stod before the Arke of the Lorde/and conuersant/ and offered burnt offerynges/ and that cost rynges/and made a great feast vnto his seruantes.

At the same tyme came there two barbares vnto the Kynges/ and stode before hym. And the one woman sayde: Ob my lord/ I and this woman dwelt in one house/and I was deli-uered of a childe in the house with her/and on the thyrde daye after that I was deliuered/the was deliuered of a childe also. And we were together/ so that there was no strainger with vs in the house/ but we two: and this womanes sonne dyed in the nyght/ (for she smote hym in the ftepe/and he rose vp in the nyght/ and toke my sonne fro my ftepe (where the handmaiden slope/and layed it in her arine/ and her head sonne layed she in myne arme. And when I rose vp in the monyng to geue my sonne sucke/ beholde/ he was dead. But in the moynyng/ I looked wel vpon hym/and beholde/ it was not my sonne/whome I had borne.

The other woman saide: Not so/ my sonne lyueth/ and thy sonne is dead. But she sayde:
Not so/ thy sonne is dead/ and my sonne lyueth. And thus spake they before the Kyng.
And the Kyng saide: This woman sayeth:
my sonne lyueth/ and thy sonne is dead. You-ber woman sayeth: Not so/ thy sonne is dead/and my sonne lyueth. And the Kyng sayde: Scech me a sword. And when the sworde was brought before the Kyng/ the Kyng saide: Parte the lyuinge childe in two partes/ and geue this woman the one halfe/ and yonber woman the other halfe.

Then sayde the woman whose sonne ly-ued/ vnto the Kyng: (for her mortalyt be-was kyndled with pyte ouer her sonne.) Ob my lord/ geue her the childe alyue/ as I will it not.
But the other said: Let it neyther be myne nor thine. But let it be parted. Then answered the Kyng/ and said: Gue this woman the lyuing childe/ and slay it not/ for this is his mother.
And all Israel herde of this iudgement/ that the Kyng had geue/ and they feared the Kyng/for they sawe that the wyddom of God was in hym to kepe iudgement.

The IIII. Chapter.
Thus was Salomon syng ouer all Israel: And these were his wyues: Asaria the sonne of Sadoc the priest: Eliphaz/ and Abiathar the sonnes of Isha/ were priestes. Jo-when he was wyfer for Beth Sean vnto the pleyne of Nabelo / tyll the other syde of Jallucan. The sonne of Geber at Kunothe in Gilead. He had the toune of Iair the sonne of Manasse in Gilead/and had the coastes of Argob whiche lyceth in Basan/ euen thre scoie greate walled ctytes/and with thysen barres.

 Aminadab the sonne of Idoo at Mahanaim.
 Thimao in Naphtali/ he also toke Basmath Salomons daughter to wyfe. Baena the sonne of Husan in Isser and at Alorb. Josaphat the sonne of Paruba in Isachar / Geber the sonne of Uri in the lande of Gilead/ in the of the kyng of Basan. One officer was in the same lande. As for Iuba a Israel/ they were in numbre as the lande of the see / a thre care and thynke/and were merry. Thus was Salomon lord ouer all the kyngdomes. From the water of the lande of the Chanaanites/ vnto

And God gaue Salomon marvelous wisedom and vnderstandinge / and a large herte/ as the sande that lyceth vpon the see shore: so that the wysdomme of Salomon was greater then the wysdomme of all the

B When Hiram herde the wordes of Solomon/ he was very glad and sayde: Praise be the Lorde this daye / which hath geuen
Said a wyse sonne ouer this greate people.
And Hiram sent vnto Salomon sayinge: I will herde what thou hast sent vnto me: I will do accordyng vnto all thy desire with ceders and Dyncerees. My seruantes shall bringe them vnto me from Libanus vnto the see / and I will make them a floore vpon the see vnto the place which thou shalt shewe me/and there will I cause them to arriue / and thou shalt make them to be fished. But thou shalt fulfill my desire also / and geue foode vnto my householdes folkes. So Hiram gaue Salomon Ceders and Dyncerees accordyng to all his desire. But Salomon gaue Hiram twenty thousand quarters of wheat to care for his householdes / and twenty quarters of barn oyle. This gaue Salomon yearly vnto Hiram.

C And the Lorde gaue Salomon wifand there was peace betwene Hiram and Salomon / and they made a cōuenant both together. And Salomon made an outdors-ing (of workemen) throuout all Israel.

And the outdorsing was thirtie thousande men / and he sent them to mount Libanus/euery two monethes ten thousande / so that they were one moneth vpon Libanus / and two monethes at home. And † Adoniram was ouer the outdorsing.

ordained ouer the worke: namely thre thousande and thre hundred / which ruled the people that laboured there in the worke. And the kynge commaunded that they should break out great and costly stones / namely fre stones / for the foundation of the house and Salomons mansions / and Hiram / and they that were in those coastes / hewed out / and prepared tymber and stones to the buyldyng of the house.

The VI. Chapter.

So the foure hundred and foure score 3 yeares / after the departinge of Schylon in ¶ Par. ii. a of Israel out of the lande of Egypte / in the ¶ Actu. vii. f fourth yeare of the reygne of Salomon ouer ¶ Apoll.
Israel / in the month Tyf / (that is the seconde moneth) was the house buylded vnto the Lorde. This house that kynge Salomon buylded vnto the Lorde / was thre foote cubites longe / twenty cubites broode / and thirtie cubites hie. And he builded a Por-che before the temple of twenty cubites bge ¶ Joan. i. e after the bredth of the house / and ten cubites ¶ Actu. vii. b broode before the house / and in the house he ¶ and. v. b made wyndowes / whiche myght be opened and shutt with lyddes.

And rounde aboute by the wall of the house he buylded a compasse / so that wyndes both aboute the temple and the quere / and made his outwarde wall rounde aboute. The nerthmoost flacion was fyve cubites wyde / and the myddell sixe cubites wyde / and the thyrde seuen cubites wyde. For he laied balkes rounde aboute the house / that they touched not the wall of the house.

B And when the house was buylded / it was buylded of whole and outbroken stones / so that there was herde neyther haime / nor cke / nor any other instrument of yron / when the house was a buyldyng.

But on the ryght syde of the myddes of the house there was a doore / so that they might go vnto the myddes flacion by a turne greke / and from the myddes flacion vnto the thirde.
Thus buylded he the house / and finished it / and syled the house both aboue and by the walles with Cedar wood. He buylded a gallery also aboue vpon the thre foote hie cubites hie / and covered the house with Cedar timber.

And the worde of the Lorde came vnto Salomon / and sayde: Let: this be the house that thou buyldest. If thou shalt walke in nine vnderstandes / and do accordyng to my lawes / and kepe all my commaundementes / to walke therein / then will I stablyshe my worde with the † as I sayde vnto Said ¶ ii. Re. vii. b thy father.) and wyl dwell amonge the chylden of Israel/ and wyl not forsake my people of Israel.

C Thus Salomon buylded the house/ and fynished it/ a buylded the wallis on the insyde with Cedar synbder from the grounde of the house/ vnto the rose/ and syled it with synbde on the insyde / and overlaid the floe of the house with boerden of Pyne tree.

And behynde in the house he buylded a wall of Cedar synbder twenty cubites longe/ from the floe to the rose. In theron buylded he the quere for the moost holy / but the house of the temple before the quere was forty cubites large on the insyde was the whole house of Cedar with wyshen knoppes and floures/ so that there was no stone sene. As for the quere/ he prepared it on the insyde of the house that the Arke of the conuainment of the Lorde myghte dwel therein. And before the quere/ which was twenty cubites longe/ twenty cubites broade/ and twenty cubites hie/ and overlaid with pure golde. He syled the caulture with Cedar.

D And Salomon overlaid the house on the insyde with pure golde/ in four barres of golde before the quere/ which he had overlaid with golde/ so that the whole house was layed ouer with golde. And all the caulture also before the quere overlaid he with golde.

E He made also in the quere two Cherubims of cubite hie/ of Olyue tree/ One wyng of cyther of the Cherubims had syue cubites/ so that from the edge of his one wyng to the edge of his other wyng there were ten cubites. Euen so both the other Cherub ten cubites also/ and both the Cherubims were of one measure and of one quantyrie / so that cyther Cherub was ten cubites hie. And he pure the Cherubims with in the house. And the Cherubims spied forth they wynges/ so that the wyng of the one touchid the one wall/ the other Cherubims wyng touchid the other wall. But in the myddes of the house the one wyng touchid another. And he overlaid the Cherubims with golde.

F And on all the walles of the house rounde about he made to make carued worke with Cherubims and floures/ and in the pavement of the house overlaid he also with golden plates. And at the entranche of the quere/ he made two Doores of olive tree/ with syue squared postes/ and caused carued worke to be made therof with Cherubims/ palme trees/ and floures/ and overlaid them with plates of golde. So made he also at the entranche of the temple / four squared postes of Olyue tree/ and two Doores of Pyne tree/ so that cyther Doore had two syde Doores one hauyng to another / and made carued worke therof/ palme trees a floures/ ryght as it was appointed.

And he buylded a cource also within with three rowes of fre stone/ and with one rowe of plaine Cedar synbder.

In the fourth yere in the Moneth Esi/ Aprill was the foundation of the Lorde's house buylded/ and in the Eleuth yere in the moneth Bul/ that is the cygthe moneth/ was the house fynished as it shoulde be/ so that they were seuen yere a buyldyng of it.

The VII. Chapter.

B Dr Salomon was a buyldyng his owne house thirte yere/ and fynished it/ namely/ he buylded an house of the wood of Libanus/ an hūdrith cubites longe/ syfrye cubites wyde / a thyrty cubites hie/ four squared with rowes of pylles / and with carued Cedar. And the rose about syled he also with Cedar wood vpo the syue and forty pylles/ for one row had syue pylles / so that there stode ouer the pylles/ one ryght ouer against another/ so that every space betwixt the pylles was one ouer against another/ four squared with the pylles.

And he made a porche with pylles/ which was syfrye cubites longe/ and thyrty cubites broade/ and yet a porche before it with pylles a with a grete poste. He made a porche also vnto the syngre scate/ wherein the iudgment was kept/ and made it to be the porche of iudgment/ a syled it with Cedar from the pavement agayne/ a hie ouer the house wherein he dwelt/ in his harte court made betwixt the house a the porche lyke the other. And lyke vnto the porche made he a house for Bitharans daughter/ to whome Salomon had taken to wyfe.

And these were costly stones betwixt after the measure/ but with fawes on every syde/

the grounde vnto the rofe. As for the foundations they were collye and greate stones / ten and eight cubites great / and collye ffe stones thereon accordinge to the measure / and Ceders. But the greate court rounde aboute had the rowes of the stones / and one rowe of playne Ceders: Euen so also the court by the house of the Lord within / and the porch by the house.

And kynge Salomon sent to fetch out of Byzant of Epte a weddow sonne of the rybe of Cephal / and his father had bene a man of Epte / which was a cunninge man in metall / full of wysedome / understandinge and knowlege to worke al manner of metall worke. When he came to King Salomon / he made al his worke / & made two basen pylers / the height of them eghtene cubites hys / a the toppe of the cubites was the measure aboute both the pylers: he made two knoppes of brasse molten / to set aboute vpon the pylers: a eury knoppe was fyue cubites hys: and on eury knoppe aboute vpon the pylers seuen wythen ropes lyke cherynes. And vpon eury knoppe he made two rowes of Pomegranates / rounde aboute on the ropes / wherwith the knoppe was covered. And the knoppes were lyke Roses be fore the porch foure cubites great. And the Pomegranates in the rowes rounde aboute were two handieth aboute and bench vpon the ropes / wherwith the knoppe was covered: the fine of the knoppe / on eury knoppe vpon both the pylers.

And he set vpon the pylers before the porch of the temple. And that which he set on the right hande / called he Zabaien: that which he set on the left hande / called he Boos. And so stode it aboute vpon the pylers euen lyke Roses. Thus was the worke of the pylers finished.

And he made a molten lauer / ten cubites wyde from the one syde to the other rounde aboute / and fyue cubites hys / and a thebe of the rybe cubites longe / was the measure rounde aboute: and about the same lauer / that was ten cubites a wyde / there were knoppes on the edge thereof rounde aboute the lauer. And rowes were there of the knoppes molten with the lauer.

And it stode vpon twelve bullockes / wherof

the were turned towarde the North / the towarde the West / the towarde the South / and the towarde the East / the lauer aboute the / so that al they hinder partes were within vnder the lauer / wherof the thefferyll was an handieth: a the edge of it was lyke the edge of a cuppe / and as shoured rofe / and it contained two thousande of Barres.

And he made ten basen leates / eury one was a certayne measure of fyue cubites hys. The leate was made so / that it had fyue fydes betwene the ledges. And on the fydes betwene the ledges there were Lybes / Bullockes / Cherubynes. And on the ledges which were aboute and bench the Lyons and Bullockes were the fydes made: that they were set vnder the lauer. And eury stile had foure basen wheles with basen apertures. And vpon the foure corners there were propes molten / eury one ouer agaynst another / vnder the lauer to the Kettell.

And the sofet vpon the stile was a cubite hys and rounde / a cubite and a halfe wyde: as on the sofet there were knoppes in fyde / they were four squared and not rounde. The foure wheles stode beneath by the stiles / and the apertures of the wheles were hard on the stiles. Eury whele was a cubite and a halfe hys / a they were wheles lyke farte wheles. And they apertures / spaces / markes / and the nauels stode were all in molten. And the foure propes vpon the foure corners of eury leate were hard on the stiles.

And on the sofet aboute vpon the stiles / a cubite and a halfe rounde aboute / there were ledges and fydes hard on the stiles. And on the place of the same stiles and ledges / he caused to carue Cherubynes / Lyons / and palm trees / one by another rounde aboute thereon. After this maner made he ten molten leates / one maner of measure / and wydensse was in all.

And he made ten copper Ketells / so that one Kettell conteyned foure Barres / a was a four cubites great / a vpon eury leate was a Kettell. And fyue Ketells set by the right syde of the house / and the other fyue on the left syde. But the lauer set before on the ryght hande towarde the South.

And Hiram made pottes also / and those uels a basins/and so finished he all the worke that kynge Salomon caused to be made in the house of the Lord: namely the two pylers/and twelve knoppes aboue vpon the two pylers/and the two wythen ropes to couer the two rounde knoppes vpon the pylers. And the four hundred Pomgranates on the two wythen ropes/ouer two rowes of Pomgranates vnto eueri rope/so ouer the two rounde knoppes vpon the pylers. And the ten seats/and ten fettle thereon/and the lauer/a twelfe Bullocks vnder the lauer. And the pottes/rounde/and basens. And all the ornaments which Huram made vnto kynge Salomon for the house of the Lord were of pure metal. In the contry by Jordane/caused the kynge them to be molten in thycke earth betwene Succoth and Zartban. And Salomon let all the apparel be vntweyed/because the metal was so much.

Eso. 330. c

¶ Thus all the worke that kynge Salomon made in the house of the Lord / was finished. ¶ And Salomon brought in that his father Dauid had sanctified of siluer/and gold a ornaments/and layed it amongst the treasures of the house of the Lord.

The VIII. Chapter.

¶ Para. v. a

¶ Then gathered kynge Salomon all the Elders in Israel together / all the rulers of the trybes and princes of the fathers / amongst the Elders of Israel vnto Ierusalem/so kynge vp the Arke of the conuenaunt of the Lord / our of the cytie of Dauid / that is Zion. And there rested vnto kynge Salomon all the men of Israel / at the feast in the moneth Vshan/that is the seventh moneth. And when all the Elders of Israel came / the priestes toke the Arke of the Lord / and brought it vp / and the Tabernacle of witness / and all the ornaments of the Sanctuary that were in the Tabernacle. Thus vnto the priestes and the Leuites. And kynge Salomon and all the congregation of Israel that were gathered vnto hym / weine with hym before the Arke / and offered shepe and bullocks / so many that they could not be numbered nor told.

¶ So the priestes brought the Arke of the Lord / and conuenaunt vnto his place: euen in to the quere of the house in the most holy / where the Cherubyns of the Cherubyns spied out their wynges in the place where the Arke stode / and couered the Arke and the stauces thereof from aboue. And the stauces were so long that the knoppes of them were sine frst the Sanctuary before the quere / but on the outsyde were they not sene / so they were there vnto this daye.

¶ And in the Arke there was nothing but Bookes the two tables of stone / which Moyses had layed therein at Horeb: when the Lord made a conuenaunt with the chyldren of Israel / what tyme as they were departed out of the lande of Egypte.

¶ But when the priestes wente out of the Sanctuary / the cloude fylled the house of the Lord / so that the priestes could not stande / and eate the offering for the cloude: for the play of the Lord fylled the Lord's house. Then sayde Salomon: The Lord's face shal be towardes dwell in a dark cloude. I haue builded an house / to be an habitacon vnto the: a fear / that thou maist dwelle there for euer. And the kynge turned his face / and blessed all the congregation of Israel. And all the congreged of Israel stode and sayde:

¶ Praise be the Lord God of Israel / which promised by his mouth vnto my father Dauid / and by his hande hath fulfilled us / a sayde: Curre the waye that I bringhe my people / out of Israel out of the Egypte / haue I chosen no cytye / nor a place amonge all the trybes of Israel / to builde me an house / that my name might be there. ¶ But I haue chosen to be ouer my people of Israel.

¶ And in the daye my father Dauid was mynded to builde an house vnto the name of the Lord God of Israel: Curre helesse / the Lord

Loꝛde ſayde vnto my father Dauid: Where as thou waſte mynded to buyde an houſe vnto my name: thou haſt done well / þ̄ thou art ſo aduised: For when thou ſhalt not buyde the houſe: but thy ſonne which ſhall come out of thy lynes / he ſhall buyde an houſe vnto my name. And the Loꝛde hath performed his worde that he ſaide: for I am come vp in my father Dauids ſtead: and ſet vpon the ſeat of Iſrael / as the Loꝛde ſayde / and haue buyde an houſe vnto the name of the Loꝛde God of Iſrael: and there haue I ordeyned a place for the Ark / wherein is the Loꝛdes conuenant / which he made with our fathers / when he brought them out of the lande of Egypte.

¶ For thyſelf thou that God ſtelleſt thy heauens open earth: ¶ Whode / the heauen and the heauens of all heauens may not containe thee: how ſhoulde then thy houſe be / what I haue buyde: But turne the vnto the prayer of thy ſeruaunt / and to his ſupplication / ¶ O Loꝛd my God: that thou mayeſt heare the thankes ſynge and prayer / which thy ſeruaunt make: before the: this daye / ſo that thy eyes be open: ouer this houſe night and daye: ſo ouer this place / wherein thou ſaydeſt: ¶ My name ſhall dwell there. ¶ That thou mayeſt heare the prayer which thy ſeruaunt maketh in this place / and heere the interceſſion of thy ſeruaunt and of thy people of Iſrael / which they ſhal make here in this place of thy habitation in heauen / and when thou heareſt it: be gracious.

¶ When any man ſpyneth agaynſt his neyghbour / and taketh vpon hym an othe: wherwith he byndeth hymſelfe / and the othe cometh before thyne aultare in this houſe / then heere thou in heauen / and ſe that thy ſeruaunt haue cryght to condemne / or vngodly / or to bygne his waye vpon his owne heade / and to iuſtifie the righteous / ſo geat hym accordyng to his cryghtousneſſe.

¶ When thy people of Iſrael ſmyrten before thy enemies / or whyle they haue ſpyned agaynſt the Land / and they turne vnto the: a knowledge thy name / and make they: prayer and interceſſion vnto the in this houſe / then heere thou them in heauen / and be mercyfull vnto the ſynne of thy people of Iſrael / and bygne them agayne to the lande / that thou haſt geuen vnto they: fathers.

¶ When the heauen is ſhut vp / ſo that it raigneth not / ſo much as they haue ſinned agaynſt the Land / and if they make they: prayer in this place / and knowe thy name / or a mirde ſeem from they: ſinnes / when thou troubleſt them / heere thou them then in heauen / and be mercyfull vnto the ſinnes of thy ſeruauntes / and of thy people of Iſrael / that thou mayeſt ſee them the good waye / wherein they ſhoulde walke / and let it rayne vpon the lande that thou haſt geuen thy people to inheritaunce.

¶ When a verch / or peſtilence / or drought / or burnyng / or greitopper / or caterpillar is in the lande / or when his enemy layeth ſege to his cities in the lande / or when any other plague / or diſtreſſe happeneth / wherof thou maſt his prayer and pencyon / whether it be any other men / or thy people of Iſrael / (whiche then are aware of their plague) crye out in his heere / and ſpederth out his handes vnto this houſe: heere thou them in heauen / in the ſtate where thou dwelleſt / and be mercyfull: and ſe that thou geue every one accordyng as he hath walked / lyke as thou knoweſt his heere / ſo that thou knoweſt the bett of the chyldren of men / that they maye alwaye fear the/as longe as they lyue in the lande/ whiche thou hast geuen vnto our fathers.

And whan Salomon had ended al this prayer and pencyon before the Lozde/ he rose vp from the aulzare of the Lozde/ and lefte off from kneelinge and holdyng out of his handes towarde the heauen/ and sode a blessed all the congregation of Israel with loude voyce/ and sayd: Puffed be the Lozde which hath geuen rest vnto his people/ accordyng as he said. There hath nor one felyd of all his good wordes/ which he spake by his seruant Moses. The Lozde our God be with vs/ so he hath ben with our fathers/ and forsake vs not/ neyther withdrame his hande from vs/ but deme oure bettes vnto bym that we maye walke in all his wayes/ and kepe his commaundementes/ ordinaunces/ and lawes/ which he commaunded our fathers. And these wordes wherewith I haue made my pencyon before the Lozde/ come nye vnto the Lozde our God day and nyght/ that he maye execute iudgement for his seruants/ and for his people of Israel/ euery one at his tyme/ that all nacyons vpon earth maye knowe that the Lozde is God/ and that there is none other. And let your herite be perfect with the Lozde our God/ to walke in his statutes/ and to kepe his commaundementes/ as it is this daye.

And the kyng withal Israel his people offered sacrifice before the Lozde. And Salomon offered thankofferings/ (whiche he offered vnto the Lozde) two and twenty thousand oxen/ and an hundred and twenty thousand shepe. So the kyng and al the dydden of Israel dedicated the house of the Lozde. The same daye byd the kyng dedicate the myddelmost court/ which was before the house of the Lozde: that he myght there performe the burntofferings/ meate offerynge

¶ And Pharaos daughter wente vp from the cite of Egipt in to her house / in whiche

The X. Chapter.

¶ And the King Salomons came of the ¶ Salomon of the Lord came to the caren of the Queene of ryche Arabia/ she came to proue hym with wyse sentences. And she came to Jerusalem with a maruolous greete trayne with camels/whiche bare spexo / and much golde/and pccious stones. And when she came in to kyng Salomon / she spake vnto hym all that was in her heart. And Salomon told her eury thyng/and the kyng had nothyng in secret/ but he tolde it her. But when the Queene of ryche Arabia sawe all the wysdome of Salomon/and the banke that he had busied/and the meates of his table / and the dwellinges of his seruantes/and the officers of his ministers / and theyr garments / and his butlers/and the burntoffynge whiche he offered in the house of the Lord / she wondered exceedingly / and coulde no longer refrayne / but sayde vnto the kyng: It is true that I haue herde in my lande of thy behauiour/and in thy wysdome. And I wolde not believe / till I came and sawe it with myne eyes/and beheld/ the halfe hath not ben tolde me.

ii Par. i. a. Mat. 29. d.

¶ Thou hast more wysdome and good / then the same is that I haue herde. Happy are thy people and thy seruantes/ that alway stande before the Lord/ and heere thy wysdome: Prayed by the Lord thy God/whiche had suche a pleasure vnto the / that he set the vpon the seat of Israel: because he hath alwaye loued Israel / and hath for the to be kyng / that thou shouldest manntayne iustice and equitye.

¶ And the queene the kyng sixe score hundred weight of Golde/and very much spexo / and pccious stones. There came neuer so much spexo as this: as the Queene of ryche Arabia gaue vnto kyng Salomon. And Egiptio shippes/ whiche carryed golde out of Ophir / they brought maruolous much costly timber and pccious stones from Ophir. And of the costly timber the kyng caused to make pylers in the house of the Lord/and in the kynges house/and barres/and Pilasteres for the musicians. There came no more such costly timber/ neyther was it sene vnto this daye. And kyng Salomon gaue the Queene of ryche Arabia all that she desired/ and eyed her sydes that/whiche he gaue her of a fre hande/ and she returned/ and reported in to her lorde with her seruantes.

¶ The golde that came to Salomon in one yere/ was in weight sixe hundred and fise and thei score talents/ and of the wyche came of the men/ Aliaz/ danuon/ and Zoncaros/ and of the next kynges / and of the myghty men in the lande. And kyng Salomon caused to make two hundred pieces of beaten gold / sixe hundred piece of golde put be to euery piece: and the hundred sydes of the best golde/ euen the pounds of gold vpon euery syde. And the kyng put them in the hulk of the wood of Libanus.

¶ And the kyng made a greene care of iuyer / and euerydaye it with the most pccious golde. And the seat had sixe steeppes / and the bedde of the seat was rounde beynde. And there were two postes to leane vpon on both the sydes of the seat / and two Lyons stode vpon the leanyng postes / and twelffe Lyons stode vpon the sixe steeppes/ on both the sydes. Such one hath not ben made in any kyngdome. ¶ Kyng Salomons vnto kyng assise were of gold / golde/and all the vessel in the house of the wood of Libanus were of pure golde also: so siluer was not regarded in Salomons tyme.

¶ For the Kynges shippe that sayled vpon the see with the shippe of Tyram/ came once in the year/ & brought golde/ siluer/ and Iu-re/ Tyce/ and Perles.

¶ Thus was Fyng Salomon greater in riches and wysdome/ then all the kynges vpon yon earth: And all the world desired to se Salomon/ that they might heare the wysdome which God gaue him in his herte. And they brought hym yearly euery man his presents/vessel of siluer and golde/ rayment and bar-necessities/ horses/ and milke. ¶ And Salomon brought charrettes a horseme together/so that he had a thousand and foure hundred charrettes/ a thousande horsemen: and that he put in the charret once/ and with the kinge at Ierusalem.

And the kyng thought it to passe/ that there was as muche siluer at Ierusalem as stones:
and so many Ceders as there were wyld fygtrees in the valleyes. And Salomons houses were brought out of Egypt/ and from Tyre:
for the kynges merchandise seched them fro Tyre for money. And a charrete came vp out of Egypte for sixe hundred sheles of siluer/ a an horse for an hundred sheles: & thus were they brought also vnto all the kynges of the Habite/ and to the kynges of Syria by their handes.

The XI. Chapter.

¶ When Fyng Salomon bought many out-landishe women: Pharaos daughter/and woman of Moab/ of Ammon/ of Edom/of Tyde/ and of Beth/leuen of those nacies/that the Lordes sake of vnto the children of Israel: ¶ They were vnto them/ and let not them come vnto you: they shall surely bow vnder their fettes after their goddes: vnto these did Salomon encline with affection. And he had sixen hundred woman to wifes/ a thousund concubines/ and his wifes turned his herte asyde. And when he was now olde/his wifes bowed his herte after straung gods/so that his herte was not whole with the Lord his God/ as was the herte of Dauid his father.

So Salomon walked after Ashtaroth the god of the Sidonians/ a after Malcom the abominacion of the Ammonites. And Salomon did that which displeaseth the Lord/and solowed not the Lord to the vntermost: as did his father Dauid. Then builded Salomon an hie place vnto Chemosh the abominacion of the Moabites/ vpon the mount seyth before Ierusalem/ and vnto Meloch abominacion of the Ammonites.

¶ Thus did Salomon for all his custardishe wifes/ which diuent incurse/ and offred vnto their goddes. But the Lord was wroth at Salomon/ because his herte was turned as-syde from the Lord his God of Israel/ which had two tymes appeared vnto him/ and com and is a maunded him/ that he shoulde not walke after other goddes: and yet kepte he not that the Lord commanded him. Therefore saide the Lord vnto Salom: for so much as this is done with the/ and hast not kepte my conuenant and myne ordinaunces/ which I commaunded thee/ therfore wil I plucke thy fyngdome from the/ and geue it vnto thy ser-uaunt: Neuertheless/ in thy my will I not do it/ for thy father Dauides sake/ ¶ But from the hande of thy sennel I plucke it away: beit/ I wil not plucke the fyngdome cleane away. One tyme wil I geue vnto thy sennel/for Dauid my seruantes sake/ and for Ieru-salem sake which I haue chosen.

¶ And the Lord raised vp an aduersary vnto Salomon seuen. Haded the Edomite of the fynges side/ which was in Edom. For when Dauid was in Edom/ Joab the chiefe captayn wente vp to bury his slayne/ he inore all the males in Edom (for Joab remained there sixe monethes/ and all Israel/ till he had retted out all the males that were in Edom.) Then shod Habad a certain man of the Edomites with him/ of his fathers seruantes.
As for Habad/ he was a yonge man.

¶ And they gat them vp fro Median/ and came vnto Paran/ and sette men with them out of Paran/ and came into Egypte/ vnto Pharaos the kyng of Egypt: which gaue hym an house and certaine vrayles/ appointed/ a gaue hym a centrie. And Habad founde great fauour in the sight of Pharaos/ so that he gaue hym to wyfe cut his sister of his owne wyfe Thaphnesa his Queene. And Thaphnesa lyster bare hym Genubath his sonne/ & Epha-prence noybed hym up in Ppharoes house/in so much that Genubath was in Ppharoes house among Ppharoes children.

¶ Now when Habad herde in Egypte & Da-uid was falle on slepe in his fathers/ and that Joab the chiefe captaine was dead/ he sayde unto Ppharoes/ Let me go into my countrie/ Ppha-rao saide vnto him/ What lackest thou to me/that thou wylt go into thy countrie/ He saide/Nothing/ but yett let me go.

¶ God sayed him up vpon another aduersary also for/ one Rezon the sone of El Zaba/ which fled from his lorde Hadad/ after the kyng of Zeba/and gathered men agaynst hym/ & was a captaine of warre/ when Dauid slewe them/ and they wente into Damascus/and dwelt there/ and raygned at Damascus/and he was Israels aduersary as long as Salomon liued. This is the harme that Habad suffred/ therefore had he cruel wil at Israel/ and was kyng ouer Siria.

¶ Moreover/ Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat an Ephraime of Sareda Salomons seruaunt/and his mothers name was Zeruga/ & was brought vp by his hands also agaynst the kyng.
When Salomon buyded Millo/ he shut vp a gappe in the cyne of Dauid his father. And Jeroboam was a man of armes. And when Salomon saw that it was a meece yonge man/he set him ouer al the burghens of the house of Joseph.

¶ But at the same tyme it fortuneth/ that Jer-oboam wente out from Jerusalem/ and the prophet Ahias of Silo found him by the way/he had a new clofe vpon him/ and they two were alone in the felde. And Ahias toke halfe of the new clofe/ & he had on/ & rente the same into twelfe peces/ and saide vnto Jeroboam/Take thou ten peces vnto thee.

¶ For thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel/Behold/ euen thus wil I rent & kyngdome from the hande of Salomon/ & wil geue the ten tribes. One tribe shal be haue for my ser-uaunt Dauid sake/ and because of the cyne of Jerusalem/ whiche I haue chosen out of al the tribes of Israel/ for they haue forsaken me/ and worshipped Ashtaroth the god of the Sidonians/ & hamas the god of the Moabites / and Malcom the god of the children of Ammon/ and haue not walked in my wayes/to fulfill my pleasure/ mine ordinances and lawes/ as I byd Dauid his father.

¶ Notwithstandinge/ I wil not take the whole kyngdome from out of his hande/ but will reueil hym a punce/ as long as he liueth for/ my seruaunt Dauid sake/ whome I byd chose/ whiche kepte my commandementes and ordinances. ¶ From out of the hande of his sonne wil I take the kyngdome/ and wil geue ten tribes vnto the/ and one vnto his sonne/ & that Dauid my seruaunt maye alway haue a lantern before me in my cyne of Jerusalem/ whiche I haue chosen/ that I maye set my name there. Therefore wil I take the name to raygne ouer all that thynne herre/ & sayeth thou shalt be kyng ouer Israel. ¶ If thou followe now all that I commaund the/ and walke in my wayes/ and fulfill my pleasure/ to kepe myne ordinances and commandementes/ as I byd my seruaunt Dauid/ then wil I be with the/ and buyde the a sure house/ as I buy-ded vnto Dauid/ and wil geue Israel vnto the/ and therewith wil I subdue the siede of Dauid/ but not for euermore. But Salomon soughte to kill Jeroboam. Then Jeroboam gat him vp/ and fled in to Egypte to Sisak kyng of Egypte/ and remained in Egypte tyll Salomon dyed.

¶ What more there is to saye of Salomon/and all that he did/ and his wysdom/ is reuynen in the Cronicles of Salomon. The tyme that Salomon was kyng at Jerusalem ouer al Israel/ is forty yeaere. And Salomons fel on slepe in his fathers/ & was buried in the cyne of Dauid his father/ and Roboam his sonne was kyng in his steade.

The XIII Chapter.

¶ And Roboam wente vnto Sidon/ for all Israel was come vnto Sidon to make it him kyng. And when Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat herde that/ whyle he was yet in Eg-ypte/ whether he was fled for Salomon/ he came agayne out of Egypte. And they sent for him/ and called him. And Jeroboam went at the congregation of Israel/ came and sayde to Roboam/ saide/ Thy father made our yoke to hard/ therefore make thou now the harde bondage/ and the fore yocke lighter/ & he liued vpon vs/ and we wil submitte our selues vnto
the.

the. He sayde vnto the: So your waye vnto the: vnto the waye: and then come to me againe. And the people wente theyr waye.

And Roboā the kyng helde a counsaill with the Elders that stode before Salomon his father whyle he liued / and sayde: What is your counsaill that we may geue this people an answer? They sayde vnto hym: If thou do this people a pleasur to saye/ and so some they mynde/ and heare them/ and geue the good wordes/ then shal they be obedient vnto the as long as thou liuest. Neuertheless/ he soughte counsaill that the Elders had geuen hym/ and asked counsaill at the yonge men/ which were growen vp with him / and stode before hym.

B And he said vnto the: What is your counsaill that we may answer this people / which haue saide vnto me? Make the yocke lyghter that thy father hath layed vpon vs. And the yonge men that were growen vp with him/ said vnto him: Where as y people haue sayde vnto the: Thy father hath made our yocke to sore/ make thou it easier for vs. Thus shal thou say vnto the: My litle yonger shalbe thic ker then my fathers loynes.

Now my father layed a sore yocke vpon you/ but I wyl lett laye more thereon. My father correct you with scourges / but I will nourture you with scorpions.

So vpon the thirde day came Jeroboā to all the people vnto Roboā/ as the kyng had appointed a fable: Come to me againe on the thirde daye.

And the kyng gaue the people an harde rough answer/ and soughte counsaill that the Elders had geuen him/ and talked with them after the counsaill of the yonge men / a sayde: My father made your yocke sore / but I wyl make it yett fierer vpon you. My father correct you with scourges / but I will nourture you with scorpions. Thus the kyng solomed not the peoples mynde/ for he was turned so from the Loꝝd: that he mighte stablish his woide/ whiche he spake by the mouth of Solo vnto Jeroboā the sonne of Nebat.

149. ii.

E But when all Israel sawe that the kyng wolde not heare the people gaue the kyng an answer/ and said: What portion haue we the in Dauid/ or inheritaunce in y sonne of David? Yet the the kynges of Israel. Like thou now to thy house thou Dauid. So Israel went vnto theyr tentes. As for Roboā/ he raygned but ouer the children of Israel/ which dwelt in the cytie of Iuda. And King Roboā sent thither / Adoā the renger/ berer/ 14. Ke. iij. a and all Israel stoned hym to deathe. But kyng Roboā strenghted hymselfe / and gat him vp in a charrete to flye vnto Ierusalem. Thus departed Israel from the house of Dauid vnto this daye.

Now when all Israel herde that Jeroboā was come againe/ they sent for to call him to y whole congregacion / and made hym kyng ouer all Israel. And nomā folowed the house of Dauid/ saue onely the tribe of Iuda. 1. And 4. Par. xi. a when Roboam came to Ierusalem / at y house of Iuda a the tribe of Ben Iamin / euen an hundreth and foure score thousande chosen men of armes gathered the selfe together to fight against the house of Israel/ and to bring the kyngdome agayne to Roboam the sonne of Salomon.

But the woide of God came to Semerai men of Gad/ and saide: Speake thou to Roboam the sonne of Salomon kyng of Iuda/ and to all the house of Iuda a Ben Iamin/ and to all the other people / a say: Thus sayeth the Loꝝd: Ye shal not go vp/ and fighte agaynst your brethren the children of Israel. Let every man go home againe/ for this is my wyde. And they hearkened vnto the woide of the Loꝝd / and turned backe to go theyr waye/ as the Loꝝd sayde. But Roboā builded Sidon upon mounte Ephraim / and dwelle therein/ and departed thence / a builded Tyruel. Iub. viij. b

Jeroboā thought in his heart: The kyngdome shal fall againe now vnto the house of Dauid/ if this people go vp to offere in the Loꝝdes house at Ierusalem/ and so shall the berce of this people turne to theyr loide Roboā kyng of Iuda/ and then shal they slay me / and fall agayne to Roboā kyng of Iuda. And the kyng helde a counsaill / and made two golde calves / and serde vnto them: This is muche better for you to go vp to Ierusalem/ Behold / there is the kyng of Israel / which broughte the out of Egypte. And the one set he at Bethel / and

and the other set he in D. And this dede tur ned to synne / for the people wente before the one vnto D. an.

Ihu. iij. a
i. h. xij. f. ij. g.
He made an house also in the hie place / and made priestes of the finest in the people / which were not of the children of Leui. And upon the syfenth day of the cygthe moneth he made an holse daye / lyke as the solemne feast in Juda / and offered vpon the altiare. Thus dyd he at Bethel in doyng sacrifice vnto f. calves which he had made / and at Bethel he ordyned the priestes of the hie places that he had made / and offered vp on the altiare / which he had made. At Bethel f. syfenth day of the cygthe moneth / which he inuoyed of his owne bert. And he made f. children of Israel an holy daye / a winte vp to the altiare to burne inuence.

Ch. XIII. Chapter.

I Michol / there came a man of God from Juda / shewinge the woide of the Loide vnto Bethel / and Jeroboam sode by the altiare to burne inuence. And he cryed againste the altiare shewing the woide of the Loide / and sayde: O altiare / altiare / thus sayeth the Loide: Behold / there shalbe boone vnto the house of Dauid a sonne / Iosias by name / which on the hal offre priestes of the hie places / that burne inuence vpon the / and mens bones shalbe burne on f. And he gaue a wonder token the same daye / and said: This is the token that the Loide hath spoken in Be / hold / the altiare shal ruse / and the albes that are thereon shalbe poured out.

Ihu. x. f. ij. g.
But when the kyng he he the woide of f man of God / that cryed againste the altiare at Bethel / he stretched out his hande by the altiare / and sayde: Lay hande on him. And his hande that he stretched out againste him / was there / and he coulde not drawe it vnto hym agayne. And f. altiare did ruse / and the albes were poured out from the altiare / accordinge to the wonder token that the ma of God had giuen by the woide of the Loide.

B And the kyng answered / and said to the Ezo. viij. b man of God: I praye the face of the Loide ij. f. c. thy God / and make intercession for me / that Ihu. xij. b my hande maye be restored vnto my agayne. Act. vi. c. Then prayed the man of God vnto the face of the Loide. And the kynges hande was re stored hym agayne / a became as it was afore. And the kyng said vnto the man of God: Come home with me and dine / and I will geue thee a reward.

But the man of God said vnto the kyng: I thou gauest me halfe thy house / I will not come with theso: in this place wil I neyther eate bread / nor drinke water. For thus saith I commaunded / and thus is it sayde vnto me by the woide of the Loide: Thou shalt eate no bread / a drinke no water / neyther retourne the waye that thou wast.

C And he departed another waye / and retur ned not agayne the waye that he came to Be / thel. But at Bethel there dyde an eldr pros phete / vnto whom his sonnes came / a tolde him of the woide that the man of God had done that daye at Bethel / a the woide that he had spoken vnto the kyng. And they farther sayde vnto him: Which wayes he went? And his sonnes shewed him the waye that f man of God was gone: which came from Ju / da. He saide vnto his sonnes: Cattle me the offe. And when they had saded him the affe / he rode thereon / and wente after the man of God / and founde him sitte vnder an Ole / tree / a said vnto him: Art thou f man of God that came from Juda? He saide: Yee.

He saide vnto hym: Come home with me / and eate bread. He saide: I maye not turne backe with the / and come vnto the neyther way. I eate bread / nor drinke water with the in this place: for it is spoken vnto me by the woide of the Loide: Thou shalt neyther eate bread there / nor yet drinke water / neyther shalt thou go agayne by the way which thou wentest. He saide vnto him: I maye like an a prophete as well as thou / and an aungel hath spoken with me by the woide of the Loide / and sayde: Bynge hym agayne with the / that he maye eate bread / and drinke water. But he leyed vnto him / and brought hym agayne / so that he did eate bread / and drinke water in his house.

And when they sat at the table / the woide of the Loide came to the prophet that had brought hym agayne / and cryed vnto a man which was come from Juda / and said: Thus saith the Loide: Becaus / thou hast bene disobedient vnto the mouth of the Loide / and haste net kepte the commaundemēt that the Lord thy God commaunded the, but hast turned backe, and hast cast bread, and thou hast eaten in a place wherof he sayd vnto the: Thou shalt neither eat bread nor drynke water, therefore shall not thy bodye come into thy fathers graue.

And when he had eaten bread and dronken, the Ass was sadled vnto the prophete whome he had brought agayne. And when he was gone, a Lyon founde him by the waye and slew hym, and his bodye was cast in the waye. And the Ass flode by hym, and the Lyon flode by the bodye. And when men wente by, they saue the bodye cast in the waye, and the Lyon standinge besyde the bodye, and they came and redde in the cytye, where the olde prophete dwelt.

¶ When a prophete which had brought hym agayne, herd that he sayde: It is the man of Gods hart bene disobedient vnto the mouth of the Lord, therefore hath the Lord destroyed him vnto a Lyon, which hath rent hym, and slayne hym, according to the word that the Lord spake vnto him. And he sayd vnto his sonnes: Saddle me the Ass. And when they had saddled it, he went, and founde his bodye cast in the waye, and the Ass and a Lyon standinge besyde the bodye. The Lyon had eaten no bing of the bodye, neither had he toone the Ass. Then toke the prophete the dead carcase of the man of God, and layed it vpon the Ass, and brought it againe in to the cytye of the olde prophete, and mouerit, and to burye hym.

¶ And he sayd the course in his owne graue, a they mourned for hym: Alas my brother, and when they had buried hym, he sayd vnto his sonnes: When I dye, burye me in the graue where the man of God is buried, and lay my bodye besyde his bones. For I shall come to possesse that he cryed (Ieroboam) the word of the Lord, against the altar at Bethel, against all the house of the hye places, which are in the cytye of Samaria.

¶ Euen after this acte had not Ieroboam name from his euill waye, but was persecuted, and made prisoner of the hye places, euen of the smalleste of the people. Lefe whome it pleased hym, his hande he filled, and he was pulled of the hye places. And this turned to sinne vnto the house of Ieroboam, to destroye hym, and to bringe hym to naught from of the earth.

The XIII. Chapter.

¶ At the same tyme was Abia the sonne of Ieroboam sicke, and Ieroboam sayde vnto his wyfe: Get the vp, and dryngs the, so that noman perceaue that thou art Ieroboams wyfe, go vnto Silo, beholde there is the prophete Abias, I wold promysse me if he shoulde be kinge ouer this people, and take with the ten loaves of bread, and cakes, and a cuppe with honny, and go to hym, that he maye tell the howe it shall goe with the chyld. And Ieroboams wyfe dyd so, and gat her vp, and wente vnto Silo, and came into the house of Abias. But Abias coulde not see, for his eyes were dymme for age. Therwithes, the Lord said vnto Abias: Behold, Ieroboams wyfe cometh to see a matter of the sonne her sone, for he is sicke. Speake thou therefore vnto her thus, and thus. Now when she came in, she bewed her selfe streunge. But when Abias herde the noyse of her feete, saynge in at the doore, he said: Come in thou wyfe of Ieroboam. Why stewart thou thy selfe to strange? I am sente vnto the an haue me strange.

¶ So thy waye and tell Ieroboam: Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel: I haue created the from among the people, and set it to be prince ouer my people of Israel, and haue rent the kyngdome from the house of Dauid, and geuen it the. But thou hast not bene as my seruant Dauid, which kepte my commaundementes, and walked after me, to all his dayes, so that he dyd onlye the thinge I was right in my sight, and thou hast done worse than al they I haue bene before the: thou hast gone thy waye, I made the other goddes, a molten ymages, to prouoke me, to wrath, a hast cast me behind thy backe.

¶ Beholde, therefore will I bringe my fortune vpon the house of Ieroboam, and will raze out from Ieroboam, euen him that methy water against the wal, the prisoner, and forsaken in Israel, and the possessor of the house of Ieroboam, will I sweepe out, so Ienge it from ouer, til he be cleane brought to naught. ¶ And the death of Ieroboam, in the cytye of the dogges shall eate him vp. But him that 9:27:11 he in the feld shall & foolcs of the eye care vp for the Loide whi spoken is.

¶ Ge the vp therfore / and go home / and 1: when thy free enters into the cyte / the chylde 1: shall dye. And all Israell shall bewaile hym / and burie him. For he only of Jeroboam shall come to the graue / because there is some good founde in him before the Loide God 1:4: Re. fo. a of Israell in Jeroboams house. ¶ But the Loide shall raise him vp a kynge ouer Israell / which shall roise out the house of Jeroboam in that daye. And whar is it / that is now in hande all readye? And the Loide shall smyte Is-1: rael / yf he as a reede is moued in the water: and shall roise out Israell from this good labe / that he gaue vnto their fathers / and shall feare them beyonde the water / because they haue made they grones to prouoke the Loide vnto wrath. And Israell shall be geuen out because of the synne of Jeroboam / which had synned hym selfe / and made Israell to synne.

¶ And Jeroboams wyfe gaue her vp / went her waye / and came vnto Thirza. And whan she came vpon the treshold of the house / the chylde dyed / and they buried hym / and al Is-1: rael made lamentacyon for him / accordinge to 1: the wode of the Loide / which he spake 4: ¶ Dar. p. 14. a by his seruants Abia the prophete. What more there is to say of Jeroboam / how he fought and raygned / beholde / it is written in the Cronicles of the Kynges of Israell. The name that Jeroboam raygned was two and twen-tye years. And he slepe with his fathers. And Nabab his sonne was kynge in his steade.

¶ Jeroboam the sonne of Salom was kynge 4: ¶ Dar. p. 14. c in Iuda. ¶ One and fourtye yeare olde was Jeroboam whan he was made kynge / and se-uentene yeare raygned he at Ierusalem / in the cyte that the Loide had chosen out of all the trybes of Israell / to see his name there. His mothers name was Naama an Ammonity-1: ysse. And Iuda dyd that which displeasid the Loide / and prouoked hym to indignacion more than that they fathers had done with they: synnes whan they dyd: for they lykewise buylde them by places / pylers / and groues vpon every hie hill / and amange all grene trees. There were whoremongers also in the lande / and they dyd all the abhormacions of the Synthen / whome the Loide thone out of the chuldren of Israell.

¶ War in the fyfthe yeare of kynge Roboam wente Sack the kynge of Egyppt vp against 1: ¶ Dar. 1: Jerusalem / and toke the treasure out of the house of the Loide / and out of the kynges house / and al that mighte be ginen / and toke all the shyldes of golde / which Salom had 1: ¶ Reg. 1: 1: made to be made. In steade wherof the kynge Roboam caused for to make sheldes of 1: ¶ Dar. 1: 1: siluer / and comited them vnder the handes of the chiefe foremen / which kepte the voyce of the kynges house. And as oft as the kynge wente into the house of the Loide / the foremen bare them / and thoughte them againe into the fo-remens chaumber.

¶ What more there is to saye of Roboam / and all that he dyd / beholde: it is wyrtten in the Cronicles of the kynges of Iuda. But be-twene Roboam and Jeroboam there was warre as long as they liued. And Roboam slepe with his fathers / and was buried with 1: ¶ Dar. 1: his fathers in the cite of Dauid. And his mothers name was Naama an Ammonitysse.
 And his sonne Abia was kynge in his steade.
 ¶ The XV. Chapter.

¶ In the eightenth yeare of kynge Jerom 1: ¶ Dar. 1: 1: was the sonne of Nabat / was Abia kynge in Iuda / and raygned the yere at Jeru-1: ¶ Dar. 1: 1: slem / his mothers name was Machabys / sou-ghter of Absalon / and he walked in all the synnes of his father / which he had done before hym / and his deere was not proficte with the Loide his God: as was the part of Da-1: ¶ Reg. 1: 1: uid his father. For because of Dauids iustice dyd the Loide his God geue him a lantern at Jerusalem / so that he raynd his sonne after hym / and mantayned him at Jerusalem / because Dauid dyd the thinge that was righte in the sighte of the Loide / and departed not from all that he commaunded him as long as he liued / sauinge in the matter with Urias the Hebrith. But there was warre betwene Roboam and Jeroboam / as long as they liued.

¶ What more there is to saye of Abia and all that he dyd / beholde / it is wyrtten in the Cronicles of the kynges of Iuda. There was warre also betwene Abia and Jeroboam.
 And Abiam slepe with his fathers / and they buried

Blessed him in the cyne of Dauid. And Asa 134 b his sonne was kyng in his steade. 1 In the twentieth year of kyng Jeroboams ouer Israel: was Asa kyng in Iuda/and reigned one and fortye year at Ierusalem. His graud-mothers name was Macha the daughter of Absalon. And Asa did that which was right in the sighte of the Lord/as he did his 135 a father Dauid. And he remoued the ymages mongers out of the lande/and put doune all 136 a the Idole that his fathers had made. 7 And put his mother also from the ministracion/that she made vnto Mipleth in the groue.
 And Asa roted out her Mipleth/and bene in the biofe of Cedron/But the hye places put he not doune. Yet was the hert of Asa perfect with the Lord/as long as he ly-ued. And the syluer and golde/and vessels that his father had halowed/and such as was sanctified vnto the house of the Lord/that brought he in. And there was warre betwene Asa and Baasa the kyng of Israel/as long as they liued.

137 a Asa the kyng of Israel wente vp against Iuda/and blysted Rama/that nomā shord go out and in of Asas syde the kyng of Iuda. Then rose Asa al the syluer and gold that was left in the treasure of the house of the Lord/and in the treasure of the kynges house/and deliuered it vnto his seruantes hande/and sente vnto Benadad the sonne 138 a of Labimon the sonne of Hesion kyng of Si-ria/which dwelt at Damascon/a lre say vnto him: There is a conuauent betwene me and the/and betwene my father a thy father: her-fore sende I thea present of syluer a golde/ 7 thou shouldest breake the conuauent which thou hast with Baasa the kyng of Israel/that he may departe fro me.

Benedad agreed vnto kyng Asa/and sent his captiues agaynst the cyne of Israel/and smote Iion and San/and Abel Beth-Macha/all Cincroth with the whole labe of Naphtali. When Baasa herde that he left of from buildinge Rama/a wente agayne vnto 139 a Thirza.

140 a Kyng Asa caufed it be proclaimed in al Juda: There may no man be excepted. And they toke away the stone and lumber fro Rama/wherwith Baasa had builded And kyng Asa builded Geba BeZamin/a Mispa therwith.

 What more there is to saye of Asa and of al his power/and al that he dyd/a of the cyne which he builded/Scholde/it is written in the Cronicles of the kynges of Iuda:saunge 7 in his olde age he was diseased in his sete. And Asa slepe with his father/and was buryed with his fathers in the cyne of Dauid his father. 7 And Zosaphat his sonne was kyng in Iu-da his steade.

But Nadab the sonne of Jeroboam was 141 a kyng of Israel in the secche year of Asa kyng of Iuda/and reigned ouer Israel two yeres a dyd euell in the sighte of the Lord/a walled in the way of his father/and in his synnes wherwith he made Israel to synne. Howber/Baasa the sonne of Abia of the house of Issa-char conspyed against him/and smote him at Gibbethon/whiche was the Dylystines: for Nadab and al Israel layed segeto Gibbethon.
 So Baasa slew hym in the thirde year of Asa kyng of Iuda/a was kyng in his steade.
 142 a Now when he was kyng/ he smote al the house of Jeroboam/ alet nothyng of Jeroboam remaine that had dyth/yll he had destroyed it according to the woide of 7 Lord which he spake by his seruante Abia of Sido/because of Jeroboams synnes/whiche he dyd/and made Israel to synne with all euen with the prouokinge wherwith he displeasid the Lord God of Israel.

What more there is to saye of Nadab/and all that he dyd/Scholde/it is written in the Cronicles of the kynges of Israel/a there was warre betwene Asa and Baasa the kyng of Israel/as long as they liued.

In the thirde yere of Asa kyng of Iu-da/ was Baasa the sonne of Abia kyng ouer al Israel at Thirza foure a twenye yere/ a dyd that which was euell in the sighte of the Lord/and walked in the way of Jeroboam/his synnes/wherwith he made Israel to synne.

Neuerthelesse/ the woide of the Lord came vnto Zebni the sonne of Benani agaynst Basa/and saide: For so much as I lysed the ear of the dust/and made the prince ouer my people of Israel/and thou walkest in the waye of Jeroboam/and makest my people of Israel for so synne/ to prouoke me vnto wrath therfore they: Graunce/Scholde/therfore 143 a will

wyll I take away the posteritye of Baasa / & the posteritye of his house / and wyl I take away the house of Jeroboam / & sonne of Nebat. The reb of Baasa dyeth in hys cytie / the dogges shall deuoure him / and who so shall synge of him shall in the felde / the fooler of the cytie shall eate him vp.

What more there is to say of Baasa / and what he dyd / and of his power / behold / it is written in the Cronicles of the kynges of Israel. And Baasa slept with his fathers / and was buried at Thirza: and his sonne Elia was king in his steade. And the woide of  $\text{f Lord}$  came by the prophete Jehu the sonne of Hanani ouer Baasa / and ouer his house / and against all the euill that he dyd in the sighte of the  $\text{Lorde}$ : to prouoke hym wroth thorow the woikes of his handes: so that he became as the house of Jeroboam / and because he slew  $\text{Ihis man}$ .

The prophete.

Ec. X. VI. Chapter.

IN the sixe and twentieth yere of Asa kyng of Iuda / was Elia the sonne of Uza a kyng ouer Israel at Thirza  $\text{two}$  yeres.

Heer the selfe / his seruauit Simri / the principall man ouer the halfe of the charrettes conspyred againste him. So for Elia / he was at Thirza / drank and was drunken in the house of Uza the ruler of Thirza. And Simri came in / and slew him in the seuen and twentieth yere of Asa kyng of Iuda / and was kyng in his steade. And wha he was kyng and sat vpon his searthe smole at the house of Baasa / and left not so much as one to make water against the wall: his sloude auengere also and his frends. Thus dyd Simri destroye all the house of Baasa / accordinge to the woide of  $\text{f Lord}$ : which he spake ouer Baasa by the prophete Jehu / because of all the synnes of Baasa and of Elia his sonne / which they dyd / and made Israel for to synne / to prouoke the  $\text{Lorde God of Israel}$  vnto wrath thorow their vanities. What more there is to saye of Elia / and all that he dyd / behold / it is written in the Cronicles of the kynges of Israel.

In the seuen and twentieth yere of Asa kyng of Iuda / was Simri kyng seuen dayes at Thirza / and the people laye before Gibbethon of the Philistines. But whan the people in the hooste herde saye that Simri had conspyred and slayne the kyng / then all the captaine kyng ouer all the dyces. And Amri went vp / and all Israel went hym from Gibbethon / & layed siege vnto Thirza. But whan Simri sawe that the cytie shoulde be wonne / he went into the palace in the kynges house / and burnt it with the kynges house / & dyed because of his synnes / which he had committed in that he dyd euill in the sighte of the  $\text{Lorde}$  / and walked in the waye of Jeroboam / and in his synnes / which he dyd / where with he made Israel to synne.

What more there is to saye of Simri / and how he conspyred / behold / it is written in the Cronicles of the kynges of Israel. At the same tyme were the people divided in two parties: the one partie helde with Tibni the sonne of Ginarh / that they might make hym kyng: & other halfe helde with Amri. But the people that helde with Amri / were mightier then the people which helde with Tibni the sonne of Ginarh. And Tibni dyed / and Amri was kyng.

In the one and thirtieth yere of Asa kyng of Iuda / was Amri kyng ouer Israel  $\text{six}$  yeres / and raygned at Thirza  $\text{six}$  yeres. He boughte the moue of Samaria of Semer for two hundred weight of siluer / and builded vpon the mount / & called the cytie which he builded / after the name of Semer the ouer of the moue of Samaria. And Amri dyd that which was euill in the sighte of  $\text{f Lord}$  / and was worse then all they that were before him / and walked in all the wayes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat / and in his synnes / where with he made Israel to synne / so that they provoked  $\text{f Lord of Israel}$  vnto wrath in their vanities. What more there is to saye of Amri / and all that he dyd / and his power / that he exercised / behold / it is written in the Cronicles of the kynges of Israel. And Amri slept with his fathers / and was buried in Samaria / and Zabab his sonne was kyng in his steade.

In the eyght and thirtieth yere of Asa kyng of Iuda / was Zabab the sonne of Amri kyng ouer Israel / and raygned ouer Israel at Samaria  $\text{two}$  and twenty yeres / and dyd euill in the sighte of the  $\text{Lorde}$  / more then all they that were before him. And he brought it but a small matter to walke in the synnes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat: & and toke Ishab the daughter of Eth Baal kynge of Sidon to wyfe: and wente a serued Baal/ and worshipped him. And vnto Baal he set vp an altare in Baals house/ which he buylded him in Samaria/ and made a groue: so that Ishab dyd moue the God of Israel vnto wrath/ then all the kynges that were before hym in Israel.

At the same tyme dyd Hiel of Bethell buyld Jerobo: & It cost hym his first sonne Abiram/ that he layed the foundation: and his yongest sonne Segub/ that he set vp the postes: accordyng to the word of the Lord/ whiche he spake by Iosua the sonne of Nūn. The. XVII. Chapter.

¶ Elisha the Deuote/ one of the inhabitants of Gilad/ sayd vnto Ishab: & As truly as the Lord God of Israel lyueth/ whose seruant I am/ there shall neither rayne nor dew come this yere/ excepte I spake it.

And the wynde of the Loide came vnto hym/ and sayde: Get the hence/ and turue the toward the East/ and hede the ryuer Erith/ whiche is ouer agaynst Joibane/ and thou shalt synke of the ryuer: And I haue commaunded the raiens that they shall fede thee. He departed/ & dyd accordyng to the wynde of the Lord/ and went his way/ and sat hym doune by the ryuer Erith/ whiche is ouer agaynst Joibane. And the raiens brought hym breade and fleish in the moynynge/ and in the euenynge/ and he dranke of the ryuer.

And it fortuned after certayne dayes/ that the ryuer was dryed vp: for there was no raine in the lande. Then came the word of the Loide vnto hym/ & sayd: Get the vp/ & go vnto Samaria/ whiche lieth by Sidon: for there haue I commaunded a wedow to make prison for J.

And he gat him vp/ and wente vnto Samaria/ and when he came to the gaze of the cye/ beholde/ the wedow was there/ & gathered sheeces. And he called her/ and sayde: Fetch me a hyle water in a vessell/ that I may drinke. And as she was goyng to fetch it/ he cryed vnto her/ and sayd: Bring me a messell of breade also in thine hande. She sayde: As truly as the Lord thy God lyueth/ I haue no bread/ but an handfull of flour in a pitcher/ and a curesye oyle in a cruse: & beholde/ I haue gathered vp one or two sheeces/ and will go and prepare it for me/ and my sonne/ that we maye eate and dye.

Elisha sayde vnto her: Feare not/ go thy way/ & do as thou hast sayde: yet make first a messell of breade thereof/ & a byneger in one furde/ and afterwarde shall thou make it for the and thy sonne. For thus sayth the Loide God of Israel: The meell in the pitcher shall not be spent/ and the oyle in the cruse shall not fayll/ vntyl the daye that the Loide God shall cause foze to rayn vpon earth. She wente and dyd as Elisha sayd. And he dyd ear/ and she also/ and her house a certayne season. The meell in the pitcher was not minyshed/ and the oyle in the cruse sayled not/ accordyng to the worde of the Loide whiche he spake by Elisha.

¶ And after these actes/ the sonne of the wyfe of the house was sick: and his sickness was so excedyng sore/ that there remayned no breath in hym. And he sayd vnto Elisha: What haue I to do with the/ thou man of God: Art thou come in vnto me/ that my sinner should be kept in remembrance/ and that my sonne should be slayne? He sayd vnto her: Goe me thy sonne. And he toke hym from her lappe/ & carryed hym vp in to the chamber where he laye/ & hym selfe durst/ and layd hym vpon his bed/ and called vpon the Loide/ & sayde: O Loide my God hast thou deale so euill with the wedow/ with whome I dwell/ that thou woldest slay her sonne? And he streched out his hande/ and the chyld the thre tymes/ and called vpon the Loide/ and sayde: Heel plest. O Loide my God/ let the soule of this chyld come agayne in to hym. And the Loide herd the voyce of Elisha. And the soule of the chyld came agayne to hym/ and he recovered. And Elisha toke the chyld/ brought him doune from the chamber in to the house/ and blyssed him vnto his mother/ and sayde: Beholde/ thy sonne lyueth. And the woman sayd vnto Elisha: Nowe knowe I that thou art a man of God/ and that the wynde of the Loide is in thy mouth of a certuyn. The. XVIII. Chapter.

Iaco. 30. c and said: † Go thy waye / and shew thy selfe vnto Ahab / that I may cause it: for to rayne vpon earth. And Eliab went to shewe hym selfe vnto Ahab. But there was a greate vrbane in Samaria. And Ahab called Abdia his chiefe officer. As for Abdia he feared the Lorde greatly: for when Isebel rote out the prophetes of the Lorde / Abdia toke an C. prophetes / and hid them in caues / here hyfres / and there hyfrye / and prouided for them with bread and water. Ahab now saide vnto Abdia: Go thorow the lande / vnto all the wellles of water and riuers / if happily we maye finde hay / to saue the horses and mules / that of the cattel perishe not. And they parted them selves in to the lande / to go thorow it. Ahab departed to the one waye alone / and Abdia the other waye alone.

Now when Abdia was on the waye / Eliab mete him. And when he increme him / he fell doune vpon his face / and saide: Art not thou my lord Eliab? He saide yee / go thy waye / and tell thy lorde: beholde / Eliab is here: But he saide: What haue I offended / if thou wilt sell me / I seruauit in to the handes of Ahab / that he may slaye me: As truly as the

B Lorde thy God liueth / there is no people nor kyngdom. But my lord hath sente thether to see the. And when they said: He is not here / hereofe an oeth of the same kyngdome a maner / that they had not founde the / And now thou sayest: Go tell thy lorde: beholde / Eliab is here. Now if I were gone from the / the spete of the Lorde shoulde rafe the away / I can not tel whether: and if I then came and tolde Ahab / and founde the not / he shoulde slaye me: But thy seruauit searche the Lorde from his youth up. Hath it not ben tolde my lorde what I did / when Isebel slew the prophetes of the Lorde? how that I had an hundred of the Lordes prophetes / here hyfrye / and there hyfrye in re caues / and prouided for them with bread and water: And thou sayest now: Go thy waye / and tell thy lorde / Eliab is here: that he maye slaye me. Eliab saide: As truly as the Lorde Saboth liueth / before whome I stande / I wyl shewe my selfe vnto him this daye. Then wente Abdia to mete Ahab / and tolde him. Ahab wente for to mete Eliab.

And when Ahab sawe Eliab / Ahab said

vnto him: Art thou he that troubleth Israel? He saide: I trouble not Israel: † but it is thou a thy fathers house / because ye haue forsate the commaundementes of the Lorde / and walke after Baal. Go to / sende forth now / a gather me all Israel together vnto mount Carmel / and the four hundred and fyfrye prophetes of Baal / and the four hundred prophetes of the groue / which care of Isebels table. So Ahab sente vnto all the chydren of Israel / a gathered the prophetes together vnto mount Carmel.

Then slepe Eliab vnto all the people and C saide: How longe haue ye on both the sydes? If the Lorde be God / then walke after him: but if Baal be he / then followe him. Then said Eliab vnto the people: I onely am lesse a piopher of the Lorde: but Baals prophetes are four hundred / and fyfrye men. There be now two bullockes / and let them chuse one bullocke / and hewe him in peeces / and laye him vpon the wood / and put no fyre thereon: so wyl I take the other bullocke / and laye him vpon the woode / and put no fyre thereon also: call ye then vpon the name of your god / and I wyl call vpon the name of the Lorde: Lete which God now answereth with fyre / let the same be God. And all the people answered and sayde: That is ryght. And Eliab layd vnto Baals prophetes: Chuse ye one bullocke / and do ye it first / for ye care many / and call ye vpon the name of your god / and laye no fyre thereon.

And they toke the bullocke which he gaue: D them / and prepared it / and called vpon the name of Baal from the morning vnto the noone daye / and said: O Baal heare vs. But there was neyther voyce nor answer. And they hapned about the aultare / as they were was to do. Now when it was noone daye / Eliab moted them / and sayd: Crye loude / for he is a god / peraduenture he is mustyng: or hath some what to do / or is gone some iourney: or is happy he slepeth / so that he wolde be waked vp. And they cryed loude / and prouided them selves with dryue / and boikens / as they were maner was. Till the bloud followed. But when the noone daye was past / they perceived vntil the tyme that the meat offering should be offered / and there was neyther voyce / nor answer.

¶ He said: I haue ben yelous for the Lorde God Zabaoth: for his chyldren of Israel haue forsaken thy conuenaunce / brok in doune thine altare / slaine thy prophetes with swerde / and I onely am left / a they sate to take away my life. But the Lorde said vnto him: Wo thy waye agayne thorow the wyldernesse vnto Damascon / and go in / and anointe Hasiel kinge ouer Siria: * and Jehu the sonne of Nimy kinge ouer Israel / and Eliseus the sonne of Saphar of Abel Nebola to be prophet in thy stead. And it shall come to passe / that who so escapeth the swerde of Hasiel / Jehu shall slay: and who so escapeth the swerde of Jehu / Eliseus shall slay hym.

¶ And I wyl reuerse vnto me. vij. M. men in Israel: namely all the knees which haue not bowed the selfes vnto Baal / and euery mouth that hath not kysed hym.

¶ And he departed thence / and founde Eliseus the sonne of Saphar / plowynge with twelue yoke of oxen before hym / and he hym selfe was amonge the twelue. And Eliah wente vnto hem / and cast his cloke vpon hym. And he lefte the oxen and ranne after Eliah / and said: Let me passe / my father and my mother / and so wyl I folowe the. And he said vnto hym: Wo thy wate and come agayne / for I haue somuch to doo with the. And he ran-ne agayne from hem: and toke a yoke of oxen / and offered it: and stode the selfe with the woodde of the oxen / plowes / and gaue it vnto the people to eate: and gat hym vp / a folowed Eliah / and ministred vnto hym.

The XX. Chapter.

¶ And Benadab the kyng of Siria garbe: * Wred at his power / and there were two and thretye. Kynges with hym / and hoise and charraies / and he went vnto / and layd siege vnto Samaria / and foughte agaynst it. And he sent messaugers vnto Achab the kyng of Israel in to the cyte / and caused to saye vnto hym: Thus sayeth Benadab: Thy siluer and thy golde to mine / and the wyces and thy best chyldren are myne also. The kyng of Israel answered / and sayd: My loide O kyng euen as thou hast sayd / I am thyn / and all that I haue.

¶ And the messaugers came agayne / and sayd: Thus sayeth Benadab: For so much as I haue sene vnto the / saynng: Thy siluer and thy golde / thy wyces and thy chyldren shalt thou geue me / to morowe aboute this tyme wyl I sende my seruantes vnto the / that they maye sturde thynne house / and the house of thy subiectes: to take what pleasur thynge thou hast / that shall they take in theyr handes / a carrye it awaye. So the kyng of Israel called all the Elders of the lade / and sayd: Make well and se what myschaunce this man seith:
He sent vnto me for my wyces and chyldren / for siluer and golde / and I haue not sayd hym ayes: Then sayd all the Elders / and all the people vnto him: Thou shalte not consent no: agree vnto hym. And he spake vnto Benadab messaugers. Sey vnto my loide the kyng: All the thynges wherfore thou bydest sende vnto me / thy seruants at the first wolde I haue done: but this can I not do. And the messaugers wente / and told this agayne.
Then sent Benadab vnto hym saynng: The goddes do this and that vnto me / yf the hill of Samaria shalbe ynough / for euery one of my people to buyne me an handfull thereof.
But the kyng of Israel answered / and said:
Tell him: Let not him that putteth on the bare-nesse make his doast / yf he him that hath piety of. When Benadab herde that / euen as he was then kyng with the kynges in the pa-uyson / he said vnto his seruantes: Set your selues in aray. And they set the selfes in aray agaynst the cyte.

¶ And beholde / there came a prophete vnto Achab

Asah the kyng of Israel/a sayd: Thus sayeth the Lord: Hast thou seue all this great multitude: Whylke/ thus saye will I deliuer the in to thy hande/ so that thou shalt knowe how that I am I Lord. Asah sayd: By whomer he sayd: Thus sayeth the Lord: Euen by the yonge men of the rulers of the lande. He sayd: Who shall order the battayle? He sayd: Thou. Then mustered be the yonge men of the rulers of the lande/ and there were two hundred and two and therty of the/ and ascribed mustered be of the whole people of all the children of Israel/ seven thousand men/ as they were out in the noone daye. As for Benadab/ he thanke and reas Dionen in the parison with the two and therty kynges/ which were come to helpe him. And the yonge men of the rulers of the lande wente forth first.

Benadab sent forth/ and they brought him word: and sayde: Here come men out of Samaria. He sayd: Take them almye/ whether they be come forth for peace or for warre. But when the lande rulers yonge men were gone forth/ and the hostis behynd them/ euey one smote him that came in his waye. And the Syrians fled/ and Israel folowed after them. And Benadab I kyng of Siria escaped with hisse and hissermen. And the kyng of Israel went forth/ and smere heisse and charrettes/ and dyd a great slaughter on the Syrians.

Then came there a prophete vnto the kyng of Israel/ and sayd vnto him: Wo thy waye/ and strengthe the/ and take heed/ and loke well what thou doest: for when the yeare is about the kyng of Siria/ he shall come up agaynst the. For the kyng of the Syrians seruantes sayd vnto him: They goddes are goddes of the mountayne/ therefore haue they gotten the victorye.

But let vs fyght with them on the playne/ and thou shalt see that we shall ouercome the. Dorthus/ put awaye the kynges euey one from his place/ and for dukes in theyr steades/ and appoynt the eu bo: as was that/ which thou hast lost/ and bowes and charrettes as the other were/ and let vs fyght agaynst them in the playne/ and thou shalt see that we shall haue the victorye. He consented vnto theyr boyce/ and dyd so.

Now when the yeare was gone about/

Benadab appoynted the Syrians/ and wente up towards Apher/ to fyght agaynst Israel/ and the chyldren of Israel mustered/ and prouided them selues with byrlandes/ and wente to meete them/ and pitched theyr tentes ouer agaynst them/ aske two hylke flockes of goates/ but the lande was ful of the Syrians.

And there came a man of God/ and sayde vnto the kyng of Israel: Thus sayeth I Lord: because the Syrians haue said/ that the Lord is a God of the mountaynes/ and not a God of the valleys/ therefore haue I geuen all this great heape in to thy hande/ that ye may knowe how that I am the Lord. And they pitched theyr tentes ryght ouer agaynst them seven dayes. But vpon the seventh daye they wete together in the battayle/ and the chyldren of Israel smote the Syrians on hundred thousand foote men in one daye/ and the remanent fled to Apher/ in to the crite/ a the wall fell vpon the other seven and twenty thousand men. And Benadab fled also vnto the crite in to a hyle chamber.

Then sayd his seruantes vnto him: Beholde/ we haue herde that the kynges of the house of Israel are mercifull kynges. Let vs therefore put sackcloth about our neckes/ and halers about our neckes/ and go forth to the kyng of Israel/ peraduenture he shall let thy soule lyue.

And they put sackcloth about theyr neckes/ and halers about theyr neckes/ and came to the kyng of Israel/ and sayd: Benadab thy seruant sayeth vnto the: W let my soule lyue. He sayde: If he be yet almye/ he is my brother. And the men toke him shortly at his word/ as expounded it for them selues a sad: Yee Benadab is thy brother. He sayde: Come and bring hym. Then went Benadab forth vnto hym/ as he caused hym to sit vpon the charret/ as sayde vnto hym: The cryes that my father toke fro thy father will I geue the agayne. And made thou stretes for thy selfe at Samaria/ as my father did at Samaria/ so will I let the go in a bonde of peace. And he made a conuenaunce with hym/ and let him go.

Then spake there a man amonge the chyldren of the Prophetes vnto hys neyghbour/ by the moode of the Lord: I pite the synne me. But he refused to synne hym. Then sayde he vnto him / because thou hast not berkened vnto the voyce of the Lozde / beholde / therefore shall there a Lyon smyte the / when thou shalt passe thre. And when he was from him / a Lyon founde him / and slewe him.

4. re. 114.

G And he founde another man / and sayde: I pryce the smyte me. And the man smote him / and wounded him. Then wente the prophete / and slepte vnto the kynge by the way side / and altered his face with asbes. And when the kynge wente by / he cryed vpon the kynge / and sayde: Thy seruaunt wente south in to the bayrall / and beholde / there wente one asyd / and brought a man vnto me / and sayd: Take this man: if he be myssed / thy soule shall be in steade of his soule / or els thou shalt receiue deunce an hundred weight of siluer. And whyle thy seruaunt had here and there to do / to him I was thus owne wd gemet / thou hast geuen it thy selfe.

Then put he the asbes from his face in all the baris. And the kynge of Israel knewe him / ther he was one of the prophetes. And he sayde vnto hym: Thus saith the Lozde: Because thou hast let the damned man go / therefore shall the soule be for his soule / and thy people for his people. And the kynge of Israel departed vnto his house / beinge troubled in his mynde / and full of indignacion / as came to Samaria.

The XXI Chapter.

After these actes it fortuned that Naboth whiche the Iesraelites had a vnyngarde at Iesrael / besyde the palace of Achab kynge of Samaria. And Achab spake vnto Naboth / and sayde: Geue me thy vnyngarde / I will make me an yerbegarden therof / because it is so nye myne house: I will geue thee a better vnyngarde for it: or if it please the / I will geue thee siluer for it: so muche as it is worth. But Naboth sayde vnto Achab: I The Lozde let that be farre fro me: that I should geue the my fathers heritage. Then came Achab home / beinge moued and full of indignacion / because of the wyde that Naboth the Iesraelite had spoken vnto him / and sayde: I will not geue the my fathers heritage. And belayed him vpon pon his bed / and turned his face asyd / and vnto eate no bread. Then Jesabel his wyfe came in to him / and sayde vnto hym: What is the matere / that thy spere is so combed / as that thou eatest no bread? He sayde vnto her: I haue spoken vnto Naboth the Iesraelite / and sayde: Geue me thy vnyngarde for money: or if it please the / I will geue thee the another for it. But he sayde: I will not geue the my vnyngarde.

Then sayde Jesabel his wyfe vnto him: What were the kyngdom in Iesrael / if thou dydest? Stande vp / and eate bread: I will geue the the vnyngarde of Naboth the Iesraelite. And she wrote a letter vnder Achab name / and sealed it with his signet / and sent it vnto the Elders a rulers in his cytie / which dwelle about Naboth / and wrote thus in the letter: Proclaime a feast / and set Naboth about in the people / and fer two men of Bethel before him / to restifie a sage: Thou hast blasphemed God and the kynge. And bring him forth / as stone him to death.

And the Elders and rulers of his cytie / which dwelle in his cytie / dyd as Jesabel had commaunded them / accordyng as he had wytt: in the letter that she sent vnto the: and they proclaime a feast / and caused Naboth to sit about amonge the people. Then came the two men of Bethel / and stode before him / and wished agaynst Naboth in the presence of the people / and sayde: Naboth hath blasphemed God and the kynge.

Then brought they him out of the cytie / and stoned him to death. And they sent Iesabel wordes / sayinge: Naboth is stoned and put to death. When Jesabel herd that Naboth was stoned and dead / she sayde vnto Achab: Up / and take possession of the vnyngarde of Naboth the Iesraelite / which he denyed to geue the for money: for Naboth is now no more / but a dead. And when Achab herd that Naboth was dead / he rose to go vnto the vnyngarde of Naboth the Iesraelite / and to take possession of it.

But the wyde of the Lozde came to Elishah the Bethelite / and sayde: Get the vp / and go vnto me: Achab the kynge of Israel / which is at Samaria / beholde / he is in the both vnyngarde / in to the which he is gone

100unc to take possession of it / and talke thou with him / and saye: Thus sayeth the Lorde Thou shalt take possession vnto him / and saye: Thus sayeth the Lorde: ¶ When in the place where the dogges lyfte vp Nabaths blood / shall the dogges lyfte thy blaud also. And Achab sayde vnto Elias: Hast thou euer founde me thine enemye? He sayde: Yee / I haue founde the / because thou art euen sold so do euill in the syght of the Lorde. Declare the holde / I will bynenge infortune vpon the / and take awaye thy postherte / and will rote out from Achab / euen hym that maketh water agaynst the wall / and hym that to spur vp / and leste behinde in Israell and thy house wyl I make as the house of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat / and as the house of Baasa the sonne of Ahia / because of the pcuracion wherewith thou hast prouoked me vnto warre / and made Israell to synne.

And ouer Isahab spake the Lorde also / and sayd: ¶ The dogges shall deuoure Isahab in the felde of Israell. ¶ Who so of Achab dyeth in the cyne / him shall the dogges eate vnto and who so dyeth in the felde / the fowles vnder the heauen shall eate hym vp. So clea-re it folde to do myschefe in the syght of the Lorde hath no man ben / as Achab: for his Isidid hath so detraued him / and he maketh hymself a grece abhominacion / that he goeth after Beels / according vnto all as dyd the Amozites / vnto whom the Lorde expellid before the chyldren of Israell.

But when Achab herde these wordes / he rent his clothes / and put a sackcloth on his body / and fastid / and slepte in sackcloth / and wente aboute bangynge vnto his heade.
 And the worde of the Lorde came to Elias the Tsbire / and sayde: Hast thou not seene how Achab humbled hym selfe before me? for so muche now as he humbled hym selfe in my syght / I wyl not bynenge that plague whyle he lyueth: but by his synnes lyfe wyl I bynenge infortune vpon his house.

The XXII. Chapter.

¶ And there passed ouer this yeares / that there was no warre betwene the Syrians and Israell. But in the thyrtye yeare wnt Josapath the kyng of Iuda vnto the kyng of Israell. And the kyng of Israell sayde vnto his seruantes: Know ye not that Ramoth in Gilead is oures: and we syt still / and take it not out of the hande of the kynges of Siria.

 And he sayde vnto Josaphat: Wyl thou go with me: to the battayll vnto Ramoth in Gilead: Josaphat sayde vnto the kyng: O Israell: I wyl be as thou / my people as thy people / and my wyfes as thy wyfes. And Josaphat sayd vnto the kynges of Israell: ¶ Aske this daye at the worde of the Lorde. Then the kyng of Israell gathered together the prophete and sayd: ¶ Aboute a four hundred men / and sayd vnto them: Shall I go vnto Ramoth in Gilead to fight / or shall I let it alone? They sayde: Go vp. The Lorde shall deliuer it in to the kynges hande. But Josaphat sayde: Is there not one prophete here more of the Lorde: wher we may aske at hym.

The kyng of Israell sayde vnto Josaphat: Here is yet a man / one Mithcaas the sonne of Iemilias / whome we maye aske of the Lorde: but I haue hurn / for he propheteeth me no good / but euill. Josaphat sayde: Is it not the kynges sake so. Then called the kyng of Israell a chamberlayne / and sayde: Bynenge ther soone Mithcaas the sonne of Iemilias.
 ¶ And he called the kyng of Israell / a Josaphat the kyng of Iuda they saye ether of them vpon his feet arayed in theyr garmentes / in the place at the vone of the poire of Samaria / and all the prophetes propheted before them. And Sodes was the sonne of Enaana had made hym hoines of yron / and sayde: Thus sayeth the Lorde: With these spales thou pulst at the Syrians / yll thou bynenge them to nought.
 And all the prophetes propheted lykewise / and sayde: Go vp vnto Ramoth in Gilead / thou shalt prosper ryght well / and the Lorde shall deliuer it into the kynges hande. And the messenger that wnto to call Mithcaas sayde vnto hym: Beholde / The wordes of the prophetes are with one accord good before the kynges: thy wyde therfore be as they wyde / and speake thou good also.

Mithcaas sayde: As truly as the Lorde lyueth / I se what the Lorde sayeth vnto me / that wyll I speake.

And when he came to the kyng / the kyng sayde

sayde vnto hym: Michas shall we go vnto Ramoth in Gilead to fighte / or shall we let it alone? He said vnto hym: Yee: go vp / thou shalt prosper: right well / the Lorde shall geue it in the kynges hande. But the kyng sayd vnto him agayne: I charge the that thou see none other thinge vnto me but I truely / in the name of the Lorde. He sayd: I sawe all Israel scattered abroade vpon the mountaynes: the shepe that haue no shepheard: And the Lorde sayde: Haue these no leader? Let every one turne home agayne in peace. Then sayd the kyng of Israel vnto Josaphat: Toldst thou that he wolde prophesye me no good? but euill?

¶ He sayde: Heare now therefore the worde of the Lorde: I sawe the Lorde sit vpon his seate / and all the host of heauen / standing by him at his right hande and at his lefte. And the Lorde sayde: Who will deceaue Achaz to go vp / and fall at Ramoth in Gilead. And one sayde this / another that. Then went they forth a spete / and stode before the Lorde / and sayde: I will deceaue him. The Lorde said vnto hym: Where with? He sayd vnto hym: I will go forth / and be a fals spete in the mouth of all his prophetes. He sayde: Thou shalt deceaue hym / and shalt be able to go forth / and so. Beholde now / the Lorde hath geuen a fals spete in the mouth of all these the prophetes / and the Lorde hath spoken euill ouer the. Then slepe forth Sedechias the sonne of Enana / and smote Michas vpon the cheke / and sayde: What is the spete of the Lorde departed fro me / to speake with the? Michas said: Beholde / thou shalt sit in that day / when thou shalt go from one chamber to another to hyde the.

¶ 2c. 11. & b

¶ The kyng of Israel sayde: Take Michas / and let hym remaine with Amos the ruler of the cytye / and with Joas the kynges sonne / and saye: Thus sayeth the kyng: But this man in prison / and fede hym with breade and water of trouble / till I come agayne in peace. Michas sayde: If thou comest agayne in peace / then hath not the Lorde spoken thus row me. And he sayde: Heark to all ye people. So the kyng of Israel and Josaphat the kyng of Iuda went vp vnto Ramoth in Gilead. And the kyng of Israel sayde vnto to Josaphat: Change thy clothes / and come in to the battayl in thyne araye. The kyng of Israel changed his clothes also / and wente in to the battayl. But the kyng of Syria commaunded the rulers of his charrettes / of whom there were two and thyrty / and sayde: Ye shall fighte neyther agaynst small nor great / but only agaynst the kyng of Israel. And when the rulers of the charrettes saw Josaphat / they thought it had ben the kyng of Israel / and fell vpon hym with fyghtyng. But Josaphat cryed: So when the rulers of the charrettes saw that it was not the kyng of Israel / they turned backe from hym.

A certayne man bended his bowe hard / and shot the kyng of Israel betwene the mame and the longe. And he sayde vnto his charretman: Turne thy hande / and crye out of the hoste / for I am wounded. And the battayl was sote the same day. And the kyng stode vpon the charret agaynst the Syrians / and yed in the cuntryng / and the bloude ranne from the wounde in to the myddes of the charrette. And when the Sunne wente downe / there was a piteclament made in the hoste / and sayde: Eueri one get hym in to his cytye / and was his countre. Thus the kyng yed / and was brought vnto Samaria / and they buried hym in Samaria. And when they walked the charret in the pole of Samaria / the dogges lyched his bloude / but the harlottes wesshed hym: accordinge to the worde of the Lorde which he spake.

¶ What more theris to saye of Achaz / and all that he byd / and of the Vnery booke which he buylde / becauise it is written in the Cronicles of the kynges of Israel. So Achaz slepe with his fathers / and his sonne Hezaias was kyng in his steade.

¶ And Josaphat the sonne of Ihu was kyng ouer Iuda in the fourth yere of Achaz kyng of Israel: and was fyue and thyrty yere olde when he was made kyng / and reigned fyue and twenty yere at Ierusalem. His mothers name was Ithiba the daughter of Elisba / and he walked in al the waye of his father Ihu / and departed not therfro. And he byd that which was wyrt in the sphe of the Lorde / yet was he not always the hie place and the people offered and went in ceuety upon the hie places / and he had peace with the kyng of Israel.

¶ What more there is to saye of Iosaphat the myghte that he exercised / and howe he sought / behold it is wyrtten in the Cronicles of the kynges of Iuda. The put out of the lande also the whoremongers that yet were left / which remayned ouer in the tyme of his father Iosias / and at tyme there were no kynges in Edom. And Iosaphat had caused to make shippes upon the se / which shoulde go to make golde in Ophir / but they wente not / for they were broken at Beyzon Gaber. At that tyme saide Iosias the sonne of Achab vnto Iosaphat / Let my seruantes passe with thy seruantes in the shippes. But Iosaphat wold not. And Iosaphat slept with his father / and was buried with his father in the tyme of Hezai. And Iosias sonne was kyng in his steade.

The ende of the thyrd boke of the kynges as the Latenes callen the Hebrues call it the fyfth of the kynges.

The fourth booke of the kynges.

The first Chapter.

Asa the sonne of Achab was kyng ouer Israel at Samaria / in the seuenth years of Iosaphat kyng of Iuda / and reigned ouer Israel two yeares / and dyd that which was euell in the sight of the Lorde / and walked in the way of his father / of his mother / and in the way of Iereboam the sonne of Nebat / which made Israel to synne. And serued Asa / worshipped him / and displeasid the Lorde God of Israel / euen as his father dyd. The

And Asa fell thowgh the grate in his chamber at Samaria / and was dead / seue / and sent messengers / and saide vnto them: Go your way / and are counsaill at Belesub / the god of Ekron / whether I shall receiue from this synnersse. But the angel of the Lorde said vnto Eliab the Thersite: Dye a go mete the messengers of the kyng of Samaria / and saye vnto the: Is there no God in Israel / that ye go to aze counsaill at the god of Ekron / therefore thus sayeth the Lorde: Thou shalt not come from the bed wheron thou lyest / but thou shalt dye the death.

¶ And Eliab wente his way. And when the messengers came to Iosias againe / he said Iosias vnto them: Why come ye againe? They saide vnto him: There came up a man in our way / and saide vnto vs: Go againe vnto the frange that hath sent you / and saye vnto him: Thus sayeth the Lorde: Is there no God in Israel / that thou sendest to aze counsaill at Belesub / the god of Ekron / therefore shalt thou not come from the bed wheron thou lyest / but shalt dye the death. He saide vnto the: In what maner of man was it that mete you / a seide this vnto you? They saide vnto him: He had a t rough synne vpon hym / and a lictent / that he gydded aboute his loynes. He saide: It is Eliab the Thersite.

¶ The four vnto hym a captayne ouer sye / with the same synne. And when he came to the mount. He seide vnto hym: Thou man of Gods / kyng sayeth: Thou shalt come downe. Eliab answered the captayne ouer sye / and saide vnto him: If I be a man of Gods / the fyre fall vnto me then from heauen / and consume me and thy synne. Then fell there fyre from heauen / and consumed hym and his synne. And againe he sent another captayne ouer sye vnto hym / with his synne / which answered / and saide vnto him: Thou man of Gods / thus sayeth the kyng: Come downe in all the hast. Eliab answered / and saide: If I be a man of Gods / the fyre fall vnto me from heauen / and consume me and thy synne. Then fell the fyre of God from heauen / and consumed hym / and his synne. Againe he sent vnto him the thyrd captayne ouer sye / with his synne.

Now when he came to hym / he kneeled to Eliab / and besought him / and said vnto him: Thou man of God / let my soule / a the soules of thy seruantes these fyfte / be somewhat worch in thy sight. Behold / he fyre / fel doun from heauen / and hath consumed the first two captaynes our fyfte with their fyftes: But now let my soule be somewhat worch in thy sight. Then saide the angel of the Lord vnto Eliab: Go doun with him / and feare him not. And he gat him vp / and wente doun to him vnto the bynge.

And he saide vnto hym: Thus sayeth the Lord: Because thou hast sente four misfaungers / and caused to ope counsaill at Beelſchub the god of the Fyres / as though there were no God in Israel to age counsaill at his word / therefore shalt thou not come fro the bed where thou hast layed the / but shalt dye & death. So he dyed according to the word of the Lord / which Eliab saide. And Joram (his brother) was kinge in his steade / in the seconde year of Joram the sonne of Josaphat kinge of Iuda: for he had no sonne.

What more there is to saye of the Obosias / he byd / beholde / it is wynt in the Cronicles of the Kinges of Israel.

Chr. 11. Chapter.

When the Lord was minded to take vp Eliab in the tempest / Eliab and Eliſſus went fro Gilgal. And Eliab saide to Eliſſus: Eare thou here (I praye) for the Lord hath sent me vnto Bethel. But Eliſſus saide: As truly as the Lord liueth / and as truly as thy soule liueth / I wil not forsake the. And when they came doun vnto Bethel / the prophetes children that were at Bethel / wente forth to Eliſſus / and saide vnto him: Knowest thou not / that the Lord wil take thy loide awaye from thy head this daye: He saide: I know it well / holde ye your peace.

And Eliab saide vnto him: Eliſſus earre thou here: I praye the. For the Lord hath sent me vnto Jericho. Neuerthelesse / he saide: as truly as the Lord liueth / and as truly as thy soule liueth / I wil not forsake the.

And when they came vnto Jericho / the prophetes children which were at Jericho / wente forth to Eliſſus and sayd vnto him: Knowest thou not / that the Lord wil take thy loide awaye from thy head this daye: He saide: I know it well / holde ye your peace. And Eliab saide vnto hym: I praye the earre here / for the Lord hath sent me vnto the Iordane. But he saide: As truly as the Lord liueth / and as truly as thy soule liueth / I wil not forsake the. And they wente both together. But fyfte men of the prophetes children wente forth / and stode ouer againste them afaire of: But they both stode vpon Iordane. Then toke Eliab his cloke / and wrapped it together / and smote the water / which deuided it selfe on both the sydes / so that they wente drye thade thore row it. And when they were come ouer / Eliab saide vnto Eliſſus: Age what I shal do for the / aſure I be taken awaye from the Eliſſus saide: That thy spere maye be vpon me to makee trefse as much.

He saide: thou hast desired an hard thing / neuerthelesse / if thou shalt see me when I am taken awaye fro the / it shal be so: If no / then shall it not be. And as they were goinge together / and talked / there came a fyre charret with hostes of fyre / a parted the both asunder. And so wente Eliab vp to heauen in a flame. But Eliſſus saue it / a cryed: My father / my father / a charret man of Israel / a his ho:smen. And he saw him no more.

And he rofe holde of his clothes / and rent the in two peces / a rofe vp Eliab clothe that was fallen fro him / a turned backe / a stode by the shore of Iordane / and rofe the same clothe of Eliab which was fallen from him / a smote it in the water / a saide: Where is now the Lord God of Eliab: And he smote it in to the water / and then parted it asunder on both the sydes / and Eliſſus wente throure.

And when the prophetes children / which were at Jericho ouer against him / sawe him / they saide: The spere of Eliab resteth vpon Eliſſus / and so they wente forth to meete him / and wooshyppd him to the grounde / a saide vnto him: Beholde / there are fyfte valiant men amonge thy seruantes / let them goe and see the lord / peraduenture the spere of the Lord hath taken hym / and cast him vpon some mountayne or in some valleye. But he saide: Strnde them not. Neuerthelesse / they constrained him / til he was ashamed / and sayde: Let them go. And they sent fyfte men / which sought sought him the dayes: but they founde him not: a came again vnto him. And he abode at Jericho: a said vnto them: Told he not I you ye should not go: And the me of the ciue said vnto Elifus: Beholde: there is good dwelling in this cite: as my loide saith: but the water is carl: and the lande vnfructfull.

¶ He sayde: Bynge me hither a new vessel/ and put salt in it. And they brough it byn. Then wuce he sayd vnto the well of water/ and cast y salt therein: a sayde: Thus sayeth the the Lord: I haue healed this water: from henceforth shall there no deary nor vnfructfulness come of it. So the water was healed vnto this daye: according to the woide of Elifus which he spake.

And he wente vp towards Bethell. And as he was goyng up by y waye: there came hithe Boyes out of the cite: a mocked him: and saide: Come vp here thou balde heade. Came up here thou balde head. And he turned him aboute. And when he sawe them / he curst them in the name of the Lord. Then came there two Beeres out of the wood: and rente two and fourte of the children. From thence wente he vp vnto mounte Carmel: a from it turned he backe: from Samaria.

The III. Chapter.

¶ Diam the sonne of Achab was kyng: o Dynur Israel at Samaria: in the cyghenth yere of Iosaphat kyng of Iuda: and reygnd twelife yeres / and byd that which was euil in the syght of the Lord: but not as his father a mother: for he putte awaye y pillars of Baal: which his father caused to make. Nevertheless: he cleued vnto the synnes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat: which made Israel to sinne: a departed nor therefrom.

¶ Als the kyng of the Moabites had many shepe: and payed tribute vnto the kyng of Israel with the wool of an hundred thousand lambe: and ofen hundred thousand remmes. ¶ But when Achab was deade: the kyng of the Moabites sell awaye from the kyng of Israel. At the same tyme wente kyng Ioram from Samaria: and mustered all Israel: and sent vnto Iosaphat kyng of Iuda sayinge: The kyng of the Moabites is fallen awaye fro me: come thou with me to fighte agaynst the Moabites. Se sayde: I will come vp: I am cuen as thou / is. N. 374. a my people as thy people / and my hoises as thy hoises. And sayde moicoure: Which waye shall we go vp: He sayde: By the waye in the wyldernes of Edom.

So the kyng of Israel the kyng of Iuda: and the kyng of Edom wente forth. And when they had gone suen dayes iourney as houre: the hoos and the cattell that were amonge them had no water. Then sayde the kyng of Israel: Alas: the Lord hath called these the kynges: to deliuer the into the handes of the Moabites. But Iosaphat said: Is here no prophete of the Lord: that we maye aske counsaill at the Lord by him: The answered one of y kyng of Israels scrumetes / and sayde: Here is Elifus the sonne of Saphat / which poured water vpon Eliah hyde. Iosaphat sayde: Thy moide of the Lord is with hym. So the kyng of Israel and Iosaphat: and the kyng of Edom bounde vnto him.

But Elifus sayde vnto the kyng of Israel: What hast thou to do with me: go to the prophetes of thy father / and to thy mothers prophetes. The kyng of Israel sayde vnto hym: No: for the Lord hath called these the kynges: to deliuer the into the handes of the Moabites. Elifus sayde: Truly as the Lord Zebaoth sayth: Before whome I stande: if I regarded not Iosaphat kyng of Iuda: I wold not regard the: nor sente ought by the. So bynge me now a minstrel. And wha the minstrel playd vpon the instrument: a had of the Lord came vpon him. And he saide: Thus sayeth the Lord: make pyeces by this stroke / for thus saith the Lord: Ye shall se neither wynde nor rayne: yet shall the ground be fill of water: that ye a your bowshotes / a your cattel maye thynke. See: and thario: but a small thinge in the syght of the Lord. And the Moabites shall be deliuered vnto your handes: so that ye shall smyte all the stronge ciues: and all the dofen cyues: and shall sell vnto Secu 374. all the good trees: and sleepe at the well of water: and all the good fildes shall ye make waste with shepes.

ter. But when the Moabites herbe / that the kynges came to fight against them / they called all the barnished men / and theyr rulers / and stode on the border. And when they rose early in the morning / and the Sunne wente vp upon the water / the Moabites thoughte the water ouer againste them to be euen as read as floud / and they saide : It is floud : the kynges haue destroyed them selues with the swerde / and one hath smitten another. Now Moab getteth vp to the spoiles. But when they came to the mounte of Israel / the Israhelites gat vp and smote the Moabites / and they fled before them.

E Then rebelle they came in / and smote Moab / and brake downe the citie / and every one cast his stone vpp all good felde / a made them full / and stopp'd al the wellles of water / and filled boune al the good trece / tyll there remaine but the stones of the Syckewal / and they compassed them aboute with synges / and smote them.

But when the Kyng of the Moabites sawe the Battail was so stronge for him / he toke to him seven hundred men / which were the swardec / to sal upon the kyng of Eds : neuertheless / they were not able. Then toke he his first sonne / which should haue ben kyng in his stead / and offered him for a burnt offering vpp the wall. Then came there a great wrath ouer Israel / that they departed from him / a turned againe into their lande.

The IIII. Chapter.

Z And there cryed a woman among the wythes of the prophetes children vnto Elifus / and sayde : Thy seruant my houshonde is dead / and thou knowest that thy seruant feared the Lord. Now commeth the man that he was better vnto / and will take awaye from my children to be bonde seruantes. Elifus sayde vnto her : What shall I do for thee : Tell me / what hast thou in the house : She sayde : Thy handmayden hath nothing in the house but a picher wash oyle. He sayde : Wher waye / sorrow without of all thy neighbours empty vessels / and that not a f. we / and go in and shut the doore behynde the wash thy sonnes / and poure of it into all thy vessels / and when thou hast fylled them / velyet them so : that

She wente / and shut the doore vnto her wash her sonnes / which thoughte they the vessels / and so she poured in. And when the vessels were full / she sayde vnto her sonne : Bring me yet one vessel. He sayde vnto her : There is not one vessel more here. She stode the oyle syl. And she sent / and tolde the man of God. He sayde : Go thy waye / sell the oyle / a paye the creditor : but lyeue thou and thy sonnes of the residue.

And it fortuned at the same tyme / that Elifus wente vnto Suncen / and there was a ryche woman / which helde him to care with her : and as he passed oft thowse that way / he was in vnto her / a did care with her. And she said to her houshond : Behold / I perceaue that this is an holy ind of God / which goodly euere thowse this way / let vs make him a litle chancel / of stodes / and set a Bedia table / a booke / a candle / by the sterna / that wha he cometh vnto vs / he maie resorte thither.

And it fortuned vpon a tyme that he came in / and layed hym downe in the chamber / a slepe therein. And he sayde vnto Gehasi his chud : Call this woman of Suncen. And when he had called her / she stode before him. He sayde vnto him : Speake thou vnto her / beholde / thou hast ministred vnto vs in all these thynges / what shall I do for thee : Shall I thou any inaret to be spoken for vnto the kyng / or for the chiefe captayne of the hoste : She sayde : I dwell amonge my people. He sayde : What hast thou then to do : Gehasi sayde : Alas / she hath no sonne / and her houshonde is olde. He sayde : Call her. And when he called her / she stode at the doore. And he sayde : I thowse this tyme / if the frute can lyeue / thou shalt embrace a sonne : She sayde : Alas / no my lord / thou man of God / lye not vnto thy handmayden. And the woman embraced / and bare a sonne aboute the same tyme / when the frute coulde lyeue / accordinge as Elifus had said vnto her.

But when the chylde was growen / it so : turned that he wente south to his father vnto reapers / and said vnto his father : Wh my heade / my heade. He sayde vnto his seruant. Bring him vnto his mother. And he toke him / and brought him to his mother : and set him vpon her lappe vntill the noone day / and then he dyed. And she went vp/and layd hym vpon the bed of the man of God/and bit the doore/and wente forth/and called her hous bande/and sayd vnto hym: Sende me one of the seruantes/and an ass/ I wyl go quickly vnto the man of God/and come agayne. He sayde: Why wilt thou go vnto hym? To daye is it neither new moone/ nor Sabbath. She sayde: Well. And she saddled the ass/and sayde to the sounge man: Syue forth/and kepe me not backe with vs/ynge/and do as I byd thee.

So she went/and came to the man of God vnto mount Carmell. When the man of God sawe her ouer agaynst hym/ he sayde vnto his chyld: Gehasi: Beholde/ the Sunamysse is ther/ runne now and mete her/ and ere her if it go well with her/ and her hous bande and her sonne. She sayde: Well. But when she came to the man of God vpon the mount/ she hidde hym by his feet. And Gehasi slepte to her to put her away. But the man of God said: Let her alone/ for her soule is in heauens/ and the Lord hath bid it fro me/ and nor stered it me. She sayde: When I bespied a soune of my loide? Sayde I nor that thou shouldst not moete me.

¶ He sayde vnto Gehasi: Gyrde vp thy loynes/ and take my staffe in thy hande/ a go thy weye. If any man mete the/ salute hym not: a if any man salute the/ thanke hym not: and lase thou my staffe vpon the chyldes face. But the chyldes mother sayde: Do truly as the Lord hath sayd/ and as truly as thy soule lyeth/ I wil not leaue the. He gaue her vp/ a went after her. So Gehasi/ he went before them/ and lared the staffe vpon the chyldes face/ but there was no syde voyce nor syngynge. And he went agayn to meete hym/ and stered hym/ and sayde: The chyld is not ryse vp.

¶ And when Elisus came in to the house/ beholde/ the chyld laye dead vpon his bed. And he wente in/ a shut the doore on the doth/ and made his prayer vnto the Lord/ a went vp/ and T layd hym selfe vpon the chyld/ and layd his mouth vpon the chyldes mouth/ a bit his eyes vpon his eyes/ and his handes vpon his handes/ a so stered hym/ selfe forth vpon hym/ so that the chyldes body was wai me. And he rose vp/ and went in to the house once befor/ and burier/ and wente vp/ and layd hym selfe a long vpon hym. Then nysed the chyld seuen tymes/ and afterward the chyld opened his eyes. And he cryed vpon Gehasi and sayde: Call the Sunamysse. And when he had called her/ she came in vnto hym. He sayde: Take thine chyld/ and come agayne. She fell at his feet/ a wosshypped vnto the grounde and toke her sonne/ and wente forth.

¶ But when Elisus came agayn vnto Gilgal/ there was a verth in the lande. And the Prophetes chyldren dwelt before hym/ and he sayde vnto his seruante: Get on a greate pot/ and make portage for the chyldren of the Prophetes. Then wente there one in to the felde and gathered wild cucumbers thopp of his corfull. And when he came/ he chered it final for portage to the potte/ for they knewe it not. And they poured it forth/ for the men to cate/ a when they byd cate of the portage/ they cryed and said: O thou man of God/ death is in the pot/ for they might not cate it. Then the chylde/ he sayde: Bryng meel herder/ and he put it in the pot/ and sayde: Poure it out for the people/ that they maye cate/ And then was not it buter in the pot.

¶ There came a man from Baal/ Salsis/ and brought the man of God bearde of the syrt frutes/ namelye twenty barly leaues/ and new corne in his garment. And he sayde: Give it vnto the people/ that they maye cate. He minister sayde: How shal I geue an hundred men of this? He sayd: Give it vnto the people/ that they maye cate. For thus sayeth the Lord: Thy shal cate/ a there shalbe left ouer. And he set it before the/ so that they byd cate/ and they left ouer/ accordynge to the wyde of the Lord.

The V. Chapter.

¶ Yaman the chiefe captayn of the kyng of Samaria/ was an excellent man in fight of his loide/ and muche freer by/ for he wonne hym the Lord gaue death vnto Samaria/ and he was a myghty man/ but a leper. And there had men of warre fallen out of Samaria/ caried away a litle demsel out of the lande of Israel: the same was in seruice with Samarians wyfe/ a sayde vnto her mistresse: O what my mistre were with the prophete of Samaria/ he wold heale hym of the leprosie.

Then

Then wente he into his lorde/ & tolde him/ as he was and thus hath the Damfel of the lande of Israel spofe. The King of Siria said: So thy way then/ & I wil wyte a letter vnto the Kinge of Israel.

B And he went/ and toke with him ten handerch treyghts of siluer/ and fixe thousand guldes/ and ten chaunge of raimet/ and broughte the letter vnto the Kyng of Israel with these wordes.

When this letter cometh vnto the/ Behold/ thou shalt vnderstande that I haue sent my seruauit Naaman vnto the/ that thou mayest heale him of his leprosie.

And when the Kyng of Israel red the letter/ he rente his clothes/ and saide: am I God then/ that I can kyl and quyen againe/ that he sendeth vnto me/ to heale the mā from his leprosie? Consydre and se how he seeketh an occasyon vnto me.

When Elifus the man of God herde/ that the Kyng of Israel had rente his clothes/ he sente vnto him/ sayinge: Why hast thou rente thy clothes? Let him come to me/ that he maye knowe that there is a prophete in Israel.

C So Naaman came with horses and charrettes/ and stode still at the doore of Elifus house. Then sent Elifus a messenger vnto hym/ sayinge: So thy waye/ and washe the seuen tymes in Iordane/ so shall thy flesh be restored to the againe/ as he clenfed. The was Naaman wroth/ & went bys waye/ & saide: I thoughte he should haue come forth vnto me/ and to haue stande here/ & to haue called vpon the name of the Lord bys God/ and to haue toucht the place with his hande/ and so to haue put awaye the leprosie. Are not the waters of Amara a sharp bar at Damasus better then all the waters in Israel/ that I might walke therein/ and be clenfed? And he turned him/ and wrote his waye in displeasure. Then his seruantes gat them to hym/ and sayde: Farther/ if the prophete had comaunded the anye greac thinge/ shouldst thou not haue done it? much more then if he say vnto the: Wahe the/ and thou shalt be cleane. Then wente he vnto/ and washed hymselfe in the Iordane seuen tymes/ as the man of God sayd/ and his fleshe was restored hym agayn/ euen as the fleshe of a yonge child/ & a Lxxij. he was clenfed.

And he turned agayne to the man of God/ what his aunc. And wha he came in/ he stode before hym/ and sayde: Behold/ I knowe that in all landes there is no God/ but in Israel. Take now therfore this fleslinge. I praye the of thy seruauit. Neuertheless he sayde: I do it not truly/ as the Lord thy godd sayde: Whome I stande/ I will not take it. And he wolde neede haue him to take it/ but he wolde not. The sayde Naaman: Mighte there not a burthen of this earth be geuen vnto thy seruauit/ as muche as two mulcs may beare? For thy seruauit wil do no more sacrifice/ and offre burnt offeringes vnto other goddes/ but vnto the Lord. That the Lord maye be gracious vnto thy seruauit/ if I woulde stonde in the house of Rimmon/ wha my lord goeth thre into the house of Rimmon to walschappe/ and leaneh vpon my hande: So saide vnto him: So thy waye in peace.

And as he was gone from hym a felde bredth in the lande/ Gehasi the seruauit of Elifus the mā of God thoughte: Behold/ my lord hath spared Naama the Siria/ so that he hath not take from him/ & which he bought: So truly as the Lord thy godd/ I wil minge after him/ a take somthinge of him.

So Gehasi folowt Naaman. And when Naaman sawe that he ranne after him/ he lycht vnto from the charrete to meete hym/ and sayde: Are all thynges wel? He said: Yea. But my lorde hath sent me/ and caused to sty vnto the: Behold/ there are now come to me fro mount Ephraim two yonge men of the prophetes children/ geue them a talent of siluer/ I praye the/ and two chaunge of raiment. Naaman saide: Go to/ take two talents. And he compelled him/ and bande ruce talents in two bagges/ and two chaunges of raiment/ and deliuered it vnto two of his seruantes/ whiche bare it before him. And whan he came in the darke/ he toke it from theyr handes/ and layed it asyde in the bouls/ and let the men go.

And whan they were gone theyr waye/ he stode before his lorde. And Elifus sayd vnto hym: Whence comest thou Gehasi? He sayde: Thy seruauit wente nyether hyther not thyder. But he saide vnto him: Wente not my herte with the/whan the man turned backe from his charre to meete the: Now thou shalt take the siluer and the rayment/ oleye trees/onygardes/heyres/gen/seruauntes and maydenes. But the leprosy of Naaman shall cleue vnto the/and so thy scide fouer: Then wrote he forth from him leperous as follows.

The VI. Chapter.

And the chylden of the prophetes saide vnto Eliscus: Beholde/ the place where we shal besiege the/ is so narrow for vs/let vs go vnto Iordane/ and euerie one scharpe rymber there/that we may there drye vs a place to dwell in. He saide: Go youre waye. And one saide: Go to then/and come with thy seruauntes. He saide: I wil go with you. And he wente with them. And whan they came to Iordane/they dyed doune rymber. And as one was flyngge doune a tree/the yron fell into the water/and he cryed and saide: Alas my lord/and it is drowned. But the man of God saide: Where fill it in: And whan he shewed him the place/ he cut doune a stick/ and thrust it in there. Then swaime the yron. And he saide: Take it vp. So he put forth his hand/and toke it.

And the kyng of Siria warred against Israd/and toke counsaill at his seruauntes/ and saide: There and there wil we lye. But a man of God sent to the kyng of Israd/ sayinge: Beware that thou go not vnto th place/for the Sirians rest there. So the kyng of Israd sent vnto the place/ wherof the man of God tolde him/and kepte it as helde watch there: a whil that not once or twise onely.

Then was the kyng of Sirians herre duced therof/and called his seruauntes/and saide vnto them: Will ye not tell me/ which of our men is fled vnto the kyng of Israd: Then saide one of his seruauntes: Not so my lord. O kyng/ thus Eliscus the prophete in Israd reueth the kyng of Israd all that thou speakest in thy chamber wher thou lyste.

He saide: Go youre waye then/ and loke where he is/ that I maye sende/and cause him to be seided. And they shewed him and saide: Beholde/ he is at Dorthen. Then sent he thither horses and charrettes/ and a great power. And whan they came thither/ they might they compassed the cyte aboute. And the minister of the man of God arose early to get hym vp. And as he wente forth/ beholde/ there lay an hoost of men about the cite with horses and charrettes.

Then saide his chyld vnto hym: Alas/ for howe will we now do: He saide: I feare not. For there are mo of the/ that are with vs/ than of those that are with them. And Eliscus prayed/and saide: Lorde open his eyes/ that he maye se. Then the Lorde opened the chyldes eyes/ that he sawe/ and beholde/ the mount was full of syue horses and charrettes rounde about Eliscus. And whan they came doune vnto him/ Eliscus made his prayer/ and saide: Lorde synce thy people with byndnesse/ And he smote them with byndnesse/ accordinge to the wyde of Eliscus. And Eliscus saide vnto them: This is not my waye/ not the cyte/ followe me/ I wil bynge you to the man whome ye seke. And he brought them vnto Samaria.

And whan they came to Samaria. Eliscus saide: Lorde open these mens eyes/ that they maye se. And the Lorde opened they eyes/ that they sawe/ and beholde/ they were in the myddes of Samaria. And whan the kyng of Israd sawe them/ he saide vnto Eliscus: My father/ shal I smite them: He saide: Thou shalt not smyte them. Loke whome thou wast with thy sword/ a bowe/ sicut thof. Set theed and water before them/ they maye care and drinke/ and let them departe vnto theyr loide. The was there a great bynre prepared. And whan they had eate a dronken/ he let the go to departe vnto theyr loide. Scin that time forth came the men of warre of the Sirians none in to the lande of Israd.

After this it fortuneth/ that Benadad the kyng of Siria gathered al his hoost/ and met vp and layed siege vnto Samaria: and there was a greate verby at Samaria. But they layed siege to the cyte so longe/ till an offshede was wouth foure scoce siluer pens/ and the fourth part of a Cab of Douce Dunge. A Cab is a wouth syue siluer pens. And whan the kyng certayne of Israd wente vnto the wall/ a woman measured vnto him/ and saide: Helpe me my lord. O kyng/ He saide: If the Lorde helpe/ I not where wherewith ſhal I helpe the: with the ſame or with the myncieſſe: And the kyng ſaid vnto to her: What ſayſt thou? She ſayd: This woman ſayd vnto me: Goe wth thy ſonne / that we maye eat him to morow ſhal we eate my ſonne: So we ſob my ſonne / and haue caren him / and I ſaid vnto her on the next day: Goe wth thy ſonne / and let vs care him / but ſhe hath hyd him awaye.

E When the kyng herde the womans wo-ordes / he r<sup>u</sup>re his clothes / w<sup>ch</sup> ſhe was goyng to the wall. Then ſawe al y<sup>e</sup> people that he had a faceleſſe vnder vpo his body. And he ſaid: God do this and that vnto me / if the heade of Eliſeus the ſonne of Saphar ſhal this daie ſtande vpon him. As fo: Eliſeus / he ſat in his houſe / and the Elders ſat by him. And he ſent a man before him / but or euer the meſſaunger came to him / he ſaid vnto the Elders: Haue ye not ſene how this childe of miriſbur hath ſent byther to take away my head: Take hede / when the meſſaunger cometh / that ye ſh<sup>u</sup> y<sup>e</sup> doe / and hold him at the doore. Beholde / the noyſe of his ſoides ſite ſoloweth him. Whyſe he was thus talking with the / beholde / the meſſaunger came to him / and ſayd: Beholde / this cuell cometh of the Lorde: and whar more ſhal I loſe of the Lorde:

The VII. Chapter.

E Eliſeus ſaid: Heare the word of y<sup>e</sup> Lorde.
Thus ſayeth the Lorde: For to morow aboute this tyme ſhal a buſſel of fyne meale be ſolde for one ſicle / and two buſſels of bar-leye for one ſicle / vnder the poite of Samaria.
Then a kynght / vpon whoſe hande the kyng leaned / aunſwered the ma<sup>o</sup> of God / and ſaid:
And though the Lorde made wyndowes in heauen / how could ſuch a thyng come to paſſe? He ſayd: Beholde / thou ſhalt ſe it wth thine eyes / and ſhalt not eat thereof.

And there were foure leperous men at the doore before the poite / and one ſaide vnto another: Why tarye we here while we dye?
Though we thought to come into the cyyte / yet is there vergh in the cyyte / and there ſhould we ſayne to dye. And yf we tary here we muſt dye alſo. Let vs go now / a ſycc vnto the hooff of the Sirians. If they let vs lyue / we ſhal lyue: if they ſlaye vs / then are we dead.
And ſo they gat them vp early / to come vnto the hooff of the Sirians. And when they came to the vntermoſt ende of the tentes / beholde / there was no body.

For the Lorde had made the Sirians to heare a noyſe of hoſtes / charrettes / and of a myghtye great hooff / ſo that they ſaid one to another amonge them ſelfes: Beholde / the kyng of Iſrael hath byed the kynges of the Hethynges / and the kyng of the Egiptians againſt vs / to come vpon vs. And theye gat them vp / and fled early in the myght / and left theye charrettes / and hoſtes / and aſſes in the tentes as they ſlode / a ſled cuntry ma<sup>o</sup> where he myght ſaue his life.

Now when the lepers came to the place of the tentes / they went into the tentes / a ſid eate and drinke / and toke ſiluer / golde / and raimet / and wente and hyd it: and came againe / and entred into another tente / and toke thereout / a wenteauid hid it. But one of the ſaid vnto another: Let vs not do thus / this day is a day of good noyſe. If we ſepe this ſerua<sup>o</sup> / and til y<sup>e</sup> lycht dawning / our neyſes will be ſoud out. Let vs go now therefore / we may come and ſell it vnto the Kynges houſe.

And when they came / they cryed at the poite of the cyyte / and tolde them / and ſaid: We came to the tentes of the Sirians / and behold / there is noman there / neyther yet any mans voyce: but haiffe a aſſes bounde / at the Southes as they ſtande. Then cryed y<sup>e</sup> poite a tolde it within in the kynges houſe. And y<sup>e</sup> kyng aroſe in the nyght / and ſaide vnto his ſeruauntes: I wil tell you how the Sirians deale with vs: they know that we ſuffer hunger / a are gone out of the tentes to hide them ſelfes in y<sup>e</sup> ſeld / a thinke thus: when they go out of the cyyte / we wil take them alyue / and come into the cyyte. Then aunſwered one of his ſeruauntes / and ſaid: Let vs take the ſycc hoſes that remaine / which yet are lefte in the cyyte: beholde / theſe are lefte therein of al the multitude in Iſrael / which is deſtroyed. Let vs ſend theſe and ſe. Then toke theye two charret-tes with the hoſes. And the kyng ſent them vnto the tentes of the Sirians / and ſaid: Go your waye and ſe.

And when they wente after them vnto Jordan / beholde / the waye laye full of garmentes and veſſels / w<sup>ch</sup> the Sirians had cast from them/ while they made haist. And when the m. s. ian. gers came agayne / a told the Kynges / the people wente forth and spoyle the tenice of the Suriana. And a bushel of syne meel was solde for a syele / and two bushels of barley for a syele also / ↑ accordyng to the woide of the Lorde. But the Kyng appointed the Euyghy Copd whose hande he leaned. To be at the gate / and the people trode vpon him / so that he dyed / euen as the man of God sayd / when the Kyng came vnto him. And it came to passe euen as the man of God tolde the Kyng / when he sayd : To mo-rowe aboute this tyme that two bushels of barley be sold for one syele / and a bushel of syne meel for one syele vnder the gate at Samaria. And the Euyghy answered the man of Gods / a sayde: Behold / though the Lorde made wysdomes in heauen / how coulde such a thynge come to passe? Neuertheless he said: Beholde / with thyne eyes shalt thou see it / and shalt not eat thereof. And euen so forsauned it vnto him / for the people trode vpon him in the gate / that he dyed.

The VIII. Chapter.

I Elifus spake vnto the womā / whose sonne he had restored vnto Iyse agayne / and sayd: Get thee vp / a go with thyne household / and be a stranger where thou canst / for the Lorde shall call for a verth / which shall come in to the lande seuen years lōnge. The woman gat her vp / and dyd as the man of God sayd / and went with her household / a was a stranger in the lande of the Philistines seuen years.
 But when the seuen years were ended / the woman came agayne out of the Philistines lande / and went forth to crye vpon the Kyng for her hous / and lande. The Kyng spake vnto Behasi the seruaunt of the man of God / and sayd: Tell me all the great actes that Elifus hath done. And whyle he was tellinge the Kyng how that he had made one that was dead / so Iyse beholde / the womā / whose sonne he had caused to reuynie / came euen in the meane season / and cryed vnto the Kyng for her hous / and lande. The sayde Behasi: My lord / O Kinge this same is the woman / and this is her sonne / whom Elifus restored vnto Iyse agayne. And the Kyng cryed the woman / and she tolde him. Then the Kyng belyuored her a chamber / ayne / and sayde: Restore her agayne all that is hers / and all the increase of the lande / seince the tyme that she lefte the lande vntill now.

↑ And Elifus came to Damascō / and Benaded the Kyng of Siria / saye sycke. And he was solde him / and sayde: The man of God is come hyther. Then sayde the Kyng vnto Basal: Take gysce with the / and go meete the man of God / and ax counsaill at the Lorde by hym / and saye: Maye I recover from this syckness? Basal wente for to meete hym / and toke rewardes with hym / and of all the goodes at Damascō / as much as fourtye Carrels myght beare. And when he came / hee stode before him / and sayd: Thy sonne Benadad Kyng of Siria hath sent me vnto the sayinge: May I recover from this syckness?

Elifus sayd vnto hym: Go thy waye and tell hym / Thou shalt recover. But the Lorde hath shewed me that he shal see the death.
 And the man of God lovd earnestly / and made a troublous countenaunce / and wepte.
 Then sayde Basal: Wherefore wepest my loide? He sayde: I know what euil thou shalt do vnto the chyldren of Israel. Thou shalt burne theyr stronge cyties with fyre / and slaye theyr young men with the sword / and kill theyr stronge chyldren / and rypp up theyr women with dyde.

Basal sayde: How sois thy seruaint a Dogger / that he should do such a great thing?
 Elifus sayde: The Lorde hath shewed me / i. q. Re. xi. c. that thou shalt be Kyng of Siria. And he wente his waye from Elifus / and came to his loide / which sayde vnto hym: What sayde Elifus vnto the? He sayd: He tolde me: Thou shalt recover. But on the next daye he toke the bed coueryng / and dypte it in water / a spred it ouer him / and he died / a Basal was kyng in his steade.

In the ffith yeare of Joiam the sonne of Achab Kyng of Israel / was Joiam the sonne of Josaphat Kyng of Iuda. ↑ Two and therty y. Pa. xxxi. a yeare olde was he when he was made Kyng / and reigned cyght yeare at Ierusalem / and walked in the way of the Kynges of Israel / as the house of Achab did / for Achabs daughter was hys wyfe / and he did that which was euill in the sight of the Lorde. Neuertheless /

q. Ac. v. c. the Lozde wolde not destroye Juda for his seruants Saunde safe / T as he promised him / to geue him cuer a lantern amonge his children.

ii. Kc. vii. c. In the same time fell the Edomites awaye from Juda / and made a kinge ouer them selfe. The cause was this: Joram had gone thowen Siria / and all the charrettes with him / and had gotten him vp by nyght / and smite the Edomites that were about him / and the rulers ouer the charrettes / so that the people fled vnto their tentes: therfore fell the Edomites awaye from Juda vnto this daye. At the same tyme fell Libna awaye also.

What more there is to saye of Joram / and all that he dyd / beholde in to write in the Cronicles of the Kinges of Juda. And Joram sel on flepe with his father / and was buried with his fathers in the cite of Samy / and Oholias his sonne was kinge in his steade.

In the twelth yeare of Joram the sonne of Achab kinge of Israel / was Oholias the sonne of Joram kinge in Juda. Euen a twenty yeare olde was Oholias when he was made kinge / and raygned one yeare at Jerusalem. His motheres name was Analia the daughter of Amri kinge of Israel / and he walked in the waye of the house of Achab / and dyd that which was euill in the sighte of the Lozde / euen as dyd the house of Achab: for he was founde in leuie in the house of Achab. And he went with Joram the sonne of Achab in to the battayll against Hazael the kynge of Siria vnto Ramoth in Gilad / but the Sirians smote Joram. Then Joram the kynge returnede backe to be healed at Israel of the woundes / wherewith the Sirians had wounded hym at Ramoth / when he fought with Hazael kynge of Siria. And Oholias the sonne of Joram kynge of Juda / came doune to veyset Joram the sonne of Achab at Jezrael: for he laye sicke.

The IX. Chapter.

In the thirteenth yeare of the prophete called one of the prophets dyde: / a saye vnto hym: Turne vnto thy kynge / and take this cruise of oyle with the / and go vnto Ramoth in Gilad: and when thou comest thither / thou shalt see one Jehu the sonne of Josaphat the sonne of Numfi / and go vs / and byd hym stonde vp as monge his brethren / and brynge hym in to the innost chamber / and take thou the cruise of oyle / and poure it vpon his heade / and saye: Thus sayeth the Lozde: I haue annoynted the to be kinge ouer Israel: and thou shalt open the doore / and stye / and not tary. And the prophete yong man / the whyle wente his waye vnto Ramoth in Gilad. And when he came in / beholde the captaynes of the hoost farther / and he sayde / I haue some that to saye vnto the Captayne. Jehu sayde: Vnto whom amonge vs all? He sayde: Vnto the Captayne.

Then stode he vp and wente in. So he poured the oyle vpon his heade / and sayde vnto hym: Thus sayeth the Lozde God of Israel: I haue annoynted the to be kinge ouer the Lozde people of Israel / for thou shalt smite the house of Achab: for that I maye ouercome the bloude of my seruantes the prophetes / from the bloude of al the Lozdes seruantes / from the hede of Jezabel: that all the house of Achab maye perishe. And I wil rote out from Achab / euen him that maketh want against me / and the house closed vp / and the desolate in Israel: and the house of Achab will I make euen as the house of Jerobam the sonne of Nebat / and so the dagges shall cutt vpon Jezabel vpon the felde at Jezrael / and no man shall burye her. And he opened the doore and fled.

And when Jehu came forth to his lordes seruantes / they sayd vnto him: Are al thynges well? Wherfore came thou madde folow me to the? He sayde vnto them: Ye knowe the well / and what he hath spoken. They sayde: That is not true / but tel thou vs. He sayde: Thus and thus hath he spoken vnto me / and sayde: Thus sayeth the Lozde: I haue annoynted the to be kinge ouer Israel. Then made they haile / and euery one toke his garment / and layed it vnder him / and in manner of a iude grete fete / and blew the trumpet / and sayde: Jehu is made kinge. So Jehu the sonne of Josaphat the sonne of Numfi / made a conference / and anon against Joram. So for Joram be laye before Ramoth in Gilad with all Israel / against Hazael the kynge of Siria. But Joram the kynge was turned backe / that he myght be healed of the woundes / wherewith the Sirians mans had wounded him / when he fought with Gaſaiel the kyng of the Siniſus.

E And Jechu ſayde: If it be youre mynde / there ſhall no man ſcrape out of the cyne / to go and tell it at Jeſrael. And he robe / and departed unto Jeſrael: Joſa laye there / and Obſias the kyng of Judah was come doune to viſite Joſam: But the watchman that ſtoode vpon the tower at Jeſrael / ſawe the company of Jechu coming / and ſayde: Is it a company. He ſayde Joſa: Take a charret / and ſende to meete the / and ſay: Is it peace? And a charret came to meete the / and ſayd: Thus ſayeth the kyng: Is it peace? Jechu ſayde: What haſt thou to do with peace? Turne the behinde me. The watchman tolde it / ſaid: The meſſaunger is come vnto the / and cometh not againe. Then ſent he an other charretman / which whē he came to them / ſaid: Thus ſayeth the kyng: Is it peace? Jechu ſayde: What haſt thou to do with peace? Turne the behinde me.

E And the watchman tolde it / and ſayde: He is come to them / and cometh not againe / and the goinge is as it were the goinge of Jechu the ſonne of Nimſi: for he dyueth on as he were madde. Then ſaide Joſam: Binde the charret faſt. And they bounde the charret / and ſo they wente forth: Joſam the kyng of Iſrael / and Obſias the kyng of Judah / euery one vpon his charret / to meete Jechu. And they founde him vpon the ſeld of Naboth the Jeſſelite. And whā Joſam ſawe Jechu / he ſaid: Jechu / is it peace? But he ſaid: What peace? The whoſedome and wiſhedome of thy mothe Jeſabel is not yet come to an ende.

Then turned Joſam his hande / and fled / and ſaid: vnto Obſias: There is treaſon Obſias. But Jechu roſe his bowe / a ſhot Joſam betwene the armes / that the arrowe wēt throughe his berte / and he fel doune in his charret. And Jechu ſayde vnto Bidkar the huyt: Take and caſt hym in the peece of lande of Naboth the Jeſſelite: for I remember ſince thou rodeſt with me in a charret after Adab his father / that the Lorde woulde laye this heauy burthen vpon him. J holde / ſayd the Lorde: I will recompence the the bloude of Naboth a of his children / euen in this peece of lande. Take hym nowe / and caſte hym in to that peece of lande: / accordinge to the worde of the Lorde.

¶ Whā Obſias the kyng of Judah ſawe a Paſſer / he fled by the waye vnto the garde houſe. But Jechu ſtoode after hym / and commaunded to ſynke hym alſo vpon his charret in the goinge: vpon towarde Gur / whiche lych by Jeſlaam: and he ſteered vnto Megiddo / and dyed there. And his ſeruauntes cauſed hym to be caried to Jeruſale / and there they buried him in his owne graue with his father / in a cyne of Dauid. Obſias ragued ouer Judah in the eleuenth yere of Joſam the ſonne of Adab. And whā Jechu came to Jeſrael / and Jeſabel herd thereof / ſhe coloured her face / and deceyfed her head / and loſed out of the wyndowe. And whā Jechu came vnder the ſtate / he ſayde: ¶ Diſperſed Syme well that ſawe his liſe.

And he lyfte vp his face to the wyndowe / and ſayd: Who is with me? Then turned the two of the chambrelaines vnto him. He ſayd: Caſt her doune headlinge: And they caſt her doune headlinge / ſo that the wall / and the hoſes were ſpunſted with her bloude / and the wall was rotten vnder ſete. And whā he came in / and had eaten a dionken / he ſaid: Loſe vpon yonder curſed womā / and bury her / for ſhe is a kynges daughter. Neuertheleſſe / whā they wēt in to bury her / they founde nothing of her / but the ſul / and the fire / and the palmes of her handes. And they came againe and brought him worde. He ſaid: This is euen that the Lorde ſpake by his ſeruaunt Iſai the Cheburite / and ſaide: ¶ In the ſelde of Jeſrael ſhall the dogges cate Jeſabels fleſhe. So the dead carcaſe of Jeſabel became curen as donge in the ſelde of Jeſrael / ſo that a man could not ſaye: This is Jeſabel.

The X. Chapter.

¶ Chabab had the ſcore and ten ſonnes at Samaria. And Jechu wrote letters / and ſent it to Samaria / vnto the rulers of the cyne of Jeſrael / euen vnto the Elders / a to Adabaturis / ſayinge theſe wordes: Whā thy letter cometh vnto you / with whom are your loides ſonnes / charrettes / horſes / ſtrōge cyne / and ordinauce / loſe which is the beſt / a moſt ryghteous / a of ge your loides ſonnes / ſet hym vpon his fathers ſeate / a ſyght for youre loide houſe.

Unersheffe/ they were sore afraied / and sayde: Behold/ two kynges were not able to stande before hym/ how wyll we then endure?
 And they that were ouer the house and ouer the cytie/ and the Elders and twoo sent vnto Jehu saying: We are thy seruantes/ we wyll do al that thou sayest vnto vs: We wyll make no man kynge / So thou what pleaseth the.
 Then wrote he the seconde letter vnto them with these wordes: If ye be myne/ and berken vnto my voyce/ then take the heades of the me your lordes sonnes / and brynge my them to moztow by this tyme vnto Iesrael.

B The Kynges sonnes were thre score men a ten / as the chiefe men of the cytie brought them vp. Nowe when this letter came / they toke the kynges sonnes / and slew them euen thre score men and ten / a layde they heades in bas kettes / and sent them to hys vnto Iesrael. And when the messenger came / and tolde hym / and sayd: They haue brought the heades of the kynges chyldren / he sayd: Laye them vpon two heapes as I doic off þe porte yll to moztow.

And on the moztow when he went south/he stode / and sayde vnto all the people: Tre ye ryghtheodes: Behold / I haue made an appoynt ment against my lorde / and slayne him / who hath slayne all these then? Understode ye now thei foc / that there is not fallen vpo the earth one worde of the Lorde / which he spake a gainst the house of Achab / and the Lorde Eliab. So Jehu smote al the remnant of the house of Achab at Iesrael / al his great men / his kynfolkes / and his pusses / yll there was not one lefte euer / and he gat him vp / wente his waye / and came to Samaria.

C By þe waye there was a shepheardes house/where Jehu founde the brethren of Obosias kyng of Iuda / and sayde: Whence are ye?
 They sayde: We are Obosias brethren / and are goinge vnto to salute the kynges chyldren / and the queens chyldren. He sayde: Take them alyue. And they toke them alyue / and slewe them by the welles syde at the shepheardes house / euen two and fortye men / and let not one of them remayne.

And when he went from thence / he founde Jonadab the sune of i Nabab / which mete him / and saluted him. And he sayde vnto hym: So thine heart ryght / as myne here / so wyl thyne heart: Jonadab sayde: Yee. Jit he so / sayde he / then geue me thy hande. And he gaue hym his hande. And so he caused him to syt besyde him in the charr / and sayde: Come with me / and se my yle for the Lorde. And they caryed him with him vpon his charr.

 And when he came to Samaria / he smote all that remayned of Achab at Samaria / yll he had destroyed him / according to the word of the Lorde / which he spake vnto Eliab.

And Jehu gathered all the people together / and sayde vnto the: i Achab dyd Baal but litle seruice / Jehu wyl serue him better. Cal vnto me now therfore all Baals prophetes / all his seruantes / and all his pusses / that there be none wanting / for I haue a great sacrifice to do vnto Baal. Whoseuer is misse / shal not lyue. But Jehu dyd it craftely / that he myght destroye al the mynisters of Baal. And Jehu sayde: Waite hie the fraill vnto Baal / and pro phete it. And Jehu sent in to all Iesrael / and caused al Baals mynisters to come / so þe was no man left behynd / which came not. And they came in to Baals house: so that the house of Baal was full from one corner to another.

Then sayde he vnto him that had the rule of the vesture: Bynge south rayment for al Baal mynisters. And he brought forth the rayment.
 And Jehu went in to Baals house with Jo nabab the sone of Nabab / a salue vnto Baal mynisters: Seardy / a fe that there be not here among you any mynisters of the Lorde / but onely Baals mynisters.

And when they came in to offre sacrifices / and burnt offerings / Jehu appoynded him foure score men without / and sayde: If any of these me escape / whome I deluyce vnder your handes / the shall the same mans soule for his soule. Nowe when he had made an ende of the burnt offeringe. Jehu sayd vnto þe fourtyn a kynges: Go in / and smyte euery man maner noman go forth. And they smite the wyl the edge of the swordes. And the fourtyn men and kynges threwe them awaye / and wente vnto the cytie of Baals house / and brought forth the pylle in the house of Baal / and bent it / and made doune Baals pylle with the house of Baal / a made a prey house therof vnto this daye. Thus Jehu destroyed Baal

Baal out of Israel. But Iehou leste nor of frod the synnes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabath which caused Israel to synne: namely / from the golden calves at Bethel and at Dan. And the Lozde spake vnto Iehou: Because thou hast ben willinge to do that which was righte in my sight / a hall done vnto Ihabas house
 p. b all that reason in my derre / Therefore shall thy chyldren sit upon the seat of Israel vnto the fourth generation.

f Neuerthelesse / Iehou was not diligent to walke in the lawe of the Lozde God of Israel with all his heart: for he left not of from the synnes of Jeroboam / which made Israel to synne. At the same tyme beganne the Lozde to be greued at Israel. ¶ So Basael smote the in all the borders of Israel frod Iordane Eastward / and all the lande Gilcad of the Gadites / Rubenites / and Manassites / from Aroer that lieth on the ryuer by Arad / and Gilead / and Basan.

What more there is to saye of Iehou / and all that he byd / and all his power / beholde it is writen in the Cronicles of the kynges of Israel. And Iehou fell on slepe with his father / and they buried him in Samaria. And Zoa has his sonne: was kynge in his steade. The tyme that Iehou reygnd ouer Israel / is eight and twenty yeres at Samaria.

The XI. Chapter.

f ¶ The halia the mother of Ochozias / reban
 p. b she sawe that her sonne was dead / gar her vp / destroyed all the kynges sode. But Iosias kynge Iozabas daughter the sister of Ochozias / toke Iozab the sonne of Ochozias / and slau him awaye with his noyse in the chammbers / from amonge the kynges chyldren which were slayne / and he hid him from Ahalia / so that he was not slayne. And he was hid with her in the house of the Lozde sixe yeres. But Ahalia was queene in the lande.

¶ Neuerthelesse / in the seuenth yere sent Iozaba / and toke the rulers ouer hundreds with the captiues and foote men / and caused them to come to hyrin in to the house of the Lozde / and made a conuenant with them / and re: an oath of them in the house of the Lozde / and stered them the kynges sonne / and commaunded them / and sayd: This is it that ye shal do: One thirde part of you / whiche enter on the Sabbath / shall kepe the watche in the kynges house / a one thirde parte shall be at the porte of Sur / and one thirde part shall be at the porte / which is behynde the foote men / and ye shall kepe the watch at the house of Massa. But two partes of you all that goe of in the Sabbath / shall kepe the watch in the house of the Lozde aboute the kyng / and euery one with his weapen in his hande: and whoso euer cometh within the wall / he muste / so that ye do with the kyng / when he goeth out and in.

¶ And the rulers ouer the hundreds byd all the people as Iozaba the prieste had commaunded them / and rofe vnto them theyr men / which entred vpon the Sabbath / with those that reuente of on the Sabbath / and came to Iozaba the prieste. And the prieste gaue the captiues spaires a shylde / which had ben Iuge Soudas / and were in the house of the Lozde. And the foote men stode aboute the kyng / euery one with his weapen in his hande / from the corner on the ryght syde of the house / vnto the corner of the left syde / euen vnto the altare / and to the house. And he brought forth the kynges souer / and set a crowne vpon his head / and toke the witness / and made hym kynge / as they were dect. p. b glad / and clapped theyr handes together / and sayde: God save the kyng.

¶ And when Ahalia herde the noyse of the people that came together / she came to the people in to the house of the Lozde / and lofed / and beholde / the kyng stode by the pylere / as the vic was / and the fingers / and trempted by the kyng: and all the people of the lande were glad / and blew with trompettes / But Ahalia rente her clothes / and sayde: Uproure / uproure / Neuerthelesse / Iozaba the prieste commaunded the rulers ouer hundreds / which were appoynted ouer the hooll / and sayde vnto them: Hynge her without the wall / whos former foloweth her / let hym the with the sword: for the prieste had sayd that he shoulde not dye in the house of the Lozde. ¶ And they layde handes vpon her / and the went in by the waye where the hoyses go in to the kynges house / and there was the slayne.

¶ Then made Iozaba a conuenant betwene the Lozde and the kyng / and the people: that they shoulde be the people of the Lozde. Lxx temple also betwene the Kinge and the people. And then went all the people of the lande into the house of Baal/ and brake downe all the altars / and destroyed his ymages right well. And Nathan the pueste of Baal sawe they beioke the altare: And the pueste appointed the officers in the house of the Lordes/ and toke the rulers ouer hundredes/ and the captiues/ and the foote men/ and all the people of the lande/ & broughte the Kinge downe from the house of the Lordes/ and came the waye from the pore of foote me onto the Kinges house/ and he set vpon the Kinges seate. And all the people of the lande were glad/ and yete was at rest. So for Athalia/ they flew her with the sword in the Kinges house. And Joas was seuen yeare olde/ when he was made Kinge.

The XII. Chapter.

AT the seuenth yeare of Iehou was Joas made Kinge/ and raygned seuen yeare at Ierusalem: his mothers name was Zibca Berseba. And Joas dyd & which was right in the sight of the Lord/ so longe as Joiada the puest taught him. But they put not downe the hie places: for the people offered and burnt incense yet vpon the hie places.

And Joas sayde vnto the puestes: All the money that is sanctified to be bestowed vpon the house of the Lord/ namely/ & money that euery man geueth vnto the treasury. And & money that euery man geueth for his soule/ and all the money that euery man geueth of a fre herte to be bestowed vnto the house of the Lord/ let the puestes take it vnto them/ euery one his porcyon: with that shall they repaie the decaye in the house of the Lordes/ where they fynde that there is any decaye.

But when the puestes repayed not the decaye in the house vnto the thirte and twentysythe yeare of Kinge Joas. Joas the Kinge called Joiada the pueste with the other puestes/ and sayde vnto them: Wherefore do ye not repaie the decaye of the house?

And therefore shall ye not take the money vnto you now euery one his porcyon/ but shall geue it to the decaye of the house. And the puestes agreed to take no money of the people/ and to repaie the decaye of the house. The Joiada the pueste toke a chesse/ and bored an hole at houe therein/ and set it on the right hande besyde the altare/ at the ennyng in to the house of the Lordes. And the puestes that kepte the resholde/ put all the money thert that was brought vnto the house of the Lordes/ when they sawe then that there was much money in the chesse/ & the Kinges/ sayde came up with the hie puestes/ and bounde the money together/ and solde it as much as was founde in the house of the Lordes. And so the ready money was geuen vnto them that wrought/ and were appointed to the house of the Lordes/ they gaue it forth to the carpenters/ and to the that buylded and wroughte in the house of the Lordes/ namely to the vawbers and masons/ and to them that boughte timber and fre stone/ to repaie the decaye in the house of the Lordes/ and all that they founde to haue neede of repoyng in the house.

Howbeit there were no sluer charges/ nor pcces/ base nor trompettes/ nor any other vessel of golde and siluer/ made in the house of the Lordes/ of the money that was brought vnto the Lordes house: but it was geuen vnto & worken to repaie the decaye in the house of the Lordes thertwith. The me also & the money was deuoured vnto/ for to geue the workemen/ neded not to make any accptes: but dyd thore busynes vpon ereditce. But the money of the prestes/ syngers/ and synners/ syngers/ was not brought vnto the house of the Lordes/ for it was the prestes.

At the same tyme went Basael the Kinge of Syria up/ and soughte agaynst Gad/ and wanne it. And when Basael set his face to go up to Jerusalem/ Kinge Joas & robe all the waye was sanctified/ whiche his father Josaphat had beioved/ & what he hymselfe had sanctified/ and all the golde thert was founde in the treasury of the house of the Lordes/ and in the Kinges house/ and sent it vnto Basael the Kinge of Syria. And so he departed from Ierusalem.

What more there is to saye of Joas and all that he dyd/ is written in the Cronicles of the Kinges of Iuda. And the Ieruzalmites made insurrection/ and conspyed/ and slouge hym in the house of Mello/ at the goinge downe vnto Gilla. For Josabar the sonne of Esmarthy Sum:ary/and Josabab the sonne of Somer/ his seruantes finere hym to deary:and he was buried with his fathers in the cyme of Dauid. And Amasias his sonne was kyng in his steade.

The XIII. Chapter.

In the thre and twentyeth yere of Joas the sonne of Ochoas kyng of Juda/ was Joabab the sonne of Zebub kyng ouer Israel at Samaria / seuentene yere: and byd that which was euell in the sight of the Lorde/ and was ked after the synnes of Zeroboam the sone of Eliab: which caused Israel to synne/ and left nor of from them. And the wrath of the Lorde wasyd whow upon Israel/ and he deliuered them ouer vnder the hande of Hasael kyng of Syri: / and vnder the hande of Benadab the sonne of Hasael/ as iouge as they liued.

And Joabab besoughte the face of the Lorde. And the Lorde herde hym/ for he considered the mysfere of Israel/ how he kyng of Siria oppressed them. And the Lorde gaue Israel a sauour/ which broughte them out of the power of the Sirians / so that the chyldeyn of Israel dwelt in theyr tentes / lyke as a foxe yme.

B Yet lest they not of from the synnes of the house of Zeroboam / which caused Israel to synne: but walked in them. The groue at Samaria stode still also. For of the people of Joabab there were no mo left but fiftie boymen/ ten whettes / and ten thousande forement / for the kyng of Siria had destroyed them/ and made them as the dust in the barne.

What more there is to saye of Joabab / and all that he dyd / and his power / behold it is written in the Cronicles of the kynges of Israel. And Joabab fell on slepe with his fathers/ and was buried in Samaria: and Joas his sonne was kyng in his steade.

C In the thre and thirtieyth yere of Joas kyng of Juda / was Joas the sonne of Joabab: kyng ouer Israel at Samaria seixene yere. And he byd that which was euell in the sight of the Lorde/ and departed not from all the synnes of Zeroboam the sonne of Eliab: which he made Israel: for he synned but walked in them. What more there is to saye of Joas/ and what he dyd/ and his power / how he fought with Amasias kyng of Juda / he holde it is written in the Cronicles of the kynges of Israel. And Joas fel on slepe with his fathers/ and Zeroboab sat upon his steade. And Joas was buried at Samaria with the kynges of Israel.

As for Elisus/ he sel in to a sycten: so wher he dyed. And Joas kyng of Israel. me doune vnto him/ and wepte for him/ and said: My father/ my father/ the wherret in I of Iste. And his boymen Elisus layd vnto him. Take the bowe and arrows. And when he had taken the bowe and the arrowe/ he laid vnto the kyng of Israel: Bende the bowe with thine hande. And he bent it with his hande. And Elisus layd his hande vnto the kynges hande/ and said: Open the wyndow that ward the East. And he opened it. And Elisus said: Shute. And he shot. He sayd: One arrowe of saluation of the Lorde/ one arrowe of saluation against the Sirians: a thou shalt synre the Sirians at Aphek/ till they be broughte to nought.

And he sayd: Take the arrows. And when he had taken the bowe/ he sayd vnto the kyng of Israel: Smyte the earth. And he smote the earth a stode still. Then was there man of God weoth at him/ a sard: I theow haddest synned syue or sixe men/ thou shouldst haue smytte the Sirians/ yf thou haddest broughte the vnterly to nought. But now shalt thou synne them the tymes.

Whi Elisus was dead a buried/ the men of Iwarre of the Ithabites sel in to the lande of sard yere. And it founde that they buried a certayne man. But whi they sawe the men of Iwarre/ they cast the man in to Elisus graue. And whi he was therein / a touchd Elisus and he was reuived/ and stode vpon his feete.

So Hasael the kyng of Siria oppressed Israel/ as Hasael had sayd. But the Lorde was gracious vnto them/ and had mercy vpon them / and turned them to them for his chyn/ vnto sard with Abasam/ Hicee/ and Jacob/ and wolde not bestrore them / till theyr dyd he call them out from his sycten vnto this houre.

And Hasael the kyng of Siria dyed / and Benadab his sonne was kyng in his steade. But Joas turned backe / and rose out of the yug hande hande of Benabad the sonne of Basael the cyres / which he had taken in battayl our of the hande of his father Joabab: This kynge dyd Joas synge hym / and brought the cyres of Israel agayne.

The XIII. Chapter.

IN the seconde year of Joas the sonne of Joabab kynge of Israel / was Amasias the sonne of Joas kynge of Juda made kynge:

¶ He was made kynge / and reigned nyne and twentye years at Jerusalem. His mothers name was Zoadan of Jerusalem. And he dyd that which was righte in the sight of the Lordde: yet not as his father Dauid / but euen as his father Joas dyd / so did he also: for the hie places were not put downe: but the people offered and burnt incense yet vpon the hie places. Now when he had gotten the power of the kynge doine / he smote his seruantes / which had smote the kynge his father: but the wyddien of the dead slayres flew he not: according to that which is written in the booke of Ieremie / where the Lordd hath commaunded and saide:

¶ The fathers shall not dye for the chyldre / and the chyldren shal not dye for the fathers: but e-uery one shall dye for his owne synne.

¶ Ten thousande of the Edomites smote he also in the salt valley / and wanne Sela in bat-taylor / and called it Zachell vnto this daye.

¶ Then sente Amasias messengers vnto Joas the sonne of Joabab the sonne of Iebu kynge of Israel / sayinge: Come hither / let vs be one another. But Joas the kynge of Israel sente vnto Amasias the kynge of Juda / sayinge:

¶ The bayrdmen that are in Libanus / sente to the cedar tree in Libanus / sayinge: Grow thy daughter vnto my syne to wyfe. But a wilde beaust of the felde in Libanus ranne ouer the bayrdmen / a treddit downe. Thou hast smitten the Edomites / and therefore is thyne herre waken proud. Take the prayse / and byde at home. Why stryest thou for myffortune / that thou mayest fall / and Juda with thee? Howebeit / Amasias consented not.

¶ Then wente Joas the kynge of Israel vpon and they sawe one another / he and Amasias the kynge of Juda at Beth Senua which lyeth in Juda. But Juda was synner before Israel: / so that euery one fled in to his tent.

And Joas the kynge of Israel reke Amasias the kynge of Juda / the sonne of Joas / the sonne of Chosias at Beth Senua / and came to Jerusalem / and brake doune the wall of Jerusalem / from the poote of Ephraim vnto the coo-ner poote / euen foure hundred cubytes long / and toke al the golde / and siluer / and mannares that were soude in the heuf of the Lordd / and in the tresasures of the kynges heuf / and the chyldre also to pledge / a departed agayne to Samaria.

What more there is to saye of Joas / what he dyd / and of his power / and how he fought with Amasias the kynge of Juda / beholde it is written in the Cronicles of the kynge of Israel. And Joas fell on slepe with his fathers / and was buried at Samaria amonge the kynges of Israel. And Zerobab his sonne was kynge in his steade.

But Amasias the sonne of Joas kynge of Juda / lyued after the death of Joas the sonne of Joabab kynge of Israel / sixtyn years.
 What more there is to saye of Amasias / is written in the Cronicles of the kynges of Juda. And they conspyred agaynst him at Jerusalem / but he fled vnto Lechis. And they sent after him vnto Lechis / and slew him there / and they broughte him vpon hosco / a he was buried at Jerusalem with his fathers in the cyster of Dauid. And all the people of Juda toke Amazias in his sixtenth year / and made him kynge in stead of Amasias his father. He buyded it Eloy / and broughte it agayne vnto Juda / after that the kynge was fallen in slepe with his fathers.

In the sixtenth year of Amasias the sonne of Joas kynge of Juda / was Zerobab the sonne of Joas kynge ouer Israel at Samaria one and fortye years. And he dyd that which was euill in the sight of the Lordd / and departed not from all the synnes of Ze-roboam the sonne of Nebat / which caused Israel to synne.

But the borders of Israel broughte hee agayne from Samaria vnto the see that lyeth in the plaine felde / accordinge to the wordes of the Lordde God of Israel / which he saide by his seruant / Ionas the sonne of Amithar the prophete / which was * of Gath Ephraim.
 For the Lordd conspyred / a miserable affliction of Ier

of Israel/domef euen they which were shut up and desolate/were awaie/a that there was no helper in Israel. And the Lord said not that he woulde destroye the name of Israel fro under heauen. And he helped them by Iero-boam the sonne of Iose.

What more there is to saye of Ieroboam/and all that he dyd / and of his power / how he fought / and how he broughte Samoson and Heinarah awaye vnto Iudain Israel/Beholde / it is written in the Cronicles of the Kynges of Israel. And Ieroboam fell on slepe with his father / with the kynges of Israel. And Zacharie his sonne was kyng in his steade.

The XV. Chapter.

In the seuen and twentith yeare of Ieroboam kynges of Israel raygned Asarias the sonne of Amasias kyng of Iuda: and was sixtente yeare olde when he was made kyng: and raygned two and fyftee yeare at Ierusalem. His mothers name was Zecharia of Ierusalem. And he dyd righte in the syghte of the Lord: accordinge to all as dyd Amasias his father / sauinge that they put not downe the hie places. For the people dyd satisfied and bent in ceare yet vpon the hie places. I Horrib / the Lord smote the kynges so that he was leper vnto his death: a vnto a fre house. But Iorham the kynges sonne ruled the house / and iudged the people in the lande.

What more there is to saye of Asarias/and all that he dyd / beholde / it is written in the Cronicles of the kynges of Iuda. And Asarias fel on slepe with his father / a was buried with his father in the cytie of Da-uid / and Iorham his sonne was kyng in his steade.

In the eight and thirtith yeare of Asaria as kyng of Iuda / was Zacharias the sonne of Ieroboam kyng ouer Israel at Samaria six monethes. And he dyd that which was cut in the syghte of the Lord: euen as his father dyd. He departed not from the syn-nes of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat / which caused Israel for to synne. And Sellum the sonne of Zabeb conspired against hym / and smote him in the presens of the people / and bore hym / and was kyng in his steade.

What more there is to saye of Zacharias / be-holde / it is written in the Cronicles of the kinges of Israel. And this is it that the Lord saide vnto Iehou: Thy children shall rise vpon the state of Israel vntil the fourth generaon: And euen so came it to passe.

Sellum the sonne of Zabeb raygned in the nyne and thirtith yeare of Asarias. Some kynges of Iuda / and raygned one moneth at reab vsia-
Samaria. For Manabem the sonne of Gadi wente vp from Ebriza / and came to Samaria / and smote Sellum the sonne of Zabeb at Samaria / and slawe hym / and was kyng in his steade.

What more there is to saye of Sellum / and his sedicion / whiche he stered vp / beholde / it is written in the Cronicles of the kynges of Israel. At the same tyme dyd Manabem synre Ephis / and all that were therein / and the castles therof from Ebriza / because they wold not let him in / and smote all theyr womē with child / and tyepe them vp.

In the nyne and thirtith yeare of Asaria as the kyng of Iuda / beganne Manabem the sonne of Gadi to raygne ouer Israel ten yeares at Samaria / and dyd that which was cut in the syghte of the Lord. As longe as he liued / departed he not from the synnes of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat / which caused Israel for to synne. And Phul the kyng of Assiria came into the lande. And Manabem gawe vnto Phul a thousande talentes of siluer to holde with hym / and to confirme him in the kyngdome. And Manabem rested vp a taxe in Israel vpon the ryffel / hysre lycles of syluer vpon every man / to geue vnto the kyng of Assiria. So the kyng of Assiria wente home agayne / and taried not in the lande.

What more there is to saye of Manabem and all that he dyd / beholde / it is written in the Cronicles of the kynges of Israel.
And Manabem fell on slepe with his father. And Peccabab his sonne was kyng in his steade.

In the fyftyeth yeare of Asarias kyng of Iuda / beganne Peccabab the sonne of Manabem to raygne ouer Israel at Samaria: vnto yeare / and dyd that which was cut in the syghte of the Lord: for he departed not frome J o r the

the ſynne of Jeroboam the ſonne of Nebat which cauſed Iſrael ſo to ſynne. And Decah the ſonne of Romelia his ſyſter conſpyred againſt him/and ſmote hym at Samaria in the palace of the kynges houſe with Argo and Arub/and ſyſte men with him/of the children of Gilcaib a ſlew hym/and was kyng in his ſteade. What more there is to ſaye of Decah/and all that he dyd/ſcholdbe/it is written in the Cronicles of the kynges of Iſrael.

In the two and fiftyeth year of Aſaria kyng of Iuda/Beganne Decah the ſonne Romelia to raygne ouer Iſrael at Samaria/ twentye yeare/and dyd that which was euill in the ſyghte of the Loꝛde: ſo he departed not from the ſynne of Jeroboam the ſonne of Nebat / whiche cauſed Iſrael ſo to ſynne.

In the tyme of Decah the kyng of Iſrael came Teglapſaſſer the kyng of Aſſiria and toke Iſon/Abel Beth Maacha/ Zanoah/Beber/ſafos/Gilcaib/Galile/and all the lande of Nephtali/and caryed them a waye into Aſſiria.

And Oſia the ſonne of Ela conſpired againſt Decah the ſonne of Romelia/and ſlew him/and was kyng in his ſtead in the twentieth yeare of Jorham the ſonne of Aſa. What more there is to ſaye of Decah/all that he dyd/ſcholdbe/it is written in the Cronicles of the kynges of Iſrael.

In the ſecondyeare of Decah the ſonne of Romelia kyng of Iſrael/was Jorham ſonne of Oſias kyng of Iuda/and was kyng and twentye yeare olde when he was made kyng/and raygned ſyſtente yeare at Jeruſale/ his mothers name was Zorſa the daughter of Sadoe. And he dyd that which was ryght in the ſyghte of the Loꝛde/ accordinge vnto all as dyd Oſias his father/ ſauynge that he put not vnto the hye places: for the people of Iſrael had ſent incenſe yet vpon the hye places. He buryed the hye parte of the houſe of the Loꝛde. What more there is to ſaye of Jorham/and all that he dyd / ſcholdbe/it is written in the Cronicles of the kynges of Iuda.

In the ſame tyme beganne the Loꝛde to ſmote Rezin the kyng of Siria/and Deca-the ſonne of Romelia into Iuda. And Jorham ſellon ſlepe with his fathers/and was buryed with his fathers in the cite of Dauid his father. And Aſaas hys ſonne was kyng in his ſteade.

The XLVI Chapter.

In the ſeventh yeare of Decah the ſonne of Jorham of Iuda was Aſaas the ſonne of Jorham / kyng of Iuda. Twenty yeare olde was Aſaas when he was made kyng / and raygned ſyſtente yeare at Jeruſalem/and dyd not that which was ryght in the ſyghte of the Loꝛde his God/as dyd Dauid his father: ſo he walked in the waye of the kynges of Iſrael. Yet/and cauſed he ſonne to go thowre Deud/ the ſyde/after the maner of the abominacion of the ſyde/one of the Beerdyn/whome the Loꝛde ſhoue awaye before the children of Iſrael. And he dyd ſeruice and burntincenſe vpon the hye places/and vpon all hylles/and vnto all grentrees. Then went Rezin the kyng of Siria/and Decah hys ſonne of Romelia kyng of Iſrael vnto Jeruſalem to fighte againſt it/and layed ſege to Aſaas: but they coude not wyne it. At the ſame tyme dyd Rezin the kyng of Siria/ſynge/ Iſrael againe vnto Siria/and muſt the Iewes out of Iſrael. But the Syrians came and ſtreit therein vnto this daye.

Wenertleſſe/ Aſaas ſent meſſengers vnto Teglapſaſſer the kyng of Aſſiria ſynging: I am thy ſeruant a thy ſonne in ceuſe vnto helpe the out of the bande of the kyng of Siria/and of the kyng of Iſrael/which are ſen vnto againſt me. And Aſaas toke the ſyluer and golde that was founde in the houſe of the Loꝛde/and in the treaſure of the kynges houſe/and ſent a preſent to the kyng of Aſſiria. And the kyng of Aſſiria conſented vnto him/and wrote vnto Damafcon/and wrote it/and caryed them awaye vnto Cir/ and ſlew Rezin. And kyng Aſaas went to Damafcon ſo: to meete Teglapſaſſer the kyng of Aſſiria. And when he ſaw an auſtere that was at Damafcon/ſyng Aſaas ſent a part/and a ſimilitude of the ſame auſtere vnto the puſt Vraſ/uen as it was made. And Vraſ the puſt ſhielded an auſtere/and made it acco:dinge as kyng Aſaas had ſent vnto him from Damafcon/ſyl Aſaas ſyng came from Damasco.

And when the kyng came from Damasco an sawe the altare/ he offered theron/ and fynded his burntofferinge and meatofferinge upon it/ and poured his drinkofferinge thereon/ and caused the floude of the thackofferinge which hee should be spencled upon the altare. But the diasen altare that stode before the Lord/ put he away / so that it stode not betweene the altare and the house of the Lord/ but set it in the center on the Northside of the altare.

And when the kyng commaunded Urias the priest/ and said: Upon that great altare shalt thou fynde the burntofferinge in the morning/ and the meatofferinge in the eveninge / and the kynges burntofferinge at his meatofferinge / and the burntofferinge of al the people in the land/ with they: meatofferinge and drinkofferinge. And all the floude of the burntofferinge / and all the floude of the other offeringes shalt thou spencle thereon: but with the diasen altare will I deuyse what I can. Vnas the priest had all accedinge as Ahas the kyng commaunded hym.

And kyng Ahas shafe deyne the sydes of the steates / and put awaye the kertell from aboute/ and toke the lauer from the diasen bullocks that were there under / and set it upon the pavement of stone. And the pulper for the Sabbath / whiche they had buyded in the house/ and the entree of the kynges house turned he unto the house of the Lord/ for the kyng of Assiras sake.

What more there is to saye of Ahas/ what he had doone/ is so wyrtten in the Cronicles of the kynges of Iuda. And when he fel on slepe with his fathers/ a was buryed with his fathers in the cite of Damid. And Iechias his sonne was kyng in his steade.

The XVIIII. chapter.

In the thirtieth yere of Ahas / the kyng of Iuda/ beganne Oseas the sonne of Ela to sayne ouer Israel at Samaria nyne yeres / and said that which was euil in the sight of the Lord/ but not as the kynges of Israel / were before him. I traunscrite hym by Salmanaeser the kyng of Assiria come vpon. And Oseas was subiect vnto hym/ and gaue him tributes. Entred the kyng of Assiria into ceade that Oseas had confyred/ a sent mes- saungers to Sua the kyng of Egypt/ a posed not tribute yearly to the kyng of the Assyries/ he besieged him and put him in prison. And the kyng of Assiria went vpon into all the lande/ and to Samaria/ and layed seige vnto it the yere. And in the nyenth yere of Oseas the kyng of Assiria wyne Samaria/ and carryed Irael awaye into Assira/ and set the at Halach and at Gabai by the water Cosan / and in the cite of the Medes.

For when the children of Israel synned against the Lord they: God / that broughte them out of the lande of Egypte / from the hande of Pharaos kyng of Egypte / and refused other goddes/ and walked after the counseil of the Egyptians/ whome the Lord had shewen out before the children of Israel / as the kynges of Israel / and poked the Lord they: God / and hid secretly the thinges that were nor right in the sight of the Lord they: God / namely in that they: buyded them bye places in all cyties/ both in castles and stronge cyties / and set vp pylars and grooves vpon all bye hylls / and amongst all grene trees/ and bent incense there in all the bye places/ turne as they: the Egyptians/ whome the Lord had cast out before the / a wroughte wicked thinges/ wherewith they moued the Lord vnto wrath / and serued the Idols wherof the Lord sayd vnto them: Ye shall not do such thinges.

And when the Lord refused in Israel and Iuda bye all the prophetes and Seers / sayinge: Turne agayne from youre euill wayes/ and kepe my commaundmenten and edincuntes/ accordinge to al the lawe which I gaue vnto your fathers / and that I sent vnto you by my seruantes the prophetes: they wolde not hearken / but hardened their neckes/ accordinge to the hardnesse of they: fathers/ which beloued not on the Lord they: God. Yet they despised his commaundmenten and his conuynants/ which he made with they: fathers/ and his testymones which he witnessid among them/ a walked in they: open vanytes/ and became wayne followinge the Egyptians / wherewith they: were rounde aboute / whome the Lord had commaunded them: that that they should not do as they did. Neuer thelself they forsake all the commaundementes of  $\text{L}^{\text{ord}}$  their God/and made them two molten calves and grones / and worshipped at the host of Baian/and serued Baal/and trauced they: Ionnes and Daughters to go thowt the fire/and medled with forshapers and witch: and gaue them selues ouer to do that which was euil in the syght of  $\text{L}^{\text{ord}}$  to please him vnto wrath.

D Then was the  $\text{L}^{\text{orde}}$  very wroth at Israh/and put them awaye from his presence/ so that there remainyd no mo/ but onely the trib of Juda. Neyther byd Juda kepe the commaundementes of the  $\text{L}^{\text{orde}}$  they: God/ but walked after  $\text{C}$  costumes of Israh/ which they byd. Therfore byd the  $\text{L}^{\text{orde}}$  cast away all the side of Israh/ a troubled them/ and deliuered them into the handes of the spoylers/ tyl he had cast them out of his presence: for Israh was deuoted from the house of Dauid. And they made them a kynge/ one Jeroboam the sone of Nebat/ which turned Israh backe from the  $\text{L}^{\text{orde}}$  / and caused them to synne so foie. Thus walked the children of Israh in all the synnes of Jeroboam / which he had done: they departed not from them/ vntyl the  $\text{L}^{\text{orde}}$  put Israh out of his presence/ according as he had spoken by all his seruantes the prophetes.  $\text{I}$  So Israh was carryed as waage out of their owne lande to Assina vnto this daye.

J The kynge of Assiria caused men to come from Babilon/ from Eutha/ from Tusa/ from Hemath/ and Sepharuaim/ and caused them to inhabit the cyrces in Samaria/ in steade of the chyldren of Israh. And they toke possession of Samaria/ and dwelte in the same cyrces. But when they beganne to dwell there/ and feared not the  $\text{L}^{\text{orde}}$  / the  $\text{L}^{\text{ord}}$  sente Lyons amonge the/ which slew the. And they caused it to be sayd vnto the kynge of Assiria: The Reythen whome thou hast broughte hether/ and caused them to inhabit the cyrces of Samaria/ knowe not the lawe of the God of the lande: Therfore harp he sente Lyons amonge them/ and behold/ they slaye them/ because they knowe not the ordinance of the God of the lande.

f The kynge of Assiria commaunded and sayde: Wrynge herber one of the priestes that were carryed awaye from thence/ and let him go thither and dwell there/ and teach them the obduynance of the God of the lande. The came one of the priestes / which were carryed awaye from Samaria/ and dwelte at Berthe/ and taughte them how they should feare the  $\text{L}^{\text{orde}}$ . But euery people made their goddes/ and put them in the houses vpon the hye places / which the Samaritanes had made/ euery people in their cities wherein they dwelt. They of Babilon made Sodoroth/ Vozob. They of Eubai made Uergel. They of Hemath made Niuna. They of Tusa made Nubhas and Charbat. They of Sepharuaim burnt they: Ionnes vnto Adramelech and Tnamelech the goddes of them of Sepharuaim.

And whyle they feared the  $\text{L}^{\text{ord}}$  / they made priestes in the hye places of the lowell amonge them/ and put them in the house of the hye places: Thus they feared  $\text{L}^{\text{ord}}$  / a serued the goddes also/ according to the custome of euery naci/ from whence they were broughte. And vnto this daye do they after the olde fashion/ so that they neyther feare the  $\text{L}^{\text{orde}}$  / nor yet kepe theyr owne obduynance: that the  $\text{L}^{\text{orde}}$  commaunded  $\text{I}$  chyldren of Jacob/ vnto whome he gaue his name the of Israh/ and made a conuynant with the/ and commaunded the/ and said: I feare none other goddes/ a worshippinge them nor/ a seruethem not / and offer not vnto them: But the  $\text{L}^{\text{orde}}$  which broughte you out of the lande of Egypte / with great power and outstretchyd arme/ Lym feare him/ worshippinge a vnto him do sacrifice: and the statutes/ ordinauices / lawe and commaundement / which he hath caused to be wyrtten vnto you / thok: so that ye kepe: that ye alwaye do therafter / and feare none other goddes. And soiger not the conuynant which he hath made with you/ lest ye feare other goddes. But feare  $\text{L}^{\text{ord}}$  your God / he shal be lieuer you from all your enemyes. Neuer thelselfe/ they walde not herber/ but dyd after theyr olde custome.

Thus the Reythen feared the  $\text{L}^{\text{orde}}$  and serued th: Idols also/ and so byd theyr chyldren and chyldres chyldren lyk wyse.

The. XVIII. Chapter.

AND the thirde yeare of Oseas the sonne of Ela the kyng of Israel/raigned Iechias the sonne of Iudas kyng of Iuda. And he was sene and twenty yeare olde when he was made kyng/a raigned nyne and twenty yeare at Jerusalem. His mothers name was Abi a daughter of Zadabur. And he sayd that which was right in the syght of the Lord according vnto al as he had said his father. He put awaye the hye places/a thake downe the pylers/and rored out the grones/a thake the diasein serpents/ which Moyses had made. For vnto that tyme had the children of Israel burnt incense vnto it. And it was called Elehisiban. He put his trust in the Lord God of Israel/so that after him there was not his like amonge all the kynges of Iuda/ neyther had ben before him. He cleued vnto the Lord/and departed not backe from him /and kepte his commandementes/which the Lord had comanded Moyses. And the Lord was with him. And wherher so ever he went forth/ he behaued hymselfe wysly. He ressted the kynges of Assyria/and was not subdued vnto hem. He sware to Philistines also vnto Gath/and their borders from the casules vnto the stronge citie.

In the fourth yeare of Iechias kyng of Iuda/that was the seventh yeare of Oseas the sonne of Ela kyng of Israel/ came Salmansar the kyng of Assyria agaynst Samaria/and layed siege vnto it/and wanne it after thre yeares in the firste yeare of Iechias/that is in the nynteyth yeare of Oseas kyng of Israel/then was Samaria wonne/and the kynges of Assyria caryed Israel awaye vnto Assyria/and sent them at Halah and Habor by the water of Mesan/and in the citie of the Medes. And all/ because they herened not vnto the voyce of the Lord their God/and had transgressed his comendement. And as for al the Moyses the seruants of the Lord had comanded they had ben neyther herened vnto any of thei/ nor vnto them.

In the fourth yeare of kyng Iechias/ was the thirde kyng of Assyria come agaynst all the stronge citie of Iuda/and conquered them. Then sente Iechias the kyng of Iuda to the kyng of Assyria vnto Lachis/sayinge: I haue offended/turne backe fro me/loke what thou laydest vnto me/I will beare it. Then the kyng of Assyria layed vnto Iechias the kyng of Iuda/the hundredth talente of syluer/and thre myntes of golde. So Iechias gaue all the syluer that was founde in the house of the Lord/and in the treasures of the kynges house. He sent some thake Iechias the kyng of Iuda/the dorres of the temple of the Lord/and the places of golde/which he hymselfe had caused to laye vnto them/and gaue them vnto the kyng of Assyria.

And the kyng of Assyria sent Cherran a chiefe butler fro Lachis to kyng Iechias with a grete power vnto Jerusalem. And they wente vnto/ and when they came there/they stode still at the conuoye by the ouerwoyle/which ledyth in the waye vpon the fillers lande/and called vnto the kyng. Then came there forth vnto them Eliachim the sonne of Iechias the steward/and Sobna a scribe/a Iosab the sonne of Iosaph the secretaire.

And the chiefe butler said vnto them: Tell the kyng Iechias: Thus sayeth the great kyng/ curen the kyng of Assyria: What picturest thou is this that thou trustest vnto? Thyselfe thou/that thou haste yet counsaill and power to syghte: Wher vnto trustest thou then/ that thou art fallen of fro me? Beholde/ I purrest thou thy trust in this threken staffe of cedar/ which who so leanech vpon/it shall go into his hande/and peerece it thow. This is Cheraas the kyng of Egypte vnto al the thate put theyr trust in him. But sye wolde haue vnto me: We put our trust in the Lord our God. Is not that he/ whose hie places a altars Iechias hath take downe/ a layde vnto Iuda and Jerusalem: Before this and nowe which is at Jerusalem/that se wastowp?

Make a multitude therefore vnto my lord the kyng of Assyria/and I wyl geue the two thousande houses/that thou be able to man them: here wyl thou then endure before the smallest pynce of my lordes subiectes: And trustest thou vnto Egypte/ because of the charettes and hoysmen: But thynke/ that I came

I came vp hyther without the Lozde to deſtroy theſe cyties: The Lozde hath commaunded me: Go vp into that lande and deſtroye it.

- E Then ſaide Eliachim the ſonne of Belſhia/ and Sobna the ſcribe vnto the chiefe Butler: Speake to thy ſeruauntes in the Syrians language/for we vnderſtande it/ and ſpeake not vnto vs in the Jewes ſpeche before the eares of the people that are vpon the wall. Neuertheleſſe the chiefe Butler ſayd vnto the: Hath my lozde then ſent me vnto thy lozde/ or to the/to ſpake theſe wordes: For euen vnto the men/ which ſyt vpon the wall that they may eate theyr owne donge/ and drinke their owne ſtule with you. So the chiefe Butler ſtoode and cryed with ſoude voyce/ in the Jewe language/ and ſaid: Heare the word of the great Kyng/ the kyng of Affria: Thus ſayeth the kyng: Let not Eſchias deceaue you / for he is not able to deliuer you from my hande/ and let not Eſchias make you to truſt in the Lozde/ ſayinge: The Lozde ſhal deliuer vs/ and this cytye ſhal not be geuen in to the handes of the kyng of Affria. Followe not ye Eſchias/ for thus ſayeth the kyng of Affria.

- J So me theſe bleſſynge/ and come forth vnto me/ ſo ſhall eery man eate of his vyne/ and of his figge tree/ and drinke of his welle/ tyll I come my ſelfe and ſetch you into a lande/ which is lyke your owne lande/ wherein is oyle/ wyne/ ſcabde / wyneyardee / orle trees/ orle/ and hony/ ſo ſhal ye lyue/ and not dye. Followe not ye Eſchias/ for he deceaueth you when he ſayeth: The Lozde ſhal deliuer vs. Hauē the goddes of the Heryten deliuered eury one his lande from the hande of the kyng of Affria: Where are the goddes of Heman and Arphad? Where are the goddes of Sepharim/ Hena and Iua? Hauē they deliuered Samaria from my hande? Where is there one god among the goddes of all landes/ which hath deliuered his lande from my hande/ that the Lozde ſhoulde deliuer Ieruſalem from my hande.

As for the people they held theyr praye/ as gauē bym no anſwere: for the kyng had commaunded and ſayd: Anſwere him nothing. Then came Eliachim the ſonne of Belſhia the ſtewarde/ and Sobna the ſcribe/ and Joab the ſonne of Aſſaph the ſcretary vnto Eſchias with rente clothes/ and tolde hym the wordes of the Butler.

The XIX. Chapter.

E Then Eſchias the kyng herde the/ and rente his clothes/ as pur on a ſack cloth/ and wente into the houſe of the Lozde/ and ſent Eliachim the ſtewarde. And Sobna the ſcribe with the eldeſt puellē/ cloſed in ſackloth/ vnto the prophete Eſay the ſonne of Amos/ and they ſayde vnto hym: Thus ſayeth Eſchias: This is a daye of trouble/ and of deſpaunce and blaſphemy. The children are come to the city/ and there is no ſtrength to be deliuered of them. Iſhaply the Lozde thy God will heare the wordes of the chiefe Butler/ whom his lozde the kyng of Affria hath ſent to blaſpheme the great kyng: God ſhal deſpye hym with ſuche wordes as the Lozde thy God hath herde/ therefore liſt thou vp thy praye for the remanant/ which are yet left behinde.

And when kyng Eſchias ſeruauntes came to Eſay/ Eſay ſaid vnto them: Speake thus vnto your lozde: Thus ſayeth the Lozde: feare not thou the wordes that thou haſt herde/ wherewith the kyng of Affria ſeruauntes haue blaſphemed me. Behold/ I wil put him in another mynde/ ſo that he ſhall heare tidynge/ and go againe into his owne countrey/ and in his owne lande wil I cauſe him to ſal thowen the ſteward.

And when the chiefe Butler came againe/ he founde the kyng of Affria ſpyghning againſt Lybna: for he had herde that he was departed from Lachis. And he herde of Charach the kyng of the Moabians: Beholde / he is gone forth to fight with the. He turned he backe/ and ſent meſſaungers to Eſchias/ and cauſed to ſaie vnto him: Saie thus vnto Eſchias as the kyng of Iuda: Let not thy God deceaue the/ ſon whom thou truſteſt/ and ſayſt: Ieruſalem ſhal not be geuen into the hande of the kyng of Affria. Beholde / thou wilt herde what the kynges of Affria haue done vnto all landes/ as how they ſlained them / ſo ſhalt thou be deliuered: Hauē the goddes of the Heryten deliuered them / whom my ſeruaunters deſtroyed/ as Goſan/ Haraſ / Keſep/ and

and the children of Eden which were at Chalassar. Where is the kyng of Semath/the kyng of Arabad/and the kyng of the cyne Sopheruaim/Semal/and Juaz

¶ And whan Eschias had receaved the letters of the messengers/and had red the/ he wente up to the house of the Lord/and layed them abroad before the Lorde/and made his prayer before the Lord/and sayd: O Lorde God of Israel/that thou hast sent upon the Cherubynes/that thou only art God amonge all the kyngdomes of the earth/that thou hast made heauen and earth. Enelyne thine eare O Lorde/and heare: open thine eyes/and beholde/and heare the wordes of Sennacherib/ which hath sent byrther to blasphem me the isyngir God. It is true (O Lorde) that the kynges of Assyria haue destroyed the Kithen and their lande with the stewartes/and haue cast their goddes in the fyre: for they were not goddes/ but the worke of mens handes/woode and stone/therefore haue they destroyed the. But now O Lorde helpe thou vs out of his hande/that all the kyngdomes vpon earth maye knowe that thou Lorde art God alone.

¶ Then sent Esay the sonne of Amos vnto Eschias sayinge: Thus sayeth the Lorde God of Israel: Where as thou hast made thy prayer vnto me concerning Sennacherib the kyng of Assyria/I haue herd it. This is it that the Lorde hath spoken against him. He hath bespyed the/and merced the O vngyn thou daughter Zion: he hath shaken his cade/and the O daughter Ierusalem. Whome

2 But haste thou not herde how that I

haue done this longe ago/ and haue prepared it fro the beginninge: Now haue I caused it for to come/that concenous stronge cyne in mygre fall into a wastef herpe of sterne/and they that dwell therein/shalbe sayre and fearefull/and ashamed:/ and shalbe as the grasse vpon the felde/and as the grene herbe/and haue vpon the boustoppe/that wythereth afore it be growen vp. I knowe thy habitation/that thou art ingoyning/ and that thou ragest against me: for so muche the as thou ragest against me/and saying thy presumption is come vp to myne eares/ therefore wil I put a ringe in thy nose/and a thible bit in thy lippes/and wil stinge the again/when the same waye thou comest.

¶ And let this be a token vnto the Eschias. In this yere eate that which is fallen. In the seconde yere suche as groweth of it selfe: In the thide yere sowe a reape/ and plant vineyardes/and eate the frute thereof. And the daughter Iuda which is escaped and remaineth/shall from henceforth take reape/and beare frute aboute. For the remnant shal go forth from Ierusalem/ a they that are escaped/shal go out from mount Zion. The gelousy of the Lord Sabaoth shal bringe this to passe.

¶ Therefore thus sayeth the Lord/when concerninge the kyng of the Assyria: He shal not come into this cyte/and shal shoue no arrow therein/ neither shal theyr come any sworde before it/ neither shall he bygge any banke aboute it/ but shal go agayne the waye that he came/and shal not come into this cyte/ saith the Lord: and I wil defende this cyte/ to helpe it for myne owne sake/ and for my seruauant Dauides sake.

¶ And in the same night went the angel of the Lord/and smote in the host of the Assyrians/and hideth and slew a fourt score thousand men. And whan they gathered vp in the morninge/ behold all the fill of dead carcases. So Sennacherib kyng of Assyria brake vp/ and departed/ and returned/ and abode at Ninue. And as he worshipped in the house of Acherach his god/ his owne sonnes Adramelch and Sarazer smote him with the trearde/ and fled into the land of Terar. And Sarrabden his soune was kyng in his steade.

The

Ezechias/Manasse. The IIII. booke of the Rynge.

The XX. Chapter.

And that tyme was Ezechias dead syete. And the prophet Esai sonne of Amos came to him/and said vnto him: Thus sayeth the Lord: See thyne house in order/for thou shalt dye and not lye. And he turned his face to the wall/and prayed vnto the Lord/and sayde: Remember (O Lord) that I haue walked faithfully before the/and with a perfecte herte /and haue done that which is good in thy sight. And Ezechias wepte sore. But when Esay was not gone out of halfe the cite/ the woide of the Lord came to him and said: Turne backe /and tell Ezechias the punice of my people: Thus sayeth the Lord God of thy father Dauid: I haue herde thy prayer/ I haue considered thy teares. Beholde / I will heale the. On the thyrde daie shalt thou go vp into the house of the Lord/and syfene years will I abde vnto thy lfe/and wil Re-lyuer the and this cyne from the finge of Assria/and this cure will I defende for myne owne sake/and for my seruants Dauids sake. And Esay saide/Bring herber a quantite of fygge. And when they brought them/they layed them upon the foye/and it was heale.

Ezechias saide vnto Esay: Which is the token that the Lord wil heale me /and that I shal go vp into the house of the Lord on the thyrde daie: Esay saide: This token shalt thou haue of the Lord/that the Lord shal go according as he hath saide: Shal the shadowe go ten degrees forward/ or shal it turne ten degrees backe ward: Ezechias saide: It is an easy thinge for the shadowe to go ten degrees forward/ but that it go ten degrees backe ward. Then he cryed the prophet Esay vnto the Lord: In the shadowe wyl I haue ten degrees in Achaz dial/ which he was descended as yet.

At the same tyme Merobach Balab the soune of Balaban fynge of Babylon/ sent letters and presentes vnto Ezechias/ for he had heard that Ezechias had ben syete. And Ezechias reioyced with them/ and shewed them all the house of frounes/ the syluer/ gold/ spyrres/ and the best oyle/ and the house of ordinarie/ and all that was founde in his treasures. There was nothinge in his house/ and in all his Dominion/ but Ezechias shewed it them.

Then came Esay the prophet vnto fynge Ezechias/ and saide vnto him: What haue these men saide/ and whence came they vnto the: Ezechias saide: They came to me out of a farr contrie/ cuses from Babilon/ he saide: What haue they sene in thy house: Ezechias saide: They haue sene all that is in my house/ a there is no thinge in my treasures/ but I haue shewed it them. Then saide Esai vnto Ezechias: Heare the woide of the Lord: Beholde / I will carry away and vtur vnto Dabilon / and wharsoeuer thy fathers haue layed vp vnto this daie/ and there shall no thinge be left/ sayeth the Lord: Yet/ and the children which come of the / whome thou shalt begit/ shall be taken away/ to the chambers laines in the fynge of Babilons palace. Ezechias saide vnto Esay: It is good that I haue heard this spoken. And he saide moreouer: Let there be peace yet/ and faithfullye in my tyme.

What more there is to saye of Ezechias/ a all his power/ and what he byd / and of the pool and water conduite/ wherby he conueied water into the cite/ beholde / it is written in the Cronicles of the fynge of Iuda. And Ezechias fell on slepe with his fathers/ and Manasse his sonne was king in his stede. The XXI. Chapter.

Manasse was twelue yeare olde when he was made kynge: and reigned vnto a xxxij. and ffyfy yeare at Jerusalem. His mothers name was Hezephia. And he did that which was euill in the syght of the Lord: for he did the abominacions of the Chanaanites/ whome the Lord expelled before the children of Israell/ and reaped forward/ and builded by the bye places/ which his father Ezechias had destroyed/ and set vp Baals altars/ and a masse grouce/ as Achab the fynge of Israel had done/ and worshipped all the host of heauen/ and serued them. And builded Taulares in the Lordes house/ wherof the Lord saide: I wyl sit my name as Jerusalem. And in both the courtes of the house of the Lord builded he altars/ vnto all the host of heauen. And Traused his sonne to go thosow the fyce/ and regarded sydes cryinge/ and tofene / and he maynteyned fythfayers/ and exponers of lawes/ as so much byd be of this/ which was uel in the syght of the Lorde that he prouoked hym vnto wraue.

B A grove Iddol also which he had made after he in the house / wherof the Lorde said vnto Dauid and to Salomon his sonne: In this house / and at Jerusalem (which I haue chosen out of all the cities of Israel) wyl I set my name for ever / and wyl not cause the cite of Israel to be remoued any more from the lade which I gaue vnto theyr fathers / yec / so that they obserue / and do accordyng vnto all that I haue charged them / and after all the lawe that my seruauit Mosse commaunded the Ireuerbelesse / they wylde not heke / but Ma-nasse becaued them / so that they byd woike then the Reyghen / whome the Lorde expelled before the chyldren of Israel.

Then spake the Lorde by his seruauentes the prophetes / a sayde: Because that Manasse the kyng of Iuda hath done these abho-minacions / which are worse then all the abho-minacions that the Amoitites haue done / which were before the / and hath caused Iuda also to sinne agaynst theyr God: therefore thus

saith the Lorde God of Israel: I beholde I wyl bringe such a plague vpon Jerusalem and Iuda / that whosoever heareth in both his eares shall grieve / and ouer Jerusalem wyl I stretch forth the lynce of Samaria / and the weight of the house of Iddah / and wyl wepe ouer Jerusalem / euen as one weepeth a plauer / and I wyl ouerthrowe it. And the remanent of myne embreuitie wyl I cast out / a scar-ter the aboads / and wyl deliuer them in to the handes of theyr enemies / to be spoiled a rme of all theyr enemies: because they haue done that which is euell in my syght / a haue D prouoked me vnto wraue / sence 9 daye that I brought theyr fathers out of Egypt / vnto this day. Manasse also shed exceeding much innocent blood / so longe till Jerusalem was fill on euery syde / by the synnes wherewith he caused Iuda to sinne / so that they byd that which was euell in the syght of the Lorde.

What more there is to say of Manasse / and all that he dyd / and his synnes whiche he committid beholde / it is written in the Cronicles of the kynges of Iuda. And Manasse fell one slepe with his fathers / and was buryed in the garden besyde his house / namely / in the garden of Ufa / and Amon his sonne was kyng in his steade.

¶ Two and twenty yere olde was Amon whan he was made kyng / a he raygned two yere at Jerusalem. His mothers name was Mesumlech / the daughter of Barus of Zar-ba / a he byd euell in the syght of the Lorde / as Manasse his father had done / and walked in all the way which his father walked / a serued the Iddols which his father had serued / and worshipped them / and forsoke the Lord the God of his father / and walked not in the waye of the Lorde.

And his seruauentes conspired agaynst Amon / and stee the kyng in his house. But the people of the lande stee all them that had conspired agaynst kyng Am. And the people of the lande made Josias his sonne kyng in his steade. As for other thynges that Amon dyd / beholde / they are written in the Cronicles of the kynges of Iuda. And he was buryed in his graue in Ufas garden. And Jo-sias his sonne was kyng in his steade.

The. XXII. Chapter.

¶ Ufas was eght yere olde whan he was made kyng / and raygned one and thirty yere at Jerusalem. His mothers name was Iebida the daughter of Iudai of Bas-sard / and byd that which was ryght in the syght of the Lord / and walked in all the way of Dauid his father / a turned not asyde / neither to the ryghte hande / nor to the lefte.

¶ And in the eghthent yere of kyng Josias / the kyng sent Saphan the sonne of Asia / the sonne of Mesulam the scribe / in to the house of the Lord / and sayde: Go vp to He-dalec / a bryng me the money that is brought vnto the house of the Lord / which the resholde Iepers haue gathered of the people / maye be deliuered vnto them / that they maye geue it to the woifemen whiche are appoy-ned in the house of the Lorde / and to geue it vnto the labourers in the house / that they maye repayre the decaye in the house / namely / vnto the carpenters / and buylders / and masons / a to the that be rynder and hiee stone for the repayryng of the house: but so that there be no accomptes taken of the / concerning the money that is vnder theyr hande / but that they deale withall vpon credence.

B And Helchias the hie priest sayd vnto Saphan the scribe: † I haue founde the booke of the lawe in the house of the Loide. And Helchias gaue the booke vnto Saphan / that he mighte rede it. And Saphan the scribe bare it vnto the kyng / and brought hym wordes agayne / and saide: Thy seruantes haue gathered together the money that was founde in the house: / a haue deliuered it vnto the workemen / which are appointed in the house of the Loide. And Saphan the scribe tolde the kyng / and sayde: Helchias the hie priest hath deliuered me a booke / and Saphan red it before the kyng.

3. re. 11. a But when the kyng herde the wordes of the booke of the lawe / he rent his clothes. And the kyng commaunded Helchias the priest / and Ahiam the sonne of Saphan / and Iddo the sonne of Mechiaia / and Saphan the scribe / a Asia the kynges seruante / a sayde: Whose waye and councaylles the Loide foer me / for the people / and for all Iuda / concerninge the wordes of this booke shal be founde: for greake is the wrath of the Loide / that is kynded ouer vs / because oure fathers haue not hearkened vnto the wordes of this booke / to do all that is written vnto vs therein.

Then wente Helchias the hie priest / a Thicani / a Ido / a Saphan / and Asia / vnto Sulda / the prophet / a the wike of Sellu / the sonne of Theua / the sonne of Barrem the keeper of the clothes / and she dwelt at Jerusalem in the second petye / a they spake vnto her. And she sayd vnto them: Thus sayth the Loide God of Israel: Tell the man that sent you vnto me. Thus sayth the Loide: Beholde / I wyl bringe euill vpon this place / and the inhabiters thereof / euen all the wordes of the lawe which the kyng hath caused to be red / because they haue forsaken me / and dient in euill vnto other goddes / to proude me vnto wrath with all the ryghtes of Moone / and the twelfe renes / and to do the booke of heauen. Therefore is my wrath kynded agaynst the cytye / and shall not be quenched.

D But tell this vnto the kyng of Iuda / which hath sent you to councayll a the Loide: Thus sayth the Loide God of Israel: because thyne herte is not departed from the wordes which thou hast herde / and hast humbled thy selfe before the Loide / to heare what I haue spoken agaynst this place / and the inhabiters thereof / (howe that they shall become a very desolacyon and curse) / and hast rente the clothes / a wept before me / I haue herde it / sayeth the Loide: Therefore wyl I gather the vnto thy fathers / so that thou shalt be put into thy graue in peace / and thine eyes shall not see all the euill that I wyl bringe vpon this place. And they brought the kyng wordes agayne.

The XXIII. Chapter.

S And the kyng sent forth / and all the Elders in Iuda / and Jerusalem referred vnto him / and the kyng wente up in to the house of the Loide / and all the men of Iuda / and all the inhabiters of Jerusalem with hym / the prestes and prophetes / a all the people both small and great / and all the wordes of the booke of the conuenaunt that was founde in the house of the Loide / were red in theyr eares. And the kyng stode vpon a piller / and made a conuenaunt before the Loide / that they shoulde walke after the Loide / and to kepe his commaundementes / with all theyr soules / and with all theyr hertes / and with all theyr soules / that they shoulde set up the wordes of the conuenaunt / which are written in this booke. And all the people entred in to the conuenaunt.

And the kyng commaunded Helchias the hie priest / and the prestes of the secunde course / a the keepers of the tresbalde / that they shoulde put out of the temple all the vestes / which were made for Baal / and for the grouse / and for all the host of heauen / and he burnt them without Jerusalem in the valley of Cedon / and the dust of them was carryd vnto Beithel.

And he put downe the Remurim whome the kynges of Iuda had founde / to burne in euill vnto the hie places in the cytye of Iuda / and aboute Jerusalem. He purte downe also the that burnt in euill vnto Baal / the Sint / a the Moone / and the twelfe renes / and to do the host of heauen. And the groue could be do to be carryed from the house of the Loide / out of Jerusalem in to the valley of Cedon / and dient in to the valley of Cedon / and ment to Buss / and cast the dust vpon the graues of the cummyne people. And he brake downe the whorles / petis houses / a hidis were by the beuse of the Loide / wherin the womē made man sons for the grone.

And he caused al the priestes for to come out of the cyties of Juda / and suspended the hye places / where the priestes burnt incense from Geba and Berscha. And brake doune the hye places in the postes / that were at the wynde of the gate of Josias the sene of the cytye / at the left hande as one goeth to the cytye parte. Yet had not the priestes of the hye places offered upon the aultare of the Lorde / at Jerusalem / but theyd eate unleueded breade amonge they brethren.

¶ He suspended t Topher also in the valleye of the chydren of Eriad / that noiman shoulde cause his sonne o: Daugher to go thowto the fire onto Moloch. And he put doune the hors / which the kynges of Juda had set unto the Sunne / at the ennyng in to the house of the Lorde / besyde the chell of Melch Melch the chamb: sayn / which was at Paruarim / and the charrettes of the Sunne burnt he with fire / and the aultares upon the rofe of Zabababes / which the kynges of Juda had made. And the aultares t which Manasse had made in the two courtes of the house of the Lorde / which the kyng brake doune. And rane from thence / and cast the dust of them in to the broke of Cedon.

And the hye places that were before Jerusalem on the righte hande of mount Malbuz / which Salomon the kyng of Israel had buylded unto Astaroth the abhominacyon of Sidon / and to Carnos the abhominacyon of Moab / and to Ustairim the abhominacyon of the chydren of Ammon / those did the kyng suspende / and brake the pylers / and rored out the grouse / and fylled theye places with mens bones.

¶ And t the aultare at Bethel / and the hye place that Jerobab the sonne of Nebat made / which caused Israel to synne / the same aultare brake he doune / and the hye place / and burnt the hye place / and made it to dust / and burnt up the grone. And Josias turned him aboute / and late the graues that were upon t mount / and caused the bones to be fethed out of the graues / and bere: the upon the aultare / and suspended it / carrying to the wynde of the Lorde / which the man of God eyed out / that wode this before.

And he sayde: What tyell is this / that I fe here: And the men of the cytye sayd unto him: It is to the grave of the ma of God / which came from Juda / and cryed out this that thou hast done aganste the aultare of Bethel. And he sayde: Let him lye / no man touche his bones. This wode his bones delivred with t bones of the prophete that came from Samaria.

¶ He put awaye also all the houses of the hye places in the cyties of Samaria / which the kynges of Israel had made to provoke t Lorde unto wrath / and did with them / according to all as he had done at Bethel. And all the priestes of the hye places that were there / offered he upon the aultare / and t he burnt he / into bones thereon / and came againe to Jerusalem.

¶ And the kyng commanded the people s: p: x: and sayd: Bepe Easter unto the Lorde your god / a God / as it is written in the booke of Moyses / den. xij. i. t For there was no Easter so fept as t den. xij. i. this / since the tyme of the iudges / which is: i. q. xij. i. the kyng of Israel / and in all the tyme of the kynges of Israel / and of the kynges of Juda: burn t Easter fept unto the Lorde at Jerusalem.

And Josias expelled al foythfayres / expounders of rakens / putages and Zolros / and al the abhominacions which were sine in the lide of Juda / and at Jerusalem / that he myghte sette up the wyndes of the lawe / which were wynd in the booke / that Zabababes the puelle founde in the house of Lorde.

There was no kyng before lye unto him / which so comured unto the Lorde with all his herte / with all his soule / and with all his strength / accordinge to all the lawe of Moyses. And after hym came there not up such another. Yet turned not the Lorde from the indignacyon of his greute wrath / wherewith he was displeasid oute Juda / because of al the pencyonayn wherewith Manasse had provoked hym. And the Lorde sayde: t I will i: q. xij. i. put out Juda out of my presence also / such as a I haue put awaye Israel / and this cytye which I haue chosen / will I cast out / mainlye Jerusalem / and the house wherof I sayd: My name shalbe there. What more there is to saye of Josias / and al that he dyd / shalbe / it is written in the Cronicles of the kynges of Juda.

2. pc. xxx. b
 In his tyme went Pharaos Necho the kynge of Egypte vp against the kynge of As-sira by the water Euphrates. But kynge Jo-sias went against hym and dyed at Megido-do/whan he had sene hym. And his seruants caried hym dead from Megiddo / and brought hym to Jerusalem / and buried hym in his graue. And the people of the lorde toke of Pharaos the sonne of Josias / and anoynted hym kynge in his fathers steade.

¶ This and twentie yeare olde was Joahas whan he was made kynge / and raygned thre monethes at Jerusalem. His mothers name was Hamutal / the daughter of Jeremia of Judah. And he dyd that which was euill in the sight of the Lorde / euen as his fathers had done. But Pharaos Necho toke hym pry-soner at Nebatha in the lande of Gemath / that he shoulde not raygne at Jerusalem / and rayed a tase upon the lande / an hundredth talentes of siluer / and one talent of golde. And Pharaos Necho made Eliachim the sonne of Josias king in his fathers steade / and turned his name Joachim. But Joahas toke he / a brought him in to Egypte where he dyed.
 And Joachim gaue the siluer and golde vnto Pharaos / & receaied he the lande that he myght geue the siluer / according to Pharaos commandement. Euery one amonge the people of the lande rayed he after his abylyte in siluer and golde / to geue it vnto Pharaos. Syue and twentie yeare olde was Joachim whan he was made kynge / and raygned eleuen yeres at Jerusalem. His mothers name was Sebidia the daughter of Debaia of Kuma / and he dyd euill in the sight of the Lorde / euen as his fathers had done.

The XXXIII. Chapter.

¶ In this tyme came vp Nabuchodonosor kynge of Babylon / and Joachim was in subiection vnto hym this yeare. And he turned backe / and rebelled against hym. And the Lorde sente men of warre vpon hym out of Chaldea / out of Siria / out of Moab / and fro amonge the chyldren of Ammon / and caused the for to come in to Iuda / to destroye it according to the worde of the Lord / which he spake by his seruantes the prophetes. It fortuned euen so vnto Iuda / according to the worde of the Lorde / that he wolde purthe awaye fro his presence / because of the synnes of Manasso which he dyd / and because of the innocent bloude that he shed. And he filled Jerusalem with innocent bloude / therfore wolde not the Lorde be reconcyled.

¶ What more there is to saye of Joachim / and all that he dyd / beholden in wyte in the cronicles of the kynge of Iuda. And Joachim fel on slepe with his fathers. And Joachim his sonne was kynge in his stead. And the kynge of Egypte came nomore out of his lide: for the kynge of Babylon had conquered all that was the kynge of Egypte / from the ryuer of Egypte vnto the water Euphrates.
 Eghtere yeare olde was Joachim whan he was made kynge / & raygned thre monethes at Jerusalem. His mothers name was Ne-bussha the daughter of Elnathan of Jerusalem. And he dyd euill in the sight of the Lorde / euen as his father had done.

¶ At the same tyme went the seruantes of Nabuchodonosor kynge of Babylon vnto Jerusalem / and came vpon the citty with nauence of warre. And whan Nabuchodonosor and his seruantes came to the citty / they layed sege vnto it. But Joachim the kynge of Iuda wente south to the kynge of Babylon with his mother / with his seruantes / with his rulers and chamberlaynes. And the kynge of Babylon receaued hym in the eyght yeare of his raygne.

¶ And he toke south from thence all the tres in the house of the Lorde / and in the kinges house / and brake all the golden vessel that Salomon the kynge of Israel had made in the house of the Lorde / (according as the Lorde had saide) and caried awaye all Jerusalem / all the rulers / all the myghty men / euen the thousande pisonners / and all the captiues / and all the synners / and lesse none be-hinde / but the poore people of the lande.

¶ And he caried Joachim awaye vnto Babylon / the kynge mother / the kynge res / and his chamberlaynes : and the myghty men of the lande led be awaye pisonners / from Jerusalem vnto Babylon / and thousande of the best men / and a thousande carpenters / and synners / and all the strong men of warre. And the kynge of Babylon brought them awaye captyue vnto Babylon.
 ¶ And

1 And the kyng of Babylon made Manaria his vnckle kyng in his stad / and turned his name Zedechias.

4 1 One and twenty yere olde was Zedechias / when he was made kyng / and raygned eleven yere at Ierusalem. His mothers name was Amihai the daughter of Jeremia of Libna. And he vnder the signe of the Lord / euen as Joachim vnder the signe of the Lord / was called. And he had cast them out fro his presence. And Zedechias fell awaye from the kyng of Babylon.

The. XXV. Chapter.

1 And it fortuned / that in the nyenth yere of his raygne / upon the tenth daye of the tenth moneth / Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babilon came with all his power agaynst Ierusalem. And they layed siege vnto it / a buylded stronge holdes rounde aboute it. Thus was the cytye besyged vnto the eleuenth yere of the kyng Zedechias. 2 But on the nyenth daye of the fourth moneth was there hunger so stryge in the cytye / that the people of the lande had nothinge to eat. And the cytye was broken open / and all the men of warre stode in the night by the waye of the gate betwene the two walles / which goeth to the kynges garden.

3 But the Caldees laye aboute the cytye. And Zedechias fled by the waye to the playne felde. Nevertheless / the power of the Caldees folowed after the kyng / and toke him in the playne felde of Iericho / and all the men of warre that were with hym / were fearede abroade from hym. 4 And they toke the kyng / and led hym vp to the kyng of Babylon vnto Reblatha. 5 And he gaue iudgement vpon hym. And they slew Zedechias his children before his eyes / and put oute Zedechias eyes / bounde hym with chaynes / and caryed hym vnto Babilon.

6 Upon the seuenth daye of the fyfth moneth / that is the nyenth yere of Nabuchodonosors kyng of Babylon / came Nabusaradan the chiefe captayne / the kyng of Babylons seruant vnto Ierusalem / and burnt the house of the Lord / and the kynges house / and the houses at Ierusalem / and all the greates houses burne by with fyre. And all the power of the Caldees / which was with the chiefe captayn / brake downe the walles rounde aboute Ierusalem. As for the people that yet were left in the cytye / and were fallen vnto the kyng of Babilon / and the other commune people / Nabusaradan the chiefe captayne caryed them awaye. And of y pooreste people vnder the chiefe captayne leaue in the lande to be wyngardners and plowmen.

7 But the brasse pillers in the house of the Lord / and the brasse / and the brasse louce that was in the house of the Lord / vnder the Caldees brake downe / and caryed the metall vnto Babilon. And the portes / houses / steeppes / spaces / and all the brasse vessel that was occupied in the seruyce / caryed they awaye. And the chiefe captayne toke awaye the celsors and basins / that were of golde and syluer / and the pillers / one sauour / and the scales that Salomon had made for the house of the Lord. The metall of all these ornaments coude not be weyged. 8 Egghrene rounde hye was one piller / and the knoppe thereon was of brasse also / and the cubytes beynde the rope a the Daignerations vpon the knoppe rounde aboute were all of brasse. After the same maner was the other piller also with the rope.

9 And the chiefe captayne toke Seraia the chiefest of the first course / a Sophony the chiefest of the seconde course / and the chiefe priests / and one chamberlaine out of the cytye / which was appoynted ouer the men of warre / and foure men that were euer before the kyng / which were soude in the cytye / and Sophar the captayne / which taughte the people of the lande to fyght / and the scole maun of the people of the lande / that were founde in the cytye / these vnder Nabusaradan the chiefe captayne toke / and brought them vnto the kyng of Babilon vnto Reblatha. And the kyng of Babilon slew the at Reblatha in the lade of Gemath. Thus was Iuda caryed awaye out of his lande.

10 But ouer the remnaunte of the people in the lande of Iuda / whome Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babylon lefte behynde for Gubonias the sonne of Ahicam the sonne of Saphan. Now when all the captaynes of the southerne / and the men herde / that the kyng of Babylon had made Gubonias gouernour / they came to Gubonias vnto Gathpaz / whome they called Hinnai the sonne of Mathanias / a Zafai called Hanna the sonne of Carca / and Seraia the Mesphar.

sonne of Eanhomeh the Metoparite / a Ierusalem the sonne of Maachari with their men. And Godolias sware vnto them / and to their men / and sayde vnto them : I feare not ye the officers of the Caldees / rarye in the lande / and submitte your selfe vnto the kynge of Babylonia / and ye shall prosper. ¶ But in the sixteenth moneth came Sinaid the sonne of Mathanias the sonne of Misama / (of the kynge of Tyred) and ten men with hym / and serue Godolias / and the Iewes and Caldees that were with him at Mispa. Then all the people gat thei/ both small and great / and the captaynes of the booke / and came in to Egypte / for they were afraied of the Caldees.

The VI. Chapter.

The chyldren of Ruben the fyfthe sonne of Israel: for he was the fyfth sonne / but because he defiled his fathers Bed / therfore was his fyfth birthright geuen vnto the chy-lden of Joseph the sonne of Israel / and he was not referred to the fyfth birthright: for vnto Iuda which was myghty among his brethren / was geuen the pyncipalite before hym / and the fyfth birthright vnto Joseph.
 The chyldren now of Ruben / the fyfthe sonne of Israel are these: Hanoch / Pallu / Hefron and Charmi.

The chyldren of Joel were / Semai / whose sonne was Gagi / whose sonne was Senici / whose sonne was Nicha / whose sonne was Kama / whose sonne was Baal / whose sonne was Beera / whom Eglarphalaster kynge of Affiria carryd away pynsoner. He was a pynce amonge the Rubenites. But his brethren amonge his kynredes / when they were referred amonge they generacyon / had Iud and Satharia to they beades.

And Bela the sonne of Aza the sonne of Sema / the sonne of Joel / dwelt at Zerces / Josaph and vnyll Veba and Baal / Menon. And dwelte towarde the East / as one commeth to the wyldernes by the water Euphrates: for they call were many in the lande of Be-lead.

And in the tyme of Saul they fought against the Agarites / which sell thowen they hande / and they dwelt in they tentes toward al the East part of Gilead.

But the chyldren of Gad dwelt ouer against them in the contry of Basan / vnyll Salcha.
 Joel the chyfeste / and Sapham the seconde / Jarnai and Saphar at Basan. And theye brethren of the house of they fathers were / Uthchah / Melullam / Erba / Jotai / Zaccan / Sia / a Ubert / these seuen.

These are the chyldren of Abihail the sonne of Huri / the sonne of Jorab / the sonne of Gilead / the sonne of Uthach / the sonne of Jessai / the sonne of Jahoy / the sonne of Buathi the sonne of Abdiel / the sonne of Guni was a ruler in the house of they father / and they dwelt at Gilead in Basan / and in the villages thereof / and in all the suburbes of Saron / vnto the extremost partes thereof. All these were referred in the tyme of Ioram the kynge of Iuda / and of Ieroboam the kynge of Israel.

The chyldren of Ruben: the Gaddites and the halfe trybe of Manasse / of such as were syghyng men / which theyd weare shyde and sword / and could bende the bowe / and were men of armes / were foure and fortye thousande and seuen hundred and they scoie / that went forth to the warre.

And when they foughte against the A-garites / Jear / Naphea and Nodab helpe them / and belynered the Agarites into they handes / and all that was with them / for they cried vnto God in the Battayl. And he brede them / because they put they trust in him:
 And they carryd away they cattell / fyue thousande camels / two hundred and fyfthe thousande shepe / two thousande asses / and an hundred thousande soules of men. For there were many wounded / for why: the Sarsayl was of God. And they dwelt in they shede /

The porters were; Callum Achub / Talmon / Ahimam with their brethren / an Callum the chiefe; for they had the children of Leui kepte the watch at the Eastside of the hyngre gate by armyes. And Callum the sonne of Leui the sonne of Abiasaph / the sonne of Corah / and his brethren of his fathers house.

The Corahites were in the worke of the service to kepe the treholdes of the Tabernacle; their fathers in the house of the Lord to kepe the intruise; Phineas the sonne of Eleazar was the prince over the because the Lord hath bene with him before Zacharia the sonne of Melchias was doctore at the doore of the Tabernacle of witness.

All these were chosen out to be keepers of the treholdes cut two hundred and twelfe. These were numbered in their villages. And David and Samuel the seyer founded them thore they sayth that they and their childre shoulde kepe the house of the Lord; namely to kepe the watche of the house of the Tabernacle.

These doctores were appointed towards the four wyndes; towards the East / towards the West / towards the North / and towards the South. But they brethren were in they villages; that they might come alway on the fourth daye to be with them; for unto these four number of chiefe doctores were the Leuites committed. And they had the oversight of the chylde and treasures in the house of God.

In the righte season also remayned they aboute the house of God; for they were to geue an enbaunce to open euery morninge. And some of them had the oversight of the mysting vessel; for they bare the vessel out and in. And some of the were appointed over the vessel; and ouer all the holy vessel; ouer the sive wheat flour; ouer the wine; ouer the oyle; ouer the frankincense; ouer the sweete sauaours; but some of the puelles chylde made the incense.

Unto Matharia one of the Leuites the first sonne of Callum the Corahite; were the panes committed. And certayne of the Sabathites their brethren were appointed over the shebre; cede / to prepare it euery Saboth daye.

These are the beades of the singers amonge the fathers of the Leuites chosen out over the chiefe; for day and nyght were they in worke without. These are the beades of the fathers amonge the Leuites in their synodes. These dwelt at Ierusalem.

And the Archers came upon him/ so that he was wounded of the archer. The said Saul vnto his weapenbearer. I sawe our thy swerde / and thus it shew me/ that these encurcumised come not/ and deale shamefully with me. Neuertheless/ his weapenbearer wolde not/ for he was sore afrayed. Then toke Saul his swerde/ and fell thereon. When his weapenbearer sawe that Saul was dead / he fel vpon his swerde also/ and dyed.

Thus dyed Saul and his thre sonnes/ and all his houhold together. And when the men of Israel which were in the valley / sawe that Saul and his sonnes were dead / they left theyr cities and fled: and the Philistines came and dwelt therein.

1. Ke. xxx. b

¶ On the morow came the Philistines to spoyle the layne/ and founde Saul and his sonnes lyinge vpon mount Gilboa/ a striped serm oute/ a toke his heade/ a his harness/ and sent it aboute into the land of the Philistines/ and caused it to be shewed before theyr Idols and the people. And his weapens layed they in the house of theyr god/ a stucke vpon his head vpon the house of Daggon.

1. Ke. xxxi. c

¶ But when all they of Iabes in Gilead heard of euery thing/ that the Philistines had done vnto Saul/ they gat them vp/ as many as were men of armes. And toke the body of Saul and of his sonnes/ a brought them vnto Iabes/ a buried theyr bones vnder the tree at Iabes/ and fasted seuen daies.

1. Ke. xii. b

¶ Thus dyed Saul in his trespass which he committed against the Lorde/ because he kepte not the worde of the Lorde: and because he ased counsaill at the soothsayer / and ased not at the Lorde/ therefore slew he him/ and turned the Kingdome vnto David.

The XII. Chapter.

q Reg. v. a

¶ And all Israel reioiced to David vnto Hebron/ and said: I beholds we are thy bone and thy flesh. And afore tyme when Saul reigned/ thou leddest Israel out and in. So the Lorde thy God hath sayd vnto the: Thou shalt kepe my people of Israel/ a thou shalt be the prince ouer my people of Israel. And all the Elders of Israel came to the King vnto Hebron. And David made a conuenaunt with them at Hebron before the Lorde. And they anoynted David to be Kinge ouer Israel/ according to the worde of the Lorde. 1. Ke. vi. b

¶ And David and Israccell wente vnto Jerusalem/ that is Jebus/ for the Jebusites dwelt in the land. And the cityes of Iebus said vnto David: Thou shalt not come in hither. But David and his men took the castell of Zion/ which is the citie of David. And David sayd: I whosoever smyter the Jebusites first/ shall be a prince and captaine. Then Joab the sonne of Seruia climmed vp byssle / and was made captaine. So David dwelt in the castell/ therefore was it called the citie of David. And he builded the cync rounde aboute / fro Hills forth on euery side. As for the remainns of the citie Joab builded it / and repayred it. And David wente forth and grew: and the Lord Zabaoth was with him.

¶ These are the chief amonge the myghty men of David/ which deale valeauntly with him in his Kingdome with al Israel/ no mane him hyng / according to the worde of the Lorde ouer Israel. And this is the nombre of Davids myghty men: Isaiabam the sonne of Badaimon the chief amonge them. He lyft vpon his speare/ and smote thie hundredy at one tyme.

¶ After him was Eleasar the sonne of Doi the Abihite/ and he was amonge the myghty. This man was with David when they blasphemed / a the Philistines had gathered themselves where to the battail. And euen there was there a peece of lade full of daile/ and the people fled thence / a the Philistines. And they stode in the middes of the lande/ and rescued it/ and smote the Philistines. And the Lorde gaue a greates helpe.

¶ And the chief amonge xxx. wente vnto the rocke vnto David into the caue of the well of the cistern. But the Philistines hoost lay in the valley of Rephaim. As for David he was in the castell. And the Philistines people were then at Bethleem. And David was desirous/ and sayde: What some wold gaue me to drinke of the water out of the well at Bethleem vnder the gate. Then brake those thre into the Philistines hoost/ and drue of the water out of the well at Bethleem vnder the gate/ and carryed it/ and broughte it vnto David. Neuertheless/ he wolde not drinke it/ but pour-red it vnto the Lord/and sayde: God let this be sarre fro me: that I shoulde do it / a I thinke the bloude of these men in the parill of theys lyfe: for with the par of theys lyfe haue they brought it: therefore wolde he not vsynke it. This wyd the the Worthyes.

Abisai the brother of Joab/pe was the chiefest amonge this. And he lyfte vp his speare and smote the hüdcher. And he was famous amonge this / and before the thirde moie honorable then the two / yet came he not vnto the thir.

D Benaia the sonne of Joiada the sonne of Abiul of Cabseel / was a man of great actee. He smote two Lyons of the Moabites. And he wente vnto a smore a Lyon in the myddes of a wellle in the ryme of sinowe. He smote a man of Egipt also / which was fyue cubites greare of stature / and had in his hande a speare lyke a weaure some. Yet wot he boune to hym with a slawe: and toke the speare out of his hande: a flewe hym with his owne speare. This wyd Benaia the sonne of Joiada / a was a famous man amonge this Worthyes / and mooste auncient amonge theysye. But vnto the thir: came he not. Howbeit/ Dauid made hym of his secreete counsaile.

The valeaunt Worthyes are these: Ashell the brother of Joab/Elhanan his vncles sone of Berlyems/ Samoth the Haradite / Beleg the Delonite/ Ira the sonne of Ekis the Chercoite. a captayne of the Rubenites/ and there were theysye vnder hym: Gana the sonne of Naashe/ Josaphar the Marthonite / Misa / Mitharathite/ Sama and Saal the sonnes of Kothai the Tracrite/ Zedai the sonne of Simri/ Joda his brother the Terthite/ Eliel the Moabemite/ Zeribai and Josua the sonnes of Elhanan / Zerhama the Moabite / Elul/ Obed/ Zafiel of Mizobaa.

The. XIII. Chapter.

These also came to Dauid vnto Sidag/ A Urban he was yet kepte asyde because of. Saul the sonne of Cis: And they were lysse wyse amöge the Worthies that helped in the battayl/ and could handle dawes with both theys handes/ and coulde cast stones/ a stout arrowe with the bowe.

Of Sauls byrthen which were of Ben Jamin: The chiefest Abieser and Joab the chyldren of Samas the Gibeathite. Zefiel and Delet the chyldren of Ammanah/ Biraqua and Jehu the Anathothite / Jesmaia the Gibeonite/ valeaunt amonge theysye and ouer theysye/ Jeremia/ Zababiel/ Zohan / Josabab the Gederathite/ Elcusai/ Jerimorah/ Bealia/ Samaria/ Saphacia the Kothaphite/ Elkana/ Zesua/ Asarel/ Joeser/ Zafabean the Corahite/ Joela and Sabadia the chyldren of Jeroham of Gedor.

Of the Gabbites reformed there vnto Dauid to the castell in the wyldernesse / myghtye Worthyes and men of armes/ whiche handeled speares and stwardes / and had sarre lyke Lyons/ and were as swifte as the Kooe vpon the mountaynes. The first Her/ the seconde Obadia / the thirde Eliab / the fourth Mastmanna/ the fyft Jeremia/ the sixt Zerai/ the seuenth Eliel/ the eghth Johanna/ the nynth Elshabab/ tenth Jeremia / the eleuenth Machabana. These were of the chyldre of Gad / heades in the hoost/ at least ouer an hundred/ and the greatesst ouer a thousand. These are they/ which in the fyft moneth wrote ouer Joibana when it was full on both the stoies/ so that all the valleyes were cüen both towarde the East and towarde the West.

There came of the chyldren of Ben Jamin also / and of Juda vnto the castell of Dauid. But Dauid went forth vnto them / and aunc swered and said vnto the: If ye come in pece/

and

and to helpe int/ my herie shalbe with you. But sye come vpon Beerae/ and to be myne aduersaries / where as there is yet no vii/tyght in me / the God of oure fathers loke vpon it/ and rebuke it. Heer helesse/ the spere ended Amasai the captayne amonge / the ioyse / and he sayde: We are thyne O Dauid/ and holde with the thou sonne of Iasi. Peace/ praice be with the / peace be with thy helpe/ for thy God helpeth the. Then Dauid receaued them/ and made them captaynes ouer the men of warre.

¶ And of Manasse there fell certayne into Dauid/ when he came to the battayl with the Philistynes agaynst Saul/ and helped them not/ for the pryenes of the Philistynes countyled to let hym go fro the / and sayde: If he fell vnto the loide Saul/ it myghte cast vs our neckes. ¶ Wher when he departed vnto Sidon/ there fell vnto hym of Manasse/ Dina/ Josabed/ Jediel/ Michael/ Josabab/ Eliah/ Silbar/ heades ouer thousandes in Manasse. And they helped Dauid agaynst the men of warre: for they were all valiaunt Wortheis/ and were the captaynes ouer the hoost. And eury daye came there some to Dauid to helpe hym / tyl there was a great hoost as an hoost of God.

¶ And this is the nombre of the heades harnessed vnto the warre / which came to Dauid vnto Hebron / for to turne the kyngdom of Saul vnto hym / accordyng to the woide of the Loide.

¶ The chyldren of Juda/ whiche hadled speares and swordes / were six thousand / and cyght hundred ready harnessed vnto warre. Of the chyldren of Simeon noble men of armes for the battaile/ seven thousande and one hundred. Of the chyldren of Levi/ four thousand and sixe hundred. And Jojada the pynce among the of Zaron with thre thousand and seven hundred. Sedec the yonge valeaunt ma of armes with his fathers house / two and twenty rulers. Of the chyldren of Ben Jamin Sauls brother / thre thousande: for vnto that tyme helde many of them yet with the hoost of Saul.

¶ Of the chyldren of Ephraim/ twentye thousande and cyght hundred valeaunt men of armes / a sennou in the house of their fathers.

¶ Off halfe tribe of Manasse / cyghthe thousand/ named by name to come and make Dauid kyng. Of the chyldren of Iehasar (whiche were men of vnderstanding/ whan nece resurped to knowe what Israel shoulde do) were hundredth captaynes/ and all they: beethen fortye and thyre woide. Of Zabulon/ such as were forth in the hoost to the warre / ready with all maner of weapens for the battayl/ syne thousande/ theynge of one mynde to kepe them selfes in obie.

¶ Of Asephal/ a thousande captaynes/ and with them suche as handled sworde and spere/ seven and thynye thousand. Of Dan ready harnessed to the battayl / cyghthe and twentye thousande and sixe hundred. Of Assur / such as wente forth in the hoost/ ready harnessed to the battayl/ fourye thousande. From beyonde Jordan/ of the Rubemites/ Gadites and the halfe tye of Manasse/ with all maner of weapens to the battal/ an hundredth and twentye thousande.

¶ All these men of warre / ready harnessed in the battayl / came with a whole herie vnto Hebron/ to make Dauid kyng ouer all Israel. And all Israel besyde were of one herie/ but Dauid shoulde be made kyng. And there were they with Dauid thre dayes/ carryng a viij/tyng: for they: beethen had prepared for th. And such neyghbours as were aboute them vnto Iehasar/ Zabulon and Asephal/ broughte bread vpon asses/ camels / mules and oxen to eat: melle/ fyngges/ rafene / myne/ oyle/ oxen/ shepe very many: so: there was ioye in Israel.

¶ And Dauid gathered al Israel together fro

Shosh of Egypt / yf ill a man come vnto Semarh / so serue the Arke of God from Tyrus & Tarshish. And Dauid went vp with all Israel to Tarshish & Tarshish / which lyeth in Iuda to bringe first vnto the Arke of God / the Lord that lyeth vpon the Cherubyns / where the name is named: & they caused the Arke of God to be carryed vpon a new cart from the house of Obediah.

¶ Usa and his brethren: ouer the cart. As for Dauid and all Israel / they played with all theyr strength before God with songes / with harpes / with psalteries / with tabernets / with tymbales and trompetes.

But when they came to the borne flood of Ehidon / Usa stretched out his hande to holde the Arke: for the open went out asyde. Then was the wrath of the Lord: because he stretched out his hande to smite hym / because he stretched out his hande to the Arke: so that he dyed there before God. Then was Dauid sayd: because the Lord had made suche a rente vpon Usa / and called the place Pirez Usa vnto this day. And Dauid fode in feare of God the same day and sayde: How shall I bringe the Arke of God vnto me? Therfore wolde he not let the Arke of God be brought vnto hym in to the cytye of Dauid / but carryed it in to the house of Obediah: don the Garbire. So the Arke of God abode with Obediah in his house three monethes. And the Lord blessed Obediahs house and all that he had.

The. XV. Chapter.

¶ And Tiram the kynge of Tyre sent messengers vnto Dauid and Cedec rymbur / and mafons and carpenters: to buyde hym an house. And Dauid perceaued that the Lord had confirmed hym kynge ouer Israel: for his kyngehoim encreased for his people of Israels sake. And Dauid toke yet mo wyfes at Jerusalem / and begar yet mo sonnes and doughters. And the names of the that were borne vnto hym at Jerusalem are these: Sainmual / Sobah / Athabai / Salomon / Zebah / Elisua / Elphale. Moaga / Tabeeg / Zaphia / Elisamina / Baal / Zade / Elphalec.

¶ And when the Philistines herde that Dauid was anoynted kynge ouer all Israel / they wrote vp all to seke Dauid. Wha Dauid herde that / he wente forth agaynst them. And the Philistines came / and scattered themselves beneth in the valley of Keppaim. And Dauid asked counsayl at God / and sayde: Whall I go vp agaynst the Philistines? and wyle thou deliuer the in to my hande? The Lord seide vnto hym / Go vp / I wyl deliuer the in to thy hande. And wha they were gone vp to Baal Paraim / Dauid smote the there. And Dauid sayd: God hath deuyded myn enemyes thorow my hande / euen as the water parteth asunder: they fore called theys place Baal Paraim. And there left they theyr goddes. Then T commaunder Dauid to burne the with fyre.

¶ But the Philistines gat them thither as theyr gayne / and scattered them selfe beneth in the valley. And Dauid asked counsayl at God as gayne. And God sayde vnto hym: Thou shalt not go vp behinde them / but turne ys from the / that thou mayest come vpon the / ouer agaynst the Perrees. So when thou hear. Shaloue vpon the Perrees the noyse of the gongyl / go thou forth: then too the battayl: so: God is gone forth then before the to smyte the hooft of the Philistines. And Dauid byd as God commaunded hym: And they smote the hooft of the Philistines from Gibcon south vnto Garsar. And Dauids name was noyced out in all landes. And the Lord caused the feare of hym to come vpon all the heathen.

The. XVI. Chapter.

¶ And he buyded hym houses in the cytye of Garsar / and made ready a place for the Arke of God / and pitched a Tabernacle for it. At that tyme sayde Dauid: The Arke of God is not to be docten: / but onely of the Leuites: for the hath the Lord chosen to beare the Arke of the Lord: and to minister vnto hym for euer. Therfore gathered Dauid all Israel together vnto Jerusalem / to buyde vpon the Arke of the Lord vnto the place: which he had prepared for it.

And Dauid broughte the chyldren of Barz and the Leuites together. Of the chyldren of Barz: Driel the chiefe with his brethren / an C. and twentye. Of the chyldren of Merari: Asa the chiefe with his brethren two hundred and twentye. Of the chyldren of Gerson: Asael the chiefe with his brethren an. C. and thysyete. Of the chyldren of Eliphaz: Somaia the chiefe with his brethren / two hundred.

Num. iij. b

Of the chyldren of Hethon 1 Eliel the chiefe/ with his brethren foure score. Of the chyldren of Ofiel: Aminadab the chiefe/ with his brethren an hundred and twelfe.

B And Dauid called Sadoc and Abiathar 3 priestes and the Leuites; namely Uriel/ Afsai/ Joel/ Semaius/ Eliel/ Aminadab/ and saye vnto the: Ye are the heades of the fathers amonge the Leuites: sanctifie youre selues therefore: and youre brethren / that ye maye bynge vpon the Arke of the Lorde God of Israel/ to the place that I haue prepared for it. † For as sure vnto ye were not there / the Lorde our God made a rent amonge vs / because we sought hym not / as we shoulde haue done.

1. par. iij. b

E. 2. p. b

So the conuenaunt of the Leuites halowed them selues / that they myghte bynge vpon the Arke of the Lorde God of Israel. And the chyldren of Leui bare the Arke of God the Lord vpon their shoulders with the staves therof / As Moses commaunded accordynge to 3 wordes of the Lorde.

And Dauid spake vnto 3 rulers of the Leuites; that they shoulde ordeyne some of the brethren to be syngers with psalteries/ harpes and loude instrumentes / and Cymbales / to synge loude with voyce.

C Then the Leuites appoynted Heman the sonne of Joel: and of his brethren / Asaph the sonne of Berechias: of the chyldren of Merari the brethren / Esham the sonne of Ussia: and with them they brethren of the seconde course; namely Zacharias/ Zaeziel/ Semiramoth / Zehiel / Vnni / Eliah / Benaius / Massea/ Marbitia/ Elipheia/ Misnea/ Obed Edom/ Zeiel/ the doctepers: for Semai/ Asaph/ and Esham were syngers with brazen belles makeynge a loude noyse: but Zacharias/ Zaeziel/ Semiramoth/ Zehiel/ Vnni/ Eliah/ Massea/ and Benaius with psalteries to Almay: Zeiel/ Elipheia/ Misnea/ Obed Edom/ Zeiel and Ussia / with harpes to synge aboue the on he. Chenania the ruler of 3 Leuites was the master of musike to teache them for to synge/ for he was a man of vnderstandynge.

And Berechias and Misnea were the doctepers of the Arke. Vnto Zacharia/ Zosaphat/ Nathanael/ Misai/ Zacharias/ Benaius/ Elies for the priestes / blew the rotpetes before the Arke of God. And Obed Edom and Ichaius were doctepers of the Arke.

So Dauid and the Elders of Israel 3 the captaynes ouer thousandes / wente vpon to fetch the Arke of the conuenaunt of the Lorde out of the house of Obed Edom with voyce. And when God had helped the Leuites that bare 3 Arke of 3 Lordes conuenaunt/ there were offered seue bullokes and seuen rammes. And Dauid had a linnen garment vpon hym / and so had all the Leuites that bare the Arke / and the syngers/ and Chenania the master of Musike: with the syngers. Dauid had an ouers body coat of linnen vpon hym also.

Thus all Israel brought vpon the Arke of the conuenaunt of the Lorde with myrth/ with rotpetes / tabrettes/ a loude Cymbales/ with psalteries and harpes. † Now when the Arke of the conuenaunt of the Lord came in to the cytie of Dauid / Micholl the daughter of Saul looked out at a wyndow: and when she sawe the Arke Dauid dauncynge and playng / she despised hym in her heart.

The XVII. Chapter.

D And 3 when they brought in the Arke of 3 God/ they set it in 3 Tabernacle/ that Dauid had pitched for it / a fresshed burnt offeringes and thank offeringes before God. And when Dauid had ended the burnt offeringes and thank offeringes/ he blessed the people in the name of the Lorde / and distributed vnto euery man in Israel both vnto man and woman / a cake of bibeade / and a pret of flesch / and a mece of portage.

And he appoynted before the Arke of the Lorde certayne Leuites to minister/ that they shoulde geue praye / thanks and louynges vnto the Lorde God of Israel: namely Asaph the first / Zacharias the seconde / Zeiel/ Semiramoth/ Zehiel/ Marbitia/ Eliah/ Benaius/ Obed Edom/ and Zeic/ with psalteries and harpes. But Asaph with loude cymbales/ Benaius and Zehiel the priestes with tabrettes/ alwaye before the Arke of the conuenaunt of God.

At the same tyme ordeyned Dauid first of all / to geue thankes vnto the Lord by Asaph and his brethren.

and wor:shippe the Lorde in the beerye of his holynes.

Let the whole earth stande in awe of him / he hath made the compass of the world so fast that it can not be moued.

Let the heuens reioyce / and let the earth be glad: and let it be tolde amonge the Hethyen / that the Lorde raygneth.

Let the see make a noyse / and the fulnesse therof: let the selde be ioyfull / and all that ther rain is.

Let al trees in the wood leape for ioyce before the Lorde / for he commaith to iudge the earth.

O geue thanks vnto the Lorde / for he is gracious: and his mercy endureth for euer.

And saye: Helpe vs O God our Saucour / and garber vs together / and deliuer vs from the Hethyen / that we maye geue thanks vnto to thy holy name / and syngie praises vnto the in thy Psalmes.

Praysed be the Lorde God of Israel from euerlastyng: to euerlastyng: and let all the people say: Amen. And payse be vnto the Lorde.

So he left Assaph and his brethren there before the Arke of the conuenaunt of the Lorde / to minister alway before the Arke / eue-ry day his dayes worke. But Obed Edom and his brethren / cyght and thye scoe / and Obed Edom the sonne of Jeduthun / and Hosai to be Doctepers / And Sabob the prest / and his brethren the prestes / left he before the ha-bitacion of the Lorde vpon the hie place at Gibson / to offre burnisacrifices daily vnto the Lorde / vpon the altare of burnisacrifices in the mornyng and in the euenyng / as it is wynt in the 7 lawe of the Lorde / which he commaunded vnto Israel. And with them Heman and Jeduthun / and the other chosen / which were named by name to geue thanks vnto the Lorde / because his mercy endureth for euer. And with them Heman and Jeduthun to stryke vpon the tabrettes and Tymbales / and the muscicall instrumentes of God.

As for the chyldren of Jeduthun / he made the doctepers. So all the people departed / eue-ry one to his house. And Dauid returned also to blesse his house.

The XVIII Chapter.

Esse also the kynge of Zobai in Gemath/ wha he wme to set vp his power by the water Euphrates.

And Dauid roke frō hym a thousand charrettes/ seven thousande horsemen/ and twenty thousande footemen. And Dauid lamed all the charrettes/ and kēpe an hundred charrettes ouer. And the Syriā came from Damascus/ to helpe Hadad/ Esse the kynge of Zobai. Howbeit/ Dauid smote two a twenty thousande of the same Syrians/ and layed men of warre at Damascus in Syria/ so that the Syrians were subdued vnto Dauid/ & a brought hym tribute. For the Lorde helped Dauid/ wher he couer he went.

B And Dauid toke the chyldren of gold & Hadad Esse seruantes had/ & a brought them to Jerusalem. And our of Thebath a Chūn the cytye of Hadad/ Esse/ toke Dauid very much siluer/ & brass/ & wher of Salomon made the brasen laver/ and pillars/ and brasen vessels.

110. b And when Thogu the kynge of Gemath herde/ that Dauid had synkten all the power of Hadad/ Esse/ he sent his sonne Hadaiam vnto kynge Dauid to salute hym/ and blesse hym/ because he had foughten with Hadad/ Esse/ and synkten hym/ for Thogu had warre with Hadad/ Esse/. And at the same vessels of golde/ siluer/ and of brass/ byd kynge Dauid consecrate vnto the Lorde/ with the siluer and golde that he had taken from the Heathen/ & auidy from the Edomites/ Moabites/ Ammonites/ Philistines/ & Amalechites.

C And Abisur the sonne of Zeruza smote two a cyghente thousande of the Edomites in the sil valley/ & a layed men of warre in Edome/ so that all the Edomites were subdued vnto Dauid/ for the Lorde helped Dauid/ wher he couer he wente.

Thus Dauid raygned ouer all Israel/ and secured iudgement and ryghtheousnes vnto all his people. Zoab the sonne of Zeruza was captayne ouer the host. Zofaphat the sonne of Ahilud was chauncer. Sadoc the sonne of Achitob/ and Ahimelech the sonne of Abiathar/ were priestes. Sauias was scribe. Benaias the sonne of Joiada was ouer the Creschians and Plebians. And Dauids sonnes were chiefe at the kynge hande.

The XX. Chapter.

And after this dyed Nabas the kynge of the chylden of Ammō/ and his sonne q. Reg. 4 was kynge in his steade. Then sayde Dauid: I will do mercy vpon Hanun the sonne of Nabas/ for his father did mercy vpon me: and he sent messaungers to conforthe him ouer his father. And when Dauides seruantes came into the lande of the chylden of Ammon vnto Hanun to conforthe hym/ the prynces of the chylden of Ammon sayd vnto Hanun: Thinkst thou that Dauid honoureth thy father in thy sight/ that he hath sent comforters vnto thee? Yet his seruantes are come onto the/ to seache a ouertho: we/ and to spye our the lande. Then toke Hanun the seruantes of Dauid/ & a shoue them/ and cut the halfe of theyr garmentes/ off euery by the loynes/ & a so let them go. And they went they way: and sent men to tell Dauid. Heuerebelisse/ he sent to meete them/ for synners were put to great shame/ and the kynge sayde: Abide at Jericho/ till your beedee be growe/ and then come agayne.

When the chylden of Ammon sawe that they synked in the sight of Dauid/ both Hanun and the chylden of Ammon sent a thousande talentes of siluer/ to hye charrettes and horsemen out of Mesopotamia/ and out of Maacha/ and out of Zobai/ and bryed two and thynye thousande charrettes/ and the kynge of Maacha with his people/ whiche came a pitched theyr tentes before Medba. And the chylden of Ammon gathered the seltes together out of theyr cytyes/ and came to the battayll. Whā Dauid herde that he sent Zoab thither with all the hoost of the men of armes. And the chylden of Ammon were gone forth/ and prepared them seltes to the battayll before the gate of the cyte. But the kynge that were come/ kepte them asyde in the felde.

Now when Zoab sawe that the battayll was agaynst him/ both before and behynd/ he chose of al the best yonge men in Israel/ and prepared him selfe agaynst the Syrians. As for the residue of the people/ he put them vnder the hande of Abisur his brother/ that they shoulde prepare the seltes agaynst the chylden of Ammon/ and he sayde: If the Syrians be to myghty for me/ helpe thou me: but if the chylden of Ammō be to strong for thee/ I shall helpe thee: take a good courage vnto the/ and let vs quyte our selves manly / for our people and for the eyes of our God: neuertheless the Loꝝde doth woe pleascly hym. And Joab made him forth with þe people that was with him / to fyght agaynst the Syrians: and they fled before hym. And when the chyldren of Ammon sawe that the Syrians fled / they fled also before Absai his brother / and wente in to the cytie. And Joab came to Ierusalem.

E But when the Syrians sawe that they were smitten before Israel / they sent messengers / and brought forth the Syrians / which were beyond the water. And Sopyah the chiefe captayne of Hadad the kinge went before them. When this was tolde Dauid / he gathered all Israel together / and wete ouer Iordane. And when he came at them / he set the battayll in a raye agaynst the. And Dauid prepared him selfe to the battall agaynst the Syrians / as they fought with him / but the Syrians fled before Israel. And Dauid slew of the Syrians fourscore thousande charrettes / and fourty thousande foote me. And Sopyah the chiefe captayne lewe he also. And when Hadad the kinge seruantes sawe that they were smitten before Israel / they made peace with Dauid and his seruantes. And the Syrians wold helpe the chyldren of Ammon nomore.

The. XXI. Chapter.

I And the year came about / what 4 Ke. xi. a hym as the kynge vs to go forth / Joab brought the power of the host / and destroyed þe lande of the chyldren of Ammon / and came a layed siege vnto Rabba. But Dauid chode at Ierusalem. And Joab smote Rabba / and brake it doune. And Dauid toke theyr kynge crowne from his heade / and soude the weyght of a talent of golde thereon / and pcyous stones. And it was set vpon Dauids heade. And very much spoyle caried he out of the cytie. As for the people that were therein / he brought the forth / and parted them in sunder with sawes / and holtes / and beyrds of yꝛ. Thus dyd Dauid vnto all the cyties of the chyldren of Ammon. And Dauid departed agayne / with the people vnto Ierusalem.

B Afterward arose there warre at Gath 4 Ke. xij. c with the Philistines. Then Eibchai the Gathite smote Sibai / whiche was one of the chyldren of Kaphaim / and he subdued hym. And there arose warre agayne with the Philistines. Then Eibmah the sonne of Iahur smote Labanu the brother of Goliath the Gathite / whose speare staffe was like a reueuersed lance. Afterward was there a battayll at Gath / where there was a man of a great stature / that had sixe syngeis a sic roote: whiche make foure and twety. And he was borne also of Kaphai / and spake dysproufully vnto Israel. But Jonathas the sonne of Sumca Dauids brother slew him. These were the chyldren of Kaphai at Gath / and fell thowen the hande of Dauid / and of his seruantes.

The. XXII. Chapter.

I And sarhan stode agaynst Israel / and tent 4 Ke. xij. c vnto Dauid to numbꝛe Israel. And Dauid said vnto Joab and the rulers of the people: Go your wayes / and numbꝛe Israel from Beersaba vnto Dan / and byng me the numbꝛe of them / that I may knowe it. Joab sayde: The Loꝝde make his people an hundredth yemes mo the they are now. But my lorde / whiche arc they not all my lodes seruantes? Why doth my lorde the ask theser? Wherfore shall there a trespass come vpon Israel?

Neuertheless the kynge wode pnyasped agaynst Joab. And Joab wente forth / and walked thowen all Israel / and came to Ierusalem / and deliuered vnto Dauid the numbꝛe of the people that was tolde. And of all Israel there were a thousande times a thousande / and an hundredth thousande men / that drewe out the sword: and of Iuda foure hundredth thousande / and seventy thousande me; whiche drewe out the sword. As for Leui and Ben Jamin / he numbꝛed the not amonge theses: for the kynge wode: he was abhominable vnto Ieab.

B But this displeasid God ryght foꝛ: for he smote Israel. And Dauid sayde vnto Ged: I haue sinned greuously / that I haue done this: But now take away the trespass of thy seruante: for I haue done very vnwysly. And the Loꝝde spake vnto Gad Dauids Seru / and sayd: Go specke to Dauid / as I say: Thus sayeth the Loꝝde: Thine thynges laye: I haue sinned / whiche one of them / that I mege do it vnto the. And when Gad came to Dauid / he spake vnto hym: Thus sayeth the Loꝝde: These thynges hath thy god dothe: the more muche

neices to flye before thene aduersaryes / and before the swerde of thine enemyes / that it maye ouertake thei: or the voyce the swerde of the Lord / and pestilence in the lande / that the angell of the Lord maye destroye in all the coastes of Israel. Koke now what auersarye I shall geue unto hym that sence me.

David sayde unto Gad: I am in greare trouble: yett will I rather fall into the hande of the Lord: for his mercy is exceedinglye greate: and I will not fall in to the handes of men.

Then vnd the Lord ecause pestilence to come into Israel / so that there fell of Israel thei stone and ten thousande men. And God sent the angell to Jerusalem for to destroye it. And euen in the destruccion the Lord considered: and be repented of the euell / and sayde vnto the angell the destroyer: It is ynough / holde now thy hande.

The angell of the Lord stode beside the borne of Arnan the Jebusite. And David laye vp his eyes / and sawe the angell of the Lord standinge betwene heauen a carth / and a naked swerde in his hande / stretched out ouer Jerusalem. Then David and the elders beinge clothed with sackcloth / fell upon theyr faces. And David sayd vnto God: Am not I he that caused I people to be numbered? I am he that hath sinned and done euell: as for these theye / what haue they done? Let the Lord my God / let thine hande be against me / and against my fathers house and not against thy people to plague them.

And the angell sayde vnto Gad / that he shoulde speake vnto David / that David shoulde go vp / and kepe up an altiare in the borne of Arnan the Jebusite. So David went vp accordinge to the worde of God / which he spake in the name of the Lord. But when Arnan turned him / and sawe the angell / a his fourer finnes with hym / they hyd them selues: for Arnan theye hid wherere.

Now when David came to Arnan / Arnan hid and was aware of David / and went forth out of the borne / and worshippinge David / went to Arnan: Came into the borne / to buyde an altiare vnto the Lord therein: for ful money shalt thou geue it me / that I maye maye cease from the people.

But Arnan sayde vnto David: Take it vnto the / and let my lord the syngre do as it pleaseth hym. Beholde / that ore geue I for a burnt offeringe / at thissinge headoes for wood / and wheat for the meate offeringe / I geue it all. Heurthelesse / the syngre sayde vnto Arnan: Not so / but for the full money will I buye it: for that which is thine wyl not I take for the Lord / and offer a burnt offeringe for noughte.

So David gaue Arnan for the roume fyve hundred syles of golde in weyghte. And there builded David an altiare vnto the Lord / and offered burnt offeringes and thanke offeringes. And when he called vpon the Lord / he herde hym thowome the syre from heauen vpon the altiare of the burnt offeringe. And the Lord sayde vnto the angell that he shoulde put his swerde into his sheath.

At thesame tyme when David sawe that the Lord had bidden hym vpon a com: stode of Arnan the Jebusite / he builded there: for the habitacion of the Lord. / In whiche Mose had made in the wyld: and the altiare of burnt offeringes / was at that tyme in the hye place at Gibeon. But David could not goe thither to see God before: / for he feared the swerde of the Lordes angell. And David sayde: Here shalbe the house of God / the Lord / and this the altiare of burnt offeringes for Israel.

The XXXIIII Chapter.

David comāded to gather together all the straungers that were in the lande of Israel / and appoynted masons to hew stone for the buildinge of the house of God. And David prepared much yron for nayles in the voyce of the pointers / for such things as were to be nayled together / as so much brasse / that it was not to be weyed: a Cedre trees innumerable: for theye of Tydon and Tyre thoughte David much Cedre timber. For David thoughte Salomon my sinne is but a dayde and tender: But the house that shalbe builded vnto the Lord / shalbe great / that his name and prayse may be exalted in all landes: therefore wil I prouyde for him. So David made greare prouision before his deathe.

B And he called Salomon his sonne / a commaunded hym to builde the house of Lord God of Israel / and sayde vnto hym: My sonne / I was myn'ded to buyde an house vnto the name of the Lord my God / but the worde of the Lord came vnto me / and sayde: Thou hast s'yd muche floude / and stryken manye Chanyles / therefore shal thou not buyde an house vnto my name / for as muche as thou haste s'yd so muche floude vpon the earthe besyde me. Beholde the sonne which shal be borne vnto the / shal be a quyet man / and I wyl cause hym to be in rest from all his enemyes on euery syde / for his name shal be Salomon / for I wyl geue peace and rest vpon Israel as longe as he lyueth. He shal buyde an house vnto my name. He shal be my sonne / and I wyl be his father. And I wyl stablish the state of his kyngdome vpon Israel for euer.

E Now my sonne / the Lord shal be with the / and thou shalt prosper / that thou mayest buyde an house vnto the Lord thy God / accordinge as he hath spoken of the. The Lord also shal geue the wysdome and vnderstandyng / and shal conynste Israel vnto the / that thou mayest kepe the lawe of the Lord thy God. But then shalte thou prosper / if thou take heed to do after the ordinaunces and lawes which the Lord commaunded Moses vnto Israel. Be stronge / a take good courage vnto the / feare not / and be not faynt hearted. Beholde / I haue in my pouerte provided for the house of the Lord / an hundred thousand ryalentes of golde. And a thousande rymes a thousande ryalentes of syluer / a thiasse / and yron withoute numbre / for there is so muche of it.

And ymber and stone haue I prepared / thou mayest get more thereof. Thou hast many workemen also / masons / a carpenters in stone and ymber / and all maner of men that haue vnderstandyng / in all worke of golde / syluer / thiasse / and yron withoute numbre. Yet get the vp and be voyng / and the Lord shal be with the.

And David commaunded al the rulers of Israel / to helpe Salomon his sonne / a sayde: Is not the Lord your God with you / and hath geuen you rest on euery syde: for he hath deliuered the inhabitants of the lande vnto your handes / and the lande is subdued before the Lord and before his people. Goie ouer youre here now therefore and your soules to see the Lord your God / and get you vp / and buyde a sanctuary vnto the Lord God / that the Ark of the conuenaunce of the Lord / and the holy vessels of golde / may be brought into the house / which shal be builded vnto the name of the Lord. So David made Salomon his sonne kynge ouer Israel / when he hym selfe was olde / and had lyued ynough.

The .XXIIII. Chapter.

And David gathered all the rulers in Israel together / and the prestes and Leuites / to number the Leuites from thiry year old a boue. And the numbre of them which were stronge men / from heade to head / was eght and thyrty thousande of whom there were foure and twenty thousand / which dyd they diligencie in the worke ouer the house of the Lord / and sixe thousand officers / a Tubes / and foure thousande porters / and foure thousand s'ngers / playes vnto the Lord with instrumentes / which he had made to synge psalms therhal.

And David made the ordinaunce among the chyldren of Leui / namely among: Gerson / Bahar / and Merari. The Gersonites were: Leacan and Simei. The chyldren of Leacan: the frist / Zebiel / Serhan / and Zool / these thre.

The chyldren of Simei were: Salomith / Basiel and Baran / these thre. These were the chiefe among the fathers of Leacan. These also were the chyldren of Simei: Zabab / Sena / Jeus and Bria / these foure were Simeis chyldren also. Zabab was the frist / Bria the seconde. As for Jeus and Bria / they had not many childe / therfore were they counted but for one fathers house.

The chyldren of Bahar were: Amram / Zeehar / Hebron and Dziel / these foure. The chyldren of Amram were: Zard and Moses. Zard for Aaron / he was separated to be sanctified for the most holy / he and his sonnes for euer / to burne incense before the Lord / to mysstry a blessing in the name of the Lord for euermore. And the chyldren of Moses the man man of God were named amonge the trybes of the Leuites. The children of Moyses were Gerson and Elefer.

The chyldren of Gerson the fyfthe was Ge-bur. The chyldren of Elefer the fyfthe was Kehabai: and Elefer had none other chyldren. But the chyldren of Kehabai were many there ouer. The chyldren of Jeghar were: Sa-lomith the fyfth. The chyldren of Hebis were:
Zera the fyfth. Amaria the seconde. Zabasiel the thirde. and Jactinein the fourth. The chyldren of Dziel were: Michai the fyfthe. and Zesia the seconde.

The chyldren of Merari were: Nabeli and Musif. The chyldren of Nabeli were: Elefar and Cis. And Elefar dyed. and had no sonnes but daughters. And the chyldren of Cis they: Berdech toke them. The chyldren of Musi were: Nabeli. Eder and Jeremoth. these they. These are the chyldren of Leui amonge theyr fathers houses. and the chiefe of the fathers. which were counted after the numbrie of the names heade by heade: whiche executed the worke of the officers in the house of the Lord. / from thyrre yere olde and aboue. for Dauid sayde. The Lord God of Israell both greuen his people. / and shall dwell at Ierusalem for euer.

Amonge the Leuites also were the chyldren of Leui numbred from thyrre yere olde and aboue. That they neede not to beare the habi-tacion with all the vesells of theyr office. / but accordinge to the last wyde of Dauid. / that they should stande vnder the bande of the chyldren of Aaron to minister in the house of the Lord. In the court. and to the chiftes. / and for purgynge. / and to all maner of sanctifyng. and to euery worke of the office in the house of God. And for the bestead. / for the fyne flour. / for the meate offering. / for the vn-leueded wafer. / for the paines. / for fryng. / and for all maner of weyght and measure.
And in the mornynge to stande for to greu-thank. and to praye the Lord. / and in the euynynge likewise. And vpon all Sabbathes.
Newmones. and fastes to offe all the burneofferynge vnto the Lord. / accordinge to the numbrie and ordie. / alwaies before the Lorde: to waue vpon the Tabernacle of wyttes. and of the Sanctuary. / and vpon theyr bestien the chyldren of Aaron to minister in the house of the Lord.

The. XXV. Chapter.

This was the ordinaunce of the chyldren of Aaron. The chyldren of Aaron were. Leui. p. a Nahab. / Abihu. / Elefar. and Jithamar. But Num. q. a Nahab and Abihu dyed before theyr fathers. and had no chyldren. And Elefar. and Jitha-mar were priestes. And Dauid ordie them after this maner. Sadoe out of the chyldren of Elefar. and Bamelech out of the chyldren of Jithamar. accordinge to theyr numbrie and office. And there were no chiefe stronge men founde amonge the chyldren of Elefar. / then the chyldren of Jithamar. And he ordynged them after this maner. namely. / sene out of the chyldren of Elefar. to be rulers throughtout theyr fathers house. / a cryght of the chyldren of Jithamar. throughtout theyr fathers house. He uerthelisse he ordynged them by lot. / because that both the principall of the chyldren of Elefar. and Jithamar were in the Sanctuary. / and chiefe before God. And I scribe Semeia the sonne of Ichbanel one of the Leuites.
wrote the vpr before the kynge. / a before the rulers. and before Sadoe the priest. / a before the hundred the sonne of Abiathar. and before the chiete of the fathers amonge the priestes. and Leuites. namely. oue fathers house for Elefar. and the other for Jithamar.

And the first lot fell vpon Joiah. / the seconde vpon Jehama. / the thirde vpon Harim. the fourth vpon Serchim. / the fyfth vpon Malchia. / the sate vpon Maniam. / the sixtenyth vpon Sadoe. / the cyght vpon Abia. / the nynth vpon Zefua. / the tenth vpon Echania. / the eleuentyth vpon Ithasib. / the twelftyth vpon Jasim. / the thirtenyth vpon Supa. / the fourtenyth vpon Zesbeab. / the fyfteenth vpon Bilgae. / the sixtenyth vpon Immer. / the seuentyth vpon Ehaz. / the cyghtenyth vpon Sapizez. / the nynth tenyth vpon Peiababai. / the twentyth vpon Zebefel. / the one and twentyth vpon Ja-dhan. / the two and twentyth vpon Samuil.
the thie and twentyth vpon Salao. / the foure and twentyth vpon Masia. This was theyr course after theyr office. to go into the beufe of the Lord. / accordinge to theyr maner vnder theyr father Aaron. / as the Lord God of Israel commanded him.

C Of the children of Leui amonge the children of Amram/was Subael. Amonge the children of Subael/was Zobeba. Amonge the children of Reubai/was the firste Jesia. Amonge the Zebharas was Selamoth. Amonge the children of Selamoth was Zabab. The children of Gebson were: Jeria the firste/Minaria the second/Jehasid the third/Jaknam the fourth.

The children of Ofiel were/ Mischa. Amonge the children of Mischa was Samir. The brother of Mischa was Jesia. Amonge the children of Merari was Zabarias. The children of Merari were: /Mabeli and Musi/ whose sonne was Jacsis. The children of Merari of his sonne Jacsis were: Sobani/ Sacur and Jhu. Mabeli had Elazar: for he had no sonnes. Of Cis/ the children of Cis were: Jerachmel a Musi. The child of Musi were: Mabeli/ Eder/ and Jeremorph. These are the children of the Leuites throughtout of the house of theyr fathers. And the lot was cast for them also beside theyr brethren the children of Aaron/ in the presence of Kinge Dauid and Sadoc and Ahimelech/ and before the chiefe fathers amonge the priests a Leuites/ as wel for the least brother as for the chiefe amonge the fathers.

2 The .XXVI. Chapter.

And Dauid with the chiefe captaynes furnished the offices amonge the children of Issaph/ Heman and Jeduthun the prophets with harpes/ psalteries and tymbales/ and they were numbred vnto the worke/ according vpon theyr office. Amonge the children of Issaph was Salur/ Joseph/ Uerbania/ Marela/ children of Issaph/ vnder Issaph which prophesied beside the King. Of Jeduthun: the children of Jeduthun were Gedas/ Iazor/ Jesia/ Babia/ Marthibia (Sime) these sixe vnder theyr father Jeduthun with harpes/ whose prophesyinge was to geue thankes and to praise the Lord. Of Heman: The children of Hema were Butha/ Marthanna/ Mich/ Sebuel/ Jeremorph/ Banania/ Banania/ Elariba/ Githi/ Romathieser/ Jusbalsu/ Malorbi/ Gorbur and Mechesorbi. All these were the children of Heman the Kinges Secy in the wordes of God to lyste vp the borne/ for God gaue Heman fouertene sonnes and the daughters.

All these were vnder theyr fathers Issaph Jeduthun and Heman/ so singe in the house of the Lord with Tymbales/ psalteries and harpes/ accordinge to the office in the house of God beside the Kinge. And theyr number vnder theyr brethren/ which were taughte in the songe of the Lord/ eueny one hauing vnder standing was two hundred a eyght a foure score. And they call the loures ouer theyr office/ for the least as for the greatest/ for the measure as for the scolar.

And the first for sel vpon Joseph which was of Issaph: the seconde vpon Gedolia with his brethren and sonnes/ of whom there were twelfe. The third vpon Sacur with his sonnes and brethren/ of whom there were twelfe. The fourth vpon Jegni with his sonnes and brethren/ of whom there were twelfe. The fifth vpon Uerbania with his sonnes and brethren/ of whom there were twelfe. The sixte vpon Butha with his sonnes a brethren/ of whom there were twelfe. The seuenth vpon Jesfrel a his sonnes and brethren/ of whom there were twelfe. The eyght vpon Jesia with his sonnes a brethren/ of whom there were twelfe. The nyenth vpon Marthania with his sonnes and brethren/ of whom there were twelfe. The tenth vpon Sime with his sonnes and brethren/ of whom there were twelfe. The eleuenth vpon Israel with his sonnes a brethren/ of whom there were twelfe. The twelfe vpon Sababia with his sonnes and brethren/ of whom there were twelfe. The XXVII. Chapter.

Of the ordinaunces of the voickpers amonge the Boabites was Melesmia of the children of Issachar. The children of Melesmia were these: the first boine Zabarias / the seconde Jedaiel / the thirde Zebadia / the fourth Jathiel / the fifth Elam / the sixte Jobanai / the seuenth Eloenai. The children of Obed Edom were these: the first boine Semai / the seconde Josabab / the thirde Joab / the fourth Sathur / the fifth Ichabael / the sixte Ammid / the seuenth Zichar / the eyght Digulphar / for God had blessed him. And vnto Semai his sone there were sonnes boine also / which bare rule in the house of theyr father: for they were myghty valaunte men. The children of Semai were Ami / Kephad / Obed and Eljabab / whose brethren were valaunte men / Elshu and Senechia: all these were of the children of Obed Edom. These with their children a brethren were valaunte men / for: the officers / were they: seore and twoo of Obed Edom. Melesmia had children and brethren / which were stronge men / euen eygent.

B Hossa of the children of Merari had children Ami the chieft: for his boine was not there / therefore God his father appoynted him to be chieft / the seconde Helchies / the thirde Tebalai / the fourth Zacharias. All the children and brethren of Hossa were thirtene.

This is the ordinaunce of the voickpers amonge the heades of the valaunte men / in the office besides theyr brethren / to minister in the house of the Lord. And the lot was cast for the final as for the greates / who ouerwent the house of theyr father at eueri pore. The lot toward the East fell vpon Melesmia. And the lot was cast for Zacharias his sone / which was a man of prudent counsaill / and vnto him it fell toward the North. But vnto Obed Edom toward the South / and to his sonnes besyde the house of Issupim. And vnto Supim / and Hossa toward the West / by the gate of Sauleth in the strete of Burntoffering / where the Tabernacles stande together.

Toward the East were there fixe of the Leuitics. Toward the North foure on to Gaze ryme. Toward the South foure on the Baye ryme. Besyde Issupim twoo a twoo. By Parbar Westward were there foure in a strete / a twoo besyde Parbar. These are the ordinaunces of the voickpers amonge the children of the Boabites / a children of Merari. Of the Leuitics was Chia ouer the treasures of the house of God / a ouer the treasures that were sanctified.

Of the children of Laadan / the children of Bersanque. Of Laadan were these the heades of the fathers: namely the Zebulites. The children of the Zebulites were Bersan and his brother Joel ouer the treasures of the house of the Lord. Amonge the Amramites / Zeharites / Hebionites a Vselitico / was Schuel the sonne of Bersan the sonne of Moses / prince ouer the treasures. His brother Elischer had a sonne Rehabia / whose sonne was Jezaa / whose sonne was Joiam / whose sonne was Sidiu / whose sonne was Selomith / the same Selomith and his brethren were ouer all the treasures of the things that were halowed / which Kinge Sauid halowed / a the principall of the fathers / amonge the rulers / euen thousandes and ouer hundredes / and rulers in the hoost / of warres and spoyles had they halowed it / to repare the house of the Lord / and ouer all that Samuel the Syer / and Saul the sonne of Cis / and Abner the sonne of Ner / and Joab the sonne of Zeruija had halowed: what euer was sanctified / it was vnder the hande of Selomith and his brethren. Amonge the Zehebarites was Chemai with his sonnes / for the worke without ouer Israel / officers and iudges. Amonge the Hebionites was Pasabia and his brethren / valaunte men / a thousande a seuen hundredes / ouer the officers of Israel on this side Jordan Westward / for all manner worke of the Lord / and to serue the Kinge.

But amonge the Hebionites was Zerai the chieft / amonge the Hebrionites of his lynred amonge the fathers. And search was made amonge them / and in the fourtyeth yeare of kynge Dauid / there were founde varleant men of Iaser in Gilead / and theye were then myghty men / two thousande and seven hundred / principall fathers / and Dauid set them ouer the Rubenites / Gadites / and ouer the halfe trybe of Manasses / for all such busynesse as belongeth vnto God and the kynge.

The .XXVIII. Chapter.

The children of Israel / according to theyr number / were headales of 7 fathers / a ouer thousande & ouer hundred / a officers waytinge vpon the kynge / to go of a on after theyr course euery moneth one / in al the monethes of the yeare. Euery course hath four & twenty thousande.

Ouer the first course of the first moneth was Iasbeam the sonne of Sadiel / and vnder his course were four & twenty thousande. Of the children of Phares was the principall amonge all the chiefe captaynes in the first moneth.

Ouer 2 course of the seconde moneth was Sobai the Thobite / a M. Iosh was 3 course ouer his course. And vnder his course were four & twenty thousande.

The thirde principall captayne of the third moneth was Benai the sonne of Zada the pieth / and vnder his course were foure & twenty thousande. † This is that Benai the worthy amonge theyre and aboute thirthe. And his course was vnder his sonne Amni / Sabad.

The fourth in the fourth moneth was Zafiel the brother of Zoiab / and Sabadia his sonne after him / a vnder his course were four & twenty thousande.

B The fifth in the fifth moneth was Sameburb the Zebubite / a vnder his course were foure and twenty thousande.

The sixte in the sixte moneth was Ira the sonne of Zekes / a Theoret / a vnder his course were foure & twenty thousande.

The seventh in the seventh moneth was Bez the Dilonite of the children of Ephraim / and vnder his course were foure & twenty thousande.

The tenth in the tenth moneth was Mahera the Metophane of the Serabites / and vnder his course were foure & twenty thousande.

The eleuenth in the eleuenth moneth was Benai the Durgarbitte of the childer of Ephraim / and vnder his course were foure and twenty thousande.

The twelfth in the twelfth moneth was Helbai the Metophane of Ziphuel / and vnder his course were foure & twenty thousande.

Ouer the trybes of Israel were these: Amonge the Rubenites was Pirzee the chiefe the sonne of Sichu. Amonge the Simeonites was Ophacia the sonne of Necha. Amonge the Leuites was Hasabia the sonne of Amuel. Amonge the Iaronites was Zadoe. Amonge Juda was Eshu one of Sarda Berthen. Amonge Issachar was Amri the sonne of Michael. Amonge Zabulon was Iesmana the sonne of Obadia. Amonge Nephthali was Jeremoth the sonne of Israel. Amonge the childer of Ephraim was Hofia the sonne of Alafia. Amonge the halfe trybe of Manasses was Joel the sonne of Pedai. Amonge the halfe trybe of Manasse in Gilead was Jeddo the sonne of Zadaras. Amonge Dan was Israel the sonne of Jeroham. These are the princies of the trybes of Israel.

But Dauid toke not the number of them that were twenty yeare olde and there vnder: for the Lord had promised to multiplye Israel as the starrs of the skye. † Horobut 303. p. 16. The sonne of Serua had begonne to number them / a performed it not: for there came warth vpon Israel: for the same cause / therefore came not the number in the cronicles of King Dauid.

Ouer the fynge treasurers was Amri the sonne of Aziel. And ouer the treasure in the landes / a the cyties / villages / and castles castles was Jonathan the sonne of Nisai. Over the house bandmen to till the lande was Issi the sonne of Hebul. Over the vineyardes was Simi the Kainathite. Over the vinecellars a measure of wyne was Sadi & Saphurim. Over the oyle gardenes and Nollberryes in the lowe feldeo was Baal Hanan the Gadidite. Over the measure of the oyle was Joas. Over the oxen of the pasture at Sharon was Suari the Seronite. Over the oxen in the vallies was Sappath the sonne of Adlai.

Over the camels was Obill the Izmace lit. Over the asses was Ierethia the Meronothite. Over the shepe was Jasio the Gazgerite. All these were rulers over Kinge Davids goodes. Jonathan Davids uncle was of the counsilla a wise man and a scribe. And Jehud the sonne of Achmoni was with the Kinges children. & Achisophel also was of the Kinges counsail. Husai the Traudite was the Kinges frende. After Achisophel was Joiaha the sonne of Benaiia a Traudite. As for Joab he was Kinges chiefe saynre of warre.

The. XLIX. Chapter.

2 And David gathered unto Jerusalem all the rulers of Israel; namely the princes of the tribes / the rulers over the courses which wayed upon the Kinge; the captaynes over his handes; a our hundredes; the rulers over the goodes; and cattell of the Kinge; and of his sonnes; with the chamberlaynes; warryers; a valiant men. And David the Kinge shode up upon his feet; and sayde: Heare me I praye you my brethren and my people: I was minded to bulde an house; where the Arke of the covenant of the Lorde shoulde rest; and a forresole for the seat of oure God; and prepared my selfe for to buyde. But God sayd unto me: Thou shalt not buyde an house unto my name; for thou art a man of warre; a hast shod shoude.

Now sayth the Lorde God of Israel chosen me out of all my fathers house; that I shoulde be Kinge over Israel for ever; for I have had chosen to be the prince; and in the house of David amonge my fathers children have had pleasure unto me; to make me Kinge over all Israel; and amonge all my forenes; for the Lorde hath geven me many sonnes; he hath chosen Salomon my sonne; to sit upon the seat of the Kingdome of Israel; over Israel; and hath saide unto me: Salomon thy sonne shall buyde me an house; and my courtes; for I have chosen him to be my sonne. And I will be his father; and will stablye his Kingdome for ever; if he be constant to do after my commaundementes a lawes; as it is this daye. Now in the sayng of all Israel the congregacion of the Lorde; in the cares of our God; that ye observe a site all the commaundementes of the Lorde your God; that ye maye possesse this good lande; a that ye and your children maye have the inheritance thereof for ever.

And thou my sonne Salomon; knowe thou the God of thy father; and serve hym with all thy herte; and with all the desire of thy soule; for the Lorde searsheth all herte; a understandeth all thoughtes; a ymaginacions. If thou seke hym; thou shalt fynde him; but if thou forsake him; he shall refuse thee for ever. Take hede now; for the Lorde hath chosen the; to buyde an house to be the Sanctuary; be stronge; and make it.

And David gave Salomon his sonne a patron of the Porche; a of his house; a of the celler; and parkes; a ynnexer chambers; a of the house of the Mercy; a of all that he had in his mynde; namely of the court of the Lorde; a of the house; and of all the oycerous round about the treasures in the house of God; and of the treasures of such thinges as were beloved of the ordinaunces of the priestes; a of the treasures of all the busynesse of the offices in the house of the Lorde.

Gold gave he him; after the gold weight for all manner of vessels of every office; and all silver ornaments after the weight; for all manner of vessel of every office; and weight for the golden candellstickes; and golden lampes; for every candellstick; and his lampes his weight Lytwys; for the silver candellstickes; gave he the weight to the candellstick; a his lampes; according as was required for every candellstick. He gave golde also for the tables of the shewbread; for every table; his weight; and silver likewise for the silver tables; and pure golde for the shewbread; a and censure: and for the golden cuppes/ vnto every cuppe the weight: and for the siluer cuppe/ vnto every cup his weight: and for the aure of incense his weight: of the most pure golde.

E And a patrone of the charret of the golden Cherubim/ that they myght spede out them selves/ a couer the Arke of the conuenaunt of the Lord. Wheris geuen me in wyngge of the bande of the Lord/ to make me vnderstande at the roottes of the patrone.

And Dauid sayde vnto Salomon his sonne: Be thou manly a stronge/ and make it/ feare not/ a be not sayntheret/ the Lord God my God shalbe he with the/ a shal not withdrawe his hande/ nor fayne the/ ryll thou haue fynished euery worke for/ I seruce in the house of the Lord/ Be holde/ the courses of the priestes and Leuites to all the offices in the house of God/ are with the in euery worke/ and are wyllinge/ and haue wysdome to all the offices: a so haue the priences and al the people for euery thinge that thou hast to do.

The .XXX. Chapter.

And Kinge Dauid saide vnto all the congregation: God hath chosen Salomon one of his sonnes/ which is yet younge a tender. But the worke is greater: for it is not a mans palace/ but the Lord Gods. For haue I after all myne habytie prepared vnto the house of God/ golde for the vessels of golde/ siluer for them of siluer/ brasse for them of brasse/ yron for them of yron/ wood for them of wood/ Ony stones/ set Rubics/ a stones of diuers colours/ and al precious stones/ and Marblestones in multitude. Besides this/ for the good wyll that I haue to the house of God/ I haue of myne owne proper good the .M. talents of golde of Opphu/ a seven .M. talents of pure siluer/ whiche I gaue vnto the holy house of God/ beside al that I haue prepared/ to ouerlay the walles of the house/ that the same which ought to be of golde/ may be of golde: a that it which ought to be of siluer/ may be of siluer/ a for al manner of worke by the bande of the craftsmen. And who is now for wyllinge/ to sell his hande this daye vnto the Lord?

B Then were the priences of the fathers/ the priences of the tribes of Israel/ the captaynes ouer thousandes and ouer hundreth/ the rulers ouer the fynges/ Busynce for wyllinge/ a gaue to the ministracions in the house of God fyue thousande talentes of golde/ a ten thousande guldenes/ a ten thousande talentes of siluer/ eyghrene thousande talentes of brasse/ a hundred thousande talentes of yron. And by whomesouer were founde stones/ they gaue them to the measure of the house of the Lord/ vnder the bande of Jehu the Wersourer.

And the people were glad that they were for wyllinge/ for they gaue it with a good will/ Geuen with all thei heart. Vnto the Lord. And Dauid also the fyng reioiced greatly/ a praised God/ and saide before the whole congregation: Dayed be thou O Lord God of Israel our father/ vnto the belongeth wysdome and power/ glory/ victory/ a thankes: for all that is in heauen and earth/ to thyne: thync is the fyng borne/ a thy on created as be of al priences. Thine are thyes and honours before the/ thou raynest ouer al/ thy hande consisteth power/ a might/ in thy hande is it to make euery man greate and stronge.

Now thanke we the oure God/ a prayse for the name of thy glory: for who am I? What is my people/ that we shoulde be able with a fre wyll to offer/ as this is better/ for of the comertys al/ a of thy hande haue we geuen it the: I for we are but pilgrims a strangers here: for the/ as were al oure fathers. * Our lyfys vpon earth is as a shadowe/ a here is no abydinge. O Lord oure God/ all this aboundeth vnto the an house vnto thy name/ carme of thy hande/ a is thine altogether. I knowe my God/ that thou thyself the here/ and that vnsayndnesse is acceptable vnto the: therefore haue I geuen all this with an vnspayed heart/ euen with a good wyll/ and now haue I had toy to for thy people/ (whiche here are present) offer with a fre wyll vnto the. O Lord God of oure fathers: Abraham/ Isaac/ and Israel/ kepe thou them: for such purposes a thoughtes in the hartes of thy people/ a prepare thou their hartes vnto the: And graunt my sonne Salomon a perfect heart/ that he maye kepe thy commandmentes/ thy testimones/ a thy statutes/ that he maye do all/ a buyde this people which which I haue prepared.

And Dauid sayde vnto the whole congregation: O praye the Lord your God. And all the congregation prayed the Lord God of theyr fathers/and bowed the kisse/a worshipping the Lord/ and the synge/ and offered sacrifices vnto the Lord. And on the next morowe offered they burnt offerings/a M. bullockes/a M. rammes/a M. lambs with theyr drink offerings/and plentifully offered they amonge all Israel. And they had care and dynke the same daye before the Lord with greatesoyles/a made Salomon the sonne of Dauid synge the second tyme/and anoynted him to be the prince for the Lord/ and Sabdoe to be first.

Thus far Salomon vpon the state of the Lords synge in his fathers steade/a prospered. And all Israel obeyed hym/and all the rulers and mighty men/ and all synge Dauides children submitted the selues vnto synge Salomon. And the Lord made Salomon excellent and great in the syght of all Israel/ and gaue him such a glorious kyngdome/as none had before him ouer Israel.

So had Dauid the sonne of Isai/mowe bene synge ouer all Israel. And the tyme that he was synge ouer Israel/ so forty yeares: At Bethon rayned he seven yeares/ and at Jerusalem thre and thiry yeares/ and dyed in a good age/full of dayes/ of rest and honour. And Salomon his sonne was synge in his steade.

These actes of synge Dauid/ both the first and laste behelde/ they are wyssten amonge the actes of Samuel the Seer/ and amonge the actes of the prophete Nathan/ and amonge the actes of God the Seer/ with all his kyngdome/poweres/ and tymes/ which passed vnder him/ both vpon Israel and vpon all the kyngdomes of the earth.

The ende of the first booke of the Cronicles/ otherwyse called Paralipomenon.

The second booke of the Cronicles / or otherwyse called Paralipomenon.

The first Chapter.

And Salomon the sonne of Dauid was stablished in his kyngdome/ and the Lord his God was to hym/ and made him exceedingly great. And Salomon spake vnto all Israel to the captaynes ouer thousandes and ouer hundredes/ to the Judges/ and to all the princes in Israel/ a to the chiefe fathers/ so that they wente (Salomon and the whole congregation with hym) vnto the hie place which was at Gibeon: for there was the Tabernacle of myneste of God/ which Moses the seruaunt of the Lord had made in the wilderness. For Dauid had brought vp the Ark of God from Bithan Bearam/ when he had prepared for it: for he had prided a tent for it at Ierusalem. As for the basen altars: which Bezalel the sonne of Uri the sonne of Hur had made/ it was there before the habitation of the Lord: and Salomon and the congregacion sought God. And Salomon offered thousande burnt offerings vpon the basen altars before the Lord/ that stode before the Tabernacle of myneste.

In the same nyght appeared God vnto Salomon/ and sayde vnto hym: What shall I geue the? And Salomon sayde vnto God: Thou hast done great mercy vnto my father Dauid/ and hast made me kyng in his steade. Now Lord God/ let the wyde that thou hast promysed vnto my father Dauid/ be verified/ for thou hast made me kyng ouer a people/ which is as many in numbre as the dust vpon the earth. Grant me wysdome therefore and knowlege/ that I maye go out in before this people: for who is able to iudge this great people of thyne?

ij. Ke. ii. b. ¶ Then sayde God vnto Salomon: for so muche as thou art fo inmynde / and haste not desyred ryche nor good / nor honour / nor the foules of thyne enemyes / nor longe lyfe / but hast requyred wysdome a knowlege to iudge my people / our whome I haue made ¶ I giue wysdome therfore and knowlege be geuen the. ¶ Reasoner / wises and good / and honoure wyl I geue the / so that such one as thou / hath nor bene before the amonge the kynges / neyther shalbe after the.

¶ So came Salomon from the hye place (which was at Gibeon) vnto Ierusalem from the Tabernacle of witness / and raigned ouer Irael. ¶ And Salomon gathered him charrettes and horsemen / so that he had a thousande and four hundred charrettes / a twelfe thousande horsemen / and these appoynted he to be in the chaert ones / and with the kyng at Ierusalem. And the kyng brought it so to passe / that there was as muche syluer and gold at Ierusalem as stones: and as many Cedres / as the Molberge trees / that are in the valleyes. And there were houses brought vnto Salomon out of Egipte / a the kynges marchauntes scyded the frs Reia for mooney. And they came vp / and brought out of Egipte a charrete for six hundred syluer pene / and an horse for an hundred and fifty. Thus brought they also vnto all the kynges of the Arabians / and to the kynges of the Syriens.

The II. Chapter.

¶ And Salomon thought to bulde an house vnto the name of the Lorde / a an house for his kyngdome: a tolde out the score and ten thousande men to beare burthens / a foure score thousande that beued tymer vpon the mount / and the thousande and six hundredth officers ouer them. ¶ And Salomon sent vnto Hiram the kyng of Tyre / sayinge: As I thou dydest with my father / and sendest hym Cedre trees / to bulde an house for to dwell in / euen so do thou with me also. ¶ Beholdes / I will bulde an house vnto the name of the Lorde my God / to sanctifie it / for to burne good incense before hym / and alwaye to prepare the shewbread / and burne offerings in the morninge and in the eveninge / on the Sabbarbes and new Moones / and solempne feastes of the Lorde our God cure more for Irael.

And the house that I will bulde / shall be greater / for our God is greater the of goddes. But who is able to bulde hym an house / for heauen and the beauties of all heaueins may not comperende hym. Who can I then / that I should bulde hym an house? But only for this intent to burne incense before hym.

Sende me now therfore a wysc man to worke with gold / syluer / brasse / yron / scarlet / purple / yallow sylke / a such one as can graue carued worke / with the wysc men that are with me in Tyry and Ierusalem / whome my father Dauid ordyned. And sende me tymer of Cedar / pync tree and costly wood from Libanus: for I knowe that thy seruantes can beare tymer vpon Libanus. And beholding my seruantes shalbe with thy seruantes / to prepare me much tymer: for the house that I will bulde / shalbe great and maruouslye goodly.

And beholde / I will geue vnto the carpenters thy seruantes / which beue the tymer / twenty thousande quarters of beaten wheat / and twenty thousande quarters of barley / a twenty thousande batres of wyne / and twenty thousande batres of oyle.

Then sayde Hiram the kyng of Tyre by returnyng / and sente it vnto Salomon: Because the Lorde loueth his people / therfore hath he made it to be kyng ouer the. And Hiram sayd moreover: Praisyd be the Lorde God of Irael / which made heauy and earth / that he hath geuen kyng Dauid a wysc and prudent sone / and such one as hath vnderstandyng to bulde an house vnto the Lorde / a an house for his realme. Therfore sende I now a wysc man that hath vnderstandinge / I euen Hiram Abi / which is the sone of a woman of the daughters of Dan / a his father was of Tyre / which can worke in gold / syluer / brasse / yron / stone / tymer / scarlet / yallow sylke / lyncs / purple / and to carue all maner of thynges / a to make what euanyng thynges so euer is geuen hym / with thy wysc men / and with the wysc men of my lorde kyng Dauid thy father. And now let my lorde sende the wheat / barley / oyle and wyne vnto his seruantes / as I couyng as he hath sayde / a so wyl he beue the tymer vpon Libanus / as much as thou wyldest needful / and will buyenge it by stones in the see unto Zaphoraim whences thou maist buyenge it up to Jerusalem.

And Salomon numbred all the straungers in the lande of Iffrad/accordinge to the number whan Dauid his father numbred them/ and there were founde an hundredth and fyfye thousande/and the thousande and sixe hundredth.
And of fyfynie he made thre score a ten thousande beverers of burthenes / and fourte score thousande beverers upon the mounte/and thre thousande and sixe hundredth workers/ which held the people as they were.

The III. Chapter.

I And Salomon beganne to buyld the house of the Lord at Jerusalem upon the mount Moriah / that was shewed vnto Dauid his father / which Dauid had prepared for the reine upon the coine flode of Ierusal the Iubusite. In the seconde daye the seconde mo-neth / in the fourth yere of his reygne be-ganne he to buyld. And so layd Salomon the foundation to buyld the house of God fyll the lengthe thre cubytes : the bredth twenty cubytes: and the parche before the dore of the house was twentye cubytes longe/but the heygth was an hundredth and twentye/and he overlaid it ou the insyde with pure golde.

But the great house fyled he with Dynere/and overlaid it with the best golde / and made palmes trees / and rhornecworke thereon/and overlaid the house with precious stones to beautifye it. As for the golde/it was golde of Paruaun. And the ballies & postes aboue/and the wallis and the dore of it overlaid he with golde/a caused Cherubins to be carued on the wallis.

He made also the house of the moost holy/whiche length was twenty cubites / accordinge to the wyntesse of the house/a the bredth of it was twentye cubites likewyse/ a he overlaid it with the best golde by sixe hundredth talentes. And soynayles he gaue fyfye selces of golde in weygth / and overlaid the chamber with golde. He made also in the house of the moost holy/two Cherubins of carued worke/and overlaid them with golde: a the length on the wynges of the Cherubins was twenty cubites/so that one wyng had fyue cubites.

and touched the wall of the house: and the other wyng had fyue cubites also / and touched the wyng of the other Cherub.

Thus so had one wyng of the other Cherub fyue cubites likewyse/a touched the wall of the house: and his other wyng had fyue cubites also/ and touched the wyng of the other Cherub: so that these wynges of the Che-rubins were spred out twenty cubites wyde.
And they stode vpon theyr feete/ and theyr face was turned toward the house.

He made a vayle also of yaloure sylke / sears-let/purple and lynenwo:ke/and made Cheru-bins thereon. And before the house he made iiij. Re. 4 b
two pillers fyue and thyrty cubites longe/and the knoppes aboue them/ fyue cubytes.
And he made rhornec worke for the quere/and put it aboue vpon the pillers: and made an hundredth Pomgranates/ and put them on the wynges therof. And he set vp the pillers before the temple/ the one on the right hande/and the other on the left/ and that on the right hande called he Iachin/ and that on the left hande called he Boaz.

The IIII. Chapter.

He made a brasen aultare also/ twentye cu-bites longe/ and twenty cubites broad/a ten cubytes hie. And he made a molte lauer iiij. Re. vj c ten cubites wyde/ from the one syde to the other rounde aboute/ and fyue cubytes hie. And a nicelyne of thyrty cubytes might comprehed it about. And ymagos of bullockes were vnder it. And aboue the lauer/ which was ten cubytes wyde/ there were two rowes of knop-pes that were molten withall.

It stode so vpon the bullockes / that they were turned toward the North/ the toward the West/ the toward the South / and the toward the East / and the lauer aboue vpon the/a all theyr hynder partes were on the insyde.
The thyrtyesse of it was an hande bredth/ and the edge of it was lyke the edge of a cuppe / a as a floured rose. And it couerced the thour-saunde daires.

And he made ten Femels / wherof he set iiij. Re. vii c fyue on the ryght hande/ and fyue on the left/to washe in them such thynge as be obliged to the burne offeringe / that they myghte buyld them therein: but the lauer / made he for the priests to washe in.

B Ten golden candlestickes made he also as they ought to be / and set them in the temple: fyue on the right hande / and fyue on the left. And made ten tables / and set them in the temple: fyue on the ryghte hande / and fyue on the left. And made an hundredeth basens of golde. He made a coure by kyuyse for the priestes / a a great court / and doores in the court / a ouer layd the doores with brasse. And the lauer set he on the ryghte syde towards the South east. And Hiram made cauldrons / shouels and basens.

So Hiram finished the worke which he made so: fyngt Salomō in the house of God: namely the two pylers with the roundels and knoppes aboue upon both the pylers / a both the wythen ropes to couer both the roundels of the knoppes aboue upon the pylers / and foure hundredeth Pomgranates on both the wythen ropes / two to each of Pomgranates on euery rope / to couer the roundels of f Knoppes that were aboue upon the pylers.

C He made the stoles also and the fencels upon the stoles / and a lauer / a twelf bulletes there vnder. And pottes / shouels / shewels / a all theye vessels made Hurā Abis of pure metall: fyngt Salomon vnto the house of the Lord. In the east of Iordan / dyd the king cause them to be molde in thurke earth betwene Sudeb and Zardaba.

And Salomō made all these vessels / which were so many / that the weight of the metall was not to be sought out. And Salomon made all the ornaments for the house of God: namely the golden altar / the tables / and the shewbreads thereon / the candlestickes with theye lampes of pure golde / to burne before f queer accordyng to the maner: and the stoues / and the lampes / and the snuffers were of golde / and all these were of pure golde.

And the Fynnes / basens / spoons and pottes / were of pure golde. And the inuauce a big doore within vnto the Most holy / and the doores of the house of the temple were of golde. Thus was all the worke finished which Salomon made in the house of the Lord.

Ch. V. Chapter.

D When Salomō brought in all that his father Dauid had sanctified / namely / siluer and golde / and all maner of ornaments / and layd them in the treasures of the house of God. Then gathered Salomon all the Elders of Israel together / all the heades of the tribes / princes of the fathers amonge the chyldren of Israel vnto Ierusalem / to bringe vp the Arke of the conuenant of the Lord out of the cytye of Dauid / that is Iouā. And there returned vnto the fyngt all the men in Israel at the feast / that is in the seventh moneth / and at the Elders in Israel came.

And the Leuites rose the Arke / a brought it vp with the tabernacle / and all the holy vessels that were in the tabernacle and the priestes and Leuites brought them vp. So fyngt Salomon / and all the congregation of Israel that was gathered vnto him before the Arke / they offered scope and oxen / so many / that noman coulde numbre nor reken them.

Thus the priestes brought the Arke of the conuenant of the Lord vnto her place in the quere of the house / euen in the Most holy vnder the wynges of the Cherubims / so that the Cherubims spred out theye wynges ouer the place of the Arke / and the Cherubims covered the Arke and the stauis thereof from aboue. And the stauis were so longe / that the knoppes of them were sene from the Arke before the quere / but on the outside were they not sene. And it was there vnto this day. And there was norbyng in the Arke / save that the two tables / whiche Moyses put therein at Horeb / when the Lord made a conuenant with the chyldren of Israel / what time as they were departed out of Egypte.

And when the priestes wente out of the Sanctuary / so: all f priestes that were sound / sanctified the selfe / because the cytye were not kepte. The Leuites with all those that were vnder Baph / Heman / Jeduthan / and theye chyldren and brethren / beynge clothed in synners / songe with Cymbales / psalteries a harp / and stode towards the East part of the altare / and an hundredeth and twentye priestes went with them / which blew with trumpets. And it was / so / if one dyd trope and singe / so though a voyce had bene heere of prayng / and geuynge thanke vnto the Lord.

And when the voyce arose from the trumpets / cymbales and other instruments of musick musicke/ and from playinge the Lorde/ because his gracious/ and because his mercy endureth for euer) the house of the Lorde was fylled on the inside with a cloude/ so that the priestes could not stande to mynister for the cloude/ for the glorie of the Lorde fylled the house of God.

The VI. Chapter.

S Then sayde I Salomon: The Lorde sayde/ that he wolde dwell in a darke cloude/ I haue buylde an house to be an habitation vnto the Lord/ and a seat/ that thou mayest dwell there for euer. And the King turned his face/ and blessed all the congregation of Israel/ for the whole congregation of Israel stode/ and he sayde/ Praise be the Lorde God of Israel/ which promised by his mouth vnto my father Dauid/ and with his hande hath fulfilled it/ when he sayde: ¶ Hence the time is that I brought my people out of the lande of Egypte/ I haue chosen no cytie in all the myshes of Israel/ to buyld an house for my name to be there/ neither haue I chosen any man to be prince ouer my people of Israel. ¶ But Ie-ruusalem haue I chosen for my name to be there: and Dauid haue I chosen/ to be prince ouer my people of Israel.

B And when my father Dauid was minded to buyde an house vnto the name of the Lorde God of Israel/ the Lorde sayde vnto Dauid my father: I where as thou wast minded to buyde an house vnto my name/ thou haste done well: howbeit/ thou shalt not buyde the house/ but thy sonne whiche shall come out of thy loynes/ shall buyde the house vnto my name.

Thus hath the Lorde now performed his woide/ that he spake/ for I am come vp in my father Dauid's steade/ as he sate vpon the seat of Israel/ euen as the Lorde sayde/ and haue buylded an house vnto the name of the Lorde God of Israel/ and in it haue I put the Table/ wherein is the conuenent of the Lorde/ which he made with the chyldren of Israel.

And he stode before the altare/ of the Lorde/ in the presence of the whole congregation of Israel/ and spock out his handes/ for Salomon had made a bishen pulpit/ as he set in the middes of the court/ in eynes longe/ as he cut bates to make/ and the cubites hye: vpon thys same stode he/ and fell doune vpon his knees/ in the presence of the whole congregation of Israel/ and bade out his handes towards heauen and sayde:

O Lorde God of Israel/ there is no God as thou lyke the/ neither in heauen nor vpon earth/ thou that kepest conuenant and mercy for thy seruauntes/ that walke before the with all theyr hearte. Thou hast kept promises with my father Dauid thy seruaunt: With thy mouth thou saydest it/ as with thy hande hast thou fulfilled it/ so it is come to passe this daye. Now Lorde God of Israel/ make good vnto my father Dauid thy seruaut/ that which thou hast promised him and sayd: Thou shalt not wante a man before me/ to sit vpon the seate of Israel: if thy chyldren kepe theyr waye/ so that they walke in my lawe/ lyke as thou haste walkid before me: Now Lorde God of Israel/ let thy woide be verified/ which thou hast promised vnto Dauid thy seruaut.

For thy nest thou that God in very dede dwelleth amonge men vpon earth: ¶ Behold/ the heauen and the braunes of all heaues maye not coneyne the: how should the this house do it/ which I haue buylde: But tume the vnto the prayer of thy seruants/ and to his supplication: O Lorde my God/ thou maist heare the: thankegeuyng and prayer/ which thy seruants make/ before the/ so that thyne eyes be open ouer this house/ and myghte ouer this place: wherein thou saydest thou wouldest sit by name: that thou mayest heare the prayer/ which thy seruants shall make in this place. Heare now therefore the interest of thy seruants/ as of thy people of Israel: wherofour they shal desire in this place/ heare thou it from the place of thy habitacion/ euen from heauen: and when thou hearest/ be mercifull.

Whā any mā synneth against his neyghbour/ and an ooth be put vpon him/ which he ought to sweare/ and the ooth cometh before thyn altare in this house/ the beare thou frō heauen/ and see that thy seruants haue righte: so that thou rewarde the vngedyly/ and recompence him his waye vpon his owne head/ as to iustise the vngedyly/ and to geue him accordyng to his ryghte conscience.

When thy people of Israel to synnen be fore they enemyes/ whyle they haue synned against the Lord/ and if they turne vnto the/ and knowlege thy name/ and make theys prayer a intercession before the in this house/ the heare thou them from heauen/ and be mercyfull vnto the synne of thy people of Israel/ and bunge them againe into the lade / that thou hast geuen them againe and theys fatheres.

iii. re. xli. a

and be mercyfull vnto they synne of thy seruantes

Mat. v. d

Iohn. i. c

¶ And when any straunger / which is not of thy people of Israel / cometh out of a farre countre because of thy great name / and might in his hande / and outstretcht arme / and cometh to make his prayer in this house / heare thou him then from heauen / euen from the scate of thy habitation : and do all for the which that straunger collecteth vpon the / that all the natio

Dauid.

The. VII. Chapter.

¶ When Salomon had ended his prayer / there fell a fyre fro heauen / and consumed the burnt offeringes and the other offeringes.
And the glory of the Lord filled the house / so that the priestes coulde not go in to the house of the Lord / whyle the glorye of the Lord filled the Lordes house. And all the chyld of Israel sawe the fyre fall downe / and the glorye of the Lord ouer the house / and they fell on theys faces with theys faces to the ground vpon the pavement / and worshipped / a gaue thanks.

shankes onto the Lorde / because he is gracious / a because his mercy endureth for euer. As for the Kinge and all the people / they offered before the Lorde.

So Kinge Salomon offered two and twenty thousand bullocks / and an hundred thousand sheepe / and twenty thousand sheepe / and so both the Kinge / a all the people dedicated the house of God.

B But the priests stood in theyr watches / and the Levites with the musical instrumentes of the Lorde / which Kinge Dauid had caused to make for to give thanks unto the Lorde / (because his mercy endureth for euer) with psalmes of Dauid / whom theye hande. And the priests blew trumpets ouer agaynst them / and all Israel stood.

And Salomon bowed the middellinosse court / which was before the house of the Lorde / for there prepared he the burnt offeringes / and the fat of the rabe offeringes. For the brazen aulnare that Salomon made / myght not cōtayne all the burnt offeringes / and the fat.

L And at the same tyme beelde Salomon a feast seuen dayes longe / and all Israel with hym a very great congregation / from Gemeth onto the ryuer of Egypt / and on the egipt dayes helde he a conuocation. For the dedication of the aulnare helde they seuen dayes / and the feast seuen dayes also.

But on the thie and twentieth daye of the seuid month / he led the people go vnto theyr tentes ioyfull and with merry heartes / because of all the good that the Lorde had done vnto Dauid / vnto Salomon / and to his people of Israel.

E Thus finished Salomon the house of the Lorde / and the Kinges house / and al that came in his herce to make in the house of the Lorde / a in his owne house / prosperously. And the Lorde appeared vnto Salomon in the nyght season / and sayd vnto hym: I haue heard thy prayer / and chosen this place vnto my selfe for an house of sacrifice. Beholde / wher I shal the brauen so that it rayne nor / or commaunde the greasoppper to consume / I will / or cause a pishence to come amonge my people / vnto humble my people / which is named after my name / and if they praye / and see my face / and turne from theyr euil wayes / the wil

I heare them from heauen / and will forgive theyr synne / and heale theyr lande. So shall myne eyes now be open / a mine eares shalbe attente vnto prayer in this place. Thus haue I now chosen this house / a sanctified it / that myne name inage be there for euer / and myne eyes and my hearte shall allwaye be there.

And if thou walke before me / as thy father Dauid walked / so that thou do all that I commaunde the / and kepe myne ordinaunces and lawes / the will I stably be thy father / and I will I cast awaye out of my presence / and geue it ouer to be a bywoide a siddell amonge all natione. And eury one that goeth by / shalbe astonished at this nye house / and shall saye as it / and saye: Wherfore hath the Lorde dealt thus with this Lande a with this house? Then shal it be sayde: Euen because they haue forsake the Lorde God of theyr fathers / whiche broughte them out of the lande of Egypt / and haue cleued vnto other goddes / and worshipped the / and serued them: therefore hath he broughte all this euil vpon them.

The. VIII. Chapter.

And after twenty years / wherein Salomon builded the house of the Lorde / a his owne house / he builded the cyrces also which Siram gaue vnto Salomon / and caused the chyldren of Israel to dwell therein. And Salomon went vnto Gemath Zoba / a made it stronge / and builded Chadmor in the wyldernes / and al the come cyrces which he builded in Gemath. He builded the upper and lower Bethon lyke wyse / so that they were stronge cyrces with walles / poyntes / and barres / and Balarb. And all the come cyrces which Salomon had / and all the cyrces of the charrettes / and of the horsemen / and all that Salomon had lust to builde / both at Jerusalem / and vpon Libanus / and in all the lande of his dominion.

B All the remnant of the people of the Berbees / Amontees / Berbesites / Hewites a Jebustees / which were not of the children of Israel / a they children which they had left behinde them in the lande / whome the children of Israel had not vnto this daye / those dyd Salomon make tributaries vnto this daye. As for the childen of Israel / Salomon made no bondmen of them vnto his wife / but they were men of warre / and chiefe captaynes / and ouer his charrettes and horsemen. And the chiefe of king Salomons officero were two hundred and fifty / which ruled the people.

And Salomon caused Pharaons daughter to be fedged vpon one of the cytes of Dauid / in to the house that he had builded for her. For he sayd : My wyfe shall not dwell in the house of Dauid kinge of Israel / for it is sanctified / in so much as the Ark of the Lorde is come into it.

C Then offered Salomon burnt offerings vnto the Lorde vpon the Lodes aultare / which he had buylded before the porch / every one vpon his daye to offer after the ordinance of Moses / on the Sabbathes / new Moones / and at the appointed seasons of the yere / euen T the tymes / namely in the feast of vnleuened bread / in the feast of wexes / and in the feast of Tabernacles.

D And he set vp eikes in oade to theyr ministrations / accordinge as Dauid his father had appointed / and the Leuites in theyr offices / to geue thanks / and to minister in the presence of the people / every one vpon his daye. And the doctepers in theyr courses / every one at his doct / so had Dauid the man of God commanded.

E And they departed not from the kinges commaundment ouer the peccles and Leuites in every manner / and in the treasure. Thus was all Salomons busynesse made ready / fro the daye that the foundation of the Lordes house was layed / vntill it was finished / so that the house of the Lorde was all prepared.

F Then went Salomon vnto Iezon Gebel / and vnto Elath by the seeyde in the lande of Edomee. And Heris sent him shippers by his seruantes / which had knowlege of the see / and they went with Salomons seruantes vnto Ophir / and fedged from thence foure hundred and fiftye talentes of golde / and broughit vnto Kinge Salomon.

The .XX. Chapter.

G And when the Queene of syche Arab is berde / a the same of Salomons she came with a very great mynne to Jerusalem / (with camels that bare spices and golde / a precious stones) to proue Salomon with darre sentences. And when she came vnto Salomon / she spake vnto him all that she had deuyed in her mynde. And Kinge told her all her matter / and Salomon had nothyng in secreete / but he tolde it her.

And when the Queene of syche Arabia saw the wysdome of Salomon / and the house that he had buylded / the maceo of his table / the dwellinges of his seruantes / the efface of his ministres / and theyr garments / and his buskers / and theyr apparell / a his parlor where he went vpon in to the house of the Lorde / she could no longer restryne. And she sayde vnto the Kinge : It is true that I haue berde in my land of thy behauiour / and of thy wysdome / howbeit / I wold not beluee theyr wordes / till I came my selfe / and sawe it with myne eyes / and beholde / the halfe of thy great wysdome hath not bene tolde me : there is more in thee then the fame that I haue berde. Happy are thy men / and happy are these thy seruantes / that alwaye stande before the / and heare thy wysdome. Prayed he the Lorde thy God / which had such pleasure vnto the / that he hath set the vpon his seat to be Kinge vnto the Lorde thy God. Because thy God loveth Israel / to set them vp for euer / therefore hath he ordeyned the to be Kinge ouer them / that thou shouldest maneyne iustice and equite.

And she gaue the Kinge an hundred and twentye talentes of golde / and very much spycery and precious stones. There were no mo such spices as these / that the Queene of syche Arabia gaue vnto Kinge Salomon. And Heramo seruantes / and the seruantes of Salomon / which broughit golde fro Ophir / broughit collymynder also and precious stones.

And of the same collymynder dyd Salomon cause to make flagers in the house of the Lorde / and in the Kinges house / and harpes and psalteries for the musicians. There was no such mynder sine before in the lande of Iuda.

But kynge Salomō gave the Quene of riche Arabia all that she desired a croud/and muche more then she had thought vnto the kynge. And she returned/ & departed into her lande with her seruantes.

The golde that was thought vnto Salomon in one yere/ was sixe hundred and sixe a the score talents/ besides that the chapyne and marchantes thought. And all the kynges of the Arabians/ and the lordes in the lande thought golde a syluer vnto Salomon. Of the which kynges Salomon made two hundred peeces of beateen golde/ so that sixe hundred peeces of beateen golde came vpon one yere: a the hundredthildes of beateen golde/ so that the hundredth peeces of beateen golde came to one shylde: and the kyng put them in the heuse of the wood of Libanus.

¶ And the kyng made a great seate of Iuery/ and overlaid it with pure golde: a the seate had sixe steeppes/ and a footeholde of golde fastened vnto the seate/ and it had two leaning postes vpon each the sydes of the seate/ a two Lyons stode beside the leaning postes/ and there stode twelfe Lyons vpon the sixe steeppes on both the sydes. In al realmes hath not such one beateen.

And all kynges Salomons vnto kynges vessels were of golde/ and all the vessels of the house of the wood of Libanus/ were of pure golde: for syluer was refused nothing in Salomons tyme. For the kynges shoppes wente vpon the see with the seruantes of Tyram/ and came once in the yere/ a thought gold/ syluer/ Iuery/ Apes and Decodes.

This was kyng Salomon greater then all the kynges vpon earth/ in ryches a wysedome. And all the kynges of the earth desired to se Salomons face/ a to heare his wysedome/ which God had geuen him in his heart. And they thought him yearly euery man his present: the yongle of syluer and gold/ raiment/ harnesse/ speeres/ bowes and mules.

¶ And Salomon had foure thousand charrettes/ and twelfe thousande hoysmen/ a put them in the charrrettes/ and with the kyng at Jerusalem. And he was lorde ouer all the kynges from the water vnto the lande of the Philistines/ and to the coast of Egypte. And the kyng desired so to passe/ that there was as muche syluer at Jerusalem as stones/ as many Ceders/ as there were Nylbery trees in the vallies. And there were hoyses thought vnto hym out of Egypte/ and out of all contries.

What more ther is to saye of Salomon/ both of his fylle/ and of his last/ beholde/ it is written in the Cronicles of the prophete Nathan/ and in the prophesyces of Ahia of Silo/ and in the cries of Ieddi the Syer agaynst Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat. And Salomon raygned at Jerusalem all Israel fortye yeres. And Salomon fell on slepe with his fathers/ and was buried in the cytie of Dauid his father. And Roboam his sonne was kyng in his steade.

The X. Chapter.

¶ Roboam wente vnto Sidem: for all Israel was come vnto Sidem/ to make it hym kyng. And when Jeroboā the sonne of Nebat herd thereof/ which was in Egypt/ tyme it ther he was fled for kyng Salomon/ he came agayne out of Egypte. And they sent for him and called him. And Jeroboā came with all Israel/ a spake to Roboam/ and sayde: Thy father made our yoke greuous/ make thou ligher now the hard bondage of thy father/ a the heavy yoke he layed vpon vs/ a we wil submitte our selues vnto the. He saide vnto them/ Come to me agayne our the dayes. And the people went they waye.

And Roboam the kyng aged counsaill at the Elders/ which had stonde before Salomō his father/ while he lyued/ a he saide: What is your counsaill/ that I maye geue this people an answer? They spake vnto hym/ a sayde: If thou be lounge vnto this people/ a deale gently with them/ agayne them good wordes/ then shal they alwaye be obedient vnto the. Neuertheless/ he forsoke the counsaill of the Elders/ & they had geuen him/ a rife counsaill at the yongle men/ which were growen vp to him/ a stode before him. And he said vnto them: What is your counsaill/ that we maye answer this people/ which haue spoke vnto me/ a saide: Make our yoke ligher/ that thy father layed vpon vs? He sayde: that were growen vp with him/ spake vnto hym/ a sayde: Thus shalte thou saye vnto the people/ that haue talked with the and spoken: Thy father

¶ Make our yeet to heauy/make thou our yeete lyghter. Thus spak thou vnto them: My hyle synn geueth thicker thel my fathers loyues: If my father hath leyed an heauy yeete vpon you / I wil make your yeete the more. My father chastened you with scourges: but I wil beate you with scorpions.

¶ When Jeroboam and al the people came to Koboam on the thyrde daye: accordinge as the kynge saide: Come to me againe on the thirde daye / the kynge gaue them an harde answer. And Koboam the kynge foresaie the counsayl of the elders / and spake vnto them after the yong mens counsayl / and saide: If my father haue made your yeete to heauy / I wil make it yet heauyer. My father chastened you with scourges: but I wil beate you with scorpions. Thus the kynge followed not the peoples mynde: so: so was it determined of God: that the Lorde myghte stablish his thron: / which he spake by Apia of Silo: vnto Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat. But when al Israel sawe that the kynge wolde not conserue vnto them / the people answered the kynge a saide: What poyson haue we then in Dauid / or in bentance: in the sonne of Isai: Let every man of Israel get him to his tente. Like thou now to thy house Dauid. And al Israel wnt vnto theyr tentes: so that Koboam raigned but ouer the children of Israel that dwelt in the ciuities of Iuda. And Koboam the kynge sent south Adoram the renergetherer: but the children of Israel stoned him to deeth. And King Koboam strengred himselfe vpon his charrnet: to ste vnto Jerusalem. Thus sell Israel away from the house of Dauid vnto this daye.

¶ When Jeroboam came to Jerusalem / he gathered together the house of Iuda and Ben Jamin / C euen an hundred and foure score thousande chosen men of armes) to fyght against Israel: that they might bring the kynngdome agayne vnto Koboam. But the worde of the Lord came to Semai the man of God: / and he saide: Speake to Koboam the sonne of Salomon kynge of Iuda: a to al Israel that are in Iuda / a Ben Jamin / and saye: Thus sayeth the Lorde: Ye shall not go vp: nor fyghte agaynsle your brethren: let every man go home againe: for this is my veyde:

¶ When Jeroboam and al the people came to Koboam on the thyrde daye: accordinge as the kynge saide: Come to me againe on the thirde daye / the kynge gaue them an harde answer. And Koboam the kynge foresaie the counsayl of the elders / and spake vnto them after the yong mens counsayl / and saide: If my father haue made your yeete to heauy / I wil make it yet heauyer. My father chastened you with scourges: but I wil beate you with scorpions. Thus the kynge followed not the peoples mynde: so: so was it determined of God: that the Lorde myghte stablish his thron: / which he spake by Apia of Silo: vnto Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat. But when al Israel sawe that the kynge wolde not conserue vnto them / the people answered the kynge a saide: What poyson haue we then in Dauid / or in bentance: in the sonne of Isai: Let every man of Israel get him to his tente. Like thou now to thy house Dauid. And al Israel wnt vnto theyr tentes: so that Koboam raigned but ouer the children of Israel that dwelt in the ciuities of Iuda. And Koboam the kynge sent south Adoram the renergetherer: but the children of Israel stoned him to deeth. And King Koboam strengred himselfe vpon his charrnet: to ste vnto Jerusalem. Thus sell Israel away from the house of Dauid vnto this daye.

The XI. Chapter.

¶ When Jeroboam came to Jerusalem / he gathered together the house of Iuda and Ben Jamin / C euen an hundred and foure score thousande chosen men of armes) to fyght against Israel: that they might bring the kynngdome agayne vnto Koboam. But the worde of the Lord came to Semai the man of God: / and he saide: Speake to Koboam the sonne of Salomon kynge of Iuda: a to al Israel that are in Iuda / a Ben Jamin / and saye: Thus sayeth the Lorde: Ye shall not go vp: nor fyghte agaynsle your brethren: let every man go home againe: for this is my veyde:

¶ They hardened vnto his wordes of the Lorde: a wrote not south against Jeroboam. And for Koboam: he dwelt at Jerusalem / and builded vp the stronge citie in Iuda: namely Bethleem: Eran: Ekra: Bethyur: Betho: Abull: Beth: Marsa: Siph: Adonim: Kadres: Heza: Zarega: Usalon: and Hebron: which were the fenced cities in Iuda and Ben Jamin: a he made them stronge: and serpinesse therein / and prouided them of wyttles / oyle / a wyne / and in al cities prepared he shildes and speeres: and made them very stronge. And Iuda and Ben Jamin were vnder him.

¶ The priestes and Leuites also came vnto him out of al Israel: and from all the borders thereof. And left their suburbs: a possession: and came to Iuda vnto Jerusaleme: for Jeroboam and his sonnes expelled them: that they shoulde not execute the office of the priesthode vnto the Lorde. But for him selfe he foundid priestes to the hie places / a to seide Bethleem and castes: which he caused to make: And after them came there men out of al the trybes of Israel: which gaue ouer theyr herres to seke the Lorde God of Israel / and came to Jerusaleme for to offer vnto the Lorde God of theyr fathers. And so strengred they the kynngdome of Iuda: a maintained Koboam the sonne of Salomon the yere longe: for they walked in the waye of Dauid and Salomon the yereas.

¶ And Koboam toke: Melach the daughter of Jeremoth the sonne of Dauid to wyfe: a Zibai the daughter of Eliah the sonne of Isai: which bare him these sonnes: Jeus: Seimana and Sabam. A tfter her toke he: Naacha the daughter of Abisalon: which bare him Abia: Zibai: Sisa: a Selemuth. But Koboam loued Naacha the daughter of Abisalon better then all his wyfes a concubines: for he had egyptine wyfes a thes foue concubines: and begar eight and twenty sonnes: and the foue daughters. And Koboam set Abia the sonne of Naacha to be heade and punce amonge his brethren: for he thought to make him kynge: for he was resseland more mighty then al his finnes in al the countres of Iuda and Ben Jamin: and in al the stronge ciuities. And he gaue them plentyuousnesse of foode: and desired many wyfes.

The XII. Chapter.

AND when the kynge dome of Reboam was ashyved and stablyshed: he forsoke the lawe of the Lord: and all Israel voyd hym. And in the fyfth yere of Reboam: wente Sisak the kynge of Egypt vp against Jerusalem: for they had transgressed against the Lord: with a thousande and two hundred charrettes: and with the score thousand horsemen: and the people were innumerable that came with him out of Egypt / Libya / Cushim: out of Ethiopia: a he wanne the stronge citie that were in Juda: and came to Jerusalem.

Then came Semai the prophete vnto Reboam: a to the rulers of Juda: (whiche were gathered together at Jerusalem for Sisak) a sayd vnto them: Thus sayeth the Lord: Ye haue left me: therefore haue I left you also in Siskas hande. Then the rulers in Israel with the kynge submitted them selves and said: The Lord is ryghteous.

But when the Lord sawe that they humbled them selves: the woide of the Lord came to Semai: and sayde: They haue humbled them selves: therefore will I not destroye them: but I will geue them a lytle deliuerance: that my indignacion fall not vpon Jerusalem by Sisak: for they shalbe subdued vnto hym: that they maye knowe what it is to serue me: to serue the kyngdome of the woide.

Thus wente Sisak the kynge of Egypte vp to Jerusalem: and toke the treasures in the house of the Lord: and the treasures in the kynge house: and carryed all awaye: and toke the sheldes of gold: that Salomon caused to make in Hebron: wherof kynge Reboam made sheldes of stele: and committed them vnto the chiefe foremen: which kepte the doore of the kynge house. And as a ste as the kynge wente in to the house of the Lord: the foremen came and bare them: a broughte them agayne into the foremens chamber. And for so muche as he submitted hymself: the wrath of the Lord turned from hym: so that all was not destroyed: for there was yet some good in Juda.

C Thus was Reboam the kynge stablyshed in Jerusalem: and reigned. One and foure yeare olde was Reboam when he was made kynge: and reigned fouretyene yere at Jerusalem in the citie: which the Lord had chosen out of all tribes of Israel: to set his name there. His mothers name was Naema an Ammonitisse: a he had euel: and prepared net his hart to ste the Lord.

These actes of Reboam: both first and last: are writen in the actes of Semai the prophete: and of Iddo the Seer: and are noted: and so are the warres that Reboam a Jeroboam had to gether as longe as they lyued. And Reboam fell on slope with his sesters: and was buryed in the cyne of Dauid: a Abia his sone was kynge in his steede.

The XIII. Chapter.

AND the cyghenteh yere of kynge Jeroboam was Abia kynge in Juda: and reigned thre yere at Jerusalem. His mothers name was Michaa the daughter of Uriel of Gibea. And there was warre betwene Abia and Jeroboam. And Abia prepared hym selfe to the battayl with foure hundred thousande stronge chosen men of warre. But Jeroboam made himselfe ready to fyghte against him with eght hundred thousande chosen men of strenght.

And Abia gat hym vp vpon the hyl Samarain: which lyeth vpon mount Ephraim: and sayde: Herken vnto me thou Jeroboam and all Israel: knowe ye not that the Lord God of Israel hath geuen Dauid the kynge dome of Israel for euer: vnto hym and his sonnes with a salt conuenant: but Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat the seruant of Salomon Dauidas sonne: gat him vp and fill a waye from his loide. And there referred vnto him vagaboundes a dyblen of Elial: a haw strenghted them selfe against Reboam: the sonne of Salomon: for Reboam was vnzonged and of a fearfull hart: a coulde not resist hem.

Nowe thynke ye to ser your selfe against the kyngdome of the Lord: amonge the sonnes of Dauid: for so muche as there is so great a multitude of you: a haue the golden calves: that Jeroboam made you for goddes: haue ye not speyked the priestes of the Lord: the dyblen of Aaron and the Levites: and haue made you priestes of youre owne: euen as the people people of the landes: Whose euer commeth to fill his hande with a yonge bullocke and seuen rammes / shall pisse vnto them that are not goddes.

But with vs is the Lorde oure God / whome we forsake not: and the priestes that minister vnto the Lorde / the chyldren of Zaron and the Leuites in theyr busynes / and euery moonyng and euery euenyng kynde they the burntofferynges vnto the Lorde / and the sweete incense / and prepare the shewbrade vpon the pure table / and the golden candelstycke with his lompes / to be kyndled euery euenyng: so we waite vpon the Lorde oure God.

Numb. 1. a

As for you / ye haue forsaken hym. Beholde / God is the captayne of oure host / and with vs are his priestes / and the blowing trompettes / to trompe agaynste you. Ye chyldren of Israell / syghte not agaynste the Lorde God of your fathers: for ye shall not prosper.

Neuertheless / Jeroboam made a pryuy watch in euery syde / to come vpon them behynde / so that they were before Iuda / and the pryuy watche behynde. Now when Iuda turned them beholde / there was a battayl before them and behynde. Then cryed they vnto the Lorde / and the priestes trompetted with the trompettes / and when euery man in Iuda gaue a shoute / God plagued Jeroboam / a Israell before Abia and Iuda. And the chyldren of Israell stood before Iuda / a God gaue them into theyr handes / so that Abia and his people vsd a greate slaughter vpon them / a there fell wounded of Israell fyue hundred thousande chosen men.

Thus were the chyldren of Israell subdued at the tyme / but the chyldren of Iuda were comforted / for they put theyr trust in the Lorde God of theyr fathers. And Abia followed vpon Jeroboam / a manne cyrene from Byrry / Berpel with the villages therof / Zefana with her villages / and Ephraim with the villages therof / so that Jeroboam came none to strength as long as Abia liued. And the Lorde smote hym that he dyed.

Now when Abia was strengthened / he toke fouertene wyfes / and begat two a twenty sonnes and fyne daugters. What more there is to saye of Abia / and of his wyces and his voynges / it is wyrtten in the storye of the prophet Iobbo. And Abia fell on slepe with his fathers / and they buried hym in the cyrie of Danib: and Asa his sonne was kyng in his steade. In his tyme was the lande in rest ten yeres.

The XIII. Chapter.

Asa vsd that which was good and right in the syghte of the Lorde his God / and put awaye the strawinge aulteres / a the hye places / and brake the pylers / and bemed vnto the grouse / and saide vnto Iuda / that they should seke the Lorde God of theyr fathers: a so after the lawe a commaundmentes. And the hye places and Idols were awaye out of all the cyries of Iuda: a the kyngdome had rest before hym. And he byrsted stronge cyries in Iuda / while the lande was in quietnes / a while there was no warre agaynste hym in the same yeres: for the Lorde gaue hym rest.

And he sayde vnto Iuda: Let vs buyde by vnto the cyries / and fence them rounde about with walles and to wetes / with pottes a barettes / while the lide is yet with vs: for we haue soughte the Lorde oure God / a he hath gaue us rest in euery syde. So they buyded / a it wente prosperously with them. And Asa had an host of men / which bare byrdes and speares / out of Iuda the hundred thousande / and out of Ben Jamin two hundred a foure score thousande that bare sheldes / and could beate with bowes: a all these were myghty stronge men.

But Gerah the Moorian came out agaynste hym with an host of a thousande nyce a thousande / and with the hundred charrettes / and came vnto Marsa. And Asa wente forth agaynste hym / and they prepared the feltes to the battail in the valley Sephara besyde Marsa. And Asa called vpon the Lorde his God / and saide: Lorde / there is no difference betwixt me / a the he / to helpe by fewe or by many. Helpe / O Lorde our God / for our trust is in the multitude. Lorde oure God / let our manne peccable agaynste the.

And the Lorde smote the Moorians before Asa a before Iuda / so that they fled. And Asa with the people that was by hym / soled upon them vnto Gerar. And the Mo-nans fel/so that none of the remayned ays/his were smyten before the Lozde and before his host. And they carryed exceedinge much spoyle from thence. And he smote all the cities about Gerar for a fearefulnesse of h Lozde came vpon them. And they spoiled all the cities for there was much spoyle in the.

They smote the tentes of the camel also / a toke many shepe and camels / and came againe to Ierusalem.

The. XV. Chapter.

I And the sperte of God came vpon Asa-Was the sonne of Obed / which wente forth vnto Asa / and saide vnto him: Heare me Asa and all Iuda and Ben Iamin: The Lozde is with you / whyle ye are with hym / and if ye forsake hym / he wil forsake you. Vnto the last / there shalbe many dayes in Israel / that there shalbe no true God / no iust to teache / and no lawe. And when they turne in they moule vnto the Lozde God of Israel / and seke hym / he shalbe founde. At that tyme shall it not be well with hym that goeth out a in:
for there shalbe great vprourne vpon all them that dwell on the earth. For one people shal not smyte another / one cytie another: for God shal venge them with al maner of trouble. But sepe strong / and let not your hande be still:
for your worke hath his reward.

B When Asa herde these wordes / and the prophecyenge of Asarias the sonne of Obed the prophe: he toke a courage vnto him / and put away the abhominacions out of all the lanse of Iuda and Ben Iamin: / and out of the cities that he had wonne vpon mount Ephraim: and renewed the Lozdes altare / which stode before the porte of the Lozde. And all Iuda and Ben Iamin gathered themsel-ues together / and the strangers with them out of Ephraim / Manasses and Simcon: for there fell many into hym out of Israel / wha they sawe that the Lozde his God was with him: And they resorted vnto Ierusalem in the thirde moneth of the ffteenth yeare of the reigne of Asa / and the same daye offered they vnto the Lozde of the spoyle that they had broughte / seven hundred oxen / a seuen / houn-

and shepe.

And they entred into the conuenaunt / that they wolde seke the Lozde God of they fathers / with all theys herte / and with all theys strength: And whosoeuer wolde not seke h Lozde
God of Israel / shoulde bye / both small and grette / both man and woman: a they sturre vnto the Lozde with loude voyce / with shousnyng / with trompettes / and with shawncs.
And all Iuda were glad ouer f oorth / for they had sworne with al theys herte / and they sou-ghte hym with a whole wys: a he was found of them / and the Lozde gaue them rest on eu-ery syde.

And Asa the kynge put Doune his mother Mecha from the mynistrye / for she had founde in the grone vnto Miplezeth / and Asa raised out her Miplezeth / and byd stete in in sunder / and buente it by the Brook Edion: But the bye places were not put Doune out of Israel. Yet was the herte of Asa per-fecte as long as he liued. And loke what his father had halowed / and that he hym selfe had halowed / he thoughte it was the huse of God siluer / golde / and ornamentals: And there was no warre vnto the fyue and thirtysythe yeare of the reaigne of Asa.

The. XVI. Chapter.

In the fyve and thirtysythe yeare of h reigne of Asa / wente Baasa the kynge of Israel / vnto Ierusalem / and builded Rama / to let Asa the kynge of Iuda / that he shoulde not come out and in: But Asa toke forth the treasure in the house of the Lozde / and the siluer and golde in the fynge houses / a sent it vnto Be-nadad the kynge of Syria / which dwelt at Damascus / and caused to saye vnto hym: There is a conuenaunt betwene me and the Gerrene my father and thy father / therefore haue I sent the siluer and golde / that thou mayest make the conuenaunt with Baasa the kynge of Israel / that he maye departe fro me.

Benadad herfene vnto kynge Asa / a sente his hoste againe the cyties of Israel / which smote Elion / Dan and Abel Meim / and al the coyne cyties of Ierusalem: When Baasa herde that he left of from buildyng Rama / and escaped from his weike: But kynge Asa toke all Iuda vnto hym / and carryed away the stounes and ymber from Rama / wherewith

Asa was dyed and he was buried with Gedai and Elisaba his wife.

B At the same time came Hanani the Seer unto Asa the King of Juda; and sayde unto him: Because thou hast trusted vnto the King of Syria; and not put thy trust in the Lord thy God; therefore is the power of the King of Syria escaped thy hande. ¶ Were not the Philistines and Egyptians a great multitude; iserecabyng; many charrettes and horsemen?

¶ Da. p. 4.

Yet gaue the Lord thee them into thy hande; when thou woldst put thy trust in him: for the eyes of the Lord looke rounde aboute all landes; to strenghten them that are in him with all their heere. Thou hast done vnwisely; therefore shalt thou haue warre from henceforth. But Asa was wroth at the Seer; and put him in prison; for he murmured to hym ouer this thinge. And Asa oppressed certayne of the people at the same time.

C These are the actes of Asa both fyrste and last; behold; they are written in the booke of the Kinges of Juda and Israel. And Asa was dyscasse in his feare; in the nyne and thyrtyeth yere of his reigne; and his sickness increased. ¶ Whether sought he the Lord; in his sickness; but trusted vnto Physicians. Thus fell Asa on slepe with his father; and dyed in the one and fortyeth yere of his reigne; and was buried in his owne sepulchre; which he had caused to be grauen for himselfe in the cytye of Sauid. And they layed hym vpon his bed; which was fylled with sweete odoures; and all maner of spices; (made after the Spotecanians craft); and they made a very greate burnyng.

The XVII. Chapter.

And Josaphat his soune was kyng in his stead; a wyse myghty against Israel. And he put men of warre in all the stronge cytyes of Juda; and set officers in the lande of Juda; and in the cytye of Ephraim; which Asa his father had wonne. And the Lord was with Josaphat; for he walked in the olde wayes of his father Sauid; and soughte not Baalim; but the God of his father; a walker in his commaundementes; and not after the wykes of Israel; therefore dyd the Lord stablish the kyngdome in his hande. And all Juda gaue presentes vnto Josaphat; and he had greate ryche and worship. And wha his heere was courage in the wayes of the Lord; he put vnto hym all the hie places and groues of Juda.

In the thirde yere of his reigne sente he his princes; Benhai; Obadiah; Sapharias; Meschabel; and Mischa; to teach in the cytye of Juda; and with them the Leuites; Semai; Meschabiah; Sebachiah; Sischel; Semaromoth; Jonathan; Adonia; Lebiah; and Tob Adonia; and with the priestes Elisama and Zoi. And they taught in Juda; and had the booke of lawe of the Lord with them; and wente aboute in all the cytyes of Juda; and taught the people.

And the feare of the Lord came vpon all the kyngdome; in the contries that laye aboute Juda; so that they soughte not againste Josaphat. And the Philistines thoughte they shoulde be slauer vnto Josaphat. And the Arabians thoughte hym feuen thousande and feuen hundred rammers; and feuen thousande and feuen hundred begoades. Thus increased Josaphat; and greue euer greater. And he builded castles and corne castles in Juda; and dyd muche in the cytyes of Juda; and had valcants and myghty men at Jerusalem.

And this was the ordinaunce thowout the house of they fathers; which were ruled ouer thousandes in Juda: Dona a captaine; and with him were the hundred thousande myghty men. Next vnto him was Zeban the chiefe; and with hym were two hundred and foure score thousande. Next hym was Amasia the sonne of Seida; the free wylinge of the Lord; and with hym were two hundred thousande valcants men. Of the children of Ben Jamin was Elisab a myghty man; and with hym were two hundred thousande ready with bowes and shyldes. Next vnto hym was Isabab; and with him were an hundred and foure score thousande barnessed men of warre. All these wayed vpon the kyng; besides those that the kyng had layd in the stronge cytyes thowout all Juda.

The XVIII. Chapter.

And Josaphat had greate ryche and worship; and made frendshippe with Achaz.

hab. And after two yeeres wente he vnto Achab vnto Samaria. And Achab caused many sheepe and oxen to be slaine for him/ and so: for the people that were with him. And he counsailed him to go vp vnto Ramoth in Gilead. And Achab the kynge of Israel sayde vnto Iosaphat the kynge of Iuda: Go with me vnto Ramoth in Gilead. He saide vnto hym: I am as thou/and my people as thy people/we will go with the vnto the battayll.

But Iosaphat sayd vnto the kynge of Israel: Let counsaill be praye the xiiij. daye at the worde of the Lord. And the kynge of Israel gathered the prophetes together/euen foure hundred men/and sayde vnto them: Shall we go to the battayll vnto Ramoth in Gilead/ or shal I let it alone. They saide: Go vp/ God shal vsquere it into thynges hande. But Iosaphat sayd: Is there no yet one prophete of the Lord here/that we maye aske at him? He the king of Israel said vnto Iosaphat: There is yet one man/at whom we maye aske at the Lord/ but I hate hym/so: he prophesyeth me no good/ but alwaye euell/ namely Mithcas the sonne of Iemla. Iosaphat sayde: Let not the kynge feare so. And the king of Israel called one of his chamberlaynes/ and sayde: Bynge hit her sone Mithcas the sonne of Iemla.

And the kynge of Israel/and Iosaphat the kynge of Iuda/ set cyrber of them vpon his feet/arayed in theyr garments. Euen in the place at the voie of the porte of Samaria sat they/and all the prophetes prophesied before them. And Sedechias the sonne of Enace no had made hym bouce of syon/and sayde: Thus sayeth the Lord: With these shalt thou push at the Syrians: yll thou bynge them to neyghbe. And all the prophetes prophesied byt wyse/ and sayde: Go vp vnto Ramoth in Gilead/and thou shalt prosper/ and the Lord shal vsquere it into the kynge hande.

And the messenger that wente to call Mithcas/ spake vnto hym/ and sayde: Beholde: the wydes of the prophetes are with one accord good before the kynge: let thy word/ I praye the: be as one of theyr/ and speake thou good also. But Mithcas said: Lo truly as the Lord dyed/ soke what my God sayeth vnto me/ that will I speake. And whā he came to the kynge/ the kynge sayde vnto hym: Mithcas/ shoulde we go vnto Ramoth in Gilead to the battayll/ or shoulde we let it alone? He sayde: Go vp and ye shall prosper. It shalbe geuen you in your handes. But the kynge saide vnto hym: I charge the: yet again that thou telme nothinge/ but the wryth in my name of the Lord.

Then sayde he: I sawe all Israel scattered abroad vpon the mountayne/ as the shepe that haue no sheptherde. And the Lord sayd: Hauce these no loid: Let every one turne home agayne in peace. Then sayde the kynge of Israel vnto Iosaphat: Dyd not I tel the/ that he wolde prophesy me no good/ but euell.

And he sayde: Therfore heare ye the worde of the Lord: I sawe the Lord sit vpon his seate/ and all the hoste of heauen standinge at his ryghte hande/ and at his lefte. And the Lord sayde: Who will deceaue Achab the kynge of Israel/ that he maye go vp and fall at Ramoth in Gilead? And whā one sayde thus/ another so: there came forth a spere/ and stode before the Lord/ and sayde: I will deceaue hym. The Lord sayde vnto hym: Where with? He sayde: I will go forth/ as a false spere in the mouth of all his prophetes. And he sayde: Thou shalt deceaue hym/ and shalt be able: go thy waye/ and do so. Beholde now/ the Lord hath geuen a false spere in the mouth of all these thy prophetes/ and the Lord hath spoken euell against the.

Then spake forth Sedechias the sonne of Enacina/ and smote Mithcas vpon the cheke/ and said: Which waye is the spere of the Lord departed fro me/ to speake shewe the? Mithcas sayde: Beholde/ thou shalt see it/ whā thou comist vnto the ynnest chamber to hibe the. But the kynge of Israel sayde: Take Mithcas/ and let hym remaine with Ainar the ruler of the cite/ and with Joas the sonne of Mithcas/ and saye: Thus sayeth the kynge: Dur this man in pryson/ and fede him with bread and water/ if trouble/ rel I come again in pecc. Mithcas sayde: If thou comist agayne in pecc/ then hath not the Lord spoken thow to me. And he saide: Heken to al ye people.

E So the kynge of Israel/and Josaphat the kynge of Iuda went up vnto Ramoth in Gilead. And the kynge of Israel saide vnto Josaphat: Charge thy clothes/and come to the battail in thine away. And the kynge of Israel charged his rayment/ and came into the battayll. But the kynge of Siria had commaunded the rulers of his charrettes. Ye shall fight myther against small no: great/ but onely against the kynge of Israel.

Now whiche rulers of the charrettes saw Josaphat/they thought: It is the kynge of Israel/and they wente aboute to fighte against hym. But Josaphat cryed/ and the Lorde helped him. And God turned them fro him/ for whiche rulers of the charrettes sawe that it was not the kynge of Israel/ they turned backe from hym. But a certayne man bended his bowe harde/and shot the kynge of Israel betwene the mayne and the longes. The sayd he vnto his charretman: Turne thync hande/ and carrie me out of the boosle/ for I am wounded. And the battail was foue the same daye. And the kynge of Israel stode vpon his charret against the Syrians vntill the eueninge/ as theyd when the Sunne wente downe.

The XX. Chapter.

After this came the children of Moab/ and Ieroboam the kynge of Iuda came home againe in peace vnto Ierusalem. And Iehu the sonne of Hanani the Seer wente forth to meete hym/and saide vnto King Josaphat: Shouldest thou so helpe the vngodly/and loue them that hate the Lorde? And for this cause is the wrath vpon the from the Lorde: neuertheless/ there is some good founde in the that thou haste put the grouse out of the lande/and hast prepared thync heart to seke God. So Josaphat abode at Ierusalem.

B And he wente againe amonge the people/ from Bersaba vnto mount Ephraim/ a broughte them againe vnto the Lorde God of theyr fathers. And he set Iudges thowout the lande/ in al the stronge cities of Iuda: and a certayne in euery citty. And saide vnto the iudges: Take heede what ye do: for ye execute not the iudgment of man/ but of the Lorde/ and he is to worship you in iudgment: therefore let the feare of the Lorde be with you/ as betwene/ and do it for worship the Lorde our God there is no vngodlynesse/ nor respect of persons/ nor acceptynge of gyfte.

And at Ierusalem Iud Josaphat obteyned certayn of the Euites and Iustices/ and of the auncient fathers of Israel for the iudgment of the Lorde/ and oute the matter of the law/ and caused them to dwell at Ierusalem/ and commaunded them/ and saide: See that ye do thus in the feare of the Lorde/ in saythfulnesske and in a perfect herte. In all causes that come vnto you from youre brethren/ (which dwell in theyr ctytes betwene Iudee and Iudee) betwene lawe and commaundements/ betwene statutes and ordinaunces/ ye shall enforme them/ that they synne not againste the Lorde/ and so the wronge to come vpon you and youre brethren. Do thus/ and ye shall not offend.

Beholde/ Amaria the priste is chiefe ouer you in all causes of the Lorde: so is Sebachia the sonne of Iznabab/ pryncie in the house of Iuda in al the kynges matters: Ye haue officers lyke wise the Euites before you. Take a good courage vnto you/ and be vyinge/ and the Lorde shall be with the good.

The XX. Chapter.

After this came the children of Moab/ and Ieroboam the kynge of Iuda came home againe in peace vnto Ierusalem. And Iehu the sonne of Hanani the Seer wente forth to meete hym/and saide vnto King Josaphat: Shouldest thou so helpe the vngodly/and loue them that hate the Lorde? And for this cause is the wrath vpon the from the Lorde: neuertheless/ there is some good founde in the that thou haste put the grouse out of the lande/and hast prepared thync heart to seke God. So Josaphat abode at Ierusalem.

And Josaphat was afraied/ and set his face to seke the Lorde/ and caused a fast to be proclaimed in all Iuda. And Iuda came together to seke the Lorde. And out of al the ctytes of Iuda came they to seke the Lorde.

And Josaphat stode amonge the congregacion of Iuda and Ierusalem/ in the house of the Lorde/ before the new course and saide.

O Lorde God of our fathers/ art not thou God in heauen/ and hast dominion in all the kyngdomes of the heithen? And in thy hand is strength and power/ and there is no man that can withstande the. Hast not thou ouer God expelled the inhabytours of this lande/ for for thy people of Israel / and hast geue it vnto the side of Zababai thy louer for euer: so that they haue dwelt in it / and haue buylded the a

B Encouraye vnto thy name therein / and sayd: ¶ If there come any plague / sword / iudgement or pestilence / or verie vpon vs / we will stande before thy house / euen before the / for thy name is in this house / and will cry vnto the Lord / and thou shalt heare / and shalt saue vs. Beholde now / the chyldren of Ammon / of Moab / and they of mount Seir / vpon whom I thou woldst not suffice the chyldren of Israel to go / when they wente out of the lands of Egypt / but they were sayne to depart from the / and nor to destroy them: a behold / they beale contrarye with vs / a coine vs shall vs out of the inheritance / that thou hast geuen vs in possession. O our God / mil thou not iudge them: for in vs is no strength to withstande this greate multitude that com me agaynst vs. We knowe not what we shoulde do / but our eyes loke vnto the. And all Juda stode before the Lord / wuh they chyldren / wyfes and sonnes.

F But vpon Jehasiel the sonne of Zacharias / the sonne of Benaias / the sonne of Zebul / the sonne of Mathania the Leuite of the chyldren of Issachar / came the spere of the Lord in the synagogue of the congregation / and sayd: Wee heare all thou Juda / and ye inhabiteres of Jeru salem / a thou singe Iosaphat: Thus sayeth the Lord vnto you: Be not ye afrayed / nor fearc ye this greate multitude: for it is not ye that fight / but God. To moue shall ye go down vnto the / at the read see by the hylle: And be holde / they go vp by Cis / and ye shall fynde the before the wilderness of Ieruel: for ye shal not fighte in this cause. Do ye but steppe forth / a stande / a se the health of the Lord tharis with you. Fearc not thou Juda and Jerusalem / and be not afrayed / to moue: go ye forth agaynst them / and the Lord shall be with you.

Then Iosaphat bowed hymselfe with his face to the earth / and all Juda / and the inhabi teres of Ierusalem fell before the Lord / and wor shipped the Lord. And the Leuites of the childe of the Zababaites / and of the chyldren of the Coabites / arose to praise the Lord God of Israel with loudc voyce on byc. And they did them vp earlye in the morninge / and wente forth by the wilderness of Theoa.

And when they were goinge out / Josaphat stode / and sayd: Hearken vnto me O Iuda / and ye indwellers of Ierusalem: Put youre trust in the Lord your God / a ye shall be safe: and geue credence vnto his prophetes / and ye shall prosper. And he gaue counsayl vnto the people / and appoynted the syngers vnto the Lord / and them that gaue psalme in the be wyte of the holynes / to go before the barnessed men / and to saye: O geue thanks vnto the Lord / for his mercye endureth for euer. And when they began to geue thanks and praise / the Lord caused the hinder warde that was come agaynst Iuda / to come vpon the chyldren of Ammon / Moab / and the of mount Seir / and they smote the. Then stode the chy ldren of Ammon and Moab agaynst them of mount Seir / and to destroye them. And when they had destroyede them of mount Seir / one helped another to destroye them selfes also.
And when Iuda came to Mispa vnto the wildernesse / they turned the towarde the multitude / and beholde / the dead bodies laye vpon the earth / so that none was escaped.

And Iosaphat came with his people to de scrybe the spoyle of them. And they founde as monge them so muche goodes and rayment a precious Iewels / (which they toke fro them) that they coude not beare the. And the dayes were they decayng: the spoyle / for it was so much. On the fourth daye came they together in the valley of blessing: for there blessed they the Lord. Therefore is the place called the val ley of blessing vnto this daye.

So euerie man of Iuda and Jerusalem re turned backe agayne / and Iosaphat before them / to go to Jerusalem with ioye: for the Lord had geuen them gladnesse on their enemyes.
And they entred in to Jerusalem with psalte rics / harpes and trompettes / vnto the house of the Lord. And there came a feare of God ouer all the Kingdomes in the landes / when they herde that the Lord had foughte against the enemyes of Israel. Thus was the King dome of Iosaphat in quietnes / a God gaue hym rest on euerie daye.

¶ And Iosaphat raygned ouer Iuda / and was true and righteous eare old: when he was made kyng/ and raygned fyue and trettie years at Ierusalem. His mothers name was Asuba the daughter of Silbi. And he walked in the waye of his father Asa/ and departed not asyde froe doynge/ that whiche was right in the sight of the Lorde: sayng that the hie places were not pur bonne/ for the people had not yet prepared theyr herte to the God of theyr fathers. What more there is to say of Josphat/ both the first and the last/ beholde/ it is written in the actes of Iehu the sonne of Hanani/ which be noted vp in the booke of the kynges of Israell.

iiij. re. xxxij. g. Afterwardes dyd Josphat the kyng of Iuda agree with Ahasia the kyng of Israell/ which was godly in his doynge. And he agreed with hym to make shippes/ for to go vpon the see. And they made the shippes at Ezon Gaber. But Elieser the sonne of Dodana of Marsa prophesied agaynst Josphat/ as foloweth: Because thou hast agreed with Ahasia/ therefore hath the Lorde broken thy woordes. And so the shippes were broken/ and might not go vpon the see.

The. XXI. Chapter.

I ij. re. xxxij. g. Josphat fell on slepe with his fathers/ and was buryed with his fathers in the cye of Dauid/ and Joiam his sonne was kyng in his steade. And he had brethren the sonnes of Josphat Asaria/ Zebiel/ Zacharias/ Asana/ Michael and Sephana. All these were the chyldren of Josphat kyng of Iuda. And their father gaue the many gyftes of silber/ and golde and Jewels/ with stronge cytes in Iuda. But the kyngdom gaue he vnto Joiam: for he was the first borne.

Judic. ij. c. But whā Joiam came vpon our fathers kyngdom/ and had gone the portwe of it/ he sterte all his brethren with the sword/ and iiij. re. viij. c. cerrynt rulers also in Israell. Two and thirtie yeare olde was Joiam whā he was made kyng/ and raygned eght yeare at Ierusalem/ and walked in the waye of the kynges of Israell/ euen as the house of Dauid dyd/ (for Zedabs daughter was his wyfe) and he dyd that which was euill in the sight of the Lorde.

ii. reg. viij. c. Neuerthelesse/ the Lorde wolde not bestroge the house of Dauid/ for the conuenant sake/ which he made with Dauid/ and accordynge as he had layde/ that he wolde geue hym and his chyldre a lantern for euermore.

ij. re. xxxij. g. At the same tyme fell the Edomites awaye from Iuda/ as made a kyng ouer themselves: for Joiam had gone ouer with his carynes/ and all the charrettes with hym/ and had gotten hym vp in the night season/ and slayne the Edomites on euery syde/ and the rulers of the charrettes: therefore fell the Edomites awaye from Iuda vnto this daye. At the same tyme fell Libna awaye from hym also: because he forsok the Lorde God of his fathers. He made hie places also ouer mountaynes in Iuda/ and caused them of Ierusalem to go a whoringe/ and decaued Iuda.

But there came a wysyrng vnto hym from the prophete Elias/ sayng: Thus sayeth the Lorde God of thy father Dauid: Because thou hast not walked in the wayes of thy father Josphat/ neyther in the wayes of Asa the kyng of Iuda/ but walkest in the waye of the kynges of Israell/ and makest Iuda and them of Ierusalem to go a whoringe after the whedome of the house of Adab/ and hast slayne thy brethren also of thy fathers house/ which were better than thou. Beholde/ the Lorde shall smite the to a greate plague on the people on thy chyldren/ and thy wyfes/ and on all thy substauce. But thou thy self shalt haue much sickness in thy bowels/ till thy bowels go forth from daye to daye for very paine.

So the Lorde raysed vp agaynst Joiam the spere of the Philistines/ and Arabians/ which he besyde the Moians/ and they went vp in to Iuda/ and wayled it/ and caryed awaye all the substauce that was founde in the kynges house/ and his sonnes/ and his wyfes/ so that there was not one sonne left hym/ save Zedabs his youngest sonne. And after all this dyd the Lorde smyte him in his bowels/ with such a sickness/ as coulde not be healed. And whyle that endured from daye to daye/ when the tyme of two yeares was cerryed/ his bowels went from hym with his sickness/ and he dyed in euill dyscase.

And they made not a burning ouer hym as they dyd vnto his fathers. Two and thirtie yeare olde was he when he was made kyng/ and raygned eght yeare at Ierusalem/ and walked not well. And they buried hym in the cye of Dauid/ but not amongst the

the sepulchres of the kynge.

The. XXII. Chapter.

And they of Jerusalem made Obosias this yongelle kyng in his steade: for the me of warre that came with the hoost of the Arabians / had slayne all the yist / therefore raygned Obosias the sonne of Joiam kynge of Juda. Two and fourtye yere olde was Obosias when he was made kyng / and raygned one yere at Jerusalem. His mothers name was Athalia: daughter of Zimri. And he walked also in the wayes of the house of Achab: for his mother crucyfed hym so that he was on godly. Therefore dyd he euell in the sight of the Lorde: / euen as the house of Achab: for they were his counsailegers after his fathers deathe / to destroye hym / and he walked after theyr counsaile.

And he wente with Joiam the sonne of Achab kynge of Israel / to the battail onto Ramoth in Gilcad / agaynst Hosael the kynge of Siria. But the Sirians smote Joiam so that he turned backe to be healede at Isreal: for he had woundes that were giuen hym at Ramoth: when he fought with Hosael the kynge of Siria. And Athalia the sonne of Joiam kynge of Juda wente doun to visyte Joiam the sonne of Achab at Isreal / which laye sicke: for it was ordeined of God vnto Obosias / that he shoulde come to Joiam / and so to go forth with Joiam agaynst Iehu the sonne of Nymfi / whom the Lorde had appointed to rote out the house of Achab.

Now when Iehu wolde be auenged of the house of Achab / he founde certayne rulers of Juda / and the chyldren of Obosias: which he slayde / and he slawe them: which serued Obosias / and they overtoke hym / when he had byd hym at Samaria: as he was broughte onto Iehu / which slawe hym / and they buryed hym: for they sayde: He is the sonne of Josaphat / which foughte the Lorde with all his herte. And there was no man moore of the house of Obosias that myghte kyng.

When Athalia the mother of Obosias sawe that her sonne was dead / she gat her vp / and destroyed all the kynge's siede in the house of Juda. But Zababath the kynge's syster toke Iezab the sonne of Obosias and hald hym as waye / from amonge the kynge's chyldren that were slayne / and put him with his nook in a chamber. Thus Zababath kynge Joiam's daughter the wyfe of Joiaha the priest hyd hym from Athalia: so that he was not slayned for: she was Obosias's syster. And he was hyd with them in the house of God sise yeres / so much as Athalia was quene in the lande.

The. XXIII. Chapter.

Or in the threthete yere was Joiaha bold: and toke the rulers ouer hidde: namely Asaria the sonne of Jerabani / Zinzel the sonne of Jobanan / Asaria the sonne of Obed / Massea the sonne of Abas / and Elisaphar the sonne of Sihu with him / in / to conuenantia: they wente about in Juda / a biought the Leuites together out of all the ctytes of Juda / to the chiefe fathers of Isreal / to come vnto Jerusalem. And all the congregacion made a conuenant with the kyng in the house of God / And he sayde vnto them: Beholde the kynge's sounr shalbe kyng: / euen as the Lorde spake / concerninge the chyldren of Dauid.

This is it therfore that ye shal do: The thyrde parte of you that entre on the Sabbath / shalbe amonge the priestes and Leuites / which are doctepers at the thresholde / and one thyrde parte in the kynge's house / and one thyrde parte at the founnteyn poynt. But all the people shalbe in the courtes of the house of the Lorde / and that no man go in to the house of the Lorde: excepte the priestes and Leuites that minister there / they shal go in: for they are halowed. And let all the people warte vnto the Lorde. And the Leuites shal kepe the rounde about the kynge: euery one with his weapen in his hande. And who so clygeth in to the house / let hym dye. And they shalbe with the kyng when he goeth out and in.

And the Leuites and al Juda byd as Joiaha the priest had commaunded / and euery one toke his me the entred on the Sabbath / with those that wente on the Sabbath: for Joiaha the priest suffred not those two compans to parte asynder. And Joiaha the priest gaue the captaine ouer huntre speares and bylles / and King Dauid weapens / which were in the house of God / a for all the people euery one with his weapen in his hande / from the ryght corner of the house/ vnto the lyste corner of the aultare/ and to the houseward about the finge. And they brought forth 8 fingers sine/ and set the crowne vpon his heub / and gaue D. u. xvij hym the 7 myniffe/ a made hym finge. And Joiada with his sonnes anointed hym / and sayde: God saue the finge.

D But when Athalia herde the noyse of the people that came together/ and prayed 8 finge/ she went forth to the people in to the house of the Lord/ and lofed/ and beholde/ the finge stode in his place: at the inuauce/ and the rulers and all the cnyces about the finge: and all the people of the lande were glad/ a blew the trumpes/ there were finges that could playe with all myscall instrumentes. But she rente her clothes/ and sayd: Sedicion/ sedicion. Ue. v. d. l. x. xij. Joiada 8 priest gat him forth with the captaynes ouer hundredes / a rulers of the hoost / and sayd vnto them: Bringe her forth betwene the walles/ and whosoeuer followeth her shall be slayne with the sword: for 8 priest had comanded/ that she should not be slayne in the house of the Lord. And they layd handes on her. And when she came at 8 inuauce of the house of the finges house / they put her to death there.

E And Joiada made a conuenaunt betwene him and all the people/ and the finge/ that they should be the people of the Lord. The wret al the people in to the house of Baal / a destroyed it/ a brake downe his aultares a ymagens / and slew 8 Nabab 8 priest of Baal before 8 aultare. And Joiada appointed 8 officers in 8 house of the Lord/ amonge the priestes and Leuites/ whom he had had ordeyned for 8 house of the Lord/ to offer burnisacrifices vnto the Lord/ as it is written in the *lawe of Moses/ with ioye a songes made by Dauid. And the porters set he at the gates of house 8 Lord/ that none shoulde entre which were desirde with any manner of thynge.

And he toke the captaynes ouer hundredes/ and the myghyrie men and loides of 8 people/ and all the people of the lande / a brought the finge doune from the house of the Lord/ a brought him thowen the hie poire of the finges house/ and caused the finge to lye vpon the scare roall. And all the people of the lande were glad/ a the cnye was at rest. But Athalia was slayne with the sword.

The. XLIII. Chapter.

H Was 7 was seuen yeare olde wha he was 25 yeres olde/ and reigned fourty yeare at Ierusalem. His mothers name was Zibca of Bersaba. And Joas byd that which was ryght in the syghre of the Lord/ as long as Joiada the priest liued. And Joiada gaue him two wyfes / a he begat sonnes a daughter. Afterward deuised Joas to rener 8 house of the Lord/ a gathered together 8 priestes and Leuites/ a sayd vnto the: Go forth vnto all the cnyces of Iuda / a gather the money of all Israel/ to repaire the house of your God yearly/ and do it right so: but the Leuites made no hast.

Then the finge called Joiada the principal/ and said vnto him: Why lokest thou not vnto the Leuites / that they dunge in from Iuda a Jerusalem / 8 the colleccion which Moses the seruaunt of the Lord appointed / to be gaue thered amonge Israel for the tabernacle of wyntes: for that vngodly Athalia a her sonnes haue waysted the house of God: and all that was halowed for the house of the Lord/ haue they bestowen on Baalim.

8 Then comanded 8 finge to make a chest / a to set it without at the inuauce of the house of the Lord: and caused it to be playced in Iuda a Ierusalem / that they shoulde dunge in to the Lord: the colleccion / which Moses the seruaunt of God appointed vnto Israel in the wyldernesse. Then were all 8 rulers glad/ and so were all the people/ and brought/ and cast in to the chest/ it was full.

And when the tyme was that the Leuites shoul dunge the Arke at the finges comauement/ when they sawe 8 there was muche money therein/ then came the finges serb/ and he that was appointed of the chest/ putt a cypress the chest/ and carryed it agayne into his place. Thus byd they euery day / so that they gathered much money to gether. And the finge and Joiada gaue it vnto the workemasters of the house of the Lord/ and they byed masons a carpenters to repaire the house of 8 Lord / and men that coulde worke in yron a brasse/ to repaire the house of the Lord.

And the labourers wrought/ so that the repayninge in the worke went forwarde thowen they hande/ and they set the house of God in his beauty: / and made it stronge. And when they had performed this: / they brought the residue of the money before the king and Joabab: / wherof there were made vessels for the house of the Lord / vessels for the ministracion and burnotoffringes / spices and ornaments of gold and silver. And they offered burnotoffringes alway in the house of the Lord: / as long as Joabab liued.

And Joabab waxed olde / and had lynch longe ynough / and dyed / and was an hūdieth and they re care olde when he dyed: and they buried him in the cync of Dauid / amonge the kynges / because he had done good vnto Israel: / and towarde God and his house. And after the death of Joabab / came the rulers in Juda / and was: / skipped the kyng.

Then cōsented the kyng vnto the. And they sought the house of the Lord God of they fathers / and serued the groues and ymagēs. The came the wrath of the Lord vpon Juda and Jerusalem / because of this trespass of theye. Yet sent he prophetes vnto them / that they shoulde turne vnto the Lord / as they resplined vnto them: but they wold not heare.

And the spete of God came vpp vnto Zachary the sonne of Joabab the pūct / which stode ouer the people: / as sayd vnto the. Thus sayeth God: / Wherfore do ye trasgress the cōmāndementes of the Lord: / which shall not be to your prosperite: for I se haue forsaken the Lord / therefore shall he forsake you. Neuertheless / they despised agaynst him: / as stoned him at finges cōmāndement in the court of the house of the Lord. And Joas the kyng thought not on the mercy that Joabab his father had done for hym: but slew his sonne. Wherwith standyng / when he dyed / he sayd: The Lord shall loke vpon us / and requyre it.

And when the yeare was gone about / the power of the Syrians wente out / and came to Juda and Jerusalem / and destroyed the rulers of the people / and sent all the spoyles of the vnto the kyng at Demasion. For the power of the Syrians came but with a fewe yeres / gaue f the Lord a very great power in to theyr hande: / because they had forsake the Lord God of they fathers. They executed iudgement also vpon Joas. And when they departed from

¶ Neuertheless / his seruantes conspired iij. re. xij. d agaynst him / because of the blood of the childien of Joabab the pūct / and slew him vpp his bed / and he dyed: and they buried hym in f of cync Dauid / but not amonge the sepulchres of the kynges. They that conspired agaynst hym / were these: / Sabad the sonne of Simeon / and the Ammonitisse / and Josabab the sonne of Sumrich the Moabynisse. As for his sonne / a the summe that was gaubred vnder him / a the building of the house of God / beholde / they are wyrtten in the booke of f kynges. And Amasias his sonne was kyng in his steade.

The. XXV. Chapter.

¶ The. V. and twentieth year olde was Amasias I when he was made kyng / and reigned iij. re. xij. d thynne and twenty yeare at Jerusalem. His most thers name was Joas of Jerusalem. And he dyd f which was right in f sight of f Lord / but not with a whole heart. Now when his kyngdō was in strength / he slew his seruantes which had slayne the kyng his father. But they: childien slew he not / for so is it wyrtten in the booke of the law of Moyses: / Where the Lord cōmāndereth / and sayeth: The fathers shall not dye for the childien / neyther shall the childien dye for the fathers / but euery one shall dye for his owne synne.

And Amasias bought Juda together / and set them after the fatheres houses / after the rulers ouer thousandes a ouer hundredes amonge al Juda and Ben Janun / and numbred the firs twenty yeare olde a aboue / and founde of the the hūdieth thousand chosen mē / which were able to go forth to the warre / and carryed speares and shylde. And out of Israel appointed he an hundred thousand stronge mē of warre / for an hundred talents of silver.

But there came a man of God vnto him / and sayd: O kyng / Let not the booll of Israel come with thee: for f Lord is not with Israel / neyther with all the childien of Ephraim. For thou comest to serue thy boldnes in the battayl / God shall make the to fall before thynne enemies. For God hath power to helpe / as to cause for to fal. Amasias sayd vnto the mā of God: What shalbe done then with the hundred talents that I haue geuen the sonlyears of Israel: The man of God sayde: The Lord hath yet more the this to geue y. So Amasias separated out the men of warre/ which were come to hym out of Ephraim/ that they shoulde departe vnto theyr place. The warde then went very whore agaynst Iuda/a they were againe vnto theyr place in worthfull displeasur. And Amasias strengthened himselfe / and carryed out his people / a wente forth into the salt walley / and smote ren thousande of the children of Seir.

And the chyldren of Iuda toke ten thousande of the alnye / whome they brought vp to the topp of a mountayne / and cast the doune headly ages from the topp of the mount / so that they all to bare in sunder. But the chyldren of the men of warre / whome Amasias had sent away agayne / that they shoulde not go to the battayl with his people. Fell in to the cnyce of Iuda / from Samaria vnto Beth Echon / and smote the thousande men / and toke much spoyle.

¶ And when Amasias came againe from the slaughter of the Edomites / he broughte the goddes off chyldren of Seir / a made them his goddes / a re: shippd before them / and dient in ceance vnto them. The was the Lord very wrath at Amasias / and sent vnto him a prophete / which saide vnto hym: Why selfst thou the goddes of the people / which coulde not deliuer the: sette the hande: And when he talked with him / the synge said vnto him: Haue they made the of the synge counsaill: Ceasse / why wilt thou be limite: Then the prophete ceased a sayde: I perceaue that the Lord is minded to destroye the / because thou hast done this / and her selfe not vnto my counsaill.

¶ And Amasias the king of Iuda toke cotfall / a sent vnto Joas the sonne of Joabias the synge of Iehu synge of Israel / saying: Come / let vs ke one another. But Joas the synge of Israel sent vnto Amasias the synge of Iuda / saying: The he barbaunce in Libanus sent vnto the e die tree in Libanus / saying: Geue thy dougheer vnto my sonne to wyfe. But a wynde blast in Libanus rane ouer the barhome / a roode it doune. Thou thy selfest: Beholde / I haue smyren the Edomites / therefore to thyme here proude to be all. Now byde at home: why shyest thou after my fortune / that thou mayest fall and Iuda with the? Therefore selfest: Amasias estened not: for so was he broughte to passe of God / y they myghte be giuen in to the hande of the enemyes / because they sought the goddes of the Edomites. Then went Joas the synge of Israel vp / and they saue one another / he a Amasias the synge of Iuda / he Beth Seemes which lye in Iuda. But Iuda was smyren before Israel / and they fled euery one vnto his tent.

¶ And Joas the synge of Israel toke Amasias the synge of Iuda / the sonne of Joas the synge of Joabias / at Beth Seemes / a broughte him to Ierusalem / and brake doune the wall of Ierusalem / from the porte of Ephraim vnto the counter porte / euen foure hundred cubites longe: and toke with him all the golde / and siluer / and all the ornamentes that were sette in the bouise of God with Obed Edom / and in the treasures in the synge's house / and the chyldren to pledge vnto Samaria: And Amasias the sonne of Joas synge of Iuda / lyed after the death of Joas the sonne of Joabias synge of Israel sytten yeare.

¶ What more there is to saye of Amasias / both the first and last. behold / it is written in the booke of the synge of Iuda and Israel. ¶ And from the tyme forth that Amasias departed from the Lord / they asspyred agaynst him at Ierusalem. But he fled vnto Ladis. Then sent they after him to Ladis / and slewe hym there. And they broughte him vpon hoises / and buried him beside his fathers in the cnyce of Iuda.

The. XXVI. Chapter.

¶ Then tall the people of Iuda toke Osi J as / which was sytten yeare olde / and made him synge in stead of his father Amasias. He buried Beth Seemes a broughte it againe vnto Iuda / after that the synge was fallen a slepe with his fathers. ¶ Sytten yeare olde was Osi when he was made synge / a raygned two and fifty year at Ierusalem. His mothers name was Jedalia of Ierusalem. And he dyd ryght in the syght of the Lord / as his father Amasias had done / and soughte God all as long as Zacharias lyued / which raygned the visions of God: and as long as he soughte the Lord: God made him to prosper.

¶ For he went forth / and soughte agaynst the Philistines

Philistines / a bade doune the walles of Gath / and the walles of Jabne / a the walles of Ashdod / and buylded cyttes aboure Ashdod / and amonge the Philistines. For God helped hym agaynst the Philistines / agaynst the Arabians / agaynst the children of Gurbaal / and agaynst the Ammonites. And the Ammonites gaue Othias presentes / and his name came into Egypte for he was exceeding stronge. And Othias buylded towres at Jerusalem vpon the corner paret / and on the valley gaze / and on other corners / a made them stronge. He buylded castles also in the wyldernesse / a dygged many welles / for he had many cartels / both in the medowes and in the plaines / housbandmen also and vineyarderbers on the mountaine and on Carmel / for he desyred in housbandrye.

B And Othias had an host of men of warre goinge forth to the battail / which were numbred vnto the hande of Ierel the scribe and of Naas the officer / vnder the hande of Hasania the kinges ruler. And the number of the chiefe fathers amonge the stronge men of warre / was two thousande a five hundred. And vnder the hande of the hoste this hundred thousande and seven thousand and five hundred men for the battail / in the strength of an armye to helpe the kynge agaynst the enemyes. And Othias prepared for all the hoste / bulkes / speares / helmettes / bisculpatres / bowes / and shyngstones. And at Jerusalem he made iudicance conynghly / so be vpon the towres and in the pyntacles to shute arrowes and great stones. And the same of hym came farr abroad / because he was specially helpd / till he came myghtye.

C And when his power was grete / his heart arose to his owne destruction / for he trespassed agaynst the Lord his God / and wente in to the temple of the Lord / to burne incense vpon the altare of incense. But the Asarias the priest wnt after hym / a foure score priestes of the Lord went hym / a saue vnto me / a with stoode king Othias / a saue vnto him : that he belyeth not vnto thine officer. Othias to burne incense vnto the Lord / but vnto the priestes beld / for he / caue vnto the dytyen of Aaron / whiche are halowed to burne incense. So forth out of the Sanctuary / for thou offendest / and it shalbe no wyse wyppre vnto the before God the Lord.

And Othias was wrothe / and had a censure in his hede. And whyle he murmured with them / the priestes the leprosy sprong out of his foure head in the presence of the priestes / in the house of the Lord before the altare of incense. And Asarias the chiefe prieste turned his hede towards hym / a so did all the priestes / a behold / he was lepe in his forehead. And they purged hym out from thence. Yet he made baill hym selfe to go forth / for his plague came from the Lord. Thus became Othias the king a leper vnto his deary / and dwred full of leprosy in a fire house / for he was put out of the house of the Lord. But Joram his sonne had the ouersight of the kynge house / a iudged the people in the lande.

What more there is to say of Othias / both first and last / is in the sonne of Amos both wryten it. And Othias fell on slepe with his fathers / a they buryed hym with his fathers in the peece of groude beside the kynge sepulchures / for they sayd : he is leperous. And Joram his sonne was kinge in his steade.

The XXVII. Chapter.

Jorabani was yuge a twenty yere olde / a Urban he was made kynge / and raygned sixteen yere at Jerusalem. His mothers name was Jerusa the daughter of Sadoc / and he dyd myght in the kyngdome of the Lord / as dyd Othias his father / saying that he went nor in to the temple of the Lord / and the people yet married them selfe. He buylded the hie pyle of the house of the Lord / and on the wall of Ophell buylded he much / a buylded the cyttes vpon the mountaine of Iudah / in the woodes buylded he castles and towres.

And he soughte with the kynge of the childre of Amman / and ouercame them / so that the chylden of Amman gaue hym in the same yere an hundred talents of syluer / ten thousande quarters of wheate / and ten thousande of barley. So much dyd the chylden of Amman gaue hym also in the seande a thryde yere. Thus became Joram myghty / for he gyded his wayes before the Lord his God.

What more there is to saye of Jorabani / a all his warres / and his wayes / beholde / is wryten in the booke of the kynge of Iudah a Iudah yuge a twenty yere olde was he when he was made kynge / and raygned sixteen yere at Jerusalem And Iotham fell on slepe with his fathers / and they buried him in the cyme of Dauid / and Abao his sonne was kinge in hys reade.

The XXVIII. Chapter.

Aff Abao was twenty yeare olde when he was made kynge / a raygned sxtene yeare at Jerusalem / and dyd not that which was ryght in the syghte of the Lozde / as dyd Dauid his father / but walked in the wayes of the kynge of Israel / and made molten ymages vnto Baalim / and burnt incense in the valley of the dryebite of Bennô / he burnt his owne sonnes in the fyre after the abhominacions of the heiden / whome the Lozde expellid before the chyldren of Israel. And he dyd sacrifice and burnt incense vpon the hye places / a vpon the hilles / and amonge all greue trees.

Therfore dyd the Lozde his God deliuer hym in to the hande of the kynge of Syria / so that they smote hym / and caryed awaye a great multitude of his men prisoners / and brought them to Damascon. He was geuen also vnder the hande of the kynge of Israel / so that he dyd great slaughter vpon hym. For Decub the sonne of Kamelia smote in Iuda an hundredth a twenty thousande in one daye / (whiche all were valiant men) euen because they had forsake the Lozde God of theyr fathers. And Sida a myghty man of Ephraim smote Misia the kynge sonne / and Israhim the prince of the house / and Elkana the next vnto the kynge. And the chyldre of Israel caryed of theyr brethren prisoners two hundred thousande women / sonnes and daughters / a toke a great spoyle from them / and brought the spoyle vnto Samaria.

But euen there was there a prophete of the Lozde / whose name was Obed / which went out to meete the hooft that came to Samaria / a said vnto them: Beholde / because the Lozde God of your fathers is with at Iude / therefore hath he geuen them ouer in to your handes: but ye haue flayne them so abhominably / that it is come vnto heauen. Nowe thynke ye to submitt the chyldren of Iuda and Jerusalem to be benyngin and bend mercifull vnto you. Is not this a respyll thati you saye against the Lozde your God: Serken nowe vnto me / and sende the prisoners hence againe / whom ye haue caryed away from your brethren: for the wrath of the Lozde is sore ouer you.

Then gat vp certain of the chiefe of chylidren of Ephraim / Sarias the sonne of Johanan / Barchias the sonne of Mellemoth / Ezechias the sonne of Sallu / and Amasa the sonne of Hadlai / against the reade came from Bazar / and said vnto them: Ye shall not brynge the prisoners in hyther / for youre mynde is but to make vs to respyll before the Lozde / to make our synnes and offences greater: for the respyll is to much already / and the wrath is sore ouer Israel. So the hooft left the prisoners and the spoyle before the rulers and before the whole congregation.

Then stode vp J men / which now were receyued by name / and toke the prisoners / and as many as were naked amonge them / clothed they in the poyles / a deckt them / a put shooes vpon theyr feet / and gaue the to care a dinke / and aneynted the / and caryed the vpon asses / Cas many as were sible / and brought them to Jericho to the Palme tree vnto theyr brethren / a came againe to Samaria. Then Jasime sent kynge Abao vnto the kynge of Edom / that they shoulde helpe hym. And the Edomites came againe / and smote Iuda / and caryed some waye captiue. The Philistines also fell in to the cince in the playne / and roward the South parte of Iuda / and wanne Beth Emea / Dalon / Gederoth / and Sedo with the villages therof / Emma with villages therof / a Gimsa with villages therof / a dwelt therein. For the Lozde subdued Iuda for Abao sake the kynge of Iuda / because he made Iuda naked / and rebelled against the Lozde. And Reglabphalasser the kynge of Assur came against him / and beseged him / a he was not myghty ynough for hym.

For Abao spoyled the house of Lozde / and the kynge house / and of the rulers / to geue vnto the kynge of Assur / but he helped him not. Moreover kynge Abao respyllid yet more against the Lozde / euen in his trouble / a dyd sacrifice vnto the goddesses of them of Samaria / which had synned hym / a said: The goddesses of the kynge of Syria helpe the / therefore will I offre vnto them / that they may helpe me also: where as the same yet were a fall vnto hym / and so all Israel.

And Ahas gathered the vessils of  $\text{h}$  house of God together/and brake the vessils in the house of God/and put the voyces of  $\text{h}$  house of the Lord/and made him altaires in all corners at Jerusalem/and euery where in the ciuitie of Iuda made he hye places to burne incense vnto other goddes/so pouled  $\text{h}$  Lord God of his fathers vnto wrath.

What more there is to say of him and of all his wayes/both first and last beholde/it is mynster in the booke of the kynge of Iuda a Iherusalem. And Ahas fell on slepe with his fathers/and they buried him in the cytie of Jerusalem: for they thought him not amonge the sepulchres of  $\text{h}$  kyngees of Israel. And Ahas his sonne was king in his steade.

The .X. LXX. Chapter.

Iechias was yue and twenty yere old when he was made kynge/and raygned nyne and twenty yeres at Jerusalem. His motheres name was Abia the daughter of Zacharie. And he did  $\text{h}$  which was right in the sight of the Lord/as spake his father Dauid.

He opened the voyces of  $\text{h}$  house of  $\text{h}$  Lord in the first moneth of the first yere of his raygne/and made the stronge/and brought in  $\text{h}$  priestes a Levites/and gathered them together vnto the East streete/and said vnto them: Heere vnto me ye Levites/sanctifie youre selves now if ye maye halowe the house of the Lord God of your fathers/and put hylburne out of the Sanctuary: for our fathers haue trespasssed/and done that which was euil in the sight of the Lord our God/and haue forsaken him. For they turned they: faces from the habitation of  $\text{h}$  Lord our God/and turned theyr backs on us/and shut the voyces of the psalms/and put out the lampes/and burne no incense/and offered no burnt offerings in the Sanctuary vnto the God of Israel.

Therefore to the wrath of the Lord come ouer Iuda and Jerusalem/and he hath geue them ouer to be scattered abroade/beholde/it is to be hyssed at/as ye se with youre eyes. For beholde/ken for the same cause shal our fathers be ouer the swordes/our sonnes/doughters and wyues were caried awaye captiue. Now am I mynded to make a conuenaunt with the Lord God of Israel/that he maye turne awaye from vs his wrath and indignacion.

Now my sinnes/be not yet negligent: for I haue chosen you to stande before him/and to be his ministers/and to burne incense vnto him.

Then rose the Levites: Maathathai the sonne of Amasai/and Iziel the sonne of Abiasa the chyldren of the Sababithes. Of the chyldren of Merari: Eis the sonne of Abdi/and Asaria the sonne of Seballei. Of the chyldren of the Gersonites: Zoad the sonne of Simma/and Eden the sonne of Zoad. And of  $\text{h}$  chyldren of Elisaphan: Sumri and Iziel. And of the chyldren of Asaph: Zachary and Matthania. And of the chyldren of Geman: Iehiel and Simi. And of the chyldren of Jedihun: Seimai and Uziel.

And they gathered theyr brethren together/and were sanctified/and wente in accordinge to the kynge's commaundment at the wynde of the Lord/to cleanse the house of the Lord. And the priestes entred with in the house of the Lord/to purifie/and put out all the vnclennes that was founde in the temple of the Lord/in the court of the Lord's house: and the Levites toke it vp/and carryed it out into the brooke Cedron. The first daye of the first moneth became they to sanctifie them selves/and on the eighth daye of the moneth wente they into the porch of the Lord/and halowed the house of the Lord/with cyght dayes/and finished it on the sixteenth daye of the first moneth.

And they went in to the kynge Iechias a said: We haue cleansed the house of the Lord/and the altare of burnt offerings/and all his vessils/the table of the shewbread/and all the apperell thereof/and all the ornaments that king Ahas cast awaye when he was king/what tyme as he transgressed/that haue we prepared and halowed. Beholde/they are before the altare of the Lord.

Then the kynge Iechias gat him vp early/and gathered together the Elders of the cytie/and wente vnto the house of the Lord/and they brought seven bullocks/seuen rammes/seuen lambes/and seven hegoates/to be the synnes offerings/for the Sanctuary/for Iuda. And he spake vnto the priestes the chyldren of Aaron/that they shoulde offre vpon  $\text{h}$  altare of the Lord.

So they slewe the bullockes / and the puesles rofe the bloude/and spencled it vpon the aultare: and slewe the rammes/ and spen cled the bloude vpon the aultare: and slewe the lammes / and spencled the bloude vpon the aultar. And the goates to the synofferinge/brought they before the hyng and the con gregation/ and layed theyr handes vpon the/and the puesles slewe them/and spencled theyr bloude vpon the aultare to make amon ment for all Israel: for the hyng commaun ded to offer burnisacrifices a synofferinges for all Israel.

A 277

And he set the Leuites in the house of the Lord with cimbalces/psalteries and harpes/Tas Dauid had commaunded/ and Gad the hyng Seer/ and the prophet Naiban: for it was his commaundment of the Lord by his prophecie. And the Leuites sode with the musical instruments of Dauid/ and the prie stes with the trompettes. And Ezechias com maunded them to offer burnisacrifices vpon the aultare. And aboute the tyme that the burnisacrifices beganne to be offered/ the song of the Lord beganne also / and the trom pettes/ and vnters instruments of Dauid the hyng of Israel / and all the congrega cion gaue prayse and thanke. And the song of the Musicians / and the blowinge of the trompettes / enoured all till the burnisoffe ryng was synished.

Now when the burnisofferyng was per formed the hyng and all they that were ib hym bowed them selves/ and gaue prayse and thanke. And Ezechias the hyng with the rulers commaunded the Leuites to playe to the Lord with the songes of Dauid and As saph the Seer. And they gaue prayse till they were ioyfull/ and they bowed themselves/ and worshipped.

And Ezechias aunswered and sayd: Now haue ye filled youre handes vnto the Lord/sleppe forth/ and byng eather the sacrifices and thankeofferinges/ vnto the house of the Lord. And the congregation thought sa crifices and thankeofferynges/ and euery ma of a fre wyllyng hart broughte burnisoffery nges. And the numbre of the burnisoffery nges that the congregation thought/ was the foote bullockes and ten/ an hundred rammes and two hundred lammes/ and al thest for the burnisofferyng vnto the Lord/ and they sacrificed sixe hundred bullockes / and the thousande shepe.

But the puesles were to few / and coulde not plucke of the synnes of all the burnis offerynges/ therfore rofe theyr dishen the Leuites/ till the worke was synished/ a ty the puesles were halowed / for the Leuites are easier to be halowed the the puesles / a many of the burnisofferynges were with the fat of the thankeofferynges and vntersofferynges to the burnisacrifices. Thus was the ministriceyon of the house of the Lord prepared. And E zechias reioiced with al the people / that they were prepared with God: for it was done tyngly battelshy.

The XXX. Chapter.

And Ezechias sent into all Israel and Ju da/ and wrote letters vnto Iehabiam and Manasse / that they shoulde come to the house of the Lord at Jerusalem/ to kepe Ea ster vnto the Lord God of Israel. And the hyng helde a counsaill with his rulers / and all the congregaion at Jerusalem / to kepe Passouer in the seconde month: for at that tyme they coulde not kepe it/ because the prie stes were not sanctified ynough/ and the peo ple were not yet come together at Jerusalem.
And it pleased the hyng wel/ and all the con gregaion. And they appointed it to be pro claymed througout all Israel from Berse ba vnto Dan/ that they shoulde come to kepe Passouer vnto the Lord God of Israel: for they were not many that kepte it as it was wryten.

And the postes wrente with the letters fro the hande of the king and his rulers/ throug out all Israel and Juda/ at the kinges com maundment/ and sayde: Ye children of Israe ll/ turne you vnto the Lord God of Ier usalem/ Isaac and Jacob/ and he shal tourne to the escaped/ which are left ouer amonge you from the hande of the hyng of Assur/ and be not ye as youre fathers and brethen / which rebelled against the Lord God of theyr fa thers/ and he gaue them ouer into the hande of ye sythens. Be not ye hardnedd now as were youre fathers / but offer youre hande vnto the Lord/ and come to the San ctuarie/

swayre / whiche he hath sanctified for euery / a serue the Lord your God / and so shall the indignation of his wrath turne awaye from you. For if ye minne vnto the Lord / he shall pour frethyn and dulcetyne haue mercy on the sight of them / which holde them in captiuitie / that they may come agayne vnto this lande: for the Lord your God is gracious and merciful / and shall not turne awaye his face from you / if ye conuerte vnto him.

hym

¶ And the postes wente from one cytye to a nother / in the lande of Ephraim and Ma-nassee / and vnto Zabulon. But they mocked them and laughed them to scorne. Yet were there some of Asser and Manasse / and of Za-bulon / that submitted them selfes / and came to Jerusalem. And the bande of God came into Iuda / so that he gaue them one heere to be after the commaundement of the synge and the rulers / at the tyme of the Lords.
 And there came together vnto Jerusalem a greate people to kepe the feast of vntwende dayes / in the seconde moneth / a very greate congregacion.

hym

¶ And they gat them vp / and put doune the teulwares that were at Jerusalem / and all the incense put they away / and cast it in to the stroke / and stowe of Passouer on the fourtyth daye of the seconde moneth. And the priestes and the Leuites were abasht / and halowed them selfes / and broughte the burnt offeringe to the house of the Lords / and stode in their ordinarie / as it was accorde / after the lawe of Moyses the man of God. And the priestes spencled the bloude from the hande of the Leuites: for there were many in the con-gregacion / whiche were not sanctified / therefore had the Leuites byll Passouer for them whiche were not clenfed / that they myghte be sanctified vnto the Lord.

¶ There were many people also of Ephraim Manasse / Issachar and Zabulon / whiche were not cleane / but theyd eate the Easter labe / nor as it is wyrtyn / for Zechias prayed for them / and sayde: The Lord / which is gracious / shall be merciful vnto all them that prepare their hartes vnto God / to see the Lord God of their fathers / though they be not clenfed after the holys purificacion. And the Lord herde Zechias / and heald the people. Thus the children of Israel that were founde at Jerusalem / kepe the feast of vntw-ended dayes / seuen dayes with greate ioye.

 And the Leuites and priestes played the Lord euery daye with the loud instruments of the Lord. And Zechias spake her-toly vnto all the Leuites / whiche had good vnderstandynge in the Lord / and they theyd eate the feast seuen dayes / and offered thankes offeringes / and gaue thanks vnto the Lord God of their fathers.

¶ And all the congregacion desired to kepe the feast yett other seuen dayes / and so they helde it those seuen dayes also with ioye: for Zechias the synge of Iuda gaue an heaucof-feringe for the congregacion / euen a thousand bullockes / and seuen thousand shepe.
 But the rulers gaue an heaucof-feringe for the congregacion / euen a thousand bullockes / and ten thousand shepe. And many of the priestes sanctified them selfes.

p. 177

¶ And the whole congregacion of Iuda reioyced / the priestes and Leuites / and all the con-gregacion came out of Israel: and the strangers that were come out of the lande of Israel / and they that dwelt in Iuda / and greate ioye was there at Jerusalem: for since the tyme of Salomon the sonne of Dauid the synge of Israel / was there no such ioye at Jerusalem. And the priestes and Leuites stode vp to bless the people / and they voice was heard and their prayer came vnto his holy habita-cion in heauen.

The XXXI. Chapter.

¶ And when all this was finished / all the Israelites that were founde in the cytye of Iuda / wente out and brake the pylles / and hewed doune the groues / and brake doune the hye places and altars out of all Iuda / Ben Jamin / Ephraim and Manasse / all they had destroyed them. And all the children of Israel wente agayne euery one to his possession vnto their cytyes.

¶ But Zechias set the priestes and Leuites in their ordinarie / euery one after his office / both the priestes and Leuites / for the burnt offerings and thankes offeringes / to munister to geue thanks and praye in the gate of the host of the Lords. And the synge gaue his portion of his substance for the burnt

Burntofferinges in the morninge and eveninge/and for the Burntofferinges of the Sabbath/and of the new Moone/and of the feastes/As it is written in the law of the Lo:de.

Ma:rris

And he spake vnto the people whiche dwelt at Ierusalem/that they shoulde geue porcyons vnto the priestes and Leuites/that they myghte the more stedfastly endure in the lawe of the Lo:de. And when the waide came forth/the children of Israel gaue many faste frutes of come/wyne/oyle/olue/and all maner increase of the fildes/and broughte in muche of all maner tythes. And the chyldren of Israel and Iuda/whiche dwelt in the creges of Iuda/broughte the tythes also of theyre/and theyges of such thynges as were sanctified/whiche they had halowed vnto the Lo:de:they God/and made here an heape/and there an heape. In the thyrde moneth beganne they to laye upon heapes/and in the seuenth moneth had they finished it.

E And when Ezechias with the rulers went in/and sawe the heapes/they praised the Lo:de/and his people of Israel. And Ezechias expd the priestes and Leuites/conseryng the heapes. And Asaria the prieste the chiefe in the house of Sadoc/sayde vnto him: Hence the tyme that they beganne to bringe the beauefferinges into the house of the Lo:de/we haue caren/and are sanctified/and yet is there left ouer for the Lo:de hath blessed his people/there is this heap left ouer. He commaunded the king/that they should prepare chesles in the house of the Lo:de. And they prepared them/and put in the beauefferinges/a tythes/and that which was halowed faithfully.

And the ouersight of the same had Chanania the Leuite/and Simeis his Brother the scribe/and Jehiel/Asosia/Klagath/Asahel/Jeremoth/Josabad/Elid/Jesinachia/Nahath and Benai/whedynded of the hande of Chanania a Suma his Brother/accordinge to the commaundement of kynge Ezechias. But Asaria was pynce in the house of God. And Cois the sonne of Semna the Leuite/the porter of the Wall gate was ouer the streitlynge gyftes of God/whiche was geuen for beauefferinges vnto the Lo:de)and ouer the most holy. And vnder his hande were Eden/Miniamin/Jesua/Semua/Zimaria and Sachania in the eyeres of the priestes vpon credence/that they shoulde geue vnto theyr brethren/accordinge to theyr courses/to the leell as to the greatest.

And vnto them that were counted for ane chylden from the yere olde and aboue/as ynonge all them that wente into the house of the Lo:de/cary one vpon his daye to their office in theyr attendaunces after theyr courses. And they that were referred for priestes in the house of theyr fathers/and the Leuites from twentye yere and aboue/in theyr attendaunces after theyr courses. And they that were referred amonge theyr chylden/wyfes/sonnes/and wyghters among the welle congregaion: for that which was halowed/sanctified they vpon credence. There were men also named by name amonge Arons chyldren the priestes/upon the tables of the shurbes in all the ctyties/that they shoulde geue porcyons vnto all the men chylden among the priestes/and to all them that were numbered amonge the Leuites.

Thus had Ezechias in all Iuda/and had that which was good/ryghte and true in the syghte of the Lo:de his God. And in all the busynesse that he toke in hande/concerning the seruise of the house of God/accordinge to the lawe and commaundement/ to seke his God/that did he with all his herte/and thus fore prospered he well.

The XXXII. Chapter.

After these actes and faithfulnesse came Sennacherib the kynge of Assur/and wente into Iuda/a pynched before the stronge ctyties/and soughte to plucke them vnto him. And when Ezechias sawe that Sennacherib came/and that his face shode syghte as gastynt Ierusalem/ he deuyed with his rulers and myghtye men/to couer the water of the welles that were without the ctyte/that they helped him: and there garbered to gether a great people/and covered all the welles and water dykes in the myddes of the lande/and sayd: Lett the Kinges of Assur fynd much water when they come. And he rose a courage vnto hym/and builded all the welles wher they were in decaye/and made to wite thron theron/and builded yet another wal without/ a strengthe of Millio in the cytie of David. And made much ordinance and sheldes/ and set captaines of warre ouer the people.

B And gathered them vnto him vpon the broadestreete/ by the gate of the cytie/ a spake heerly vnto them/and sayde: Be stronge and bold: feare not/ and be not afrayed for the kynge of Assur/ nor all the multitude that is with hym: for there is one greater with vs then with hym. With him is a fleschly armie/ for with vs is the Lord oure God to helpe vs/ and to fight for vs. And the people trusted vnto the wordes of Ezechias kynge of Iuda.

1249 Afterwarde sent Sennacherib the kynge of Assur his seruantes vnto Ierusalem/ for he leue before Ezechias/ and all his host with hym/ to Ezechias the kynge of Iuda/ and to all Iuda that was at Ierusalem/ saying: Thus sayeth Sennacherib the kynge of Assur/ Wherein saye ye our trustye that dwell in the becyged Ierusalem: Ezechias bercaueth you/ that he maye deliuer you vnto death/ hunger and thysell/ and sayeth: The Lord oure God shal deliuer vs from the hande of the kynge of Assur. So it not Ezechias/ that hath put awaye his be places and altars/ and sayde vnto Iuda and Ierusalem: Before one altare shal ye worshyppe/ and burne incense: theron?

C And we ye nor what? and my fathers haue done to eld the people in the landes: haue the goddes of the Hethen in the landes bene able to deliuer theyr contries from my hande? What is he amonge all the goddes of these Hethen/ whome my father damned/ that was able to deliuer his people from my hande? that your God should be able to deliuer you from my hande? Therefore let not Ezechias now because you/ and let him not perswade you any such thyng/ and beleue hym not: for if no god of all the Hethen and kyngdomes myght deliuer his people from my hande/ and from the hande of my progenitours/ the shall not your goddes be able to deliuer you from my hande.

His seruantes also spake yet more against the Lord God/ and againste his seruante Ezechias. And he wrote a letter to blasphemie the Lord God of Israel/ and spake of hym/and sayde: Lyke as the goddess of the Hethen in their landes haue not bene able to deliuer theyr people from my hande/ euen so shall not the God of Ezechias deliuer his people from my hande.

And they cryed with loude voyce in the Iewys language vnto the people of Ierusalem that were vpon the wallis/ make them fearful/ as to be sayntified/ that they myght wyne the cytie. And they spake againste the God of Ierusalem/ euen as againste the goddes of the nations vpon earth/ which were but the workes of mens handes.

But contrary wyse/ the kynge Ezechias and the prophete Isayc the sonne of Amos praied and cryed vnto heauen. And the Lord sent an aungel/ whiche destroyed all the Moab men of the host/ and the pynces and rulers in the cotes of the kynge of Assur/ so that he departed agayne with shame into his owne land. And when he came into his goddes house/ theyr that came of his owne bodye/ slew him there with the sword: Euen the Lord helped Ezechias/ and them at Ierusalem/ out of the hande of Sennacherib the kynge of Assur/ and of al other/ and inuynstayed the from all on euery syde: so that many broughte presentes vnto the Lord to Ierusalem/ and Iewels vnto Ezechias the kynge of Iuda. And afterwarde was he exalted in the sight of al Hethen.

At the same tyme was Ezechias dead/ sicke/ and he prayed vnto the Lord which made him pynces/ and gaue him a wonder rofen. But Ezechias recompensed not/ accordinge as was giuen vnto hym/ for his bett was listid vp: therefore came the wrath vpon hym/ and vpon Iuda and Ierusalem. Neuertheless/ Ezechias humbled hymselfe/ because his bett had bene exalted with them at Ierusalem/ therefore came not the wrath of the Lord vpon them/ whyle Ezechias lyued.

And Ezechias had very greate ryches and worshyppe/ and made him treasuries of syluer/ golde/ pyncious stones/ spexes/ byddes/ and al maner costly vessel/ and came houses for the increase of come/ wyne a oyle/ and stalles for all maner cattell/ and soldes for the sheepe/ and builded him ciuites/ and had many cattell of sheepe a oyle/ for God gaue hi very much good.

It is the same Ezechias that covered the hie water conduite in Gibon/and conueyed it vnder on the Westside of the citty. of Dauid: for Ezechias prospered in all his works. But w<sup>ch</sup> the interpreters the the chiefe of Babilon were sent vnto him / to aske question at hym / concerninge the w<sup>ch</sup> token that had happened in the land: God lete hym to be sumpted / that it myghte be knowen w<sup>ch</sup> answer was in his herte.

What more there is to saye of Ezechias / a of his mercifullnes beholde / it is written in the vision of the prophete Esay the sonne of Amos/and in the booke of the Ringes of Iuda and Iffrad. And Ezechias fell on slepe with his fathers/and they buried him ouer the sepulchres of the children of Dauid/and al Iurba/and they of Ierusalem bid him w<sup>ch</sup> shippe in his death: and Manasse his sonne was kynge in his steade.

The XXXIII. Chapter.

Manasse was twelue yeare olde when he was made kynge/and reigned fyue and fyfte yeare at Ierusalem / and yd that wyde was euell in the sighte of the Loide: euen after the abhominations of the Heu: then/whome the Loide expelled before the children of Iffrad/and turned backe/and builded the hie places / (which his father Ezechias had strowe downe) and set vp altares vnto Baalim/and made groues / a w<sup>ch</sup> shpped all the host of heauen / and serued them. He builded altares also in the Loide house/wherof the Loide had sayde: In Ierusalem shall my name be for euer. And vnto all the host of heauen builded he altares in both the courtes in the house of the Loide. And in the valley of the sonne of Beon caused he his owne sonnes to go thowen v<sup>ch</sup> fyre/and chise wayes/and regarded birdes cryinge/and w<sup>ch</sup> / a founded fishwayes and spounders of tokens / and yd much that was euell in the sighte of the Loide / to please him vnto w<sup>ch</sup>.

Carued ymages also and Idols/which he caused to make / set be vp in Gods house/ wherof the Loide saide vnto Dauid and to Salomon his sonne: In this house at Ierusalem which I haue chosen out of all the trybes of Iffrad/wyl I set my name for euer/and wyl nomore let the fore of Iffrad come from the lande that I appointed for they fathers / so farre as they obseue to do all that I haue commaunded them / in all the lawe / statutes and ordinaunces by Moise. But Manasse deceaued Iuda and them of Ierusalem / so that they yd w<sup>ch</sup> then the Heryth/whome the Loide destroyed before the children of Iffrad. And the Loide spake vnto Manasse and his people / a they regarded it not.

Therefore yd the Loide cause the rulers of the host of the kynge of Assur to come vpon them / which toke Manasse prisoner with bondes/and bounde him with chaynes / and brought hym vnto Babilon. And when he was in trouble / he made intercession before the Loide his God/and humbled him selfe greatly before the God of his fathers / a prayed/and besought hym. Then herde he his prayer / a brought him agayne to Ierusalem to his kyngdome. And Manasse knew that the Loide is God.

Afterwarde builded he the innermost wall of the citty of Dauid/on the Westside of Gibon by the shoek/and at the entrance of the sytgate / and rounde aboute i Ophel / and made it very hie. And layed captaynes in the stronge cittyes of Iuda / and put awaye the strange goddes and Idols out of the house of the Loide / and all the altars / which he had builded vpon the mount of the house of the Loide/and in Ierusalem/and caste them out of the citty/and buylde the altare of the Loide / and offered layne offerings and thankesfferinges theron / and commaunded Iuda / that they shoulde serue the Loide God of Iffrad. Nevertheless / though the people offered vnto the Loide they: God / yet offered they vpon the hie places.

What more there is to saye of Manasse / and of his prayer to his God/and the w<sup>ch</sup> of the Seers that spake vnto hym in the name of the Loide God of Iffrad/wholby they are among the actes of the Ringes of Iffrad. And his prayer and intercession / a all his synne a offence/a the rottennes wherby he buylde the hie places and groues / a fouled Idols / a for he humbled him selfe: he holdeth they are written among the actes of the Seers. And Manasse nasse fell on slepe with his father/and they buried him in his bouisr. And And his sonne was Fryng in his fkeade.

Two and twenty yeares olde was Amon when he was made Fryng/and reigned two yeare at Jerusalem/and yd euil in the sight of the Lorde/as Manasse his father had done. Amon offred vnto all the Idols that his father Manasse had made/and serued them. Yet yd not he humble himselfe before the Lorde/as Manasse his father had submyred himselfe: But Amon trespassed cur more and more. And his seruantes conspyred against hym/a slewe him in his bouise. Then smote the people in the lande all them that had conspyred against Fryng Amon. And the people in the lande made Josias his sonne Fryng in his fkeade.

The XXXIIII Chapter.

Josias was eyght yeare olde when he was made Fryng/and raygned one and thyrty yeare at Jerusalem/and yd that which was ryghte in the syghte of the Lorde/and walked in the wayes of Dauid his father/and turned not asyde/neyther to the ryghte hande nor to left. For in the eyght yeare of his raygne when he was yet but a childe/ he beganne to seke the God of his father Dauid/and in the twelfth yeare beganne he to claue Iuda at Jerusalem from the hye places/and groues/ and caried Idols/and molten ymages: and caused the altaires of Baalim to be broken downe before him/and the ymages that were thereon hewed be downe. And the groues/ and caried Idols/and molten ymages brake hem in peeces/and made them to dust/and scattered it vpon the graues of them that had offred vnto them/and the bones of the priestes were bent be vpon the altaires/and so clenched he Iuda and Jerusalem/and in the eyces of Manasse/Epbraim/Ammon/ and vnto Neptalim in thre wildernesses on euery syde. And when he had broken downe the altaires and groues/and smyren the Idols in peeces/and broken downe all the ymages in all the lande of Israel/ he came agayne to Jerusalem.

In the eyghenth yeare of his raygne/ when he had clenched the lande and the house/ he sent Saphan the sonne of Achia a Na-ssie the Shere of the cync/ a Joah the sonne of Joabias the chaunceler/ to repaire the bouise of the Lorde his God. And they came to Belchias the hye prieste/ a there was deliuered vnto them the monye that was brought vnto the bouise of God/which the Leuites (that kepte the thresholde) had gathered of Manasse/Epbraim/and of al residuic in Israel/ and of al Iuba a Ben Jamin/and of the that dwelt at Jerusalem/and they deliuered it vnto the handes of the workemen in the bouise of the Lorde/and gaue it vnto those that wroughte in the bouise of the Lorde/where it was in decaye that they shoulde repaie it. And the same gaue it forth vnto the carpenters and buildere/ to the freisour and hewen rymbor for the Balkes in the bouise/which the Frynges had destroyed. And the men labourd faithfully in the worke.

And ouer them were ordeyned / Jahari<sup>e</sup> and Obadiah the Leuites of the chyldren of Merari / Zachary and Messillam of the chyldren of the Kahathites/ to further the worke/ and they were al Leuites that coulde play vpon instrumentes. But ouer them that bare burthens/and furthered all maner of worke in all the officis/there were seruyce/officers and workepers of the Leuites. And wha they toke ouer the monye that was brought vnto the bouise of the Lorde/ Belchias the prieste founde the boke of the lawe of the Lorde geuen by Moyses. And Belchias aunswered/ and sayde vnto Saphan the scribe: I haue founde the boke of the lawe in the bouise of the Lorde. And Belchias deliuered the boke vnto Saphan. And Saphan bare it vnto the Fryng/ and broughte the Fryng woide agayne/and sayde: All that was geuen vnto the handes of thy seruantes/that make they: and the monye that was founde in the bouise of the Lorde/haue they gathered together/ and deliuered it vnto the officers/ and to the workemen. And Saphan the scribe tolde the Fryng/ and sayd: Belchias the prieste hath deliuered me a boke.

And Saphan red therein before the Fryng/ And when the Fryng herd the wordes of the lawe/ he rente his clothe. And the Fryng commaunded Belchias and Thicim the sonne of Saphan/ and Iddon the sonne of Micha/ and and Saphan the scribe/and vsaia the kinges seruant/and sayde: Go youre waye/ & cōsolat at the Lord for me/ and for the remnant in Israel/ and for Iuda/ concerninge these wordes of the booke that is founde. For greate is the indignacion of the Lord that is gone forth our waye/ because oure fathers haue not kept the word of the Lord: / to do accordinge as it is written in this booke. Then wēt Helchias with the other that were sent from the kynge J into the prophetes Hulda/ the wyfe of Shallum the sonne of Theraiah the sonne of Osia/ the keeper of the clothes/ which dwelle at Jerusalem on the other syde/ a they spake thus vnto her.

2 And she sayde vnto them: Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel: Tel the man I sent you vnto me/ Thus sayeth the Lord: Beholde/ I will bringe plagues vpon this place/ and the inhabitants thereof/ euen all the curses which are written in the booke/ that was red before the kynge of Iuda: because they haue forsaken me/ and haue incensed vnto other goddes/ to please me with all the workes of theyr handes. And myne indignacion shal go forth vpon this cōtry/ shal not be quenched.

And after this maner shall ye saye vnto the kynge of Iuda/ that sent you to see counsaill at the Lord: Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel/ concerninge the wordes that thou hast herd: Because thine heere is moued/ and because thou hast humbled thyselfe in sight of God/ whan thou herddest his wordes against this place/ and the inhabitants thereof/ and hast submitted thyselfe before me/ and rēte thy clothes/ and wepte before me/ therefore haue I herd the/ sayeth the Lord. Beholde/ I will gather the vnto thy fathers/ and thou shalt be layed in thy graue with peace/ so that thine eyes shal not see all the euil that I will bringe ouer this place/ and the inuēdiers thereof. And they thought the kynge wordes as theyne.

3 And then sent the kynge/ and caused all the Elders in Iuda and Jerusalem to come together. And the kynge wente vp into the house of the Lord/ and all the me of Iuda/ and the inhabitants of Jerusalem/ the priestes/ the Leuites/ and all the people/ both small and great: and all the wordes in this booke of the conue-

nance that was founde in the booke of the Lord: were red in theyr eares. And the king stode in his place/ and made a conuenaunce before the Lord/ that they shoulde walke after the Lord: to kepe his commaundementes/ his restituciones/ and his statutes with all theyr herte/ and with all theyr soule/ to do according vnto all the wordes of the conuenaunce that are written in this booke.

And there stode all they that were founde at Jerusalem and in Ben Samin. And the inhabitants of Jerusalem dyd according to the conuenaunce of God/ the God of theyr fathers. And Josias put away all the abhominacions out of all the landes that were the dyshyrens of Israel/ and caused all them that were found in Israel/ to serue the Lord their God. 1 So longe as Josias lyued/ he repared they nor from the Lord the God of theyr fathers.

The XXXV. Chapter.

1 And Josias kepte Passouer vnto the Lord at Jerusalem/ and kepte the Passouer on the fourteenth daie of the first moneth/ and set the priestes in theyr offices/ and strengthened them to their ministracion in the house of the Lord/ and sayde vnto the Leuites that taught in all Israel/ and were sanctified vnto the Lord: Put the holy Dreke in the house that Salomon the sonne of Dauid king of Israel dyd build. Ye shal beare it now: upon youre shoulders. So they serue now the Lord: your God/ and his people of Israel/ and prepare the house of youre fathers in your courses/ as it was appointed by Dauid the kynge of Israel/ and by Salomon his sonne: and stande in the Sanctuaries after the course of the fathers houses/ amonge your brethren the chyldren of the people. And after the course of the fathers houses amonge the Leuites/ and Hyll Passouer/ sanctifie and prepare youre brethren/ that they maye do according to the wordes of the Lord by Moyses.

And Josias gaue lambees and yonge kids: Beeves/ which were males/ to the heaues offeringe for the comūerney/ call to the Passouer: for every one that was founde: in the number thyrty thousande/ and the thousande of all of the kynges good. And his prynce of theyr owne good wyl gaue to the heaues offeringe for the people/and for the priestes and Leuites (namely Azabao/ Sabaric and Zepiel /the princes in the house of God amonge the priestes. For the Passouer/there thousande and sixe hundred: and the three hundred oren. But Charnania/ Semaias/ Sabaneel and his brethren/ Gafabia/ Zeiel and Josabab the chiefe of the Leuites / gaue the Leuites to the becausering for the Passouer / sixe thousande sheepe/ and sixe hundred oren.

Thus was the Gods seruice prepared/and the priestes stode in theyr place / and the Leuites in theyr courses / accordinge to the fyringe commaundement. And they fylled the Passouer/and the priestes toke of theyr bandes/ a spynkledre: and the Leuites toke the skynnes of them/ and remoued the burntofferings thereof/ to geue it amonge the porters of the fathers houses/in the multitude of theyr congregacion to offer vnto the Lord/ as it is written in the booke of Moses/ Leuita so dyd they with the oren also. And they dyessed the Passouer at the fire: / accordinge to the lawe.

And that which was halowed/ dyessed they in portes/kenels/and pannes/and made haiff for the commune people. Afterwarde prepared they for them selves also / and for the priestes: for the priestes the chylidren of Aar were occupied in the burntofferings / and sat vntill the nyght. Therefore must the Leuites prepare for them selves/and for the priestes / chylidren of Aaron.

And the syngers the chylidre of Asaph stode in theyr place/ accordinge to the Dauides commaundement / And Asaph and Semai / and Jobthan the fyringe Oeyer / and the porters at all the gates. And they departed not from their office: for the Leuites theyr brethren prepared for them. Thus was all the Gods seruice prepared the same daye / that the Passouer was kept/ and the burntofferings offered vpon the altare of the Lord/ accordinge to the commaundement of fyringe Josias.

So the chylidre of Israel that were at hande/ kepte Passouer at that tyme / and the feast of unleuened bread/seuen dayes. Since that tyme of Samuel the prophet / was no Passouer kept in Israel/ yf this: and no fyringe in Israel had holden suche a Passouer as Josias dyd/ and the priestes / Leuites / all Iuda/ and such as were founde of Israel/ and the inhabytors of Jerusalem. In the cyghtheith yere of the reigne of Josias was this Passouer kepte.

After this / when Josias had prepared the house/ Necho the kynge of Egipte went out to fyght agaynst Carcamio beyde Euphrates. And Josias wente forth agaynst hym. But he sent messagers vnto hym/ sayinge: What haue I to do with the King of Iuda? I am not come here agaynst the / but I fyghte agaynst another house: / and God hath sayde that I shall make haiff. Ceasse fro God which is with me/ that he destroye the not. Vncere thyselfe/ Josias turned not his face from hym/ but prepared hymselfe to fyght with hym/ and herkened not vnto the wordes of Necho / out of the mouth of God/ and came to fyght with hym vpon the playne beyde Magaddo. But the archers stode at finge Josias. And the kynge sayd vnto his seruantes: Carry me awaye/ for I am sicke wounded. And his seruantes toke hym from the charret / and carryd hym vpon his second charret/ and brought hym to Jerusalem. And he dyed/ and was buryed amonge the sepulchres of his fathers.

And all Iuda and Jerusalem mourned for Josias/ and Jeremy bewailed Josias/ and all the synging men and moueris/ saie they: lamentacions ouer Josias vnto this daye / and made a coluime thereof vnto this daye. Behold/ it is written also amonge the lamentacions. What more there is to saye of Josias/ and his mercy/ accordinge to the scripture in the late of the Lord/ and of his actes / both first and last. behold / it is written in the booke of the fyringes of Israel and Iuda.

The. XXXVI. Chapter.

After that the people of the lande toke Josias the sonne of Josias / and made hym kynge in his fathers steade at Jerusalem. The and he was twenty yere olde / when Josias when he was made kynge / and reigned the monethes at Jerusalem. For the kynge of Egipte deposed hym at Jerusalem/ and condemned the lande in an hundred thalentes of siluer / and one talent of golde. And the kynge of Egipte made Eliachim his brother kynge ouer Iuda and Jerusalem / and named his name Ioaquim. But Necho toke his brother Josias/ and carryed hym into Egipte.

And twenty yeare olde was Joachin when he was made kynge/ and raygned eleven yeare at Jerusalem/ and dyd that which was euill in the sight of the Lord his God.
 ¶ And Nabuchodonosor the kynge of Babylon went vp agaynst him/ and bounde hym with chaynes/ to carye hym vnto Babylon. And Nabuchodonosor broughte certayne vessels of the house of the Lord vnto Babylon/ and put them in his temple at Babilo. What more there is to say of Joachin/ or of his abominacions which he did/ or that were found in hym/ beholde they are written in the booke of the kynges of Israel a Iuda. And Joachin hys sonne was kynge in his steade.

¶ Twenty yeare olde was Joachin when he was made kynge/ and raygned the monethes and ten dayes at Jerusalem/ a dyd that which was euill in the sight of the Lord. But wha the yeare came about / Nabuchodonosor sente thither/ and caused him to be fettered vnto Babylon with the costly vessels and Jewels of the house of the Lord/ a made Zedechias hys brother kynge ouer Iuda a Jerusalem.

¶ One and twenty yeare olde was Zedechias when he was made kynge/ and raygned eleven yeare at Jerusalem/ and did that which was euill in the sight of the Lord his God/ and submitted not himselfe before the face of the prophet Jeremy/ which spake out of the mouth of the Lord. He kill awaye also from Nabuchodonosor the kynge of Babylon/ which he had taken an oath of hym by God/ and was stricken/ and hardened hys heert that he should not conuerse vnto the Lord God of Israel. And all the chief amonge the priestes/ and the people multiplied they synnes/ accordinge to all the abominacions of the Aegypten / a defyled the house of the Lord/ which he had sanctified at Jerusalem.

¶ And the Lord God of theyr fathers sent vnto them early by his messengers/ for he spared his people and his habitacyon / but they laughed the messengers of God to scorne/ and defyled his wordes/ and had his prophete receiued in derision/ so longe till the indignacion of the Lord increased ouer his people/ in there was no remedye of holynge. For he broughte the kynge of the Caldees vpon them/ and caused for to slaye all theyr yonge men with the sword in the house of theyr Sanctuary / and spared nether yonge man nor virgin/ neyther aged nor graund father / but gaue them all in to his hande. And all the vessels in the house of God/ greate and small/ the treasures in the house of the Lord/ and the treasures in the kynge and of his princes/ all this caused he to be caryed vnto Babylon. And they burne the house of God / and brake doune the wall of Jerusalem/ and all the palaces therof/ burne they with fyre/ so that all the costly ornaments of it were destroyed.

And like who escaped the sword / him too theye be away vnto Babylon/ and they became hys seruantes/ and the seruantes of his sonnes/ till the Persians had the Empry: that Jeremy might be performed/ euen vntill the lide had ynough of her Sabbathes: for all tyme of the desolacion was it Sabbath / vntill the seueny yeares were fulfilled.

¶ But in the first yeare of Cyrus the kynge of Persia/ that the worde of the Lord spoken by the mouth of Jeremy might be fulfilled/ the Lord raised vp the spite of Cyrus the king of Persia / he caused it to be proclaimed tharouout all his Empry: yee/ and by writinge also/ sayinge: Thus sayeth Cyrus the kynge of Persia: The Lord God of heauen hath geuen me all the kyngdomes in the lande / and hath commaunded me to buyde hym an house at Jerusalem in Iuda. Whosoever now wille aminge you is of his people/ the Lord hys God be with him/ and let hym go vp.

¶ The firste yeare of Cyrus kynge of Persia (that the woode of the Lorde spoken by the mouth of Ieremy myght be fulfilled) the Lorde stered vp the spere of Cyrus kynge of Persia he caused it to be proclaimed throughout all his Empire/see/and by writinge also sayinge: Thus saith Cyrus the kynge of Persia: The Lorde God of heauen hath geuen me all the kyngdomes in the lande/ and hath commaunded me to buyld hym an house at Ierusalem in Iuda. Whosoever now amonge you is of his people / the Lorde his God be with hym / and let him go vp to Ierusalem in Iuda / and buyld the house of the Lorde God of Israel. He is the God that is at Ierusalem. And whosoever remembereth yet in any maner of place / where he is a stranger / let the men of his place helpe hym with siluer and golde / with good and cattell / as a good freynyl / for the house of God at Ierusalem.

¶ Then gat vp the principle fathers of Iuda and Ben Zamin / and the priestes a Leuites / and all they which spere God had raysted to go vp / and to buyld the house of the Lorde at Ierusalem. And all they that were aboute the / strengithed theyr hande with vessels of siluer and golde / with good and cattell / and Jewels / besides that which they gaue of theyr owne freynyl. And Iyng Cyrus broughte forth the vessels of the Lordes house / which Nabuchodonosor had taken out of Ierusalem / and put in his gods house. But Cyrus kynge of Persia broughte the forth by Mishpethath the treasurer / and numbered them vnto Despazar the prince of Iuda. And this is the nombre of them: thyrtye basens of golde / and a thousand basens of siluer / and nyne and twentye thousand uoz / thyrtye cuppes of golde / and of other siluer cuppes four hundred and ten / and of othe vessels a thousand. So that all the vessels both of gold and siluer / were thyrtye thousande and four hundred. Despazar broughte them all vp / with them that came vp out of the captiuitie of Babylon vnto Ierusalem.

 So the priestes and the Leuitico / and certayne of the people / and the syngers / a the porters: and the Uerbinimo dwelt in theyr cyties / and all Israel in theyr cyties.

And when the seventh moneth came / a the children of Israel were now in their eyes the people came together euen as one man vnto Ierusalem And there stode vp Iesusa the sonne of Josidec a bis bishop / puesies / and Josababel the sonne of Salathiel a bis bishop / and buylde the aultare of the God of Israel / to offer burnt-offerings theron / as it is wryt in the lawe of Moyses the man of God / and the aultare set they vpo his solertes / for there was a fearefulnes amonge theim / because of the nation a lande / and of their burnt-offerings theron vnto the Lord / in f moynge and or euen. And helde the feast of Tabernacles / as it is wryt / a offered burnt-sacrifices dayly after the numbre as ac-cordinge was / euey daye his sacrifice. Afterward the dayly burnt-offerynges also / a of the new Moones and of all the feast dayes of the Lorde / that were balowed / and all inaner of freuyling offeringes / which they dyd of their owne fre will vnto the Lorde.

Upon the first daye of the seventh moneth beganne they to offer burnt-sacrifices vnto the Lorde. But the foundation of the temple of the Lorde was not yet layed. Nevertheless they gaue money vnto the masons and carpenters / and nicate and drynke and oyle vnto them of Sidon and of Tyre / to bunge the Ce-dib tymble from Libanus by see vnto Tyropolis / accordinge to the commaundement of Cyrus the kynge of Persia.

In the seconde yere of theyr comyng vnto the house of God at Ierusalem in the second moneth / beganne Josababel the sonne of Sa-lathiel / and Jesusa the sonne of Josidec / and the remannd of theyr biethren the puestes and Leuites / and all they that were come out of the captiuite vnto Ierusalem / and appoynted the Leuites from twentye yere olde and aboue / to sc that the worke of the house of the Lorde wete forward. And Jesusa stode with his son-nes and biethren / and Cadmiel with his son-nes / and the children of Juda / to further the workmen of the house of God / namely the children of Henadai with theyr children and theyr biethren the Leuites.

And when the builders layed the founda-cyon of the temple of the Lorde / the puestes stode in theyr array with trompettes. And the Leuites the children of Saph with cymbales / to playe the Lorde / with the Dyn of Da-uid / and theyr sang together / and theyr cymbales / and theyr sang together / because he is gracious / and because his mercy endureth for euer vnto Israel. And all the people shouted loude in passyng the Lorde / because the foundacyon of the house of the Lorde was layed. Nevertheless / many of the olde puestes and Leuites and aunyent fathers / which had sent the house / as in his founda-cyon / and this was now befor theyr eyes / wept loude. But many shouted with ioye / so that the noise gaue a great sound / in so muche that the people could not knowe the ioyful sound for the noise of the wepyng in the people / for the people shouted loude / so that the noise was herbe farre of.

The III. Chapter.

When the aduersaries of Juda and Ben Jamin herde / that the children of Israel the captiue builded the temple vnto the Lorde God of Israel / they came to Josababel and to the principal fathers / and said vnto them: We wyl buylde with you / for we see the Lorde your God lyke as you do. And we haue done sacrifice vnto him / since the tyme that Assarhadon the kynge of Assyrie brought us up ther. But Josababel and Jesusa and the other aunyent fathers of Israel answered them: It is not meet for vs and you to buylde the house of our God / but we wil build alone vnto the Lorde God of Israel / as Cyrus the kynge of Persia hath commaunded us.

The folk of the lande hindered the people of Juda / and made the assayed to buylde / and byed counsaillers aganist them / and hindered theyr deuyse as long as Cyrus the kynge of Persia lyued / vntill the raigne of Darius kynge of Persia. But when Darius was kynge / in the begynnyng of his raigne wrote they vnto him a complayne aganist the of Juda and Ierusalem.

And in the tyme of Artaxerxes / wrote Bisellam / Methusabab / and Tabeel and the other of theyr counsaill vnto Artaxerxes the kynge of Persia. But the scripture of the letter was wrytten in the Syriane speche / and was interpreted in the language of the Syriane: Behum the chaunceller / and Simai / seryde / d u wrote

wrote this letter agaynst Jerusalem to Artaxerxes the Kinge.

We Rehum the chanceller / and Simai the scribe / and other of the counsaill of Sina / of Apharsath / of Earpat / of Persia / of Tradch / of Babilon / of Susan / of Ocha / of Eliz / and other of the people / I whom the great noble Asiathar brought ouer / set in the cyties of Samaria / and other on this syde the water / and in Canaan. And this is the summe of the letter that they sent vnto Kinge Artaxerxes.

¶ The seruantes the men on this syde the water and in Canaan. Be it known vnto the Kinge / that the Jewes which are come up firste to us vnto Jerusalem in to that sedicious and wicked one / buyld the same / and make up the walles of it / and bringe out of the foundation. Be it knowne now therfore vnto the Kinge / that if this cyne be buylded / the walles made up agayne / the shal not they geue tribute / toll / and yearly cosume / and they desire shall be to the Kinge harme. But now that we all are thereby which destroyed the temple / we wold no longer see the Kinges dishonour. Therfore sent we out / and caused the Kinge to be certified therof / that it maye be sought in the Countie of thy progenitors / also shaldest thou finde in some Cronicles / and preceaut / that this cyne is sedicious and noysome vnto Kinges and landes / and that they cause other also to rebell of olde / and so: the same cause was this cyne destroyed. Therfore do we certifye the Kinge / that if this cyne be buylded / and the walles therof made up / thou shaldest see nothinge on this syde the water / by reason of it.

¶ Then sent the Kinge an counsaill vnto Rehum the chanceller / and Simai the scribe / and to the other of theys counsaill that dwelt in Samaria / and vnto the other beyonde the water. Peace and salutation. The letter which ye sent vnto us / hath ben openly red before me / and I commaunded to make search: and it is founde / that this cyne of olde hath made insurrection agaynst Kinges / and how that your and rebellion hath bene committed therein. There haue bene manye Kinges also at Jerusalem / which haue raygned ouer all that is beyonde the water / and toll / tribute and yearly cosume was geuen vnto them. So ye now after this commaundement / forbyd the same men / that the cyne be not buylded / till I haue geuen commaundement. Take heed now that ye be not negligent herein / lest the Kinge haue harme there by thow.

¶ Now when Kinge Artaxerxes letter was red before Rehum the chanceller / and Simai the scribe / and theys counsaill / they went up in all the hast to Jerusalem vnto the Jewes / and forbad them with the arme a woutre. The ceasid the worke of the house of God at Jerusalem / and continued so vnto the seconde yeare of Darius Kinge of Persia.

The V. Chapter.

¶ The prophetes / Aggeus and Zachary / the sonne of Bedai / prophesied vnto the Jewes that were in Iuda and Jerusalem / in the name of the God of Israel. Then gat up Zoiobabel the sonne of Salathiel / and Zosia the sonne of Josede / and beganne to buyld the house of God at Jerusalem / and with they the prophetes of God which strengthened them. At the same tyme came to them Dathan the debite on this syde the water / and Serah of Hosen / and theys counsaillers / and sayde thus vnto them: Who commaunded you to buyld this house / and to make up the walles therof? Then tolde we them the names of the men that made this buildinge. But the eye of the Lord came vpon the Elders of the Jewes / that they were not inbuite / till the matter was brought before Darius / and thence came a wysynge therof agayne.

¶ This is the summe of the letter that Dathan the debite on this syde the water / a Serah of Hosen / and theys counsaillers of Apharsath / which were on this syde the water / sent vnto Kinge Darius. And these are the wordes that they sent vnto hym: Vnto Darius the Kinge / all peace. Be it knowne vnto the Kinge / that we came in to Jerewy to the house of the great God / which is buylded with all maner of stone / and balces are layed in the walles / and the worke goeth fast forth / and prospereth in theys handes. Neuerthelesse / we aske the Elders / and sayde vnto them: Who hath commaunded you to buyld this house / or to make up the walles therof? We aske theys names also / that we might certifye the / and haue written the names of the men that were theys rulers.

But they answered vs with these wordes/ and sayde: We are the seruantes of the God of heauen and earth / and buyde the house that was buyded many yeares ago / I which a greate kyng of Israel buyded and set vp. Sombir / when our fathers prouoked the God of heauen vnto wrath / he gaue them ouer in the hande of Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babylon the Calde / which brake downe this house / a carryed the people awaye vnto Babylon.

In the firste yere of Cyrus the kyng of Babylon / the same kyng Cyrus commaunded to buyde this house of God: for the vessel of golde and the sluer in the house of God / which Nabuchodonosor toke out of the temple at Jerusalem / and brought them in to the temple at Babylon / those ydols of Cyrus the kyng toke out of the temple at Babylon / and discaued them vnto Sebzazar by name / whome he made Sebire / and sayde vnto hym: Take these vessels / go thy way and bunge them vnto the temple at Jerusalem / and let the house of God be buyded in his place. Then came the same Sebzazar / a layed the foundation of the house of God at Jerusalem. Since that tyme hath it ben in building / and yet so it not finished. If it please the king now / let there be searche made in the kynges treasure house / which is at Babylon / whether it haue ben kyng Cyrus commaundement / that the house of God at Jerusalem shoulde be buyded: and sende vs the kynges mynde / concernyng the same.

The. VI. Chapter.

B. i. d.

When commaunded kyng Darius / that searche shoulde be made in the library of the kynges treasure house / whiche laye at Babilon / so at Egbatanna in a castill that lyeth in the lande of the Medes / there was founde a booke / and in it was there an aete written after this maner: In the firste yere of kyng Cyrus / commaunded the same kyng Cyrus to buyde the house of God at Jerusalem / in the place where the sacrifice is made / and to laye the foundation to beare this seue cubites height / and the foure cubites bredth / and the walles of all manner of stonnes / none walles of ymber / a the cyperes shalbe geuen of the kynges house. And the golden a sluer vessel of the house of God / which Nabuchodonosor toke out of the temple at Jerusalem / and brought vnto Babylon / shalbe restored agayne / that they maye be brought vnto the temple at Jerusalem to theyr place / in to the house of God.

When you saue frō the thetise / thou Tharhan Sebire beyonde the water / a Serbar of Bosen / a your counsaillers which are beyonde the water. Let the worke in the house of God / that the Sebire of the Jemes a theyr elders maye buyde the house of God in his place. I haue commauded also / what shalbe done to the Elders of Jude / for the building of the house of God / that there shall diligently be taken of the kynges goodes / euen of the reio. b. and the water / and geuen vnto the men / and that they be not hindered.

And if they haue neede of calves / lambes / or goates for the burnt offeringe vnto the God of heauen / we beare / saturdaye a oyle / after the custome of the priestes at Jerusalem / there shalbe geuen them daylye as is accordyng / and so that this be not done negligently / that they maye offre sweete sauourcs vnto the God of heauen / and praye for the kynges lyfe / and for his children. This commaundement haue I geuen. And what man soeuer be that altereth these wordes / there shall a halfe be taken from his house / and set vp / and he shalbe hangged thereon / and his house shalbe pyssed for the dede doynge.

But the God that dwelleth in heauen / hee stroye all kynges and people / that put to theyr hande to altere and to breake downe the house of God at Jerusalem. I Darius haue commaunded that this be diligently done.

When Tharhan the Sebire beyonde the water / and Serbar of Bosen with their counsaillers / (to whome kyng Darius had sente) dyd theyr diligence. And the Elders of the Jemes buyded / and they prospered thowr the propheteinge of Aggeus the prophet / and Zacharie the sonne of Iddes / and they buyded / and set vp the worke / accordyng to the commaundement of the God of Israel / and after the commaundement of Cyrus / Darius / a Darius: the kynges of Persia. And they persournd the house vnto the thide base of the moneth Bar / that was the sixte yere of the raygne of kyng Darius.

¶ par. viij. a † And the chyldeyn of Israel / the priestes / the Leuites / and the other chyldeyn of the captiuitie helde the dedication of the house of God with ioyes / and offered at the dedication of the house of God / an hundred calves / two hundred lambes / four hundred goates : and for the synofferynge for all Israel / twelue hegoates / according to the nombre of the trybes of Israel / and for the priestes in theyr courses / a the Leuites in theyr offices / to minister vnto God which is at Jerusalem / as it is written in the booke of Moses.

And the chylde of the captiuitie held / Daffouer vpo the fourtenth daye of the first moneth : for the priestes and Leuites had purified themselves / so that they were all cleane as one man / and fylled Daffouer for all the chyldeyn of the captiuitie / and for theyr brethren the priestes / and for themselves. And the chylde of Israel which were come agayne out of captiuitie / all such as had separated themselves / vnto them fro the synners of the Hevthe in the lande to sife the Lorde God of Israel : had eate and helde the feall of vncleandred bread seuen dayes with ioye : for the Lorde had made them glad / and turned the herte of the kynge of Assir vnto the / so that theyr handes were strengthened in the worke of the house of God / which is the God of Israel.

The. VII. Chapter.

¶ Off. i. a † After that the actes in the raygne of Artaxerxes kynge of Persia / there wente up fro Babylon / Esdras the sonne of Eraia / the sonne of Iaria / the sonne of Helchias / the sonne of Sellum / the sonne of Sadoch / the sonne of Adonib / the sonne of Amaria / the sonne of Iaria / the sonne of Meraiorib / the sonne of Serabie / the sonne of Nisi / the sonne of Buti / the sonne of Absus / the sonne of Phineas / the sonne of Eleazar / the sonne of Aaron the chiefe priest / which was a quicke scribe in the lawe of Moses / which the Lorde God of Israel had geuen. And the kynge gaue him all that he required / according to the hande of the Lorde his God vpon him.

¶ Es. xxx. a And there wente vpon certayne of the chylde of Israel / and of the priestes / a of the Leuites / of the syngers / of the porters / and of the Levitims vnto Jerusalem / in the seuenth yere of kynge Artaxerxes. And they came to Jerusalem in the fifth moneth / that is the seuenth yere of the kynge. For vpon the first daye of the first moneth / they were to goe up fro Babylon : and on the fiftle daye of the fifth moneth came he to Jerusalem / according to the good hande of God vpon hym : for Esdras prepared his herte to sife the lawe of the Lorde / and to do it / and to teache the precepte and gouernement of Israel.

And this is the summe of the letter / that king Artaxerxes gaue vnto Esdras the priest / the scribe / which was a rechaer in the wordes of the Lorde / and of his statutes ouer Israel. Vnto Esdras the priest and scribe in the lawe of the God of heauen / peace and saluation. I haue commaunded that all they of the people of Israel / which are minded of theyr owne good will to goe up to Jerusalem / that they goe with the drynging sent of the kynge and of the seuen lordes of the counsaill / to saynt Juda and Jerusalem / according to the lawe of God / which is in thy hande : And that thou shouldest take with the silver and golde / which the kynge and the lordes of his counsaill geue of theyr owne good will vnto the God of Israel / which habitation is at Jerusalem / and all the silver a golde that thou canst fynde in all the countrey of Babylon : with it that the people and priestes geue of theyr owne good will vnto the house of God at Jerusalem.

Take thou the same / and be diligent / with the same money / calves / lambes / goares / and meate offerynges and drynke offerynges / to be offered vpo the altare of the house of your God at Jerusalem. And lose what it is left of the money / do after the wyl of your God. And the vessels that are geuen the for the ministracion in the house of thy God / those deliuer thou before God at Jerusalem.

And whatsoeuer theynge more shalbe necessary for the house of thy God / which is necessary for the spende / let the same be geuen out of the syngers chaumber. I kynge Artaxerxes haue commaunded all the tresurers beyond the water / that loke whatsoeuer Esdras the priest and scribe in the lawe of the God of heauen / requyreth of you / that ye fulfill the same diligently / vnyll an hundred talents of silver.

offshuer / and fill an hundred quarters of wheat / and fill an hundred barres of wine / and an hundred barres of oyle / a salt without measure. Whosoever delongeth to the lawe of the God of heauen / let the same be done to him / hence for the house of the God of heauen / that there come no warre upon the fingers realm / and his children.

B And knowen be it vnto you / that ye shall haue no auctorie to requyre rasyng / and cōsume / and scarye reines vpo any of the priestes / Leuites / synners / porters / Victimims / a ministers in the house of the God. But thou Esdras / after the wisdom of thy God / that is in thy hande / set thou iudges and arbiters / to iudge all the people that is beyonde Jordan / euen all such as knowe the lawe of thy God / and them that knowe it not / those is that ye teach. And whosoever will not willingly fulfill the lawe of thy God / and the fingers lawe / shal haue his iudgement for the lide / whether it be vnto death / or be banished / or to be condemned in good / or to be put in prison.

Prayd be the Lorde God of oure fathers / whiche so hath inspyied the fingers herte to garnishe the house of God at Ierusalem / and hath enuyed his mercy vnto me in the presence of the King / and his counsaillers / and before all the fingers bye estates. And I was comforted / accordinge to the hande of the Lorde my God our me / and so gathered I the headres of Israell together / that they myghte go vp with me.

The VIII Chapter.

Where are the headres of their fathers that were named / whiche went vp with me from Babylon / what tyme as King Artaxerxes raygned. Of the children of Dineas / Gerson / of the children of Ithamar / Daniels of the children of Suid / Barnoi of the children of Daroo / Sathary / and the men childen named with hym / and hundred and fiftye: Of the children of Pahath Moab / Eleonai the sone of Obabias / and with him two hundred men children.

Of the children of Sechanias / the sonne of Ieheshall / and with hym thre hundred men children. Of the children of Adinabed / the sonne of Jonathans / and with hym fifty men children. Of the children of Elam / Iesai the sonne of Ithabias / and with hym seuenie men children. Of the children of Sephabias / Sebadias the sonne of Meshai / a with hym foure score men children.

Of the children of Iahob / Obadiah the sonne of Iehiell / and with hym two hundred and cyghtene men children. Of the children of Selomath / the sonne of Josiphias / and with him an hundred and thre score men children.

Of the children of Sebas / Sathary the sone of Sebas / and with him cyght and twentye men children. Of the children of Agab / Jophan the youngest sonne / and with him an hundred and ten men children. Of the last children of Adoniam / and these were they names: Eliphelet / Ieell / Semai / and with them the score men children. Of the children of Bigemas / Dabai and Sabud / and with the seuen men childre. And I gathered them together by the water that runneth toward Iherusalem / and there abode we the thre yere.

And when I loked among the people / a partes / I founde no Leuites there. Then sente I Eliezer / Ariel / Semai / Elnarban / Jarab / Elnarban / Natha / Sathary / a Nesulam the rulers / and Jorab and Elnarab the teachers / and those sente I vnto Jddo the chiefe of the Cassipias / that they shoulde seeke we mynistrars for the house of our God / a I tolde them what they shoulde saye vnto Jddo / and to his brethren the Victimims at Cassipia.

And accordinge to the good hande of our God vpon vs / they broughte vs a wise man from among the children of Melchis the sonne of Leui / the sonne of Israel / euen Serobias with his sonnes and brethren / cyghtene. And Sababias / and with hym Iesai of the children of Merari / with his brethren and they sonnes / twenty. And of the Victimims / whome Suid and the pynners gaue to mynistr vnto the Leuites / two hundred and twentye / all named by name.

And euen there at the water be the Iherusalem / caused I a saltyng to be doon / clayme / that is / we myghte humble oure selves before our God / to see if him a ryghte waye for vs / and our children / an all oure substance. For I was ashamed to requyre of the fingers / soule byre and hoismentes helpe vs againste the enemye in the waye. For we had sayde vnto the kynge The bande of oure God is for the best upon all them that see hym/and his violence and wrath upon all them that forsake hym. So we fasted/and soughte this at oure God/and he herde vs.

- D And I toke our twelue of the chiefe priestes/ Serubias and Safadua/ and ten of their brethren with the/and weyed them there the syluer a golde and vessels for the beaustoffering vnto the house of our God/which the kynge/ and the lordes of his counsaill and princes/ all Israel that were at bande/had giuen to the beaustoffering:and there weyed I them vnder their bande sixe hundredth and fyfetye talentes of syluer/and in syluer vessel an hundredth talentes/and in golde an hundredth talentes/ twentye cuppes of golde of a thousande guldenes/ and two costly ornaments of good steele/as cleare as golde/and sayde vnto the: Ye are holy vnto the Lord/ therefore are the vessels holy also/ as so is the syluer and golde that is giuen of a good wyll vnto the Lord God of oure fathers: Watch ye therefore and kepe it/ as ye were it doune before the chiefe priestes and Leuites/and ancient fathers of Israel at Jerusalem in the chappell of the house of the Lord. Then toke the priestes and Leuites the weyed syluer and golde and vessel/ to bringe it vnto Jerusalem vnto the house of oure God.

- E So we drake vp from the water of Therna on the riuerside bye on the fyfth moneth/ to go vnto Jerusalem: and the bande of oure God was upon vs/ and deliuered vs from the bande of the enemyes and prynces wayting vs by the waye. And we came to Jerusalem/ and abode there thre dayes. But on the fourth daye was the syluer and golde/ and vessel weyed in the house of oure God vnder the bande of Achemorah the sonne of Oras the priest/and with hym Eleasar the sonne of Phinias/and with them Josabab the sonne of Iesua/and Noad: the sonne of Benui the Leuite/accordinge to the number a weighte of euery one. And the weyghte was all written up at the same tyme.

And the chyldeyn of the captiuyte/ whiche were comen out of prysyn/ offered burntoffe rynges vnto the God of Israel: twelue Bullockes for al Israel/ sixe and nyntyen rammes/ seuen and seuentie lammes/ and twelue goates for a synnoffering/ all to the burnt offerings of the Lord. And they deliuered the kynges admision vnto the kynge officers/ and to the Sedyars on this syde the water. And they praised the people and the house of God.

The X. Chapter.

Han all this was persecuted/ the ruler came to me/ and saide: The people of Israel/ and the priestes/ and Leuites are not separated from the nacions in the landes/ as touching theyr abominacions/ namely of the Cananites/ Hethites/ Pherezites/ Jebusites/ Ammonites/ Moabites/ Egypcians/ and Amourites. For they haue taken the veynes of the same/ and theyr synnes/ and haue myrte the holy scide with the nacions in the landes/ and the bande of the rulers/ and lordes of counsaill hath bene pryncipal in this trespassse.

When I herde this/ I rente my clothes a myrment/ and plure oute the beer of my beade/ and of my heerd/ and sat mourninge. And then resoued vnto me al such as feared the Lord God of Israel/ because of the great transgression. And I sat mourning vntil the eueninge sacrifice. And aboute the eueninge sacrifice I rose vp from my praynes/ and rente my clothes and my rayment/ and fell vpon my faces/ and spred our myr handes vnto the Lord my God/ and sayde:

My God/ I am ashamed/ and varte not lyfte vp myne eyes vnto the my God: for oure wickednesse are growen ouer oure heade/ and oure trespassses are wazen great vnto the heauen. Since the tyme of our fathers haue we bene in greate trespassse vnto this daye/ and because our wickednesse haue we and our kynge and priestes bene deliuered into the bande of the kynge of the nacions/ into the swordes/ into captiuyte/ into spoyle/ and into confusion of face/ as it is come to passe this daye.

But now is there a lyffe and sdone graciousse come from the Lord oure God/ so that some of vs are escaped/ that he maye geue vs a nayle in his holy place/ that oure God maye lighte oure eyes/ and geue vs a lyffe lyſe lyſe in our bondage, for we are ſolden men / and our God hath not forſaken vs / though we be ſoldmen / and hath enclined mercy vnto vs in the ſight of the Kinges of Perſia / that they ſhoulde geue vs lyſe / & promote the houſe of our God / and to ſet vp the ſolation thereof / and to geue vs an hedge in Iuda and Jeruſalem.

O our God what ſhal we ſaye now after this: that we haue forſaken thy commaundement / which thou haſt commaunded by thy ſeruautes the prophetes / and ſayd: The land wheryn ye ſhal come to poſſeſſe it / is an vnclean land / wheryn the lybthynneſſe of the people of the land / in theyr abhominacion / wherwith they haue made it full of vncleanneſſe in euery ſide.

Therefore ſhal ye not geue your daughters vnto theyr ſonnes / and theyr daughters ſhall ye not take vnto your ſonnes / and ſeke not their peace and welth for euer / that ye maye be ſtronger / and enioye the good in the land / and that ye and your children maye haue the inheritance of it for euermore.

And after all this that is come vpon vs / (because of our euil dedes and greates treſpaſſe) thou our God haſt ſpared our wickedneſſe / and haſt giuen vs a deliuerance as it is come to paſſe.

As for vs / we haue turned backe / and haue let go thy commaundement / to make contracte with the people of the abhominacion. Whil thou then be with vs / till we be utterly conſumed / ſo that nothinge remaine / and till there be no deliuerance: O Lord God of Iſraell / thou art righteous / for we remaine yet ſcaped / as it is this day. Beholde / in thy preſent are we in oure treſpaſſe / for because of this there no ſtandinge before the.

The .X. Chapter.

3 Sithen Iſſias prayed after this manner and knowleged / wept / and lay before the houſe of God / there reſoued vnto hym oure of Iſraell a very greates congregacion of men & women / and children: for the people wepre very ſore. And Sabanah the ſonne of Iehid one of the children of Haman / answered and ſpake vnto Iſſias: We haue treſpaſſed againſt the Lord our God / in that we haue taken ſtraunge wyſes of all the people of the land. Now there is no hope yet in Iſraell concerninge this / therefore let vs make a covenante now with our God / that we ſhal put awaye all the wyſes / and ſuch as are borne of them / accordinge to the counſayl of the Lord / and of them that feare the commaundment of our God / that we maye do accordinge to the lawe. Get the vp therefore / for the matter belongeth vnto ſ. We will be with the / ſe of good comfort / and ſo it.

Then roſe Iſſias / and toke an ooth of the rulers / iuſtices / and Leuites / and of all Iſraell / that they ſhoulde do accordinge to this word: and they ſwoie. And Iſſias ſtoode vp before the houſe of God / and wrote in to the chamber of Iobanan the ſonne of Eliaſah. And when he came therby / he ſawe that there was made / and vnto no water: for he mourned because of the tranſgreſſion of them that had bene in captiuitie.

And they cauſed a proclamation be made throughout Iuda and Jeruſalem / vnto all the children which had ben in captiuitie / that they ſhoulde gather them ſelues together vnto Jeruſalem: And that whoſoever came not with in the dayes / accordinge to the voyce of the rulers and Elders / all his ſubſtance ſhoulde be forſewd / and he put out from the congregation of the captiue.

Then all the men of Iuda and Ben Jamin gathered them ſelues together vnto Jeruſalem in the dayes: that is on the twentieth daye of the ninth moneth / and all the people ſat in the ſtrete before the houſe of God / and trembled because of the matter / and for the rayne. And Iſſias the iuſt ſtoode vp / and ſaide vnto them: Ye haue tranſgreſſed / that ye haue taken ſtraunge wyſes / to make the Iuda / a treſpaſſe of Iſraell yet more: beſide now therefore vnto the Lord God of your fathers / and do his pleaſure / and ſeparate your ſelues from the people of the land / and from the ſtraunge wyſes. Then answered al the congregacion / and ſayde with loud voyce: Let it be done as thou haſt ſayde. But the people are many / and it is a rayny weather / and they can not ſtande here without / neither is this a worke of one daye: two / for we are many / & haue offended in this tranſgreſſion.

Let

Let us appointe our rulers therfore in all the congregacion/that all they which haue taken straunge wyfes in our cities/maie come at the tyme appointed/and the Elders of every cite/ and their iudges with theyr/ the wisard of our God/ because of this matter be turned awaie from vs.

Then were appointed Jonathan the sone of Asabel and Zebasia the sonne of Theua our this matter. And Masullam and Sabathai the Leuites helped them. And the children of the captiuitie byd euen so. And Esdras the prest/and the auncient fathers thoroze the beak of theyr sargens / and all that were not recheared by name / separated themselves / and sat them doune on the first daye of the tenth moneth / to examine this matter. And on the firste daye of the firste moneth thought they the matre to a conclusion / concerninge all the men that had taken straunge wyfes.

¶ And amonge the children of the priestes / there were men founde that had taken straunge wyfes / namely amonge the children of Iesus the sonne of Josede and of his wyfe / Maasra / Elieser / Jarib and Godolia. And they gaue theyr handes there upon / that they wolde put awaie theyr wyfes : and for theyr trespass offeringe to geue a ramme for theyr trespass. Amonge the children of Immer / Hanani and Sabadia. Amonge the children of Barui / Maasra / Elia / Semai / Zebull / and Vsa. Amonge the children of Pasbur : Elionai / Maasra / Smael / Merbaecl / Josabab / and Eleasa. Amonge the Leuites / Josabab / Sime and Edaia. He is that Elita / Dethabia / Juda and Eleasar. Amonge the singers / Eliahib. Amonge the porters / Sallum / Telcum / and Uri.

Of Israell. Amonge the children Parcon / Ramia / Zefai / Malchui / Menamin / Eleasar / Malchial / and Benaia. Amonge the children of Elam / Marthania / Zachary / Zebull / Abdi / Jeremoth / and Elia. Amonge the children of Zebui / Eliocnai / Eliahib / Marthania / Jeremoth / Sabab / and Vsa. Amonge the children of Bebai / Jonathan / Hanania / Sabai / and Abilai. Amonge the children of Bari / Masullam / Malluch / Doaia / Basub / Seal and Jeremoth. Amonge the children of Daubar / Maob / Abna / Ebel / Benaia / Maasra / Marthania / Bezaecl / Benui / and Manasse. Amonge the children of Barui / Eleasar / Zefai / Malluch / Semai / Simeon / Benaia / Jamui / Malluch / and Samaria. Amonge the children of Pasum / Marthai / Marthas / Sabai / Elphelet / Jeremoi / Manasse / and Sime. Amonge the children of Banu / Maedai / Amram / Biell / Benaia / Bedai / Eclui / Naai / Meremoi / Eliahib / Marthania / Marthai / Jacsau / Daria / Benui / Sime / Selemi / Marthai / Doaia / Maschobai / Safai / Barai / Asarecl / Selemi / Osmaria / Sallum / Amara / and Joseph. Amonge the children of Nebo / Zed / Marthabai / Sabab / Sebina / Zedai / Zodi / and Benaia. All these had taken straunge wyfes. And amonge the same wyfes there were some that had borne children.

The ende of the first booke of Esdras.

The secōde booke of Esdras / otherwyse called the booke of Uthemas.

The first Chapter.

These are the actes of the 2 hemias the sonne of Barthalia. It foruned in the moneth Tethien in the twentyeth year / that I was in the castell at Susana Eusias a Bananone of my brethren came with a rayne men of Iuda: and I asked them howe the Iewes dyd that were deliuered and escaped from the captiuite/and how it wente at Ierusalem. And they sayde vnto me: The remanent of the captiuite are there in I lade in great misfortune and rebuke. The walles of Ierusalem are broken downe/ and the portes thereof are shent with sye.

When I heerde these wordes/ I sat me downe and wept/ and mourned two dayes/ a fasted and prayed before the God of heauen/ a sayde. O Lord God of heauen thou greates and terrible God / I thou that kepest conuenant and mercy for them that loue the / and obserue thy commandementes: let thine caros make a let thine eyes be open / that thou mayest heare the prayer of thy seruauant/ which I praye now before the daye and night/ for the children of Israel thy seruantes/ a knowlege the synnes of the children of Israel/ which we haue committed agaynst the.

And I and my fathers house haue synned also. We haue bene corrupt vnto they in that we haue not kepte the commandementes/ statutes and lawes / whiche thou commaundest thy seruauant Moses. Yet call to remembrance the woide that thou commaundest thy seruauant Moses/ a saydest. I I ye transfresse/ when wil I feate you aboade amonge the nacyons. But if ye turne vnto me/ a kepe my commandementes and do them: though ye were cast our vnto the uttermost part of heauen/ I will gather you from thence / a bringe you from thence/ euen vnto the place/ that I haue chosen for my name to dwell there. They are thy seruantes/ a thy people/ whome thou hast deliuered thow to thy greates power and myghtie hande. O Lord/ let thine caros make the prayer of thy seruauant / and the prayer of thy seruantes / whose desyre is to seare thy name / and let thy seruauant prosper the daye/ and graunt hym mercy in the sight of his manfou I was the fynge butlar.

The II. Chapter.

In the moneth I Iusan of the twentyeth daye of the fyngre Ar: rases/ wha the wyne sodde of the bym/ I toke vp the wyne/ a gaue it vnto the fynge/ a I was heauy in his peche. Then sayde the fynge vnto me: Why lokest thou so sadly? Then arte not sicke/ that is not the matter / but thou arte heauy hered. Cleure the sicke/ I was frow aliced and sayde vnto the fynge: God saue the fynge/ I ye for cuer/ should I not loke sadly? the cyne of my fathers burial I seeth wait/ and the porters thereof are consumed with sye. Then sayde the fynge vnto me: What is then thy request? The made I my prayer vnto the God of heauen/ and said vnto the fynge/ if I please the fynge/ and if thy seruauant be fauoured in thy sight/ I beseeche the sende me into Iuda vnto the cyne of my fathers burial/ that I may burye it.

And the fynge sayd vnto me / and so dyd the queene that sat by hym: How longe shall thy iourneys continue/ a what wilt thou come agayne? And it pleased the fynge to sende me: a I set hym a tunic/ and saide vnto the fynge: If it please the fynge/ let hym geue me letters to the debites beyonde the water / that they maye conuysce me ouer/ I I come into Iuda: and letters vnto Assaph the lorde of the fynge wood / that he maye geue me wood for beames to the gates of the palays/ which are harde on the house/ and harde on the walles of the cyne/ and for the house that I shall entre into. And the fynge gaue me accordinge to the good bande of God vpo me. And wha I came to the debites beyonde the water / I gaue them the fynge letters. And the fynge sent captiues and housesmen with me.

But whan Saneballath the Bononite/ a Tebisio the seruauant of the Ammonites herde that it greued them so: that there was come a man which sought the wealth of the chyldre of Israel. And whan I came to Ierusalem/ a had bene there the dayes/ I gat me vp in the nyght season/ a a fewe men with me: for I tolde no man what my God had giuen me in my herte to do at Ierusalem: a there was not one that wold with me/ save it that I rode vpon. And I rode by nyght vnto the valley pore before the D: ap: wells/ a to the Dounges poine/ and considered the walles of Ierusalem that were broken downe / a the portes thereof consumed with the sye. And I wente ouer vnto the well poine/ a to the fynge conuysce/ and there was no roune for my beast/ that it coulde go vnder me. Then wente I on in the nyghte egypt by the dyke: syde/a considered & wal-and turned backe/and came home agayne to the valley port.

¶ And the rulers knew not whether I went/or what I dyd:for I burked had I not tolde the Ierues a the priestes the counsayllers and the rulers/and the other that laboured in the wooke/a I sad vnto them: Ye see the miserye that we are in/how Ierusalem lyeth wayll/a how the gates thereof are burnt w/ fyre come/let vs builde vp the walles of Ierusalem/that we be no more a rebuke. And I tolde them of the good hande of my God towhch was vpon me: And the kynge's wordes that he had spoken vnto me. And they sayde: Then let vs get vp. And we buylde /and they handes were strengthened to good.

But when Seneballat the Honoure/and Eobias the seruante of the Ammonites/and Wesien the Ierubab herder: they laughed vs to scorne/a Respdyd vs/a sayd: What is this & ye do? Will ye fall awaye agayn fro the kynge?
Then answered I them/a sayd: The God of heauen shall cause vs to prosper: for we his seruantes are gotten vp/and are buyldinge.
As for you/ye haue no power nor righte nor remeindurance in Ierusalem.

The III. Chapter.

¶ UNder Elisab the hye priestes gate hym vp w/ mynch his dyen: then the priestes/ a buylde the shep gate. They halowed it/and set vp the voice of it /euen vnto the tower Nea halored of it /in namys vnto the tower of Bananeel. Nexte vnto hym buylde the men of Iercho. And Resyde hym buylde Sachur the sonne of Imri. But the fyfth porte did the children of Sanaa buylde / they couered it/and set on the doores/lockes and barres of it.

me pur not they neckes to the seruice of their loke.

¶ The old gate buylde Joiada the sonne of Palsabab/and Meshullam the sonne of Bis-oia: they couered it/a set on the doores/lockes a barres of it. Nexte vnto them buylde Me-lacia of Gibeon/a Jaddan of Monon / men of Gibeon and of Mispa/ for the feare of the Rebye on this syde the water. Nexte vnto hym buylde. Thid the sonne of Barabaa the goldsmith. Nexte vnto hym buylde Sanania the Iponcaries sonne/and they repayed Ierusalem vnto his boade walle. Nexte vnto hym buylde Nephtai the sonne of Hur/ the ruler of the halfe quarter of Ierusalem. Nexte vnto hym buylde Iedaia the sonne of Harumaph / ouer against his house. Nexte vnto hym buylde Gamus the sonne of Hasabema. But Nalchia the sonne of Barin / and Besub the sonne of Pahath- Meshub builded the other peece/ as he to wether Resyde the souaie. Nexte vnto hym buylde Gallum the sonne of Halobes the ruler of the halfe quarter of Ierusalem/and his doughters.

The valley gate buylde Hanan / and the C cyrusins of Sanaah. They buylde it /and set on the doores/lockes and barres thereof / and a thousand cubites on the walle vnto the doo-res porte: But the youngg porte buylde Malchia the sonne of Nechab/ the ruler of the fourth part of the wyndyarde: He buylde it/and set on the doores/lockes a barres thereof. But the weigat buylde Gallum the sonne of Ealhos/ the ruler of the fourth part of Mis-pa: He buylde it/a couered it/and set on the doores/lockes a barres thereof/a the walle vnto to the pole of Sylo by the fingers gate/ vnto the steeppes that goe downe from the cite of Dauid. After hym buylde Nehemias / the sonne of Hubsu / the ruler of the halfe quarter of Iericho/ vnto the other syde ouer against the sepulchres of Dauid/a to the pole Thua/ and vnto the house of the mighty.

After hym buylde the Leuites / Netum the sonne of Bani. Nexte vnto hym buylde Zababab the ruler of the halfe quarter at Be-gala in his quarter. After hym buylde they brethren/ Denai the sonne of Henadab / the ruler of the halfe quarter of Regila. After hym buylde Ier for the sonne of Iesua the ruler of the harnesse corner. After hym buylde Baruc the sonne of Sabai the other peece w/ his family and cossly/ from the corner vnto the doore of house of Elisab the hye priest. After hym buylde Meremoth the sonne of Uriah the sonne of

of Saccas the other peece from the boie of Eliasiba a house vnto the end of the house of Eliasiba. After him builded the priestes/ & me of the edrue.
After him builded Ben Jamin a Heab ouer against the house. After the builded Azaria the sonne of Macsaa the sonne of Anania next vnto his house. After him builded Beui the sonne of Benadab the other peece from the house of Azaria vnto the turninge/ and vnto the corner.

After him builded Dalai the sonne of Usai/ouer against the corner a the hye tower/ which lyeth out ouer from the kynges house/ besyde the court of the prison. After him Debaia the sonne of Darcoo. (As for the Ieribnims they dwelt in Ophel/ vnto the watergate/ toward the East where the tower lyeth out.) After him builded they of Thecoa the other peece ou-er against the greater tower that lyeth outward/ vnto the wal of Ophel.

¶ And from the horsegate south builded the priestes/ every one ouer against his house. After them builded Sador the sonne of Immer ouer against his house. After hym builded Sermaia the sonne of Eschama the keeper of the Eastgate. After him builded Hanania the sonne of Sekemias/ Hanu the sonne of Zclaph the sonne of other peece. After him builded Meli-sai the sonne of Brechia ouer against his dwell. After him builded Malchia the goldesmithes sonne/ vnto the house of the Ieribnims/and of the Marchauntes ouer against the counsaill gate/ and to the parter in the corner. And between the parter of the corner vnto the thepegate/ builded the goldsmithes a the marchauntes.

The. III. Chapter.

¶ And when Saneballar herde that we builded the walles/ he was wroth/ a toke great indignation/ and mocked the Jewes/ and saide before his brethren/ and mightie me of Samaria: What do the impotent Jewes:
shal they be thus suffred: shal they offer: shal they performe it in one daye: shal they make the stones whole agayne that are broken to dust/ and burnt: And Tobias the Ammonite besyde him saide: Let them build on/ if a force goe up by his breake/ vnto the stony walles.
Hearc O thou our God/ how we are despysed/ turne they thine vpon them: ouer head/that thou maist geue them ouer into despyte/ in the lade of their captiuite. Couer not their wickednes/ and put not out their synne from thy presence: for they haue prouoked the builders. Yet builded we the walles/ a ioyncd it whole together vnto the halfe by night. And the people were wel minded to labour.

¶ But when Saneballar/ and Tobias/ and the Arabians/ and Ammonites/ and Asdoches herde/ that the walles of Ierusalem were made vp/ and that they had begonne to stope up the gappe/ they were very wroth/ and conspyied altogether/ to come and fight against Ierusalem/ and to make a hinderaunce therein. Neuer theles/ we made oure prayer vnto our God/ and set watchmen vpon the walles daye and nyght ouer against them. And Iu-da saide: The strenght of the bearrers is to feble and there is to much dust/ in we are not able to bulde on the walles. And oure aduertisars thought: They shal not knowe our craft/ till we come in the myddes amonge them/ and slaye them/ and hinder the worke. But when the Jewes that dwelt besyde them/ came out of all the places where they dwelt about vs/ as to be vs as good as ten myce/ then for the people after their kinredes/ with theyr swar-des/ speares and bowes/ bowth in the lowe places behynde the walles/ and looked/ and gas-te vp/ and said vnto the chiefe men/ rulers/and to the other people: We not afraid of them/ thinke vpon the great Lord/ whiche ought to be feared/ a to fyght for your brethren/sonnes/ brotheres/ wyfes/ and houses. We utterly feare/ when our enemyes herde that we had gotten worde of it/ God broughre theyr counsaill to naught/ a we returned it agayne to the walles/ every one vnto his labour. And first that came forth it came to passe/ that the halfe part of the yonger men/ byd the labour/ a the other halfe part helde the speares/ byldes/bowes/ a byshplates/ and the rulers sode behynde all the house of Iuda/ which builded on the walles/ a bare burthenes/ from the shouldered them. With one hand/ bid they the work/and with the other held they the swerde. And every one that builded/ had his swerde/ gude byd by his side/ a so builded they. And the partes sode besyde me.

¶ And they vnto the principall men/ and rulers/ and to the other people: The worke is great

great and large/and we are separated vpon þ walle one farrre from another. Lose in what place now ye heare the noise of the trompe/Ex. xij. c. resouse ye thyselfe vnto vs. Our God shall fyght for vs/and we wyl be labouringe in the woife. And the halfe parte of them helde the speeres from the moynynge spynge/ tyl the starres came forth. And at the same tyme said I vnto the people: Every one abyde with his seruauit at Jerusalem/that in the nyghte season we may geue attendaunce to the warche/as to labour on the daye tyme. As for me and my brethren/and my seruauites/and the mē of the march behinde me/we put neuer of our clothes/so much as to washe our selues.

The. V. Chapter.

¶ WHEN there arose a great complaint of the people/and of theyr wyfco agaynst theyr breth: the Jewes. And there were some that said: our sonnes and Doughters are to many/let vs take coine: them / and ease / that we maye lyue. Some said: Let vs set our landes/vnyardes and houses to pledge / and take up coine in the City. But some saide: Let vs borrowe money of the Hyngre vpon usury for our landes and vnyardes. Now are our brethens bodies as our owne bodies/ and theyr chyldren as our chyldren: els shoulde we subdue our sonnes and Doughters vnto bondage/ as some of oure Doughters are subdued already/ and no strengthe is there in our han-des / and other men shall haue oure landes a vnyardes.

But when I herde theyr complainte and such wordes/it displeasid me sore/ a I aduised so in my mynde / that I rebudied the coun-saylers/ and the rulers/ and sayde vnto them:

Sec. xij. c. Whye require usury one of another? And I thought a great congregacion agaynst the/and sayde vnto them: We (after oure abilitie) haue bought our brethren the Jewes/ which were solde vnto the Hebrithen. And wyl ye sell youre brethren/whome we haue bought vnto vs? Then held they their peace/ and coulde fynde nothing to answer.

¶ And I sayde: It is not good that ye do-ought ye not to walke in the feare of God/because of the rebuise of the Hebrithen oure cōtymes: I and my brethren/ and my seruau-tes haue lent them money a coine: but as for usury / let vs leaue it. Therfore the same daye so that ye resioie them theyr landes agayne/theyr vnyardes/ oylgardens / and houses/and the hundredth parte of the money of the coine/ wylne/ a ylle þe ye haue wōde of them.

 Then sayde they: We wyl resioie them againe/a wil require nothinge of them/ a will be as youn haif spoken. And I called the puellor/ a roth an oord of them/ that they shoulde do so.
 And Iooke my lappe/ a saide: God shall ouer-eury man after the same maner from his house and labour that many synners/ not thus wōbe: euen thus be he spoken oute and voided.
 And all the congregacion sayde: Amen / and prayed the Lorde. And the people bydd so.

¶ And from the tyme forth that it was committed vnto me to be a Debite in the lande of Iuda/ namely from the twentieth yeaere/ vnto the two and thirtieth yeaere of Hyngre Trauerses/ (that is twelfte yeaere) I and my brethren lyued not of such sustenance as was geuen to a Debite: for the alde Debites that were before me/ had bene chargeable vnto the people/and had taken of them breade and wync/ and fouertye syles of siluer. Yet/ and they seruau-tes had oppressed the people. But so byd not I/ and that because of the feare of God. I larboured also in the woike vpon the walle/ and bought no lande. And al my seruauites came thither together vnto the woife. Moreover there were at my table an hundredth and fiftie of the Jewes and rulers/ which came vnto me from amonge the Hebrithen that are about vs. And there was pycy: redme: vedy an oyl/and fix: dosen shepe / and bydes / and eue-erye in ten dayes a greate summe of wync.
 Yet requyred not I the luyng of a Debite:
 for the bondage was greuous vnto the people. I thinke vpon me my God vnto the best/ as accordinge to all that I haue done for this people.

The. VI. Chapter.

¶ AND when Seneballat/ Tobias and Go-3 stem the Arabian/ and the othe of oure enemyes herd/ that I had builded the walle/and that there were no gappe therein/(howbeit/ at the same tyme had I not hanged the doores vpon the gates) Seneballat a Gosen sent vnto me / sayinge: Come and let vs meete together in the villages vpon the plaine

plaine of the cyrie Ono. Neuertheless/ they thought to do me euill. Northstandynge/ I sent messaungers vnto the/sayinge: I haue a great busynes to do/I can not come downe. The wofe shoulde stande still/ if I were negligent / a came downe to you. Howbeit/ they sent vnto me as good as four times after the same manner. And I gaue the same answer.

B Then sent Sancballar his seruaunt vnto me the fiftieth tyme / with an open letter in his hande / wherein was written: It is tolde the Egyptians and Chosim hath sayde it/ that thou and the Jewes thynke to rebelli for the which cause thou buildest the walles/ and wilt be their kynge in these matters/ and hast ordeyned the prophets to praye of the at Jerusalem / and to saye: He is kynge of Iuda.

Now shall this come to the kyngees cares: come now therefore/ and let vs take our counsaile together. Neuertheless/ I sent vnto hym/ sayinge: There is no such thyng done as thou sayest/ thou hast sayned it out of thynne owne hart. For they were all mynded to make vs a kyng / and thought: They shall withdraue thy handes from the wofe / that they shall not labour. Howbeit/ I strengthened my hande the more.

E And I came vnto the house of Semaiā / / some of Helia the sonne of Methabell / a he had shur hym selfe within / and sayde: Let vs come together into the house of God/ euen vnto the myddes of the temple/ and spare the deers of the temple/ for they will come to slaye thei/ yet/ euen in the nyght wyl they come to put the to fear. But I sayd: Shoulde such a myghter/ Shoulde such a mā as I am go in to the temple/ to saue his lyfe/ I wyl not go in.

For I perceaued / that God had not sent hym. Yet spake he prophete vpon me/ neuertheless/ Tobias and Sancballar had hired hym for money. Therefore to be the money/ that I shoulde be afrayed / and so to do and fynes/ that they myght haue an euil report of me to blasphem me. My God thynke thou vpon Tobias and Sancballar/ accordyng vnto the that they wofes/ and of the prophet Hoasias/ of the other prophetes / that wolde haue put me in feare.

B And the walle was synished on the fyue and twentyeth daye of the month / / iul/ in two and fiftye dayes. And when all our entermyes herde therof / all the Hebrew that were about vs/ were afrayed/ and they: courage failed thei/ for they perceaued / that this wofe came of God. And at / some tyme were there many of the chiefe of Iuda/ wofose letters went vnto Tobias/ and from Tobias vnto them/ for there were many in Iuda that were sworne vnto hym: for he was the sonne in lawe of Sappanā the sonne of Arab / and his sonne Jobanā had the daughter of Misullam the sonne of Barafia / and they spake good of hym before me/ and told him my wordes. And Tobias sent letters to put me in feare.

Chc. vii. Chapter.

Now when we had buylded the walle / I / / heged on the doore/ and the porters/ singers a Leuitas were appoynted. And I commaunded my brother Hanania and Hanania the ruler of the palatye at Jerusalem / for he was a faythfull man / and feared God more then byd many other/ and I saide vnto them: Let not the gares of Ierusalem be opened vntil the Sunne be whote. And whyle they are yet standing in the watch/ the doore shalbe shut and barred. And there were certayne cyrcles of Jerusalem appoynted to be watchmen / / eury one in his watch / and about his house. As for the cyrie/ it was large of rowne / and great/ but the people were fewe therein / at the houses were not buylded.

And my God gaue me in my hart / that I gathered together the principall men and the people to number thei/ and I founde a register of thei/ number / / which came up afore out of iij. Es. 4. a the captiuite / / whome Nabuchodonosor the kynge of Babilon had carryed away / and dwelt at Jerusalem and in Iuda / eury one vnto his cyrie/ and were come with Zorobabel/ Iesua/ Nehemias / / Maria/ Raama/ / Vasheham/ / Nardachai/ Bilan/ / Mispereth/ / Biguai/ / Ichum and Baena.

This is the nombre of the men of the people of Babilon. The chylidren of Percas were / / thousande / an hundred a two a fawenty: the chylidren of Sephana / / three hundred a two a fawenty: / / chylidren of Arab / / six hundred a two and fifty: / / chylidren of Pahath / / Meab amonge the chylidren of Iesua and Zoiab / / thousande eyght hundred a eightene: the chylidren of /

lam/ a thousand/ two hundred a four a fiftie: the children of Sathu/ cyght hundred a fyue a fourtye: the children of Sacai/ seuen hundred a thre score: the children of Benai/ six hundred a cyght a fourtye: the children of Debai/ six hundred a cyght a twenty: the children of Agad/ 4. 11. the hundred a two a twenty: the children of Adoniam/ six hundred a thre score: the children of Bigeai/ two thousande and seuen and thre score: the children of Din/ six hundred a fyue and fiftie: the children of Zeter of Iehodias/ cyght and nynty.

- ¶ The children of Salum/ thre hundred and cyght and twenty: the children of Bezai/ thre hundred and foure and twenty: the children of Haraph/ an hundred and twelue: the childre of Gibon/ fyue and nynty: the me of Bethleem and Ierophan/ thre hundred and cyght and foure score: the men of Anathoth/ an hundred and eight a twenty: the men of Beth Anathoth/ two and fortye: the me of Binath Jearam/ Ephraim and Beeroth/ seuen hundred a thre and fortye: the me of Rama and Gaba/ six hundred and one and twenty: the men of Michmas/ an hundred and two a twenty: the men of Bethel and Ai/ an hundred a thre and twenty: the men of Ucho/ an hundred a two and fiftie: the childre of the other Elam/ a thousand and two hundred and foure a fiftie: the children of Bersi/ thre hundred a twenty: the children of Jericho/ thre hundred and fyue and fortye: the children of Iehobadid and Onofseu/ hundred and one and twenty: the children of Senai/ thre thousande/ nyne hundred and thrytye.

- ¶ The priests: The children of Iedai of the house of Iesua/ nyne hundred and thre and twenty: the children of Immer/ a thousand and two and fiftie: the children of Pasbur/ a thousande/ two hundred and seuen and fortye: the children of Baram/ a thousande a seuentie.

The Levites: The children of Iesua of Cadmel amonge the childre of Rodua/ foure and seuentie. The singers: The children of Asaph/ an hundred and cyght and fortye.

The porters were: The children of Salum/ the children of Mer/ the children of Tethon/ the children of Ieub/ the children of Hanai/ the children of Sabai/ altogether an hundred and cyght and thrytye.

And these went vp also: Mizel/ Mide/ Tchel/ Barfa/ Chemh/ Addo/ Immer: but they coude not stre their fathers house: nor the side/ whether they were of Israell/ the children of Selau/ the children of Tobai/ and the children of Necoda/ were six hundred and two and fortye. And of the priests were the children of Sabai/ the childre of Haroy/ the childre of Barsilai/ which toke one of the daughter of Barsilai/ the Gilcadite to wyf: / a was named after they name. These sought the register of their generacion / a whan they soude it not/ they were put from the priesthode. And Harphatha sayd vnto them/ that they shoulde not eat of the moost holy / tyll there came vp a priest with the light and perscriptions.

The whole congregacion as one man/ was 1 two and fortye thousande thre hundred a thre score: besyde they seruantes a mayntens / of whome there were seuen thousande/ the hundred a seue a thrytye. And they had two hundred a fyue and fortye synnyng men and women / seven hundred and sixe and thyrtye horses / two hundred / a frue a fourtye mulcs / foure hundred and frue and thyrty camels / foure thousand seven hundred a twentye asses.

And certayne of the auncient fathers gaue vnto the woofe. As thus saith gaue to the treasure a thousande guldenes / fyfty basens / frue hundred and thyrtye pusses garments. And some of the chiefe fathers gaue vnto the treasure of the woofe / twenty thousande guldenes / two thousande a two hundred pounde of siluer. And the other people gaue twetye thousande guldenes / and two thousande pounde of silver / a scuen and the soie pusses garments two thousande a two hundred the potters / the sing:rs / and the other of the people / a the Cle-thynims / and all Israel dwell in theyr cyties.

Ec. VIII. Chapter.

¶ And when the seventh moneth dwe nye /
And the chyldren of Israel were in theyr cyties / all the people gathered them selves together as one man vpon the strete before the watergate / and sayde vnto Esdras the scribe / that he should fetch the booke of the lawe of Moyses / which the Lord commaunded Israel.

¶ And Esdras the puell brought the lawe before the congregation both of men and women / and of all that coule vnderstande it / vpon the first daye of the seventh moneth / a red therein in the strete that is before the watergate / fro the syght morninge vntyll thre noone daye / before men and women / and such as coule vnderstande it / and the cares of all the people were inclyned vnto the booke of the lawe.
And Esdras the scribe stode vpon an hye pulpit of wood / whiche they had made for the preachinge / and beside him stode Marthias / Se-ma / Amma / Dina / Gedchias / and Macsias on his ryght hande. And on his left hande stode Pedaia / Misael / Mithathias / Pasum / Pasbadana / Sachary and Mesillam.

¶ And Esdras opened the booke before all the people / so he stode aboute all the people. And whiche he opened it / all the people stode vp. And Esdras sayed to the Lord the great God. And all the people answered Amen / Amen / with theyr handes vp / and bowed the selues / a re-bowed the Lord with theyr faces to the grounde. And Jecusa / Bani / Serubias / Tamim / Zeub / Zabthas / Zobaia / Macsias / Chitas / A-saria / Zosabab / Zana / Plaia and the Leuites caused the people to geue hede vnto the lawe / a the people stode in theyr place. And then red in the booke of the lawe of God distinctly a playn-ly / so that men vnderstode the thing that was red. And Nehemias / which is Esdras / a Esdras the puell and scribe / and the Leuites caused the people to take hede / sayde vnto all the people: This day is holy vnto the Lord your God / ye nor ye say therefore / and wepe not.

For all the people wept / when they herde the wordes of the lame.

Therefore sayde he vnto the: Go your way / and eat the fat / and drinke the swete / and send part vnto them also that haue not prepared themselues: for this day is holy vnto our Lord / be not ye say therefore / for the roye of the Lord is your strength. And the Leuites stilled all the people / and sayd: Solde your peace / for the day is holy / wepe not ye your selues. And all the people went theyr waye to eat and drinke / and to sende part vnto other / a to make great mirth / for they had vnderstande the wordes that were declared vnto them.

And on the next day were gathered together the chiefe fathers amonge all the people and the puells and Leuites / vnto Esdras the scribe / that he shoulde reade them the wordes of the lawe. And they founde written in the lawe / how that the Lord had commaunded by Moyses / that the chyldren of Israel shoulde dwell in bythes in the feast of the seventh mo-neth. And so they caused it to be declared / and proclaymed in all theyr cyties / and at Jerusa-lyme saying: Go vp to the mount a fetch Olyue brazardes / Dymb:aunderes / Myrb:aunderes / Palmebrazardes / a brazardes of thicketrees / to make bythes as it is wyrtten.

And the people wente vp / and fetched them / and made them bythes / carry one vpon the rofe of his house / and in theyr courtes / and in the courtes of the house of God / and in the strete by the Watergate / and in the strete by the Ephraims porte. And all the congregacion of them that were come againt out of the cap-tivitye / made bythes / a dwelt therein: so: sence the name of Josias the sonne of Amun / vnto this daye / had not the chyldren of Israel done so / there was very great gladnesse. And carry

The IX. Chapter.

IN the same a thirtieth day of this mo<sup>r</sup>th I gathered the chyldren of Israel together with fastinge and sackclothes / and earth vpon them / and separated the sode of Israel from all the straunge chyldren / and sode and knowledg they: synners / and the wyckednesse of their fathers / and sode vpon theyr place / and red in the boke of the lawe of the Lorde their God foure tymes on the daye / a they knowledg / and worshipped the Lorde their God foure tymes on the daye. And the Leuites sode on hys / namely Iesua / Bani / Cadmiel / Sebana / Hum / Serchia / Bani / and Chena / a cryed loude vnto the Lorde their God. And the Leuites / Iesua / Cadmiel / Bani / Hasabana / Serchia / Sobia / Sebana / Derhabia / sode: Stande vp / praise the Lorde our God for euer: and let thankes be geuen vnto the name of thy glory / which excelleth all thankefynginge and prayse. L. ut. xv. a dayes. † And that we wolde let the seventh D. ut. xv. a year be free/ concerninge all manner of charge.

C And we layd a statute vpon our selves/ to geue yearly the thyrde parte of a Shele to the ministracion in the house of our God/ namely to the sheuldred/ to the dayly meates offeringe/ to the dayly burntofferinge of the Sabbath/ of the new Moone and feast dayes/ a to the thynges that were furnished / and to the synofferinges to reconcile Israel withall/ and to all the busynesse in the house of oure God.

And we cast the lot amonge the priestes/ Leuites and the people/ for the offeringe of the wood / to be brought vnto the house of oure God from yere to yere/ after the house of our fatheres / that it might be burne at tymes appointed vpon the altare of the Lorde oure God / as it is wyrtten in the lawe: and yearly to bringe the firstlinges of our lande/ and the firstlinges of oure frutes of all trees/

D yearly by yere/ vnto the house of the Lorde: and the firstlinges of oure sonnes / and of our cattel/ as it is wyrtten in the lawe: and the firstlinges of oure gen/ and of our shepe/ that we shoulde bringe all this to the house of our God/ vnto the priestes that minister in the house of our God: and that we shoulde bringe the firstlinges of oure doue / and of our beauestofferynges / and the frutes of all maner trees / of wyne / also / and of oyle/ vnto the priestes to the chesite of the house of our God. And the rythes of our labe vnto the Leuites / that the Leuites myght haue the rythes in all y cytyes of oure ministracion.

And the pueste the sonne of Barab / shall reuise the Leuites haue also the rythes of the Leuites/ so that y Leuites shall bringe vp the rythes of theyr rythes vnto the house of our God/ to the chest in the treasure house. For the chyldren of Israel/ and the chyldren of Leui shall bringe vp the beauestofferynges of the come / with yne oyle vnto the chesite / there are the vessils of the Sanctuary / and the priestes that minister / and the porters / a syngers / that we forsake not the house of oure God.

The. XI. Chapter.

AND the rulers of the people dwelt at Jerusalem. But the other people cast lottes therfore so that amonge ten/ one parte went to Jerusalem in to the holy cytye to dwell/ and nyne partes in the cytyes. And people thanked all the men that were willinge to dwell at Jerusalem.

These are the heades of the land that dwelt at Jerusalem. In the cytyes dwelt Iuda every one in his possession that was in theyr cytyes/ namely Israel/ the priestes / Leuites / the Nehemims / and the chyldren of Salomons seruantes. And at Jerusalem dwelt certayne of the chyldren of Iuda and of Ben Jamin.

¶ Of the chyldren of Iuda: Alibab the sonne of Vsa/ the sonne of Sabary/ the sonne of Ananias/ the sonne of Sepharyas/ the sonne of Mahaleal/ of the chyldren of Phares. And Ulasia / the sonne of Baruch/ the sonne of Chell Hofe/ the sonne of Gafsa/ the sonne of Adaa/ the sonne of Joarab / the sonne of Sabary / the sonne of Siloni. All the chyldren of Phares that dwelt at Jerusalem/ were foure hundred cyght and the score valiant men.

¶ These are the chyldren of Ben Jamin: Salu the sonne of Mesullam / the sonne of Jochab/ the sonne of Pedaa / the sonne of Calaa / the sonne of Mafsaia/ the sonne of Isebel/ the sonne of Iseaa. And after hym Sabar/ Salla: nyne hundred and cyght and twentye. And Joel the sonne of Shebi had the ouersight of them: and Iuda the sonne of Basua / ouer the second parte of the cytye.

was the sonne of Mesillam / & sonne of Sadoch / sonne of Utraioth / the sonne of Achub / was prince in the house of God / and his brethren that performed his worke in the house of whome there were eight hundred a two and twentye. And Abia the sonne of Zerobab / the sonne of Plaias / the sonne of Amzi / the sonne of Zachari / the sonne of Dabur / a his brethren / chiefe amonge his fathers: of whome there were two hundred and two and fortye. And Amisai the sonne of Zfaruel / the sonne of Zhusai / sonne of Mesilemoth / the sonne of Zimner / and his brethren were valciant men / of whome there were a hundred and eight and twenty. And they ouersyer was Sabaide the sonne of Wedolim.

E 1 Of the Leuites: Semai the sonne of Basub / the sonne of Afrisam / the sonne of Hasabiah / the sonne of Bunni / And Sabthai a Josabab of the chiefe of Leuites / in the outward busynesse of the house of God. And Mathanai the sonne of Mithas / sonne of Sabdi / the sonne of Assaph / whiche was the principal to begynne the that speynge onto prayer. And Bechudias the seconde amonge his brethren / and Abda the sonne of Samua / the sonne of Galal / the sonne of Jeduthan. All the Leuites in the holy cytie were two hundred and four score and four. And the porters Acub and Talman / and they brethren that kept the portes / were an hundred and two and seuen tyre. As for the residue of Israel / the puelles a Leuites / they were in all the cyties of Iuda / eury one in his inheritaunce.

And the Methimms dwelt in Oppel / and Sippa and Cirpa belonged onto the Methimms. The ouersyer of the Leuites at Jerusalem was Uli the sonne of Banis / sonne of Chabab / sonne of Mathania / the sonne of Mithas.

S Of the dyblen of Assaph there were synners aboute the busynesse in the house of God / for it was his synge commaundment / concerninge the / that his synners shoulde deale sayth fully eury daye as accordyng was.

And Derban / the sonne of Mesefabel of the dyblen of Serab the sonne of Iuda / was nexte the synge in all matters / concerninge the people. And the dyblen of Iuda that were withoute in the townes of theyr lande / dwelt some at Bimath Arba / and in the villages thero; and at Sibon / in the villages therof and at Cabzeel / in the villages therof; and at Jesua / Molada / Bethphalci / Hagarual / Besebe / and in theyr villages: and at Siclag and Mochoana / and in theyr villages: And at Rimmon / Zarega / Teruiothy / Sanoth / Zoulam / and in theyr villages: At Ladio / and in the selde therof: At Zifa / and in the villages therof; and dwelt from Bersiba onto the valleye of Synnon.

And the dyblen of Ben Janin of Gaba / dwelt at Michmas / Zai / Berbel / and in theyr villages. And at Anathoth / Nob / Anania / Gog / Rama / Gibeon / Hadid / Seboim / Nebellai / Lod / Ono / in the carpenters walleye. And certayne of the Leuites that had porteyons in Iuda / dwelt in Ben Janin.

The. XII. Chapter.

These are the puelles and Leuites that were up with Zerobabel the sonne of Salathiel / and with Jesua: Serai / Jeremy / Esdras / Amarias / Mallud / Patrus / Sedemai / Rehil / Meremoth / Joda / Gintio / Abia / Meranin / Maadia / Bilga / Semias / Juarib / Zebai / Sallu / Anok / Helchias and Jodas. These were the heades amonge the puelles a they brethren in the tyme of Jesua. The Leuites were these: Jesua / Benin / Cadaniel / Serobia / Joda and Amaria / ouer the office of the thankespeynge / they and they brethren Bechudias and Oni / and they brethren were aboute them in the marches.

Jesua began Joachim. Joachim began Eliaib. Eliaib began Joiada. Joiada began Jonathan. Jonathan began Joduz. And in the tyme of Joachim were these the chiefe fathers amonge the puelles: namely of Serai was Merai / of Jeremy was Hanania / of Esdras was Mesillam / of Amarias was Jonathan / of Sebania was Joseph / of Sari was Dona / of Meremoth was Helcail / of Joda was Sedary / of Gintio was Mesillam / of Abia was Sidi / of Meranin / Maadia was Parhai / of Bilga was Samua / of Semias was Jonathan / of Joduz was Mathanai / of Zebai was Uli / of Sallu was Callai / of Anok was Eber / of Helchias was Sabab / of Gedia / was Achane.

And in the tyme of Eliaib. Joiada. Jobar nan and Jaddua / were the chiefe fathers amonge the Leuites / and the priestes wyrtten vnder the raygne of Darus the Persian. The chylidren of Leui the principal fathers were wyrtten in the Cronicles / vntyl the tyme of Iohanan the sonne of Eliafib. And these were the chiefe amonge the Leuites / Safabias / Serobia / and Jesua the sonne of Cadmiel / and theyi bierchen our agaynst the ro geue praye and thanke / accordyng as Dauid the man of God had oideyned it / one watch ouer against another / Nathanias / Bechuchias / Obadiah / Misullam / Talmon and Teub were porters in the watch at the tresholdes of the gates. These were in the tyme of Ioiachim the sonne of Iesua the sonne of Josidec / and in the tyme of Nehemias the Sebete / and of the next Esioia the scribe.

¶ And in the dedication of the walle at Ierusalem / were the Leuites soughte out of all theyi pieces / that they might be broughte to Ierusalem / to kepe the dedication in gladnesse / with thankesguynges / with synnging / with tymbales / psalteries a harpes. And the chylidren of the synngers gathered themselves together from the plaine contrie aboute Ierusalem / and from the villages of Aiechophan / and fro the house of Gilgal / and our of the felde of Gibe and Ainath / for the synngers had buylded them villages aboute Ierusalem. And the priestes and Leuites purified the seltes / and cleansed the people / the gates and the walle.

¶ And I caused the pynnes to go vp vpo the walle / and appoyned two great queres of thankesguyng / which wote on the right hande of the walle toward the Doungate / and after them were Hofas / and halfe of the pynnes of Iuda / and Aner / Esioas / Misullam / Iuda / Ben Jamin / Semaias / a Jeremy / and certayne of the priestes chylidren with trompettes / namely Zabary the sonne of Jonathai / the sonne of Semaias / the sonne of Nathanias / the sonne of Michas / the sonne of Sachur / the sonne of Aisaph and his berchen / Semaias / Afarel / Milalai / Gilalai / Maar / Nathaneel / and Iuda / and Chanai / with the musical instrumentes of Dauid the man of God.

¶ And Esdras the scribe before the towarde the Wallgate / a they wente vp ouer against them vpon the steeppes of the cync of Dauid at the goyng vp of the walle to the house of Dauid / vnto the Watergate Eastward.

The other quere of thankesguyng wente ouer agaynst them / and J after them / and the halfe parte of the people vpon the walle / toward the founnecgate upward / vntyl the broad walle / a to the poynt of Ephraim / and to the Dogate / and to the Yshbargate / a to the tower of Chananeel / a to the tower of Meab / vntyl the Shergate. And in the pynngate stode they still / and so stode the two queres of thankesguyng of the house of God / and J and the halfe of the rulers with me / and the priestes / namely Eliachim / Masaias / Miniamin / Michas / Esioanai / Zabary / Chanai / with trompettes / and Nesieia / Semaias / Esleasar / Uti / Iohanan / Milchias / Klam / and Aisaph. And the synngers songe loude / a Yisrah was the ouersyng.

¶ And the same daye were there greatesacrifices offred / and they reioyced : for God had giuen the great gladnesse / so that both the rynges and chylidren were ioyfull / and the insyry of Ierusalem was berde furre of.

In the same tyme were there nre appointed ouer the treasure chestes / wherein were the we offeringes / the synngers / a the cytyes. That they shoulde gather the out of the seltes aboute the cytyes / to distribute theiys vnto the priestes and Leuites / accordyng to the lawe : for Juda was glad of the priestes and Leuites / that they stode and wasted vpon the offic of theyr God / and the offic of the purification. And the synngers and porters stode after the commaundement of Dauid and of Solomon his sonne : for in the tyme of Dauid and Aisaph / were the chiefe synngers founde / and the cytyes of praye and thankesguyng vnto God. In the tyme of Zorobabel and Nehemias / byd all Israel geue poore vnto the synngers all payntes / euery daye his poore / a they gaue theynges halowed vnto the Leuites / and the Leuites gaue theynges that were sanctified vnto the chylidren of Aaron.

The. XIII. Chapter.

¶ And what nre as the boke of Moses was I wred in the eares of the people / there was founde wyrtten therein / that the Ammonites and Moabites shoulde neuer come in to the congregation of God / because they were not the children of Israel with breade and water / And byed Balaam againste them / that he should curse them: Neuerthelesse / oure God turned the curse into a blessing. Now when they herde the law / they separated from Israel: every one that had misse him selfe therin.

 And before this had the priest Eliash byue the chell of the house of our God vnto his kynsman Tobias: for he had made him a great chell / and there had they afore tyme layed the meat offerings / frankincense / vessell / and the rybes of coine / wyne / and oyle / accordinge to the commandement / geuen to the Leui-tes / synners and porters / and the heauy offerings of the priestes.

B But in all this was not J at Jerusalem / for in the two and thirtyneth yere of Jer-xers Kinge of Babylon / came J vnto the king / and after certayne dayes / oportunityed J licence of the kinge to come to Jerusalem. And J gat knowledge of the euil that Eliash had vnto Tobias: in that he had made him a chell in the court of the house of God: and it greued me sore: and J call forth all the vessels of Tobias house out of the chell / and commaunded the vnto cleane the chell / and thurbe broughte J again the vessels of the house of God / fr meat offerings and the incense.

And J perceaued that the portions of the Leuites were not geuen them / for the which cause the Leuites and singers were fled: every one to his lande for to worke. Then reioued J the rulers: and said: Why forsake we the house of God: But J gathered the together / and set them in their place. Then broughte all Iuda the rybes of coine / wyne and oyle vnto the treasure. And J made treasures ouer the treasure: euen Seldem the priest / and Saboe the scribe: and of the Leuites Pedai: and vnder their hande Hanan the sonne of Sashur the sonne of Manahana: for they were counte faithful: and their office was to distribute

C vnto their brethren. I thinke vpon me O my God here in / and wepe not out my inercy that I haue shewed on the house of my God / and on the officis therof.

In the same tyme saue J some treasurynge wyne / pisse on the Sabbath / and blinging in clusters: and also laden with wyne / grapes / figges / and bynginge all maner of burthens vnto Jerusalem vpon the Sabbath daye. And J rebuked them earnestly the same daye that they solde the vittuals. There were men of Tyre also therein: which broughte fyre and all maner of ware: and solde on the Sabbath vnto the children of Iuda: and Jerusalem. Then reioued J the rulers in Iuda: and sayde vnto them: What euill bringe is this that ye do / and breake the Sabbath daye?

 And not oure fathers euen thus / and oure God broughte all this plague vpon vs and vpon this cytye? And ye make the warth more yet vpon Israell / in that ye breake the Sabbath.

And when the portes of Jerusalem were drawen vp before the Sabbath / J commaunded to shut the gates: and charged that they should not be opened tyl after the Sabbath: a some of my seruauntes set J at the gates / that there shoulde no burthen be broughte in on the Sabbath daye. Then remayned the shoppe and marchantes ouer or twice ouer nyght without Jerusalem: with al maner of wares. Then reioued J the fore / and said vnto the: Why tarry ye al nyght about the walle?
 If ye do it once again / I wyl late handes vpon you: from that tyme forth come they no more on the Sabbath. And J seide vnto the Leuites: which were cleane: that they shoulde come and kepe the gates: to haue the Sabbath daye. Thinke vpon me O my God: certainlyng this also / and spare me accordynge to thy greute mercy.

And at the same tyme saue J Zerua / that married wyfes of Ashod / Amon and of No-ab: and their children spake halfe in the speache of Ashod / and coulde not speake in the Ie-wyshe language. But by the tyme mighte a ma perceaued every peple. And J reioued them / and cursed them / and smote certaynment of them / and pluce them vp / and toke an ooth of the by God: Ye shal not geue youre children vnto their sonnes / neyther shal ye take theyr daughters vnto your sonne / for for that. And not Salomon the kyng of Ierracell synne therein / and yet amonge many they were there no kynglyse him: and he was beare vnto his God: and God made hym kyng: ouer all Israell / and yet had the outlandishe women cause hym for to synne.

Haue nor ye herbe of this / that ye do sude great euill to trespass against our God with ourelanish women.

And one of the children of Joiada the sonne of Eliasib the hie priest, had made a contract with Hanneballah the Hionite. But J ha-ced him fro me. O my God / thinke thou vpon them that are quite of the priesthode / and haue defiled the conuauant of the priesthode and of the Leuites. Thus densed I them fro all sude as were ourelanish / and appointed the courses of the priestes and Leuites / euer one to his offer / and to offer the wood at tymes appoynted / and the fyrr frutes. Thinke thou vpon me O my God. For the best.

The endes of the seconde boke of Esther / otherwyse called the boke of Vlebemias.

The first parte of the boke of Esther.

The first Chapter.

At the tyme of Abasur-us which reigned from India vnto Ethiopia /
ouer an hundred and seuen and twenty landes / what tyme as he sat on his seate royall / in the castell of Susan in y<sup>e</sup> thirde yeare of his raygne / he made a feast vnto all his prynces and seruantes / namely vnto the mightie men of Persia and Media / to the Berites and rulers of his contrie / that he myght thewe the noble riches of his kyngdome / a the glorious worshippe of his greatness / many dayes longer euen an hundred & four score dayes.

And when these dayes were expyed / the kyng made a feast vnto all the people y<sup>e</sup> were in the castell of Susan / both vnto greate and small seuen dayes long / in the court of y<sup>e</sup> garden by the kynges palayce / where there was whyte / read / and yallow clothes / fastened with coarde of lynn / and scarlet in syluer ringes / vpon pylers of inarble stone.

The benches were of golde and siluer / made vpon a pavement of grene / whyte / yallowe and blacke marble. And the byncke was caryed in vessels of golde / and there was euer chaunge of vessel. And the kynges wyne was muche accordinge to the power of the kyng. And woman was appoynted what he shoulde byncke / for the kyng had commaunded at the offyce of his house / that eury one shoulde do as it lyked hym. And the queene Vasthi made a feast also for the women in the palayce of Abasurus. And on the seuenth daye when the kyng was merry of the wyne / he commaunded Michumam / Bisba / Bar-bona / Bigrba / Abagiba / Serhar & Harcas / the seuen chamberlaynes / that they serue in the presence of kyng Abasurus / to seide the queene Vasthi with the crowne regall / that he myght thewe the people and prynces her fayrenesse / for she was bewtyfull. But the queene Vasthi wolde not come at the kynges woide by his chamberlaynes. Then was the kyng very wroth / and his indignacion knd-led in hym.

And the kyng spake to the wyse men that had vnderstandinge in the ordinaunces of the lande / for y<sup>e</sup> kynges matres muste be handled before all sude as haue knowlege of the lawe and iudgement. And the negre vnto him were Charfena / Serhar / Amaba / Charfis / Mires / Marsena and Memuch / the seuen prynces of the Persians / and Medes / which saue the kynges face / and sat about in the kyngdome / what latere shoulde be greute vpon the queene Vasthi / because she dyd not accordinge to the woide of the kyng by his chamberlaynes. Then saide Memuch before the kyng and the prynces / The queene Vasthi hath not onely done euell against the kyng / but also against all the prynces / and all the people in all the landes of kyng Abasur-us / for this dede of the queene shall come as broade vnto all women / so that they shal be spylt their hous bandes before their eyes / and shal saye / The kyng Abasurus commaunded Vasthi the queene to come before hym / but she wolde not. And so shal the pryncesse in

in Persia and Media saye bytwyske vnto all the kynge's pynnes/ and when they heare of this dede of the queene/ thus shall there arysse despayrefulnesse/ and wraith ynough. If it please the kynge/ let there go forth a kynge's commaundement from hym/ and let it be wyrtten accordyng to the lawe of the Persians and Medians/ (and not to be transgressed) that Vasilis come no more before kynge Abasuerus/ and let the kynge geue the kynge's wome vnto another that is better then she.

And that this wyrtynge of the kynge which shalbe made/ be publyshed thowout all his Emprre/ (which is great) that all wyffes maye holde theyr housewifes in honour/ both amonge great and small.

This pleased the kynge and the pynnes/ and the kynge vnto accordyng to the wyde of Menuchan. Then were there letters sente forth into all the kynge's landes/ into euery lande accordyng to the wyrtynge therof/ and to euery people after theyr language/ that euery man shoulde be lord in his owne house. And this caused he to be spoken after the language of his people.

The .II. Chapter.

After these actes/ when the displeasure of kynge Abasuerus was layed/ he thought vpon Vasilis/ what she had done/ and what was concluded/ concerning her. Then saide the kynge's krusantes: Let there be saye ynge virgins sought for the kynge/ and let the kynge appoint ouersires in all the landes of his Emprre/ that they maye bring together all saye ynge virgins vnto the castel of Susan/ to the womens buydyng/ vnder the bande of Hegai the kynge's chaumberlaine/ that kepeth the women/ and let him geue them theyr apparel. And loke which damself pleasest the kynge/ let her be queene in Vasilis steade. This pleased the kynge/ and he vnto so.

In the castel of Susan there was a Teme/ whose name was Nardochus/ the sonne of Tan/ the sonne of Sime/ the sonne of Cis/ the sonne of Termini/ which was carryed awaye from Ierusalem/ when Iedonias the King of Iuda was ledde awaye/ (whome Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon carryed awaye) and he was bred Kadassas/ that is Esther/ his vnckle's daughter: for he had neyther father nor mother/ and she was a saye and bewyful damself. And when her father and mother dyed/ Nardochus receaued her as his owne daughter.

Now when the kynge's commaundement and commission was publyshed/ and many damselfs were brought together vnto the castel of Susan/ vnder the bande of Hegai/ Esther was taken also vnto the kynge's house/ vnder the bande of Hegai the keper of the women/ and the damself pleased hym/ and she founde grace in his syght. And he put her with her maidens in the best place of the womens buydyng. And Esther the widdit it not vnto her people/ her kinsde: for Nardochus had charged her/ that she shoulde not reuel it. And Nardochus walde euery daye before the court of the womens buydyng/ that he myght knowe howe Esther vnto/ and what shoulde become of her.

And when the appointed tyme of euery damself came that she shoulde come to the kynge Abasuerus/ after that she had bene twelf monethes in the bedchamber of the womē/ for their bedchamber must haue so much tyme/ namely sixe monethes with Balme and Myre/ and sixe monethes with good spyes/ so were the women bewyfed. When wente there one damself vnto the kynge/ and whatsoeuer she required that must be geuen her to go with her out of the womens buydyng vnto the kynge's palace. And when one came in the euenyng/ the same wente from hym on the moore vnto the seconde house of women/ vnder the bande of Saalgas the kynge's chaumberlaine/ which kepeth the concubynes. And she must come vnto the kynge no more/ excepte it pleased the kynge/ and that he caused her to be called by name.

Now when the tyme came of Esther the daughter of Abihail Nardochus vnckle/ (whome he had receaued as his owne daughter) she shoulde come to the kynge/ she desired nothing/ but what Hegai the kynge's chaumberlaine the keper of the women saide.

And Esther founde fauoure in the syght of all them that looked vpon her. And Esther was taken vnto kynge Abasuerus into the

the house royal / in the tenth moneth whiche is called Tachar / in the seventh year of his reygne.

S And the kynge loued Esther aboute all the women / and she founde grace and mercy in his syghte before al the virgins: and he set the queene crowne vpon her head: and made her queene in stead of Vasthi. And the kynge made a great feast vnto al his prynces and seruantes: whiche feast was because of Esther. And let the landes be in quyetnesse: and gaue royal gyfte.

And whan the virgins were gathered together the seconde tyme / Mardocheus sat in the kyngees gate. And as yet had not Esther shewed her kynred and her people: accordinge as Mardocheus had shewen her: for Esther had orderd the word of Mardocheus / lyke as whan he was her tourse. At the same tyme whyle Mardocheus sat in the kyngees gate: two of the kyngees chamberclerkes / Eigrith and Terre which kepte the doore / were wroth and sought to laye theyr handes on the kynge Abasuerus: wherof Mardocheus gat knowlege: a tolde it vnto queene Esther: and Esther certified the kynge therof in Mardocheus name. And whan inquisition was made: it was founde so. And they were both hanged on a tree: and it was written in the Cronicles before the kynge.

The III. Chapter.

After these actes had the kynge promote Amān the sonne of Amabarhai the Agagite: and set hym hys / and set hys seat aboute al the prynces that were with hym. And all the kyngees seruantes that were in the gate / bowed theyr knees / a had reuerence vnto Amān: for the kynge had so commaunded. But Mardocheus bowed not the knee: a worshipped hym not. Then the kyngees seruantes which were in the kyngees gate / sayde vnto Mardocheus: Why transgressst thou the kyngees commaundement: And whā they spake thus vnto hym: a he folowed thei not: they tolde Amān: that they mighte whether Mardocheus matters wold endure: for he had told them that he was a Jewe. And whan Amān sawe that Mardocheus bowed not / Free vnto him: moe worshipped him: he was ful of indignacion: a desired that he should laye handes onely on Mardo cheus (for they had shewed hym the people of Mardocheus. But he sought to destroye the people of Mardocheus: a al the Jewes that were in the whole Emperie of Abasuerus.

In the first moneth / is the moneth Nisban in the twelfth year of the kynge Abasuerus: was there occasion a oportunitie soughte by Amān: from one daye to another: a from that same moneth vnto the twelfth moneth: that is the moneth Tachar. And Amān sayde vnto the kynge Abasuerus: There is a people scattered abroad: and disperced amonge al people in al the landes of thyne Emperie / and they late is contrarye vnto al that people: and they do not after the kyngees lawes: neyther is it that kyngees profyte to suffer them after this maner. If it please the kynge: let byn my wyte: that they maye be destroyed: a so wyl I wyte done: a thou shalt haue talentes of siluer: vnder the handes of that workmen: to be thought in to that kyngees chamber. Then tolde the kynge his kynge from his hande: and gaue it vnto Amān the sonne of Amabarhai the Agagite the Jewes enemye: And the kynge sayde vnto Amān: Let the siluer be given the / and that people also: to do what thou shalt please.

Then were the kyngees scribes called on the thirtieth daye of the first moneth / a there was written (accordinge as Amān commaunded) vnto the kyngees prynces: and to the capitaynes euery where in the lande: and to the capitaynes of euery people in the contrie on euery syde: accordinge to the wysynge of euery nation: and after theyr language in the name of the kynge Abasuerus: a sealed with the kyngees ryng. And the wysyngees were sent by postes in to al the kyngees landes: to rote out / to kill: and to destroye all Jewes both yonge a olde: a bylden and women in one daye: (namely vpon the thirtieth daye of the twelfth moneth: whiche is the moneth Tachar) and to spoyle theyr goodes.

This was the summe of the wysynge: that there should be a commaundement given in al landes: to be published vnto al people: that they should be readye agayn the same daye: and that postes went in al the hauss: accordinge to the kyngees commaundement. And in the castell of Cusan was the commaundement written: And the kynge a Amān sat and drank. But the crye of Susan was disquieted.

The. lxxx. Chapter.

And when Nardochus perceaued all that was done, he rente his clothes/ and put on a sacke/ loth/ and ashyes/ and wente out into the myddes of the crye/ and cried loude and lamentably/ and came before the kynges gate: for there myght no man entre within the kynges gate/ wher he had a sackcloth on. And in all landes and places/ as farr as the kynges wynde and commaundement extendeth/ there was a great lamentacyon amonge the Jewes/ and many fasted/ wepte/ mourned/ and laye in sackclothe/ and in ashyes/ So Esther Damisela/ and her chamberlaynes came and tolde it her. Then was the queene exceedingly afdyned. And for first ragment/ that Nardochus should put them on/ and laye the sackcloth from hym.

But Nardochus wolde not take them. Then called Esther Hathach one of the kynges chamberlaynes/ whiche stode before her/ and gaue hym a commaundement vnto Nardochus/ that he myght knowe what it were/ and wherfore he dyd so. So Hathach wenth forth to Nardochus vnto the strete of the cyte/ whiche was before the kynges gate.

And when Nardochus tolde hym of al that had happened vnto hym/ and of the summe of suster that Aman had promysed to weye Doune in the kynges chaumber/ because of the Jewes for to destroye them/ and he gaue him the copie of the commaundement/ that was deuysed at Susan to destroye them/ that he might shewe it vnto Esther/ as to speake to her/ and charge her/ that she shoulde go into the kyng/ and make her prayer and supplicacyon vnto him/ for her people.

And when Hathach came in/ and tolde Esther the wordes of Nardochus/ Esther spake vnto Hathach/ and commaunded hym to saye vnto Nardochus: All the kynges seruantes/ and the people in the landes of the kyng/ knowe/ that whosoeuer cometh with in the court vnto the kyng/ whether it be man or woman/ which is not called/ the commaundement is/ that the same shall the immediatly receyue the kynges helde out the golden ceter vnto him/ that he maye saye. To for me/ I haue not bene called to comen in to the kyng/ now the thynges vayne.

And when Nardochus was certifyed of Esthers wordes/ Nardochus had saye as gaue vnto Esther: Thynges not to fauer thyne owne lyfe/ while thou art in the kynges house before al Jewes/ for if thou holdest thy peace at this tyme/ then shall the Jewes haue helpe and veylrauer out of another place/ and thou and thy fatheres house shall be destroyed. And who knoweth whether thou art come to the kyngedome/ for this thynges sake? Esther had gaue Nardochus this answer: Go thou thy waye then/ and gather together all the Jewes that are founde at Susan/ and faste for me/ that ye eate nor and drinke nor in the dayes/ neither daye nor nyght. I and my Damisela wyll faste lyke wyse/ and so wyll I go into the kyng/ contrary to the commaundement: if I perish/ I perish. So Nardochus wente his waye/ and dyd all that Esther had commaunded him.

The. V. Chapter.

So on the thirde daye put Esther on her royal apparel/ and stode in the court of the kynges palayce/ within our againste the kynges house. And the kynges sat upon his royal seate in the kynges palayce/ over againste the doore of the house. And when the kyng sawe Esther the queene standyng in the court/ she founde grace in his syghte. And the kyng helde out the golden ceter in his hande towarde Esther. So Esther stepe forth/ and touched the toppe of the ceter. Then saide the kyng vnto her: What wyle thou cume before me/ and what requierest thou? euen the halfe of the Emperre/ and it shalbe grauen the. Esther saide: If it please the kyng/ let the kyng q Aman come this daye onto the banke that I haue prepared. The kynges saide: Cause Aman to make hast/ that he maye do as Esther hath saide.

Now when the kyng and Aman came to the banke that Esther had prepared/ the kyng saide vnto Esther when he had dyonfen wine: Esther/ what is thy petition/ it shalbe grauen the. And what requierest thou? euen the halfe of the Emperre/ it shalbe done.

Then answered Esther and saide: My petition and request is/ if I haue founde grace in the sight of the kynge / and if it please the kynge to geue me my pencyon / and to fulfill my request / then let I kynge and Aman come to the Banquet that I shal prepare for them / and so will I go to morowe as the kynge hath sayde.

Then wente Aman forth thesame daye ioyfull and merry in his mynde. And when he sawe Mardocheus in the kyngees gate / that he stode not up a kneel before him / he was full of indignacion agaynst Mardocheus. He wertheles he refrained himselfe: and when he came home he sent a called so: his frendes / a Seres his wyfe: / a tolde them of the glorye of his rychees / a the multitude of his children altogether / how the kynge had promoted him so greatly / a how that he was taken about the pencyon and seruantes of the kynge. Aman saide morouer: See a Esther the queene let no man come with I kynge onto the Banquet that hath prepared / excepte me / and to morowe I am wydden unto her also with the kynge. But in all this am I not satisfied as long as I see Mardocheus the Jewe sittynge in the kyngees gate. Then sayde Seres his wyfe / a all his frendes unto hym: Let them make a galowre of fyne cubites hys / and to morowe speake thou unto the kynge / that Mardocheus maie be hangid thereon / if thou comest merely with the kynge unto the Banquet. Aman was wel content therwith / and caused a galowre to be prepared.

The VI. Chapter.

In the same nyghte coulde not the kynge sleepe / and he commaunded to brynge the Cronicles and stories: which when they were red before the kynge / they happened on the place where it was written: / how Mardocheus had tolde: that I kyngees two chamberlaines / which kept the holdes / sought to lute handes on King Abasuerus. And I kynge said: What woulthippe and good haue we done to Mardocheus therfore: Then sayde the kyngees seruantes that mystred unto hym: There is nothyng done for hym. And the kynge sayde: Who is in the court: For Ama was gone into the court without / before the kyngees house: that he mighte speake unto the kynge to hang Mardocheus on the tree: that he had prepared for him. And the kynge ser uantes sayde unto hym: Behold Aman standeth in the court. The kynge saide: Let him come in. And when Aman came in / the kynge sayde unto hym: What shal be done unto the man whome the kynge is dysposed to brynge unto woulthippe: But Aman thoughte in his herte: Whome shoulde the kynge do be glad to brynge unto woulthippe: but me: And Aman sayde unto the kynge: Let the man / unto whome the kynge is dysposed to do woulthippe / be thoughte herper / that he maye be arayed with the rovall garmentes / whiche the kynge useth to weare: and the hose that the kynge useth upon / and that the craun rovall maye be set upon his heade. And let this rayment and hose be deliuered vnder the hande of one of the kyngees pyncers / that he maye araye the man therwith / whome the kynge is dysposed to honour: a carye hym vpon the horse thorow the strete of the cytie / a cause it to be proclaymed before him: Thus shal it be done to euery man / whome the kynge is dysposed to honour.

The kynge saide: Make hayse / a take Cas / thou hast sayde: the rayment a the hose / and so cuien so with Mardocheus the Jewe that fyeth before the kyngees gate / and let nothing sayle of al that thou hast spoken. Then toke Ama the rayment and I hose / and arayed him / a broughed him on horse backe thorow I strete of the cytie / and proclaymed before him: Euen thus shall it be done unto euery man whome the kynge is dysposed to honour. And Mardocheus came again to the kyngees gate / but Aman gat hym home in all the hayse / murmuring with bareheade: / a tolde Seres his wyfe / a all his frendes / euery thyng that had happened hym. Then sayde his wyfe nicia / Seres his wyfe unto hym: If it be Mardocheus of the side of the Jewes / before whome thou hast begonne to sell / thou causst do no thyng unto hym / but shalt fall before hym. While they were yet talkyng with him / came the kyngees chamberlaines / a caused Aman to make hayse to come vnto the Banquet that Esther had prepared.

The VII. Chapter.

When the kynge and Aman came to I the Banquet that queene Esther had prepared / the kynge sayde unto Esther on the secde daye

Daye when he had thought wyne: What is thy petition quene Esther? it maye be geue thee: And what requirist thou? Yes: are euen halfe of the Emppire/that shal be done. Esther the quene answered a subd: If I haue found grace in thy sighte/ O fynge/ and if it please the fynge/then graunte me my lyfe at my desyre/ and my people for my pensions sake: for we are solde to be destroyed/ to be slaine / and to prey: And wolde God we were solde to be sold to men and to women/ then wolde I holde my tongue/ so shoulde not the enemye be so hye to the fynge harme. The fynge Abasurus spake and laide vnto quene Esther: What is he that? Or where is he that darre picture in his mynde to do such a thyng after that maner? Esther sayde: He encynge a aduerary to this wyshed Aman.

B So for Aman/ he was exceedingly afrayed before the fynge and the quene. And the fynge arose from the Bancket and from the wyne in his displeasur/ and wente into the palayce garden. And Aman slode vp/ and besought quene Esther for his lyfe: for he sawe that there was a mischalle prepared for him of the fynge already.

And when the fynge came agayne out of the palayce garden into y<sup>e</sup> parker/ where they had eaten/ Aman had laied him upon the bed that Esther sat vpon. Then sayde the fynge: will he force the quene also besyde me in the house? So soone as the woide wente out of the fynge mouth/ they covered Amans face. And Barbona one of the Chamberlaynes that stode before the fynge/ sayde: Behold/ there standeth a galowe in Amans house bytweyne cubytes byr/ which he had made for Mardocheus/ that sake good for the fynge. The fynge sayde: Change hym there. So they hanged Aman on the galowe that he had made for Mardocheus. Then was the fynge wath stilled.

The. VIII. Chapter.

A Besome daye God King Abasurus geue the house of Aman the Jewes enemye vnto quene Esther. And Mardocheus came before the fynge: for Esther tolde how that he belonged vnto her. And the fynge put of his fngers rynge/ which he had taken from Aman/ and gaue it vnto Mardocheus. And Esther set Mardocheus ouer the house of Aman. And Esther spake yet more before the fynge/ and sel vnto at his feet/ and besought him/ that he wolde put awaye the wyshed name of Aman the Agagate/ and his veysee that he had ymagined against the Jewes. And the fynge haide out the golden cepter vnto Esther. Then rose Esther/ and stode before the fynge/ and said: If it please the fynge/ and if I haue founde grace in his sighte/ and if it be convenient for the fynge/ and if I be accepted in his sighte/ then let it be wyttie/ that the letters of the veysee of Aman the sonne of Amadathu the Agagate/ maye be called againe: which letters he wrote/ to destroye the Jewes in all the fynges landes. For how can I be the euill that shall happen vnto my people/ and howe can I stode vpon the veysee/ sayn of my furred.

Then laide the fynge Abasurus vnto quene Esther/ and to Mardocheus the Jewe: Beeholde/ I haue geuen Esther the house of Aman/ and him haue they hanged vpon a tree because he layed hande vpo the Jewes. Write ye now therefore for y<sup>e</sup> Jewes/ so it theyr you in the fynge name/ and scale it with the fynge rynge: for the wytynges that were wrytten in the fynge name/ a sealed with the fynge rynge/ shal no more vnto null. Then were the fynge scribes called at the same tyme in the thurde month / that is the month of Sio Maye/ vnto the thre and twentyeth daye.

And it was wryten (as Mardocheus commaunded vnto the Jewes and to the pynnes) to the Debutes and captaynes in the landes from India vntill Ethiopia/ namely/ a hundred and seven and twenty landes/ vnto euery one according to the wytynges therof/ vnto euery people after theyr speche and to the Jewes/ according to theyr wytynges & language.

And it was wryten in the fynge Abasurus name/ and sealed with the fynge rynge. And by postes that rode vpon sayff yonge Mules/ sent he the wytynges / wherein the fynge graunted the Jewes (in what cytye soeuer they were) to gather themselves together/ and to stande for theyr lyfe/ and for to come out to slay / and to destroye all the power of the people and laide/ that wolde trouble them/with

with children and women/and to spoyle their good vpon one Daye in all the landes of kyng Abasuerus/ namely vpon the thirtieth daye of the twelfth moneth/which is the moneth Abar.

D The summe of the wytyngte was /how there was a commaundment geuen in all landes to be publisshed vnto all the people that the Jewes shoulde be ready agaynst that daye to auenge themselves on theyr enemyes. And the postes that rode vpon the miles /made hayll with all speede/ accordynge to the kynges wyrdence and the commaundment was deuyfed in the castle of Susan.

As for Mardocheus / he wente out from the kynge in royall apparell of yallowe and whete / and with a greate crowne of golde/ beynge arayed with a garment of lynnyn a purple/ and the ctyte of Susan reioyced and was glad: but vnto the Jewes there was comelyghte a gladnesse/ and ioye and trousspytt. And in all landes a ctytes/into what places soeuer the kynges woide a commaundment readed/ there was ioye/ myght/ prosperite a good daye as the Jewes: in so muche that many people in the lande became of the Jewes belyefe: for the feare of the Jewes came vpon them.

The IX. Chapter.

In the twelfth moneth / that is the month Abar/ vnto the thirtieth day / which the kynges woide and commaundment had appoynted/ that it shoulde be done/ euen vpon the same daye that the enemyes shoulde haue destroyed the Jewes to haue oppressed them/ it turned contrarye wise: euen that the Jewes shoulde subdue theyr enemyes. Then gathered the Jewes together in theyr cities within all the landes of kyng Abasuerus / to laye hande on such as woide do them euill / a no-man coulde withstande them: for the feare of them was come ouer all people. And all the rulers in the landes/ and princes and debites/ a officers of the kynge promoted the Jewes: for the feare of Mardocheus came vpon them. For Mardocheus was great in the kynge house/ and the reporte of him was noyced in all landes/ how he increased and grew.

Thus the Jewes smote all their enemyes with a foue slaughters/ and slewe a destroyed/and byd after their wyll vnto such as were their aduersaries. And at the castle of Susan slewe the Jewes/ and destroyed fyve hundred men/ and slewe Parsandathas/ Calpon/ Zisparba/ Dosarbas/ Abasia / Ardarbas/ Darmasrtha/ Arissai/ Aridai/ Vaisathas/ the ten sonnes of Aman/ the sonne of Amadathas the enemye of the Jewes: but on his goodes they layed no handes. At the same tyme was the kynge carnysed of the nombre of those that were slayne at the castle of Susan. And the kynge saide vnto queene Esther: The Jewes haue slaine and destroyed fyve hundred men at the castle of Susan / and the ten sonnes of Aman: what shal they do in the other landes of the kynge? What is thy penicion / if it maye be geuen thee/ and what requyrt thou moie to be done? Esther saide: If it please the kynge/ let hym suffre the Jewes to morowe also to vraye/ accordynge vnto this dayes commaundment / that they maye hange Amans ten sonnes vpon the tree. And the kynge charged to do so/ and the commaundment was deuyfed at Susan/ and Amans ten sonnes were hanged. And the Jewes gathered them selfes together at Susan/ vpon the fourteenth daye of the month Abar/ and slewe the hundred men at Susan/ but on theyr goodes they layed no handes.

As for the other Jewes in the kynges landes they came together/ and shode for theyr lyfes/ and gat rest from theyr enemyes: a slewe of theyr enemyes fyue a seueny thousande/ hundred: they layed no handes on theyr goodes. This was done on the thirtieth daye of the month Abar/ and on the fourteenth daye of the same moneth rested they / which daye they oideyned to be a daye of feastinge and gladnesse. But the Jewes at Susan were come together both on the thirtieth daye/ a on the fourteenth / and on the sixteenth daye they rested / and the same daye oideyned they to be a daye of feastinge and gladnesse. Therfore the Jewes that dwelle in the villages/ and vnwalled townes / oideyned the fourteenth daye of the month Abar/ to be a daye of feastinge and gladnesse/ and one sente gyftes vnto another.

And Mardocheus wrote these actes / and sente the wytyngtes vnto all the Jewes that were were in all the lande offyrng Abasuerus both nye and farr; that they shoulde yearly receave and holde the fourteenth and fyfteenth day of the moneth Adar/as the dayes wherein the Jewes came to rest from theyr enemyes / and as a moneth wherein theyr payne was turned to joye/a theyr sorrowe in to prosperite: that they shoulde observe the same as dayes of wealthe and gladnesse/and one to sende giftes unto another/and to distribute unto the poore.

And the Jewes receaved it that they had begonne to do / and that Mardochus wrote unto them / how that Aman the sonne of Mardathai the Agagite all the Jewes enemye/ had deuyed to destroye all the Jewes / and caused the lot to be cast for to put the in feare/a to byrnye the to naughte: a how Esther went and spake to the kynge/that thow he wrote his wyced beye (whiche he ymagined agaynst the Jewes) might be turned upon his owne heade/ and how he and his synnes were hanged on the tree. for the which cause they called this day Purim after the name of the lot/ according to all the wyse of this writing / a what they the selfes had sent / and what had happened unto the.

¶ And the Jewes set it up / and toke it upon them and their seds/ and upon all such as sayned themselves unto the / that they wolde not mysse to observe these two dayes yearly/ according as they were wyrtyn and appoynted how that these dayes are not to be forgotten/ but to be kepte of chylders chyldren amonge all kynreds in all landes and cyties. They are the dayes of Purim/whiche are not to be overlapped amonge the Jewes / and the rememorial of them ought not to perishe from theyr sids.

¶ And queene Esther the daughter of Abihail/a Mardochus the Jewe/wrote with all auctorite/ to confirme this seconde writinge of Purim / and sente the letters unto all the Jewes in the hundredth and seven and twetye landes of the Empire of Abasuerus / with frendly a faythfull wythes / to confirme these dayes of Purim in theyr tyme appoynted/ accordinge as Mardochus the Jewe/a Esther the queene had ordeyned/decerninge the selfe as theyr vpon theyr soules/ and upon theyr sids had confirmed the actes of the fastynges a of her playnt. And Esther commaunded to stably the these actes of this Purim/and to wyte them in a booke.

The X. Chapter.

¶ And the king Abasuerus layed tribute vpon the lande/and vpon the Isles of the sea. He for all the wyse of his power and auctorite/a the greates worthyppe of Mardochus/ whiche the kyng gaue him/herholde/it is writen in the Cronicles of the kynge of Media and Persia. for Mardochus the Jewe was the seconde nexte unto kyng Abasuerus/and greate amonge the Jewes / and accepted amonge the multitude of his richen / as one that seeketh the wealch of his people/a speaketh the beste for all his sids.

The ende of the first parte of the booke of Esther.

The booke of Job.

The first Chapter.

¶ There was a man in the lande of Uz-called Job: an innocent and vertuous man / such one as feared God / and eschewed euill. This man had seven sonnes/and three daughters.

¶ His substance was. vii. mil. shepe. iij. mil. Camels. v. C. yocke of oxen/ v. C. asses / and a verye great housholde: so that he was one of the moost principall men amonge all them of the East contrie. His sonnes now went on every ma/and made bankettes: one day in one house/ another day in another/ a sent for theyr the sisters to eate and drynke with them. So when they had passed ouer the tyme of theyr banketyng round about / Job sent for them/ and censured them agayne / sode vpon early / and offered for every one a burnt offering. For Job thought thus: peradventure my sonnes haue done some offence / and haue ben vnthankful to God in theyr hartes. And thus dyd Job every daye.

Job. ii. a. B Then came a tyme/when the seruantes of God came and stode before the Lord/Sathan came also amonge them. And the Lord sayde vnto Sathan: From whence comest thou? Sathan answered the Lord:/and sayde: I haue gone aboute the lande/and walked throughe it.

I. Pet. v. b. Then sayde the Lord vnto Sathan: hast thou not considered my seruant Job/how that he is an innocent and vertuous man: such one as feareth God/a escheweth euill/and that there is none lyke hym in the lande. Sathan answered and sayd vnto the Lord: Doeth Job feare God for naught: hast thou not professed hym/his house/and all his substance on euery syde? hast thou not blessed the workers of his hande? Is not his possession increased in the lande: But laye thyne hande vpon hym a lytle/ & touche once all that he hath/and I holde. He shall curse thee to thy face. And the Lord sayde vnto Sathan do/ all that he hath/ he is in thy power: onely vpon himselfe/ se that thou lay not thyne hande. Then wente Sathan forth from the Lords presence.

E Now vpon a certayne daye/when hys sonnes and daughter were eatinge/ and duncyng wine in theyr chiefe brothers house/ there came a messenger vnto Job/ and said: Whye the oxen were a plowinge/ and the asse goyng in the pasture beside them: the Sabees came in violently/ and toke them all awaye: yee/ they haue slayne the seruantes with the sword/ & I onely ranne my waye/ to tell the.

And whye he was yet speakinge/ there came another/ and sayde: The fyre of God is fallen from heauen/ it hath consumed/ and burnt vp all the shepe and seruantes: and I onely ranne my waye/ to tell the. In the meane season whye he was yet speakinge/ there came another/ and sayde: The Caldees made the arayes/ and sell in vpon the camels/ which they haue carryed awaye/ yee/ & slayne the seruantes with the sword: and I onely am gotten awaye/ to tell the.

B Whye he was speakinge/ there came yet another/ and sayde: Thy sonnes and daughters were eatinge and duncyng wine in theyr chiefe brothers house/ and soderly there came a mighty great wynd out of the South/ and smote the ij. corners of the house: which fell vpon theyr children/ so that they are dead: and I am gotten awaye alone/ to tell the.

Then Job stode vp/ and rente hys clothes/ spaued hys head/ & laye vpon the ground/ worshipped/ and sayde: I naked came I out of my mothers wombe/ and naked shall I returne thither agayne. The Lord gaue/ and the Lord hath taken awaye/ (The Lord hath done his pleasure/ & now blessed be the name of the Lord. I In all these thynges dyd Job not offende/ nor murmured foolishly agaynst God.

The ii. Chapter.

B Then happened also vpon a tyme/ that when the seruantes of God came and stode before the Lord/ Sathan came also amonge thei/ and stode before him. And the Lord sayde vnto Sathan: From whence comest thou? Sathan answered/ and sayde: I haue gone aboute the lande/ and walked throughe it.

Then sayde the Lord vnto Sathan: Hast thou not considered my seruant Job/ how that he is an innocent a vertuous man/ such one as feareth God/ and escheweth euill/ a that there is none lyke him in the lande: But thou mouedest me agaynst hym/ to punish hym: yet is it in wayne/ for he standeth still in his godlynesse.

Sathan answered the Lord/ and sayde: B Ehyne for hyne/ yee/ a man wyl geue all that cuer he hath for his life. But laye thyne hande vpon hym/ & touche hym once vpon the ribe bone and flesh/ and I hold/ he shall curse thee to thy face. Then sayde the Lord vnto Sathan: lo/ there hast thou hym in thy power/ but spare his lyfe.

So wente Sathan forth from the Lords/ and smote Job with maruolous sore byles from the sole of the foote vnto his crowne/ so that he sat vpon the ground in the ashe/ and scraped of the citter of his footes with a postherde.

Then sayde hys wyfe vnto hym: I Curse thee yet continue in thy perfectnesse/ & curse God/ and dye. But Job sayde vnto her: Thou speakest lyke a foolish woman: Whye wylt thou receaued prosperytie at the hande of God/ where wherefore shoulde we not be content with aduersite also: ¶ In all these thynges I had not Job synne with his lippes.

¶ Now when Job's friends herd of al the trouble that happened vnto him; there came thre of thē; euery one fro his owne place: namely; Eliphaz the Themanite, Balbad the Subite; and Sophar the Naamathite.

For they were agreed together to come / to shew thym compassion vpon hym; and to comforte hym. So when they lyfte vp they crye a sarre of thē; they Enuie hym noc.

¶ Then cryed they; and wept; then euery one of them rente his clothes / and spunced duste vpon theyr heades in the ayre. They sat them doun by hym also vpon the grounde viij. dayes / and viij. nyghtes. Neyther was there any of them that spake one woide vnto hym / for they sawe that his payne was very greate.

The. III. Chapter.

¶ After thys opened Job his mouth / and cursed his daye; and sayde: Iost be that daye; wherein I was borne; and the night / in the which it was sate; there is a manshande ceased. The same daye be turned to darkness; and not regarded of God from aboue; neyther be thyned vpon with lghte; but be couered with darkness; and the shadowe of death. Let the Dimme cloude sel vpon it; and let it be lapped in with sorrowe. Let the darke some overcome that nyghte / let it not be re found amonge the dayes of the ycare; nor counted in the monthes. Despyssed be the nyght; and discommended: let them that curse the daye; geue it theyr curse also; euen those that be ready to raise vp Lewiathan. Let the starres be Dimme; thou art darkness; &c. Let it loke for lghte; but let it see none; neyther the vsyng of vp of the spyrte manninge; because it shut not vp the wombe that bare me / nor had these sorrowes fro mine eyre.

¶ Also; why died I nor in the byrthe: Why did not I perish; as fone as I came out of my mothers wombe: Why sit they me vp theyr snees; Why geue they me suck with their breasts; Why shoulde I now haue lyeen still; I shoulde haue slept; as Ben at rest; like as the firste a lorde of the carthe; which bulde them selfe speciall places; As the pynces that haue greate substance of golde / and theyr houses full of siluer. ¶ That I enterly had no bynging; or were as a thinge borne out of time; (that is put asid; whether as yonge chylde; which neuer sawe the lghte. There must I twicke cease / se from theyr synny; there such as are ouerlaboured; he at rest; there are those litten out of fre; which haue ben in pynson; soo that they heare none; the voyce of the oppressour. There are small and great; the bondeman; and he that is fre from his master.

¶ Wherefore is the lghte geuen; to him that is in misery; and life vnto them; that haue heavy beren;: Whyche longe for death; and it cometh not; for if they might fynde their graue; they wolde be inauspicious glad; as those that bygge vp measure. ¶ To the man whose wate is dryd; whyche God sepech backe from hym.

¶ This is the cause; that I sythe before I ate; and my roarynges fell out lyke a water floude. For the thyng; that I feared is come vpon me; and the thyng; that I was afraid of; is happened vnto me. Was I not happye; Had I not quyetnesse: Was I not in rest; And now cometh such misery vpon me.

The. IIII. Chapter.

¶ Then answered Eliphaz of Theman; and sayde vnto hym: If we begynne to communge with the / peradventure thou wilt be in content; but who can withhold himselfe from speakyng. Beholde; thou hast ben a teacher of many; and hast confounded the weery handes.

¶ Thy wordes haue set vp those that were fallen; thou hast refreshed the weak faeces. But now that thy plague is come vpo the; thou spuest away; now it hath touched thy self; thou art sayn bered. ¶ Where is now thy feare of God; thy selffastnesse; thy patience; and the perfectnesse of thy lyfe: Consider; I pray the; who euer perished; byng an innocent; ¶ Why were the godly destroyed: As for those that plowe; theye ediffice. As I haue sene my self; and sowe my self; they reap. ¶ And the same. For when God bloweth vpo them; they perishe; and are destroyed; thow the blaste of his wrath. The roaring of the Lyon; the crying of the Lyonsesse; and the teer of the Lyons whelpes are broken. The greare Lyon perissheth; because he can get no pray / and the Lyons whelpes are feared aboabe.

B There is spoken vnto me a thyng in count sayll / whiche hath geuen a terrible sounde in myne eare / with a visyon in the nyght / wha men are fallen a slepe. Suche feare and heede came vpon me / that all nyght I was awake.
 And when the wynde passed ouer by me / the hee res of my helde shode vpon me.

Then shode there one before me / whose face I knewe not: an ymage there was / and the weith was byll / so that I heede this voyce:
 ¶ May a man compared vnto God / be iust?
 ¶ May a man be more cleane then hee that made him? Beholde / he hath founde vnfaithfulness among his owne seruants: ¶ and proude disobedience amonge his aungels.

Howe muche more then shall they (that dwell in house of claye / whose foundation is but earth) be mortuared? They shall be de stroged from the moyning vnto the eueninge: ¶ they shall perishe as euer they be aware: and be taken awaye so cleane / that none of the shall remayne / but be dead / or euer they be a ware of it.

The. V. Chapter.

I ¶ I came me one els / if thou canst fynde any / ¶ See / loke aboute the vpon any of the hely men. Is for the folyeste man / displeasure fly keth him / and anger slayeth the folyoraun ¶ I haue seene my self / when the fyllysh was depe roted / that his berry was sodenly des troged: that his chylden were without pas speryng or health: that they were slayne in the bowe / and no man to deliuer the: that his har uest was eaten vp of the hūgry: that I weap ned man had spoyled it / and that the thylythe had thowke vp his ryches. It is not the carth that buygeth forth trauayl / neyther cometh sūoure out of the ground: but it is man that is boone vnto mynny / lyke as the byde is to flye.

But now wyl I speake of the Loorde / and talke of God / which doeth thynges that are vnsearchable / a marauylous without nūber: ¶ Whiche geueth rayne vpon f earth / and pou reth water vpon all thynges / ¶ whiche sendeth vp them of lowe degre / and sendeth prosperie to theys that are in heauynesse: Whiche des trogeth the deuyces of the foyle / so that they are not able to performe thynges that they take in hande: ¶ whiche compasseth the wyse in theys: owne craftynesse / and ouerthroweth the counsayll of the wyse: ¶ In so muche that they runne into backenesse by sayre day / and grope about them at the noone day / lyke as in the nyght.

¶ And so he deliuereth the poore from the swerde / from theys mouth / and frō the hande of the cruell / that the poore maye haue hope:
 and that the mouth of the oppressour maye be flopped.

¶ Beholde happy is the mā / whome God punyssheth: therfore / despyse not thou the chastyng of the almyghty. ¶ For so muche that a woude / be geueth a medienne agayne: though he be myschaunce / he shall yett be made agayne.

¶ He deliuereth the out of his troubles / so that in the scuenth there can no harme touch the. In the myddell of hūgry he shall see from feare: and when it is woure / from the power of the swerde.

¶ He shall kepe the from the perillous rage / so that when trouble commeth / thou shalt not neede to feare. In destructione: and death thou shalt be merry / and shalt not be a fraide for the beastes of the carth: But the castelles in the lande shall be confederate with the / and be freestes of the felde shall geue thee peace.

¶ For thou shalt see it at thy dwellinge place shalt be in rest / thou shalt beholde thy substāce and be not more punished for synne. Thou shalt see also that thy sēde shall encrease / and that thy posteritee shall be as the grasse vpon the carth.
 Thou shalt come as thy graue in a faire age / lyke as the come increaseth: and brought into the barn in due season. ¶ For this is the matter / as we oure selues haue proued by experyence.
 Therefore now that thou heare it / take heere heede to thy self.

The. VI. Chapter.

I ¶ He answered and sayde: ¶ that my mis ery were weped / and my punishment layed in the balauance: for then should it be heuier then the sande of the see. This is the cause that my wordes are so for to will.

For the almyghty hath shot at me with his arrowes / whose indignacion hath thowke vpon my spere: and the terrible feare of God hath agaynst me. ¶ Doeth the wyde asse roare when

whan be hath graffe? Or crieth the oxe whan be hath fodder yonoug? Nay a thing be caren vnreasoned / or without salt? What sayll hath the whyre within the yolke of an egge? The thynges that somtyme I myght not a waye vntill / are now my meate for very sorrow: O that I myght haue my desire: O that God wolde graunte me the thing that I long for: That be wolde begyn and synre me: that be wolde let his hande go / and hyme me down. Then spouls I haue some comfort. Yee / I wolde desire hym in my paine / that he should not spare: for I wil not be agaynst the wordes of the holy one.

B What power haue I to endure? O: what is myne ende / that my soule myght be paciert? Is my strength the strenght of stones? Or is my skine made of brass? Am I able to helpe my selfe? Is not my strenght gone fro me / lyke as if one wchidde a good dede fro his frede / and forsake the feare of God? Myne owne backen / passe ouer by me as the waterchoke / that hastily runneth thowme & valleys. But they that feare the whouefrost / the snow shall fall vpon them.

Whan theyi tyme cometh / they shall be destroyed and peryshe: and whan they be set on fire / they shall be remoued out of theyi place: for the parbes that they go in / are croked: they haist after wayne thynges / and shall peryshe. Consider the parbes of Cheman / and the wayes of Saba / wherein they haue put theyi trust. Confounded are they that put any confidence in them. For whan they came to oppayne the thynges / they loked for / they were brought to confusion.

C When so are ye also come vnto me: but nowe shall ye fe my misery / ye are afrayed. Did I desire you to come hyther? Or to geue me any of your substaunce? To deliuer me from the enemyes hande / or to saue me from the power of the myghty? Teach me / and I will hebe my tounge: and if I do erre / shewe me wherin.

Wherfore blame ye then the wordes / that are wel and truly spoken? which of you can reioyce them? Saunge onlye that ye are for to chace men / scynges / and can speake many wordes in the wynde. Ye falle vpon the superflisse / a go. aboute to ouerthrowe your owne frende. Wherfore / loke not only vpon me / but vpon your selues / whether I lye or no. Turne in to your owne selues. I pray you / be indifferent iudges / and consider myne vngyrynesse / whether there be any vniughteousnesse in my tuing / or wayne wordes in my mouth.

The. VII. Chapter.

D Not the lyfe of man vpon earth a very traytle? Are not his dayes / like the dayes of an hyed seruaunt? So: lyke as a bonde seruaunt desireth the shadowe / as the byeling wolde saue haue an ende of his woite: Euen so haue I laboured whole monethes / lade but in vaine: and many a carefull nyght haue I tolde. When I layd me downe to slepe / I sayde: O whan shall I ryse? I am full of longed soie for the nyght. Thus I am full of sorrow / till it be darke. My flesh is cloed with wormes / shynnes and dust / my synne is wythered / and crepeld together: I my dayes passe ouer moie spedyly / the a vrecour can weec out his webbe / and are gone or: I am aware. O remember that my lyfe is but a wynde / and that myne eye shall nomore se the pleasures thereof / see / and that none other mans eye shall see me any more. For: if thou seltest thine eyes vpon me / I come to nought / as a cloud is consumed and vantsched away / euen so be I gorth boune to hell / cometh nomore vpon / nor turneth agayne into his house / neither shall his place knowe him any moie.

Wherfore I will not spare my mouth / but will speake in the trouble of my soure / in the byneresse of my mynde will I talke. Am I a see / or a whallysh / that thou kepest me so in payson? Whan I thynke my bed shall comforte me / I shall haue some refrefhyng by talke / to my selfe vpon my couch: The troublessest thou me with dicames / and makest me so afrayed thowme visions / that my soule wepeth rather to be hanged / and my bones to be dead.

I can se no remedy / I shall lyue nomore: O spare me thet / for my dayes are but vaine. What telman that thou hast hym in iudic reputacion / and stestest so muche by hym? Thou talkest diligent care for him / and sodenly doest thou trye him.

Why goest thou not from me / nor stestest

And answered Baalab & Suhite / a said: Howidge wilt thou talke of suche thynges:
 howe longe shall thy mouth speake so proude wordes: Doeth God prouerise & thing that is lawfull: O: Doeth the almighty destroy thyng that is ryght: When thy sonnes sinned agaynst him / yd not he punysh the for theyr wickednesse: If thou woldest now refo: vnto God by nymca make thine humble prayer to the almighty: if thou woldest lye a pure and a godly lye: shoulde he not awake vp vnto the immediately / & geue the bewys of ryghte trouthnesse againe: In so much that wher souner thou haddest lye afo: / thou shouldest now haue great abundaunce. Enquire of the that haue bene before the / search diligently a-

Blame a rushe be grene without moys-

 No: but / our euer it be that forth / and ouer it be garbered: It withereth before any other herbe: And so goeth it with all them that sou-ger God: and euen thus also shall the Propher-es hope come to naught. His confidence shall be destroyed / for he trusteth in a spyders

Beholden him vpon his house / but he shall den: it traeth many notes / in so much that it is like an house of flonnes. But if it be taken out of his place / eury man denieth it / sayinge: I knowe thee not. O howe is it with him / that re-seycteth in his own doinges: and as for ocher / they greue out of the earth.

 Thy mouth shall be fill with laughinge: / and thy lippe with gladnesse. They that hate the / shall be confounded / and the dwellinges of the vngodly shall come to naught.

The. IX. Chapter.

And answered and saide: As for that / I knowe it is so of a trouth / & a man comparred vnto God / can not be iustificed. If he will / I argue with him / he shal not be able to auisere: Job him vnto one amogge a thousand. He is ryght of herke / and mightie in strength. Who euer prospered / that toke parte agaynst him: He translate: & the mountains / ouer euer they be aware / & nouerthey: ouerth them in his wrath. He remoueth the earth out of her place / that bee pillars: shake vnto the skie. He commaundeth the Sunne / and it riseth not: he closeth vp the star-res / so it were vnder a signet. He him selfe alone spiedeth out the heuene: and goeth vpp the wayes of the see. He maketh the waynes of heauen: the Orion: the 7 vj starres and Orion the secrete places of the South. He doeth great thinges / such as are vnsearchable: yee / a won-derous / without number.

If he came by me / I might not loke vpon him: if he went his waye / I should not perceue it. If he be hauly to take any thinge: a waye / who will make him refo: it againe: I knowe not. Who wil say vnto him: where doest thou stande: but the proudest of all must floupe vnder
 him. How shoulde I then aise were him:
 or what woode shoulde I finde out agaynst him: Yee / though I be righteous / yet will I
 not geue him onc woide againe / but mekely submyne my selfe to my godde. Albeit / I call vpon him / a he heare me / yet am I not iure / he hath herbe my voyce: he troubleth me so
 with his tempest / a woilder me out of measure without a cause. He wil not let my spete be in rest / but filleth me with bitterness.

He is God: whose wrath no man maye withstande: but the proudest of all must floupe vnder
 him. How shoulde I then aise were him:
 or what woode shoulde I finde out agaynst
 him: Yee / though I be righteous / yet will I
 not geue him onc woide againe / but mekely submyne my selfe to my godde. Albeit / I call vpon him / a he heare me / yet am I not iure /
 he hath herbe my voyce: he troubleth me so
 with his tempest / a woilder me out of measure
 without a cause. He wil not let my spete be in rest / but filleth me with bitterness.

If men wil speake of strenght: is it strenght of alif men will speake of righteousnesse / who dare be my record: if I will iustifie my selfe / myne own mouth shall condemne me: if I will put forth my selfe for a perfecte man / he shall shall proue me a wicked doer: for I should be an innocent; my conscience knoweth it not; yet I my self am weary of my life.

This one thing wil I saie: The destructione both the righteous and vngodly. And though he slae suddenly with the scourge; yet laugheth he at the punishment of the innocents. As for the world; he getteth it ouer in to the power of the wicked; such as the rulers be; wherof all laides are full. So it is not so; where is there any; but he is such one.

† My dayes haue ben moie swifte then a runner: they are gone suddenly; and haue sene no good thing. They are passed away as the shippes that be good vnder saile; as a Tiegile that husseth to the prairie. When I am purposed to soger my complainings; to chaunge my countenance; / and to comforte my self: then am I afraid of all my woices; for I know my breathes not an euil doer. If I be the a wicked one; why haue I laboured in paynt? Though I washed my self with snow water; / a made mine haies neuer so cleane; yet shouldst thou vipp me in the mire; / a mine owne clothes should be defile me. For be that I muste geue answer vnto; / a with whom I go to law is not a man as I am. Whether is there any dayes man to reipone both the parties; / or to lay his hande betwixt vs. Let him take his rod away from me; / yet let him make me no moie afraid of him; and then shall I answer him without any feare. For as long as I am in such fearfulnesse; / I can make no answer: And why; he greucth my soul to lue.

The. X. Chapter.

¶ Zuertelsell; nowe will I put forth my woices; I wil speake out of the very heart of my soule; / a will saie vnto God: Do not condemne me; but shew me the cause; / wherfore thou iudgest me on this manner. Thinkest thou it well done; to oppresse me; too easie me of; (beinge a woife of thy hande) / a to inmainteine the counsaill of f vngodly: Hast thou fleshy eyes the so; dost thou lke as man loketh: Are thy waies as the waies of man; / and thy yeeres as mans yeeres: that thou makest such inquisition for my wickednesse; and searchest out my sinne: where as (nor withstanding) thou knowest that I am no wicked person; / and that there is no man able to deliuer me out of thine hand. † Thy haies haue made Gen. j. b me; / and fashioned me altogether round about; wilt thou then destroye me suddenly? Remember I beseeche the; how that thou inuadest me of the moule of the earth; / and shalt bringe me to earth agayne.

Hast thou not milked me; as if were milke: / a turned me to cruddes like cheese: Thou hast couered me with flinne and fleid; and ioyned me together with bones and synowes. Thou hast graunted me life; and done me good; and the diligēt heede that thou tolest vpon me; / hath picierued my spere.

Though thou hyddest these things in thine heart; yet am I sure; that thou rememberest the all. Wherfore dydest thou kepe me; / when I synned; / and hast not cleared me from my offense: If I do wickedly; / mo is me therefore: If I be righteous; / yet darre I not lise vp my head: so full am I of confusion; / and of my owne misery.

Though thou hast brought me out of my misery; / as it were a Lyon; / and troublest me out of measure: Thou bringest fresh wyndes as gaunst me; / thy wrath increaseth thou vpon me; / cry many are the plagues; that I am in. † Wherfore hast thou brought me out of my mothers wombe: / Or hast thou had perished; / and that no eye had sene me. If they had caried me to my graue; / as sone as I was borne; / then shouldst thou be gone; / as though I had neuer bene.

Shall not my thote life come sone to an ende; / Or holde the fro me; let me alone; / that I may ease my self a litle afore; / I go thither; / fro whence I shal not turne again: Nameles; / to that land of darknesse; / and shadow of death: yee; in to that darcke cloudy land; and deadly shadow; / where as is no iudic; but terrible feare as in the darkenesse.

The. XI. Chapter.

¶ Ben answered Sopha the Naamathite; / and saide: Should not be that maketh many woices; be answered: Shouldst thou babble much; / be commended therein: Should me geue care vnto f onely: Thou wilt laugh; / or ther me to scorn; / shal no body mocke f againt: Wilt thou say vnto God: The thinge of the fate in hand; / is perfect; / a I am cleane in thy sight: Or that God would speake; / and open his lipps f uij againt against the that he might shewe the / C out of his secret waydome / how manifeste his lawe is: the shouldest thou knowe / that God had forgotten the cause of thy sinnes.

Wilt thou fynde out God with thy sensing: wilt thou attaine to the perfectnesse of the Almighty: He is higher then heauen / what wilt thou do? Deper the hel / how wilt thou then know hym? His length exceedeth the length of the earth / and his bredth the bredth of the see. Though he turne all thynges vpsyde downe / close them in / thrust the together / who darre heate him therfor?

B I for it is he that knoweth the vanitie of men: he seith they wisenedesse also / shoulde he not then confidit: I sayne body spaleth himselfe / and the soune of man is lyke a wilde Asses foal. If thou boddest now a night here / and liftedst vp thine handes towards hym: if thou woldest put awaye the wisenedesse / which thou hast in hande / so that no vngodlynesse dwell in thy house: Then mightest thou lyfe vpy thy face without shame / then shouldest thou be sure / and haue no neede to feare.

Then shouldest thou forget thy misery / and thinke nomaie upon it / than upon the waters that runne by. Thou shouldest thy lyfe be as cleare as the noone daye / and spying south as the moonyng. Then mightest thou haue confidence in the hope that thou hast: a slepe quiet / whan thou art buried. The shouldest thou take thy rest / and no man to make the asayed: yee / many one shoulde set much by the. As for the eyes of the vngodly / they shalbe consumed / and not escape: theyr hope shalbe misery / and sorrow of minde.

The XII. Chapter.

J Job answered / and sayde: Then no doubt / yee are the men alone / and wysedome shall perish with you. But I haue vnderstandinge as well as ye / and am no lesse then ye. Yee / who knoweth not these thinges? Thus he that calleth vpon God / and whome God heareth / is a meked of hye neyghbour: the godly and innocent man is lauded to fame. Godlynesse is a lyghte depyred in the herkes of the rynde / as is set for them to stonble vpon.

The houses of robbers are in wealth and prosperite / and they chat maliciously medle as against God / dwell without care: yee / God goweth all thynges ryndely with his hande.

The carcel / and they shal enforme the: B the foolcs of the eye / as they shal tel: Speake to the carth / and it shal shewe the: O: to the isfles of the see / as they shal certifie the. What is he but he knoweth / that the bande of the Lo: De made all these: I In whose hande is Cap. 4 the soule of euery lyuinge thinge / as the bereh of all men. I Haue not the carcs pleasure in Job. 11. hearing / and the mouth in saylinge the thing that it carch: I Amonge old persons there is Job. 11. wysedome / and amonge the aged is vnderstandyng. Yee / with God is wysedome a strengthe: it is that hath counsayl / and foue knowlege. If he breake downe a thing / who can set it vp agayne? If he shutte a thinge / who will open it: Beholde / if he withhold the waters / speake they drye vp: If he let them go / they desroye: He is the carth. With him is strengthe / a wysedome: he knoweth both the decauer / and hym that is decaued.

He carrieth away the wysse men / as it were / a spore / and bingeth the wyse out of their wysse. He longeth the gyrdle of ynges / and gyrdeth they: loynes with a bande: he ledeth away the priestes in to captiuitie / and tureth the myghtie vpsyde downe. He taketh the vertue from out of the mouth / and disapoureth the aged of they: wysedome. He poureth our confusion vpon princes / and consoureth them that haue ben oppressed. I Lete what he lyeth by in darkenesse / he declareth it openly: and the very shadowe of death bingeth he to light. He both increaseth the people / and desstroyeth them / he maketh them to multiplie / and diuerty them awaye. He chaungeth the bere of the princes / and ynges of the carth / and disapoureth them: so that they go wandringe out of the waye / and grope in the darke without lighte / slackinge to and fro like downe kin men.

The xiii. Chapter.

J All this haue I seene with mine eyes: I herde with mine care / and vnderstande it. Loke what ye haue the same do: I knowe els / so neither am I inferiour vnto you. Heier to lesse / I am purposed to talke with / I mighte / and my desire is to commune with God. To for you ye are workemasters of lyce / and unprofitable Physicians altogether. Wolke

Job 16. Wod ye kepe your tongue / that ye might be taken for wyse men. Therfore heare my wordes / and ponde the sentence of my hyppes. Will ye make aunswere for God woth lyce / and maintaine him woth beccate: Will ye accept the persone of God / and intreate for him: Shall that helpe you / when he calleth you to reckninge: Think ye to begyle him / as a man is begyled: Punishe you shall he / and reprove you / if ye do secretly a ccept any persone. Shall he not make you afraid / when he becometh himselfe: Shall not his terrible feare fall upon you: your remembrance shalbe lyke the duste / and your pride shalbe turned to claye.

Job 17. Holds your tongues now / and let me speake / for there is some thinge come into my minde. Wherfore do I feare my selfe in my teeth / and my soule in myne handes: Lo / there is neither comforte nor hope for me / if he will slaine me. * But if he breake and reprove myne owne wrongs in his sighte / he is euen the same that maketh me whole. And why: there maie no spocie come before him. Heare my wordes / and ponde my saynges with youre eares. Behold / though sentence were giuen upon me / I am sure to be known for unguilty. What is he / that wold go to lawe with me: For if I holde my tungs / I shall be cleued the lesse / graunt me two thinges / and then will I not hide my selfe from the.

Job 18. Withdrawe thine hande fro me / and let not the fearful vnde of the make me afraid. And then sende for me to the lawe / that I maie aunswere for my selfe: or els let me speake / and geue thou the aunswere. How greates are my misdoones and finnes: Let me knowe my traspyccions and offences. Wherfore hidest thou the face / and holdest me for thine enemy: Wilt thou be so cruell and extreme vnto a sientie lease / and followe upon the stubble: wher thou leitest so sharply to my charge / and wilt utterly vnde me / for the finnes of my youth: * Thou hast put my fore in the steepe / then lekest narrowly into al my pathes / and markest the slipper of my fete: where so I (not withstandinge) muste consume as a soule carren / and as a cloth that is moth eaten.

The XIII. Chapter.

Job 19. In there is some of a woman / hath but a short tyme to liue / and is full of divers miseries. He cometh vp / and walketh awaye like a floure. He sturp / as it were a shadowe / and neuer continueth in one estate. Thinkst thou it nowe well done to open thine eyes upon such one / and to bringe me before the in iudgement: Who can make it cleare / that cometh of an vnclen thinge / to body. The daies of woman are shorte / the number of hie monethes are knowne onely vnto the. Thou hast appointed him his bondeo / he canne not go beyonde them. Go from him / that he maye reste a litle: vntill his daie come / which he loleth for / like as an hyrdlinge doth.

Job 20. If a tree be cut downe / there is some hope yet that it wold sproute / aghinc forth the braunche againe: for though a roote be wrogen alle and dead in the grounde / yet when the steeke getteth the fente of water / it wull budde / and bringe forth daughes / like as when it was first plantid. But as for a man / when he is dead / perished / and consumed awaye / whar beddeth of him: The floudde when they be dined vp / and the riuers when they be emptye / are fylled againe thowme the flowinge waters of the see: but when man slepeth / he riseth not againe: vntill the heauen perishe: he shall not wake vp / nor rise out of his slepe. * Whar thou woldst kepe me / and hyde me in the hell / vntill thy wrath were stilled: and to appoynte me a tyme / when thou mightest remember me. Maye a dead man lye agayne: * At the dayes of this my pilgrimage / I soughte / when my chaunginge Discretion shall come. If thou woldst / but call me / I should / obey the: onely helpe is not the worke of thine owne handes.

Job 21. For thou hast numbered all my goynges / yet be not thou to extreme vpon my synnes. Thou hast scaled vp mine offences / as it were in a bagge: but be mercifull vnto my wickednesse. * The mountaines shall awaye at the last / the rockes are remoued out of their place / the waters beare thowme the very stones by litle and litle / the floudde do walke awaye the grauell and carth: Euen so shalt thou be hope of man in lyke maner.

Thou proudest againste him/so that he passeth awaye as thou chainekest his estate/and putt'st him frō the. Whether his children come to worshipp/oi no/ he canne not tell: And if they be men of lowe degree/ he knoweth not. While he lyeth in his bed/ he must haue traualle: and wyle the soales in him/ he must be in sorrowe.

The. XV. Chapter.

¶ Then answered Elyphas the Themanite/ and sayde: Shoulde a wyse man speake such an answer/ as it were one that gaue in the wynde/ And full his stomacke with anger: Thou reuousst with wordes that are nothinge worth: and speakest the thinge/ which can do no good. As for shame/ thou haste set it asid/ els wouldest thou make so many wordes before God: but thy wickednes teacheth thy mouth/ and so thou hast chosen the a crafty tongue. Thine owne mouth condemnerth the/ and not I yet/ thine owne lips shape I an answer. Art thou the first man/ that ever was borne: Or wast thou made before the bylles: hast thou herde the secret counsayl of God/ that all thy doome is to lyke for the: What knowest thou/ that we knowe not: What understandest thou/ that we can not the same: With vs are olde aged men/ yee/ such as haue liued longer then thy four fathers.

¶ What thou nomore regardest the comforte of God: but thy wicked wordes will not suffre the. Why doest thine heere make the so proude: Why stidest thou so greatly in thine owne conceite: Where onto lofe thine eyes/ that thy minde is so pufft vp against God/ a litle such wordes go out of thy mouth: What is a man/ that he shoulde be cleane: What hath he/ which is borne of a woman/ whereby he might be knowe to be righteous: I shoulde/ he hath founde vnfaithfulnesse among his owne saintes/ yee/ the very beaues are vnclene in his sight. How much more then an abominable and vyle man/ which thinketh wickednesse like water: I will tell the/ heare me: I wyl shewe the a thinge/ that I knowe: which wyse men haue tolde/ a hard not thence byd from their fathers: unto whom only the lande was geuen/ that no straunger shoulde come among them.

¶ The vngodly despiseth all the dayes of his life/ and the number of his traynesse yeares is vnknowe. A fearefull founde is cuer in his carce/ and when it is peace/ yet feareth he destruction: He beleueth neuer to be deliuered out of darkenesse/ the shadowe is alwaye before his eyes. When he goeth forth to get his lyuinge/ he thynketh playnly/ that the hope of darkenesse is at hand. Sober and carefulnesse make him afraid/ and compasseth hym rounde aboute/ lyke as it were a ringe with his booll ready to the battayl. For he hath stretcht out his hande against God/ and armed himselfe againste the Almightye. He sunneth proudly vpon him/ and with a stiff necke fygbreth he against him: where as he couereth his face with sametie/ and maketh his body well lykinge. Therefore shall his duste lynghe be in desolate cytee/ and in houses whiche noman inhabiteth/ but are become heapes of stones.

He shal not by ryche/ neyther shall his substance continue/ nor increace vpon carth. He shall neuer come out of darkenesse/ the flame shall drye vp his braunches/ with the blaste of the mouth of God/ shal he be taken awaye. He wyl neyther applie himselfe to faithfulnessse nor tructh/ so for is he deceaued with vanitie.

He shall perishe as the chyme be waie out/ and his hande shall not be grene. He shall be pluckt of as an vnweylyng spruce from the vyne/ and shall let his flour fall/ as the oylue doeth. For the congregation of vponnes is vnfructfull/ and the fyre shall consume the house of such/ as are greedy to receaue gyftes. He conceaucth traualle/ he searcheth his myschiefe/ and his body bringeth forth beastes.

The. XVI. Chapter.

¶ Then answered and sayde: I haue offryed myn heere such thynges. Miserable geueto of comforte are ye/ all the sort of you. Shall not thy vayne wordes come yet to an ende: Or hast thou yet any more to saye: I coulde speake/ as ye do also. But wolde God/ that your soule were in my soles head: then shoulde I heape vp wordes againste you/ and shake my heade at you. I shoulde comforte you with my mouth/ and release your payne payne with the talkynge of my lippes. But what shall I do? For all my woedes / my sorrowe wil not ceasse; and though I holde my tongue; yet wil it not depart fro me. And now that I am full of payne / and all that I haue desired; / whereof of my wretched heare wretchednesse; thee standeth vp a Disssembler to make me aunswere with lyes to my face. He is angry at me; he haicth me / and gnaweth upon me with his teeth. Myne enemye floureth upon me with his eyes.

B They haue opened their mouthes wide upon me / and smiten me upon the cheeke despitefully; they haue cased them (like thornes) vpon myne aduersarye. God hath giuen me ouer to the vngodly; / and deliuered me into the handes of the wicked. It was sometime in wealth; but shortly hath he brought me to naught. He hath taken me by the necke; he hath rent me; and set me; as it were a marke for him to shew at. He hath compassed me round about with his barres; he hath wounded my loines and not spared. My bowels hath he poured upon the grounde. He hath giuen me one wound upon another; and is fallen upon me like a graine. I haue sowed a sackecloth vpon my fenne; and lye with my strength in the dust.

C My face is swollen with weeping; / and myne eyes are waxe by mine. Howbeit here is no wickednesse in my handes; / a my prayer is cleane. O carth; couer not my bleube / and let my cryinge find no roume. For lo; my trust is in heauen; and he that knoweth me / is aduise in the begynne. My frendes laugh at me to scorn; / but myne eye poureth out teares vnto God. Though a body myght pleate with God; / as one man doeth with another; yet the number of my yeares are come; and I must goe the waie / from whence I shall not turne againe.

The. XVII. Chapter.

D My strength faileth; my daies are shortned; / I am hard at deathes doore. I haue recovered no man; yet must myne eye continue in heauynesse. O deliuer me / and set me by the waye / that thou be able to thrust my handes together: Thou hast withholden their helmes from vnderstandinge; therefore shall they not be set upon hys. He promiseth his frendes part of his good; but his own childe spende it. He made me as it were a byword of the common people; I am his iesting stocke among them. My countenance is decayd for very anger; and the members of my body are become like a shadowe. Veruous mine therefore shall not consider this; and the innocents shall take part against the ypoctite.

E Thy gracious will kepe his waie; and he that hath cleane handes / will euer be stronger and stronger. So for you / turne you / and get you hence; for I can not see one wyse man amonge you. My daies are past; my thoughtes are vanished awaye / whiche haue vexed myne here; / changinge the nyghte into day; and the lycht into darkenesse. Though I tary neuer so muche; yet the graue is my house; and I must make my bedde in the darcke. I call courtesie my father; and the women call I my mother and my syster. What helpe hath then my longe taryng;? O; who will fulfill the thinge that I loke for? All that I haue; shall goe downe into the pye; and lye with me in the dust.

The. XVIII. Chapter.

F Then answered Baldad the Subite; / and sayde; when wilt thou make an ende of your wordes: Marke we; / and consider; we will speake also. Why; for are we counted as heales; and reputed so vile in your sight? Why; distress thou thy selfe with anger? What the earth be forsake; / or the stones remooued out of their place; because of the? Shall not the light of the vngodlie be put out; yet the flame of his fyre shall not burne. The lycht shall be darke in his dwelling; and his candle shall be put out with him. His piclumptious goynges shall be kept in; / and his owne counsaill shall cast hym downe. For his feet shall be taken in the snare; and he shall walke in the snare. His fore shalbe holden in the trapp; and the thyrste shall catch him. The snare is layed for him in the grounde; / and a pitfall in the waie.

Fearfulness shall make him afraid on euery side; that he shall not knowe / where to get out. Hunger shall be his subsaunce; / and mysfortune shall haunge vpon him. He shall care his owne fenne; yet / his owne armes shall be vnto him; because a spyllbone of death.

Al his comforte and hope shal be roted out of his dwellinge/very fearfullnesse shal synge him to the kinge. Other men shal dwell in his house/which now is none of his/and him-stone shalbe scattered upon his habitation.
His raters shalbe dyed vp benches/and about shal his harvest be cut doune. His remembrance shal perishe from the earth/and his name shal not be playd in the streets: he shalbe diuenn from the lighte into darkenesse/and be casted out of the world. He shal neither haue children nor kynsolkes amonge his people/no/ nor any possitric in his com-yng and olde shalbe asloyned at his death.
Suche are now the dwellinges of the wycefed/and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

The XL Chapter.

J Ob answered/and sayde: How longe
I will ye wepe my soule/and trouble me with wordes? For ten tymes haue ye repro-ued me:are ye not ashamed/for to laugh me so to sceme me? I go wronge/I go wronge to my selfe. But if ye will enhaunce youre selfes against me/and accuse me to be a wycefed person/because of the same that is come vpon me: knowe this then/that it is God/which had handled me so violently/and whiche compassed me aboute with his scours/gea. I beholde/though I crye/get violence in done vnto me. I canne not be herde: Though I complaine/there is none to geue sentence with me. He hath hedged vp my path/I can not get awaye/he hath set barkenesse in my gate.

Abac. i. a

Job. i. a

Df. xxxij. b

He hath spotted me of myne honour/and taken the crowne awaye from my head. He hath destroyed me on euery side/and I am vnbond: My hope hath be taken awaye from me/so it were a tree pluckt vp by the roote. His wrath is kindled against me/he taketh me/as though I were his enemye.

His men of warre came togerther/whiche made their waye ouer me/a besieged my dwelllinge rounde about. He hath put my birthe farre awaye from me/so such as were of myne are maintainnes/and become straungers vnto me.
Myne owne kynsolkes haue forsaken me/a my friends haue put me out of remembraunce.
The seruantes/and maidens of myne owne house take me for a straunger/and I am become as an alcaunt in their syghte.

When I call vpon my seruantes/they ge-teth me no answer: no/ though I praye bym with my mouth. Myne owne wyfe hate not abyde my bierth/I am sayne to speake sayre vnto the children of myne owne body. Yee/ the very syncret soules despyse me/and when I am gone from them/they speake euell vpon me. All suche as were my moost familiar/abhoire me: a they whome I haue beloued/are turned against me. My done hangeth to my synne/and the fleshe is awaye/onlye there is left me the synne about my teeth. Haue pittie vpon me/haue pro-ue vpon me. O ye my frendes/for the hand of the Lord hath touched me. Synge/God persecuteh me/will ye wepe me also?
Haue ye not yet ynough of the trouble of my fleshe?

O that my wordes were written/O that they were put in a booke/would God they were grauen with an yron penne in leade or stone.
For I am a sure/that my rebornen lynch/and that I shal rise out of the earth in the latter daye/that I shal be clothed againe with this skynne/and se God in my fleshe. Yee/ my self shal beholde him/nor with other/with these same eyes. My reynes are consumed within me/when ye say: Why do not we persecute him: we haue founde an occasion against him. But be aware of the sword/for the swearde wyll be auenged of wickednesse/and be sure/that there is a iudgement.

The XX Chapter.

S Then answered Sophar the Naama: I thus/and sayde: for the same cause do my thoughtes counsel me to answer. And why: my mynd is ruffed here and there. I haue sufficiently herde the chexkinge and reuol/therefore am I purposed to make answer after my vnderstandinge. Anotwell thou not this/ namely: that from the beginninge/Couer sence the creation of man vpon earth/ the piastie of the vngodlye hath bene spote/and that the wyse of Procrustes connued both the reuincing of an eye: Though he be magnified vp to the heauen/so that his head reacheth vnto the cloudes/ yet he cry-ed at y last life sayinge: In so much that they wpe whiche haue sente him/saye: Where is he? He wanyed as a thame/so that he can no more be founde: and passeth awaye as a vision in the nighte: So that the eye whiche sawe hym before/steereth now no sighte of him/ and his place knoweth him no more. His children go a begginge/their handes bringe them to so-rowe and beauiresse.

B From his youth vp are his bones full of wyte/whiche shall lye vpon him in the earth. Whā wē kednes is sweet in his mouth/he byspery it vnder his tounge. What he fauoureth that wyl he not forsake. But feareth it close in his throte. The meate that he eateth / shall be turned to the paysof of serpentes within his bodye. The ritches that he deuoureth / shall he peritrate agayne/so: God shall thame them oute of his bellye. The serpentes heade shall sucke him/and the adders tounge shall laye him: so that he shall nomore fele the ritches and shokes of honny and butter: But labour shall be / and yet haue nothinge to eate. Great traucyle shall he make for ritches/ but he shall not enioye them. And why? he hath oppressed the poore/and not helped them: houses hath he spoiled/and not builded them. His belly could neuer be filled/therefore shall he perishe in his couer-tuousnes. He deuoured so greedely/that he left nothing behind/therefore his goodnes shall not prosper. Though he had plenteuousnesse of currey things/ yet was he poore / and therefore he is but a wretch on currey side.

145 For though the wretched haue neuer so much to fill his belly/ yet God shall sende his wrath vpon him/ and cause his barnes to raigne ouer him: so that if he flye the yron weapons/he shall be shot with the stile bowe. The arrow shall be taken forth/ and go out at his backe / as a gyltynng forward: thowt we bys gall / feare shall come vpon him. There shall no darkenes be able to hyde hym. An vnkleded fyre shall consume him/ and like what remayneth in his house/ir shall be destroyed. The beauen shall declare his wretchednesse/ and the carthe shall take parte against him. The substance that he hath in his house shall be taken awaye/ and perish in the daye of the Lorded wrath. It is the powertie that the wretched shall haue of God / and the heritage that he maye lose for
 of the Lord.

his bowels are at the fastest / and his bones full of marrow. Another dyeth in sorrow and beautyesse / and neuer had good dayes. How slepe they both a lyfe in the earth / and the worms cover the. But I knowe what ye thinke / ye / and what ye smagen against me / in my troublously. For ye saye: where is the pynnes palace? where is the dwellinge of the one godly? Are any man that goeth by the waye / and saye: whyll not regard theye tokens / and dedes. He shall tell you / that the wycked is kepte vnto the daye of destruction / and that the vngodly shalbe broughte forth in the daye of wrath. Now because that God is higher then the heauens / and because thou sayst that the stars are soe high / whyll thou therefore say: Tush / how shoulde God knowe: Doeth his Dominion reach beyonde the cloudes? Tush / the cloudes couer him / that he maye not see / for he dwelleth in heauen. Will thou whyll seepe the olde waye / that all wycked men haue gone; both olde and yonge / whose foundation is a runninge water / whiche saye vnto God: goe from vs / and after this manner: Tush / what saye the Almightye do vnto vs: where as he standeth / whyll standinge / filleth their houses with all good. Whiche meanynge of that vngodly be farre from me. For whyll saye: shal the godly / and with gladnesse shal the innocent / that their increase shalbe heuen downe / as that possitric consumed with the fyre.

Therefore reconyle the vnto God / and be content / so shall all thynges prosper with the ryghte. Necesse the lame at his mouth / a laye vp his wordes in thine hart. For if thou whyll turne to the Almightye / thou shalt stande fast / and all vngodlynesse shall be farre from thy dwellinge: He shall graue the anharueste whiche in plente / and abundance shal excede the bulle of the carthe / and the golde of Ophyr / yf thou shalt. For the Almightye his owne selfe shalbe thine heroweste / and the beare of the monye. Then shalt thou haue thy desire in the Almightye / and lift vp thy face vnto God. Then shalt thou make thy prayer vnto hym / and he shall heare the / and thou shalt kepe thy prayers. Then loke what thou takest in hande / be shall make to prosper with the / and the lychte shall shyne in thy wayes. ## The XXII. Chapter.

Job Elyphas the Themanite gaue answer / and sayde: Maye a man be compared vnto God in wisdom / though he seme to himselfe / for to be lyke hym: What pleasure hath God in that thou art ryghteous? What doeth he if thou profitt him / that thy wayes are perfect? So be afraid to repute the / and to make thy praye with the in to iudgement. Cometh not this for thy greate wyckednesse / and for thine vngodlynesse / whiche are innumerable: Thou hast taken the pleyge from thy shepherds for naughte / and robbed the naked of their chalynges: For such as were weerye harte thou geues no water to drynke / thou hast withdrauen breade from the hungrye: Shoulde Iudge one then as vnto thy violence / wrong and oppiession / bringe all thynges of paratelye / and hauinge respect of persones / dwell in the lande: Thou hast sent wydwowes awaye emptye / and oppiessed the poore / fatherlesse.

The XXIII. Chapter.

Job answered and sayde: My sayynge I haue yet the daye in dyrectnesse / and my hande heauy among my gonynges. What I mighte see him and finde him: What I mighte come before him / seat to plead my cause before him / and to syl my mouth with argumens. What I mighte knowe what answer swere he wolde geue me: and that I might vnderstande / what he wolde saye vnto me.

 Wyl he please against me with his greate power and strengthe: or wil he keene himselfe vnto me: Whi no let him nor do so to me. But let him geue me lyke power to go to leaue: then am I sure to wyne my matter.
 For though I go before: I fynde him not: if I come behinde: I can get no knowlege of him: If I go on the left syde to pounde hys waikes: I can not asayne vnto them: If I go on the right syde: he byderth hymself that I can not fynd hym. But: o for my waye: he knoweth it: and trust me as the golde in the fyre.

 me with his mouth: that haue I shut vp in my berte: It is he himselfe alone / who will rurne hym backe: He doeth as him lysteth / and bingeth to passe what he will. He re-wardeth me into my besomes / and many other thinges mo vnto be / as he may by his powpresence: so that when I consyde hym / I am afraid of him. For in so much as he is God: he maketh my berte soft: and syngeth that he is Almightie: he putteth me in feare. Thus ca-men are naked and bare / hauinge no clothes that when the snowe is in the mountaynes haue rained vpon them: and they be all wetre:

 they haue none other succoure: but to kepe the amonge the rocks.

They spoyle the surrynge fatherlesse childdien: and put the poore in pynson: In so much that they let the go naked without clothinge: and yet the hungrie beare the becuse. The poore are sayne to labour in their oyle myl-and yet to suffre thurst. The whole eyre cryeth vnto the Lorde with synginge:

 stealyng.

The eye of the vngodlye is lyke the ad-uouther: that wasyeth for the darkness: and saeth thus in hymselfe: Truly there shall no man se me: and so he darkeneth his face. In the nyght season they searche the houses: and hide them selves in the daye tyme: but wyl not knowe the light. For as long as the daye bracketh: the shadow of death cometh vpon them: and they go in horrible darkness.
 The vngodlye is very swift: vpon his pey-cyon also vpon earth were faster then the runninge water: which suffereth not the shipman to beholde the saye: and pleasaunte vnto nyarades. What they see: the wyldernesse which they haue done: were blawen to the besonour then snowe melteth at the heate. v.

 they mannyng the barren: and make them: that they can not beare: and vnto wyddowes they do no good. They plucke vnto the myghty with their power: and when they them selfes are gotten vp: they are neuer without feare as long as they lyue. And though they myght be safe: yet they wyl not recouer: for they

their eyes like vpon their owne wayes. They are exalted for a lye/But shoudy are they gone/ thought to extreme pouerte / and taken out of the waye; and vnterly plure of as the ayres of coine. To it not so? Who will then reprocie me as a lyar / a saie that my wordes are nothyng worth?

The. XXV. Chapter.

When answered Baldad the Subite / a sayde: Power and feare is wth him as howe that maketh pracc / springe in his byennesse / whose men of warre are innumerable / and whose lyght aryseth ouer all. Thus howe maye a man compared vnto God / the wisthed: Whow can he be cleane / that is boine of a woman: Beholde / the Moone shyneth nothing in comparison to him / and the starres are vntleane in his lyghte. Howe muche more then man / that is but corruption: and the sonne of man / whiche is but a worme.

The. XXVI. Chapter.

When answered / and said: Whowe helpef thou the weak: what cofort geueth thou vnto him that hath no strengthe. Where is the counsaill that thou shouldest geue hym / whiche hath no tryf doome? Wilt thou so shewe thine excellent righteousnes: Before whome hall thou spoken those wordes? Who made the birth to come out of the mouth? The grautes and wordes that are layne / and lye vnder the wynde with theyr companions: yee / and all they which dwelle beneath in the hell are not hrd from hym / and the very destruction if selfe can not be kepte out of his lyghte. He stretcheth out of the clowd ouer / cympe / and hangeth the earth vpon nothing. He byndeth the water in his clowdes / that they fall not downe together. He holdeth backe his stole / that it can not be fene / and spredeth his clowdes before.

He hath compassed the waters with cerapne bondes / vntill the day and nyght come to an ende. The very pillars of heauen tremble and quake at his reprocie. He stilleth the see with his power / and thowen his wyl downe as he set forth the wynde. With his spere hath he garnished the heaumes / and with his hande hath he wounded the rebellious serpent. This is now a shorte summe of his doyinges. But who is able sufficiently to see heare his wordes? Who can perceiue / and vnderstand the rhondic of his power?

The. XXVII. Chapter.

When also proceeded / and went forth in his communication / sayinge: As truly as God lyueth / whiche hath taken awaye my power from me / and the Almighty that hath vnted my mynde: My lippes shall talke of no vanyne / and my tongue shall speake no deceite / while my breath is in me / and as long as he the wynde / that God hath geuen me / is in my nostrils.

When saydd / that I shoulde graunte your cause to be ryght. As for me / vntill myne tude come / myll I neuer go fro myne innocency. My righteous dealing will I kepe fast / and not forsake it: for my conscience reprocie me not in all my confutesyan. Therfore myne enemy shalbe founde as the vngodly / and he that taketh parte against me / as the vngodly. What hope hath the Ypoctric / though he haue grete good / a though God geue him ryches after his desires? Doeth God heare him the soner / when he crieth vnto him in his necessite? Hath he suche pleasure and desire in the Almighty / that he vnterly call vpon God: I will teache you in the name of God / a the thyng that I haue of the Almighty / myll I not tepe from you. Beholde / ye stande in your owne conceite / as though ye knewe all thynges.

Wherefore then do ye go aboute with deceiue vayne wordes / sayinge: This is the portion of the wicked / that haue of God / and the heritage that Tyrautes shall receaue of the Almighty. If he get many children / they shall perishe with the shearde / and his posterite shall haue scarceneste of sicade. Loke whome he leauey behinde him / they shall dye and be buried / and no man shall haue pyrie on his wyndes. Though he haue as muche money as the bull of the earth / and raiment as raby as the claye / he maye well prepare it: but the godly shall put it vpon him / and the innocent shall teale out the money. His house shall endure as the moth / and as a stone that the wenchman maketh. When the ryche man dyeth / he carieyth nothyng: with hym he is gone in the wyckelinge of an eye. wilt thou men to do violence vnto them / that are destroyed already: but where hurt is done: there wylt thou helpe. Whyd not I wepe gones / and a fellow of Wyldebeest. My skin is turned to blacke / and my bones are burnt: as heate: my harpe is turned to sawe / and my pipe to weepinge.

The. XXXI. Chapter.

Made a conuenaunt with myne eyes: / I I wold not loke vpon a damfel. For how regre hande shall I haue of God: fro aboue and what inheritaunce: fro the Almighty on bye: As for I / on godly / and he I / on my self

is gracious/a forwerth him his countenance lofully / and rewardeth man for his righte-ousnesse. Such a respecte hath he vnto men.
Therefore let a man confesse/and saye: I offended/ but he hath chastened a reformed me:
I dyd vnrighteously / neuer hellesse / he hath not receyued me there after. Yee he hath de-liuered my soule fro destruction / and my life/that it scyth the light. Lo/ thus worketh God alway with man / that he keepeth his soule fro perishing/ and letteth him enioye the light of the liuing. Marke well (O Job) a I haue me: holde the sil/ vntil I haue spoken. But if thou hast any thing to saye / the answer is nic and specie: for thy answer pleasest me. If thou hast nor thinge / the heare me / and holde thy tunge/ so that I cease the wysdom.

The. XXXIII. Chapter.

All this proceeded forth in his communication/ and sayde: Heare my wordes: O ye wise men I beren vnto me/ye that haue vnder-standing. For ye as the mouth sayeth the meates/ so the care proueth and discerneth the wordes. ¶ As for the iudgement/ let vs see it out amonge our selues / that we maye knowe what is right. And why? Job hath sayde:
I am righteous / but God doeth me wrong.
I must needs be a liar / though my cause be right/ and violently am I plagued/ where as I made no fault/ where is there such one as Job? that thyngketh vp soynfulness like water/which goeth in the company of wicked doers/a walketh with vngodly men? For he sayeth: Though a man be good / yet is he nought before God. Therefore beren to me / ye that haue understanding.

B farre be it from God that he shoulde medle with wickednesse: and farre be it from the al-myghty that he shoulde medle with vngodlynesse/ to be dealing: But he rewardeth the workers of iniquity/ and causeth every man to finde accounting to his wayes. ¶ For sure it is/ that God doeth a contempt/ vnto man wrongeously / and the iudgment of almyghty is not vngodly. Who ruleth the earth in his steade? O where hath he set to gouerne the whole world?
To whome hath he geue his bent/ for to diuine his spere and breath vnto him? ¶ All these that come together to naught/ and al men shall turn again vnto earth. If thou now haue vnder-standing/ heare what I say / and beren to the voyce of my wordes.

¶ May he be made whole/ I souerest no right?
If thou were a very innocent man / shouldest thou then be punished? For he is to eue the same/that knoweth the rebellious kinges / a sayeth to punice: Vngodly men are ye. If thou hast no respecte vnto the persones of the lordy / and regardest not the ryche more then the poore.
For they be al the worke of his handes.

¶ In the twinklinge of an eye shall they be slayne/ and at midnigh/ when they sleepe and the ryauines rage/ then shall they perishe / and be taken away without handes. And why?
The eyes loke vpon the wayes of man/ and he scyth at his goynges. There is no darrence nor thycke shadow / that can hyde the ryched doers from him. For no man shalbe suffred to go into iudgement with God.

¶ Many on eue/ innumerable doeth he pun-nish / and stretcheth other in theyr steades. For he knoweth theyr euil and darke wayes: For therfore shall they be destroyed. They that were in the steade of doers/ shall lyfe vngodly men.
Therefore turned they backe traytoriously and vnsaythfully from him / and wolde not receaue his wayes. In so much that they haue caused the voyce of the poore to come vnto hym / a now he heareth the complaints of such as be in ne-cessite. If he deliuer and graunt pardon/ who will iudge or condempne? But if he byde away his countenance/ who wyl turne it about as game / whether it be to the people or to any man? For the wickednes and synne of the people/ he maketh an Ipoecrite to rage ouer the.
For so much the as I haue begon to talke of God/ I wyl not hinder the. If I haue gone anyss/ in some me. If I haue done wrong/I wyl leaue of. Wylt thou not geue a reasonable answer: Art thou afrayed of any thing/scyng thou beganest first to speake / and not I? For also the men of vnderstanding and wysdome that haue herde me / myght say.
What canst thou speake. As for Job he hath neither spoken to purpose nor wyls. O fatherlet Job be well tryed/ because he turned himself to the wickednes/ about his synnes he hath blasphemed/ which offence he hath done euen before vs / in that he styrreth agaynst God with his wordes.

If any such saye / no man geureth answer / and that because of the wickednesse of proud tyrannues. But if a man call vps God / doerth not he heare him? Doerth not the almyghty accept his crye: When thou speakest then / thoult not be pardon the / if thou open thy selfe before him / and put thy trust in him: Then wylt he no violence in his wrath / neyther hath he pleasure in curious and depe inquisitione. Therefore hath Job opened his mouth but in vayne / and foolishly hath he made so many wordes.

So for the vngodly he prestereth them not / but helpeth the poore to they: right. Therefore not his eyes away from the righteous:

The stretch vp fingers in they: trone / and conuinceth them / so that they always see therein. But if they be layed in prison and charynes / or if they be bounde with the bondes of powerte: then sheweth he them they: wofes and bedes / and the synnes wherewith they haue vsed cruel violence.

He with punysshing a nurseryng of the: B roueth them in the eares / and smyth them to leaue of from their wickednesse / a to amende. If they now wyl take heed a be obedient they shal weare out their dayes in prosperite / and their yeares in pleasure and ioye. But if they wil not obey / they shal go thorow swerd / and perill / or euer they be aware. So for: such as be sayned / diffimblers and hypocrites / they scape vp with for: them selfes / for they: cal not vps him / though they be his prisoners. Thus their soule perisheth in foolishnes / and their life with the condemned. The poore beloueth he out of his strayntesse / and comforteth such as be in necessite and trouble.  and to the cattell.

The. XXXVII. Chapter.

AT this my heart is troubled / and moued out of his place. Heare then the sounde of his voyce / and the noyse that goeth out at his mouth. He gouerneth euery thing vnder the heauen / and his lyght reacheth vnto the ende of the world. I roare in voyce foloweth him: for his glorious maiesty gaurdeth such a thondre flaps / as though a man heare it / yet may he not perceaue it afterward. It gaurdeth an horrible soude / when God sendeth out his voyce: great thunders doeth he / whiche we can not comprehend. ¶ When he commaundeth the snow / it falleth vpon the earth: So sone as he gaurdeth the raine a charge / Immediately the flowers haue they strength and sal boune. He sendeth feare vpon euery man / that they might know they: owne wo:kes. The beastes creepe into they: venues / and take they: rest. Out of the South cometh the tempest / and colde out of the North.

B At the birth of God the frost cometh / a the waters are shed abroade. The cloude do they:
 labour in gaurding inossines / y cloude poure downe they: raine. He distributeth also on e-uery syde / according as it pleaseth him to deale out his wo:kes / that they maye do whatsoe-uer he commaundeth them / thowse the whole world: whether it be to punish any lande / or to do good vnto them that fele him.

Heken vnto this O Job stande still / and consider the wondrous woikes of God. Art thou of counsaill with God / when he doeth these thinges: When he causeth the lyght to come forth of his cloude: Art thou of his counsaill whiche he speaketh out of cloude: Hast thou the perfect knowlege of his wonders: a how thy clothes are warme / when the lande is still thowse the South wynde: hast thou helped him to speede out the heauen / whiche is to loke vpon / as it were cast of cleare metall: C Teach vs what shall we saye vnto him / for we are vniuersite because of darkenesse. Shall it be told him what I say: Shoulde a man speake / or shoulde he kept it backe: For euery man feareth not the lyght: yet he feareth cleare in the cloude: whiche he cleareth: whiche he maketh y wind to blowe. Golde is brought out of the North: but the praise and honour of Gods feare commeth from God hym self: It is not what he sende out the Almighty: for in power / equite and righteouesnesse he is that can be pro-pessed. Seinge then that euery body feareth hym: why shoulde not all wyse men also stande in feare of hym.

mountaines; where no man can come. From thence maie he behold his quise; and loke farr about with his eyes. His yongones are fed with shouds; and where any dead body lieth

Moreover God spake vnto Job; and said:
Can he that stryeth with the almighty; or ca rest: Shouldst not he which dispucth with God; geue him an answer: Job answer ed the Lord saying: Beholde; I am to vile a person to answer the; therefore wil I laye my hande vpon my mouth. Once or twyse haue I spoken; but I wil say nomore.

The XL Chapter.

When spake the Lord vnto Job out of the storme; and saide: Where vp thy loy nes like a man; and tel me the thinge that I wil aske the. Wilt thou disanul my iudgement: Or wilt thou condemp me; that thou thy self maist haue made righteous: For thine arme then like the arme of God: Makest thy voice such a founde as his doeth: Then arme thy selfe with thine owne power; vp; decke thein thy ioly cry; poure out the indignaunt of thy wrath; that thou caste downe al the proud; loke wel that thou make al such as be stub burne to obey; trade all y vn godly vnder thy fete; cast the downe in to the mire; and couer their faces with darkness: Then wil I con fesse also; that thine owne righte hande hath saue the.

Beholde the cruel bestie; whome I made with the which earthe hape as an eye; how stronge he is in his loynes; and what power he hath in the navel of his body. He spredeth out his tarte like a Cedre tree; all his waynes are stiff. His hyennes are like pyres of brasse; his rygges bones are like flawes of yron. Ifst whan God made him; he obeyned the wy rdnesse for him; that the mountaines should grue him grass; where all the besties of the felde take their pastime. He lieth amonge the recks in the mosse; the fennes hide him vnder their shadowe; and the willowes of the brooke couer him rounde aboute. Lo; without any la bour might he drinke out the whole floude; suppe of Ioidane without any trauaile. When Barre lay hand vpon him openly; and vnder take to catch him: Or who barre put an hole throuwe his nose; and lape a snare for him?

Darest thou drawe out the colub with an angre; or binde his tongue with a snare: Canst thou put a ringe in the nose of him; or bone his quarters aboute with an awle: Wilt he make many sayre wordes with the; (thinkest thou) or flatter the: Wilt he make a conuenaunt with the: Or art thou able for to edpell him to the end annual seruice: Wilt thou take thy pastime with him as with a byde; or graue him vnto thy maudens; that thy captiues maye hewe him in peeces; to be parted amonge the marchaunt men: Canst thou fyll the net with his sinne; or the fish panner with his head: Darest thou lay hande vpon him: It is bet ter for the to edside; what harme mighte hap pen the there thow; and not to touch him.

For whan thou thinkest; so haue holden vpon him; he shal begyle the: Every man also that syrh him; shal go backe. And why; there barre noue be so bolde; as to raise him vp.

The XLV Chapter.

Who is able to stande before me: Or who hath geuen me any thinge; as to hande; that I am bounde to rewarde him a gain: All thinges vnder heauen are myne. I feare him not; whether he threaten; or speake sayre. Who lieth him vp; and stretcht hym out of his clothes; or who sekerh him by the sit of his duble: Who openeth the voye of his face; for he hath horrible teache rounde aboute.
His body is couered with scales as it were with shildes; sockete in; kepe; wel togeter togeter. One is so ioyned to another; that no aye can come in: Yet; one hangeth so vpon ano ther; and theye close together; that they can not be sundered. His nesing is like a glistering fye; and his eyes like the morning shine. Out of his mouth goe torches; and fye; standes; out of his nosetholes there goeth a smoke; like as out of an hore seetinge pot. His stert ma keth the coales burne; the flame goeth oute of his mouth. In his necke remaineth strength/and before his face sorrow is turned to gladnesse. The members of his body are ioyned to strait one to another / a cleue so fast together that he can not be moued.

This heart is as harde as a stone/ as so fast as the stibbe that the harneceman smiteth vpon.
When he goeth/ the mightiest of all are afraid / and the wauers beaues: if he shal see the wicards/ there may neither speare nor drell pierce abyde him. He stretcheth as much by a strawe as by yron/ and as much by a rotten stocke as by metall. He starteth not awaie for him that bendeth the bowe/ and as for slinger-stones/ he careth as much for stubble as for the-
be. He counteth the harnec no better the a strawe/he laugheth him to scorn that shaketh the speare. He treadeth the gold in the myre like the sheepe that treadeth on. He maketh the depe to sceth and boyle like a pot/ and searcheth the sea together like an oymment: the waye is lighte after him/ the depe is his walking place. Vpon earth is there no power like vnto his/ for he is so made that he feareth not. If a man wil consider al hys thynges/ this same is a ringe ouer al the children of yude.

The XLII. Chapter.

Then Job answered the Lorde / and said: I knowe that thou hast power of all thynges/ and that there is no thought hid vnto the. For who can kepe his owne counsell so secret/ but it shal be knowne: Therefore haue I spoken vnto mysse/ seeinge these thynges are before / and passe myne vnderstandinge.
O heere thou vnto me also/ and let me speake:
and thoue me vnto the thinge that I will see.
The I haue geuen diligent care vnto the/ and nowe I see the with myne eyes. Wherefore I geue myne owne selfe the blame/ and take repentance in the dust and asbes.

Nowe when the Lorde had spoken these wordes vnto Job/ he sayde vnto Eliphaz the Themanite: I am displeasid with thee and thy two frendes/ for ye haue not spoken the thing that is righte before me/ like as my seruant Job hath done. Therefore take seven oxen/ and seven rammes/ and go to my seruant Job/to offer vp also for your selves a Burntoffering/and let my seruant Job praye for you. - If I will I accepte / and not deale with you after your falsshenes/ in that ye haue not spoken the thinge which is righte/ like as my seruant Job hath done.

So Eliphaz the Themanite/ Balbad the Subite/ and Sopbar the Naamathite wente their waye/ and dyd accordinge as the Lorde commaunded them: The Lorde also accepted the person of Job/ and the Lorde turned him vnto Job/ when he prayed for his frendes:
The Lorde gaue Job twise as much as he had afore.

And then came there vnto him al his Brethren/ al his sisters/ with al them that had bee of his acquaintance afore/ a great beede with him in his house/ wondering at him/ and con-foundinge him ouer all the trouble/ the Lorde had brought vpon him. Euerie man gaue him a sheepe/ and a Jewell of gold.

And the Lorde made Job rycher then he was before/ for he had xiiij. thousand camels/ a thousand oxe/ and a thousand sheepe/ and he had children also/ seven sonnes/ and the daughters. The first he called Waze/ the seconde Douerte/ the thirde Al plenteousnesse.
In al the lande were none founde so faire/ as the daughters of Job/ and theyr father gaue the inheritance amonge their brethren. After this he had Job xl. yeres/ so that he had three generacions of his children/ and his children were vnto the fourth generacion.
And so he dyd/ beinge an olde and of a perfecte age.

Suche an de cruell maye not stande in thy sight: / thou arte an enemy vnto all wicked doers.

Thou bestroicest the liere: the Lord abhorreth the sloutherfull and the carefull.

Pl. cxxij. a But as for me: I wil come into thy house: euen vpon the multitude of thy mercy: and in thy feare wil I worshippe toward thy holy temple.

Rede me (o Lotde) in thy righteousness:
 because of myne enemies: and make thy waie plaine before me.

B For there is no faithfulness in their mouthe: they dissemble in their hartes: their throat is an open sepulchre: with their tongue they disceue.

Punish the (o God) that they may perishe in their owne imaginations: call the out: because of the multitude of their vngodliness:
 for they reuell against the.

Against al the that put their trust in the / respectest the cur: be geuing of thanks / because thou defendest them: that they which loue thy name: maie be ioyful in the.

For thou Lotde graunt thy blessing vnto the righteous: and with the fauourable sim-nese thou defendest him: as with a shield.
 Domine ne in furore tuo arguas me.

The. VI. A Psalm of Dauid.

O Lotde / reduce me not in thyne anger: Oh hasten me not in thy heavy displeasure.

Haue mercy vpon me (o Lotde) for I am weak: so Lotde heale me: for all my bones are waxed.

My soule also is in greate trouble / but Lotde heale longer.

Turne the (o Lotde) and deliuer my soule:
 Oh saue me for thy mercies sake.

I for in death no man remembereth the: Oh who wil graue the thankes in the best.

I am weary of groning: I eueny night waite I my bedde: a waite my couche with my teares.

My countenance is changed for very inwarde griefe: / I consume away / I haue so many enemies.

I away fro me all ye wicked doers: for the Lotde hath herd the voice of my weepinge.

The Lotde hath herd mine humble penit: / he hath reccaued my prayer.

All myne enemies shal be confounded: and foue vexed: / they shalbe turned backe a puz-
 to shame: and that right soone.

Domine deus meus in.

The. VII. A Psalm of Dauid.

O Lotde my God: in the do I trust: / saue me fro all them that persecute me: / and deliuer me.

Lesse catch vp my soule life as yon / a care it in peere: while there is none to helpe.

O Lotde my God: / if I haue done any such thinge: if there be any vngodliness in my handes.

If I haue rewarded euil vnto the: / deale friendly with me: / or hurted them that without any cause myne enemies.

Then let myne enemy persecute my soule and take me: / yet let him reade my life: done in the earth: / and laie myne honour in the dust. Seda.

Stande vpon (o Lotde) in thy wrath: / lyse

Why arte thou gone so farrē of o Lord: wilt thou hide thyself in time of trouble: While the vngodly hath the ouerhande/ y poore must suffer persecution.

O that they were taken in the ymaginaciōs which they go aboute.

For the vngodly maketh Boaste of his owne hartes desire/ the courteous Blesseth himself/ at Blasphemeth the Lord.

The vngodly is so proude/ and fill of indignation/ that he careth nott whether he be before his eyes.

His wayes are alwaye falshe/ thy iudgements are farrē out of his syght/ he despyeth all his enemies.

amonge the children of men.

Every man telleth lies to his neighbour/they do thus flatter with their lippes / and dissemble in their hearte.

O that the Lord wolde rote out of decaite full lippes/ and the tung that speaketh proude things.

Which saye: Our tounge shoulde preuaile:
we are they that ought to speake/ who is loide ouer vs?

Now / for the trouble sake of the oppressed/ and because of the complainte of the poore/I will open (saith the Lord) I will helpe them/ and for them at rest.

The wordes of the Lord are pure wordes:
rien as the siluer/ which from earth is not purified: as iunice in the fye.

Repe them therefore / (o Lord) as preter-re from this generation for euer.

And why: whā vaine and ydelnesse getteth the ouerhande amonge the children of men/ all are full of the vngodly.

Vig quo domine obliuiscris.

The XII. Psalm of Dauid.

O how long wilt thou forget me O Lord for: euer: how long wilt thou hide thy face from me.

Oh howe longe that I seeke counsaile in my soule: howe longe shall I be so vexed in my heart: howe longe shall myne enemy triumphe ouer mee.

Confide / and heare me / o Lord my God: lighten myne eyes / that I slepe not in death.

As myne enemy saye: I haue preyed aygainst him: so: if I be calld vpon / they that trouble me wyl reioyce at it.

But my truste is in thy mercy / and my heart is ioyfull in thy saluacion. I will synge of the Lord: he shall be praised / so louingly with me: (ye: I wil praise the name of the Lord the most high.)

Dixit insipiens in corde suo.

The XIII. Psalm of Dauid.

He saith the booby saye in their heartes. I
? There is no God. Psal. lii. a

They are corrupte/ and become abhorri-nable in theyr sayings/ there is not one that doeth good.

The Lorde loke downe from heauen vpon the children of men/ to se if there were any / that wolde vnderstande and see after God.

Gene. ij. b
psal. c

But they are all gone out of the waye/ they are altogether become vnprofytable/ there is none that doeth good: no/ not one. No. li. b

They throte is an open sepulchre/with their nigrs they haue discaued/ the pop-son of Aspes is vnder their lippes.

These three verses are not in the Scripture.

Theyr mouth is full of cursynge and byternesse/ they: sete are swifte to shedde bloude.

destruction and wrechtednesse are in their wayes/ and the waye of peace haue they not knowne: there is no feare of God before their eyes.

Howe can they haue vnderstandynge that wylke myschaunce / catynge vp ny people as it were bracke/ and call not vpon the Lord?

Therefore shal they be brought in great feare/for: God standeth by the generacion of the righteous.

As for you / ye haue made a mocke at the counsaile of the poore / because he putteth his truste in the Lord.

Oh that the saluacion were iudged vnto Israel out of Sion: O that the Lord wold deliuer his people out of captiuitie: Then shoulde Jacob reioyce/ and Israel shoulde be right glad.

Psal. liij. c
No. li. b

Domine quis habitabit in tabernaculo tuo.

The XIII. Psalm of Dauid.

Lorde / who shall dwell in thy tabernacle: who shall rest vpon thy holy hill: Euen be they ledeth an vnscrupulous lye:
that doeth the thinge which is vngodly/ as that speakereth the truth from his hearte. I Psal. lxxij. a
1. Job. i. b

He that vseth no decaite in his tounge:
that doeth no euill to his neighbour/ as a scoldde: he nor his neighbour.

The Psalmes

He that seeth not thy Kingdome: but maketh much of the that feare the Lord: he that sweareth vnto his neyghbour / and disposeth him nor.

Ex. 30. iij. a

He that getteth not his money vpon vsury / and taketh no reward. against the innocent.

Who seeth these thinges / shall neuer be remoued.

Confirma me domine: quoniam.

The. XV. A Psalm of Dauid.

Wherfore O God / for in the do I trust.

I haue saide vnto the Lord: thou art my God / my goodes are not hidde vnto the.

All my desire is vpon the sayntes that are in the earth / and vpon such life.
